Christmas Parade Here Sunday

They've made all their lists and they've checked them all twice and all is in readiness for jolly old Santa Claus who will be making his annual appearance to check if the area children have been naughty or nice during Sunday's annual Christmas Parade at 5 p.m.

It is hoped the entire community will participate in one way or another and strive to make this year's parade a most memorable one for all. All schools, businesses, churches and civic organizations are urged to participate in the parade and are encouraged to decorate and add a festive touch to the community for the holidays.

With the support of the entire community, the parade can continue to be a source of inspiration to all involved, as well as to all the spectators. Cash prizes of $150, $100, $75, $50 and $25 will be awarded for the first five places selected by a special group of judges.

This year the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the annual parade, and Kewaskum High School will again take part in the annual Food Sharing Program to be held in conjunction with the parade. All residents are encouraged to bring non-perishable food items to the parade where Santa's elves will gladly assist in picking them up. Let's be sure we remember the true meaning of Christmas by donating our small share to help everyone in the area have a happy holiday season.

Once again, the Chamber is arranging to have Fond du Lac Avenue and Main Street adorned with Christmas trees in which area community groups and schools have donated their time and efforts to decorate. Youth from Kewaskum Elementary and Middle Schools, Holy Trinity and St. Lucas Schools, Farmington and Wayne Elementary schools, Tuttle Creek Learning Center, and the Wayne Crusaders and Kewaskum 4-H Clubs, and the Kewaskum Girl Scouts will all be involved in the tree decorating, which will add a beautiful festive touch along the parade route. The trees will be decorated on Friday, December 5, just in time for all to admire before the parade.

All decorating participants will be competing for a chance to win first through third place. Trees will be judged and the winners will be announced in the Statesman Christmas edition.

Many businesses will also be featuring special celebrations, encouraging you to spend the day in Kewaskum's Winter Wonderland. Why travel somewhere else to attack that Christmas list when there is so much being offered right here in Kewaskum if you simply take the time to Each December, Potawatomi Bingo and Casino chooses 22 children's charities for its Miracle on Canal Street program. This year, Holy Trinity School was chosen as one of the charities.

Each group has one special day and will share proceeds from the Miracle Bingo games and raffle that are played throughout the first 22 days in December. Holy Trinity's special day is Tuesday, Dec. 16, 1997.

look around your own community.

So plan on spending Sunday in the community we all love... shop the friendly merchants... take the time to visit with your friends and neighbors and relax for one last time before the holiday madness begins.

According to parade chairwomen, Shawn Roberts and Diane Schickert, this year's parade promises to be even more outstanding than before. Besides many of your annual favorites, it is rumored that two of the prize winners from the West Bend parade have agreed to participate in our parade.

If you need more information on the parade don't hesitate to call on Shawn Roberts or Diane Schickert who worked diligently to insure Kewaskum would have a Christmas parade this year. And if you happen to run into them on Sunday... be sure to give them the pat on the back they deserve for the fantastic job they did. And be sure to do the same for Gwen Dreher who almost single-handedly coordinated the tree decorating contest and many of the decorations herself. Thank you girls for all your efforts and for making our Christmas another special memory.

Dairyland Seed Donates $25,000 to New Fair Site

The Washington County Ag and Extension committee recently accepted a $25,000 pledge from Dairyland Seed Company, to help fund the cost of four livestock barns at the new Washington County fairgrounds.

The $25,000 gift from Dairyland Seed is "in appreciation for the loyalty" of Washington County farmers to the 1907 family owned and operated business, announced chief executive officer Tom Strachota.

The donation brings the total amount of contributions to around $278,000 to help offset the cost of $615,000 to develop the livestock area. The sizable contribution has earned Dairyland Seed the privilege of naming the dairy livestock building, "Dairyland Seed Dairy Building."

The goal cost of $615,000 for the livestock area includes four livestock barns at $100,000 each, a show arena ($150,000) and a $65,000 milking parlor.

The new fairgrounds will be located on a 133 acre site in the Town of Polk, scheduled for completion in 1999.

Health Promotion Service To Begin at Meadowcreek

A health promotion service for older adults in the Kewaskum area will begin in December. This service will be offered every first and third Thursday at Meadowcreek Apartments from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The service will be provided by Midwest Medical Home Care Agency. The service is being sponsored by the Washington County Office on Aging and Meadowcreek Apartments.

This program will provide for a health promotion program at Meadowcreek Apartments. The program will assist Kewaskum area older adults with health maintenance and promotion to keep them in their own homes, prevent complications of illness, and reduce hospital admissions. The Midwest Medical nurse will provide early detection and treatment of problems, education and other activities that assist older adults to effectively manage their health care.

For more information on this program, Kewaskum area residents can contact Cheri Ramthun at the Kewaskum Meal Site at 626-8333 between 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. or the Office on Aging at 335-4497.

Area Artist's Work is 'Light As a Feather'

Bette Voeks of Boltonville works at her studio painting feather artwork in the spring and fall, and spends this time of year traveling to various shows.

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Bette Voek's "light as a feather" works of art began five years ago when her son came home clutching a gift in his hand, the kind only boys bring home to their mothers after rescuing the treasure from the roadside or the edge of a field or even the front yard.

It was a bronze turkey feather, and when Bette admired the offering, the design of the feather revealed to her artist's eye the scene of a she-bear and her cub.

As an experienced ceramic crafter and teacher, Bette brought out her acrylic paints and proceeded to transfer the scene onto the feather, and the result was her first work of feather art, which she entitled, "Barely There."

She entered the piece in the Washington County Fair and won first place in the adult art division. Since then, a chocolate lab, a standing bear, a goose, and wolf eyes have been added to the Barely There series of feather paintings.

"You have to really look into the scene to see it," Bette explains, lying out feathers around her as she works to study them in search of formations, like the kind you see in clouds.

In 1993 her swan entitled, "Elegance," one of two pieces that aren't for sale, won the title of grand champion in art competition at the fair, and sent her winging her way into a new career.

Bette's feather art is beautifully matted and framed, with beads, leather, shells, or polished stone added to the composition to enhance the natural scene. "I use whatever I feel goes well with the finished piece," she relates. Her unique art form offers one of a kind pieces that pay tribute to the delicate balance of nature, along with things that may be endangered.

"I've done many wildlife paintings, tigers, cougars, birds, dolphins, and things like sailboats because they are light and driven by air. Painting on feathers, for me personally, relates the feeling that if you don't take care of something, it will be gone, like a feather in the wind."

She is currently working on special orders for a lighthouse and an Amish scene, but turns away requests for cars and trucks and the like.

She claims she is an artist that cannot draw or even sketch. "When I'm sketching down ideas on paper it looks like stick figures, but put a brush in my hand, and I can do it," she maintains, and keeps busy working in her studio in fall and spring, with winter months set aside for traveling to various craft shows, doing about fifteen a year.

"It's been expanding, but I can't do too much, I don't mass produce. I enjoy doing the commissioned work, but I also like to be creative."

The Voeks still maintain husband Don's family farm, the 1817 Plaum homestead. Within 35 acres, there are different kinds of turkeys, along with geese, ducks and chickens. Once raised for food, they now enjoy a life of leisure, existing for the pleasure of their owners and the feathers.

"There are several different types of feathers, some are finer and softer, others are stronger, and each is different in quality and texture," Bette points out.

With waterfowl, a different kind of acrylic paint has to be used because of the feathers' water repellent nature. "We used to have a peacock, and I found those to be the most difficult to paint on."

Always seeking new forms for her creativity, Bette has been working out a scene for a whole pheasant wing, and also developing an idea that involves the use of a turkey tail.

Her commissioned work has brought many requests from people to do their pets, including birds, cats, dogs and horses. "People are always sending me unusual feathers to work with. One woman sent me feathers from her parrot and wanted the bird's picture painted on them. They were too small, but I did include some in the finished composition."

By necessity, Bette has become an expert in feather identification and is extremely careful in knowing what she is working with, or what people send her way. "I can't touch eagle, hawk, or owl feathers, or any migratory birds, even if they are found on the ground, because it's against the law," Bette asserts. Only Native Americans are allowed to use the feathers through a special government dispensation.

In her search to locate and share ideas with other artists who paint on feathers, Bette has found her choice of canvas to be rare. "So far, I've found a Native American that does it, an artist in Missouri, one in Illinois, and a man in Minnesota, but not one of us does it the same," she states, hoping that someday they could meet or correspond.

Art galleries in Cambridge, Appleton, and Oconomowoc carry Bette's feather art, and she hopes to add more to her resume in the future, although she won't give up shows anytime soon.

"I love the interaction with people and the look they get on their faces when they stop to take a closer look at my work and realize it's a feather."

She also loves traveling with a family of artists; her father, Ron Schultz, is a photographer who specializes in scenes of northern Wisconsin, and her father-in-law, Don Voeks, does fine wood turning. "All Don's wood comes from our property up north, and my father's photographs captures scenes from up north, and most of the feathers I use come from my birds, so we call it our 'homegrown' art."

Bette will be exhibiting her art for the last time this year at Shorewood High School on December 7, with approximately 50 pieces on display. When she isn't busy in her studio, she enjoys spending time on the farm with her family, her flock of birds, and her quarter horses.

"My son Troy, is actually the one that started it all, along with some very good friends who had chickens and couldn't slaughter their champions from the fair, so I took them, and I can see now how it's all come from gifts," she observes. "Now I'm looking for a feather from a red turkey. I heard there's one out there...."

For more information on the artist and her work, contact Bette at 692-9566.

Share Your Christmas Memories with Our Readers

Now that our Statesman subscribers are graciously sending in their holiday recipes to share with others, the response has been so enthusiastic, we are going to ask our readers to go a step farther during this holiday season.

Of all the holiday traditions, perhaps the one with the most personal meaning to us is the gathering of family together, and sharing those special memories of Christmases Past.

The significance of storytelling passed through generations, from great-grandparents to their growing families, seems to be lacking in a society racing ahead to keep pace with the latest technology. There is no greater gift than taking the time to listen to a loved one, be it a relative or cherished friend, as they tell a story that unlocks our hearts to the magic of the season.

Do you have special memories you would like to share with our readers in the Kewaskum Statesman's Christmas edition? Whether it was caroling by sleigh, decorating the tree with homemade ornaments, the first Christmas in a new country, or listening for the reindeers' prancing steps across the roof, these memories of holidays gone by enrich our lives and make us who we are.

We invite you to write down your favorite, most fun, most meaningful, or most traditional holiday remembrance, and send it in to The Kewaskum Statesman Holiday Memories, P.O.Box 98, Kewaskum, WI 53040

Please limit your stories to approximately a page and a half so we have room enough to share everyone's contribution, and include your name, address and telephone number.

Memories of Christmas in Kewaskum in the good old days are especially welcomed, and we can reminisce together, recalling with fondness that great sledding hill that carried kids out onto the pond, or the church lit with candles, packed tight on Christmas Eve with rosy faces and everyone dressed in their finest outfits.

We look forward to your stories, so take the time to jot them down today and stop in or mail them in for our upcoming publication, and share the spirit of the season. It's catching, just try it.

There is no tree at traditional Greek Christmas celebrations. Instead, a small cross wrapped with herbs is kept in a bowl to protect the house from prankster goblins.

"O.K., straighten up that line!"

Enright - Goeden

Kelly Jean Enright and Donald Scott Goeden exchanged vows of holy matrimony on Saturday, October 4th, 1997 in a ceremony held at St. Michael's Catholic Church in St. Michaels.

Parents of the couple are Jeanne and Willard Goeden of Kewaskum, and Ann and Joseph Enright of Kewaskum.

The bride chose Joan Hall of Campbellsport as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Mandy Enright, Boltonville, sister-in-law of the bride; Sue Goeden, Kewaskum, sister-in-law of the groom; the groom's sister, Nanci Czuppa of West Bend, and friends of the bride, Kelly Korth of Kewaskum and Tina Schwartz of West Bend. Sandy Melzer served as the bride's personal attendant.

David Goeden of Kewaskum, the groom's twin brother, was chosen to be the best man. Groomsmen were Brad and Jay Enright of Boltonville, brothers of the bride; and Brian Laubenstein, Kewaskum, Brian Stern, West Bend, and Jeff Schulz of Kewaskum, all friends of the groom. Eric Enright, Kelly's son, served as the ring bearer.

Ushering duties were shared by Randy Dreher, Kewaskum, brother-in-law of the groom, and Steve Enright, Boltonville, the bride's cousin.

A reception followed at the Amerahn Hall in Kewaskum.

Deaf Awareness Week Held at FES

Deaf Awareness Week was recognized recently at Farmington Elementary School. The week was filled with a variety of activities, from classroom visits from school interpreter Mrs. Block, to "silent-sign" day in a few classrooms.

The week was highlighted by an assembly welcoming Matt "Magic" Morgan, a deaf magician from West Allis. He had many exciting illusions for the audience to enjoy. The favorite acts were having a dog named Cookie appear in a previously empty cage, and having an assistant named Billy twisted and cut in half inside a magical box, before he came out all in one piece -- and with a perfect smile. The show also included many other animal surprises (including rabbits and doves)!

Matt also involved the appreciative audience. He taught sign language and had fifth grade teacher Ms. Kowalski (along with some lucky children) join in as part of his show. They were great sports!

The community is invited to visit the school to see the array of sign language posters still on the hallway walls (left up due to popular demand of the children).

Overall, the week was a great success. The staff and student body were introduced to reading materials, deaf culture, and the devices used by the hearing impaired. The school is proud and excited to have an active part in the deaf and hard of hearing world.

Hass - Miller

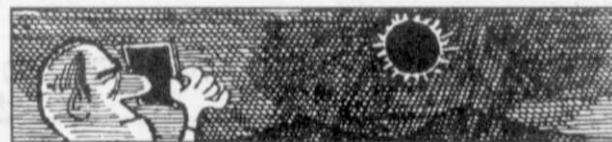

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hass of Kewaskum are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Sherry Lynn to Jamie Thomas Miller, son of Mr. Thomas Miller of Rockwell, N.C. and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piaro of Fredonia.

Sherry is a 1992 graduate of Kewaskum High School. She graduated in January 1997 from U.W. Oshkosh with a Bachelor of Science in Education. She is currently completing teacher certification.

Jamie is a 1991 graduate of Kewaskum High School. He is a set up writer for Fabrico in Mequon.

An October 24, 1998 wedding is being planned by the couple.

D.A.R.E. Program Held at FES

D.A.R.E. role models Sarah Bausch, Ryan Rammer, Jody Schmidt, and David Gerhartz did a fantastic job talking to the fifth grade children about making wise choices. Sarah, Ryan and Jody are Farmington alumni. In addition, they also selected winners in an anti-drug theme poster contest, and they spent their lunch period chatting and playing with the children.

A group of Kewaskum high school students recently participated as part of the D.A.R.E. program at Farmington Elementary School by serving as positive role models for fifth grade students.

Sarah Bausch, Ryan Rammer, Jody Schmidt and Dave Gerhartz talked to the younger children about positive ways of dealing with peer pressure, answered questions about high school and drug use, and clarified some common myths, such as "all kids will be forced to take drugs" or that "everyone uses them."

D.A.R.E. students were given the opportunity to discuss real issues with the high school leaders who do not use drugs, and involve themselves in positive activities like student government, athletics and social clubs.

The D.A.R.E. Program is taught in both public and private schools as an awareness and drug resistance educational program through local police departments and the Washington County Sheriff's Department

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of MARY HACKBARTH who passed away one year ago, Dec. 6, 1996:

My grandma, better known to some as the silver fox, is known all around for her pickles and poultry farm. But, to us grandchildren there was more to it than that.

Her love and tenderness always made us feel welcome. Her sense of humor always made it fun. Her smile always brightened any day, no matter how dark, and taught us to love life no matter what it brings.

Always thinking of others first, her strength and courage will be admired in generations to come.

Her suffering was hard to watch, and her pain was felt by us all, she can now live in peace, with those who were first to fall.

We are very proud and love her, and we will miss her very much. No one will ever make cookies with her special touch.

Sadly missed by Carol, Kevin, Kyle & Kacie Darmody

IN MEMORY

In Remembrance of ROBERT FELTEN who entered into eternal life five years ago, Dec. 8, 1992:

Five years have passed since you've gone away. I think about you everyday and remember the times we had together, those are my best memories I have to hold on to. To remember your smile, your witty humor and that wonderful face. Every year has been hard and tears still keep flowing. I miss you so. We all needed you here, why did you go.

Just one more time to see your smile, to chat on the phone, to talk for awhile that would be my X-mas wish. We all miss you dearly, we just want you to know. You were special to a lot of people. You're in our hearts and prayers.

Sadly missed,

Gridiron Club Holds Appreciation Night

Brenda Kirchner of Balloons by Brenda poses with her newly-created Brett Favre balloon man, designed especially for the Kewaskum Gridiron Club Appreciation Night.

Deputy Commissioner Robert Kiefer, left, presents a pin to Kewaskum Gridiron Club player B.J. McEwen.

The Kewaskum Gridiron Football Club finished its first season with an Appreciation Night at the Amerahn Hall on November 6. Players, parents and coaches were honored for their contributions.

The atmosphere was all set up with a Brett Favre balloon man and centerpieces designed and donated by Balloon's by Brenda. Floral arrangements were donated by Kewaskum Floral and the use of Amerahn Hall was donated by Earl and Marie Kleinke.

The players, known as the Gridiron Indians, received commemorative shirts. The eighth grade team also received medals for their final year.

Deputy Commissioner for the north conference of the All American Youth Football League, Robert Kiefer, praised the club for their organizing efforts and their winning season. The Gridiron Club was organized less than a year ago. It's first season for sixth, seventh and eighth graders was played at the Kewaskum High School.

Anyone seeking information or wishing to comment on the club should attend the meetings at Hon-E-Kor Country Club. They are held the first Wednesday of the month at 7 p.m.

FES Third Grades Visit Quad Graphics

On November 19, the Farmington third grades went to Quad Graphics in Hartford. There, students, teachers and chaperones were given a half hour lesson in what Quad does and some of the techniques used.

Students enjoyed learning about the four colors used in printing of magazines, coupons, and catalogs. The colors are yellow, black, cyan, and magenta.

After the introduction, groups of six or eight were sent into the plant with a guide to see the operations of a printing company. Huge rolls of paper are used. Some weigh more than a car. They showed the students how magazines are put together, stapled, labeled and wrapped for shipping, all done by machines.

Computers are very important in the work done at Quad. They are used in many different ways, but one was to make sure the color is correct for catalogs. When people order an item, they expect to get the color that was pictured.

Quad Graphics prints thousands of magazines and catalogs daily. They ship all over the United States and the world. There are plants in Wisconsin, New York, Georgia, West Virginia, Argentina and Brazil.

Village Board Meeting Minutes

Mid-Monthly Meeting
November 17, 1997
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Robert Wagner presided. Trustee Andy Pesch arrived at 8:04 p.m. All other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Harry Roecker, seconded by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of the November 3, 1997 meeting were approved as printed.

A public hearing was conducted on the application for a Combination Class "B" Fermented Malt Beverage and Intoxicating Liquor License for the period commencing November 18, 1997 and ending June 30, 1998 as noticed for Joel F. Fehlhaber (Stillwater), 240 Main Street, Kewaskum, WI. The Police Department had no objections to the application. It was noted the license, if approved, more than likely would not be issued. It was further noted the waiver notation regarding the location being within 300' of a school be included in the action. On a motion by John Kenworthy, seconded by Warren Dums and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call was 7 "Aye" 0 "Nay."

The bids/quotes as received for the sewer jetter replacement were reviewed by the Director of Public Works Jerry Gilles as follows:

- 1) SRECO - 72 HP gas Continental, 600 gallons water capacity - $28,270.
- 2) Sewer Equipment - 81 HP Perkins Diesel, 700 gallons water capacity - $27,385.

It was noted the warranties are identical and that the trade in value of $3,200 has been applied to the prices as noted. The jetter has been budgeted for over the last few years and the money will be coming from the replacement account. Also it was mentioned that the old jetter was purchased in 1976.

On a motion by Trustee Harry Roecker, seconded by Trustee Gary Gavin and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board approved the purchase from the low bidder at a cost of $27,385.

Chief of Police Richard L. Knoebel presented the October 1997 monthly report:

Criminal arrests - 46, Criminal investigations - 49; Traffic warnings - 114, Traffic citations - 21; Adults arrests - 26, Juvenile arrests - 18; Property stolen - $110,220, Property recovered - $110,000; Parking warnings - 15, Parking tags - 15.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel informed the Board that Officer Bauer is at the DARE Class to prepare for the Middle School program. It was also noted the school is funding the program with a drug grant.

Director of Public Works, Jerry Gilles informed the Board of the following:

- 1) Tower #1 has been winterized for the 97/98 season.
- 2) About a dozen catch basins have been cleaned leaving only an estimated 1/2 dozen to a dozen left east of the river.
- 3) The Water Pollution Control Plant also went through winterization by having the sludge storage facility emptied of 900,000 gallons of waste. That would indicate that approximately 600,000 gallons of waste are generated on an annual basis.

4) Leaf pick-up has been heavy and will more than likely continue for another week or two.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt reviewed the following with the Board:

- 1) Review of League and Taxpayer bulletins.
- 2) Review of the Budget Control Sheet for the month ending October 31, 1997.
- 3) Review of the building permit report for the month of October 1997.
- 4) The Board was informed the village was in receipt of the final bill for the land use plan.
- 5) The article as published in the Daily News was mentioned as being favorable to the community and area.

6) The schedule for the winter recreation program was distributed for general information.

7) The public hearing date of December 8, 1997 was announced for the update to the Municipal Code.

The Protection and Public Safety Committee, reviewed briefly the request for an ordinance amendment to ban vehicles from parking on one's lot other than on a paved area/driveway. It was noted this may cause some residents a lot of problems with the winter parking restrictions taking affect on December 1st. The matter will be taken under advisement.

Trustee John Kenworthy, the Library Board Representative, discussed the dollar comparisons, part-time versus full-time, for the Library Director. The analysis was prepared at the Board's request. Trustee Gary Gavin spoke in support of the Library Board's request. No action was needed or taken for the budget as proposed for public hearing includes the full-time option.

Washington County Board Member Daniel Stoffel was present to discuss the County-Wide Library Service Agreement-Extension for 1998. It was noted it was to have been a five year agreement but due to Senate Bill 269 only a one year agreement is up for approval. The dollar amount is up as well as some options on paying for some capital expenditures. Some concerns were mentioned about outside of county use not being reimbursed with the local county circulation. This is a system matter and would have to be addressed there. On a motion by Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee John Kenworthy and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board authorized the signing of said agreement.

It was announced that a Plan Commission meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, December 9, 1997 at 7:00 p.m.

Some general discussion on the overall proposed budget as previously discussed was reviewed. The taxes as being requested by the other taxing entities was reviewed. It was noted the Village tax rate as previously discussed and authorized for public hearing, reflects an increase of 23.6c or 4.26%, the County reflects an increase of 21c or 5.21%, the State reflects an increase of 1c or 4.32%, the School reflects an increase of 46.5c or 4.29% and the VTAE reflects an increase of 3.7c or 2.49%. It was noted overall this reflects an increase of 95.7c or 4.33%. The State will be distributing the lottery credit this coming year and it should be approximately $84.00 per tax bill.

On a motion by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann, seconded by Trustee Warren Dums and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board approved the application for a Combination Class "B" Fermented Malt Beverage and Intoxicating Liquor License for Joel F. Fehlhaber (Stillwater), 240 Main Street, for a period commencing November 18, 1997 and ending June 30, 1998. It was further noted the licensed property has a waiver in reference to the distance from the parochial school. Roll call was 6 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 0 "Absent" 1 "Abstention." Trustee Gary Gavin abstaining.

Action was taken on Ordinance No. 97-4 an Ordinance to Amend the Municipal Code, Chapter 8 Public Works, (8.13 Mailboxes) as attached hereto:

Action was taken on Resolution No. 97-22 a Resolution of Support for the construction of USH "45" from CTH "D" to CTH "H" west as attached hereto:

Discussion regarding the Sanitary Sewer rate adjustment and how to proceed took place. A few options regarding the changing of the meter charges were discussed. The consensus of the Board was to proceed using the one option previously discussed reflecting a 6.8% rate adjustment on a residential user. The Administrator was directed to prepare the appropriate resolution to accomplish this for the first quarter of 1998.

On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized proceeding with having the engineers prepare plans and specs to go out for bidding of the relief sewer projects, as well as review, feasibility and cost estimates regarding the installation of a storm sewer adjacent to the relief sewer.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt informed the Board that the second ED/AC meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 27, 1997 at 4:00 p.m.

On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin seconded by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann and carried by the majority roll call vote, to adjourn to closed session under 19.85 (1)(c) of the Statutes to discuss employee performance data and evaluation for Village Employees over which the governmental body has jurisdiction. Bags Ten-Point Buck

If you're ever caught in quicksand, remain calm. Fall flat to the body with arms stretched out at right angles to the body. In this position, the body will float on the sand. Roll slowly off the sand to firm ground.

Hunters Register 124,281 Deer On Opening Weekend of 1997 Gun Hunting Season

MADISON -- Hunters participating in the opening weekend of the 1997 gun deer season registered 124,281 deer over the two day period, compared to 168,120 the previous year following two severe winters in the north and two seasons of special early season hunts.

"People say they're not seeing deer and there are fewer deer in the woods this year," said Bill Mytton, DNR deer ecologist. "We've weathered two hard winters in the north that really reduced reproduction up there, which accounts for fewer deer in that region."

As for the south, Mytton said, while opening weekend numbers are down about 25% from 1996, "when you add in the October Zone T harvest, these units are right on target for the total number of deer taken. If you want success, Zone T units are a good bet."

DNR wildlife technicians, working registration stations over the weekend, also recorded a 30 to 40% increase in the number of 1 1/2-year and older deer coming out of the T Zones. Mytton said that was expected because of the emphasis on antlerless deer in those units and because of changing land use patterns in the south saying that as more privately owned lands are closed to hunters, deer are holding on those acres and surviving to the next year's hunt.

In the north, the opposite was true. Due to the hard winters, many fawns and yearling deer did not survive the harsh conditions, and those bucks that did survive tended to have reduced rack size.

"The make-up and the distribution of the herd changes from year to year," said Mytton. "And so do hunter's habits and this affects the harvest too. We've noticed, at least on the public hunting grounds, that hunters are exiting the woods earlier and earlier on Sunday each year. Yeah, there was a big football game this year, but this is something we've noticed for some time now. Hunters as a group are spending less time in the woods and that's going to affect success."

Wildlife managers across the state stated they felt there were great hunting opportunities out there at the end of the season.

"We're still projecting about 290,000 for a total harvest," said Mytton. "The success of the upcoming boost loader higher. Every year more and more hunters are participating in this unique hunt and finding it very enjoyable."

DNR wildlife health experts who examined the carcasses of 154 deer that hunters brought in to the Manitowoc deer registration station on the first three days of the gun-deer season found no evidence that the animals are infected with tuberculosis.

DNR officials examined the deer because they wanted to learn if the bovine tuberculosis infecting some animals in three Manitowoc County captive elk herds had spread to wild deer in the immediate area. Holes in the elk farm fence were big enough for deer and other mammals to enter and escape through.

Department wildlife found none of the yellowish or tan lumps in the deer's lungs that could have signaled possible TB infection. The wildlife health experts collected the deer's lymph nodes for laboratory testing, and results are expected back in six to eight weeks.

DNR Health Education Administrator Tim Lawhern said seven hunting accidents, including one fatality, were reported over the opening weekend. That was the same number of accidents reported for the 1996 season, with two fatalities. The fatal accident this year involved a 29 year old non-resident hunter in Burnett County on Sunday morning. The hunter apparently was standing at a tree stand and his rifle discharged.

The fatality and other investigations remain under investigation. The Department of Natural Resources will issue a more detailed accident report following close of the hunting season.

The Kewaskum high school boys' basketball team has more similarities with green than just their school colors as they get set to tip off the 1997-98 hoops' season.

New head coach Tom Timblin's squad has no returning starters from last year's team that posted a 3-17 mark. The assistant varsity coach is Scott Pritzel, Perry Koth will coach the junior varsity and Jamie Jastrab will groom the freshmen team.

This year's team has only three seniors on the opening day roster. Senior center, 6'3" Ryan Martini, a two year starter, badly injured his knee the past summer. With successful surgery and rehabilitation, Ryan is slated to return to the team in early January.

Another senior, two year starter point guard Jeb Jungwirth will miss the entire season with back problems.

Returning letterwinners' David Gerhartz, Andy Christopherson, and John Warnecke will be smaller than most of their opponents in the vast majority of their contests (must be something in the water!).

The word rebuilding will not be used because, according to Coach Timblin, "That's something we've been doing for the past number of years and can be perceived now as a built-in excuse."

He added, "Yes, we will be the underdogs in most of our games, but it's a position our entire team likes." He feels there will be a new look this year. The young Indians will be pressing, trapping, fastbreaking, diving after every loose ball and clawing their way back to respectability.

Paul Wiedmeyer, a 6' 3" center, has also been injured early on. He has only practiced once so far, but seems healthy now and will be counted on to contribute right away.

Tim Vetter, a 5' 10" bruiser, will fill a number of different roles. Shaun Timblin, a 5' 10" junior, and Billy Cook, a 5' 10" sophomore, led the JV's in scoring last year and should chip in offensively this year. Josh Gaffke, a 5' 9" junior point guard, can fill it up from three-point land.

Super sophs, Jason Strobel and Aaron Seiser, both 5' 10", have also made the squad. The team is rounded out with three juniors, 6' 1" Doug Wenzel, 5' 10" Brad Schrauth and 5' 9" Josh Rieder, who have all been hustling in practice.

As usual for a Kewaskum team, they will be smaller than most of their opponents in the vast majority of their contests (must be something in the water!).

It is the hope of Coach Timblin to rekindle the fire and turn the fieldhouse into the snakepit it was in the past to opposing teams. He concluded with a thank you to all for the support given him and his new team.

Coach Timblin extends an invitation to everyone to join the team Friday night as they open their home schedule at 7:30 p.m. with their first conference against Kiel. He asks the Kewaskum fans to be loud and be proud as the team hopes to capitalize on the home field advantage.
