Local Barber 'Caught' Smooching Dallas Cheerleader

OOH ... RICHARD, YOU NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY BOY!! Local barber Richard Thiemer, left, was seen "kissing" this voluptuous Dallas Cowboys cheerleader in front of Video Post and Kuehl's Suds and Spirits Monday evening, just prior to the Packer-Dallas upset. Okay... before rumors run rampant and Mary Thiemer calls a halt to Richard's shenanigans... in all actuality the "cheerleader" was none other than WBWI Program Director Bob Bonenfant, who was fulfilling his end of a bet, I'll bet he wished he'd never made. Bonenfant had a running Cowboy-Packer bet with Ruben Oppermann, who passed away last year in a car accident. Bonenfant, who spoke frequently to Oppermann on his morning show, agreed to end all bets, if the Packers lost during the game last December, he would dress up like a Cowboy cheerleader. Never one to renege on a bet, Bonenfant held true to his word and not only played "dress up" but invited all his listeners to Kewaskum to see the infamous cheerleader "Bobbie," and to bring along nonperishable food items that were donated to the County Food Pantry. The event created quite an uproar in Kewaskum Monday and not only did Bonenfant's fans show up (with lots of canned food in hand)... the media went wild. Channel Six was alerted and responded by sending reporter Ted Perry and photo-journalist Jeff Frings to do a live remote. (Photos on page 9) The only thing that upset my applecart was the fact that Bob Bonenfant has prettier legs than I do!

School Board Breezes Through Agenda

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

This month's Kewaskum school board meeting may have been the shortest in its history, with the board covering the agenda items in a record amount of

Board president Jean Goeden told audience members that in-depth discussions surrounding decisions that affect the school district take place within the various sub-committees of the board, such as Finance-Transportation-Buildings and Grounds, headed by board member Larry Fechter, and the Policy-Legis-lation-Bylaw Committee, chaired by board member John Shulte.

Even if we don't comment about something, it has been thoroughly looked at," she stated. These meetings are also open to the public, and perhaps invite more dialogue than recent school board meetings.

Student Representative Jamie Gaffke reported on a recent high school Peers to Peers program that involved teaching area fifth graders in Kewaskum, West Bend and Wayne vandalism prevention. The musical held at the beginning of November was a great success, and the Senior Citizens were treated to a free performance the night before it opened, compliments of the Student Council. On November 7, new members were inducted into the National Honor Society, based on their leadership, service, character, and scholarship, with guest speaker Senator Mary Panzer addressing the students and their achievements. The annual Student Council Christmas blood drive is scheduled for December 2.

Students of the Quarter were introduced to the board by their school principals, who selected them through teacher recommendation, based on improvement or progress shown, attitude, helpfulness, and cooperation with their peers. They include Sandy Peterson - KHS; Sarah Braun - KMS; Kristin Asmondy - Wayne; Amanda Smolinski - KES, and Dana Garbisch - Farmington.

Board member Jon Downs thanked everyone who helped make the recent KEYS 5K Walk/Run a success. The event raised over $7,000 for the district's Scholarship Fund. He personally thanked KEYS president Jerry Gosa, along with Rick Leitheiser and Joe Swanson.

Downs also presented District Administrator Charles Johnson with a plaque for the school district, which was commissioned and paid for by a group of citizens in the community. The tribute recognizes referendum committee members and others who worked diligently to promote the referendum, which resulted in expansion of the high school and middle school.

The board approved a motion authorizing the district to enter into a lease to purchase agreement with Medical and Municipal Funding, Inc., to finance the district's new phone system, cabling and servers. The agreement was recommended by the FTB & G commit-

Still rehashing The Pledge of Allegiance Policy that became a topic of concern two years ago, President Goeden addressed the last sentence of the policy, which reads, "The administration of the district, supported by faculty and staff, is charged with making sure the frequent experience of reciting the Pledge of Allegiance is 'meaningful' for our students." She suggested that students should be able to have the Pledge recited in honor or memory of someone they know who was a veteran, as a way of fulfilling this charge.

The following positions were approved for appointment by the board: KHS assistant cheerleading coach - Carolann Ramthun; KHS assistant baseball coach - Rick Schlehlein; KHS varsity baseball coach - Mark Heise; district OM coaches - Connie Schulist (KHS), Laura Schultz (KMS), Christine Casper (KES) and Katherine Schmanski (FES). A volunteer is still needed to head the Wayne OM team. A faculty leave of absence was approved for Jeanne Rady.

The payroll and accounts payable was approved in the amount of $1,278,355.72.

Kewaskum Juniors to Host Art and Craft Show Saturday

By Louise Martin

"A Kettle Country Christmas" is the theme of the GFWC Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club's 14th annual art and craft show to be held on Saturday, November 23, at Kewaskum High School, 1510 Bilgo Lane.

Christmas Concert for KEYS

The annual Christmas concert to benefit the KEYS scholarship fund will be held on Monday, Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at Kewaskum High School Rose Hall.

KEYS is a non-profit organization established to accept gifts to provide additional scholarships for Kewaskum High school graduates.

The Moraine Chorus and the Kewaskum High Swing Choir have graciously donated their time and talent to perform this concert to help raise money for KEYS. The Moraine Chorus is made up of volunteers from Washington county area that love to sing on a semi-professional basis. The Kewaskum Swing Choir is made up of Kewaskum High School students who demonstrate an above average ability to sing and dance and "make spirited music." The KEYS Christmas concert is the only Christmas concert that the Swing Choir performs.

This concert is a primary fund raiser for KEYS. Plan to attend the concert to hear

Village Board Addresses Old Business Issues

By Lana Harbeck Kuehl

In spite of the long public hearing previously reported on, the Kewaskum Village Board handled assorted old business agenda items at their November meeting.

Gwen Dreher, representing the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, presented additional information to the board on the proposed permanent calendar of events sign which will be located at 1106 Fond du Lac Avenue.

Gwen reported four, fourfoot fluorescent lights for the sign were being donated by Kettle Moraine Electric and Mike Berger of Main Street Crafts, who is an electrician, would donate his labor to install the lighting.

Trustee Gary Gavin asked who would be responsible for changing the events and Gwen stated the Chamber of Commerce would be taking care of updating the sign.

Gwen added if plexigas were to be installed on both sides, an additional cost of $500 would be needed.

Trustee Gavin said, "I would think, kids are going to be kids, and they're going to go up and change the lettering around. It's $500, but the aggravation of having kids going up there and changing the letters... they can make some pretty creative sayings out of some of that stuff."

Trustee David Goeden agreed, adding they would be money ahead to spend it now.

Trustee Gavin stated he was in favor of the project and he was glad to see the Chamber looking to do something to let the people know what was going on in town with something that looks a little "classy," however, he was in favor of installing the plexiglas to the sign upon installation to prevent any vandalism.

Gavin also added perhaps there might be one or more boy scouts looking for a community project to attain Eagle Scout rank that could perhaps assist on the construction of the permanent sign.

Gwen agreed to contact a scout leader and bring the results back to the board. It was also agreed to wait with the construction of the sign until spring.

A motion was made for the Village to fund half the cost of the sign and the board unanimously agreed.

In other business, Police Chief Richard Knoebel was given authorization to proceed with the purchase of the 1997 squad car replacement through the state's Value Bid process. The cost of the Ford car would be $19,017. Last year's car ran $18,789, which was approximately $218 less than this year. $19,200 was budgeted for the car, with delivery expected after the first of the year.

Director of Public Works Jerry Gilles was given authorization to advertise for sale the 1979 Chevrolet pickup.

Under Protection and Public Safety, the board reviewed the request for the placement of a stop sign at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Lazy Lane.

During follow-up traffic study, Police Chief Knoebel stated over a 23 day period, during all times of the day, there were 224 cars daily with the average speed being 23.478 miles per hour. Knoebel said the average speed "isn't even the legal speed limit." He added, "At this time, it just doesn't seem to be the amount of traffic to put in a stop sign."

A member of the audience who lives on Memorial Drive, stated he felt the traffic seems to have decreased considerably since school has started.

Trustee John Kenworthy made a motion to put up a "Slow Children" sign in the area rather than a stop sign and the board voted unanimously in favor of this option.

A homeowner on Bonnie Lane had also requested a "Slow Children" sign on that street and agreed to pay the cost of the sign himself.

Trustee Gavin, who stated personally he felt a lot of signs were ugly, and added, "I don't think it's the point who pays for it. Just because somebody wants it, are we going to allow every person to put up a sign in front of their house just because they're willing to pay for it?"

Chief Knoebel said, "The traffic probably doesn't warrant it."

Gavin added, "Correct. It doesn't matter to me who it is, and I don't know who you're talking about, but if it doesn't make sense, it doesn't make sense, no matter who's paying for it."

The rest of the board concurred and with no one willing to make a motion to approve, the issue died.

The Board also approved the request of Kewaskum Elementary School to alter the curb painting and add signage in front of Kewaskum Elementary School on Reigle Drive with the cost of the signs to be paid by the school district.

Fire Destroys Kettle Moraine Acreage

Shown above is the Jersey Flats prairie restoration project the day after fire of suspicious nature, consumed nearly 50 acres Friday evening. Jersey Flats is located on the northeast corner of County Trunks G and SS, near New Prospect. The Kewaskum Fire Department was called on full mutual aid to assist fighting the blaze, along with Campbellsport and Eden fire departments and the Department of Natural Resources. Kewaskum was called out again on Saturday to another suspicious fire north of New Fane.

WINTER PARKING

The Winter Parking Restrictions and Snow Emergency Parking Restrictions go into effect at mid-night (12:00 a.m.) on December 1, 1996.

Municipal Code Section 7.04(3) Night Parking Restrictions, reads as follows: Signs have been erected at or reasonably near the corporate limits as provided in Section 349.13, Wisconsin Statutes, no person excepting physicians or licensed emergency vehicles on emergency calls, shall park or stop any vehicle on any public street or highway within the village between the hours of 2:00 A.M. and 6:00 A.M. from December 1, to April 1, of each year; provided that, notwithstanding such restrictions vehicles may be parked a period of time not longer than 3 minutes for actually loading or unloading of passengers, and provided further that no other regulation restricting parking as to place, time, or manner violated thereby.

The fine for violating the ordinance is:

$5.00 if paid within three (3) days of the issuance of the parking citation.

$10.00 if paid after ten (10) days but before 28 days.

After 28 days, the amount is $25.00 and a notice will be sent to the Motor Vehicle Department to suspend your vehicle registrations and refuse renewals until the citation is satisfied.

An important fact is the owner of the vehicle is responsible for the payment of the citation whether or not he or she was the operator.

Municipal Code Section 7.04 (4) Removal of Illegally Parked Vehicles. This section covers the issuance of citations to and possible removal of such vehicles in violation of this ordinance. In addition to other penalties provided by Section 7.04(6) of this code, the owner or operator of a vehicle so removed shall pay the cost of the towing and storage.

Peace Church Provides 'Caps for Kids'

Preparing the donation tables for "Caps For Kids." Peace Church Guild Co-Chairmen (L to R) Betty Hallen and Gretchen Smith, Pastor James and Betty Bettin.

The Rev. Mr. Earl Lansford, social worker for 30 years in the Inner City of Milwaukee Schools, was the featured speaker. He brought a message of thanks to the women for needs met among the poorest children in poverty areas, stressing the use of the knitted and crocheted items to fill a most pressing protection against the winter chill. 502 items, in all, were donated. He termed them, a means to bring "order out of chaos."

Items are personally given out as needs are seen by social workers on a daily basis, with Mr. Lansford even carrying an emergency supply in his car as he works from grade school to grade school. In the past ten years, personal notes have been received by Peace Church providers from teachers, social workers, and the children themselves in Milwaukee. As temperatures fall, the needs increase.

The "Caps for Kids," begun many years ago at Peace Church by Betty Clark and Lorena Wagner, has expanded to provide scarves, many mittens and gloves, as well as headbands for the children. Knitted, crocheted, and purchased items are received each year, as well as donated yarn for the knitters and crocheters to use.

This year 377 pairs of mittens and gloves, 109 caps, 13 scarves and 3 headbands were donated from Peace Church for distribution by Mr. Lansford. Doris Lincoln, a retired social worker, has acted as liaison person between the schools and Peace Church for many years. Illness prevented her participation in 1996.

Dessert began the Guild meeting with hostesses Marion Erdmann, Mabel Schmidt, and Betty Bettin. Betty Hallen, co-chairman of the Guild with Gretchen Smith, led the devotions before Mr. Lansford's address. The donation of warm love, already dedicated at the Nov. 10 church service at Peace was then packed and sent to Milwaukee with Lansford. Until two years ago, he also served as pastor of an Inner City Baptist Church.

Knitting needles and crochet hooks are already clicking for next year's project! The "Super Craftspersons" this year were Lorena Wagner, Betty Clark, Bernetta Roecker, and Betty Bettin; each producing amazing numbers of items; with Pat Deshotels, Katheen Zahn, Darlene Tessar, Gayle Van Ess, Phyllis Bade, Bunny Scannell, Evangeline Teeselink, Gretchen Smith, Betty Hallen, and other friends all contributing. Each mitten warms a hand and each cap a little head!

Letters to The Editor

November 18, 1996

To the Editor:

BRAVO! BRAVO! BRA-VO! Finally a less than discouraging word about the Kewaskum Schools appearing in the news. On Monday, November 18, the Journal Sentinel, Ozaukee-Washington County Section, had a story about our schools that was positive! And the genesis for this great story was a classroom at Kewaskum Elementary. Pay close attention those of you who have spent the past few years teacherbashing or laying the blame for the problems in our schools at the teachers' feet. Peggy Henke's creativity in her art classes has integrated art with the other disciplines -- math, science, literature, social studies -- in such a delightful and meaningful way that she has won an award. Henke and former Kewaskum Elementary teacher Sandy Stern wrote a curriculum (lesson plan) using furniture (art object) as a springboard for the other disciplines. Henke and Stern won first prize in the CROSS YOUR ART CONTEST! How lucky Kewaskum is to have Henke, and how sad that we lost Stern.

The future of our schools depends upon many things -- funding, support from the community, strong leadership. All of those things are important, but without the dedication of the classroom teacher, who is allowed the latitude of creativity displayed by Henke and Stern, our schools won't grow and prosper. Ultimately, the relationship between the student and the teacher is the most important factor in our children's education.

In this month of Thanksgiving, remember to give thanks for our chil-drens' teachers; they are doing a nable job!

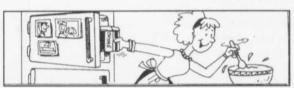

A thankful mother and grandmother, Margaret McFadden

Kiwanis Students of the Month

Jamie Gaffke

Eric Van Demark

Two alumni of the recent KHS KHS musical "Once Upon a Mattress," Jamie Gaffke and Eric Van Demark, both seniors, were chosen as November's Kiwanis Student of the Month.

Music has been an integral part of Jamie's life. In addition to playing "Lady Larken" in the musical, Jamie is active in choir, swing choir, and has performed in the annual state high school solo/ensemble competition.

At KHS, Jamie is a member of Peers 4 Peers, Student Council/ Roundtable, National Honor Society, Cheerleading, and has been a sectional qualifier in track. She travelled to Spain with a group from KHS two years ago, and away from school works as a clerk at Video Square. Jamie's college plans include possibly pursuing a degree in psychology.

Eric's role of "The Wizard" in the KHS musical came, perhaps, as an extension of his interests in art and music. Eric, has sung in the state high school solos/ ensemble competition, and even plays piano and guitar.

Eric is involved in several organizations at school, including forensics and

Harlow Starring in UW-SP Production; Receives Irene Ryan Nomination

Chad Harlow

Members of the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point theatre and dance department, including Chad Harlow of Kewaskum and Adam Theisen of West Bend, played to three full houses in the Jenkins Center this past weekend as they presented the 1990 Tony-award winning musical, "City of Angels."

Harlow, a senior musical theatre and dance major, played the role of radio singing sensation, Jimmy Powers, while Theisen was Stine, a successful New York novelist.

The musical tells two stories woven together through a series of over 40 scenes. The scenes moved from the present to the past, from the past to the present, from one story to another.

"City of Angels" was based on a book written by Larry Gelbert with music by Cy Coleman and lyrics by David Zippel.

The stories are visually delineated; one is told in color and one is told in black and white.

The first story is set in the real world of Hollywood in the mid-1940s. Stine, the leading character, is under contract with a major Hollywood producer to write a screenplay of his latest novel, "City of Angels."

The second story is that of Stone, the leading character in Stine's movie novel. Stone is a private detective hired by Alaura Kingsley, seductive second wife of multi-millionaire, dying Luther Kingsley.

The two stories, one in the real life of Stine and the other the movie life of Stone, fade in and out with each other as the characters in one world become characters of the other.

In the climactic final scene these two worlds become one, as do the egos of the two leading men as they confess, "I'm Nothing Without You." In a true Hollywood ending, the hero stands up to compromise and regains the love and forgiveness of his wife, and all except the villain are happy.

The show, directed by Dr. Arthur Hopper and under the musical direction of Roger L. Nelson, will be presented again Wednesday through Saturday, November 20-23.

Earlier this fall, Harlow had the lead role in the university's one-act play entitled "Black Comedy," for which he received an Irene Ryan nomination.

The late Ryan, a star of stage, screen and television, who portrayed Granny on the "Beverly Hillbillies," left an endowment for the development of young actors.

Harlow, who played a British sculptor in "Black Comedy," will be involved in a regional competition on the Ohio State campus from January 8-12, presenting a monologue and scene from selections of his choice.

Top regional performers advance to the national competition, which takes place at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington D.C.

Scholarship Winner

Robin Bechler

The National Food Distributors Association (NFDA) has just announced its 1996 scholarship winners. Forty-two students have been granted $1,000 scholarships to be applied to their educational expenses during the 1996-97 academic school year.

One of those winners is Robin Bechler, daughter of Richard and Jane Bechler of Kewaskum. Richard is a Sales Supervisor with MBC Foods, a regional food distributor.

Robin is majoring in Pharmacy at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She will be graduating in the spring of 1998.

Jirst Graders Visit The Big City

Some of the first graders from Wayne and Kewaskum Elementary schools park in front of Milwaukee's City Hall during their recent trip to experience urban living.

"What's an escalator?"

That's an easy enough question for most adults to handle, but to a first grader with no first-hand experience in larger communities, hearing about unfamiliar items such as escalators, skywalks, and revolving doors really do bring such questions.

First graders from Wayne Elementary and Mrs. Kasten's first grade at Kewaskum Elementary got an up-close look at urban living during a recent field trip to Milwaukee. The idea for the trip originated when a story in the reading curriculum mentioned city amenities such as city buses and escalators. When some students expressed confusion, the trip was set in motion.

Following a brief visit to Milwaukee's Mitchell Park Domes, the students headed downtown. First stop on the trip was a visit to the Milwaukee Repertory's Powerhouse Theater for a non-performance tour. Although the most popular question asked by the children as they saw the stage was, "Are we going to see a movie?," the Rep's host, Cory, proved a thorough and helpful guide.

Next, students made a four block trek to the Grand Avenue shopping mall for a look around. On the way, they rode an escalator ("Where do the steps come from?"), went through a revolving door ("How do you know when to get out?"), and took the skywalk across the river ("Wow! This is my first skywalk ever!"). The experience was heightened, so to speak, with the glass elevators and multi-levels found throughout the Grand Avenue.

In addition to experiencing city life, students were also encouraged to notice the shapes found through-

Band Christmas Trees on Sale

The members of the Kewaskum High School Bands are once again selling trees for your Christmas delight. The musical tree lot is located in the parking lot of the Kewaskum Mall by the Booster Club van.

Trees available will include Scotch Pine, White Pine, Balsam and Frazer. Prices will remain approximately the same as last year. The band will also be selling the Christmas wreaths.

Selling hours will be 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Members will be setting up this Saturday morning and there will be some beautiful trees for you by late morning on November 23. The lot will be closed on Thanksgiving Day and will open at 11:30 a.m. on the Friday after Thanksgiving. The lot will also close at 4 p.m. on Sunday, December 8, due to the Christmas parade.

Profits made through this fund raiser will go to the students selling trees for their trip to Orlando, Florida, in March of 1997.

ELSIE ROEHRBORN

Elsie Ida Roehrborn, 84, of 1628 South 24th Street, Sheboygan, died at St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee on Thursday, November 14, 1996.

Elsie was born on January 11, 1912, in Sheboygan, a daughter of the late Henry and Ella (Truttschel) Moehring. She attended local schools and on August 15, 1932, she married Ernest Carl Roehrborn. Ernest preceded her in death on October 6, 1970.

Mrs. Roehrborn farmed with her husband Ernest, in the Sheboygan area, for many years. She was a member of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church and an active member of the Braille Workers and the Senior Citizens Club at the church. She volunteered at the Bethesda Thrift Store and enjoyed needlework (embroidery) and her flowers.

Survivors include a son, Ed (Josephine) Roehrborn of Kewaskum, three daughters, LaVerne (Melvin) Kaiser of Sheboygan, Arline (Wayne) Richter of Sheboygan Falls and Delores (William) Ochs of Howards Grove, nine grandchildren, eleven great-grandchildren, and a sister-in-law, Myra Moehring of Howards Grove. She was preceded in death by two brothers, Walter and Elmer.

A funeral service was held on Monday, November 18, at 10:30 a.m. at Immanuel Lutheran Church, 1634 Illinois Avenue, Sheboygan, with the Reverend Mark Broecker officiating. Burial was in Lutheran Cemetery.

Friends called at the Ramm-Ziegler-Novak-Rettke Funeral Home, Southside Chapel, 1535 South 12th Street, Sheboygan, on Sunday, November 17, from 4 until 8 p.m. and at the church on Monday from 10 a.m. until the time of service at 10:30 a.m.

To Stuff or Not to Stuff

Stuffing a Turkey Safely

Joyce Albrecht UW-Extension Family Living Agent

"To stuff or not to stuff," that is the question. It is an important question to ask as the Thanksgiving holiday draws near, because cooking a home-stuffed turkey can be somewhat riskier than cooking one not stuffed.

If the stuffing is not cooked and handled properly, food borne illness could occur. However, with careful preparation and the use of a meat thermometer to ensure that safe temperatures are reached, consumers can safely enjoy the traditional holiday stuffing, inside OR outside the bird.

Checking the stuffing temperature with a thermometer is essential. That is because even if the turkey itself has reached the proper internal temperature of 180 degrees Fahrenheit in the innermost part of the thigh, the stuffing may not have reached the correct temperature of 165 degrees in its center. It is important to reach this temperature in all parts of the stuffing to be sure that food borne bacteria are destroyed.

Although a "popup"thermometer that comes with many turkeys is one way to judge the bird's doneness, it can't tell you the temperature of the stuffing. A conventional meat thermometer should also be used with stuffed birds.

After the estimated cooking time has elapsed, a meat thermometer should be inserted in several places, including the innermost part of the thigh, and the center of the stuffing, to check the temperatures.

If the innermost part of the thigh has reached 180 degrees, but the stuffing has not reached 165 degrees, continue roasting the turkey, until the stuffing has reached 165 degrees. Be aware that during the added cooking necessary to bring the stuffing up to a safe temperature, the meat may become overcooked.

Once the turkey meat and the stuffing have reached the proper temperatures, the bird should be removed from the oven and allowed to "stand" for 20 minutes before removing the stuffing and carving.

If you are not prepared to use a meat thermometer to measure the internal temperature of the stuffing in the bird, then the stuffing should be cooked outside the turkey.

What about frozen turkeys stuffed at a USDAinspected plant? Those turkeys purchased frozen at a grocery store should be safe when cooked from the frozen state, but cautioned that the manufacturer's directions should be followed carefully.

Here are some other important food safety guidelines to follow:

* Handle raw turkeys safely. Take the turkey home directly from the grocery store. Errands should be run first, before going to the store. At home, place the turkey immediately in the refrigerator or freezer. A fresh turkey should be cooked within two days. Defrost frozen turkeys in the refrigerator, allowing 24 hours for each five pounds.

* For faster thawing, place the frozen turkey in cold water, allowing about 30 minutes per pound. The water should be changed every half-hour. A turkey may be defrosted in the microwave if it is large enough, but follow the manufacturer's instructions. Cook immediately after defrosting. * Prepare stuffing safely. Mix the stuffing just before it goes into the turkey. If more convenient, the wet and dry ingredients can be prepared separately ahead of time and chilled. Mix the ingredients just before placing the stuffing inside the turkey or in a casserole.

* Stuff the bird properly. The turkey should be stuffed loosely -- about 3/4 cup of stuffing per pound of turkey. This will help allow the stuffing to reach the proper 165 degree internal temperature whether the stuffing is in the bird or in the casserole. Use a meat thermometer to be sure. The stuffing should be moist, not dry, since heat destroys bacteria more rapidly in a moist environdegrees. Cooking overnight in a "slow" oven is not recommended since food borne bacteria can form under these conditions.

* Storing leftovers. Leftovers should be stored within two hours of cooking. Cut the turkey off the bones. Refrigerate the stuffing and the turkey separately in shallow containers. Use leftover turkey within four days; stuffing and gravy, in one or two

Amber King, "Killer Clown It" Sara Ratzel and Jodi Peterson, reaching to the box for a treat and a hidden spook grabs their hands.

This year's Kewaskum Booster Club's Haunted House was another smashing success and managed to feature things that scared both the young and the old.

There was a maze with spooks hidden in it and a cage full of scary creatures. The dungeon featured someone on a bed of nails, a skeleton chained to the wall and a crazed killer who almost broke free.

The witches woods had a brewing pot and witches who forced you into a narrow hall complete with Frankenstein and the skeleton waiting to catch you.

If you made it past these creatures, you entered into the carnival area where Killer Clown waited behind the curtain. Then you made your way into the haunted graveyard where Dracula and the Werewolf began to howl. At the end of the graveyard, hopefully you made it over the graves to the exit door.

The Booster Club is already planning ways to scare you even more perhaps next year, and with any luck it will again be just as much fun and even more successful.

Get ready to visit the 1997 Haunted House... they're waiting...

Kristine Dreher

Change is good.

Kewaskum Middle School teacher Kristine Dreher seems to adhere to that belief. In her first year of teaching eighth grade History, Language, and Literature, Mrs. Dreher has already seen some changes, in her school, and in herself.

As an example, Mrs. Dreher wasn't exactly a history lover.

Before I began teaching history, it wasn't necessarily my favorite thing to teach," she admitted, "but now that I'm teaching it, it really is exciting, very interesting.

So much so that one of the things Mrs. Dreher is most looking forward to is the annual Civil War reenactment put on by the students and various community members.

"At the end of the year, the students get to live a piece of history for a day," she explained. "They learn about conditions during the Civil War, they even learn to march. It is a terrific experience.

Mrs. Dreher has even seen change elsewhere at KMS. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Dreher has organized an after-school intramural program for sixth graders, the first such program for sixth graders in the school's history. More parent volunteers would help that change even more. "The parents we have are great, but we still don't have the number of them we need. Hopefully, some others will step in to help out the kids,

And what's the best change she's seen in school?

The best is when the kids grow; when they undergo absolute change; when they say, "I can't do this" but then all of the sudden, they can. It's a lot of fun.

There have even been recent changes in life outside of school for Mrs. Dreher. She married a Kewaskum native, Chuck, a couple of years back and they now live in the Town of Trenton. Mrs. Trenton also welcomed three children from Chuck's previous marriage: Cassandra, Amber and Mitchell.

There are some things, however, that haven't changed, like her love for the area ("I grew up in West Bend"), her love for hunting ("My permit for bear comes up again in two years"), her love for coaching (she helps coach KMS students in volleyball and basketball), and her love of teaching.

"It's been a great experience being here at KMS,' she stated. "The staff has been very supportive, and it's a comfortable, friendly place to teach.

Fortunately, though, some things will never change.

EWSCA Honors Track Champions

By Jeff Pederson

KIEL -- The Eastern Wisconsin Stock Car Association officially honored three new track champions at its 36th annual Eastern Wisconsin Stock Car Association awards banquet held recently at the Millhome Supper Club in Kiel.

Individual awards were also presented to a total of 112 drivers who competed in the 1996 season long point series at the Sheboygan County Fair Park quarter-mile clay oval in Plymouth, but modified track champion Pete Ostrowski of Milwaukee, first time Sportsman titlist Steve Hoffman of Plymouth and Hobby Stock champ Rick Hed of Cleveland, stole the spotlight.

Ostrowski posted a division leading five feature race victories on the way to his second EWSCA Modified track championship in the last three seasons. The 15-year Modified and Sprint Car veteran edged runnerup Greg Otte of Sheboygan Falls by 87 points (1114-1027) to earn the coveted Modified title.

The 1994 EWSCA champ rolled to his second track title by compiling an incredible string of 13 top-five finishes in 15 feature races. Ostrowski also notched one heat race victory and one semi-feature triumph during his standout 1996 campaign.

Former Hobby Stock driver Barry Maas of Cascade collected Rookie-of-the-Year honors in the Modified division. Maas adapted to the powerful open-wheeled winged Modified cars in fine style by scoring two top-five feature finishes and one heat race win enroute to an 18th place finish in the final Modified point standings.

Fourth year competitor
Paul Pokorski of West Bend picked up the Modified
Most Improved Driver
Award while Campbellsport's Butch Hafemann earned the Hard Luck
Trophy in the Modified

After finishing among the top-five in points over each of the last six seasons, Plymouth's Steve Hoffmann finally claimed his first ever Sportsman track title in 1996. The 15 year EWSCA Sportsman veteran survived a tight season long battle with 1993 champion Randy Markwardt of Sheboygan to earn the coveted track title on the final night of racing by a slim 16 point margin (537-521).

Hoffmann collected one feature victory, two fast qualifier honors, six heat race victories and seven top-five finishes in 15 feature events during his championship campaign. As he accepted his championship accolades, Hoffmann also presented special individual awards to each of his pit crew members.

Two-time Hobby Stock track champion Chad Kistner of Kiel took home top rookie honors in the Sportsman division. Kistner notched five top-five main event finishes and four heat race wins to finish a strong sixth in the final Sportsman standings.

Second year driver Dave Jessen of Fredonia collected the Most Improved Driver Award and the Hard Luck Trophy in the Sportsman division.

In the Hobby Stock division, Cleveland's Rick Hed accepted the championship accolades for the third time in his eight year career.

The son of veteran EWSCA Modified and Sportsman competitor Richard Hed captured four feature race triumphs, three heat wins and 10 top-five finishes in 15 feature events to earn the 1996 Hobby Stock title by 47 points over 1995 co-champion Tim Thompson of Campbellsport (182-135).

Greenleaf's Dave Horneck secured the Hobby Stock Rookie-of-the-Year Award by posting two feature victories, one semi-feature win and five heat race triumphs to finish 11th in the final point standings. Kevin Kenealy of Hu-

Kevin Kenealy of Hubertus collected the Hobby Stock Most Improved Driver Award while Oostburg's Doug Teunissen picked up the Hobby Stock Hard Luck Trophy.

Veteran driver and car owner Russ Waldron of Theresa received the 1996 Dick Berth Award for Excellence in recognition of his 50 years of involvement in Modified racing.

Richfield Craft Fair Scheduled

If you are looking for a Christmas treat that is fun and full of tradition, Washington County craftspeople think they have the answer for you. The 38th Annual Richfield Fair will be held on Saturday, November 30, and Sunday, December 1, at the Kettle Moraine Bowl from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

As with every year, visitors will be treated to a wide array of quality handmade arts, including stitchery, Christmas ornaments, rugs, jewelry, ceramics, woodworking, live and dried wreaths, floral displays, wheat weaving, toys, Christmas decorations and many gift-giving items.

In keeping with the tradition of an old-time country fair, crafters will be dressing in the costumes of yesteryear. Elves will be treating youngsters to a special holiday surprise! Adults will be able to register for free door prizes that will be awarded every half hour.

Keeping in tradition of giving back to the community, Food Pantries of Washington County will be given a cash gift. Although admission is free, donated nonperishable food items will be gladly accepted at the door.

The Kettle Moraine Bowl is located on the corner of State Highways 60 and 175, just west of Highway 41 in Slinger. Admission and parking are free.

County Historical Society Wins State Award for Cookbook

The cookbook, "Flavors of Washington County, compiled and published by the Washington County Historical Society, has been awarded a State Historical Society of Wisconsin Local History Certificate of Commendation.

The local society gathered family recipes from all areas of the county, recipes that represent many eras in county history. Responses ranged from recipes for roasted mud hens and cabbage rolls to directions for baking in a brick oven.

The cookbook's contributors also volunteered foodrelated anecdotes from their families' histories. Recipes were organized by town and the sections begin with a one-page summary of each town's history.

The first printing of 2,000 books sold out in just five weeks, producing a $10,000 profit for the local society, which followed up with a second 5,000 copy press run.

Marlene Reinders and Beverly Schroeder of the Washington County Historical Society accepted the award from State Historical Society Director George L. Vogt on Friday, October 25, at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Council for Local History in Madison.

The local society was among three honored at the convention for outstanding service in the field of local history.

Opening-Day Tick Survey Will Help Us Know Our Enemy

If you register a deer on opening day of this year's gun deer season, you might notice people going over deer carcasses with a finetoothed comb. They'll be collecting deer ticks, but please don't question their sanity. Survey results will help researchers map the deer tick's range in Wisconsin, according to Susan Paskewitz, an entomologist at the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences.

The data will help us understand the ecological determinants of deer tick distribution, says the University of Wisconsin-Madison researcher. This information will give us a better idea of how fast and far the ticks are going to spread through Wisconsin. Knowing where the ticks are, and what diseases they are carrying, will help physicians diagnose and treat victims of Lyme disease and other tick-borne ailments.

Volunteers will collect ticks and draw blood samples from deer at 11 registration stations around the state. They will focus on southern Wisconsin "edge" areas, such as Dane County, where past surveys have shown many ticks around Mazomanie and Arena but few ticks east of Madison. Surveys next year will target eastern Wisconsin, which has been fairly tickfree. The Wisconsin River valley, so far, seems to be limiting the ticks' eastward march.

Paskewitz has also trapped and sampled other tick hosts (deer mice and chipmunks) around Wisconsin. Samples from these surveys are screened for Lyme disease, human granulocytic ehrlichiosis (HGE) and human babesiosis.

Deer ticks are equalopportunity disease carriers, and can transmit multiple pathogens with a single bite. Infection with two diseases -- Lyme disease and HGE, for example -- may affect the course of Lyme disease, making it more severe and slower to respond to antibiotic treatment. Paskewitz is looking for overlaps in pathogen populations in ticks, and now those overlaps correlate with more severe cases of Lyme disease. This information should allow physicians in high Lyme/HGE areas to watch for both diseases in their patients.

Using computerized databases, Paskewitz can generate a map of points indicating where and how many cases of Lyme disease occurred, for example. She can take maps of Lyme disease occurrences, tick distribution, land use patterns and other factors, lay them over one another, and do an analysis that shows any associations. The system allows researchers to crunch a wide variety of variables, such as soils, cli- just can't survive there. mate, plants, vertebrate hosts, and infection level in parameters are there for ticks, then we can warn doctors to look for Lyme and other tick-borne diseases in patients, even if no ticks have been reported in the area," Paskewitz points out.

"If we know all the ment, but ultimately, birds

In Wisconsin, we find a different picture from survey to survey," she says. "Each new survey shows more ticks in new places." Unfortunatly, she has no reports of tick declines in infested areas.

In Paskewitz's 1994 survey, volunteers sampled 1,200 deer at 26 registration stations on opening day of Wisconsin's deer gun season. Compared with earlier surveys, the results showed that deer ticks made steady progress in spreading through the western twothirds of Wisconsin.

"This gave us baseline data, showed a few pockets of ticks in northeastern Wisconsin, and defined the eastern edge of prevalence in the state," Paskewitz said. "We're using these data to determine the 'patchiness' of tick distribution. One area may show severe infestation, while another sampling spot a few miles away turns up few or

"We know there are areas where human cases have been reported but we don't know anything about the tick populations -- we've sampled but haven't found ticks. The ticks may be very clustered and we need a more intensive sampling to pick them up," Paskewitz

"We're interested in two things: how do ticks become established in new areas, and what is the risk for transmission of Lyme disease in areas where nobody has looked before," she says. "We look at vertebrate host populations, the level of pathogens in those populations, and the characteristics of the habitat." Ideal tick habitat includes welldrained, sandy soils with forested cover, she notes.

Some areas in eastern Wisconsin seem to have good tick habitat, but no ticks -- yet. "Many studies have shown you can find a single deer tick on a deer, which suggests that ticks are being introduced into the range of that deer -- but when you go back and check again later, you find no ticks, meaning the tick population isn't getting established.

This may be happening in eastern Wisconsin. Ticks are being introduced, but they don't take off. We're trying to figure out why,' Paskewitz says. She mentions two possible reasons for this -- one is good news for eastern Wisconsin; the other is not so good:

*There is something fundamentally different in the ecology of eastern Wisconsin, and the ticks

* The Wisconsin River is a barrier, but a porous one. It slows tick moveand deer will move the ticks into eastern Wisconsin, where they will establish themselves.

The Wisconsin project is of a joint effort to understand tick distribution in the Midwest. Other scientists involved in the project include Uriel Kitron and Carl Jones at the University of Illinois, Ned Walker at Michigan State University and Louisa Beck and Byron Wood of NASA-Ames.

Deer Management Units On "Watch" List for 1997

MADISON -- For many deer hunters anxiously looking forward to the 1996 nine-day gun deer season that opens November 23 their main concern is whether they will get a

For state wildlife managers -- who are already looking ahead to the 1997 -the main concern is whether hunters will take enough deer this year to reduce the population in those parts of the state where deer numbers are well above established goals.

'If hunters don't harvest adequate numbers of deer this fall, we'll be looking at our options for 1997, which may include continuing recommending another Zone T hunt concept and possibly including more deer management units in the Zone T," explains Bill Mytton, deer and bear ecologist for the Department of Natural Resources.

DNR wildlife managers and other members of the Farmland Deer Committee -- which includes Conservation Congress delegates and members of the Wisconsin Bowhunters Association and Wisconsin Muzzleloader Association -- will be closely watching antlerless deer harvest levels in several southern farmland deer management units and evaluating the harvest levels of this fall's archery, gun and muzzleloader deer hunting seasons. This committee played a major role in developing the 1996 Zone T deer hunting season.

Most deer management units in southern Wisconsin are on the 'watch list,' Mytton says.

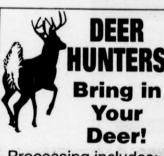

If the hunting seasons are not successful at reducing deer numbers, Mytton says, the committee may recommend continuing with a Zone T hunt, and including additional deer management units in the special

Units might be included in Zone T because of high deer numbers, because the demand for antlerless permits is lower than the number of permits available and because there is agricultural crop damage of more than $10,000 for the unit or more than $75 per square mile of deer range. Other factors, like proximity to a metropolitan area or a state park within another unit included on the Zone T list, might also qualify a unit for inclusion in a Zone T hunt.

"The biggest factor is the percentage of deer over set management goals, the number of car-deer accidents, and the ability or inability of hunters to reduce or control deer numbers under the regular sea-son framework," Mytton

Before making its recommendations, the Farmland Deer Committee will fully evaluate all 1996 hunting season results. The committee's recommendations would then be forwarded to the Natural Resources Board for action, which could also be reviewed by the state legislature.

Deer Gun Season to Open November 23

The 1996 deer gun season is a just a few days away. Once again, this year, we are looking at a record harvest both statewide and locally. A lot will have to do with the weather on the opening weekend of the hunt. It is one of the latest openings we can have with the season running into the month of December. Therefore snow is a good possibility sometime during the sea-

For the first time in our area, everyone who applied for a Hunters Choice Permit received one and a good number of people were also given the opportunity to purchase a Bonus Tag for our area.

The reason for this? To try and lower an ever increasing deer population in our area. Do you really think there are that many deer in our area? I have heard that question a lot over the last few months. My response has been, yes, you may not see a large increase in deer numbers in a specific location in unit 69A, but overall, throughout the unit, the population is high and it needs to be reduced. Is our unit, 69A,

Once again, we go into a deer season with a lot of tags and high expectations. Once again I want to remind you to hunt safely. Remind everyone in your hunting group of the three rules to safe hunting.

Treat every gun as if it were loaded; always point your gun in a safe direction, and always be sure of your target and beyond. Show respect to private property owners, other hunters, nonhunters and to the game you are pursuing. Finally show respect to yourself by hunting the way you are supposed to, obey the rules,

The meeting was part of a series held in each of the four Multistate Regional Taskforce areas conducted by the National School-To-Work Office in Washington, Shane attended as part of the team selected by the state's Division of Connection Education and Work. She lives in the Town of Trenton.

The meeting was held at the Westin St. Francis Hotel on Michigan Avenue.

In its second year, the Washington County School-To-Work Partnership develops and assists local educational programs that help students make a successful transition into a high skills work force. Members include all five county school districts -- Germantown, Hartford, Kewaskum, Slinger and West Bend -parents, local businesses, labor organizations, postsecondary educational institutions and community leaders.

Currently the School-To-Work Partnership offers youth apprenticeship training, job shadowing projects, career mentoring programs, tech prep classroom work and work-based learning co-
