District Schools Begin New Lunch Procedure

KES Fourth Grader Danielle Miller enters her PIN number into a computer keypad before eating lunch, as KES aide Mrs. Werdermann looks on. PIN numbers are part of the new lunch procedure at all district schools.

Students and staff eating lunch in the Kewaskum Schools now use a computer as well as their forks and their spoons.

As part of a new districtwide computerized school lunch procedure, everyone eating lunch in the Kewaskum schools needs to enter a four-digit PIN number before heading through the lunch line. All lunch payments now will be made in advance, and when the child enters the PIN, the computer file will list the child's name and verify how much lunch money is left on their account.

The district's new system (although used at KMS last year) has many advantages, according to District Food Service Supervisor Kathy Robinson. Students no longer will have to worry about losing money or tickets, parents can pay in advance for a day, a week, even a year, and it will be credited to their child's account.

For the district, the computerized system should eventually speed up the lunch lines and provide more accurate tracking of student lunch purchases.

Although there may be some initial growing pains with the new system, last year's trial run at KMS was well-received.

One important thing to note, however: money needs to be sent in advance, it can't be used on the day sent. Since the computer system will credit any money received starting the next day, parents are urged to remember to send money at least one day in advance.

Parents of students in the elementary schools are being asked to send checks (instead of cash), in sealed envelopes, listing parent, student and teacher names, as well.

World Serious-Less Saturday!

Just a patient little reminder that Saturday is your last chance in 1997 to see the "Over 40 Boys" in the hottest softball game of the year. Perhaps even in this century at the Thiemerdome, just a short jog north of Kewaskum.

The boys are digging out the Ben Gay for one last application before the snow flies. This is the last time the boys are going to risk limping all winter, secure in the knowledge they "went out there and won one for the gipper..." or somebody, any way.

All you die-hard softball fans out there won't want to miss the hitting finesse and walking real fast (notice I didn't say running...) that these games involve. It will be some good old-fashioned fun, according to Thiemerdome general manager Richard "Gimpy" Thiemer.

Bring your chairs and

Bring your chairs and blankets because even though the season tickets are all sold out for this big game, there's never a bad seat at the dome (as long as you have hindsight... if you catch my drift)!

Food will be available for sale during all the games and refreshments??? Well, that goes without saying. At least I might add... they will be cold.

Teams scheduled to play ten or twenty times during the course of the day include Kuehl's Suds and Spirits vs. Commercial Plumbing at 10:30 a.m., Amerahn vs. Thiemer's Sip and Snippers at 11:30, Commercial vs. Thiemer's at 12:30, Kuehl's vs. Amerahn at 1:30, Thiemer's vs. Kuehl's at 2:30, Commercial vs. Amerahn at 3:30 and for a grand finale Richard and Mary and Steve "Double Oh" and Kathy and Larry and Louise will square off against John and Dee and Dennis and Lana and Moochie and Cheryl (In your dreams...)!

Don't forget to be at the dome prior to 10:30 to hear Richard's moving rendition of the Star Spangled Banner. This alone is worth the price of the free admission!

Annual Early Farm Days Here Sunday

As the years race by and we approach the millennium, sometimes we yearn for the "good old days" when life was simpler, less fast paced, or so it seemed, and members of the Kewaskum Historical Society invite you to reminisce along with them at their 23rd Annual Early Farm Days on Sunday, September 7.

The Society's 1847 award winning museum and reconstructed log cabin will play host to a variety of old time displays, set up along the banks of the Milwaukee River at River Hill Park.

Gas, steam and miniature engines, antiques, farm equipment, old time craft demonstrations, and tours of the museum are just some of the old fashioned highlights that can be enjoyed by the whole family throughout the day.

Free horse drawn wagon rides will also be available... just the thing for a leisurely Sunday tour through the

Four Injured In Two Vehicle Accident

By Andrew R. Kuehl

TOWN OF WAYNE- A two vehicle accident occurred in the Town of Wayne at 12:31 AM on Labor Day, Sept. 1, on USH 41, in the southbound lanes just south of the Hwy 28 exit.

Washington County Sheriff's Department and Wisconsin State Patrol were on the scene as well as Kohlsville First Responders, Kewaskum Rescue/Jaws of Life and Allenton Rescue Squad.

Four patients were extricated and transported to St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend.

Wisconsin State Patrol Sgt. Heino said the accident was still under investigation and no further information was available as of late Tuesday.

KES Media Center Moving Forward

As of this minute, books are stacked everywhere in the KES Media Center (library): tables, shelves, any available floor space. But in a few weeks, a long summer of Media Center renovations and three years of updating the book checkout system will finally be over.

This summer, due to space limitations at KES, a new second grade classroom sprang up where the Media Center bookshelves used to be (the third such classroom built in media center space over the last several years).

To help direct traffic flow and help define the new media center space, halfwalls were constructed (most by KES Principal Kieth Kriewaldt and KES custodian Jacque Follstad). The new partitions provide work space for students (including four computer stations), areas to display student projects, and a place for the incoming bookshelves -- which will be a more "child-friendly" size for the students than were the old ones. An area will also be reviewed for use as a much needed section for classrooms to view videos.

The renovations were made possible thanks to a great student and community effort in last year's pizza sale fundraiser. Although nearing completion, there is still some work to do.

"This will be an updated library," said Elementary Schools Media Specialist Kathy Roehrig, "a fun place for the kids to go. It really is exciting. The worst thing is having to work around all this mess right now." The mess includes the remnants of construction, piles of books, and a lot of displaced furniture.

Another big, but not so messy, change in the KES Media Center (and, in fact, all the Kewaskum schools) involves a new book checkout system. The new checkout system, called the Winnebago system, is actually a district-wide system designed to catalogue and track Media Center resources from all the schools.

The Winnebago system involves giving each book and media center material a bar code, similar to those found on grocery store items. When fully operational, the bar code will be scanned, as will a student bar code on a library card, to instantly record the book, the user, and the date of return.

It will allow books and other materials to be checked out more efficiently, more accurately keep inventory and assess learning resource needs and present easier access to finding library materials.

"It's very exciting," said Mrs. Roehrig, "it will really help make it easier for kids to learn."

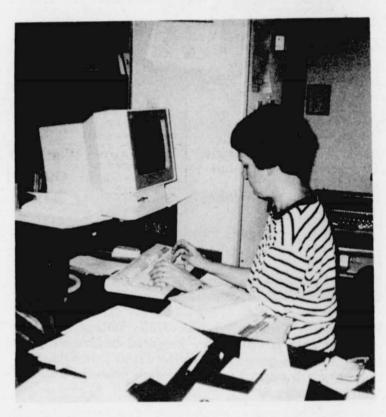

Even though the whole process of assignment bar codes and entering them into the computer has taken several years, the entire system will likely be up and running by the end of September.

In the meantime, though, books remain stacked neatly in piles up to two feet high (as Mrs. Roehrig says), "anxiously awaiting the new bookshelves." Students await the new-look Media Center. And Mrs. Roehrig awaits the end of the mess.

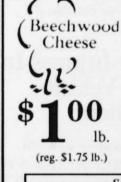

It won't be long now.

Stacks of recently bar-coded books await the new shelving in the KES Media Center.

Media Center Specialist/Librarian Mrs. Roehrig continues the long process of bar-coding the books for use in the new, more efficient library checkout system.

Washington County Juvenile Justice Presentation Slated

WEST BEND -- A presentation on juvenile justice in Washington County for parents and guardians will take place on September 16, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the West Bend High School Auditorium.

Its purpose is to discuss, at an adult level, juvenile crime and the consequences for the juvenile and his or her family or guardian. The ultimate goal is crime prevention through education. This presentation will be repeated in October and/or November in Hartford and Germantown. It will also be videotaped and available for subsequent broadcast and viewing.

Juvenile crimes will be acted out in three skits: tobacco and alcohol violations, retail theft (shoplifting) and domestic disturbances. A panel discussion on the consequences of the crimes for the juvenile and his parents or guardians will follow each skit.

The panel of juvenile justice professionals will include Sheriff's Department and Police Department youth officers, Court Intake Worker Mary Pat McKinley, Assistant District Attorney John Fryatt, Washington County Circuit Court Judge Lawrence F. Waddick, Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Counselor Annette Gamache and Deputy Director of Social Services Michael Bloedorn.

Mr. Bloedorn will moderate the presentation. Following the panel discussion there will be an opportunity for questions from the audi-

According to Jim Shutes, Juvenile Justice Presentation Coordinator, "It appears that youth get a good understanding of crimes and consequences in our schools, but the parents are left out of the loop, often confused and frustrated. The latest changes to juvenile codes have made things even tougher and more confusing. And, of course, ignorance of the law is no excuse. This presentation will be an extraordinary opportunity for parents and guardians to gain a better understanding of juvenile crimes and consequences."

Information about various social services for youth will be available at the presentation. This presentation is free and open to the pub-

A Stroll Down Main Street ...

Traveling farther east along the south side of Main Street, two buildings stood side by side that were both owned and operated by the Koch family for many years. In 1881 August G. Koch started the Feed and Seed Warehouse Store on the site of Mathias Altenhofen's store (presently the home of L.K. Heating, Kuehl's Suds and Spirits and Video Post as shown in the photo below) along with a farm implement business in the building next to it, which housed an International Harvester Dealership. During its early years, the store was designed to meet the needs of farmers living in the area. Many farm products were purchased and shipped to Milwaukee, including seeds, wool, chickens, geese, eggs, potatoes, oats and clover. Farmers were given credit slips for their goods and A.G. Koch's grandson, Augie, says money was rarely exchanged in the store in those days. A.G. Koch also served as the village's postmaster, with an office located where Video Post now operates, equipped with a separate entrance for postal customers. Additions were made to both sides of the original store building, and it later became the Red Owl Grocery Store. The business changed hands through the years and after A.G. Koch died in 1913, his brothers, Arthur and Ervin Koch incorporated the business. Upon their death, Arthur's sons, August and Harry, ran the family corporation. The implement dealership was eventually torn down and the present post office was built in its place. Harry Koch also served as a postmaster for the village. Terry Koch, a great-grandson of the original founder, was last manager of the store when it closed in December of 1969. The building is still owned by Augie Koch. Augie also mentioned some facts about two buildings previously pictured in the Statesman as part of this series. He states the building that is now a residence (August 21st issue) that once served as the Home Bakery, was a Tailor Shop before that, being run by Nick Engleman. Augie worked for Nick for 50 cents a week, "a lot of money in those days," he adds. Also in the June 12th issue, we featured the building that is presently occupied by Main Street Tattoo. Augie recalls that it did serve as a millinery (hat) shop, run by Lulu Davies. She was the sister of Edward C. Miller.

Boy Scouts Enjoy Busy Summer

Kewaskum Boy Scout Troop 744 had an active and exciting summer. Beginning in May, the boys and their families enjoyed an overnight campout/bike hike on the Elroy-Sparta Bike Trail.

In July 12 of the the 20 boys enjoyed a week of tent camping at the Boy Scout Summer Camp. They try to go to different BSA Camp Facilities each summer and this year they went to "Bear Paw Camp," located just outside Mountain, Wisconsin. Four of the adult leaders gave up their vacation time and were at camp with the boys. The activities included merit badge programs, mountain biking, hiking, swimming, boating and much more.

The month of August brought them to their "High Adventure" outing which is done every other year. This year eight boys and six of their fathers/leaders went on a five day canoe trip into "The White Otter Wilderness" area of Ontario, Canada. The trip was a great success with beautiful scenery, excellent fishing, wildlife sightings (including bald eagles, moose, loons, etc.) The weather was great and even the bugs were easy on the group. The scouts helped finance this trip with their annual pizza sale in spring and their popcorn sale in the fall.

The regular meetings (two times a month during the school year) are about to begin again in September and they all look forward to another great year.

If any youth, grade six/age 11 and up, are interested in scouting, or if any adults are interested in being a scout leader (you don't need to have a son in the troop to be an active leader) you can contact John Kletti at 334-0227 or John Theisen at 692-9478 to get more information.

4-H, LABO Exchange

Green grass, open spaces, stars in the sky, hot dogs, hamburgers and speaking American English were some of the comments of 4-H delegates and chaperones expressed when we again met in Tokyo as a group for our travel home to AMERICA and what we take for granted!

This cultural exchange program between 4-H and LABO in Japan and America is in its 27th year. Four-H youth commented that they learned more about Japan culture in four weeks during their homestay then they could have ever learned by reading textbooks in and out of a classroom setting. Homestays give a person the real picture of everyday life of a Japanese family and not just the tourist attractions.

Four-H delegates and chaperones were able to experience many different foods especially in the fish category as well as vegetables, fruits, roots and herbs. Food in Japan is made and served much differently than here in the United

Much of the food has a salty taste or is given its individuality with garlic or curry. Food is made up in the kitchen and served on many plates and bowls in a decorative manner and usually served cool or cold. Drinking beverages even as simple as a glass of water is unusual and many times we had to ask for something to drink. Cold tea and cold coffee are the most common beverages served in homes both to adults and children.

Going to the toilet can be a real eye opener at first especially if you are not prepared for it. Many homes do have western toilets like ours, but be prepared to use the traditional Japanese toilet which looks similar to a mens' urinal, but lays down on the floor. It is an experience in itself to learn how to squat down and use these facilities. Going to the bathroom means you desire to take a shower and then bathe in the deep bathtub. Make sure you ask for the correct room , the toilet or bathroom, if you should ever have the chance to travel to Japan, because they are completely different rooms.

Travel within Japan is done mostly by mass transit; walking or bicycling to the train or bus stations and purchasing a ticket from machines to your destination. Traveling by car is difficult and crowded in Japan and when you arrive at your destination, many times there is no place to park. Their mass transit system is efficient and well designed to get you where you want to go.

Education is very important to Japanese families. Children must take a test to get into high school and then another test to be admitted to-college. Their grades on these tests determine which schools they can attend. Children during their 4-1/2 week summer break are given lessons to complete and must attend exercise sessions in the early mornings.

Learning the English language in Japan is very important because youth are brought up believing that some day they will have the opportunity to travel to the United States and experience our culture.

I encourage any 4-H family or member or any other person interested in learning more about another culture to contact us (Diane or Paul Lemke at 414-626-4829) on information on how you could host a youth or adult from Japan during the summer of 1998.

The southern part of Wisconsin will be hosting LABO exchange delegates and we are always looking for homes to place these young people, we especially need homes for boys. This is a chance of a lifetime and you DO NOT need to do anything more than your daily routines that you would do with your children. These children love to see baseball, play games, go to county fairs, and experience everyday American lifestyles.

If anyone should have any questions about the 4-H/LABO International Exchange Program or would like to speak to a group we would be more than pleased to share our experiences. We dearly love having the opportunity to share our cultural experience through these news releases and wish to thank the papers for publishing them. Japanese people are loving, giving people and anyone who opens their hearts to them are greatly rewarded.

On Sunday, Sept. 14, Wisconsin delegates and chaperones will have a debriefing session to share experiences and comments on how to inform more people and how to further improve the 4-H/LABO exchange program.

Thank you, Paul and Diane Lemke

A little rain didn't dampen the fun or spirits of those who attended Holy Trinity Home and School Association's third annual Social Fest on Saturday, August 24, at River Hill Park in Kewaskum, Over 700 grilled chicken dinners, corn on the cob, baked potatoes, salads, desserts and refreshments were served to festival attendees.

Festival Chairman Gary Bohn had "a lot on his mind" as Holy Trinity Pastor Tom Walker drew the $5,000 grand prize winning ticket and placed it in Gary's hat, which he promptly returned to his head. Indians Mauled by Cougars

Indian quarterback Josh Gaffke (#1) calls out the signal as he prepares to take the snap from center Kasey Brath (#53).

The Campbellsport Cougars came to town with a wealth of team speed that turned out to be too much for the inexperienced Indian squad.

The Cougars Dave Pentek and Matt Stuht rushed for a total of 225 yards as Campbellsport won 41 to 12. Despite the lopsided score, the game was an evenly contested battle throughout the first half with Campbellsport holding a 14-12 lead with two minutes remaining in the half.

That's when disaster struck as one of the Cougar defenders intercepted a Josh Gaffke pass and returned it inside the Kewaskum ten-yard line to set up a touchdown giving the Cougars a 21-12 lead.

The Cougars took their opening series and marched it down the field to take an early 7-0 lead. The Indians came right back with a 65 yard scoring drive of their own as Robbie Manthei scored on a 12-yard run to make it 7-0.

The three senior running backs, Tim Vetter, Jim Kopecky and Manthei covered all 65 yards on the ground as they displayed a ground game which is hoped to be the strength of the offense. The extra point kick by sophomore Chris Koth was blocked as two Cougar defenders penetrated the middle of the line for the block. The first quarter ended with the Cougars leading, 7-6.

The next series, seniors Ryan Rammer and Troy Staehler combined for an interception as Rammer deflected a pass which an alert Staehler intercepted and returned 25 yards to the Cougar 45 yard line. On the very next play, Gaffke hooked up with Ryan Rammer for a 30-yard pass to the Cougar 20-yard line.

After a first down, the Indians bogged down and turned the ball over on downs as a fourth down pass into the end zone was dropped. The Cougars then marched 85 yards to lead 14-6.

The Indians came back with a 60-yard scoring drive highlighted by Ryan Rammer's 30-yard pass reception. Rammer finished the game with four catches for 81 yards.

The Indians score came when Gaffke escaped from the grasp of a Cougar defender and found Tim Vetter in the flat. Vetter Running back Tim Vetter (#34) bulls ahead for extra yardage as he prepares to be greeted by Campbellsport's Steve Schneider (#89). Vetter had a great night, carrying the ball seven times for 35 yards and one touchdown and added four receptions for an additional 53 yards.

immediately broke a tackle, cut back to the middle of the field, breaking two more tackles along the way, for a 20-yard scoring play. The two-point conversion run failed, making the score 14-12. Then just before the half, the quick score by the Cougars gave them an 11-point cushion.

The third quarter was an even battle until a bad snap on an attempted punt by the Indians gave the ball to the Cougars on the Indian 30-yard line. Several plays later, Campbellsport scored, breaking the game open, 28-12, at the end of the third quarter.

Another interception late in the game by sophomore Chris Koth combined with a Cougar scoring drive, accounted for the final two scores of the fourth quarter.

Head Coach Perry Koth's thoughts on the game included, "We turned the ball over too many times. We had too many people playing on both sides of the ball due to injuries and suspensions. They (the Cougars) have great speed in the backfield which we couldn't handle."

"We wore down physically in the second half and our tackling was poor. I was pleased with our running game in the first half and most of the passing game, except for the turnovers," added Koth.

Kewaskum's ground game was led by Robbie Manthei who picked up 64 yards on 16 carries and scored one touchdown. Tim Vetter had 35 yards on seven carries, also with a touchdown, and Jim Kopecky had 16 yards on 13 carries.

Ryan Rammer led the receivers with four catches for 81 yards, while Vetter added four catches for 53 yards and one touchdown.

"I thought Vetter, Manthei and Rammer really played outstanding in the game. We certainly need to look at getting the ball in their hands more often," stated Coach Koth.

The Indians travel to Horicon for a 7 p.m. game this Friday. The task for the Indians will get no easier as the Marshmen defeated Ripon 45-12 last Friday night.

Changes Will Be Implemented In 1998 Bear Hunting Season

To gain a better understanding of bear hunter activities in Wisconsin, several changes in the bear licensing program will be implemented in 1998, starting with the application process in January.

Hunters will now apply only for preference points and at a reduced rate of $3 for both residents and nonresidents. This will allow the hunter to begin building preference points only.

Through the same application process, hunters will receive a postcard showing their preference standing, and will be given the opportunity to purchase a Class B bear license, formerly known as a pursuit permit. This permit allows those who participate in the bear season to handle dogs, place bait, etc.

Residents will pay $8 and non-residents will pay $100 for a Class B license and will be allowed to participate in the bear hunt in any way except killing a bear. Finally, when chosen to receive a "kill permit," now known as a Class A bear license, resident hunters will pay $41 while non-residents will pay $201. Both the Class A and Class B license holders will be required to wear a bear hunting back tag when participating in all bear hunting activities.

The preference system for receiving bear hunting licenses will also change starting in 1998. The current "consecutive" preference system, requiring that hunters apply every year to maintain preference, will switch to a "cumulative" system. As a result, hunters will only need to apply at least once every three years to stay in the system, allowing those who forget or who are unable to apply to maintain preference. In the past, such applicants would lose all previously accumulated preference and fall back to zero points.

The older generation thinks nothing of getting up at six in the morning -- and the younger generation doesn't think much of it either.

Indian running back Robbie Manthei (#33) takes the ball to the goal line, scoring Kewaskum's first touchdown. Manthei had an excellent evening, leading the Indians' ground game with 64 yards on 16 carries.

KHS JV Football Team Defeats Campbellsport

The Kewaskum JV football team declawed the Campbellsport Cougars by a score of 20-14 at Campbellsport Tuesday night.

The Indians scored the game's first touchdown on a one-yard run by Mike Farchione. After the Cougars scored a touchdown of their own, Kewaskum retaliated with a 40-yard run by David Lettow.

Campbellsport scored another touchdown in the third quarter to go up by a score of 14-13. The Indians appeared to be in jeopardy when Campbellsport drove to the Kewaskum ten-yard line with only four minutes in the game and threatened to add to their lead.

The game took a dramatic turn when the Kewaskum defense stuffed the Cougars on a third down play and cornerback Curt Koth stripped the ball and ran it back 90 yards for the game winning touchdown.

The victory gave the JV Indians a 1-0 record heading into a September 2nd battle at home against Horizon.
