Tempers Flare as Parents Demand Answers to Baseball Dilemma

The former Kewaskum baseball diamond has now been destroyed to make room for the new Kewaskum Elementary School. Concerned parents and taxpayers now ask for answers as to where baseball will be played next season.

By Andrew R. Kuehl
 Staff Writer/Photographer

Angry parents confronted the Kewaskum School Board Monday night to get answers as to where the baseball program is heading. Vice President Jon Downs started the discussion by saying he wanted to hear the comments but not to go on and on. "I want to hear new comments," said Downs. He further stated he and the board did not want to listen to baseball until 11 p.m.

Diane Calliari, mother of baseball player Jason Calliari, led the parents in the discussion and handed out a list of 14 items needing attention that head baseball coach Mark Heise had given to the board members and administration on November 8.

In addition to that list was a petition signed by 144 people asking the Kewaskum School District to address the difficulties imposed upon the Kewaskum High School baseball program due to the demolition of the varsity diamond, and try to begin to resolve as to where the KHS baseball program will be able to practice and play on a regular permanent basis.

Calliari also informed the board that Monday night's game against Kiel was almost forfeited because the diamond (at the Kiwanis park in Kewaskum) did not have fenced in dug-outs. Kewaskum won the game but Kiel's coach is protesting it.

Downs then passed the item to Athletic Director John Wolfenberg to address Calliari's concerns.

Wolfenberg stated that this was a "stop-gap" measure until the problem is remedied, later drifting from the issue.

Calliari retorted by saying she had called Wolfenberg several times and he had yet to give her a straight answer.

Wolfenberg looked at her, laughed, and stated, "Have you ever stopped to see me?"

Downs immediately stopped the discussion between the two. Calliari and other parents were furious, while board members were forced to sit in silence.

Greg Ogi spoke on behalf of his sons who are in the baseball program. He told the board it has been a difficult season for the boys emotionally. He said he could live with having a season without a facility if he knew there were definite plans for another field.

Downs thought perhaps this issue was something that the building and grounds committee needed to investigate and maybe form a sub-committee to get cost and plans to continue the program and run it efficiently.

The idea of moving the field behind the tennis courts was raised but at a cost of $400,000, mostly for fill and tiling.

Another parent asked why the fill from the former field could not be used to cut the cost.

Again board members said nothing.

In an interview with Superintendent Wayne Graczyk, he stated that most of that will be used for landscaping the new school, to improve the football field and to fill in low spots behind the tennis courts for the soccer team.

Downs brought up the idea of having another referendum but, passing it would be difficult especially since the field would be located on swamp land.

Ann Wicklund, a member of the referendum steering committee said that when she campaigned for the passing of the referendum she was told the baseball problem was solved.

Wicklund also asked why it was cheaper to send a student to the Campbellsport School District, who have beautiful facilities then Kewaskum.

Again the board fell silent.

Downs shot down the issue saying it was on the agenda for the Building and Grounds committee on Monday at 6 p.m. at the district administrative building.

The meeting ended with parents again left in the dark in hopes of action at the Building and Grounds meeting.

Gracyzk also stated that he hoped that the school could work cooperatively with the village's park and rec department to make the 2001 season run smoothly.

Moraine Park First Technical College In State to Offer Online Registration

Registering for classes is now more convenient than ever with the introduction of online registration at Moraine Park Technical College.

"Moraine Park is the first technical college in the state to offer online registration," said Larry Pasquini, the College's registrar. "The Internet registration is a collaborative effort by Moraine Park's Student Services, Informational Technology and Academic Affairs departments and is designed to improve and expand registration services and options. The first online registrations were taken on May 8 and we have seen a steady increase since then. We're very excited to be able to offer this service and it appears are students are too."

Brian Tesch, Moraine Park's webmaster said it took six months to complete the site. He says the user-friendly site can be entered with a social security number, student identification or pin number (secret password chosen by the student). Students can view a copy of their unofficial transcripts, course schedules from past and present semesters, check financial aid status and register from this secured site.

"Students are able to receive immediate feedback when registering," said Pasquini. "Class prerequisites and availability are directly accessible to students. If a class is full, you have the option of searching for an open section or being put on a waiting list." The bookstore is also offering students the option of purchasing their textbooks online.

Registration can be completed in a matter of minutes by entering a birth date, the course number and payment method. Payments can be made directly online with either a Visa or Master Card. Cash or check payments are also acceptable and must be received within three days to ensure enrollment in the courses at any of the College's three campuses (Beaver Dam, Fond du Lac, or West Bend).

At the end of the session, students can print out their list of courses for confirmation. "We are hoping this will enable students to feel more comfortable in choosing classes and finding a time that is convenient for them," said Pasquini. "Everyone is encouraged to browse through the site to see what Moraine Park has to offer and what we are all about."

If you are interested in Moraine Park's online registration you can visit them at www.morainepark.com. For questions call Larry Pasquini, registrar at (920) 924-3193.

Scholarships Available for Kewaskum Camp Invention

Kewaskum High School is the location for the area's Camp Invention, a national summer day camp that encourages children to develop their innate creative abilities. The one week camp held at the high school July 24-28, 2000 is for children entering second through sixth grade in the 2000-2001 school year.

Camp Invention is designed to promote creative learning by providing children with hands-on, interactive activities that encourage creative solutions. Children participate in five invention modules each day, which include: disassembling old machinery and use the parts to make their own invention; crash landing on an imaginary planet and figuring out how to get back to earth; creating an amusement park ride; and searching for hidden treasures.

The camp was started in 1990 by the National Inventors Hall of Fame in Akron, Ohio, a nationally recognized nonprofit resource center creativity. In 1999 Camp Invention became a joint project with the U.S. patent and Trademark Office and the National Inventors Hall of Fame. Camp Invention was introduced to the Milwaukee area in 1999 and this summer more than 47 regions nationwide will host camp.

The camps are a partnership between Camp Invention and the local school. Teachers serve as the camp directors and teach the units. Local high school and college students serve as counselors. The camps feature a low staff/camper ratio with one staff member for every eight campers.

Connie Schulist, Kewaskum Camp Invention Director, said "The interactive activities spark the imaginations of children while combining science, math, history and the arts - but most of all fun. They get kids to think out-of-the-box."

The $180 camp fee includes snacks and a T-shirt. A 10 percent discount is offered for siblings. Scholarships are available making the final cost to campers as low as $50 for the week camp. For further information about scholarships call Stephanie Stortz, Regional Coordinator at 1-888-697-8937 (toll free) or Connie Schulist at 262-626-4253. Visit the Web site at www.invent.org.

"I am proud of the work I have done to bring Washington County's records into the 21st Century," Gonnering said. "We have taken many positive steps including computerization of the receipting system, the addition of optical imaging of recorded documents, and the computerization of our tract indexing system."

"I believe that great progress has been made in making Washington County's land records more organized, usable and accessible," Gonnering said. "If I am re-elected, I will spend my next term bringing the County's vital records up to the same standard."

Arthritis Foundation Offers Golf Tips

Do you anxiously await the warm summer months spent at area golf courses? Is driving down the fairway and sinking a birdie or two your passion? Well, don't let arthritis keep you from enjoying your favorite pastime.

Golf is an adaptable sport that can be easily tailored to meet the physical capabilities of almost anyone. In fact, golf can even have health-enhancing effects. Walking at a moderate pace on level ground or a hilly golf course can provide health benefits, such as weight loss and improved cholesterol levels.

If you have arthritis, playing golf can also keep your upper body -- trunk, hips and shoulders -- mobile, plus helps you maintain and build hand strength.

Adaptation is the key to playing golf if you have arthritis. With some easy changes, you can continue to play at the level you enjoy. Grips, shoes, balls and clubs can all be adjusted to fit your specific needs and abilities.

In addition, more and more retailers are offering products that are specially created for those with arthritis. Visit your local pro shop or golf specialty store to view the latest products.

Check out the following tips that will help make your golfing experience easier.

- * Use a lower compression ball so there is more "give" to the ball when you hit it.

- * Use clubs with lightweight graphite shafts to help absorb shock better.

- * Use a perimeter-weighted head on the club to also reduce shock.

- * Build up the grip size on your clubs with epoxy tape to help you hold them easier and to reduce stress and pain on your hand joints.

- * Wear wrist braces and gloves on both hands to stabilize your joints.

- * Wear comfortable walking shoes or spikeless golf shoes.

Once on the green, other adaptations can be made to help make the game safer and more enjoyable for you. Keep these suggestions in mind as you get ready to play.

- * Always stretch before you play and take 10-15 practice swings off the practice range before you reach the first tee.

- * Use tees whenever you hit the ball to avoid striking the ground and injuring your joints.

- * If you have back pain, you may find that the "classic" swing if more comfortable for you than the modern or reverse-C swing.

- * Play from the 150-yard markers if you begin to get tired.

- * Use energy-saving techniques while on the course. Pull your golf bag instead of carrying it, or rent a motorized cart instead of walking.

- * Look for a nearby nine-hole course to play instead of an 18-hole course.

Exercise is important when trying to manage your arthritis. Playing golf is just one of the many ways you can keep fit and have fun, while enjoying your favorite sport. Don't let arthritis keep you from participating in the things you enjoy most. So follow some of these tips and have fun teeing off this summer at your favorite nearby golf course.

Warm Weather Fuels Swimmer's Itch

SUPERIOR - With warm weather raising water temperatures and drawing crowds to the beaches, Department of Natural Resources water quality officials are alerting people to take precautions to avoid suffering the swimmer's itch present in some Wisconsin lakes.

Technically known as Schistosoma dermatitis, swimmer's itch is caused by an organism that penetrates human skin and causes red, itching, bite-like welts within several hours after the swimmer leaves the water. The skin irritation may last from two days to several weeks.

Swimmer's itch starts occurring on many lakes as water temperatures reach the level at which the organism - a juvenile stage of a parasite flatworm - releases from its snail host, and may contact humans as it seeks a second host, preferably a bird of mammal, says Frank Koshere, a DNR water quality specialist.

"Usually, swimmer's itch occurs in stages across the state as the water temperatures of variously-sized lakes warms up," he says. "The big lakes warm more slowly and normally start reporting problems around the Fourth of July."

Jeff Bode, chief of the DNR Lakes and Wetlands Section, says swimmer's itch has been reported in past years in northwestern, southern and southeastern Wisconsin. Devil's Lake, the Waupaca Chain of Lakes and Rock Lake are among the lakes that have reported irritant in past years.

The adult stage of the troublesome organism lives in ducks and in muskrats and other suitable mammals, and sheds its eggs in the host's feces. The eggs hatch in the water and become free-swimming organisms that seek out a second host, a particular type of snail. The organism develops further in the snail, and then releases into the water to seek a bird of mammal host when water temperatures first reach their near-maximum level. Sometimes, the organism, known in this stage as cercariae, comes into contact with humans and tries to use them as a host.

Once the organism penetrates human skin, it is quickly killed by the body's natural defense mechanism, but the cercariae releases enzymes that continue to irritate the skin for up to several weeks, depending on the individual's susceptibility, Bode says.

Studies have shown that 30 to 40 percent of people who come in contact with the parasites are sensitive and experience irritation, Koshere says. Small children playing in shallow water are most susceptible because of the alternate wetting and drying of the arms, legs and waist area most prone to infection.

To reduce the chance of contracting swimmer's itch:

- * Swim rather than play or wade in shallow water to reduce exposure.
- * Avoid swimming onshore when winds are likely to carry cercariae into the beach.
- * Vigorously towel off immediately after leaving the water to crush the organism before it can penetrate the skin.
- * Some sunscreens and lotions reduce the infections, however, nothing has been found to be completely effective.

Once the irritation has developed, various soothing lotions or ointments may help relieve the itching. For severe cases, a physician may prescribe antihistamines and topical steroid creams.

There is no effective way for people to eliminate the problems on their beach, Koshere says. Attempts at treatments to kill either the cercariae or their snail hosts are ineffective because the cercariae can drift long distances from non-treated areas.

"In Wisconsin, it's best to regard swimmer's itch in the same manner as mosquitoes, wood ticks and deer flies - there really is nothing that can be done about them, but they shouldn't discourage us from enjoying the outdoors," he says.

For more information contact Frank Koshere at (715) 392-0807.

Old-Fashioned Day in the Park

Everyone is invited to take a step back in time to the year 1900 with the Centennial Old-Fashioned Day in the Park on Sunday, July 16. The event will be held at the Mauthe Lake Recreation Area in the Northern Kettle Moraine State Forest from 11:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Come enjoy a Sunday afternoon next to beautiful Mauthe Lake and celebrate the Centennial Anniversary of the Wisconsin State Park System. You'll be able to play some old-time games including Hoops and Sticks, Races, Egg and Spoon Races and Sack Races. Create a craft from the past such as a paper fan, silhouettes or leaf-printing wrapping paper. Visit with old-time artisans and try your hand at corn shelling or cross-cut sawing a log.

From 1:00 to 3:30 p.m., Wisconsin folksinger and songsmith David HB Drake will appear in concert for the whole family to enjoy. David HB Drake has been called a "gentle troubadour" and an "elemental folksinger." The waters of the Great Lakes flow in his songs, feeding the rich Wisconsin prairie where his music takes root. His love of the earth, of good work, and of each other blend in an afternoon of original songs and works by contemporary singer/songwriters in the folk tradition. He'll be sure to bring a smile to the faces of young and old alike.

The Long Lake Fishing Club will be selling food and drinks. The event is free, but a state park admission sticker is required to enter the Mauthe Lake Recreation Area. The Centennial Old-Fashioned Day in the Park will be held rain or shine.

The Northern Kettle Moraine State Forest is located about 40 miles north of Milwaukee and 17 miles south of Fond du Lac off of Hwy. 45. To find Mauthe Lake from Hwy 45, turn north onto Hwy 67. Letters to the Editor

Letter to The Editor

To the Editor,

County Fair is nearly here! The Silent Auction to benefit the Washington County 4-H Leaders Association will again be held at the 2000 Fair.

We are asking friends of 4-H to donate these items: crafts, tools, art, plants, wreaths, books, toys, certificates for services or any items folks would like for their home or family. Bring these to the new Fair Park Pavilion from Monday afternoon, the 24th of June, until the Fair is underway.

The auction items are displayed next to a sheet of paper where folks raise the last bid. On Sunday afternoon, bidding stops between 3:30 and 4:30 when an alarm clock rings. After the 4-H Committee assembles the buyers' items, the highest bidder can pick up and pay.

The money is used to help with expenses for meetings and trips and for scholarships for camp, and for leader training.

Any questions, call Marge Slaughter, chair of the Silent Auction at 262-644-6274.

Thanks for your help! We'll see you at the fair!

Sincerely,
Marge Slaughter

Dear Editor:

As parents we hear people say over and over again, "Youth make better adults when they are involved in organized sports. Children learn sportsmanship, dedication success and teamwork. They learn how to work hard to get what they want in life." As a parent, I believe it is my responsibility to make my children good, active citizens in our community. That is why I chose to spend hours taking my son to practices and ball-games over the past 11 years. It was easy because there were so many communities who supported the program such as Kewaskum, Wayne, Farmington, Batavia, Newburg and Beechwood. I have loved every minute of each ballgame whether they won or loss. I am very proud to see my son choose to continue to participate and play on the Kewaskum High School Varsity Baseball Team.

It is wonderful that the Village opened their field to make Kiwanis Park their home since the high school field was destroyed. Coach Heise has done a tremendous job encouraging the team to keep a positive attitude through the transition and I applaud his efforts. At their new home, I have the opportunity to watch all the children who are in rubber-ball, little league and pony league look up to the JV and Varsity players with excitement and wonder. I listen to the cheers from the parents of these youngsters and hope that someday they will be able to experience the joy I have in watching my son play for Kewaskum High School. I pray there is still a program available for their children to play in when they grow older.

I am writing this letter to ask every member of our community to support the young men of our High School baseball program. There are currently no plans for a new field to be built. The team has given up a home game and many practices due to the field's tight schedule. I hope the rain holds off on each game day because if there is a cancellation, they cannot even schedule a make-up game at home. It is my wish that the adults of the Kewaskum community will support the building of a new ball field so the children of our community have a future - a future of becoming good, active citizens.

Sincerely,
Kelley Peterson

Romp With The Animals

The Washington County Humane Society will offer its seventh annual "Romp with the Animals" in August for children in first through fifth grade.

"Romp with the Animals" is a summer school program designed to develop a child's appreciation and respect for the many animals we share the earth with, and to foster responsible attitudes toward those animals as well as our environment.

The two, four day series will be offered July 31 through August 3 and August 7 through the 10. The programs run from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Cost is $40 and includes a t-shirt, snacks, bus transportation to the off site locations and all activities.

During the program children will be learning about companion animals, farm animals, nature and wildlife. There will also be a segment on bite prevention where kids will learn how to be safe around animals.

"Romp with the Animals" is one of the numerous education and outreach programs the shelter offers the community. Marnie Brown, Executive Director of the shelter, explains, "it is important to teach children how to treat animals with kindness and respect." She hopes that through programs such as "Romp with the Animals" there will be a reduction in the number of children being bitten and a better understanding of animals and nature.

To register, call Dale Stockhausen, Education Coordinator at 677-0731. Class size is limited.

In the Service

Marine Corps Pvt. Brandon L. Hanson, son of Carlotta M. and James L. Hanson of 1457 Parkview Drive, Kewaskum, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California.

Hanson successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

Hanson and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m., by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Hanson spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training. They performed close order drill and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

Hanson and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values -- honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Hanson and fellow recruits ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotional ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

Hanson is a 1999 graduate of Kewaskum High School.

Class of '82 Wins Inaugural KHS Alumni Golf Challenge

A foursome of Kewaskum High School graduates representing the Class of 1982, recorded the lowest 18 hole score to win the First Annual KHS Alumni (Scramble) Challenge on Monday, June 19, at Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club.

Many other past or present staff members and students enjoyed a wonderful day of competition, sunshine and fine food. Warm weather and local sponsors combined to make this first-ever golf outing both pleasurable and profitable for all participants involved.

Members and coaches of the KHS Boys Golf Team organized and conducted this fundraiser in conjunction with their Awards Banquet.

Besides the many golfers taking part, there were over 30 other people who partook of the buffet style banquet meal and attended the presentation of awards as well. Most in attendance purchased tickets for and received prizes donated by local or area businesses from an in-house raffle.

The day concluded with presentation of awards for the participants in the KHS Alumni Challenge and the members of the Boys Golf Team. Prizes were distributed for all the hole events, raffles, and the 18-hole golf scramble, including gift certificates, money, clothing and personalized plaques.

Unfortunately none of the golfers were able to win any of the Hole-In-One Contests that featured $5,000 Cash, U.S.G.A. Golf Package, Travel Package and ProShop Merchandise, sponsored by Stephen Van Ess, D.D.S.

Receiving team shirts and individual plaques for collectively shooting a ten under par (60) representing the Class of '82 were Dennis Butz, Dave Donath, Brian Larsen and Tim Rohlinger.

Finishing as runnersup was a Timblin foursome representing the Class of '99 by recording an eight under par 62. Josh, Shaun, Todd and Tom Timblin also were presented with plaques and honorary team shirts.

A quartet of recent graduates (Class of 2000) and former golf team members, including Jason Gruber, Curt Koth, Jeff Taylor and Todd Wright matched the team's third place conference finish with a 63.

Members of the KHS boys golf team extended their gratitude to all participants by presenting each golfer with a 5x7 portrait of their respective foursome taken and provided by Kevin Stautz of Hollywood Portrait Studio of Kewaskum.

The team expresses their appreciation to all those sponsors who contributed to their successful endeavor as well as giving special thanks to Bill Stangl and the staff and management of Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club for their incredible assistance. See you at next year's challenge.

News From The Capitol

Grothman Appointed Co-Chair of Ritalin Study

Representative Glenn Grothman (R-West Bend) is pleased at the Joint Legislative Council's announcement of a new committee studying the use of prescription drugs with children.

"I initiated the request after many months of reviewing research and medical journal articles describing the dramatic increase in the prescription and use of Ritalin and Prozac for today's children," stated Grothman.

According to the Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA), the United States buys and consumes 90 percent of the world's supply of Ritalin. Use and production is up 700 percent since 1991. In addition, the Drug Abuse Warning Network (DAWN), indicates that Ritalin represents the greatest increase among drugs associated with abuse, and causes the highest number of suicides and emergency room admissions.

"This is a critical health issue for our children," Rep. Kelso (R-Green Bay), Co-Chair of the Joint Legislative Council, said, "I am confident Rep. Grothman will work well with private and public sector members to successfully explore this issue."

"I believe it is well past the time to review the use of these medications and their prominence in today's schools." Said Rep. Grothman. "If the use is legitimate, then wonderful. However, if they are being used as a new way to control normal childhood behavior in place of other forms of discipline, that will come out too."

The committees Co-Chairs will be meeting along with the legislative council to set goals and review applications received from individuals wanting to sit on the study committee.

"My thanks goes out to Rep. Kelso and the Joint Legislative Council for seeing the importance of this study. I look forward to working with my Senate Co-Chair Roger Breske (D-Eland) in the coming months," concluded Grothman.

Fronek Named to Managerial Position

MILWAUKEE - Two veteran employees of D.P. Hamacher & Associates (DPH & A) have been promoted to managerial positions. Kat Fronek and Steven Brester have both been with the Hamacher firm for 13 years. Their promotions were announced by Dawn Vogelsang, vice president of operations.

Kat Fronek has been named product research and analysis manager. In that capacity, she will play a key role in the research and development of new DPH & A products, and will be responsible for the integrity of the content used in a variety of existing applications.

These include the company's monthly retail pricing guidelines for health and beauty care products and branded and prescription pharmaceuticals; a model file used to determine the company's Never Out® lists that identify the best-selling products in a variety of categories; and web content compiled by DPH & A to aid in the establishment and maintenance of online pharmacies.

Steven Brester has been promoted to information technology manager, which makes him responsible for all programming and operations within DPH & A's Information Technology Department. He will also serve as project leader for PI-Network, the intranet-based information center developed to provide a 24-hour link between drug wholesalers and their retail clients.

"Kat and Steve have demonstrated time and again a unique understanding of the wide variety of services that we offer, and have played key roles as we've expanded our horizons," said Vogelsang. "They've helped transform us into a technology-based company and we expect they'll have more to contribute in that regard as that becomes increasingly important in the way we develop and deliver our products."

Fronek joined Hamacher in 1987 after a 13-year career with Walgreens in West Bend. She has held a number of positions with Hamacher and most recently was production coordinator. She is an alternative education business student at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and at the University of Wisconsin-Washington County. She is also a free-lance photographer. A resident of Kewaskum, she is married and the mother of two children.

Brester was a programmer for Computer Research, Inc. before joining Hamacher. His most recent position at DPH & A was a data center coordinator. He holds an associate degree in business data processing from Waukesha County Technical College. Brester lives with his wife and four children in Pewaukee.

D.P. Hamacher & Associates is a consulting and marketing company that develops management, marketing and merchandising programs for traditional drugstores, plus web content to support online pharmacy.

Clerical Volunteers Needed For Shoo the Flu Clinics

The Visiting Nurse Association of Wisconsin needs volunteers to assist with clerical duties at its upcoming Shoo the Flu & Pneumonia Too! vaccination clinics. The clinics will take place in community sites throughout most of eastern Wisconsin from October 2 to November 11.

Volunteer hours and locations are flexible, with both day and evening clinics planned. Shoo the Flu clinic volunteers are eligible to receive a flu shot free of charge. People who sign up will play a role in protecting Wisconsin residents from winter illness. Last year's Shoo the Flu campaign provided approximately 72,000 flu and pneumonia vaccinations, and the goal for this year is even higher.

For more information about serving as a Shoo the Flu volunteer, call Karen Toboyek, program coordinator, at (414) 328-4430 or, from outside the Milwaukee area, 1-800-862-2201.

The Visiting Nurse Association of Wisconsin provides home care, hospice care, home medical equipment, home-delivered meals and many other health services throughout eastern Wisconsin. It is part of Aurora Health Care, Wisconsin's leading not-for-profit health care system.

Adopt-A-Highway Program Looking For Volunteers

Tons of abandoned paper, cardboard and other trash are no longer homeless, thanks in part to the efforts of various groups involved in Wisconsin's Adopt-A-Highway (AAH) program. Last year, 385 tons of litter was cleaned up by volunteers from 1,486 groups in Wisconsin.

"Our volunteers are working hard to keep the state's highways clean and we appreciate and support all of their hard work," said Barb Mindak, director of the Wisconsin Department of Transportation's (WisDOT's) AAH program said.

WisDOT began the Adopt-A-Highway program to encourage groups to volunteer and support Wisconsin's anti-litter campaign. A sign is erected announcing each group's sponsorship of a two-mile segment of highway. The AAH program currently has 41,304 participants, but it is always looking for more. The Adopt-A-Highway program offers members a chance to get to meet new people while sharing in a worthwhile community effort. WisDOT supplies volunteers with orange safety vests, trash bags and signs to aid them in tidying up the group's highway segment and all the litter is separated for recyclable items.

Participants in the AAH program come from various backgrounds and age groups. Members must be at least 11 years old or in the sixth grade. Group members are asked to pick up the litter at least three times during the year. "We encourage the groups to be out there as often as they can, but they are most needed in April, August and October," Mindak said. "Because of their dedication, the litter is collected and recycled. AAH members provide for cleaner highways and a better image for their community than could be accomplished within the state's budget limitations."

Several measures are taken to ensure that the members are not in danger as they collect the highway litter. Groups watch a video on safety as a part of training and work is scheduled during off-peak traffic hours. Construction areas are avoided, and group members do not work in dangerous areas like medians, bridges, or steep slopes. The groups also place temporary work zone signs at both ends of their collection area.

Not only do the AAH program members get a chance to help the community by picking up the litter, they also pick up some pretty interesting stories. AAH participants have seen everything from fast food wrappers and plastic bags to beer and soda cans. "You wouldn't believe the things people are tossing on the road. In the last two years, members are finding a lot more drug paraphernalia on the road," Mindak said.

Of the 11,800 miles of highway in Wisconsin, just 56% has been adopted. That means over 40% of the roadways are still looking for clean-up crews. To adopt a highway and help make a difference on Wisconsin's roadways, call 1-800-242-2514.

Consumers Urged to Use Caution With Lawn, Garden Equipment

"We are reminding people to use safety and common sense when working in their yards and gardens this summer," says Bill Oemichen, administrator of Trade and Consumer Protection. "About 230,000 people each year are treated in hospital emergency rooms for injuries relating to various lawn and garden tools."

Each year, about 75 people are killed and about 20,000 are injured on or near riding lawn mowers and garden tractors. One out of every five deaths involves a child. Most of the deaths to children occurred when a child was in the path of a moving mower.

"No parent wants their child to be one of these statistics," said Oemichen. "Young children move quickly and are attracted to mowing activity, but they don't understand the dangers it poses. Parents should keep young children away from any outdoor power equipment."

Children should never be in the yard while you're mowing, and they should never ride on the mower. More than 800 young children get run over or backed over by riding mowers each year. This happens when children fall while being given rides, or when they approach the operating mower.

Never assume children will remain where you last saw them. Be alert and turn off the mower if children enter the mowing area. Use extra care when backing up or going around corners, shrubs, trees or other obstacles.

Many children suffer serious burns to their hands and arms when they touch the hot muffler of running or recently running engines. Keep children away from power equipment.

Be sure you know how to operate the equipment. Know where the controls are and what they do. Make sure the equipment is in proper operating condition and guards or other safety devices have not been removed or disabled.

Dress appropriately for the job. This includes sturdy shoes with slip-resistant rubber soles, long pants and long sleeved shirts, close fitting clothes, eye protection, heavy gloves, hearing protection when needed, and no jewelry, which can get caught in moving parts.

Before mowing, walk around the area in which you will be working to remove any objects like sticks, glass, metal, wire, stones and string that could cause injury or damage equipment. Nails and wire are the most hazardous objects thrown by mowers, capable of killing bystanders.

Never work with electric power tools in wet or damp conditions. For protection against electrocution, use a ground fault circuit interrupter (GFCI). GFCIs come in several models, including portable plug-in types and as part of some extension cords.

Be sure that extension cords are in good condition, are rated for outdoor use, and are the proper gauge for the electrical current capacity of the tool.

Before making adjustments or clearing jams near moving parts, unplug electric tools and disconnect spark plug wires on gasoline-powered tools.

Be sure that power tools are turned off and made inoperable if they must be left unattended. This will help prevent use by children.

Handle gasoline carefully. Remember never to fill gas tanks while machinery is operating or when equipment is still hot.

Do not fuel equipment indoors. Wipe up spills. Store in an approved container away from the house. Finally, never smoke or use any type of flame around gasoline.

Tension Builds at Thiemerdome Thelen's, Commercial Remain Undefeated

The opening game of the second week of play at the live action Thiemerdome was a nail-biter to say the least. The standing-room-only crowd (the new bleachers were having the splinters removed, as well as a few old tushes!) could have cut the tension with a scissor as the air crackled with the excitement of the upcoming game. (Yawn!)

This thrill of victory, agony of defeat game pitted Amerahn against the UNDEFEATED Commercial Plumbing boys. Amerahn manager John "Old Man" Kleinke knew that the Commercial 39'ers have had smoking bats (well, for one game anyway) and sauntered along the sidelines chanting, "Defense! Defense!"

Wasted breath... Commercial's Al "Crazy Legs" proceeded to lead off with a clutch hit. WHOOPS (there it is) and Kurt Schmidt reached on an error with a base hit up the gap (which includes the entire outfield) from Steve "Hawkeye" Stern, to drive in a few runs.

As if that wasn't humiliating enough, Tom Fischer, with his ageless speed, also reached on an error. Big John maintained his "defense" chant as his blood pressure continued to rise, but with no sympathy, Lonny Borns hit one over Dan Rose's head to score two more runs until Amerahn finally put an end to the misery.

The Amerahnners managed to get themselves on the scoreboard in the top of the second inning when their new weapon, Gary Kimpel, hit a line shot to score two. He also single-handedly put a stop to Commercial's progress as he made a back-pedaling catch (I didn't think these guys could even pedal forward) to end Commercial's threat.

Amerahn again rallied with the bases loaded, but only scored Dave Schmitt on a hit from Mike Floyd. Tom Fischer took a stab (and you think these games aren't violent!) at a line shot down the third base line (which abuts an alfalfa field) and came up with the catch to stop the Amerahn attack. That catch had to put the circulation back into the hand area! Ouch!

Never willing to say never, or not willing to give up until the fat lady sings, Amerahn's offense went to work in the seventh. With the bases loaded (how did that happen?) they were knocking at the door (I hear you knocking, but you can't come in... just a little Fats Domino here, folks...) with zero outs. It was looking goooooood, but then came the inevitable force out at home. Not giving up the faith, Manager Kleinke continued to cheer... "That's all-right honey... we only have one out and the bases are still loaded." (What an optimist!)

And then it happened... the you-know-what hit the you-know-what. A major hit... a diving catch from Kurt Schmidt... and Dean Durow turned the double play to end the dream. The score ended with Commercial 4, and Amerahn 0. What's even more astonishing than that... if memory serves me correctly... that was the second double play in as many weeks. Pretty scary... are these guys actually learning how to play ball? Heaven forbid! What fun could that possibly be?

Start your sweating now Sipper Snippers. You get to play the Amerahn Warriors next week, and boy, are they mad! They plan on stewing for a week and promise to take out all their frustrations on you! Better call in sick next week boys!

The second round found the Thiemer boys (and I use that term quite loosely) pitted against the G. Thelen & Sons "Electric Men" team, who in the second game of the season, still remained undefeated. Astonishing.

The Sipper Snippers seemed to be having a hard time connecting the bat to the ball, not uncommon for the team. Their manager has repeatedly called for more batting practice but the team instead has opted for exercising their little fingers under that ring on aluminum cans. Recycling can be difficult, but nevertheless it has to be done by someone!

In the fourth, Gene Wolf hit one up the gap (so why wasn't I informed that a Gap had been built in the area?) for a single and Dennis Kuechler and Dale

Little Folks Stroll Into Summer

The Little Folks School House recently held their spring fund-raiser and used the money earned to purchase this "Run-a-bout" four seater stroller.

The child care center holds two fund raisers a year. There is usually 75% to 90% family participation. Parents are willing because they know every child will benefit.

The Little Folks School House is located on the corner of Highway W and H in Wayne. They are open from 6 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The main center serves children from six weeks through five years.

The second site, which will be housed by the Salem United Church of Christ over the summer, serves children ages six through 12. Anyone looking for quality child care should contact Dodie at The Little Folks School House (262) 626-4023.

Thiemerdome

"Electro II" also singled to send the Wolf home, making the score, 1-0, in Thelen's favor.

The fifth inning was pretty dead (please don't say that four letter word in front of these guys) with good defensive plays from both teams.

The Sipper Snippers started the ball rolling with a clean base hit from none other than Richard Thiemer (always one to set a good example for the team). Paul Lehnerz doubled and Thelen's error gave Jimmy Flitter a base which sent Limpy Thiemer home to tie the game. Mike Miller's bat then connected to send the poor little ball on a faraway trip to score two more runs.

The team was on fire (hard to imagine, isn't it?) as was the poison ivy of Limpy Thiemer as the Sipper Snippers went ahead, 3-1.

But, as usual, Thelen's team came back. Gene Wolf, who was 2x3, started the process with a triple over the head of Larry "I Think I Got It" Martin's head. A single from Dale Thelen easily scored Wolfy. Mike Herrick singled but with a great backward running trick, and a last moment jump, Larry "I Think I Got It"

Martin actually did have it and retired Thelen's attack.

In the seventh inning, some slower-than-slow idiot (not necessary to name names on this one, right folks?) tried to stretch a single into a double, with the end result being no score for the Sipper Snippers. Shucks, no problem folks! With a defense likened to the '39 Yankees, (and who actually knows what they did?) the Sipper Snippers just figured to put three "Electric Men" up and put three "Electric Men" down. So where is the problem?

The problem is someone forgot to tell Thelen's to roll over. A walk, a Dave Vogt single dribbler, a Brian Carlson single and a Randy Gamm fielder's choice gave Thelen's the tying run and sent the game into extra innings. Following a seventh inning stretch which was actually intended to allow the old timers a chance to catch their breath, the eighth inning went scoreless for both teams.

The top of the ninth found Darrell Campbell hitting a double to start Thiemer's exhilaration with Mike Miller adding a single. With Darrell on third, waiting to trot on home, hopefully to score the winning run. Bob "Butzie" Buddenhagen hit a hard low line shot towards third but the third baseman Mike Stalal scooped it up to keep Darrell tight on third.

Then Larry "Hammerin'" Martin hit a high line shot down first but it was caught, keeping Darrell glued to third. John Thexton hit a hard high bouncer to shortstop Brian Carlson who made a terrific catch and throw to second to end the potential threat.

Thelen's again answered with clean singles from Roy Aycock, Mike Stalal and Dave Vogt to load up the bases. Brian Carlson sacrificed to give the "Electric Men" a 4-3 advantage over the Sipper Snippers.

So as we progress into the All-Star portion of the season, it's Thelen's and Commercial who remain UNdefeated and Amerahn and Thiemer's who remain defeated. There's always the second half of the season boys... still time to win one for the gipper!

Reading Fun at READIN 2000

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt was one of the day's "celebrity readers" at "READIN 2000." He read the Dr. Seuss classic, "Horton Hatches the Egg" to Ms. Flom's first graders.

Andrew Kuehl of Video Post enthralled the kindergartners in Mrs. Brock's class.

Veterinarian Dr. Greg Ogi reads an "Arthur" book to Mrs. Hartmann's second grade class as Russell Osswald turns around to get into the picture.

Community volunteers for "READIN 2000" at Kewaskum Elementary School read to students and helped with reading related activities. Above, Mike Krueger reads "The Very Busy Spider," before having students make their own marshmallow spiders (with red licorice legs) to eat.

READIN 2000 was the place to be as students at Kewaskum Elementary School spent the day participating in fun reading activities throughout the school.

Students looked for books on a school-wide "treasure hunt," visited on-line chats with renown authors, and some students and staff dressed up as their favorite book characters (Ms. Fizzle, the eccentric, red-headed teacher from the "Magic School Bus" book series even taught Mrs. Rose's class!)

Celebrity readers, including WBKV's Bob Bonenfant, Dave Goeden from Goeden's Auto Body and Andrew Kuehl from Video Post and The Kewaskum Statesman stopped in to read classes a book. Other community members led students in making book-inspired snacks, from celery and peanut butter "Very Hungry Caterpillars" to popcorn from the "Popcorn Dragon."

The reading fun was part of the nationwide READIN 2000 reading celebration on May 11.

Reading to Mrs. Ammel's second grade was Peace United Church of Christ's Rev. Kirkegaard.

Third graders Jacob Dickmann and Kierstynn Koenings hold up "The Very Busy Spider" they each made, moments before they gulped them down.

Following the reading of "The Gingerbread Man," first grader Mike Kofler snacks on the gingerbread man he decorated.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of DARLENE ROHLINGER, who passed away two years ago, July 16, 1998.

A heart of gold stopped beating hard,
Working hands to rest.
God broke our hearts to show us
He only takes "The Best."

We cannot bring the old days back,
Her hands we cannot touch.
But we still have the memories of one we loved so much.

Our family chain has been broken and nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one the chain will link again.

It broke our hearts to lose her,
But she did not go alone
For part of us went with her the day God called her home.

Only a cluster of memories sprayed with a million tears,
Wishing God shared her just a few more years.

Sadly missed by her husband, sons, daughter-in-law and grandchildren.

My Garden

Isabelle Muckerheide

While pulling weeds in my garden,
A wren was singing to me,
As if to say he's happy,
To be alive and free.

I looked about in wonder,
At veggies row by row,
But for the grace of God to help,
It would be futile, I know.

There's carrots, beans and lettuce
Potatoes, peas, and corn
It's best to do the garden work,
When it's early morn.

Some flowers sprinkled in between,
Are risen from the sod;
He who plants a garden,
Can't help but believe in God!

Some flowers sprinkled in between,
Are risen from the sod;
He who plants a garden,
Can't help but believe in God!

CARAMELIZED ONIONS

You Can't Make the Fish Bite

By Mike Staggs
Director of the DNR
Bureau of Fisheries
Management and Habitat Protection

What do you do when you know the fish are there - but they just won't bite? If you're an angler, you try another bait or another spot, or perhaps you try again on another day. If things aren't better soon, you may decide to call your local Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist to complain. If you're that fisheries biologist, chances are you're spending a lot of your time explaining the situation to frustrated anglers. One of the toughest jobs a fisheries biologist will ever have is to convince people that fish populations are doing fine when nobody seems to be catching fish.

During the last year, I've fielded a lot of calls about two such situations in Wisconsin.

Early last summer I started getting calls from anglers along Lake Michigan who were concerned about the poor trout and salmon fishing they were having. A group of charter captains and anglers from Algoma were particularly concerned that the poor fishing was hurting their businesses. It was true - people just hadn't had the fishing luck they were used to, and were very concerned that the trout and salmon population had crashed. That spring the DNR (along with counterparts from other Lake Michigan states) had reduced chinook salmon stocking because we had evidence that the total trout and salmon populations had grown too large for the alewife prey base, and we did not want a repeat of the chinook collapse of the late 1980s. Folks had a lot of questions - did we reduce stocking too much? Did we reduce stocking too late? Were there disease problems? What about commercial fishing?

We were sure the fish were still out there. Our stocking levels had been the same for the preceding four to five years and the small decrease that spring would have affected only the catch of small shakers if it was noticeable at all. The previous fall's trawling surveys showed that the alewife population had not collapsed so there should have been plenty for the fish to eat. We had no reports of disease or die-offs of adult fish, and there had been no changes in commercial fishing activities. Our best guess was that unusual spring weather and clear lake water had pushed the fish offshore where anglers weren't fishing, but our fisheries biologists were spending a lot of time trying to convince folks that the fish were there.

In early June of this year, I had the opportunity to fish Lake Winnebago as part of the famous Walleye Weekend festival held each year in Fond du Lac. The Winnebago system - lakes Winnebago, Butte des Morts, Winneconne, and Poygan and the Wolf and upper Fox rivers - is one of the best walleye fisheries in Wisconsin.

It is very productive and has excellent spawning habitat, good natural reproduction, and decent growth rates. And we know there are a lot of walleyes out there right now; our most recent data showed that we had a record hatch and excellent year class in 1996 and several other good year classes during the 1990s.

Knowing all of this, I was very surprised to find that all of the anglers I fished with were asking "what has happened to the walleye population?" It turns out walleye fishing had been very poor in the lake that spring and again there were many questions. Where are the bigger fish? Are tournaments hurting the fishery? Is the spring harvest during the river spawning runs hurting the fishery? Do we need a size limit?

Unfortunately, walleye are a pretty fickle fish. Research studies have repeatedly demonstrated that when there is a lot of forage available, walleyes are much harder to catch. This is not true for bass and other gamefish but it is a characteristic of walleyes. As it turns out, in Lake Winnebago right now there is a huge amount of small forage fishes - troutperch and emerald shiners, and white bass, freshwater drum (sheepshead) and gizzard shad young - so it's not surprising that the walleye fishing was poor. We had poor reproduction during the 1987-90 drought so there are not many of these older, larger fish in the population as anglers had discovered. However, the very abundant younger fish are growing well and will eventually reach larger sizes. Again, our fisheries biologists were spending a lot of time trying to convince folks that the fishery was in fact in good shape.

In these two examples, the fish were there and fishing improved as biologists had predicted. By mid-summer 1999, the fishing on Lake Michigan exploded with large catches of record sized fish. We set new state records for coho - 26 pounds, 1 ounce - and brook trout - 10 pounds, 1 ounce - and some folks said it was the best fishing since the glory years of the 1970s and early 1980s. Fishing seems to be improving now on Lake Winnebago, and though it may yet be awhile before it meets everyone's expectations, we know fishing will be outstanding as the record number of younger fish grow to trophy size over the next few years.

People should let their local DNR fisheries biologists know if fishing in their favorite water remains poor for an extended period because sometimes there is a problem with the fish population. But the Wisconsin DNR has one of the most extensive fish survey programs in the country and chances are if your local biologist says the fish are there - they are.

When Dogs Bite

"I'm afraid of my dog." "I never know when my dog's going to bite." "My dog won't let anyone near her food dish while she's eating." "I can't trust the dog around my kids." In her work as an applied animal behaviorist, Claudeen Mc Auliffe hears these words often.

Her message is that you don't need to fear your dog, and you can learn to recognize bite/fight signals and triggers to make aggressive behaviors more predictable and therefore manageable.

On Saturday, September 30, from 2 to 5 p.m., Mc Auliffe will lead a workshop at the Washington County Humane Society to help participants learn what motivates aggression, how to recognize it, and what to do about it. After a discussion of why dogs behave aggressively, Mc Auliffe will work through several actual cases with dogs brought by participants.

If you think you have an aggressive dog and would like to have it considered for inclusion in this program, please contact Marnie Brown at the Washington County Humane Society, (262) 677-4388 by August 1. A questionnaire will be sent to you to help screen your dog as a potential candidate for the workshop for final screening and acceptance.

The cost of the seminar is $10. For more information, call Marnie Brown at (262) 677-4388.
