Bakken Attends Leadership Forum

Adam Bakken

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Adam Bakken of Kewaskum, a student at Kewaskum High School, attended the National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence and Diplomacy (NYLF/DID) from February 22-27, 2000 in Washington, D.C. Having demonstrated academic achievement and an interest in a career related to national security, Bakken joined more than 350 outstanding high school juniors and seniors from across America at the conference. Students learned first-hand about national security, diplomacy and global defense systems.

Retired U.S. Marine Corps Colonel H.C. "Barney" Barnum opened the conference with his keynote address, in which he inspired the students, relating his heroic efforts in Vietnam in 1965. Barnum was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, and in an illustration of the importance of teamwork, training and leadership, he shares his medal with heroes of the Marine Corps and Navy who gave their lives so that his company could survive and prevail against twelve-to-one odds. Barnum urged, "Believe in your abilities and set your goals high. Exploit every opportunity you have on your way up the ladder of success, so that when the time comes, my generation can 'lateral the football' to your generation with confidence. And you can carry the ball with success and honor until your turn comes to give way to the next generation."

During the conference, Bakken experienced how the U.S. plans for peace, prepares for crisis and met with leaders from key agencies and institutions. Students had the opportunity to visit several military installations, such as: the Pentagon, the U.S. Marine Corps Combat Development Command at Quantico, the Naval Air Station at Patuxent River, the U.S. Naval Academy among others.

Later in the week, General James Jones, Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps discussed the current status of the United States as a world leader and impressed upon the students that this status as a superpower leaves them with a legacy. "My generation is getting ready to step off the stage. We've done our best and now it's up to you. As the next generation of leaders and people who affect society, the question is: what do you do with that legacy?" He also stressed the importance of public service and not leaving others to carry it out. He concluded, "You are the best hope of making the world safer and more peaceful. I hope you ladies and gentlemen understand the important role you play."

NYLF/DID culminated with a student-run simulation of international crises involving Korea, where students assumed true-to-life roles in making decisions to resolve a fictional global situation.

Weather Records Shattered

Record-breaking temperatures visited our area as witnessed by the photo above taken on Tuesday, March 7. The unseasonably mild temperatures were a welcome respite for all winter-weary residents as walkers and rollerbladers revisited the streets of Kewaskum for the first time since last fall. The weather was expected to remain through Wednesday and then temperatures were expected to get back to normal. Talk about March Madness! I'm sure everyone could handle a few more weeks of this abnormality. Now even if we are unfortunate to get some more of the "white stuff," at least it won't last long and we had a short break from the confines of winter.

St. Joseph's to Add Fixed Site MRI

State-of-the-Art MRI Valuable for Early-Stage Detection and Other Advanced Imaging

St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend announced plans to install a state-of-the-art fixed site MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) system able to produce clear images of the brain within minutes and to detect stroke at a very early stage. The new system will have the capability to provide musculoskeletal images of outstanding clarity, and non-invasive images of blood vessels and coronary arteries, which physicians will use for more definitive diagnosis and patient care.

The hospital's board of directors on Monday, February 28 approved the purchase of the $2.04 million MRI which will be installed this summer. The decision is viewed as an important step in bringing leading edge technology to the hospital, for high quality and cost-effective patient care.

"Advanced MRI will now be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and immediately available to the emergency department. The MRI will be located near the emergency and admitting areas, making it very convenient for outpatients, who now make up 92 percent of MRI patients," according to Barb Knutzen, director of professional and support services at St. Joseph's.

Since September 1991, St. Joseph's has provided MRI services through mobile service shared among other hospitals. Currently, an average of 100 MRI procedures are performed monthly at St. Joseph's. With the new MRI, it is expected that volumes will increase. The new MRI will provide state-of-the-art imaging for brain tumors, strokes, vascular disease, cancer, joint and musculoskeletal disorders, and has the potential for advanced cardiac imaging.

"The quality of this system is far superior to anything in the area," said Roger A. Pellmann, M.D., medical director of medical imaging services at the hospital.

He said that with the system, doctors at St. Joseph's Community Hospital will be able to know within minutes whether a patient has experienced a stroke, loss of blood to the brain, and plan appropriate treatment. With current technology, that level of information is not immediately available.

The new MRI system will also provide, for the first time at St. Joseph's:

* MRPC, a non-invasive alternative to ERPC. ERPC is a technique that uses an endoscope passed through a patient's stomach and duodenum, often used for patients who have had gallbladder surgery.

* MRI angiography to provide detailed images of blood vessels in the brain without the need to inject contrast material.

Dr. Pellmann said that the new technology has the capability to be upgraded for more advanced imaging capabilities, including car-

New Fire Truck to Be in Service Soon

By Andrew R. Kuehl
Staff Writer/Photographer

The Kewaskum Village Board met Monday evening. Fire Chief Mark Groeschel was present and gave his report.

Groeschel also informed the board that the new fire truck was delivered on February 16th and will be in service by the end of the month.

He continued to say that the other peice of equipment being refurbished should be back in service in about two weeks.

Director of Public Works, Jerry Gilles gave his bi-monthly report. The new lawn mower has been delivered and is ready to go. Gilles also asked to advertise for the summer help.

Trustee Andy Pesch reviewed the plan commission meeting held on February 22.

Administrator Daniel

Schmidt, informed the board that there is a tentative agreement between the village and the Kewaskum Municipal Employees union.

The board reviewed Ordinance 00-01, an ordinance amending chapter 90 Traffic and Vehicles. The ordinance pertains to off-street parking lots. No action was taken.

In the discussion Trustee Roecker asked that the price of a parking pass be raised. The village only charges $10 per month. "There is no reason why we have to be the cheapest" said Roecker.

Discussion was held on the signing of an easement for locating utility improvements over the O & R Enterprise's property.

The board then adjourned into closed session to discuss employee performance and evaluation.

New MRI at St. Joseph's

MRI uses radio waves and a strong magnetic field rather than X-rays to provide clear and detailed pictures of internal organs and tissues. The new MRI to be acquired by St. Joseph's is Philips' latest Intera 1.5T Master MRI System, which has a faster, higher strength magnet. The new unit has a more open, flared, patient-friendly "donut" shape that helps to reduce patient anxiety and the claustrophobia some patients have experienced with earlier generation MRI equipment.

"One of the most obvious benefits will be the ability to do vascular scanning. We currently have to send patients out for that procedure. Blockages in carotid arteries and blockages in the brain will be shown clearly with this system. Images of knees and shoulders are also better," said Steven W. Holcomb, M.D., a family practice physician with the General Clinic and a member of the hospital's board of directors.

"It will give us an edge in the treatment of strokes and allows us to provide a service we currently aren't able to give now for patients who present with stroke," said Gary Herdrich, M.D., a family practice physician with the West Bend Clinic, also a hospital board member.

The new MRI system is scheduled to be installed in summer 2000 and to be operational by fall. The hospital will be seeking radiologic technologists with MRI training to staff the new service.

"This is an important step in making St. Joseph's a medical center known for state-of-the-art technology as well as delivery of high quality, cost-effective health care. It isn't merely a purchase of MR equipment, it's an investment in people -- your friends and family -- in this community," said Dr. Pellmann.

Financially Educated Employees Make Better Employees

Educating employees about personal money management is likely to benefit the employer as much as it will the employees.

That's because employees with financial problems tend to have lower productivity than financially healthy employees, according to the latest research.

Much of the financial education employers do these days focuses on retirement education; namely, efforts to boost employee participation in the employer's retirement plan. While this is valuable, it fails to address far deeper financial issues that affect not only plan participation but worker productivity that's so essential to an employer's bottom line.

Approximately 15 percent of the workers in the United States experience enough stress from their personal financial situation that it reduces their productivity, according to research by Virginia Tech's National Institute for Personal Finance Employee Education. And within some workplaces the negative impact may even shoot as high as 40 or 50 percent, according to Virginia Tech researchers. By their estimate, workers waste 24 hours on the job every month dealing with money problems. The U.S. Navy also found significant indirect costs due to the financial problems of its service members.

The issue isn't necessarily about higher wages. Often it's about how employees can make the most of their wages. Many employees don't know how to manage their money, how to save it, even how to spend it wisely. Consequently, workers run up debts, make bad spending and investment decisions, and worry about their finances.

These financial problems fall right to the employer's bottom line. Struggling employees spend work time talking to creditors, co-workers and supervisors about their money problems. They come in late or call in sick in order to tend to financial difficulties. They also are more likely to suffer health problems, be injured on the job, steal from employers or quit work.

Workers with financial problems also hamper workplace retirement plans. Workers who don't manage their money well are less apt to participate in retirement plans, or will contribute less to plans. This limits the ability of other employees, especially the owner and higher-paid employees, to contribute the maximum possible.

Conversely, employees who feel more secure financially have fewer problems on the job, and are more loyal, focused, motivated and enthusiastic on the job. The notion of financially educating workers isn't a novel concept in the workplace.

Many companies have started providing workout facilities and health information to employees because healthier employees reduce employer healthcare costs. Why not financial education, as well?

In part, employers don't realize just how much employee financial problems affect the workplace. Also, employers have been skittish about providing financial education because of concerns about fiduciary liability. They worry that "education" could be construed as "advice" and that they could be sued if an employee suffers a financial problem.

Employers are especially worried about investment education. It's not a problem as long as the market continues, but employers fear that when the market inevitably sours, employees may come looking to them to recoup losses.

Financial education experts say these problems can be avoided by simply providing fundamental financial education through such avenues as workshops and seminars. The education programs should touch not only on investing, but fringe benefits, credit and money management, and consumer protection laws.

Virginia Tech researchers recently assessed the impact of financial education workshops at a large manufacturer and found that workshop participants reported making better financial decisions, improving their financial situation, increasing their 401(k) contributions, and, in the case of 34 percent of the participants, joining the 401(k) plan.

That goes right to the bottom line.

We wish Lisa and her family well.

Busy Red Cross Helps Communities

During the last fiscal year, the local chapter of the American Red Cross has been busy helping people.

* 2,342 people were transported 115,820 miles by 42 volunteer drivers to medical appointments.

* 128 classes were held instructing residents on First Aid and CPR.

* 174 classes were held instructing residents on Water Safety.

* Disaster relief was provided for 16 families.

Other community services included Babysitting Classes; School Health, Community Information Referrals, Health Fairs, Presentations and Demonstrations, Good Neighbor Sam Program, Vile of Life Program and Food Pantry.

Donations of money and services are always needed. Funds from United Way meet only part of their growing requirements.

The local chapter employs only a full time director and a part time office manager, so it relies heavily on volunteers. Ninety-two cents of every dollar is spent on community assistance.

Destination Imagination (DI) teams from Kewaskum and Farmington Elementary Schools have been preparing for March since September -- it's time for the DI Regional in New Holstein.

DI, similar to Odyssey of the Mind from previous years, requires students to create and perform their own imaginative skits based on certain criteria -- making scripts, costumes, and scenery, all on their own. Teams are judged on how well they met the criteria in addition to how creative and well-performed their skits were.

The FES team was required to create a skit showing the difficulties of parents raising a child of a different species. They put together a humorous skit about a Mexican pig species (javelinas) finding themselves in the snowy North.

Team members include Kate Conerton, Bekki Heberer, Josh Gerlach, Crystal Treptow, Jacob Turowski, Kevin Jacobi and Marissa Dehler. The team is coached by former district teacher, Mrs. Marlene Domasky.

KES attacked another challenge in which they were required to compose music and tell a story using no words. Theirs is based in the Arctic, complete with glaciers and a rising sun. The KES squad consists of Amanda Osswald, Brittany Aupperle, Samantha Marchant, Anna Rick, Erica Esser, Dylan Kenworthy, and Samantha Casselman and is coached by KES aide Mrs. Connie Schulist.

Child Restraint, Safety Belt Law Enforcement Effort Successful

Washington County Sheriff Jack Theusch and West Bend Police Chief James Schwartz join in announcing the success of the recent child restraint and safety belt law enforcement effort which took place during the month of February.

This combined effort hopefully increased the awareness of the vital importance of seatbelt and child restraint use. It also pointed out the need for an ongoing effort throughout our communities to continue to increase seat belt and child restraint usage.

The next enforcement effort titled Speed and Safety Belts, will occur during the month of April 2000, and more information will be available on that effort in late March. It is noted that these efforts are supported by funds made available through a federal grant.

The Board of Directors of West Bend Mutual Insurance Company has announced the election of John R. Dedrick to chairman of the board and chief executive officer, and Anthony J. "Tony" Warren to president and chief operating officer.

Dedrick is a graduate of Drake University. He began his career with West Bend Mutual in 1961, serving in a variety of roles in underwriting and marketing. He was elected president of the company in 1982.

A graduate of the University of Kansas, Warren spent most of his career with Continental Insurance Company, serving in many capacities. Upon the sale of Continental to CNA, he became president of Illinois National Insurance Company, a subsidiary of AIG. Most recently, he served as chief operating officer of Willis Corroon in Chicago.

"I'm excited to have Tony join our team. He is a perfect match for our culture and brings an added dimension to our management team. As for my role, I have no plans to retire and look forward to remaining actively involved in all aspects of our organization," Dedrick observed.

Warren commented, "I first learned of West Bend

Mutual 30 years ago when I managed the Madison, Wisconsin office for Continental Insurance Company. This company has made enormous strides in those 30 years. I believe strongly in the mutual company concept and the independent agency system.

"This company's track record speaks for itself. It is now one of the strongest regional property/casualty companies in the country. It is important to emphasize my role is to help the management team further expand the competitive advantage it already enjoys. I am anxious to personally meet the associates and agents who have played a role in building this fine company."

Amanda McDonald Participates In Habitat for Humanity

Amanda McDonald

RIPON - Thirteen Ripon College students, including Amanda R. McDonald, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of West Bend, will spend spring break in Birmingham, Alabama, participating in the 2000 Habitat for Humanity Collegiate Challenge.

This is the sixth year Ripon students will participate in Habitat for Humanity. Previous trips have been to Jackson, Mississippi, Tampa, Florida, Bend, Oregon, Chicago and Cleveland.

McDonald, a sophomore Spanish major, will help the group renovate homes as a part of Habitat for Humanity's 21st Century Program. The group will be led by adult volunteers who work for Habitat for Humanity on a year-round basis.

"Habitat for Humanity raises student awareness about homelessness and low income around the country," said senior Melissa Stittsworth, a student participant. "It is a personally fulfilling opportunity to help in bettering our world."

Habitat for Humanity is a nonprofit, international organization. The program, which was started in 1976 by Millard and Linda Fuller, helps to provide housing for people in need, while encouraging all people to lend a hand in eliminating problems such as homelessness.

Volunteer workers and individual donations help Habitat for Humanity raise money to fulfill its goals. The homes that are built are sold to low-income families at cost, with an interest-free mortgage.

Ripon College, founded in 1851, is a private, liberal arts and sciences college offering 30 majors with a curricular emphasis on oral and written communication and problem-solving skills. Ripon enrolls 750 students from throughout the United States and more than a dozen foreign countries.

Wayne Crusaders 4-H Club News

By Allison Janz

Things this month are just starting to roll. To begin with there was Celebrate Families Week at the YMCA. It was a lot of fun. Wayne Crusaders handed out keys to the treasure chest. If your key fit and opened it, you won a prize. Many people won prizes.

Next we had a Record Book Rally at the new fairgrounds. Some members of our club went there. They gave an interesting report on the improved record book. A record book is a book of all the records, charts and stories you did that year for your projects.

We had the February Wayne Crusaders meeting at Wayne School. We discussed various topics. One is the Bowl-A-Thon on March 19. Then they talked and reminded the youth of the Youth Conference that their applications were due March 1 at the 4-H office.

Also the Communication and Arts Festival is April 2 at the fairgrounds from 1 to 4 p.m. At the art fair you can enter in categories such as demonstrations, poster, speech, craft, and photography items. After the meeting, the club participated in some grueling volleyball and ate and drank refreshing snacks.

This is a very busy month since most all the projects are starting up in preparation for the fair at the New Fair Park. So far the Wayne Crusaders enjoyed themselves and will continue to do so with all the things to do in March. We hope you have a good month till next time.

Controlled Burns Proposed in Counties

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources is proposing to conduct controlled burns this spring at several locations in Washington County and eastern Dodge County.

Burn areas are up to 535 acres in size and are located at Theresa, Allenton and Jackson Wildlife Areas, the Loew Lake Unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, and on land not owned by the state.

Controlled burns are conducted to increase plant diversity and stem density on grasslands, for site preparation for seeding warm season grasses, to set back undesirable woody vegetation, and to improve a waterfowl brood and migration habitat. A primary goal is to improve nesting and feeding habitat for bird species such as mallards, blue-winged teal, pheasants, bobolinks, dickcissels and grasshopper sparrows.

This type of project does not have the potential to cause significant adverse environmental impacts: therefore, the Department has made a preliminary determination that an environmental impact statement will not be required for this project.

Burn proposals may be reviewed at the Pike Lake DNR office (3544 Kettle Moraine Road, Hartford, WI 53027). Comments regarding the burns should be directed to Tom Issac, Wildlife Biologist, or Edward Eilert, Wildlife Technician by March 17, 2000.

Celebration of Spring: Creative Process Unfolding

As we witness the seasons, metaphorically we learn about our own innate creative process of change -- life, death and rebirth.

Spring, eagerly awaited and warmly welcomed, is a symbolic release from the confines of winter (death). Newness surrounds us, innocent wonder fills our souls with joy. This workshop will provide an opportunity to bring into conscious awareness a shift within ourselves and to nurture our own personal growth.

"Celebration of Spring" is facilitated by Karen McCormick who is an Art Therapist teaching in the graduate art therapy program at Mount Mary College in Milwaukee. She works with seasonal imagery in oil pastels.

This program will be held on Monday, March 20, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., at the Center for Health and Well-Being, 1755 E. Johnson Street, Fond du Lac. Registration fee is $14.00.

This program is part of a series of programs on wellness offered through the Congregation of Sisters of St. Agnes. To register or to receive a brochure, please call Carol Craig at 923-4501.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

Michael A. Guido Metter, Georgia

A little girl asked her friend, "Why does your grandma read the Bible so much?"

"Because," she explained, "she's cramming for her finals."

No, she wasn't cramming for her finals. She was doing what she always did - reading her Bible every day. And that's what you should do.

In it you'll find joy for every sorrow, grace for every trial, and hope for all despair.

The Bible is a guidebook for every road, a chart for every sea, a balm for every wound.

It's an armory of heavenly weapons, a bank of exhaustless wealth and a source of unfailing strength.

Read it every day. A chapter a day will keep Satan at bay.

Are You Sleeping

By Ami

This is the month we question if it has chosen to "come in as a lion"...and what about its "going out?" Will it go out as a lion? Many of these sayings of the "old timer" are slowly being erased from what we call modern existence. And yet, some seem to cling to our every day living...and rightly so. Like, April showers bring May flowers! or, what ever???

But speaking about May flowers somehow touches our hearts with a hearty wish that the magic of springtime would soon appear, lifting our spirits with its eternal message of NEW HOPE thru NEW GROWTH! Somehow in the depth of our bodies we all have the urge to enjoy the reappearance of nature's presentation of wild flowers and blossoming fruit trees. A certain reminder that the world is not ever chained to the dormancy of the cold and bitterness of the seemingly endless winter's chill.

Indeed, the forever uplifting new growth message of Mother Nature likely is the "for certain" most gloriously inspiring factor in the living out of our tenuous human earthly existence. Ever to be experienced as to the trust we can place in our Maker's plan for the operations of this earth we are to administrate.

Are you sleeping is the question we might put to the bear families of the forests. Or to our three year old warmly snuggled in his cozy bed...including our beds of tulips and daffodils...If not alert to the world about us, we just might miss some of the most glorious messages which are given to sweeten our everyday lives. Or cause us to miss entirely the opportunity life itself provides us wherein we might add to worldwide beauty and inspiration.

Thankfully we embrace the month of March with or without the lion question for March ever welcomes the first robins of spring and the buds that become flowers plus the golden warmth of beautiful sun rises and sun sets. A hearty good morning to you and you!

Millennium Oatmeal Cookie Wins $10,000

(NAPS)—Millennium Mocha Rocky Road Oatmeal Cookies won the $10,000 Grand Prize and the designation "Oatmeal Cookie of the New Millennium" in the 10th annual Quaker Oatmeal "Bake It Better With Oats" Recipe Contest. Julie Veith of Wichita, Kan., a first-time contestant, scratch baker and cookie lover, entered her recipe in the "Cookies, Cookies, Cookies" category.

The millennium cookie features classic flavors and captures the personal indulgence trend that will bridge the end of the 20th century and the beginning of the 21st. Rich chocolate, crunchy toasted walnuts, and soft marshmallow punctuate each bite of these comfy, chewy-crisp oatmeal cookies. Subtle coffee overtones keep them from being overly sweet, and they're equally delicious with a glass of milk or a cup of java.

Veith plans to use her $10,000 prize for a few home improvements and a dream vacation to Colorado with her husband and two oatmeal cookie-loving sons.

Millennium Mocha Rocky Road Oatmeal Cookies about 3 dozen

1 cup (2 sticks) butter, softened
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1-½ teaspoons vanilla
1 tablespoon instant coffee granules
1 tablespoon hot water
1-¾ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt

2-½ cups Quaker oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1-½ cups semisweet chocolate chips
1-½ cups coarsely chopped toasted walnuts
1-½ cups miniature marshmallows
Note: For old fashioned oats, add 2 tablespoons additional flour.

Heat oven to 350°F. Spray cookie sheets with cooking spray. In large bowl, beat butter and sugars with electric mixer until creamy. Add eggs and vanilla; beat well. Dissolve coffee granules in hot water. Add to butter mixture; mix well. Add combined flour, baking soda and salt; mix well. Stir in oats, chocolate chips and walnuts. To shape cookies, flatten 1 heaping tablespoon of dough in palm of hand. Arrange 4 marshmallows in center; wrap dough around marshmallows to cover completely. Repeat with remaining dough and marshmallows. Space cookies 2 inches apart on cookie sheets. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until edges are golden brown. (Do not overbake; centers of cookies should be soft.) Let stand 2 minutes on cookie sheets; remove to wire racks. Cool completely. Store tightly covered.

Echinacea Could Help Seed the Herbal Industry for the State

Echinacea has been called the flower with power. It's widely heralded for its ability to stimulate the body's immune system against infections, and it can even help your digestion.

But it also has the possibility to become an alternative cash crop for Wisconsin farmers. A recent study, part of a state agricultural grant, found there is a strong and viable base to develop both small and large commercial Echinacea enterprises in the state. The study, conducted by Drs. Robert and Jeanne Burull of Emery Greenwood Inc., also laid out some of the groundwork for producers who want to pursue this agricultural option.

The Burulls used a $22,500 Agricultural Development and Diversification grant from the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection in 1998 to develop an objective and credible study regarding Echinacea's growth potential and financial feasibility.

As a result of the project, they conducted a one-day educational seminar attended by nearly 120 people in spring 1999 and created an Echinacea production handbook for prospective growers.

The publication, "The Echinacea (Coneflower) Feasibility Study and Growers Guide," is a complete literature review and resource guide. It includes general product descriptions, recommended grower practices, market research and manufacturing availability. It is available from the Burulls at cost.

"From this broad research, we feel that Wisconsin has a strong, viable, and feasible base for developing both small and large commercial Echinacea and other medicinal herb enterprises," Bob Burull said.

Wisconsin already has a small, but developing herbal industry, and Burull believes the state, with its farming tradition, rural population and greenhouse entrepreneurs, has a considerable base to build its commercial Echinacea industry upon.

"We need cooperative development between potential buyers, dealers, distributors and growers. To raise Wisconsin's identity as an herbal source, we also need to look at profitable quantity and quality levels, instruction, education and promotion."

"This project may provide the foundation for the Echinacea and a broader herbal industry to develop in Wisconsin," said Stan Shaw, administrator of DATCP's marketing division. "It could also be a piece to the larger herbal market puzzle. Given the opportunity to develop, an herbal market could provide new opportunities and potential second profit centers to some Wisconsin farmers."

"A vigorous interest apparently abounds for more herbal education, knowledge and markets," Burull said. He noted the seminar had an overwhelming and enthusiastic standing-room-only audience -- in fact, more than 100 people were turned away due to lack of space -- and the domestic herbal consumption market has more than quadrupled since 1996.

Burull noted that some Wisconsin farmers have been active in starting Echinacea as a new cash crop as part of their full- or part-time fieldwork. They grow Echinacea and other medicinal herbs on half-acre to 20-acre parcels, and some have implemented plans to sell unprocessed herbal products and value-added products such as Echinacea extracts, Echinacea pills and herbal teas.

More information about the Echinacea project or to request a copy of "The Echinacea (Coneflower) Feasibility Study and Growers Guide" is available by calling Bob Burull, Emery Greenwood, Inc., at 608/873-6222 or by emailing him at burulljr@terracom.net. More information about ADD grants is available by calling 608/224-5136.

The ADD program is directed by the DATCP marketing division. Established in 1989, the program provides grants for new and innovative approaches to increase agricultural productivity and profits. The program has awarded $2.91 million for 157 projects and has generated about $60 million in economic growth for Wisconsin agriculture.

Taking Steps To A Healthy Heart

(NAPS)—New Year's isn't the only time to make a resolution for better health. February is Heart Month. March is Nutrition Month. And the list goes on. Anytime is a good time to resolve to improve and maintain your heart health. Start by taking these five easy steps:

1. Eat a healthy diet. The American Heart Association suggests that healthy Americans two years of age and older should limit their total fat intake to no more than 30 percent of their calories. Cholesterol intake should be less than 300 milligrams per day and sodium intake no more than 2,400 milligrams (2.4 grams) per day.

2. Take a multivitamin. "A growing body of research shows us the link between vitamins, overall nutrition and heart health," says Edmund H. Sonnenblick, M.D., Chief Emeritus, Division of Cardiology, Jack D. Weiler Hospital of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

Vitamin formulas created to support heart health, such as Theragran Heart Right, provide all the essential vitamins and key minerals plus micronutrients that medical research suggests may have cardiovascular benefit: Vitamins C, E, B6 and B12, folic acid, carotenoids, selenium and magnesium. "Clearly micronutrient supplementation can never replace a healthy diet or lifestyle, but given the importance of cardiovascular nutrition, it only makes sense to take a supplement," says Weiler.

3. Exercise. Physical activity contributes to health by reducing the heart rate, decreasing the risk for cardiovascular disease and reducing the amount of bone loss that is associated with age and osteoporosis. It can increase basal metabolic rate, reduce appetite, and help in the reduction of body fat. Sara Donovan, walking expert and founder of WalkSport America, Inc., a company that delivers high-tech tracking systems for walkers, says it's important to work up to walking aerobically. "Walking is easy, can be done anywhere, and doesn't require expensive equipment," says Donovan.

4. Don't smoke. Nearly one in five deaths from cardiovascular diseases is caused by smoking. Non-smokers also die as a result of exposure to environmental tobacco smoke. The nicotine in cigarette smoke causes blood vessels to narrow, which can increase the chances of having a heart attack.

5. Almost everyone deals with stress each day. The trick is to learn how to deal with it. Experts suggest relaxation techniques such as meditation or yoga. Another good idea is to get away from it all every once in a while. Find a method that works for you and stick with it.

Consumers seeking further information about Theragran Heart Right can call 1-800-468-7746. For more information on heart health, check out the American Heart Association web site at www.americanheart.org.

Land Preservation Tools a Hot Topic at Foundation Meeting

Members and partners of Mid-America Geographic Foundation (MAGF) met to consider forming a land trust at a meeting held at the UW-FDL campus on February 17th. The meeting was sponsored by MAGF. Representatives from Sheboygan Area Land Conservancy, the Drumlin Protection Alliance, town of Empire, Mid America Geographic Foundation, Fond du Lac Historical Society, Fond du Lac County Environmental Coalition, and land owners interested in land protection attended.

Vicki Elkin, executive director of Gathering Waters, a land conservation organization, spoke about land trust tools like conservation easements, PDR (purchase of development rights), and land gifts. "Land trusts are an opportunity to protect resources that are important to the community. It is a way for private citizens to preserve the land they love for future generations. It also enables you to preserve your own land without state or federal involvement" Vicki said.

Land trusts are community based land conservation organizations that work to protect land and water resources for the benefit of all. They are funded largely through membership dues and donations. Over 40 land trusts now exist in Wisconsin.

Herman Bender, president of Mid-America Geographic Foundation provided some background for the forum; "One of the original intentions of our organization was to protect areas of cultural and environmental value. This includes archaeological, ethnic, and historical sites. We are now exploring the possibilities of playing a stronger role in this area" Herman said. There was considerable interests for archaeological, drumlin, river corridors, and farm preservation at the meeting.

Attendees heard about communities that developed their own PDR programs, a tool that keeps land in private ownership while controlling development. The town of Dunn near Madison supports a PDR program with a property tax assessment approved by the town's citizens. Land in the PDR program stays private and PDR payments go to property owners in the town; everyone benefits in some way.

What's your opinion?

If you live in a rural area do you want it to stay rural?

If you hunt, do you want area land to hunt 10 years down the road?

If you farm, do you think it would benefit the farming community to seek township support for a program like DDR?

Land trusts along with other tools can protect and preserve the land that we love. Your support, coupled with community planning, will go a long way in getting the job done.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

Michael A. Guido Metter, Georgia

Thomas Jackson was a Confederate general. He led his brigade in the first battle of Bull Run.

His men faced what seemed to be overwhelming odds. But General Jackson and his men stood their ground firmly.

"There stands Jackson like a stone wall!" cried an officer. That name fit him so well that he was called "Stonewall" Jackson after that.

Wanted: Christians who'll stand like a stone wall against Satan and sin.

The Bible warns, "Keep your eyes open for spiritual danger; stand true to the Lord; act like men; be strong!" Dare you?

AAA Wisconsin Offers Tips to Cut Gas Costs

To help ease sticker shock at the gas pumps -- prices are more than 50 cents a gallon higher than a year ago -- AAA Wisconsin offers a dozen easy-to-follow, money-saving suggestions:

- * Slow down. Even a five-mile-per-hour decrease in speed can affect your gas mileage. Watch your tachometer to gauge engine performance.
- * Keep tires properly inflated. Under-inflated tires can cut fuel economy by a half percent per pound of pressure below recommended levels.
- * Give your car a full tune-up, as recommended by the manufacturer, including a regular oil and oil filter change. A poorly tuned engine can increase fuel by up to 50 percent or more.
- * Do not purchase mid-grade or premium gasoline unless it is considered necessary by the vehicle's manufacturer. Using self-service regular fuel compared to premium can save an average of 17 cents per gallon.
- * Don't let the vehicle idle for more than a minute. Idling consumes half-a-gallon to one gallon of gas per hour and wastes more fuel than restarting the engine.

- * Accelerate gently, brake gradually and avoid hard stops.
- * Combine errands into one trip or go to location to take care of as many errands as possible.
- * When traveling, avoid excess weight and reduce use of car top carriers and trailers. Additional weight and vehicle add-ons have a negative effect on aerodynamics, causing engines to work harder and burn more gas.
- * Carpool when possible.
- * Travel during off-peak times, avoiding rush hour.
- * Check the engine oil level when buying gas to be sure the engine is lubricated properly.
- * Large trucks, which pull heavy loads and are less aerodynamic than cars, see even greater gains in fuel efficiency with decreased speed. For every one mph increase above 55 mph, fuel efficiency generally decreases 2.2 percent.

Kewaskum JV Boys Basketball Season Report

The 1999-2000 season was a successful season for the Kewaskum High School junior varsity boys basketball team as they finished with an overall record of 11 wins and nine losses.

The Indians finished in the middle of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference with a 6-8 league record and dominated their non-conference foes, going 5-1, with the only loss coming by two points.

The green and white got off to a fast start, going 5-0 in the early season before slipping to 5-2 going into the holiday break. The difficulty of playing in the EWC was evident as the Indians struggled to keep their league record near the .500 mark for the rest of the season.

In the conference, the JV Indians swept both New Holstein and Sheboygan Falls and split the pair of games with Campbellsport and Roncalli.

Highlights of the season included a win at Campbellsport in which the Indians mounted a great comeback, holding the Cougars scoreless in the fourth quarter.

Another highlight was avenging an earlier loss to Roncalli as Kewaskum played a great team game. The second half of the game at Sheboygan Falls holds fond memories for the team as they overcame a halftime deficit to soundly defeat the Falcons on their own home floor.

Statistically the Indians averaged 47.4 points per game, while allowing 44.4 points per contest. Tony Fitts finished the season as the team's leading scorer averaging 10.0 points per game. The green and white had great offensive balance as Josh Repovsch averaged 9.9 and Tom Ogi averaged 9.4 points per game, respectively.

Ogi led the team in field goal percentage, shooting 56.6 percent on two point goals, and 56.2 percent overall. Josh Repovsch made his three point attempts worthwhile for the Indians as he was accurate on 42.4 percent of his tries from behind the arc. Chris Canter led the team in assists despite missing four games due to injury and playing with the varsity.

On the defensive side of things, Nathan Fechter recorded more blocked shots than the rest of the team as he swatted away 51 of the opponents' shot attempts. Tony Fitts had the stickiest fingers on the squad as he picked the opponents' pockets 49 times during the season.

The battle on the glass is where games are often won and lost, and the Indians won the war on the boards for the season averaging 27.4 rebounds per game as a team compared to their opponents at 23.9 rebounds per game.

Tom Ogi notched honors as the individual rebounding leader on the offensive and defensive boards, snaring 61 offensive and 74 defensive rebounds for a team-leading total of 135 rebounds (6.8 per game).

"I would like to thank all of these young men and their families for their commitment to Kewaskum basketball this season," commented Coach Jason Piittmann. "These boys worked very hard and grew as basketball players, as students and as young men."

Spring Turkey Harvest Permits Issued to 115,607

MADISON -- A total of 115,607 hunters received harvest permits for Wisconsin's spring turkey season out of the 135,350 people who applied for the spring 2000 season, which runs April 12 - May 21 in six, five-day time periods.

Hunters must apply for specific time periods and turkey management zones, and the most coveted times are the early periods when male turkeys, or toms, are most actively seeking females and are most easily lured into gun range with a turkey call, says Darcy Kind, assistant upland game ecologist for the Department of Natural Resources.

"Hunters who indicate multiple time periods on their applications stand a better chance of drawing a permit and hunters who were willing to accept later time periods in other management zones were more likely to receive more than one permit," Kind says. "This year, 15,505 second permits were issued."

In Wisconsin, approximately 90 percent of the wild turkey range is in private ownership. Permits are allocated according to a preference system based on residence and landownership. Landowners have first preference for 30 percent of the available permits in each management zone. Residents who did not receive a permit the previous year, have the next highest preference followed by other residents then non-resident landowners and then other non-residents.

"The wild turkey is an amazing success story in Wisconsin," says Darcy Kind, DNR assistant upland game ecologist. "In 1976 wild turkeys from Missouri were first introduced into areas of Vernon County. The state continued to import and release turkeys into suitable habitat until 1993. Since then, the wild turkey population around the state has flourished to a population that now approaches 250,000."

Included in the DNR mailing to successful applicants is a pink envelope for donations to the Wisconsin Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation. The donation will go directly to Landowner Appreciation Days. This event is held at several locations across southern Wisconsin during June in an effort to maintain good landowner-hunter relations. This is the only event of its kind in the United States, and it gives landowners, turkey hunters and DNR representatives the opportunity to get to know one another.

Birds traveling in a "V" formation can fly more efficiently than a lone bird can because formation-flying lessens the drag (the air pressure that pushes against the wings).
