Staff Writer/Photographer

School Board President, Larry Fechter who has served on the board for 6 consecutive years and who recently took over the presidency after former president Jean Goeden stepped down from the position late last year has announced his resignation after the July 19 school board meeting.

Fechter has moved to accept a building and grounds supervisor position at Iola-

Scandinavia School District.

School officials have said the board will appoint someone to Fechter's position. Board Vice President, Jon Downs has taken over the presidency.

Fechter served on the board since winning the election in 1996. Fechter was one of three newcomers defeating Karen Sparks and Ruth Schmitt. Fechter was also the top vote getter in the primary election of that same year.

In the past the board has accepted letters and resumes from individuals, then voted on a replacement.

The new board member will serve until the April election. The position will then be up for election.

Successful Blood Drive at Campbellsport

The Knights of Columbus, Council #11301 wishes to sincerely thank everyone who helped or contributed in any way to make another successful blood drive possible.

The drive was held on July 16, and volunteers were extremely pleased with the number of persons who took time out at a difficult time of the year.

The goal was 85 pints. They received 84 registered and were successful in collecting 73 units. It is not unusual to see a higher percentage of deferrals in the hot weather. To those who deferred at this drive, you are encouraged and invited to try again at a future drive.

Those reaching gallon levels were: Joan Hoff, 10 gallons; David Schellhaas, eight gallons; Carol J. Oestrich, seven gallons; Sharon Koch, five gallons; Linda M. Zehren, two gallons, and Mary F. Straub, one gallon.

Congratulations and thank you to those folks for their attainments.

First time donors were Molly Walsh, Alice Westmeier and Barb Wirkus. Sincere thanks to these people. Many more of them are needed to meet future needs for this life-giving gift. Thanks to all.

New UWWC Counselor To Reach Out To Prospective Adult Students

Adult students bring much to college classrooms, says Chris Beloin, new academic counselor for non-traditional-aged students at the University of Wisconsin-Washington County. "When the classes start talking about things like business theory, many of these older adults have already been out there in the business world, and can share with traditional-aged students what they've seen that works and what doesn't work," he said.

Beloin, who recently joined the university staff after teaching adult programs at UW-Parkside and Stevens Point, says that working adults often return to college after what he calls "trigger events."

"These are people who, many times, thought they were done with education," he said. "Then something happens in their lives; a divorce, a promotion, a transfer - something that tells them it's time to get ready academically for the rest of their lives."

"Then they wake up the next morning and they're on a mission. That's when they show up at our door."

Nationally, adult or "non-traditional-age" students are a growing segment of college populations. Adult students now form about 21 percent of the student population at UWWC. Beloin says the college wants to make itself ever more useful to working adults, and hopes to increase that percentage to at least 30 percent.

Beloin says UWWC's new collaborative degree programs, jointly established with the support of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, have much to offer adults. He pointed out that a new Bachelor of Science in Information Resources now has joined the already established Bachelor of Arts in Organizational Administration. Also planned for the near future are Bachelor degree programs in both communications and global studies.

He explained that these degree programs offer working adults a means to complete a UW Bachelor Degree program through special early evening class schedules, without having to commute all the way to Milwaukee. Plus, the guarantee of transfer of all their credits to any four-year campus in the UW system makes choosing to return to school much easier.

Beloin says that adult students drawn to these programs are highly motivated and often return to college with high expectations. He says it will be his job to help them gain a more realistic picture of what they can achieve, given their busy lives. "Sometimes, they'll tell me they want to continue to work full-time, have a family life, and yet they still want a degree in engineering after only four more years of college," he said.

Beloin says that adult prospective students often are hesitant to return to college, for fear that they'll stand out from what they imagine are their much younger classmates. But Beloin says that the special adult degree programs make new students feel like they're among friends and contemporaries. "We tell them, 'Look around, and you'll see lots of people that look just like you,'" he said.

Local Businesses Support Youth Dairy and Livestock Programs

Washington County businesses have provided support for educational programs and activities of dairy and livestock project members. Horlamus Industries Inc. and Bob Fish have cooperated to provide a livestock feeder to be auctioned off at the livestock sale for over ten years. A Golden Gallon of Milk is also auctioned as a part of the livestock sale. The Golden Gallon of Milk represents a gallon of milk from the champion dairy cow from the youth dairy show.

The feeder has been purchased by farm families and parents of youth in the dairy and livestock projects. The Golden Gallon of milk has been purchased by businesses in the county. In recent years Farmers Inc., Allenton, and the First National Bank of Hartford have purchased the Golden Gallon of Milk. Buyers receive a ceramic pitcher or milk can.

The funds generated from these items are used to support the activities of the Washington County Animal Science Association. This organization consists of all the dairy, beef, sheep, and swine project members, parents, and leaders from Washington County. It is an umbrella organization with members from a variety of youth organizations including 4-H, FFA, and Washington County Junior Holstein Association.

This organization has adult and youth leadership. Each of the species has two adult and two representatives on the Animal Science Board. Adult and youth members organize and conduct a variety of educational programs throughout the year. These are county wide activities that provide an opportunity for youth from all youth organizations and clubs to participate. Without these county wide educational programs many youth would not have an opportunity to have educational activities related to their project. Not all clubs have leaders in these project areas to conduct project meetings and educational programs.

Educational programs are an important part of the dairy and livestock projects. Many youth participate in a variety of programs each year. Livestock members must attend at least two educational programs to sell their animals at the livestock sale. Dairy project members must attend educational programs to show their dairy animals in the fair.

Horlamus Industries Inc. and Bob Fish will be donating another feeder for the sale this year. It will be on display next to the show arena during the fair. A Golden Gallon of milk will also be sold at the sale. The livestock sale is scheduled for Thursday, July 27 at 7 p.m. in the show arena. Please consider supporting the Animal Science Association activities by attending the sale and participating in the building process.

For more information contact the Washington County UW-Extension Office at 262-335-4477.

Leave You Mark At The New Fairgrounds

Friends of the Washington County Fair have an opportunity to "leave their mark at the new Washington County Fair Park."

Bricks and pavers will be available for sale during the fair and after this year's fair.

The bricks or pavers provide an excellent way to recognize an individual. They can be used perhaps for a wedding present, memorial, retirement gift, birthday, Christmas, wedding anniversary, family reunion, or just a way to leave your name or family name at the new Fair Park.

An investment of as little as $25 will place your name on a plaque and for a gift of $50 a 4x8 personalized brick can be purchased. Brick pavers are available 8x8 for $200, 16x16 for $500 and 20x20 Super paver for $1,000.

In addition to the bricks and pavers, donors may also purchase waste receptacles for $600, flowering trees for $1,000, shade trees for $2,000, park benches for $2,500 ($800 for recycled materials).

The Washington County 4-H members and leaders are in charge of this project and all profits from the project will be used for the 4-H wing in the Fair Pavilion and specially designated projects at the Fair Park.

Over 1,500 bricks have been sold and will be in place at this year's fair. The bricks are located just outside the Fair Park Pavilion and down a pathway adjacent to the Main Entrance. Bricks are displayed in crescent shaped sections.

This attractive plaza offers donors a variety of commemorative elements that will provide space for memorial, special messages, family names and business logos. The large plaque with donor's names is located in the rotunda area of the Fair Pavilion.

4-H members and leaders wearing blue vests will be available to assist you in purchasing one of these items to help you leave your mark at the new Fair Park. The 4-H Buy a Brick Booth will be located in the front entrance kiosk at the Fair Park Pavilion.

Washington County Fair... What Does That Ribbon Mean?

Have you ever wondered just what those blue, red, yellow and purple ribbons represented that adorned the 4-H projects at the County Fair? Well they each represent something different.

All the youth exhibits in the Fair Park Pavilion Building are judged face-to-face. Members are awarded their ribbon based on their knowledge of their project, what they learned, what skills they used, and also if they know what they could do to change or improve their project. Members talk with the judge and explain the process they went through to make their project. It is important the project has been made by the 4-H member.

So how does the judge decide what ribbon the project deserves? The judge will award a ribbon based on the quality of the workmanship and the knowledge the member has in explaining what they did.

Blue - Excellent, Red - Good, White - Fair, Pink - Needs Improvement.

You might see a special purple ribbon, yellow ribbon, or state fair star attached to some exhibits. This is a special award for the exhibitor above and beyond their other ribbon placing.

The Grand Champion Purple Ribbon means that this exhibit was the exhibit in its department or class. It is the highest award an article can receive. The Reserve Champion Purple Ribbon means that this exhibit was the second best exhibit in its department or class.

In addition to champion ribbons, judges are asked to select Merit Award winners. The Merit Award Ribbons are presented to exhibitors who have an outstanding project that may have been considered for the Grand Champion Award. There are often many excellent exhibits. The intent of the "Award of Merit" recognition is to reduce the overall impact of a single "Grand Champion" in a department and to instead recognize a group of the most outstanding articles in the department.

The other award you may see on an exhibit is a State Fair star. Each year the judges are asked to select some of the top exhibits to be sent to State Fair the following year. The following factors are used in State Fair selection: quality of the exhibit, size, and a variety of exhibits that represent different age levels

All awards that an exhibit receive are important no matter what the placing. What you don't see on the projects as you peruse the Pavilion Building are the life skills that each member learned in making their project. Four-H strives to teach life skills such as decision making, communication, and leadership in youth. It is more about helping youth become blue ribbon kids not blue ribbon projects. A child who received white may have leaned as much or more than a child with a blue. The individual pride and sense of accomplishment is important in all exhibits. So as you look at the exhibits and see the different projects -- remember that all the youth are winners no matter what the placing.

CVB Unveils New Logo Washington County

Convention & Visitors Bureau

It's been nearly four months since the enthusiastic Becky Rogers came on board as the new executive director for the Washington County Convention and Visitors Bureau. As a newly energized tourism agency for the county, one of the first projects taken on by Rogers was the creation of a logo.

As the former Washington County Tourism Association, the logo consisted of a vision of a sailboat with a Holy Hill image in the background. The tag line for the logo was "Washington County, Naturally." To best represent a change in programming direction as well as the introduction of new marketing initiatives, the bureau decided to put the 10-year-old Association logo to rest.

"We are a new marketing organization with a new perspective," stated Rogers. "Competition is fierce in the corporate world today. We will not sit back and allow a creative marketing opportunity like this to pass us by. Hats off to the A.G. Barry staff." Rogers clarified the procedure used for the development of this logo. The bureau asked local graphic design agencies to step forward with their creative expressions and interpretations. Only a few returned to the office, one of which was from A.G. Barry Associates in Germantown. "What was encouraging was the personal attention we received from Al Barry, even before the project really got underway. Al seemed to take a sincere interest in the development of more than a logo, but an industry,"

Rogers added.

Kristine Kamikawa and Phillip Friso met with Rogers on several occasions to further manipulate an image into a new logo. Rogers noted, "a very impressive and talented staff adds to the excitement of a project like this." In the development of the logo, an attempt to represent every aspect of the county proved overwhelming. It was decided to proceed to establish an "icon" to represent a strong feature of the county and provide maximum creative expression to the bureau, explained Rogers. "The A.G. Barry staff hit it on the head."

"The new logo wraps simplicity and a strong representation of the area's natural beauty in a classic corporate appearance." Rogers is very excited about having a 'working' logo that has multi-purpose capabilities. "This logo can be very fun in working with the seasons of the year." Using bright colors, Rogers wanted to indicate a notion of fun, yet keep the charm the Washington County area offers its visitors.

The logo will be used on all collateral produced by the bureau. It will be further incorporated into the bureau's new membership campaign and the creation of the 2001 Washington County Visitors Guide. Waiting on the completion of the logo was the production of "The Panorama," a newsletter created by Rogers to communicate bureau events and offer industry information to the Washington County community and its businesses.

FFA Tractor Operator's Contest

Kewaskum FFA tractor operator contestants, left, Tom Ramthun, right, Matt Propson, competed in the Section 10 Tractor Operators contest. Tom placed second and Matt placed fourth in the sectional event.

This year's Farm Progress Days was held in Eden, July 11th to the 13th. On Thursday the 13th a tractor driving contest was offered to FFA members from sections six, nine, and ten. Representing section ten for Kewaskum FFA was Matt Propson and Tom Ramthun. Matt and Tom competed against eleven others from section ten, with the three sections combined there were 36 FFA members competing.

The purpose of the contest was to promote and encourage safe and skillful farm tractor operation, and to provide FFA members an opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge of tractor maintenance. The contest consisted of a written test, with questions on safety and routine tractor maintenance, and a practical inspection of a tractor, where contestants were to find multiple things unsafe about the tractor. The driving portion of the contest consisted of a two and four wheel driven course. The participants were given a short time to practice on the tractors. For the two-wheel course a New Holland tractor and manure spreader was to be backed through an alley and driven through a serpentine before being backed in to a shed made up of golf balls on pipes staked in the ground. The four-wheel course was a Case IH tractor and a flat rack wagon, which was to be pulled out of a shed and backed in to the finishing shed right next to the first. During both of the courses the drivers were given points for things like dislodging a golf ball, crossing the boundaries, or grinding gears on the tractor. Through out the day contestants were being judged on safety, they would get points for things like failure to engage a clutch gently, turning too short, or jumping from the tractor.

At the end of the contest the points from all events were added up and the FFA member with the least amount of points would win. The first place contestants from each section will participate at the State Tractor Operator's Contest at the State Fair in August. The first place from section ten was Ben Clark from Elkhorn FFA with a total of 1,353 points. Ben was followed closely by Tom Ramthun from the Kewaskum FFA with a total of 1,440 points. In third place was Michael Elsinger from the Lomira FFA, and in fourth place was Matt Propson from Kewaskum with a total of 1,960 points. All in all the Kewaskum had a fun and successful day taking home second and fourth places.

County Fair Livestock Sale

The 31st Annual Meat Animal Sale will be held at the Washington County Fairgrounds on Thursday, July 27, 2000. The sale will start at 7:00 p.m. in the Farm Progress Show Arena.

FFA, 4-H and other youth organization members of Washington County have worked hard to raise high quality project animals. They would like to invite people to the pre-sale social at 6:00 p.m. and to the sale. Bidders will have an opportunity to register before the sale.

The sale order for this year will be 1/2 of sheep, 1/2 of pigs, 1/2 steers, then returning to sheep, pigs and steers. All Champion and Reserve Champion, will be sold at the beginning of the first half of each specie.

There are a number of options for people that buy an animal. The Sale Committee will assist people in making arrangements.

- Use the meat for yourself and your family or split the purchase with others. Processing can be arranged at a local facility for you.

- Animals can be sent to market, with the buyer getting the market proceeds.

- A business may wish to provide a customer appreciation, employee dinner or BBQ.

- The meat could be raffled as a business promotion.

- A restaurant or other food establishment may want to use the meat for their customers.

The auction will not only help the Washington County youth, but benefits buyers as well. Bidders receive recognition at the sale, buyers are recognized in newspapers, and radio. Buyers receive a plaque and a buyer's emblem for each animal purchased. Businesses may be able to use the sale for taxable business advertising expense.

There will be a carcass show on Wednesday, August 2nd, at 7:00 p.m., at Kewaskum Frozen Foods. This provides an opportunity to see the carcasses and learn about the evaluation process.

If you have any questions regarding the sale, you may contact Richard Roembke, Sales Committee Chair at 262-377-1491, or the Washington County UW-Extension Office at 262-335-4477. For more information and a listing of potential sellers, last years buyers and other details check out the Washington County UW-Extension web site; www.uwex.edu/ces/cty/washington/ and then click on the link for the Washington County Fair Livestock sale.

Local FFA Members Attend State Convention

Three Kewaskum FFA members represented their chapter at the State Convention held in Madison. Standing is Rebecca Baron, past vice president and current president; left, seated, Kevin Muth, past president and recent graduate, and Matt Propson, past reporter and current vice president.

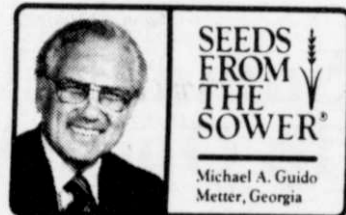

The State FFA Convention recently held in Madison is the highlight of the FFA year with members and chapters receiving various awards for their hard work throughout the year. The Kewaskum FFA was among many chapters to be recognized for their efforts.

The Kewaskum Chapter received bronze level recognition in the Safety Award area for their efforts on this year's rabies clinic. The chapter was also recognized with a silver award in the Food For America program, which involved members making presentations to various grade school children.

The chapter also received a certificate of participation in the Commodity Marketing Activity sponsored by the Stewart-Peterson group. For the yearly overall activities, the chapter received bronze level recognition for activities in the areas of student, chapter and community service.

Chapters that apply for recognition are rated superior, bronze, silver or gold, based on applications received.

Individual Kewaskum FFA members that were honored at the convention included: Rebecca Baron, State FFA Degree; Bridget Beck, Three Star Leader Award, and Matt Propson, Silver State Dairy Proficiency.

A family of three was enjoying a picnic. After eating, the father invited, "Let's play FOLLOW THE LEADER." And away he ran, with his wife and son following him.

Suddenly the little boy stumbled over the stones and fell into the stream. Looking up, he asked, "Why don't you look where I'm going?"

Your children are walking in your ways. Where are you leading them? They'll do as you do. Will it help them or hurt them? Will they stand or stumble?

You owe them a godly example as well as good exhortations. They're saying, like the boy said, "Why don't you watch where I'm going?"

Wayne Crusaders Present June Dairy Month Program

Members of the Wayne Crusaders 4-H Club Child Development project recently visited their area child care centers. A presentation was given in observance of June Dairy Month. The kids helped create a chart with many cheese names and played a guessing game on "how you say milk," in many languages. They played "Pin the Tail on the Cow" and had an ice cream treat donated by B & T's of Allenton. The children also were given pencils and cow erasers that the 4-H Club earned from the Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board. Many fun and interesting facts were learned about dairy products and about cows, such as why they have pierced ears, very long tongues, four stomachs and super noses to pick up scents for miles. They observed an old milk can and the kids offered guesses as to what it was originally used for. No... it wasn't a butter churn or a flower pot! Everyone had fun learning about milk products and cows.

Summer Musical To Open At UWWC

"Little Mary Sunshine" opens at the UWWC Theatre-on-the-Hill on Friday, July 28, for a two weekend engagement, with matinee performances on Sundays.

"Little Mary Sunshine" has all of the ingredients of a hilarious musical comedy, and quite obviously pokes a great deal of fun at the old melodramas. The heroine, Little Mary Sunshine, is infinitely pure both morally and vocally and wears an eternal smile. And the hero is a rugged outdoorsman, clad in a Mounti-like costume, and is endowed naturally with a big, baritone voice. Numbered among the cast are the customary characters juvenile, assorted comedians, a few natives for good measure, a chorus of glistening, beautiful youngsters whose faces and voices shine with a brilliance that is possible only on the musical stage.

"This is a hilarious combination of humor, music and drama - very little drama," says Theatre-on-the-Hill Director Brad Ford. "On top of that, we've pulled together one of the best ensemble casts we've ever had, and they're going to make this play thoroughly enjoyable."

Performance dates are July 28 & 29 at 7:30 p.m., and July 30 at 2 p.m. and August 4 & 5 at 7:30 p.m., and August 6 at 2 p.m. Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for seniors and under 18. Reservations can be made by calling (262) 335-5208.

The words alumnus and alumna are the Latin words for "foster son" and "foster daughter." Though used in Great Britain to mean "pupil," in America they describe only graduates of a school or college.

Wisconsin Farm Progress Days Held in Area

The Allen and Carol Abel farm was visited by thousands of people and by good weather on July 11, 12 and 13. Rains had finally stopped and allowed for the final preparations to greet some 100,000 visitors to see the latest in farming technology.

Visitors to Farm Progress Days had the opportunity to walk through one of the new canvas-covered barns on the Allen and Carol Abel farm. The family has undergone a major expansion to improve their operation and be able to accommodate the large herd of 1200 cows.

Among the many improvements made on the Abel farm are these bottom-augured feed tanks used to store feed for the huge dairy herd and replacement animals

Three-days of nearly flawless weather shined on Allen and Carol Abel, their families, employees and the countless number of organizers involved in Wisconsin Farm Progress Days 2000. The event was held July 11, 12 and 13 just outside of Eden, in Fond du Lac County.

Some 580 exhibitors covered the 65-acre Tent City showing and selling their goods. Anything to do with farming and then some could be found on the grounds. Trams that ran non-stop helped visitors to explore the area with ease.

The University of Wisconsin-Extension provided the latest research of dairy technology, planning on how to transfer ownership of a farm to the next generation and exploring the options for new types of agricultural enterprises. There were seminars on finances, estate planning, communication, water quality, manure storage structures and the necessary information needed for its disposal.

A conservation area educated visitors on tree planting, woodland management, rotational grazing on prairie plantings, making birds of prey work for you and provided exhibits on different planting methods. A Dairy Technology Tent helped to educate viewers on the process of pregnancy, digestion and milking of cows.

There were field demonstrations, booths showing equipment and providing services, tents offering food and three locations of the ever-popular Culver's ice cream products. The Progress Pavilion Tent, located near the center of Tent City, offered visitors experts in many fields ready to answer questions and educate people in a vast variety of areas.

The Abel farm has been undergoing major structural changes at the same time as trying to prepare for the estimated 85,000 or more visitors to their farm. While some of the expansion is still underway much of it was ready for visitors to explore. Two new Cover-All freestall barns have been added, with sand bedding for cow comfort, and sand traps to conserve the sand.

The barns are light and have good airflow, something both the workers and the cows like. The barns were built for cow comfort. They are 140-foot wide, with 60 fans and misters along the feed alley to help keep the animals cool on hot summer days.

A newly expanded double 20 stall, parallel milking parlor is complete. The Abel's are increasing their already large herd to about 1,200 cattle, milking three times a day. The parlor operates with sophisticated computerized equipment. The subway barn has a pit underneath where the milking meters and pulsators are kept. This keeps moisture out and everything clean.

An echo system shows how much milk a cow gave and the cow's identification number. This information is sent from the stalls and can be read both downstairs and in an upstairs office. Each stall has an automatic identification antenna attached to it. The antenna identifies the cow and sends information like how long it took to milk that cow and how it produced. This also lets them identify how much milk other owners, like son Steve's cows have given. A separate milk check is distributed based on that information.

The farm has a 56,000-ton bunker silo capacity. The cows consume a daily ration of corn silage, haylage, protein mix, high moisture corn, dry shelled corn, soyhulls, baled hay, salts and minerals and water. The Abel's raise two crops: 1,200 acres of corn and 1,200 acres of alfalfa. They have 13 tractors and 12 Mack trucks to help them with the harvest.

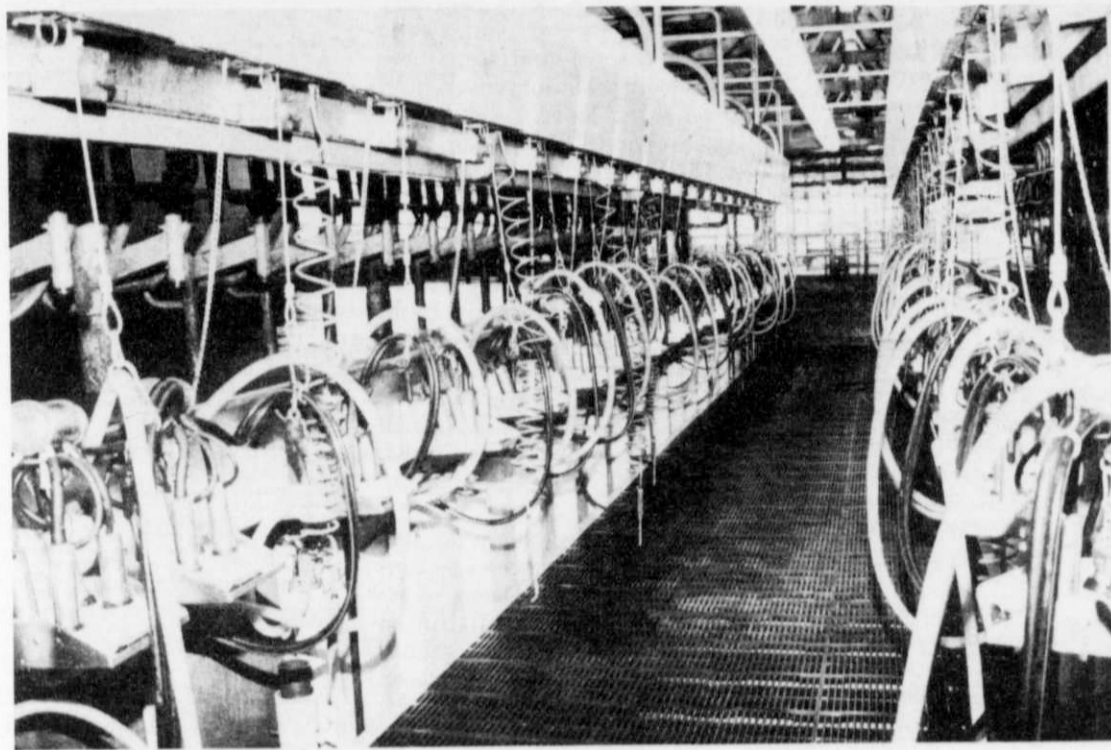

Allen and Carol follow a very strict manure management plan. Soil tests are taken, following a nutritional management plan and the manure is applied accordingly. Records are kept for review by the DNR on a regular basis.

The farm is a family operation. Allen is general manager and cares for the crops. Carol raises all heifer calves and keeps the farm records. Their son, Steve, is the herd manager and his wife, Deb, helps Steve with fresh cows and calves and works on the bookwork. Steve likes to fly his powered parachute, in his free time, and has been keeping a photo history of the many changes to the farm. Bill, another son, is the head mechanic. His talents include trouble-shooting, truck driving, landscaping, and crop knowledge.

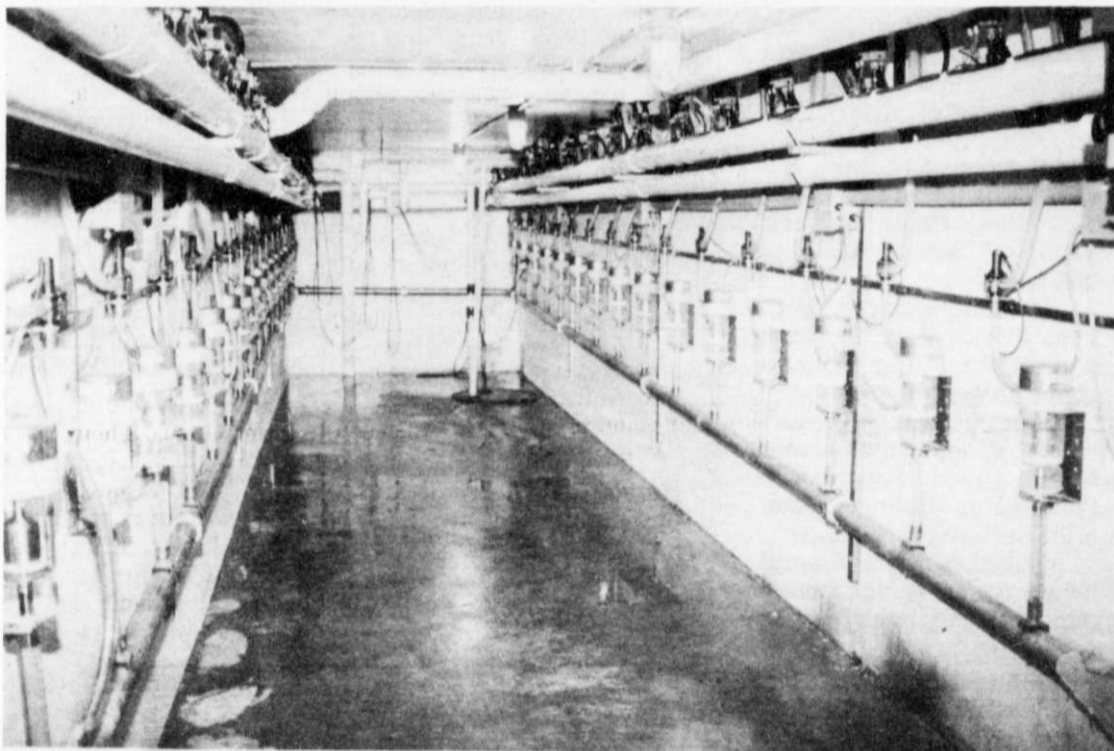

Daughter, Becky, works off the farm at a bakery in Fond du Lac but fills in around the farm when she is needed. Another daughter Chrissy works as a hairdresser. She also fills in and has been seen in the tractor and truck pulls at the local fair.

Six landowners and three renters helped provide the needed land for the event at the Abel's. Some was needed for exhibitors, demonstrations and for parking. The portion where Tent City was located was recently purchased, by the Abel's, from neighbor Steven King. The King family had bought it originally from John and Rose Bonzelet, Allen's grandparents. So after 50 years the farm is back in the family.

Many volunteers and leaders came together to make Farm Progress a big success. From the start, almost three years ago, organizers and committees have been busy putting the event in motion. An estimated 30,000 visitors came the first day, about 35,000 the second and another 20,000 or more the final day. The huge effort made by many people helped to make Wisconsin Farm Progress Days 2000 a big success.

The farm of Allen and Carol Abel expanded its milking parlor to a double 20 stall. The large herd, will soon be 1200 cows, that are milked three times a day. The parlor and many other improvements have been in the works at the same time as the family prepared to host Wisconsin Farm Progress Days. The three-day event was held on July 11, 12 and 13 just outside of Eden.

Allen and Carol Abel host the Wisconsin Farm Progress Days on July 11, 12 and 13. The farm has a subway barn with sophisticated equipment, in the pit, of the milking parlor controls the complex milking system. The stalls in the milking parlor, above it, each have an automatic identification antenna attached to it. The antenna identifies the cow and sends information, like how long it takes to milk and how much is produced, to the computer.

Keep Your Cool With a Well Tuned Air Conditioner

MADISON - Most of us know a tune up can keep our cars running better and help avoid expensive repairs, but it's just as important to keep your home's central air conditioner tuned, according to John Viner with the Wisconsin Energy Conservation Corporation.

"A dirty, poorly maintained central air conditioner doesn't cool as it should, costs more to operate and may wear out before its time," Viner said.

If you have a problem with your central air conditioning, call a local contractor who is specially certified by the HouseWorks™ program. HouseWorks contractors are trained to quickly assess problems ranging from high energy bills to poor air conditioning. And the best part is that the solutions are often simple and inexpensive.

Some of the most common problems that lead to poor or inconsistent air conditioning are:

- Dirty air conditioner filters that restrict airflow.
- Leaks that allow refrigerant to drain from the air conditioner, releasing harmful hydrochlorofluorocarbons or HCFC's into the atmosphere. If a service person has to add refrigerant to your air conditioner each year, you probably have a leak that needs repair.
- Leaks in ductwork that allow cool air to escape to areas like that attic that don't need to be cooled.

"If your central air conditioner needs to be replaced, it's best to buy an energy efficient model," Viner said. "It's a great way to save on energy bills and keep your home more comfortable. When you're deciding which new unit to purchase, avoid buying one that is too big for your home, and make sure it's installed and sized properly by a knowledgeable contractor."

Air conditioning units are often too big for the home they need to cool, according to Viner. That means they turn on and off more than they should, which uses more energy and shortens the life of the unit. An oversized unit may also have trouble removing humidity from the home, making for an uncomfortable feeling indoors."

For more information about air conditioning and other household problems, call the Wisconsin Energy Conservation Corporation at 888-543-8155 and ask for the free HouseWorks brochure. Or visit www.wecusa.org to get the names of HouseWorks contractors and to have your questions answered on an Internet discussion forum.

IN MEMORY

Jeff... it's been six months and it seems like years. Only memories, but so many tears.

It shouldn't have happened, but it did and oh so fast. We couldn't say goodbye.

We didn't think it would last. We loved you then, and we love you still.

Your friendly smile we'll remember and always will.

Thank you to all who stood by the family at this tragic time.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of LONNIE D. MISKE who was taken from us 10 years ago, July 29, 1990:

It's been ten years since God took you away.

We miss you more with each passing day.

Other's may think the wound has healed.

But little do they know the sorrow that lies within our hearts concealed.

We loved you so and always will.

There is a place in our hearts no one can fill.

Gone is the face we loved so dear.

Silent is the voice we loved to hear.

Gone, Not forgotten!

Lakeshore Productions To Present 'Annie'

Lakeshore Productions Inc. of Random Lake and a cast from four counties will present the musical "Annie" at the Random Lake High School Auditorium on August 3, 4, 5, and 6. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. for the Thursday through Saturday shows, and there will be a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday. Reserved tickets (adults $7, children $5) are available now at Doegnitz Ace Hardware in Random Lake.

"Annie" will transport the audience back to Depression era America in 1933. Playing the lead roles of billionaire Oliver Warbucks and the magnetic orphan Annie will be the father-daughter combination of Duane Steen and Emily Steen of Sheboygan. They played the same roles in a 1999 production by Theatre for Young Audiences in Sheboygan.

Warbucks' private secretary, Grace Farrell, will be played by Leslie Langan-Gluck of Adell. She was one of the storytellers in the 1999 Lakeshore Productions' effort of "From the Tower Window." The despised Agatha Hannigan, who directs the New York City Municipal Orphanage - Girls' Annex, will be Rita Horstmeier of Random Lake. She had major roles in "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" and "From the Tower Window."

The conniving Rooster Hannigan will be portrayed by Peter Vander Velden of Belgium, who made his Random Lake High School debut earlier this year in "Night of January 16th." His accomplice, the flamboyant Lily St. Regis, will be played by Brenda Sinnen of Random Lake. She is the most experienced player in the cast with Lakeshore Productions' credits that include "Joseph" as well as many shows at Dominican High School in Whitefish Bay and the Sheboygan Theatre Company.

Joining Annie in the orphanage are Molly (Arielle Huiras of Random Lake), Pepper (Kimberley Bukart of Sheboygan), Kate (Kate Vander Velden of Belgium), Duffie (Melissa Schlenvogt of Port Washington), Tessie (Joy Wenzel of Random Lake) and July (Andrea Goschey of Adell). The rest of the orphans include Sarah Eichler, Alexia Horstmeier and Sarah Veres of Random Lake, Kelsie Niffenegger of Adell, Mollie Overby of Plymouth, Alivia Nordeng of Kewaskum and Anna Rick of Campbellsport. The role of Sandy the dog will be played by Jake Horstmeier of Random Lake.

Bob Deyo of Fredonia, who has played major roles in each Random Lake summer production, returns in 2000 as President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was the Great Oz in "The Wizard of Oz," inspector Sir Ramsay in "The King and I," Jacob in "Joseph" and the Emperor With No Clothes in "From the Tower Window." Deyo just completed the Sheboygan Theatre Company's production of "1776" in the role of Stephen Hopkins.

Members of FDR's cabinet include Frances Perkins (Staci Schluetchermann), Cordell Hull (Brian Schmid), Henry Morgenthau, Jr., (Jeremy Murphy) and Harold Ickes (Aarom Schmit). Playing the role of FDR's secretary Louis Howe will be Erik Buchelt. All five are from Random Lake.

Bert Healy, host of the "Oxydent Hour of Smiles" on WEA radio, will be played by Joe Kraus of Cedarburg. The singing Boylan Sisters include Amie Lousier and Rachel Hass of Random Lake plus Lisa Jaecks of Plymouth.

Drake, Warbucks' English butler, will be played by Fred Niffenegger of Adell, while Cecille, the French maid, will be portrayed by Carissa Jaecks of Plymouth. Mrs. Creer, the housekeeper, will be played by Emily Ritger of Random Lake. Cast as Mrs. Pugh, the cook, is Jean Lord of Fredonia. Acting as the chauffeur will be Ross Beiming of Random Lake. Bundles McCloskey, the laundry man, will be portrayed by Clayton Strang of Random Lake, who also is the student director.

Lt. Ward will be Tim Strang of Random Lake. He made his Lakeshore Productions debut last year as a dragon and as the mayor of Hamelin. Nathan Best of Random Lake will be the dog catcher, and his assistant is Christopher Goschey of Adell.

Other New York residents are: Joe Horstmeier, Nic Horstmeier, Jessica Huiras, Nicole Jacoby, Mandie Lousier, Angela Murphy, Deanna Schmid and Chelsea Strang of Random Lake; Lauren Chilcott, Patrick Jentsch, Tammie Niffenegger and Maria Sandrone of Adell; Laura Feider, Zoe Lord and Sarah Pokrzywinski of Fredonia; Erin Bandler and Katie Fechter of Kewaskum; Dan McCoy of Oostburg; Kyle Schroeder and Aaron Steiner of West Bend. Gary Feider of Random Lake portrays radio commentator H.V. Kaltenborn.

The director of Annie is Peggy Strang of Random Lake, who has played several roles for Lakeshore Productions Inc. and the Sheboygan Theatre Company (best remembered as the Wicked Witch of the West in "The Wizard of Oz"). Karen Christopherson, a Sheboygan teacher and veteran of many musical and drama productions, is the vocal and instrumental director. The choreographer is Melissa Huber of Plymouth, whose many directing credits include the choreography for "Joseph" in 1998. RLHS student Zoe Lord is the assistant to the choreographer.

Dairyland Seed Announces New Corn Releases

Dairyland Seed recently announced the release of 17 new corn hybrids for the 2001 planting season. Each of these varieties can be seen at research tours and field days through the Midwest this fall.

77-Day Stealth-1277 Very early dent-by-dent hybrid with fast drydown. Very good stalk, root, and seedling vigor. Over all comparisons, Stealth-1277 is slightly drier, has better roots and has a 4.2 and 4.7 bushel yield advantage over Stealth-1275 and Pioneer 3941 respectively.

85-Day Stealth-1585 This hybrid possess both very good stalk and test weight. Medium tall plant with semi flex ear type. Has very good early vigor and excellent staygreen. Over all comparisons, Stealth-1585 was slightly drier and 10+ bushels higher yielding than Pioneer variety 3914.

89-DAY STEALTH-1089BT We believe this to be the highest yielding early Bt hybrid available today. Features race-horse yields on a medium tall plant with excellent disease resistance.

90 Day Stealth-1490 This hybrid demonstrates terrific yield punch. Stealth-1490 is characterized by excellent emergence and early vigor. Medium plant height with good stalks and roots. Over four years of testing it is showing a 6 bushel yield advantage and equal moisture to Pioneer variety 3893.

92-Day Stealth-1492 Stealth-1492 is a medium tall plant type with a semi-flex ear. It features very good emergence with medium to fast drydown. Over all comparisons, Stealth-1492 is showing a five bushel yield advantage with better stalks than Pioneer variety 3893.

96 Day Stealth-1596 A high yielding hybrid. Early flowering for its maturity. Sets up grain early. Over all comparisons, Stealth-1596 was drier with better roots, in addition, to four bushels higher yielding than Novartis N303Bt. Stealth-1596 showed a seven bushel advantage to Pioneer 3730 in GENI strip plots.

98 Day Stealth-1498 High yielding, fast drying hybrid with good adaptation. Stealth-1498 outyields N3030Bt by 9 bu/a. and is one point wetter. Outyields Pioneer variety 3730 by 4 bu/a. and is .8 wetter. Exhibits very good ear flex and tip fill. Excellent seedling vigor. Good late season intactness with strong stalks and roots.

102/100 Day Stealth-1502 Adapted to central and western Corn Belt and irrigated environments. Very good seedling vigor. Moderately long ear type with excellent flex. Over all comparisons Stealth-1502 is drier with better roots and has a six bushel yield advantage over Novartis N4640Bt.

103/101 Day Stealth-140Bt A YieldGard version of our popular Stealth-1401. Slightly wetter with the same strong yields.

106/104 Day Stealth-1606 Very high yield potential. An attractive, eye appealing hybrid. Very good early plant vigor. Slender semi-flex ear with deep kernels. Over all comparisons, Stealth-1606 is five bushels higher yielding, .6 drier, and has better roots than Pioneer variety 35N05.

106/104 Day Stealth-1609 A high yielding hybrid with good stress tolerance and superior roots and stalks. Gray leaf spot tolerant. Adopted to all soil types. When compared to Pioneer variety 3489, Stealth-1609 is the same moisture and showing a six bushel yield advantage with better stalks and roots. Good stress tolerance.

111/109 Day Stealth-1611 A hybrid with outstanding yield potential. Large girthy ears. Medium tall plant type with a semi flex ear. Very good early plant vigor. Great stay green. Over all comparisons, Stealth-1611 is .5 drier and nine bushels higher yielding than Pioneer variety 34R07.

112/110 Day Stealth-1410Bt A YieldGard version of our popular Stealth-1410. Slightly wetter, but same strong yields.

113/111 Day Stealth-1412Bt A YieldGard version of Stealth-1412 with good gray leaf spot tolerance. Stealth-1412Bt travels well across all soil types and is an excellent corn-on-corn hybrid. Features similar attributes to our Stealth-1412 hybrid.

114/111 Day Stealth-1414 This hybrid has the potential for high yields. Related to Stealth-1412, it is a slightly later hybrid. A medium tall plant with semi flex ear type. It also has great early plant vigor. Over all comparisons Stealth-1414 is .25 drier and 8.5 bushels higher yielding than Pioneer variety 33G26.

117/114 Day Stealth-1117 Stealth-1117 is a rough, robust hybrid that's ideal for the southern Corn Belt. Packs on strong yields. Average roots, with slightly slower drydown. Given the heat units, it will outperform Stealth-1412. Strong in the Plains States.

120/117 Day Stealth-1020 A super tonnage hybrid - excellent for silage. Ideal for the hot growing season in California. This hybrid responds to nitrogen, especially during the season irrigated soils. Very tall, high eared hybrid. Slow drydown.

Founded in 1907 in St. Kilian, Dairyland Seed Co., Inc. is the only family-held seed company that conducts proprietary plant breeding programs in hybrid corn, soybeans and alfalfa.

Improvement Scheduled for Theresa Marsh Wildlife Area

MILWAUKEE - Theresa Marsh Wildlife Area, a 6,000-acre Wildlife Area located in Washington and Dodge counties, is undergoing enhancements to benefit wildlife.

From now through mid-August, the Department of Natural Resources is lowering water levels on Theresa Marsh to upgrade a large water control structure on the south refuge. The new structure will house two automated electric pumps to manage water levels on about 200 acres to provide for optimum waterfowl use.

During the drawdown, DNR staff will begin re-posting signs on the refuge boundaries to let the public know when the areas are closed. Theresa Marsh has two refuges, each about 1,000 acres in size, which are closed to public access in the fall to provide food and sanctuary for waterfowl. Beginning this year and in future years, the refuges will be closed September 1 through December 31.

"The reason for this change is to allow more recreational opportunities in the refuges, such as late season bow hunting, pheasant hunting, and muskrat trapping during the period when the marsh is normally frozen over and most waterfowl have left," said DNR wildlife biologist Tom Isaac. Waterfowl hunting is not allowed in the refuge areas.

Issac said boundary posting will be complete, and water levels should be back to normal fall levels before the duck season opens.

Indians Eliminated From State Tourney

The Indians traveled to Campbellsport on Tuesday, July 18, for a State Regional Finals game against the Cougars and were defeated by a score of 7-5.

Campbellsport scored three in the bottom of the first, when, after one out, Jake Flood worked Kewaskum pitcher Bob Ogi for a walk.

Steve Ketter singled into the hole at short on a hit-and-run. As shortstop Jason Calliari was moving to cover second, Ketter hit a ball into the hole vacated by Calliari.

An unsuccessful throw to get Flood out at third allowed Ketter to take second. Curt Beck grounded out to second, scoring Flood. Then Clint Beck's single up the middle pushed Ketter across the plate. Brian Beau, courtesy runner for pitcher Beck, advanced to third on a Kevin Soyk single, and then scored on a wild pitch.

Behind 3-0, the Indians couldn't get on the board until the fourth inning. After two outs, Calliari doubled and scored on a line drive to left by Josh Parrent.

Campbellsport scored another run in the fifth on a Jake Flood triple and Curt Beck singled to push the score to 4-1.

In the sixth, it looked like the Indians would again mount one of their patented "come from behind victories." They took the lead by scoring four runs to take a 5-4 lead. Kewaskum sent nine players to the plate. Calliari, Parrent and Chris Canter had hits and the Cougars helped with three errors.

But the lead was short-lived as Campbellsport used their half of the sixth to score three to take the lead back at 7-5, where the game ended as the Indians went down 1-2-3. The loss ended the Indian season with a 15-10 overall record.

"Every team's season ends in a loss, except for the State Champ," expounded Coach Mark Heise. "So when you do lost that final game, there's that feeling you could have done more."

Eastern Wisconsin Conference champ Campbellsport won the #4 Sectional, while EWC No. Two team, New Holstein, won the # Three Sectional. Both teams moved through their respective Regionals and were scheduled to play in the State Tournament in Stevens Point on Wednesday, July 26.

"I guess finishing behind those two teams was a bigger accomplishment than it seemed at the time," commented Heise at a later date.

Five Indians Receive All-Conference Honors

The Eastern Wisconsin Conference coaches and League Commissioner Dennis Shemp met in Plymouth on July 16 to select the All-Conference players for the 2000 season. Conference Champion Campbellsport, second place New Holstein, and number three Kewaskum dominated the selection process. Each of the teams placed five players on the All-Conference teams.

Campbellsport had four first teamers: pitcher Clint Beck; catcher Steve Ketter, and position players Jake Flood and Curt Beck. Pitcher Jim Ziegler was a Second Team selection.

The Indians had two First Team selections and three Second Teamers. Position player Brad Vetter was a unanimous choice with all seven coaches voting for Vetter. "You cannot vote for your own players," commented Coach Mark Heise. There were only three players receiving unanimous votes: Cory Nickel of New Holstein, Mike Wieser of Plymouth and Vetter of Kewaskum.

"It's quite a tribute to Brad to be recognized as one of the top players in our Conference," said Heise. He hit .368 (25x68) with 23 RBI's. Brad pitched all nine innings in an extra-inning victory over Campbellsport on June 29, which is the only loss they had in Conference play and the last time they've lost a game going into state in Stevens Point."

Jason Strobel was also selected to the First Team for his play as a centerfielder. He hit .314 with 20 RBI's. "Jason was one of the top home run hitters in the Conference with five dingers," remarked Heise. He also had five assist throw-outs, three at home plate during the Conference season.

Junior pitcher Bob Ogi was selected to the Second Team as a Pitcher. He amassed a 54.3 innings on the mound, striking out 46 with a 3.07 ERA. "Bob ended Conference play with a 7-4 record," stated Heise.

The two sophomore outfielders playing alongside Strobel also received Second Team awards. Leftfielder Chris Canter hit .366 (26x71). He scored 20 runs and stole eight bases. "Chris' fast step played a large part in his selection as he ran a lot of balls down in the field and was an excellent base runner," commented Heise. "The same can be said of his co-part in rightfield, Tony Fitts. His speed also attributed to his value to the team," added Heise. Fitts was 18x47, for a .383 average scoring 15 runs and stealing eight bases.

Justin Rhoads received a vote for catcher, but the talent at that position in our conference is very strong. So 'Rhodeo' was awarded Honorable Mention," expounded Heise. He went 20x65 with 17 RBI's and only five strike outs for the year.

"There is no substitute for speed," commented Heise. "It was directly responsible for at least four of our wins. I would like to congratulate all of the recipients, but it still takes a total team effort to accomplish what we did. So to the rest of the team, I applaud you as well. Thanks for another season of great memories!"

The final task at the coaches meeting is the assembly of the team of senior players to represent the Conference in the Fourth Annual Senior Classic to be played at Howard's Grove on Saturday, July 29, at 1 p.m.

Seniors from the Eastern Wisconsin Conference square off against seniors from the Central Lakeshore Conference in a nine-inning contest to showcase the talent from both leagues.

This year Kewaskum will be represented by Utility Player Brad Vetter, Outfielder Jason Strobel, and Shortstop/Pitcher Jason Calliari. Mark Heise will be assisting Jerry Raether of Campbellsport, and Chuck LeFeber of New Holstein as the coaching team. Coaches from the first three finishes are selected to coach the game. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The EW Baseball All-Conference Team for the year 2000 includes:

The Kewaskum JV baseball team finished the 2000 season with a 12-2 record against opponents in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, which secured a first place finish for the team.

The last game of the season was on Tuesday, July 11, versus a tough Campbellsport team. Travis Kempf started on the mound for the Indians and held the Cougars to one run and six scattered hits.

Adam Hubacek entered the game with one out in the seventh inning and the tying run standing on first base. Hubacek struck out the only two Cougars he faced to save the win. The offensive stars of the game were Darren Schultst, Jake Wilson, and Lee Schacht with two hits apiece. The win gave Kewaskum a season sweep of Campbellsport and a first place finish for the Indians.

The JV Indians hit the ball well all season, with an incredibly high team batting average of .344. They were led in hitting by centerfielder Kevin Schneider, who had a scalding hot average of .618.

Other players who had averages in excess of .400 included Jake Wilson, Noah Koch, Drew Donath, Adam Hubacek, Andy Canales, Justin Wessing, and Lee Schacht.

The bulk of the pitching duties were handled by Adam Hubacek and Travis Kempf. Jake Wilson, Peter Herriges, Matt Hartman, and Lee Schacht also helped on the mound by pitching quality innings.

Congratulations to all of the players and their families on an excellent season!
