Peace United Church of Christ is pleased to announce to the greater community of Kewaskum that Rev. J. Eric Kirkegaard has answered the call to ministry. He and his wife Laura are expected to join the church in mid-April.

Eric and Laura, who both grew up in the Chicago area, are looking forward to moving back to the Midwest from Boston, where Eric is now serving as Intern Minister at Hancock UCC in Lexington, MA.

After receiving his high school diploma from Glenbard East H.S. in Lombard, IL, Eric attended St. Olaf College in Northfield, MN, where he graduated with a BA Cum Laude. He went on to study Mandarin Chinese at the Taipei Language Institute.

Kirkegaard earned a teaching certification in secondary education in history/social studies through the program in Religion and Secondary Education at Harvard Divinity School with additional coursework at Tufts University and the University of Massachusetts.

He studied Clinical Pastoral Education at New England Deaconess Hospital in Boston, and received his Master of Divinity from Harvard Divinity School in June of 1997.

Laura is a Nurse Practitioner, hoping to find a clinic close to Kewaskum where she can practice primary care along with patient and community education. Laura, who also is a graduate of St. Olaf, went on to Boston to study and has worked in a hospital setting for the past seven years.

Peace Church feels very fortunate that Eric and Laura have accepted their call, and look forward with excited anticipation to their arrival. The congregation feels they will be a valuable addition to their church and community!

National FFA Week Feb. 20-28

Local Chapter Celebrates with Eight-Page Insert in This Issue

In honor of National FFA Week, February 20-28, the Kewaskum FFA Chapter, under the guidance of Advisor Dave Rizzardi, is sponsoring an eight-page supplement included with this week's issue.

The FFA officers and other chapter members were instrumental in soliciting the advertising, writing captions and information, and the preliminary layout of the additional eight pages. They then brought it to the Statesman for final typesetting, page make-up, photo layout, proofing and pasteup.

During FFA Week and throughout the year, our local FFA chapter conducts activities and fundraisers which contribute to their school, their community and their nation. They serve in the image of past leaders whose contributions made agriculture a strong and powerful segment of the national economy.

Each year FFA Week is held during the week of George Washington's birthday to recognize his leadership and commitment to American agriculture, as well as his military and patriotic contributions. The National FFA Center is located on part of Washington's Mount Vernon estate near Alexandria, Virginia.

Through their FFA experiences, half a million students across the country are preparing for exciting and rewarding careers in the business, science and technology of agriculture. They are becoming the leaders and developing the vision that will guide us into the next millennium.

We join the entire community in saluting the Kewaskum FFA during this, their special week. The members of the local organization have a great deal to be proud of, as you will see when you read through the reports of their accomplishments in the insert included with this issue.

Second Printing of Kettle Country Visitors' Guide

Due to its overwhelming success, the second printing of the Kettle Country Visitors' Guide brochure and map will be available by May 1, just in time for the 1998 tourist season.

The Northern Kettle Moraine Tourism Council invites tourist-related businesses to take advantage of this annual advertising opportunity. Last year 25,000 copies of the five color visitors' guide was distributed to tourist areas, Chambers of Commerce, visitor centers and attractions in the area and throughout the state.

Members of the Tourism Council worked diligently to produce a brochure and map that would be both eye-catching and informative, and the response to their efforts has been very positive. Advertisers are listed on one side of the fold-out, along with a description of their services. The opposite side contains an easy-to-read map of the northern Kettle Moraine State Forest, with inserts of the villages of Campbellsport and Kewaskum. Local attractions and tourist-related businesses are clearly marked.

The Kettle Country brochures promote Wisconsin's number one business -- TOURISM, for the Northern Kettle Moraine Forest and surrounding area.

For information about the map, advertising in the brochure, or becoming a part of the Kettle Moraine Tourism Council, call 626-3336. The advertising deadline is March 15.

Area Schools Welcome Nationally Known Teen Specialist

Everett Darren will be speaking to area students and parents next month on teens and the future.

Is the nineties teen different from the teen of the sixties, seventies or eighties?

If we are at all a product of our environment, then today's teenager is as different from teens of other decades as "Gilligan's Island" is from "Married with Children" or "The Simpsons."

If one looks at the pop culture of teens in 1998, clothing styles, music, catch phrases, etc., what insight can be gained about the overall mood and directional tone of the present generation of adolescents?

Why is "retro" so popular right now in music and fashion? Just what does it mean when 15 year olds are wearing the same bellbottom pants their parents wore twenty years ago? How do the values of kids today differ from the values of kids of other eras?

Singer/songwriter and youth motivational speaker/ Everett Darren, will be dealing with these and other questions for PARENTS of Kewaskum and Campbellsport students in a special parent awareness night Tuesday, March 10th at 7:00 p.m. in the Kewaskum Middle School gymnasium. "Preparing the 90's teens for beyond the year 2000" will be the theme.

Darren, a youth culture specialist from Ohio, will be speaking to area students during that week. His school assembly program "Future Search" involves multi-media, music and humor. Darren speaks in one hundred or more schools yearly dealing with drug prevention, abstinence, choices and goal setting.

Free child care will be provided on site. We don't want any one to stay home because they were unable to find proper child care. We feel Everett's message is something that will benefit all adults who deal with children. This Parent Night is sponsored by AODA Funds and the KMS PTO. Please join us for an informational and entertaining evening. For more information, contact Marilyn Terlinden 334-7243.

Mr. Darren's schedule is: Tuesday, March 10, 7:00 pm: Parents Awareness Night, Kewaskum Middle School Gymnasium Open to the public.

Wednesday, March 11 - Campbellsport High School and Middle School.

Thursday, March 12, 8:00 a.m. - Kewaskum Middle School students. Parents welcome

Friday, March 13, 7-10 p.m. - West Bend High School Auditorium, 5th Annual Teen Breakaway. Sponsored by Lighthouse Ministry and area businesses. Contact person Mark Fechter 338-0205. Free.

open to the public, over 50 door prizes.

PRAYER OF THE VIRGIN MARY

(Never known to fail). Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven. Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me that thou here, are my Mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (Make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days and then you must publish it and it will be granted to you.

A Stroll Off Main Street

Our temporary detour off Main Street this week brings us to the south side of Second Street, where the L. Rosenheimer Malt and Grain Company shown above, had its origin. The grain elevator and feed mill was operated in connection with the general store run by Moritz and Adolph Rosenheimer around 1874. In 1911 the brothers separated their business ventures with Adolph taking the bank and the malt and grain and Moritz taking the feed mill and store. A portion of the building still stands and became a part of the former Kemps operation, now owned by Engelhardt and Sons.

A NOTE FROM EILEEN HEIN: "About the former building on the lot on Railroad and Main Street, now owned by Carole Timblin of HTT Trucking: When the Flynns owned it, they had a miniature bowling alley on the north side of the building. I know, because one night I bowled a 300 game and won a case of beer. Also when the Bingens owned the building, the east side was a bakery shop run by Margaret Bingen. I know that because I worked there. Forgot to mention, when the Flynns owned it there was a restaurant on the north side. Don't remember the name of the woman who ran it. Seems to me her first name was Joyce. My friend Betty Searles (Schlosser) and I helped her out one Sunday and the meal for that day was liver and onions. There was another owner besides those mentioned. Can't remember their names either, but must have been between the time that Gene Gruber ran it and before the time the Flynns bought it. Seemed to me they also ran the opera house at one time."

If anyone has historic information or a fond memory to contribute about the upcoming businesses traveling north on Railroad Street or the north side of Main Street, (heading west), please send the information to the Kewaskum Statesman or call 626-2626. Any historical information you can contribute on the balance of the buildings on Main and/or Railroad will be appreciated more than you know.

Community Blood Drive Planned for March 4

On Wednesday, March 4, the Kewaskum Community Blood Drive will be held at the Kewaskum High School in the choir room from 1 to 6 p.m. Parking will be available in the front and back of school.

This is your opportunity to help others who might find themselves in need. More than 450 pints of blood are needed each day to meet the needs of patients in 29 southeastern Wisconsin hospitals. All this blood must come from volunteer donors. In recent years, the record number of volunteer donors for the Community Blood Drive is 76. Organizers are hoping to do as well or better on March 4.

Donors must be 17 years old or older, weigh at least 110 pounds, be free of symptoms of cold, sore throat, flu or allergies on the day you donate and not have had hepatitis.

All donors are asked to provide your social security number and must present some form of identification when making their blood donation. Acceptable forms of identification are a picture I.D., blood donor I.D. or identification with a signa-

The actual donation of a pint of blood takes approximately seven minutes. Plan 20 minutes prior to the donation to give medical history and to have your temperature taken and 10 to 15 minutes after the donation for some refreshments. The whole process takes about one hour.

You will feel special for having done something so important. You may help a total stranger or someone in our own community.

Reserve an hour on Wednesday, March 4. Those you help will be grateful you took the time to give such a precious gift.

Martin Inducted Into National Honor Society

Lucas Martin

High school junior Lucas Martin, son of Larry and Louise Ann Martin of Kewaskum, was inducted into the National Honor Society on February 6, at St. Lawrence Seminary in Mount Calvary, during an assembly of the entire student body and members of the faculty and staff.

In order to be accepted as a candidate for the National Honor Society a student must have been recognized by the faculty selection committee as one who is conspicuous in accomplishments in the areas of scholarship, service, leadership and character.

Father Dennis Druggan, Capuchin Rector-President of St. Lawrence Seminary, noted in his introductory remarks at the assembly that he was particularly proud of the ten students who were inducted into the National Honor Society because "their achievements are not centered on themselves, but on service to others." The primary service of the St. Lawrence Seminary Chapter of the National Honor Society is tutoring other students who have difficulties in their studies.

Lucas finished the first semester of his junior year by making the Rector's List. This is no small accomplishment since a grade point average of 3.75 is required in order for a student to be included on the Rector's List.

"I hear parents say that they could never allow their son to go away from home during high school," commented Louise Martin. "I couldn't either if I didn't believe it was best for my son. And St. Lawrence has been the best for our son." Larry Martin added, "Lucas has gained so much in confidence and independence since he began attending St. Lawrence. I'm really proud of him."

St. Lawrence Seminary is now accepting applications for the 1998-99 school year. Inquiries can be made by calling the Administration Office at 920-753-3911.

Singing 76'ers Entertain at Echo Fest

Additional Junior Choir members participate in the "Concerto for Choir and Cafeteria."

Two St. Lucas Lutheran School choirs joined in the musical fun at Kettle Moraine Lutheran High School's Echo Fest on February 1.

The first selection the Junior Choir performed was Concerto for Choir and Cafeteria. To complete the "cafeteria" effect they were costumed in baker's hats and white aprons. A rousing Christian contemporary version of Crown Him With Many Crowns had the audience clapping with the joyful, rhythmic beat.

The Junior Choir consists of 39 students in grades three through eight, who willingly forego a noon-time recess to be in the choir. They are under the direction of Beth Marquardt.

Students in grades one, two and three displayed their singing and dancing skills with three patriotic songs. To open their performance the students sang The Pledge of Allegiance. Next these little 76'ers, all dressed in red, white and blue, marched to Yankee Doodle Dandy. These primary balladeers closed their performance with a square dance to a tune about Davy Crockett. The primary choir is directed by Erika Moldenhauer.

Echo Fest has been a yearly event at KMLHS for almost as many years as the school has existed. Many choir groups, bands and instrument ensembles perform throughout the school. The halls truly echo with the sounds of music and fun.

Dressed in red, white and blue, grades one, two and three performed three patriotic songs.

Adam Kleinke proudly displays the American Flag during the singing of patriotic songs.

Ignace Paderewski was appointed professor at the Warsaw Conservatory when he was only 18.

Harlow Has Starring Role In UWWC Musical Comedy

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," the musical comedy that scored a 28-month run in New York from 1962 to 1964, and a successful revival from 1996-1998, is to be presented at the University of Wisconsin Washington County Theatre on the Hill, March 6, 7, 13, 14, with Chad Harlow of Kewaskum in the role of the impudent Roman slave in which Zero Mostel starred during the original Broadway engagement.

The musical's credentials go back farther than this Broadway success. Its tomfoolery has been drawn from a half dozen plays by Plautus, the rowdiest gag-writer in ancient Rome, whose slapstick comedies used to pack the Colosseum around 200 B.C. and have been box-office ever since, in adaptations by Shakespeare, Moliere, Mack Sennett, Weber and Fields, the Marx Brothers and countless burlesque comedians.

The plot of this Roman holiday is an unashamed medley of all the time-honored stock situations of farce - mistaken identities, masquerades, loves sweet and loves profane, the absurdities of an aging man still trying to be a Romeo, the desperate deceptions of a schemer always on the verge of being found out.

Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbart are the American writers who unabashedly turned these time-tested shenanigans from old hokum into new hokum. Comic writers had for so long hesitated to have characters kick one another in the pants, that this knockabout kind of fun seemed new-minted when "A Funny Thing" first brightened New York with its antics. Metropolitan critics admitted that the show was obvious and corny, but still irresistible. They found it to be corn on a golden cob and very tasty stuff.

Stephen Sondheim, who so successfully provided the lyrics for "West Side Story," "Gypsy," and "Do I Hear a Waltz?" supplied both the music and the lyrics for the songs that heighten the humor of "A Funny Thing." He even managed to insert between the guffaws a tuneful love song, "Lovely," as a duet for the innocent sweethearts, although Chad Harlow as the wily slave and his side-kick, Paul Ley, of West Bend, later convert it into a reprise of howling nonsense.

Others in the cast of leasers, muggers and slapstickers will be Dave Griesbach of West Bend as an amorous old goat, Roger Retzlaff of West Bend as an oily girl-trader with a houseful of delectables ready for the market and Jade Scott of Slinger as a boastful military man with a contract for the delivery of a girl coveted by everybody else.

Angela Papke of Milwaukee will portray this most desirable item in the girl-traders collection, Ryan Klug of Cedar Grove will play the romantic young man eager to marry her, Marie Martin of West Bend will be the nagging wife of the aging satyr. Bruce Towell of Kewaskum will be seen as an addle-pated patrician neighbor, C.J. Res-pondi of West Bend, Chris Zahn of West Bend, and Brian Rose of Cedarburg will appear as a trio of "Proteans" and Nichole Zuelsdorf of Mayville, Lisa Laehn of Hartford, Tammy Thielmann of Hartford, Donna Gawel-Miller of Kewaskum and Tiffany Ann Sutton of Slinger will appear as other attractive items in the girl-purveyor's stock in trade.

Professor Brad Ford is directing the musical with a pace to keep everybody's togas flying and designing the scenery representing three adjacent houses facing a street in ancient Rome, and also the colorful assortment of tunics, togas, gowns, wreaths and armor of Romans who never start for the forum and consequently never get there.

Strigenz Re-Elected President of Clinic Board

Michael Strigenz, MD, has been re-elected president of Agnesian HealthCare's Fond du Lac Regional Clinic, SC Board of Directors.

Strigenz, an otolaryngologist, has been affiliated with the clinic for six years and is heading its board for the third consecutive year.

"The clinic board works closely with Agnesian HealthCare's Board of Directors to offer cost-effective, high quality healthcare services to our community," Strigenz explains. "But it also sets the rules and regulations the clinic lives by. We make decisions and set policies regarding our 61 physicians and monitor not only the daily workings of the clinic, but also medical care quality issues."

As president of the clinic board, Strigenz also sits on the Agnesian HealthCare Board of Directors and was instrumental in development of the clinic's new facilities located on the main Agnesian HealthCare campus.

"We're pleased to now offer the community comprehensive healthcare services in one central location, but our vision is even greater," Strigenz comments. "We continue to recruit more physicians and specialists so patients needn't leave the area for their healthcare needs. 'and we're looking forward to partnering with other healthcare providers, including UW Health - nationwide a highly-respected leader in medical research and patient care."

Within the last year, ten new physicians have joined the Fond du Lac Regional clinic, Strigenz says. They provide care in there as of cardiology, family practice, gastroenterology, general surgery, internal medicine, nephrology (kidney), ophthalmology, and plastic and reconstructive surgery.

"Our colleagues have been carefully selected for their exceptional skills, experience and their commitment to our community," says Strigenz.

In addition to Strigenz's re-election as president, Darrell Hay, MD, family practice, and Timothy Wells, MD, orthopedics, were also recently elected to the clinic's board of directors.

Other members of the Fond du Lac Regional Clinic, SC Board of Directors include: David Bowman, MD, internal medicine/cardiology; Philip Keller, MD, family practice (vice president); Stephen Massick, MD, obstetrics/gynecology; Theodore Miller, MD, obstetrics/gynecology; Jon Moen, MD, general surgery; James Schuster, MD, dermatology; and David Weber, MD, internal medicine, who serves as secretary/treasurer and medical director.

Snow Becomes Art at KMS

Some people see snow and merely see potential slush. When students at Kewaskum Middle School saw snow, however, they saw art.

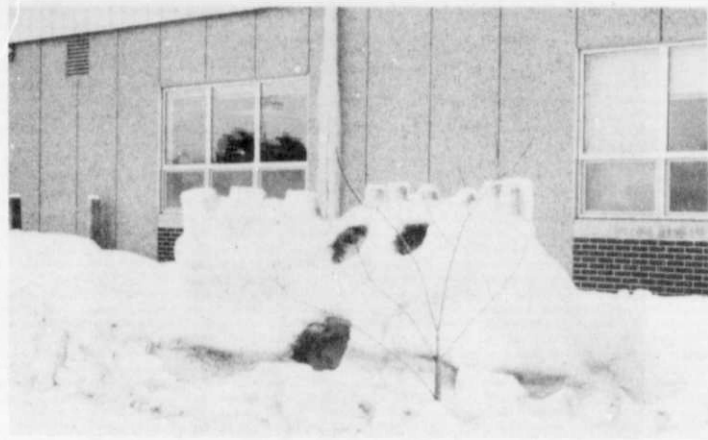

Second hour students spent several days planning, creating, and coloring snow sculptures on the school grounds under the supervision of art instructor, Ms. Molenda.

Kelli Dorn, Kelly Gundrum, Erica Kudek and Alissa Donath sculpted a medieval fortress near the school entrance, while next door, Joyce Krolnik fashioned a similiar-period dragon.

Alesia LaDuke, Tiffany Trott, Erin Bannenberg, and Heather Garczynski made a sleeping red dog, with a colorful yellow and blue nightcap.

And high above the parking lot, along the rim of the banks of plowed snow, a baby beluga whale contentedly waved its tail, thanks to the work of Bethany Hermann, Melissa Schmidt and Erin Backhaus.

Sad to report, however, that subsequent rain and thawing did in fact, turn the art into slush.

An elaborate castle stood sentry beside the Kewaskum Middle School entrance.

This red and yellow snow sculpture is a clear case of "letting sleeping dogs lie."

Shaping the tail of her snow sculpture dragon is Joyce Krolnik.

Bethany Hermann, Melissa Schmidt, and Erin Backhaus shape their baby beluga whale atop the plowed snow banks adjacent to the parking lot, while an unidentified friend helps them secure some sculpting materials.

Free Clinic Now Open in Hartford

Many people in Washington County go without medical care because they can't afford it. But children and adults who are unable to pay for medical care can now seek help at a free clinic which opened Tuesday, Feb. 10 at Hartford Memorial Hospital.

The clinic is the second of its kind in the county operated by Donated Health Care Services, Inc., a volunteer organization that provides free health care to needy people. This effort crosses competitive issues within healthcare and brings people together to serve a humanitarian need in the community," explains Loretta Klassen, Donated Health Care Services board member and Vice President of Patient Care at Hartford Memorial Hospital.

The free clinic will be open from 6 to 9 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesday of every month. The clinic is located on the first floor of the hospital Patients can use the hospital's main entrance.

Patient registration will take place from 6 to 8 p.m. The clinic provides basic health services for people with incomes at or below 185% of the poverty level ($2,405 a month for a family of four) and those without health insurance or enough funds to obtain medical services.

No one will be turned away from the free clinic. However, after an initial visit, patients who qualify may be referred to other community programs or assistance.

The HMH site, like it's West Bend counterpart at St. Joseph's Community Hospital, will be staffed entirely by volunteers. Each clinic has a physician, registered nurses, social workers, and clerical support staff. A care protocol has been instituted at both sites to provide consistency of care for all patients and to ensure accurate record keeping.

"The program is developed by the community to serve the people," explains Diane Reif, Clinical Coordinator of ICU/Nursing Outreach at HMH. Reif, who is implementing the free clinic site in Hartford, is grateful for all the work that volunteers have done so far. "Everyone is contributing in a different way and everyone is really appreciated and needed," says Reif.

Qualified patients with short-term basic health care needs will receive assessment services at the free clinic. In addition, appropriate treatment, screenings, education, and referrals will be made. Qualified patients will be able to use a voucher system to access, through referrals, a network of hospitals, clinics, dentists, chiropractors, pharmacies and eye care specialists.

The free clinics and vouchers are possible because of ongoing community fundraising and volunteerism. Donated Health Care Services, Inc. began as a formal non profit organization after retired Jackson physician Dr James Albrecht successfully rallied local support for the idea. The organization is led and operated by a board of directors. The board is made up of volunteers from Hartford Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph's Community Hospital, Washington County Community Health Nursing Services Washington County Department of Social Services, Bank One and other health professionals and volunteers.

The clinics would not be a reality without the help of hundreds of volunteers. State representatives Mickey Lehman of Hartford and Mary Panzer of West Bend offered their help by sponsoring legislation that allows for quick processing of volunteer applications for liability insurance. "these community leaders helped shorten the credential process for our volunteers by months," explains Klassen.

Donated Health Care Services opened its first clinic in October of 1996. In its first full year of operation, the West Bend site, which is opened from 6 to 9 p.m. every Thursday, served over 700 people. Approximately 20 to 24 people seek medical assistance every week.

The organization has planned to open a Hartford site as soon as enough funds were raised to cover costs of supplies. The new site is expected to serve more people from western Washington county and eastern Dodge County. Hartford Memorial Hospital has donated the hospital space.

Volunteers from Hartford and West Bend have been working together at the original site and are now welcome to volunteer at either of the two sites. "Volunteers from both communities have been generous in staffing the current program but more volunteers are needed," says Reif. Anyone interested in volunteering at either of the free clinics can call Donated Health Care Services, Inc. at 414-335-4743.

The children of Little Folks School House have joined the national effort to tell Congress about the importance of child care.

Each child will draw a picture of a family who uses or needs child care. The message, "Quality, Affordable Child Care matters for America's Working Families" will appear at the bottom of each drawing. These pictures will then be sent to our Senators and Representatives in Washington D.C.

Congress must hear that child care is a number one priority for American working families. The President and many members of Congress have introduced various child care initiatives, but these proposals will not result in tangible gains for children unless we push Congress to pass a major child care investment package this year.

U.S. Olympian Speaks at KMS

As his numerous medals circulated among excited Kewaskum Middle School students, Olympic wrestler Dennis Hall spoke in the KMS gym last week sharing the ups and downs of his life, delivering inspirational messages about goals, and somber words about making choices in life.

The ups for the Wisconsin native (a Hartford High School graduate) have included three State High School crowns, six national wrestling titles, a 1995 World Championship, and most recently, a Silver Medal in the 1996 Atlanta Olympics.

In 1988, however, his older brother Dan -- his friend, his coach -- drank and drove, and was killed from the impact when he didn't navigate a turn in the road.

"There are two roads in life," Dennis explained to students, "one that's straight ahead and is about making good choices, and one that's a side road that's about bad choices."

"My brother made a bad choice, and he died for it."

"Life is all about making decisions," he continued. "Make the right choice when it comes to drugs and alcohol."

During the talk, Hall recounted the dedication and the right decisions that got him to the status of world champion Greco-Roman wrestler (Greco-Roman wrestling is that in which competitors are not allowed to grab below an opponent's waist).

Even in first grade, Hall told people he wanted to be an Olympic wrestler someday. By third grade, he was state champion for his age group. By fifth grade, he had captured his age group's national championship.

In eighth grade, he set his goal on being the first four-year state champion. After winning as a freshman (with a 36-0 record), he placed fifth in state during his sophomore year, which allowed him to refocus and win again as both a junior and a senior.

Olympic wrestler (and Hartford native) Dennis Hall signs posters for some lucky Kewaskum Middle School students.

His international career started with five losses, but that still didn't deter him from achieving his dream.

Even today, after world championship and Olympic success, Hall still has goals, as the inspirational signs around his house reflect: "1998 World Champion." And each day, throughout his tough training regimen, Hall challenges himself by asking, "What's it going to take me to become world champion?" Then he does it, whether running, using weights, conditioning, whatever it might take to reach his goal.

Keeping his goals in sight (including the Sydney Olympics in 2000), has helped keep him on track for making good decisions in his life. He asked students to set goals, and "give it everything you have" and the good choices will come a little bit easier.

World-class Greco-Roman wrestler Dennis Hall poses with the silver medal he won in the 1996 Atlanta Summer Olympics. During his speech at Kewaskum Middle School, it was one of numerous medals that circulated around for the students to hold.

US 41 Overpass Slated For Painting in County

Governor Tommy Thompson has approved a $237,205 contract to sandblast and paint two overpass structures over the Wisconsin and Southern Railroad tracks. The structures are on US 41, just south of WIS 167, in Washington County.

The contractor, Quality Sandblasting, Inc., of Green Bay, is scheduled to start the work in May.

Work will consist of erecting enclosures to completely surround the abrasive blasting area, providing negative air pressure exhaust ventilation, removing lead-based paint, collecting and on-site storage of the resulting hazardous waste, providing a portable decontamination facility, repainting the northbound and southbound structures and any traffic control measures required.

The northbound span is a three span continuous steel girder structure having a total length of 174 feet and a deck width of 68 feet. The southbound span is identical except it has a deck width of 70 feet.

The WisDOT project manager, Dale Oldenburg, said that only shoulder closings on US 41 are anticipated, thereby minimizing traffic problems.

Project completion is slated for early September, weather permitting.

Kewaskum Fire and Rescue Squad Calls

February 9, 1973

Members of the Village Board arrived at a temporary decision at least, in regard to a solid waste disposal plan when they met here Monday night. After considering all possible alternatives to the present incinerator in a drawn-out discussion, they agreed to use a sanitary landfill site operated by Waste Management Corp., in the Town of Polk, near Slinger, on a 30-day minimum trial basis, beginning March 1. Village crews will make their usual curb pickups using the village compactor, and then haul their collections to the landfill site, a distance of about 16 miles, one way. The village will pay $9.60 tp deposit each compacted load, based on a quotation from Waste Management of 60 cents per yard. It is imperative that Kewaskum adopt an alternate waste disposal plan because its incinerator must be abandoned because it does not meet the new air pollution emission standards set by the Department of Natural Resources.

Glen Asch, 17, a senior at Kewaskum Community High School, received an honorable mention for his performance with the violin at the Milwaukee Symphony Young Artists Auditions on Saturday, Feb. 3. For receiving honorable mention, Asch will perform in the ranks of the orchestra at the Young Artists Concert March 25 at the Performing Arts Center in Milwaukee. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Asch, Route 3, West Bend.

Two additional deputies were hired for the Washington County Sheriff's Department which will bring the department up to full strength. The most recent men to be added were David St. Louis and Daniel A. Lecher.

Michael Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Des Smith, Kewaskum, arrived home Friday, January 26, from Pemberton, N.J., where he was stationed. He received his discharge after three years in service. He was accompanied home by his wife.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gengler, Kewaskum, on Friday, February 2. Mrs. Gengler is the former Barbara Buss.

Is your picture in a frame
We often look at your picture
And your smile seems to say

And you'll see me some day."

IN MEMORY

In memory of BURNETTE SCHMITT who passed away 20 years ago on February 18, 1978:

How fast time flies, the years have gone by without our mom.

A good mother, a good wife, she always had a smile for all - never got down on life's unfairness to her.

She was quiet, content with life, even though she was not able to do all that she wanted to do.

We miss you, mom. So many things that we never got to talk about. So many times we needed your support. But - we knew you were there, beside us and in our hearts, even though you weren't physically there to comfort us.

Keep smiling down on us and watch over us to keep us safe.

AAA Wisconsin's travel guide to the places that make our state great

Bringing Statesmen to Life: Ripon, Belmont, Madison

February is President's Month, and although Wisconsin never sent a native son or daughter to the White House, the Badger State's political pedigree is hardly lacking.

One of our nation's two major political parties, the "Party of Lincoln," was founded in a little schoolhouse in Ripon, and Madison has seen its share of notables pass through the statehouse, including "Fighting" Bob La Follette, who ran for president on the Progressive ticket in 1924.

Ripon began as an experiment in communal living called Ceresco, established in 1849 by 200 followers of the 19th-century socialist philosopher Charles Fourier. On the west edge of town stands one of the commune's log houses.

The Republican Party was founded in Ripon in 1854 at a local Whig political meeting called to organize against the extension of slavery. The meeting was held at the Little White Schoolhouse on Blackburn Street.

Local lawyer and prominent Whig Alvan E. Bovay proposed the party name and four months later the name "Republican" was adopted at a state party convention in Jackson, Michigan, which also "adopted" the moniker of birthplace of the Republican Party.

Ripon had long been a bastion of anti-slavery sentiment. The city was the site of "Booth's War," a skirmish between abolitionist Sherman Booth, who was a major player in the Underground Railroad, and federal authorities.

The Little White School House is open Monday through Saturday and holidays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sundays from noon to 4 p.m., May through September. There is no admission fee, but donations are accepted. Phone (920) 748-4730 or (920) 748-6764 for more information.

Belmont held high hopes for political prominence when it served as the first capital of the Wisconsin Territory in 1836, but representatives who convened there objected so vehemently to the site that the governor agreed to move the capital. The first territorial legislative session lasted 45 days.

Legislators managed to pass 42 bills, but the pigs, chickens and cows which roosted in the gallery of the original building were generally unimpressed. After a long dispute, Madison was selected as the capital, although at the time it existed only on paper.

With little other reason to thrive, Belmont declined. The First Capitol State Park, seven miles east of Platteville on County Road G, contains two restored buildings that stood on the site where the first territorial legislature met.

In the Council House, the legislature drafted its first laws. It is furnished much as it was in 1836, excluding the farm animals. The old courthouse building contains displays about Wisconsin's early territorial government and history. Picnicking is permitted. The site is open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Memorial Day through Labor Day, and is free to the public. call (608) 987-2122 for more information.

In 1848, Madison consisted of one inn and a general store, and construction had just begun on the Capitol. With the completion of the statehouse and the establishment of the University of Wisconsin, the city began to assume some of its present character.

The UW, which opened with 20 students in 1849, now occupies more than 1,000 acres.

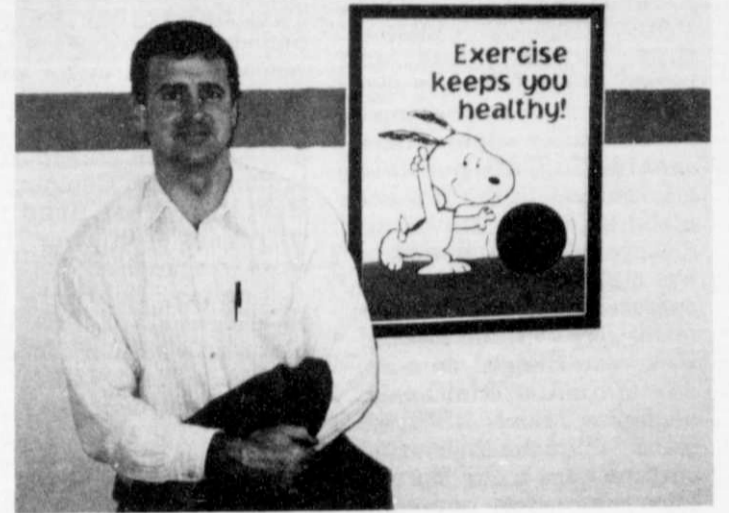

Madison today is a thriving center for business, government, education and recreation. Much of the recreation is available on more than 18,000 acres of lake surface within or just outside the city limits. The "Four Lakes of Madison" are Mendota, Monona, Wingra and Waubesa. From Picnic Point, a narrow spit jutting into Lake Mendota, there is a spectacular view of the city.

The city center is on an eight-block-wide isthmus between Lakes Mendota and Monona. The city's skyline is dominated by the 2,500-ton dome of the state Capitol. Capitol Square is connected to the university campus by the State Street Mall, a tree-lined shopping district with import shops, ethnic restaurants, college bars and craft studios. The Madison Civic Center, housing two performing arts theaters and Madison Art Center, is at 211 State Street.

With so much to do and see in Madison -- there are events scheduled virtually every weekend of the year -- visitors are advised to plan ahead of time. For more information contact the Greater Madison Convention and Visitors Bureau at 615 E. Washington Avenue, 53703; (608) 255-2537.

Here are just a few of Madison's highlights: The Henry Vilas Zoo, on Lake Wingra, contains 175 species of animals and is open year-round, (608) 266-4732. The Madison Children's Museum, 100 State Street, is an educational and cultural museum designed for both children and adults, (608) 256-6445. Olbrich

Anti-Smoking Speaker at KES

Dr. Robert Gibson, shown above, an internal medicine specialist from the West Bend Clinic visited Kewaskum Elementary School recently to inform fifth graders of the hazards of smoking. Dr. Gibson's program draws upon his experience working with patients who have been gravely affected by smoking. Over the past several years, Dr. Gibson has presented his program at numerous area schools.

Botanical Gardens, 3300 Atwood Avenue, features specialty gardens, a botanical center, and conservatory, (608) 246-4550. The State Historical Museum, 30 N. Carroll Street on Capitol Square, contains permanent and changing exhibits depicting the history of Wisconsin and the upper Midwest, (608) 264-6555. The Elvehjem Museum of Art, 800 University Avenue, houses more than 15,000 artworks dating from 2300 B.C. to the present, (608) 263-2246.

Two sites of exceptional interest are the State Capitol, on Capitol Square, and the Wisconsin Veterans Museum, 30 Mifflin Street, also on Capitol Square. It's nearly impossible to miss the Capitol, an impressive 1917 example of Roman Renaissance architecture capped by Daniel Chester French's "Wisconsin," a gilded bronze statue.

Guided tours take place daily on the hour Monday through Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.; Sunday on the hour from 1 to 3 p.m. Tours include the governor's conference room, the Supreme Court, Senate and Assembly chambers. The impressive rotunda is closed for the year for refurbishment. Phone (608) 266-0382 for information.

The Wisconsin Veterans Museum is dedicated to the men and women of Wisconsin who served in America's conflicts from the Civil War to the Persian Gulf War. Several dioramas portray historical events using figures of military personnel in re-created environments ranging from steamy jungles to snow-covered forests. Aircraft are suspended from the gallery ceiling. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Sundays from noon until 4 p.m., April through September; Tuesday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. the rest of the year. Admission is free.

Letter to The Editor

To the Editor:

REF: Village Board Annexes Spoerl Land; Business Development Proposed that was in the Kewaskum Statesman Volume 102, Number 9, Thursday, February 5, 1998

As a taxpayer of this beautiful Village, I would like to be heard. All this talk about building this and that; I think its time for the people to start understanding what is going on, no matter what the issue, schools, land, no matter what, but I think the big issue is our children. What do our kids have in this town to do? No theater, no bowling alley, nothing, just our kids walking the streets.

I think we should do something on the line for our kids. Sure we have some beautiful parks, but what do they have in winter? We are all in favor to see our village grow, but if we don't do something for the kids, we still don't have nothing. The more families coming into our town, the more kids we have with nothing to do.

Governor Awards $94,489 to County Drug Enforcement

Governor Thompson recently announced the award of $94,489 to the Washington County Anti-Drug Task Force. The award will help the multijurisdictional unit continue its efforts to reduce the availability and use of illegal drugs, and to reduce the levels of violent crime throughout Washington County.

Governor Thompson awarded more than $5.5 million to 29 Drug Enforcement Task Forces that operate throughout Wisconsin. These multijurisdictional units represent 70 counties and nearly 300 local governmental units around the state.

"The task forces have contributed significantly to the state's record drug arrest statistics, as well as, the state's overall effort to eliminate individual, family and community problems associated with drug abuse and drug traffickers," Governor Thompson said. "Because most law enforcement authority is limited to specific jurisdictions, but criminal activity is not, it is possible for criminal enterprises to commit crimes beyond the scope of one department. Dealing with this problem requires cooperation among numerous law enforcement agencies and prosecutors. These grants make it possible for them to combine and coordinate their talent and equipment to do that," the governor stated.

The task force made over 5,000 arrests alone, according to statistics from the Office of Justice Assistance. Outside of Milwaukee County, the multijurisdictional units made about 80% of all drug trafficking arrests recorded in the state.

This is the 11th year of funding for the task force programs, which are formed through the cooperation and collaboration of local sheriffs' departments, police departments and district attorneys. Seventy-five percent of the funds awarded are made available to the state through the federal Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program.

It was decided that Mary Andera and Larry Fechter would write the survey questions. The sample surveys will be sent to all Board members for their review before they are distributed.

Board members present: Lisa Maul, Larry Fechter, Tom Timblin, Jean Goeden, Jon Downs, Mary Andera, John Schulte.

Board members absent: none.

Discussion ensued regarding WIAA conference realignment.

New State Walleye Management Plan Focuses on Habitat Protection

MADISON -- Protecting and improving habitat for walleye in Wisconsin waters will be one of the primary focuses for enhancing and maintaining populations of this popular game fish under the final version of a walleye management plan presented to the state Natural Resources Board at its January meeting in Madison.

The plan has been under development by a Wisconsin walleye management planning committee since 1994 and was the subject of a large number of public hearings and 26 public workshops held around the state. The committee was made up of a broad representation of public and private individuals and organizations interested in walleye management.

"This plan was developed with an unprecedented level of public input and support," said Michael Staggs, director of the Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Fisheries Management and Habitat Protection, which oversaw development of the plan.

"Implementation of this plan over the next decade will result not only in better and more diverse opportunities for Wisconsin anglers, but it will allow us to manage for the species more cost effectively," Staggs said.

The plan has seven goals identified by the committee and modified through the extensive public participation process. The first and primary goal is to protect, enhance and restore critical habitats for naturally reproducing stocks of walleye.

"Walleyes need clean water, good spawning habitat and a healthy, balanced fish community to provide forage," Staggs said. "If we can manage our lakes and rivers to protect and improve these critical factors, walleyes will reproduce naturally in numbers far larger than we could ever hope to obtain through stocking."

Other plans in the plan are to:

- * provide a variety of opportunities to catch and harvest walleye, including fishing for food and for trophy fish as well as tribal harvest;

- * ensure that adequate information on the status and trends of walleye populations and angler preferences are consistently available for making management decisions;

- * maintain the genetic integrity of naturally reproducing walleye populations;

- * provide educational opportunities to develop an appreciation for fisheries resources and to promote realistic angling expectations;

- * develop a biologically sound and cost effective walleye stocking strategy; and

- * ensure an integrated propagation program incorporating state, federal, tribal, private and cooperative producers.

The plan further identifies specific strategies for achieving each goal. A number of those strategies are already underway, or have been implemented, including new walleye fishing regulations that went into effect on about 200 Wisconsin lakes and rivers in 1997. The regulations are tailored to a water body's characteristics and potential for maintaining walleye populations.

"We recognize that lakes and rivers differ in the types of walleye fisheries they can support and the new regulations are intended to help waters reach and maintain their full fisheries potential," said Steve Hewett, the DNR fisheries biologist who led the effort to develop the new plan.

"Wisconsin has roughly 1,500 water bodies that support walleye populations, and these lakes and rivers vary in their size, in their potential to support walleye abundance, growth and reproduction, and in the amount of fishing pressure they receive," Hewett said.

Among the strategies identified to protect and improve walleye habitat are: to work with other water basin planning efforts and lake management plans to protect and improve walleye habitat; to work with lake districts, fishing clubs and others to restore habitat -- such as shoreline fish nursery and food production areas -- on waters where such habitat has declined; work with dam and hydro power interests to reduce harmful effects from dams; to protect sensitive habitat areas from boat traffic; and to protect shoreline spawning and nursery areas through enforcement of state shoreland zoning permits.

"The new walleye fishing regulations went into place just last year, so it will be three to seven years before waters reach their maximum potential," Hewett said. "But we had excellent walleye reproduction in 1995 in many waters across the state, so anglers should start to see improvements in numbers and sizes in some waters sooner."

The complete report is available from the DNR by writing to Steve Hewett, Fisheries Management and Habitat Protection, Wisconsin DNR, PO Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707-7921.

HEART HEALTH

Study: Radiation Aids Arteries After Angioplasty

(NAPS)—There's good news for many of the 600,000 heart patients who undergo angioplasty each year. A new study has found that using low doses of radiation immediately after the procedure can significantly reduce the risk that a patient's arteries will re-narrow.

Angioplasty is designed to widen narrowed blood vessels in the heart. The procedure uses a small balloon catheter. It is then inflated. Nearly half of such patients will require a repeat procedure because of re-narrowing of the arteries.

One way to get around this has been to use stents, metal scaffolds inserted in the artery. The trouble is angioplasty and stents cause scars which later narrow arteries again. Using radiation prevents this scarring.

A six-month study showed low dose beta radiation reduced the rate of re-narrowing to about 15 percent. That's about one-third of the expected rate for this group of patients, according to Dr. Ian Crocker of the Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta.

The radiation led to no significant exposure to either the patient or personnel, Dr. Crocker added. He announced his findings at the 39th annual meeting of the American Society for Therapeutic Radiology and Oncology (ASTRO) in Orlando, Florida.

Radiation therapy may reduce complications in heart patients who undergo angioplasty.

The procedure added only five to ten minutes to the normal angioplasty, which usually takes from one to two hours, the doctor said.

"Based on our findings, the use of radiation therapy after angioplasty may reduce health care costs by reducing the number of repeat procedures," Dr. Crocker said.

As a result, a multi-center clinical trial has been started on the radiology procedure, the doctor said. It will include 1,100 patients at 26 different centers in the U.S., Canada and Europe.

ASTRO is the largest radiation oncology society in the world, with some 4,000 members.

Nibbling Nuggets Of Wisdom

One way to earn appreciative smiles at meal time is with a delicious, home-cooked meal that's fun and easy to make. The recipe is so simple, the whole family can join in. Coating chicken pieces makes them taste so good because it seals in delectable juices.

(NAPS)—Here's a tasty tidbit that can make family meals more fun. Chicken nuggets are a quick-fix meal the whole family will appreciate and can help prepare.

Shake 'N Bake chicken nuggets can be made in minutes. These tasty morsels are so easy and so much fun to make, the kids can enjoy taking part.

If there's a party in your plans or the family plans to gather for a football game, why not make double the amount you usually make.

Cool half the cooked nuggets and store in an airtight container or freezer bag for later. Then, serve the remaining nuggets for dinner.

When it's party time or when time is short, bake the frozen nuggets on a cookie sheet at 400°F. for 15 to 20 minutes or until thoroughly heated.

Nuggets are a great finger food for everyday snacking, meals or family entertaining. To make them even tastier, dip nuggets in Kraft Original Barbecue Sauce, honey, salsa, honey mustard or drizzle nuggets with melted Cheez Whiz.

No Special Zone-T Hunt for 1998

MADISON -- There will not be a special Zone-T deer hunt in 1998, according to deer management officials with the Department of Natural Resources.

After two years of special Zone-T hunts in management units where deer populations were above goals, farmland deer populations are now close enough to desired levels that a special hunting season is not needed in 1998 to adjust levels.

"The 'earn-a-buck' Zone-T program in 1996, and the antlerless only Zone-T season in 1997 were successful in lowering populations in the targeted deer management units and in adjacent units," said Bill Mytton, DNR deer ecologist. "Farmers, other landowners and hunters did a great job using the 'tools' the special Zone-T hunting season offered them."

In 1996, the "earn-a-buck" program required hunters, hunting in Zone-T management units, to harvest an antlerless deer before they could bag a buck in those units, which resulted in an antlerless deer kill of 24,954 deer during the Zone-T hunt. In 1997, the earn-a-buck requirement was dropped and hunters took 7,676 antlerless deer during the Zone-T hunt.

Mytton said that the elimination of a Zone-T season for 1998 doesn't mean Zone-T is gone forever.

"There are currently six deer management units - 22, 23, 67A, 67B, 69A and 70E - that are on a watch list," Mytton said. "We hope that deer hunters and landowners will work together in 1998 to increase antlerless harvest in these units and avoid a Zone-T season in the future."

The Zone-T season targets antlerless deer and has been used to address deer management units where populations are more than 50% over target, easing agricultural damage claims. The Zone-T seasons ran in October, one month before the regular gun deer season.

Deer damage claim totals are not complete for 1997 but in 1996, the state paid out $2.3 million in claims. Actual agricultural damage attributed to deer ran closer to $3 million but payments were less due to deductible amounts and a $5,000 upper limit to payments, according to Laine Stowell, wildlife damage specialist.

The Farmland Deer Committee, which consists of representatives from the Wisconsin Conservation Congress, DNR wildlife managers and other interested hunting groups reviewed data from the 1997 deer hunt and came to the conclusion that a Zone-T season would not be needed in 1998 but didn't rule out the possibility of a future Zone-T season if agricultural damage claims increase.

County Treasurer's Office Reports $2 Million in Earnings in 1997

WEST BEND -- Fredric A. Seefeldt, Washington County Treasurer, reported recently that earnings in the treasurer's office topped $2 million in 1997.

"Earnings from interest on temporary investments were $1.48 million and interest on delinquent real estate taxes generated $550,000," said Seefeldt. "This is our second $2 million year," added Seefeldt.

As the county's cash manager and investment officer, Seefeldt is responsible for investing the county tax levy and reserves until the funds are needed to pay the county's bills.

"Funds available for investment have increased as the county has increased its reserves to secure more favorable bond ratings. Bond proceeds have provided additional funds for short term investment," Seefeldt explained.

Janice Gettelman, Deputy County Treasurer, observed that 1995 was the first year in which earnings from investments alone accounted for more than $1 million. "In prior years income from investments and interest collected on delinquent real estate taxes were more evenly divided," Gettelman said.

Seefeldt further reported that 1997 marked the nineteenth consecutive year in which the county's treasurer's office had generated $1 million or more in revenues for county taxpayers.

Indians Lose Two to Roncalli

The Kewaskum boys traveled up to Manitowoc last Tuesday to play the Roncalli Jets in a makeup basketball game that was postponed from a January snowstorm.

This was the first meeting between the two schools in basketball, seeing the Jets are new to the Eastern Wisconsin Conference this year.

The short-handed Indians, still missing a number of their players for athletic code violations took an early 7-0 lead and picked up full court on the defensive end to surprise the home team with a 13-12 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Unfortunately, shooting woes again plagued KHS in the second quarter (2-14), that allowed the Jets to assume a 27-20 halftime cushion.

The underdog Indians continued to play hard and although they didn't shoot well, their defense kept them within striking range as the Jets held on to a 40-33 lead at the end of three frames.

KHS stayed patient and kept cutting the Roncalli lead until sophomore Chris Koth hit a three-point bomb to give the Indians a one point lead with 1:53 left in the game.

After a defensive stop the Indians couldn't convert and the Jets scored the last eight points of the game to close out a harder than expected win against a scrappy Kewaskum team.

"We full court pressed the whole game with basically six players, and used up all our energy coming back. We just ran out of gas at the end," Coach Tom Timblin reported. "We played real intense and put ourselves in a position to win at the end, but couldn't quite close the deal. It was a long bus ride home. We felt we played hard enough to win, but a 3-18 three point shooting effort cost us. They also hit 13 of 15 free throws," Timblin added.

Junior workhorse John

Warnecke led the Indians with 15 points and seven rebounds followed by sophomore Billy Cook who added 13. Andy Christophersen also chipped in with eight points and four assists.

RONCALLI - Stelzer 20, Sanders 8, Coulson 4, Krajnik 21. FTs 13-15.

Friday night the Indians hosted Roncalli in the regularly scheduled game to complete an unusual back-to-back conference series.

Once again the senior-less, outmanned Kewaskum squad played great defense that allowed them to stay nip and tuck with the visiting Jets.

The Indians, with seven points each from Billy Cook and Chris Koth, trailed at halftime, 34-30. A 48% first half shooting effort had the coaching staff cautiously optimistic. Unfortunately, the Indians came back for the third quarter with a cold-as-ice shooting touch.

Roncalli continued to turn up their defense a few notches and held the Indians to five points in the third quarter. The home team continued to struggle in the fourth quarter and succumbed to the Jets, 65-45, for the second time in four days.

The Indians shot 24% in the second half. Roncalli continued their fine free throw shooting by going 12-14, bringing their two-game total to 25-29.

Coach Timblin said, "The sophomore Koth twins combined for 20 points. Chris had a game high 13 with three threes and Curt added seven and played some intense defense. Billy (Cook) had nine points while John (Warnecke) and Andy (Christophersen) combined for 15 points and 15 rebounds."

Roncalli improved its record to 7-5 in the Eastern Wisconsin and 12-5 overall, while the Indians slipped to 3-9 in the EW and 5-11 overall.

Timblin added, "It's been a tough stretch. Next week we get three of our boys back and we hope to finish the season strong."

KHS hosts league-leading Plymouth (12-0) in a rare Saturday afternoon game. The freshmen and JV's play at 1 p.m. while the varsity follows at 2:30. Come on over to the Kewaskum fieldhouse and see if the Indians can engineer the biggest upset of the season!

Washington County Course Will Be Spikeless in 1998

The Washington County Golf Course at 6439 Clover Road in Hartford is going spikeless in 1998. The golf course will no longer allow metal spikes to be worn.

In order to maintain superior conditions on the greens at the course, the golf course supervisor has recommended the change. The change will also help keep the clubhouse facilities and the golf carts in top condition. Please note this change will not take effect until June 1, 1998.

The move to spikeless is sweeping the nation with Wisconsin at the forefront. Washington County will be one of the first publicly owned facilities in Wisconsin to make the change. The move to go spikeless shows the commitment to excellence Washington County has made to their golf program.

The new plastic spikes are available at the course, however, it is suggested you make the change prior to arriving. If you plan to switch them at the course, please allow enough time so you can be ready for your tee time. Proper planning will help make this switch go as smooth as your putts.

If you have any questions about non-metal spikes, please call the county course at 414-335-6870 or 6871 and 414-670-6616.

The Washington County golf course is an Arthur

Hills designed 18-hole championship course. The course features bentgrass tees, greens and fairways. Since opening in April of 1997, the course has received rave reviews from golfers of all abilities. The course also offers a full practice area which includes driving range, short game practice area, putting green and a three-hole practice course.

This year's treasurer, Peter Muth, accepts an award the Kewaskum FFA earned through their safety project. Last year the FFA gave away S.M.V. signs to local farmers, and the FFA bought the Kohlsville Fire Department two P.A.S.S. devices which alert others if a fireman is injured while inside a building.

Dr. Charles Ogi, left, and son Dr. Greg Ogi, from the Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic are giving a rabies shot to a dog that was brought into the High School last spring during the Annual Kewaskum FFA Rabies Clinic. This year's rabies clinic will be held on Wednesday, April 8. Check future papers for more information.

Dr. Charles Ogi, left, and former Kewaskum FFA Advisor Roy Esser, two long time supporters of FFA. We would like to thank them for all of their continued support of the FFA and the Ogi Scholarship awarded to a senior each spring.

Former president Brad Oelhafen, left, and former historian Bruce Gundrum, are shown preparing the community flower pots to be put out. Each year the FFA gets the flower pots filled with soil and then places them throughout the community streets.

Junior member Tim Ramthun puts together flyers for the North American Elk Association. Students from Mr. Rizzardi's agriculture classes spent time helping out the North American Elk Association this year by preparing their convention booklet. A speaker came in and informed students about the elk and its uses.

Above left, Paula Peterson shows off the Reserve Champion Market Hog she raised for the Washington County Fair. The fair is one of the last steps in her swine project, before it is sold and entered in the carcass show. Above right, Paula stands next to her Reserve Champion Carcass pig. Paula was fortunate to receive Reserve Champion at both the live show and carcass show, a feat that is difficult to accomplish. Members of the Kewaskum FFA will be weighing in swine for the 1998 County Fair this spring. Good luck to all who show!

Shown, front to back, Kewaskum FFA members David Lettow, Jeremy Hawig and Joe Hawig show that it isn't always easy to get your animal to go where you want it to. All three members have been very active and have shown at the Washington County Fair for many years.

Public Events & Fun Activities

At our annual Farm Toy and Craft Show, exhibitors display and sell items that they have made or collected. There are a variety of crafts shown along with many farm toys and toy collectibles at the show. There is also a toy tractor pull where people can test their strength and win prizes. The show will be held Sunday, February 22, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. with toy tractor pulls starting at noon.

This year the FFA welcomed Master Hypnotist Jim Wand to return to the High School. Jim is a Master Hypnotist who travels all over the United States putting on shows and helping people. He shows the power of how the mind becomes very creative and many times funny when people are put into the deep state of relaxation through hypnosis. Above left, while hypnotized, people think that their shoes are binoculars. Above right, Jim shows how determined and powerful the mind can become when hypnotized.

On March 5, the FFA and FFA Alumni will again be sponsoring Donkey Basketball at the Kewaskum High School Fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m. The first game will feature WTKM and WBKV radio stations. The second game will include the Fillmore Fire Department taking on the Kewaskum FFA. Advanced tickets are available at the High School or through any FFA member for $5 for adults and $3 for grade school students.

Last spring, the FFA had a paintball outing. Teams of approximately ten people had to try to proceed through a course without getting shot and capture and return the other team's flag to their own side. It was a lot of wet and muddy fun.

Fundraising & Member Projects

Above, D.J. Neumann, current chapter reporter, shows off the gravity box that he restored as part of Ag. Structures and Equipment class. D.J. sanded the box, replaced metal and repainted the project.

Here FFA members sort fruit for the chapter's other major fundraiser, the Fruit, Cheese and Sausage Sale. Every year in the fall, the chapter sells fruit boxes, along with Schneider's cheese and Kewaskum Frozen Foods sausage. The FFA would like to thank everyone who supports the chapter through their purchases.

The President's Year in Review

Ben Propson

As current president of the Kewaskum FFA Chapter for the 1997-98 school year, I would like to inform you about the FFA and myself.

I am a senior at Kewaskum High School. I have been an active member since my sophomore year. Last year I was secretary of our Chapter. Up until about a year ago I worked on my neighbor's farm for about six years. I currently work at Fleet & Farm in West Bend. After I graduate I hope to become a motorcycle mechanic.

The Kewaskum FFA Chapter was established in 1951. Since then there have been many changes. One of the biggest changes is that the acronym FFA no longer stands for Future Farmers of America. Because of the declining farmers and increased concern for the environment, the acronym was dropped. FFA now symbolizes an organization that promotes leadership in youth with an interest in the environment and agriculture. FFA promotes premiere leadership in many youth across the world.

The Kewaskum FFA always keep their members busy. After school ends in June, the FFA continues its activities. The FFA has many members that participate in the Washington County Fair. Members show many award winning entries such as dairy, beef, swine, sheep, rabbits, poultry, crops and crafts.

Members work very hard on their animal projects trying to make their animals as efficient producers as possible.

The Kewaskum FFA teams up with Hartford and Slinger FFA Chapters to run an ice cream booth at the Wisconsin State Fair. Members of the Chapters work together selling ice cream sundaes and milk. This is one of the major incomes for the year.

The other major income for the year comes from our fruit/cheese/sausage sale. We take pride in selling quality fruit, including navel oranges, pineapple, grapefruit and apples. We also sell cheese from Schneider's Cheese in Waldo, along with sausage products from Kewaskum Frozen Foods.

This year the Kewaskum FFA welcomed hypnotist Jim Wand to the High School for a hilarious performance. Jim Wand is an award winning hypnotist who travels the country putting on shows for schools and organizations. His show consists of hypnotizing members of the audience and making them do crazy things in front of everyone that they would not normally do. He shows the power of the mind.

FFA Week is held about the third week of February. We kick off FFA Week with our annual Farm Toy and Craft Show. Last year we added a craft show in hope of making it fun for everyone. This year the Farm Toy and Craft Show will be held on February 22. We encourage everyone to attend.

The FFA does many fun activities and giveaways during FFA Week in hope of promoting the FFA and all it has to offer. The Kewaskum FFA Chapter is very involved with the District Speaking Contests. The Speaking Contest consists of Creed, Parliamentary Procedure, Discussion, Prepared and Extemporaneous Speaking.

Every other year the FFA and the FFA Alumni work together and sponsor Donkey Basketball. On March 5, we will again be holding Donkey Basketball in the Kewaskum High School Fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m. In the first game, the Fillmore Fire Department will go up against the Kewaskum FFA. It is sure to be as much fun as always. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for grade school students in advance and can be purchased in the Kewaskum High School office.

The FFA consists of a lot of traveling. There are many contests and leadership activities all over the state. Each year the State Convention is held in Madison during the beginning of June. Over 2,000 FFA members gather from around the State to listen to motivational speakers, attend leadership workshops and share their ideas and experiences in hopes of making the FFA stronger.

The National Convention is held in Kansas City, Missouri. National Convention is like State Convention, but larger. There are workshops for members to attend. Most of the experience involves meeting and talking to people from all around the country.

The Chapter gets involved in many judging activities including Dairy Cattle, Meats, Livestock, Dairy Products, Forestry, Ag. Mechanics, Nursery/Landscape, Wildlife, Floriculture, Crops, Poultry, and many more. The judging teams usually consist of three or four members on a team, who must answer questions related to their category both orally and written. Judges try to gain as much knowledge as possible prior to the contest, in order to be competitive with the other teams from around the state.

The Kewaskum FFA Chapter is constantly trying to help out the community. We currently hold an annual Rabies Clinic, help in putting out the village flower pots, work on the Riverwalk Project, and this year we helped the North American Elk Breeders Association by putting flyers and folders together to help promote their organization. We are always looking for new ways to help the community and promote the FFA. If anyone has any suggestions, just contact Mr. Rizzardi or myself.

Finally, I'd like to thank everyone for their continuous support of the FFA in all of their adventures. I would especially like to thank all of the businesses who sponsored this supplement, the FFA members, along with the FFA Alumni for their dedication in helping the Chapter succeed in all of its endeavors. I would also like to thank the school administration and faculty, the Chapter Advisor Mr. Rizzardi, and lastly my parents and everyone else who allowed me to develop myself through the FFA.

*Thanks,
Ben Propson,
Chapter President*
