O&R Annexation Request Denied By VB Town Residents Speak Out Against Village Annexation

By Andrew R. Kuehl Staff Writer/Photographer

A mixture of over 30 village and town of Kewaskum residents and their attorneys crowded the meeting chambers of the Kewaskum Village Board for a public hearing Monday evening to speak against the idea of annexing a 117 acre parcel of land into the village without a said developers agreement.

Attorney William Hickmann who represented almost all the town residents involved stated their main concern was the village was annexing land without a purpose or direct plan.

The cost of them having to put in water and sewer was another issue the town residents had. They wanted to see landowners Dr. Charles Ogi and James Reigle or a future developer pay for the cost of putting in their sewer and water.

Attorney Stephen Bauer represented Ogi and Riegle, petitioners.

Bauer stated that Reigle and Ogi have used their own funds to gain easements and have demonstrated long range planning in possibly dedicating land and paying for the completion of Edgewood Road. Currently Edgewood starts as a boulevard and goes into one lane at the top of a huge incline.

Village resident Tom McElhatton asked the board how they could annex the land without creating an island. Village Attorney Gerald Keifer assured him they were not creating an island.

Another town resident, Steven Spoerl stated that several of the residents involved are retired and can't afford to put in the sewer.

Village president, John Kenworthy brought up the idea of a deferred payment plan or the village could loan the money to them.

Trustee Andy Pesch liked the idea of being able to see sidewalk put up along Highway H so kids could go to the Kiwanis park.

Kenworthy added that annexing the land is part of the village's long range plan.

Town resident Bill Lehmann brought up the fact that anything could happen with the land, including a gravel pit. "look what happened to the malthouse, what was the plan with that?"

Kenworthy told him that was totally irrelevant.

Town of Kewaskum Chairman, Scott Sager was present and offered his view. "Annexation is inevitable, we're not going to spend taxpayer money fighting it."

He suggested that this is an opportune time for the village and town to get together and have some long range plans.

James Reigle spoke on behalf of himself and Dr. Ogi.

He stated that he and Ogi wanted to dissolve their 40 year partnership before it becomes a mess for their families.

"We've tried to do things honorably,we met with everyone involved, some of these people twice" said Reigle.

Fillmore firefighter and first responder Andy Degnitz is shown removing an injured boy from the simulated explosion held at Camp Awana, Fillmore this past Monday evening. Those departments that took part in the simulation were Fillmore, Newburg, Random Lake, Waubeka, Kewaskum, Boltonville and West Bend. The "explosion" caused 28 injuries and 2 fatalities of volunteer teens who help out at the camp. Mark Van Natta, organizer of the explosion, said it occurred when an oven was not lighting and after thinking it was lit, a cook checked it at which time it sparked and exploded. The Fillmore Fire Department sponsored the large practice drill for area fire and rescue personnel. Van Natta stated "It went very well." Their main concern for the drill was to see how well the other departments worked together and to find their strengths and weaknesses in case of a disaster. The camp has about a 1000 kids coming through during the summer months. "(They) did a super job." said Van Natta. Statesman Photo by Andrew Kuehl More photos on Page 5

US Highway 45 Widening

Project Plans Taking Shape

Kewaskum officials came back from a Washington County Highway Committee meeting with a glowing report on the US Highway 45 project. Village Administrator Daniel Schmidt announced the details of a meeting attended by himself and Department of Public Works superintendent Jerry Gilles last Thursday.

Right now the DOT is buying right of ways for the 4.5 mile project that will cost an estimated $9 milunder USH 45. There are no plans currently to connect this trail with the State Forest, at least not in the near future. May use Rails to Trails program if the high speed rail does not use the railway corridor.

◆ The plan calls for the relocation of a drainage ditch. A permanent conservation easement has been received. The easement varies from 220' to 260' from the center line of the existing USH 45.

◆ An access road off of Badger Road is planned 3-5 years after the completion of the USH 45 project. The road will be built to Best Trailer Corp. This concept was designed for future extension of USH 45.

lion. All plans are due by July 1, 2002. The start of construction will tentatively begin May 1, 2003.

Major design features include:

◆ Badger Road intersection- This plan calls for Badger Road to be realigned with Highway H, the intersection will be signalized and USH 45 will have exclusive right and left turn lanes.

◆ A two way left turn lane will be installed north of the existing USH 45 and Sandy Ridge Road intersection, south of the Coast to Coast Hardware driveway. The center lane is 14' wide and the other lanes are 12'

 The Ice Age Trail is planned to run up to and ◆ If the Midwest High Speed Rail Initiative goes through Kewaskum the intersection at USH 45 and Sandy Ridge Road will be removed and replaced with a cul-de-sac. Another alternative is to run the rail through Allenton.

◆ Officials say that sidewalk on the west side of USH 45 will remain untouched by the construction.

◆ Lastly for Kewaskum, a box culvert north of the project boundaries, near the intersection of Roseland Drive and USH 45 will be replaced. The Public hearing was closed, rules were suspended and a motion was made by Trustee Pesch in favor of the annexation. In a rare move president Kenworthy made the second motion to get the ball rolling for everyone to vote.

Trustees Stoltzmann, Scheunemann and Heiser voted against the idea.

Pesch, Kenworthy and Ammel voted in favor of the annexation. Trustee Piwoni was absent.

To pass, the proposal would have needed five votes in favor of it. Whether or not the proposal will be revisited remains to be seen.

Village President John Kenworthy and Kewaskum Woman's Club President Gwendolyn Dreher were on hand to make the awards presentation.

Each award winner is also recognized by having the blue and white award sign placed in their front yard for display until October.

The Annual Village Beautification Awards have greatly enhanced the total "look" of this community's beautification project. Since the program began in 1997, there has been a visible difference in the village's appearance, as more and more residents are planting attractive gardens to enhance their yards.

It has become a domino effect and everyone should be applauded for their diligent work and efforts to make this project a success and be proud of their village. Congratulations!

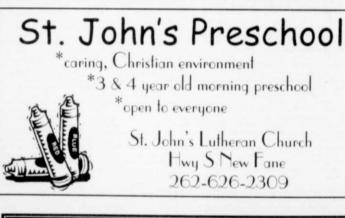

The Kewaskum Woman's Club and the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce in addition to the Kewaskum Village Parks Committee, shares the presentation of the flowers of the 15 stone flower planters located throughout the village main streets, and Highways 45 and 28.

A special thank you to community businesses and residents for water maintenance of the flower pots which is well appreciated during the hot summer days.

Now is the time to start thinking about your yard for next year's awards. The beautification committee was recently given approval to present an additional award for 2002, which will bring the total awards to four.

UWWC Music Professor Emeritus Peter Ayer Dies in Plane Crash

WEST BEND -- Musician, composer, champion high-diver and aviation enthusiast Peter Ayer, UWWC Professor Emeritus of music, died Tuesday in a plane in Georgia.

Joel Rodney, dean and campus CEO at the University of Wisconsin -Washington County, said that Ayer's loss was a serious blow to the campus. "Pete, even in retirement, was a force at this college. The music department here, as well as the community musical groups he helped found, like the Moraine Chorus, bear his stamp and always will."

Ayer first came to the college in 1969, after graduating from Ohio State University to teach summer sessions in the new college's music department.

From the first, letters of praise and commendation for Ayer's musical prowess poured into the University praising Ayer for his talent as musician and teacher. Typical of the thick file of such letters is one from Ed Muelling, orchestra director at the Silverbrook Middle School, in West Bend, dated Nov. 18, 1988.

"Dear Pete, Words can't explain the joy you have brought to myself, the orchestra, and parents by sharing your skills and talents with us at our performance on Nov. 17. You have added the little extra to our performances that is above and beyond to help make our concerts a success. Or this one, from UW Center-Washington County Dean Robert Thompson, dated April 12, 1979, praising the college theater production of the musical "Godspell," of which Ayer was musical director:

"Dear Pete, thank you for your contribution of the "Godspell" production. It was an outstanding show and was well-received by all who attended."

Or this letter to the editors of the West Bend Daily News, dated March 17, 1980, following the college's production of the musical "Fiddler on the Roof" in which Ayer again fine-tuned the many musical numbers:

"...this show is a must for all theater lovers. Do yourself a real favor. Brave the snow and the cold to get there. I guarantee you'll leave filled with warmth."

Perhaps not as readily known are the facts that Ayer also was a champion high-diver, amassing many medals and awards over the years, as well as a licensed private and commerical pilot. Included in his thick file at UWWC is a pilot history form, showing Ayer received his pilot's license, no #1089749, in 1948, and his commercial pilot's license, in 1973.

Rodney said those facets of Ayer's life were reflections of the man's versatility and talent.

"Pete had such impact on music and musical appreciation in this community," Rodney said. "He was muchloved by his students, and a great influence especially on those who intended to further their musical studies.

"Indeed, many times, when his former students were ready to graduate, they would ask him to attend their senior recitals.

"Pete will be sorely missed here, by his friends and fellow faculty members," Rodney said, "and most especially by anyone who loves music."

Peace Church Sponsors Habitat for Humanity Groups

This past June, Peace Church sponsored two Habitat For Humanity trips. The first was to Roachdale, Indiana the week of June 10th. At this time 15 youths and five adults stayed at Roachdale Christian Church and started the construction of a new home.

The people on this trip were Bree Boettcher, Malia Dickman, Brandon Gitter, Jamie and Stacy Imler, Dan Kletti, Emily Ogi, Eric Runquist, Noah Schoofs, Katie Steinhardt, Tyler Steinhardt, Gretchen and Katie Van Ess, Eric Weston, Mandi Will, Pastor Eric Kirkegaard, Karen Kletti, Clark Pearson, Sheri Rehn, and Norma Rivera. The Habitat crew accomplished putting on the deck, the exterior and interior walls of the new home.

On June 23, 18 people left for Mankato, Minnesota to build a home for the Frederickson family. This time the crew had to start by putting up forms for the basement walls. By the weeks end, the basement walls were poured, the deck was on and the exterior walls were all in place. The Frederickson family worked with the volunteers and were elated to see the progress that was made.

This year's adult crew included - Pastor Eric Kirkegaard, Toni Farrel, Maury Hovland, Char Keller, David and Karen Kletti, Mike McElhatton, Clark Pearson, Colleen and Dean Roe, Mary and Samantha Schoofs, Clayton Stautz, Lauren and Mary Steinhardt, Kathy Zahn, and Connie and Howard Zemlicka. This year the trips included members from Holy Trinity and St. Lucas churches.

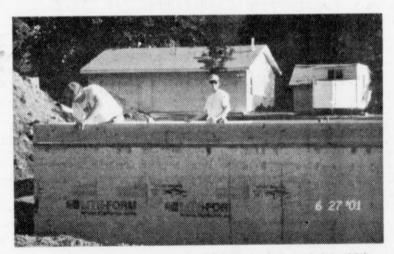

Both in Roachdale and Mankato the group was able to visit the completed homes that were worked on last year. It was very gratifying to see the appreciation expressed by the homeowners as they visited with them.

On both trips the crew labored in temperatures in the 90's, but managed to stay on task and enjoy their work.

This is the 15th year that Peace Church has sponsored Habitat For Humanity trips.

Labor Costs and BBA: Leading Factors In Rising Hospital Expenses

St. Joseph's Community Hospital has announced that it will be discussing a potential rate increase in preparation for its new fiscal year that begins July 1, 2001.

Rising labor costs, inadequate government reimbursement, uncollectible receivables, and the price of sophisticated health care technology are driving up costs for hospitals across the country, and St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend is no exception. The hospital is anticipating that those costs will make a rate increase necessary in the coming months.

Labor costs are becoming increasingly demanding on the bottom lines of hospitals nationwide. A national shortage of nurses and other health care professionals is also impacting the health care environment.

According to the Employment Training Institute at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee, there were 2, 170 openings for registered nurses in May in Milwaukee County alone. There were 255 openings for LPN's and 1,392 openings for nursing assistants and related occupations.

Over 60% of St. Joseph's costs are associated with people. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 2000 wages and employee benefits accounted for more than $20.6 million of the hospitals $36 million in operating expenses, up over $1 million from the previous year.

St. Joseph's consistently has about 20 to 25 job openings. Many of the hospital's 670 employees are highly skilled, with years of advanced education, special training and certification. The problem, said John Catel, vice president of human resources, is that it takes a lot longer to find employees today, and that costs money, too, for example, in overtime for current staff.

"We have very specific job requirements for highly skilled professionals, like nurses, rehabilitation therapists and radiology technologists. Schools are not turning out enough health care graduates, and we're facing a nursing shortage that hasn't even peaked yet. We compete with other health care institutions for those same people," Catel said.

The inability to hire a fill complement of health care staff also means the hospital must often contract for nurses and other labor, at about double the cost, noted Catel.

The State Department of Workforce Development indicates the need for registered nursing positions has been increasing at a rate of 609 annually since 1996, a trend that's expected to continue at least until 2006.

"It took 334 days to find a nuclear medicine technologist, 244 days to find a surgical tech, 194 days for an operating room charge nurse," Catel said. "We are becoming more creative in recruiting. Competition for limited resources in health care positions is driving both wages and benefits higher - the bottom line is supply and demand."

"We need to bring in people at a higher skill level than other businesses and must remain open 24 hours a day while maintaining a safe level of care. As an employer, we also have to provide benefits and pay our people competitively. Our philosophy is to be at market level for our industry," said Catel. "The other side is that the costs of our employees are passed on to the consumer, as in any other business."

Inadequate reimbursement from the government because of the Balanced Budget Act (BBA) is also affecting St. Joseph's costs. Medicare and Medicaid pay only about 52% of the actual charges for services provided by the hospital. In fact, the hospital loses money on some services. Thirty-seven percent of everything the hospital charges in not collectable because of charity care or contractual agreements such as Medicare and Medicaid, according to Mike Malzewski, chief financial officer.

Nearly 45% of the hospital's total charges are billed to Medicare, including inpatient, outpatient, subacute, and mental health services. That's higher than the national average among peer comparison group hospitals, and reflects a larger number of older adults living in this community, a population that is expected to grow.

With Medicare paying the hospital only about half of what actual costs are, the unmet costs are absorbed by everyone else who pays for hospital services, "cost shifted" from one service to another.

"Because of inadequate reimbursement, we have to charge $16 to get $8," said Malzewski.

Despite hospital price increases over recent years St. Joseph's gross charges per adjusted patient day, inpatient and outpatient, were at $1,803 in the last quarter of 2000, in the 20 to 25 percentile of charges by a group of similar hospitals nationwide. In a sampling of comparable Wisconsin hospitals in a benchmarking group to which St. Joseph's belongs, its charges were at the 30 to 35 percentile. This means that 65 to 70% of other hospitals in the compare group charge more.

"We're very cost-conscious and have benefited from good fiscal management over the years. We don't have the ability to make market adjustments on a daily basis, unlike a gas station that has the ability to raise the price of gas a few pennies a day," said Malzewski.

St. Joseph's has had a history of some of the lowest rates in southeastern Wisconsin. Since the early 1980s, the hospital went for years without or with very small price increases. But the hospital fell significantly behind - as much as 50 to 60% - other hospitals in terms of its rates. The latest rate increases were attempts to bring the hospital rates closer to market, Malzewski explained.

Technology also affects costs. New technology needed to diagnose and treat disease, including a linear accelerator used to treat cancer patients, a new CT, MRI and ultrasound imaging equipment is costly but necessary to maintain the level of care demanded by patients and their physicians, and to ensure that high quality care is available locally.

Some of this equipment costs $1 million or more, not including the additional costs of maintaining the sophisticated equipment and the cost of hiring personnel with advanced skills to operate it.

Other factors affecting higher costs include more demanding government regulations and the added staffing efforts needed to fulfill them, uncollectable receivables, and higher energy and supply costs.

St. Joseph's number one priority is to provide high quality health care to patients, said hospital officials. At the same time, the hospital is actively pursuing ways to reduce costs to remain competitive and provide a high level of health care services to the community.

Back to School. . .

Setting the Foundation For Student Achievement

By continuing the instructional process at home, you can help accelerate your child's achievement. When parents work with children at home, teachers can tell the difference.

Here are some things you can do to help your kids learn at home:

*Communicate high expectations.

* Read to your children at an early age. Children benefit most from reading aloud when they discuss stories, talk about the meanings of words and learn to identify letters and words.

* Make homework a priority. Student achievement rises substantially when teachers assign homework regularly and students do it conscientiously. Encourage your child to work independently, but offer assistance when necessary.

* Turn off the television, and turn on family activities. With the TV off, you'll be surprised how much more time you have to do things together that will benefit your child physically, intellectually and socially.

* Ask questions about the child's school work and relate it to everyday events. Take your children to libraries, museums, zoos and historical sites.

* Give your child responsibility both at home and in the community. Encourage volunteerism, and model good citizenship for your child.

* Teach writing as a process of brainstorming, composing, revising and editing. Quick feedback is essential for student writers. Encourage your child to keep a journal and to participate in school publications.

Math and science can be difficult subjects for some students - and parents. Here are some suggestions to help:

Math

*If you were weak in math, don't pass along your fears to your child.

*Common toys and games can help children become familiar with numbers. Try clocks, play money, bingo, Monopoly, dominoes and cards.

*As soon as children learn to count, put their new knowledge to work at every opportunity.,

* Let children measure the ingredients for your cooking.

*Let children manage their allowances. Encourage them to keep written records of their savings and spending.

*Encourage older children to keep the household budget books, double-check the math on grocery receipts and credit card bills, even balance your checkbook.

*Take advantage of any interest your child has in statistic-intensive sports, such as baseball. Encourage any tendency in your child to become a walking encyclopedia of statistics on any subject.

Science

*Try not to show distaste for a child's interest in insects, "scummy" water and other aspects of nature.

*Encourage children to tinker with old clocks and broken appliances (after removing electrical cords).

* Encourage children to start a vegetable or flower garden.

* Foster an interest in scientific observation with binoculars, an aquarium, a microscope, telescope or magnifying glass.

* Science-related outings could include nature preserves; vacations to the mountains, seashores or forests; zoos; aquariums; and tours of laboratories or manufacturing plants.

*Encourage any interest in collecting rocks, leaves, shells, flowers or other natural objects. Provide a place to display these collections.

IN MEMORY

In memory of our grandfather and great-grandfather, WILLIAM HARBECK, who passed away 13 years ago, August 10, 1988:

We hold in our tears when we speak your name

But the ache in our hearts remains the same.

No one knows the sorrow that we share.

When our families meet and you are not there.

Nothing will ever be more beautiful than the memories that are of you.

And there is comfort in the thought,

That as the years go by, Our memories grow dearer still,

For love can never die.

One of the many Technology Education classes at KHS, is a class called Mass Production. The product chosen for this semester was a challenging Junior Grandfather Clock. The picture above shows the clocks after the construction has been completed.

Processes still to be completed include finishing (staining and/or spraying of lacquer), and the installation of etched glass, and the installation of electronic clock components.

The class activities prior to the day of this picture included the making of all the various parts and subassemblies. Once these parts were completed each student selected his own components and completed the final assembly.

The students involved in this project deserve a great big "Pat on the Back." They did a very nice job on a very difficult project.

"Congratulations guys."

Girl Scouts of Manitou Council Awarded Kresge Challenge Grant

In June 2000 the Girl Scouts of Manitou Council embarked on a $2,100,000 capital campaign to improve its camps so that the most valuable outdoor experience possible will continue to be provided in modern, safe and healthy settings. Todate through the generosity of contributors to the campaign $1,793,889 or 85% of the goal has been raised.

In December 2000 the Kresge Foundation awarded a $200,000 dollar challenge new challenges presented by their communities or sustaining activities that have demonstrated their effectiveness."

"We are very pleased that the Kresge Foundation found the Girl Scouts of Manitou Council's camp +capital improvement campaign worthy of such a generous grant. This is a direct reflection of the outstanding Girl Scout program the council provides and the significant impact Girl Scouting has on the lives of young girls," said Liesl Testwuide Rice, council president. Rice added "Since 1948 these beautiful camp properties have provided years of fun and learning opportunities for hundreds of thousands of girls. We are grateful for the generous support of the community to this capital campaign that will enable these improvements and additions to be made. The updated facilities will meet the needs of today's girls and adult volunteers for many years to come." Girl Scouts of Manitou Council currently serves more than 5,750 girls, one in every six girls, compared to a national average of one in nine girls, and more than 1,600 adult volunteers in the counties of Calumet, Dodge, Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington.

As the girl membership soars to an all time high, more girls go overnight camping with their troop, attend resident camp with a buddy or with their troop, or attend one of the many outdoor program events held at camp year-round.

With the increase in girl membership, and the increase in summer camp attendance, and since many low-income families cannot afford the minimal camping fees, the demand for (financial Camperships assistance) is on the rise. Last year $4,500 was given in financial assistance in the form of Camperships to girls attended summer who camp. No girl is ever turned away from attending camp because of her inability to pay. In addition, to make summer camp affordable for all girls, Girl Scouts of Manitou Council subsidizes camp fees by more than 60 percent. Persons interested in supporting this camp capital improvements campaign may "Make a Lasting Impression" by purchasing a brick for the courtyard of the Grace Carlson Bemis Welcome Center at Camp Evelyn. To support this campaign please contact Girl Scouts of Manitou Council at (920) 565-4575.

Letter to the Editor:

The County Fair has completed another record breaking run. Weather, entertainment, exhibits, and commercial vendors all contributed to its success. Thanks to them, droves of people attended.

Volunteers again were in evidence. Without them the show would not have taken place. There are too many to name, but they know who they are and what they contributed. Volunteers from the Ag-Industrial Society as well as the various groups such as 4-H, Kiwanis, FFA, and just plain helpful hard working citizens. Thanks to all, you can't imagine the role you play in the success of the Fair.

The staff at Fair Park once again picked up the pace and got the job done. Short staffed and much overtime showed the tenacity of our people at Fair Park. Thanks to our newcomers Nancy Justman, Fair Park Director and Shauna Holford, Special Events Manager for "diving in" and doing a great job.

article featured a farm family that offers cow-leasing arrangements for the purpose of providing raw (unpasturized) milk to consumers. Mr. Dan Siegmann stated certain health benefits may be derived from drinking raw cow's milk, but these claims raise some important issues.

There is little doubt that drinking raw milk and eating raw milk cheeses may be harmful, especially to individuals in certain age and health status categories. People in the high-risk category include children under age six, the elderly, and those with an immuno-suppressive illness (such as cancer, AIDS, diabetes, cirrhosis). Pregnant woman are at risk for spontaneous abortion in the early months of pregnancy; the health of the fetus may be at risk later in pregnancy. Some diseases that have been linked to the consumption of raw milk products include tuberculosis, typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, gastroenteritis, listeriosis, as well as illness from Campylobacter, E coli and Salmonella bacteria. People living on a farm may be at lower risk for contracting some of these foodborne illthen non-farm nesses dwellers because they have developed a tolerance or immunity based on previous exposure.

The pasteurized milk that we buy commercially has just as much calcium as raw milk, plus some added nutritional benefits - fortification with vitamin D (which enhances absorption of calcium by the body for healthy bones) and vitamin A. Nutritional analysis of raw and pasteurized milk show no significant differences in the thiamin, vitamin B 12, and riboflavin content. Other nutrients remain just as usable to our bodies (bioavailable) after the milk has been pasteurized. It is technically true that some enzymes in raw milk are inactivated by pasteurization. However, those enzymes do not affect the condition known as lactose itary practices, humans and the environment may accidentally introduce diseaseproducing organisms into raw milk. Pasteurization is an extra measure taken for the benefit of consumers; it ensures the safety, extends the shelf life, and stabilizes the quality of milk. Those who are concerned about health and nutrition would be wise to take these facts into account when deciding whether to consume raw milk products.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street

President John D. Kenworthy presided. Trustee Mathew Heiser asked to be excused and was absent, all other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Larry Ammel, seconded by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of the June 4, 2001 meeting were approved as corrected and printed.

A public hearing was conducted on an application for Combination Class "A" Fermented Malt Beverage and Intoxicating Liquor License renewal. There were no objections from the floor to the application as publicly noticed and read. The Police Department had no objections to the application. On a motion by Trustee Larry Ammel, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 6 'Aye" 0 "Nay" 1 "Absent"

Chairman of the Park and Recreation Committee, Mathew Heiser was not present.

It was noted that a request to waive the park fee for ball diamonds for a weekend tournament was to be discussed. The Village Board discussed the issue of waiving fees and it was noted the Village is not a profit type business and that when we reduce revenue we need to realize tax money must make up the difference.

If the waiving of the fee benefits the Village or youth groups etc. within the Village that is one thing, but when fees are waived and the proceeds leave the community we are not taking care of our own taxpayers. More discussion and a policy is to be established regarding this matter. On a motion by Trustee Thomas Piwoni, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board directed the diamond / park fees be waived for the weekend of July 20-22, 2001.

The Village Board received a letter of concern regarding the KKCP. The Administrator was advised to call the party and review the rules with them.

Dairyland Seed Releases New Soybean Varieties

WEST BEND

Dairyland Seed recently announced the release of 18 new soybean varieties for the 2002 planting season.

Each of these varieties can be seen at research tours and field days through the Midwest this fall. The descriptions of new products for this area include:

DSR-030/RR - Maturity 0.3. Dairyland's earliest Roundup Ready soybean, DSR-030/RR features very good iron chlorosis tolerance and superb yields. It has good tolerance to white mold and Rps1c resistance to phytophthora.

DSR-061 - Maturity 0.6. Extremely high yielding with Rps1k resistance to phytophthora root rot. Shows very good white mold tolerance. Although earlier, it outperforms Pioneer variety 9092 and Novartis S12-49 by two bushels in Dairyland trials.

DSR-101/RR - Maturity 1.1. DSR-101/RR features very high yields with excellent iron chlorosis tolerance. Also features brown stem resistance and very good white mold tolerance.

DSR-151/RR - Maturity 1.5. DSR-151/RR features very high yields, excellent white mold tolerance, very good iron chlorosis, and very good phytophthora tolerance. Carries resistance to brown stem rot.

DSR-160 - Maturity 1.6. Outyielding DSR-173, DSR-158, and DSR-150, this soybean features moderate resistance to brown stem rot with very good tolerance to iron chlorosis, phytophthora root rot and white mold. Has very strong yields. Features STS Tolerance.

DSR-183 - Maturity 1.9.

A very high yielding soybean with good iron chlorosis tolerance. Has very good tolerance to both white mold and phytophthora root rot. Also shows moderate resistance to soybean cyst nematode. Replaces DSR-180/STS. Features STS tolerance!

DSR-221/RR - Maturity 2.2. Entered as DST-2126RR, this soybean easily took first place in the IA Central Region 2000 trial with 56.8 bu/a. -- 7.6 bushels more than the trial average. Shows very good tolerance to phytophthora root rot, iron chlorosis and white mold. Also features resistance to brown stem rot. Dairyland's highest yielding new release in some time! Possibly their most exciting release ever!

DSR-265 - Maturity 2.7. An outstanding yielder with very good tolerance to phytophthora root rot, brown stem rot, iron chlorosis and white mold. It also features STS tolerance and outdistances all of Dairyland's Group II STS tolerant soybeans, replacing DSR-246/STS and DSR-250/STS

In addition to the West

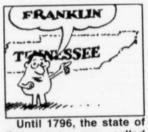

If you could step back into the past to the time of the dinosaurs, you would see dragonflies with wingspans of up to six feet.

Today, dragonflies still grace our summer skies, but they to not reach that extraordinary six foot wingspan.

They are still some of our largest insects with some growing to about six inches. These incredible creatures are as beautiful as any bird or butterfly and benefit humans by eating thousands of insect pests.

The evening presenter, Karl Legler, has researched these amazing insects for many years and has authored a colored field guide entitled Common Dragonflies of Wisconsin. He will provide a peek into the fascinating lives of dragonflies and introduce you to some of Wisconsin's 110 dragonfly species.
