Ad Hoc Committee Hears Three Choices For School District

"How far do we go before we move?" This question was posed to the Ad Hoc Committee by architects from Bray and Associates at last Wednesday's meeting. This has become a serious issue for the Kewaskum School District as the committee explores options to expand the middle and high school facilities.

different Three very plans presented to the committee at the meeting ranged in price from approximately $15.5 million to $33.4 million.

The first option is for renovations, remodeling and additions to the existing high and middle school buildings.

The middle school plans call for:

a new addition to include four classrooms, an art room and a health room

- a new gymnasium with new entry and public toilets

- remodeling the existing gym into a band room and cafeteria, remodeling the 1974 building classroom area to have permanent

upgrading the plumbing, heating, ventilating, air conditioning and electrical systems

The high school plans call for:

a new addition including three classrooms, special education room, computer room and technical educa-

- a new addition including five science classrooms, an agriculture classroom and greenhouse

- a new gymnasium - remodeling Rose Hall into an IMC remodeling the art

- redecorating existing classrooms and corridors

- upgrading the plumbing, heating, ventilating, air conditioning and electrical systems.

The architects commented that this option severely limits future development and reduces the amount of on-site parking by approximately 100 spaces

The second option discussed is building a new middle school. This would be a 123,228 square foot, 500 capacity middle school located on another site.

With this option, the middle existing would be used for district maintenance storage.

The third option is for a new high school. The school would be 247,619 square feet and have a capacity of 800. This would be located on another site also.

In the event that either a new high school or middle school is built, the existing school would still need to undergo renovations.

If you have any questions about the plans, the school district administration building has books compiled by Bray and Associates outlining all of the specifics of the projects.

The committee is looking community input whether for or against this project. They would like to invite ALL community members to come to the next meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, May 1 in the High School cafeteria. All opinions are welcome.

Town of Kewaskum Purchases Digital Map Updates

By Andrew R. Kuehl Staff Writer/Photographer

The town board in the Town of Kewaskum decided it was time to spend a little money and get their zoning and fire number maps undated

Both updates will ensure better accuracy says town chairman Scott Sager.

The first map, is the zoning map that was printed by SEWRPC about six years ago. Changes have been written in by hand. After spending $1,000 the map will be totally updated and will reflect the changes of the last six years. The money for the update will be taken from the zoning fees taken in by the town.

The update will re-draw the lines and overlay that over the county section maps. This will take between 30 and 40 days to complete.

"There are no changes to the map, it's just updating where we have drawn lines on the map," said Sager.

He also added that going with the digital format makes it easier to reproduce the map in sections.

The next map to be updated is the fire number map. Currently the town has a handwritten map. Sager stated this map too, would be in digital format and also can be reduced down to sections and then reduced again to make them into section grids for EMS and fire departments. The town will spend $450 on this

The next meeting of the planning commission will take place April 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Kewaskum Town Hall located at 9019 Kettle Moraine Drive. The town board will meet following the plan commission. To be placed on the agenda please contact Sandra Stern, town clerk at 626-

Information on the town's annual meeting from Wednesday evening will be in an upcoming edition.

Hospital of West Bend has chosen the health care design firm of Gresham, Smith and Partners of Nashville, Tennessee as architect for a new regional hospital, and the construction firm of CG Schmidt, Inc. of Milwaukee as general contractor for the project. Gresham, Smith and Partners is among the top 10 largest health care design firms ranked by Modern Healthcare magazine, a national weekly health care news publication, and has designed 21 new hospitals in the past five years.

CG Schmidt is recognized for a variety of health care projects in the region, including the Cancer Care Center at St. Joseph's Community Hospital completed in 2000, and for its work on the acclaimed $10 million expansion of the Milwaukee Art Museum architect designed by Santiago Calatrava.

Gresham, Smith and Partners shares St. Joseph's vision to build a high quality hospital that the community can be proud of, according to Barb Knutzen, St. Joseph's chief operating offi-

St. Joseph's Community cer and chair of the 11-member selection committee. The committee, which selected the architect, contractor and owner's representative, includes representatives of the hospital, its board of directors, physicians and the community.

"We want the new hospital to be safe for patients, ergonomically designed, and efficient for employees. We're looking to create a calm, healing environment, the technology yet with that's state-of-the-art. Smith Gresham, Partners has vast experience in designing a wide variety of buildings, with a wealth of resources and experts in health care. We really liked what we saw in the facilities they designed and their people," Knutzen said.

What the committee liked was not only Gresham, Smith and Partners' capabilities as a full service architecture and engineering firm, but also as a health care consultant with inhouse clinical experts such as nurses and pharmacists, and hospital administrators. They will involve St. Joseph's staff in the design process and work with them before, during and after design and construction.

We incorporate a full range of health care providers into our design efforts. It's very important that the design fit the people who work in the hospital and the way they deliver care," said Thomas K. Wallen, AIA, principal in charge of the project.

Of 15 architectural firms initially reviewed, five were interviewed, all of which were among the top 10 architectural firms ranked by Modern Healthcare.

With 350 architecture, design and engineering professionals in its health care division devoting 100% of their time to health care design, Gresham, Smith and Partners' notable projects over the last five years include: Skyline Medical in Nashville; Center Carolinas Hospital System, Florence, S.C.; Sky Ridge Medical Center, Lone Tree, Col.; Osceola Regional Medical Center, Kissimmee, Fla.; DuPont Hospital, Fort Wayne, Ind.; and LaGrange Memorial Hospital, La Grange, Ill. Committee members have toured several Gresham, Smith and Partners facilities.

Gresham, Smith and Partners has chosen Ring and DuChateau of Milwaukee, represented by project manager Paul J. Albrecht, as consulting engineers to provide mechanical, electrical, and plumbing systems engineering design.

The committee received eight proposals from construction firms interested in building the new hospital and interviewed two, both with high volumes of health care construction experience, before selecting CG Schmidt. Jon C. Scholz, vice president of project management for CG Schmidt, will be in charge of the project.

CG Schmidt is responsible for building a number of health care facilities in the region, including the Aurora Women's Pavilion; St. Vincent Hospital in Green Women's Bay; the St. Francis Hospital Center for Cancer Care in Milwaukee; and the five-story patient tower at Waukesha Memorial Hospital now under construction. The firm has been celebrated for its work on the Milwaukee Art Museum expansion, which was mentioned as the finest building project in America during 2001 by Time magazine.

Ric Miller of Ric Miller Construction/Consulting LLC has been retained by St. Joseph's as the owner's representative, representing the hospital's interests and working with the architect, engineer and contractor. Miller worked on the renovation of the hospital's medical/surgical floors in 1997-98 when he was with that project's construction firm, and he was the owner's rep for the Cancer Care Center project.

The architect, contractor and owners representative have met as a team with hospital representatives and will be part of the site selection process, involved in site evaluation and working in cooperation with the Facility Committee, board of directors and Irgens Development Partners, the real estate firm. The hospital continues to look at three potential sites for the new hospital. Board members and Facility Committee members have toured the sites in recent weeks but have not made a decision on the site.

The design process is expected to continue through fall. Plans are to complete construction of the new hospital by the spring of 2005.

Education... It's Everyone's Business

By Wayne P. Graczyk, Kewaskum Superintendent of Schools www.kewaskumschools.org

May 1st Mark Your Calendars

Thank you for taking the time to vote April 2. Congratulations to Mary Meisser, Andy Degnitz and Steve Schmitt for being elected to three year terms on the School Board.

Since October, a special Ad Hoc Planning Committee has been meeting monthly to explore the potential for a referendum in the school district. Originally they investigated the possible renovation of both the middle school and high school They were buildings. approached by a group of community minded citizens that had been exploring options in building an auditorium in Kewaskum. They the Ad asked Committee to consider building an auditorium on school property and to include it in any plans to renovate the high school or middle school.

The committee made the decision to look at several other options, since their primary function was exploratory from the beginning. These options ranged from the original renovations of the middle school and high school buildings, to adding an auditorium, to exploring the cost of constructing a new middle school or a new high school on a site yet to be determined.

An architect and financial consultant were invited to the meetings to give the committee projected financial figures and construction plans and time-lines. Since there were only 25-30 people at every meeting, the consensus was that more input and involvement by the community was critical if this was to become a community project.

The next meeting was scheduled for May 1 at 7:00 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria. Everyone was encouraged to get as many people from the district to attend this meeting as possible. All the options would be discussed that night. Those in attendance can share other options since the purpose of the meeting is to get community feedback, input and suggestions.

I need to take a page from an article I wrote in September of 1999 when the last referendum was being planned.

"I was reflecting the other day and thought that one of the saddest of all things would be to come to the end of one's life and discover one had never taken a stand on anything. I don't mean not having an opinion about something. Anyone can have an opinion, and just about everyone does. I mean not taking a stand.

Stands are different. Stands usually don't allow much wiggle room. They cost, and they usually bring a fair amount of pain somewhere along the way. They can be divisive, too, and get people hollering at each other, and slip in under your skin like a sliver that begins to fester round about everything else that needs doing.

But stands can also unite. They can galvanize around a cause or around a dream or sometimes even around a love. Stands can do good things. Opinions just itch, mostly like mosquito bites.

When I ask people their stand on referendums, I feel myself getting a bit nervous, and sense this nervousness in them as well. What if someone decides to ask me where I stand? I begin to think and prepare, but mostly no one asks. It is then that I come to realize that no one asks, because by asking, it entertains the risk of making not only a stand, but also a stand based on knowledge and facts. So, few people ask and would rather slip out from under having to take a stand. Every once in a while though, you and I need to stand up and be counted."

I am asking you to make such a stand and attend the meeting on May 1. Come and hear all the facts and to receive accurate information, not hear opinions, or hear the opinions of others.

Taken from Readers Digest: "I always imagined when I was a kid that adults had some kind of inner toolbox full of shiny tools: the saw of discernment, the hammer of wisdom, the sandpaper of patience. But when I grew up, I found that life handed you these rusty bent old tools-friendships, prayer, conscience, honesty-and said, 'Do the best you can with these. They'll have to do." I ask you to use those rusty and bent tools to arrive at your own personal decision regarding attending this important meeting and sharing your ideas with the committee.

Remember, stands are different, and usually don't allow much wiggle room. They cost, and they usually bring a fair amount of pain somewhere along the way. But stands can also unite. They can galvanize around a cause or around a dream.

See you in the high school cafeteria on May 1 at 7:00 p.m.

Experience enables you to recognize a mistake when you make it again.

Restless Legs Syndrome Group To Meet April 16

A health awareness group to provide education and discussion for people with the common sleep disorder of restless legs will meet Tuesday, April 16 at 7 p.m. at St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend. The group is free and will meet in the hospital's conference room A.

Restless legs syndrome causes creepy-crawly sensations in the limbs, primarily in the legs. The sensations occur when a person is lying down or sitting still for a long time and become more severe at night but are relieved when the limb is moved.

Robert Pamenter, sleep specialist with the Sleep Disorders Center at the Oakbrook Health Center, will facilitate the program.

For more information or to register, call the Sleep Disorders Center at 1-888-810-7575 or 262-306-7373. Walk-ins are also welcome.

The restless legs syndrome group meets on the third Tuesday of every other month (even numbered months.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I am a person who lives in Kewaskum and has no kids. I have been going to these Ad Hoc Referendum Planning Committee meetings from the beginning and so far, I wish that there could be more people there who are for it and not for it. So far, I am for it. We need to do something for the kids in our school system. The next meeting is on May 1 at 7 p.m. at the high school.

Dear Kewaskum School District Residents,

Just a quick note to thank you for re-electing me to the Kewawskum School Board. To those of you who supported me, your vote of confidence (literally!) is very reassuring. I will do my best to represent you well.

To those of you who did not vote for me, I pray that we can put our differences behind us and focus on working together to make Kewaskum a model district.

We can achieve excellence, but we cannot do it alone. If it were legal to have a daily district invocation, I would suggest the following ancient invocation: "Eternal Father, may everything we do today begin with Your inspiration, continue with Your help, and reach perfection through Your guidance."

We can succeed with proper motivation.

God Bless You,

Can One Person Make a Difference?

The young woman stood on an auctioneer's block in chains during the 1800's as the bidding for her life began. She was in bondage to slavery and in bondage to hopelessness. Freedom was beyond her grasp.

She listened as dollar amounts were shouted from the crowd beneath until "SOLD" - a word she was all too familiar with - silenced those gathered.

A tall, bearded man in a top hat near the back, a man who had bid for her with intense determination, was presented with his purchase. She now stood before

Looking down at the young woman in mercy, the man then handed her the ownership papers he had just been given and said, "You're free." Freedom had been beyond her grasp, but not beyond his. The price to release her from bondage had been paid by Abraham Lincoln.

It is the greatest of all mistakes to do nothing because you can only do a little.

Little Folks School House Promotes Reading

Assistant teacher Jennifer Sargent shares a book with the little folks.

The little folks at Little Folks Schoolhouse participated in the "Book-it Beginners" read aloud program sponsored by Pizza Hut. By reading to the children in the class daily, the teachers help them to develop a love of books and reading at an early age.

For eight weeks, the teachers read at least 60 minutes per week. Each time a book, story or poem was read, it was recorded. At the end of each fourweek reading period, every child received a pizza award certificate. The certificate may be redeemed at Pizza Hut for a personal pan size pizza.

Although this program only runs for two months (March 4-April 26) the teachers will continue to read to the children daily. Children learn to love reading when they have the opportunities to look at

News From The Capitol

By Rep. Glenn Grothman

The Biggest Unreported Story in Madison

The state is facing an over $1 billion shortfall. The Republican-held Assembly has passed a "Republican" solution to the crisis. The Senate will pass a "Democratic" version. The Republican version continues a disturbing trend over the last three years-the Republican Assembly leadership is trying very hard to win the support of the teachers' union. Despite the shortfall, Speaker Jensen and Republican leadership fought back efforts to stop the statewide trend towards four-year old kindergartensomething the Republicans tried to fight as recently as nine months ago. The Republicans will continue to add $15 million for new teaching jobs to lower class sizes next year. Amazingly, Republican Assembly leaders fought for these spending increases despite the budget shortfall and while fighting for significant cuts from the university budget and state agencies.

Scott McCallum, with advice from his close personal advisor, former teacher union representative, Morrie Andrews is also trying to get the support of the teachers' union.

Some people will claim the Republicans are foolish to try to make deals with the teachers' union. But, if your sole goal is to get re-elected, this is not a bad strategy. It is not without precedent-for years in the state of New York the teachers' union has helped the Democrats win elections in the lower house and Republicans win elections in the upper house. Wisconsin could follow down the same path.

I find this profoundly disturbing. It largely means that on the important education issue there is nowhere for a large segment of the population to go. School expenses are over 44% of your sales and income tax dollars and are also the largest portion of your property taxes, but no one is questioning the increase here. Until three years ago, Republican leadership had no problem finding studies showing no correlation between education spending and education quality. On other areas such as teacher licensure and labeling of children as special needs, there also has been a disturbing lack of debate.

Why has this story gone on unreported? In part, this is just the general laziness of the press. In part, this is because Scott Jensen, leader of Assembly Republicans, as recently as 1997 was the most important critic of the teachers' union agenda in the state and the press/media does not yet realize that Jensen has changed. In part, it is because the Milwaukee talk show hosts are reluctant to be critical of Republicans.

Some cynics like to say there is no difference between the parties. Sadly on the most important issue of the day-education, these cynics are almost right.

Please let me know what you think on this issue. Contact me here in Madison please call 1-888-534-0059.

Officer Troy Ellis tries out the handcuffs on willing students.

Kewaskum Elementary School's Bedtime Book Night took on a special theme this year when they chose to honor Kewaskum men and women in uniform.

Their guest readers for the evening of March 5th were: Police Officer, Troy Ellis; Fire Chief, Mark Groeschel; Firefighter of the Year, Rick Maki; and Medical Emergency Technician, Denise Kudek. From 6:30 to 8:00 P.M. pajama-clad children from kindergarten through second grade enjoyed animated read-alouds. Two of their favorite books were Officer Buckle and Gloria and Daisy the Firecow. The festivities were kicked off by the raucous arrival of their local firetruck, ending with refreshments and a family social.

Students from grades three through five were found in the presentation area, curled up in sleeping bags, enjoying a good book independently. Soda, provided by McDonalds, plus popcorn, added to the Prime Time Readers' Celebration of the 5th Anniversary of Read Across America. Read Across America is an open invitation for all Americans, young and old, to celebrate and share their own reading adventures. This program was sponsored by the Kewaskum PTO and Title I, a federally funded reading program.

Allenton, Wisconsin 53002 Memorial Day Cancel 5-30-02

Allenton, Wisconsin will celebrate Memorial Day this year with a special pictorial cancel planned by one of its well known residents and veterinarian for over 40 years. Dr. W.E. Melbery, affectionately known as "Doc" or "Willy". When he realized that in 2002, the zip code of his town would have same number as Memorial Day, also known as Poppy day, he began working on an idea for a pictorial cancel to commemorate the event. Unfortunately, he was not able to see his project through fruition as he died on September 8, 2001, losing his courageous battle with cancer.

Florence His wife, encouraged by the Allenton Post Office staff proceeded with his project and incorporated the poppy in the design. The red crepe paper poppy flowers are made by hospitalized and disabled veterans not only as therapeutic help but also to raise funds for their benefit. The Allenton American Legion, Fohl Martin Post 483 Auxiliary will help with the canceling. A stamp col-league, Roland Essig completed the design according to regulations and it was approved by the U.S. Postal Doc was a long time stamp collector, specializing in whale, submarine and Danish stamps and was a member of several philatelic societies. As a member of the Scandinavian Collectors Club he served as its librarian for over 12 years. He organized and procured philatelic materials and through his efforts is became one of the finest specialized philatelic libraries in the United States. He was a WW II veteran serving four patrols in the Pacific Submarine Fleet, three of these as a machinist on the USS Whale.

The cancel may be procured by affixing correct postage on a self addressed stamped envelope or post card. Envelopes should have a stiffner inserted to assure a good cancellation and to protect against bending while passing through mail stream. Then mailed in a larger envelope Village Memorial Day Station, Postmaster, P.O. Box 9998, Allenton, WI 53002-9998. Requests are available only for the date indicated and must be postmarked no later than 30 days after the date of cancellation to qualify for servic-

Simple Steps To A Calmer, More Confident You

(NAPSA)-The first step in creating positive change in our lives is learning how to manage stress, which we can do by developing a greater sense of inner calm. Here are a few steps you can take to brighten your outlook, nurture your spirit and enhance your sense of wellbeing in just a few minutes each day:

Connect with your inner life source. Use a breathing technique such as the yoga "Breath of Joy" to enliven your body, lift your spirit and dissolve tension. Stand with your feet at least two feet apart, arms at your sides. Stretch arms straight out in front, inhale; drop arms, then stretch them out to the side, inhale; drop arms and stretch them overhead, inhale; bend knees, fold at hips, drop arms to floor and exhale with a "HA" sound or deep sigh. Stand up straight and begin again, repeating six times.

 Look good, feel good. Updating your beauty look can work wonders for your self-esteem and help elevate your mood.

'Haircolor is the quickest and best way for a woman to brighten up her look and spirit," says celebrity hair-colorist Louis Licari. "To get a beautiful look at home, try a formula that makes sense from a financial and timemanagement standpoint." Revlon High Dimension Haircolor provides gorgeous permanent color results in just ten minutes-one-third the time of traditional athome haircolor.

Elevate your energy, stimulate your senses. Aromatherapy candles and bath salts are an ideal way to calm and clear your mind while gently stimulating your senses. Another great energy booster is the fragrance of flowers, which were used in the ancient world to enhance health, improve well-being and increase energy. Add a bouquet to your grocery list and enjoy the emotional lift. Try bringing a fresh bouquet to work on Mondays to get your week off to an energizing start.

· Take a five-minute "visual" vacation. Use guided imagery to calm, inspire and motivate yourself during a challenging afternoon at the office or whenever you need a break from a busy day. Sit comfortably, close your eyes and take several deep breaths, progressively relaxing and releasing. Visualize tension flowing out as you exhale. When deeply relaxed, visualize your favorite place: see yourself there, peaceful and content. After two or three minutes, you'll come back refreshed.

By following these basic steps, you may soon feel more relaxed, energized and empowered to make positive changes in your life.

Taking a few minutes for yourself each day can help reduce stress levels.

He would always stop and take time

For his family that he loved.

Krystal Freshman ochran scored her first varsity goal in the game and played an excellent outside midfielder. Katie Stahler and Christine Behm played excellent defense. Jenny Koth and Tanya Theiesen played brilliantly at midfield. Lauri Bausch and Michelle Backhaus played exceptionally at forward. Maggie Herriges had 10 great saves.

Will You Be 'Shocked' By The Cost of Retirement?

Will you spend less, the same or more in retirement?

That's a good question for anyone trying to figure out how much to save for retirement. Most people assume they'll spend less, but without proper planning, many may be in for a rude surprise.

Traditional rules of thumb, backed by numerous studies, suggest that retirees indeed spend less in retirement than what they spend before they retired. A common rule of thumb, for example, assumes that retirees spend about 75% of their pre-retirement income. The assumption is that retirees spend less on clothes, transportation, taxes and savings than they did before.

Not so fast, says a new study from the TIAA-CREF Institute, which examined 2,000 TIAA-CREF participants to see how much preretirees expected to spend in retirement and how much retirees actually spend in retirement. Over half (55%) of those planning to retire expect their spending to decline in retirement, with low-income participants anticipating a decline of as much as 20%, while only 8% expect spending to rise, says the study.

On the other hand, the study found that only 30% of those actually in retirement experienced a drop in spending, while 20% found it went up. Furthermore, retirees whose spending declined found that, on average, it declined significantly less than they thought it would decline.

Why the smaller gap than anticipated, or the fact that spending even rose? The authors of the study, titled Retirement Consumption: Insights from a Survey, attribute much of it to the fact that during the time of the study the stock market was booming. Retirees, watching their nest egg grow, felt richer and spent accordingly. Spending probably has declined in the wake of the current down market, the authors believe.

A study in 2001 by Georgia State University and Aon Consulting found that retirees spent less than they did before retirement, but that household expenses remained about the same. The main savings came because taxes were less and they were no longer saving for retirement. However, the study also noted that retirement spending as a portion of pre-retirement spending necessary to maintain standard of living is on the rise. It went from 67% of pre-retirement income for a couple earning $60,000 a year in 1997, to 75% today.

A study in a 1999 issue of the Journal of Financial Planning added a different wrinkle. It examined federal consumption data and found that initial retirement spending can be higher than pre-retirement spending, but that it declines as retirees grow older and do less traveling and entertaining. The study found that retirement spending declines 20% between ages 65 and 75, and even rising health care costs are more than offset by other declining costs.

So what do all these studies suggest about planning for retirement? A common theme is that it is best not to plan retirement spending based on rules of thumb or guidelines. The results, after all, are only averages, and spending varies significantly from family to family in retirement. This is especially true for lower-income families, whose spending declines less as a percentage of preretirement income than middle- or upper-income families because their tax savings are less dramatic than those in higher tax brackets.

The key is to plan more carefully about what your retirement will look like. Do you plan to travel a lot, entertain or pursue an expensive hobby? Yes, your grocery bills may go down, but what if you dine out more?

The TIAA-CREF study found that the pre-retirees surveyed had a wide range of uncertainty about what they expected they would spend in retirement. The study also found that those retirees who had planned the most for retirement before they actually retired were less surprised by their retirement expenses, and half of them found their expenses lower than anticipated.

Planning can go a long way in reducing surprises in retirement.

CPR Course At Hospital

Adults and children who suffer life-threatening emergencies are often at or near home when they occur. They may stop breathing (respiratory arrest), their heart may stop or they may choke. But they also may survive thanks to family and friends who provide

The American Heart association's CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) for Family and Friends course is being offered by St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend on Tuesday, April 16, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the fourth floor east conference room.

The course is designed to help laypersons learn rescue skills in CPR and the relief of foreign-body airway obstructions to help their loved ones, friends or neighbors. The course presents information about the adult and pediatric Chain of Survival and signs of heart attack, cardiac arrest, stroke, and choking in adults. It also helps participants to recognize the signs of choking in infants and children, prevention of sudden infant death syndrome, and prevention of the most common fatal injuries in infants and children.

Adults and youth 13 or older may take the course.

"Everyone should learn how to recognize signs of a life-threatening emergency, such as a heart attack. It could happen anywhere, anytime and you, the layperson, may be the first to take action. You may be able to improve a friend's chance of survival, you could save a life," said Mary Theisen Faber, RN, hospital educator and a course instructor.

The fee for the course is $25. To register or for more information, call the hospital's Class Connection Line at 262-306-7888.

Herrmann Wins Shot Put, Girls Place Seventh at Oshkosh Invite

Nicole "Coco" Herrmann throwing the shot put at the Oshkosh Invitational on Tuesday, April 2, 2002. Coco won the shot put with a career indoor best throw of 35' 31/4".

By Jerry Gosa

OSHKOSH - The Kewaskum High School girls' track team finished seventh out of over 40 teams at the Oshkosh Invitational on Tuesday night, April 3. Kewaskum scored 32 points, just two points behind Eastern Wisconsin Conference opponents Two Rivers and Sheboygan Falls who tied for fifth at 34 points each.

Last year Kewaskum was fifth with 26 points. Rosholt won the meet with 46 points, Seymour finished second with 46 and Chilton finished third with 40 points.

Highlights for Kewaskum included the first place by Nicole "Coco" Herrmann in the shot put with an indoor career best throw of 35'3-1/4". "Nicole placed third last year and her goal this year was to win the shot put," reported Coach Gosa.

The 800m relay team of Jessi Graham, Jenna Roecker, Breyan Donath and Amanda Donath ran very well and placed third with a time of 1:56.53 compared to ninth place last year. Their time is just over a little off the school record time of 1:55.3. Rosholt won with a time of 1:54.60 and Sheboygan Falls placed fourth with a time of 1:56.97.

Jolene Clark placed fourth in the high jump with a jump of 4'10" and Graham also finished fourth in the pole vault by clearing 8'0". Clark was sixth last year and Graham, a junior, is new to her event. Liz Roehrig, a freshman from Chilton won the high jump with a height of 5'6" and also won the triple jump with a distance of 35'1". Katie Wagner of Lomira won the pole vault at 8'6".

The 1600m relay team of Becky Herriges, Breyan Donath, Jenna Roecker and Jessi Graham ran hard and placed fourth with a time of 4:24.30. Last year Kewaskum ran a time of 4:38.6. Disappointing to the Kewaskum relay team was the fact that Eastern Wisconsin Conference foe Two Rivers, running in a later heat, ran a time of 4:24.22 to take third place and just edge the Kewaskum relay team by 0.08 seconds.

Kiel, another conference school, surprised the field by winning the 1600m relay with a time of 4:19.51."It would have been nice to have had our team in the same heat as the three teams that placed ahead of us, but we will have plenty of chances during the outdoor season to see how we measure up to our conference powers. We are making good improvement and that is very important," stated Coach Gosa.

Jenna Roecker was right in the thick of the 55m high hurdle finals when she hit a hurdle hard and ended up placing eighth. Roecker placed fourth last year.

Other Kewaskum athletes who competed but did not place in the top eight are listed below with their event and their time or distance.

Becky Herriges ran the 55m dash with a time of 8.12 seconds and jumped a distance of 13'11-1/2" in the long jump. Herriges and Graham also ran the 400m dash with a time of 65.44 seconds and 66.24 seconds respectively. Kayla McCormack cleared 4'8" in the high jump. Robin Thelen ran the 1600m run in 6:42 and Kate Ginocchio ran the 800m run in 3:02. The 3200m relay team of McCormack, Amanda Magnus, Natasha Lawrence, and Jenny Bischoff ran a time of "The girls' team was ready to run. They were focused and gave an excellent effort. They have been working very hard in practice and those efforts are starting to pay off," concluded Coach Gosa.

Holy Trinity Hosts Milwaukee Admiral

The Holy Trinity seventh grade with Lundbohm.

On March 4, Bryan Lundbohm, a player for the Milwaukee Admirals Hockey team, visited the seventh graders at Holy Trinity School. They had entered an essay contest with the theme, "It's your future, give it your best shot. Lindsay Krautkramer won the seventh grade division and as a result, they were privileged to have Mr. Lundbohm

He talked about his goals and how he took one step at a time. He encouraged the students to do the same with their future goals. He told them it takes hard work to reach those goals, but it is worth it in the end. He also gave them some insight into his life as a hockey player for the Admirals.

The class had their picture taken with him and he answered all of their questions. It was informative and a lot of fun.

A boy asked, "Did your father promise you something if you'd wash the car?'

"No," cried his friend. "He promised me something if I didn't."

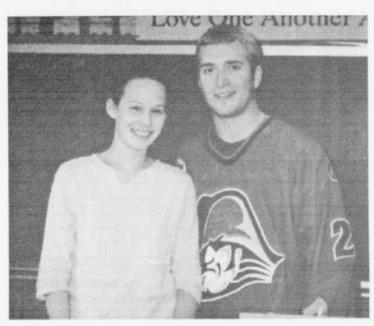

Like that father, God has promises for those who disobey

The Bible says, "All who trust God's Son to save them have eternal life; those who don't believe and obey Him shall never see heaven, but the wrath of God remains on them."

What's your reaction to Christ? If it's love, then you'll know life. If it's distrust, then you'll know death.

God doesn't send His wrath upon you. You bring it upon yourself by rejecting His Son.

Isn't it better to receive Him?

Lindsay Krautkramer with Milwaukee Admiral Bryan Lundbohm. Lundbohm visited Holy Trinity after Krautkramer won an essay contest.

Three KHS Records Fall as Athletes Make Strong Showing at State Indoor Championships

Boys Break 800m, 1600m Relay Records; Girls Break 800m Relay Record

By Jerry Gosa

MADISON - The Kewaskum High School boys' and girls' track teams broke a total of three indoor school records on Saturday, April 6, at the 38th Annual W/TFA State Indoor Championships held at the Camp Randall Memorial Sports Center - UW-Madison.

In a split meet format the boys events started at 9:45 a.m. and the girls events started at 4:30 p.m. The meet combined teams from all three W.I.A.A. Divisions.

Troy Koeferl had the highest Kewaskum individual finish as he started the day off right for the Indians by qualifying for the finals in the shot put with an indoor season best throw of 48'5-1/2". Koeferl's throw placed him ninth out of 72 throwers. Bethany of Milton won with a throw of 61'4-

The Kewaskum 800m relay team of Chris Canter, Tom Ogi, Andy Lickel and Tony Fitts finished 11th out of 50 relay teams with a time of 1:36.94. This time breaks the record set by Canter, Kevin Miller, Lickel, and Charlie Sparks of 1:37.33 set in 2001 at the Oshkosh Invitational.

Lickel gave the crowd and his relay team a big scare when he temporarily lost his balance and almost fell after another runner cut in front of him going into the far turn. "Andy's foot either hit the back of the runner's foot that cut in on him, or Andy clipped the 2" metal rail with his foot on the inside of the track and almost went down. We were sure glad that he didn't fall," reported Coach Gosa. Milwaukee Vincent won with a time of 1:32.32.

The 1600m relay team knew that they had an excellent chance to break the school indoor record. Without the 400m dash being contested at the meet, both Canter and David Wicklund would be well rested when it came time to run the final event of the meet.

Matt Hartman ran an excellent opening split of 54.5 seconds. Hartman then passed the baton to Lickel for the second leg and then Lickel passed the baton to Wicklund. Wicklund knocked 3.5 seconds off his time from the Oshkosh Invitational as he posted a time of 55.3 seconds. Canter then anchored the unit with a great split of 53.6 seconds to bring the relay in at 3:41.47 and 16th place out of 48 relay teams plus a new school record. The old school record of 3:45.2 was set in 1993 by Heath Heise, Jim Wichtoski, Brad Jackson and Jeff Dirmeier.

Madison LaFollette won with a time of 3:30.06. "The boys' team had a much better meet than they did at the Oshkosh Invitational last week. They had a very good practice on Monday when they ran intervals and again on Wednesday. They are starting to work a lot harder in practice and then came ready to compete on Saturday and the results show that they are making good progress," reported Coach Gosa.

The Kewaskum girls' 800m relay team of Jessi Graham, Breyan Donath, Amanda Donath and Becky Herriges also set a new school record when they ran a time of 1:55.02. A poor handoff almost cost them the chance to break the record of 1:55.3 set in 1992 and tied in 1993. Greta Kuphal, Kelly Korth, Tina Schwartz and Ginger Wiesner set the record in 1992 and then Kuphal, Wiesner, Christa Schmidt and Mary Yahr tied the record in 1993. Fully automatic times (F.A.T.) that are recorded electronically to the hundredths were used at Saturday's meet.

The Kewaskum girls' 1600m relay team of Jessi Graham, Breyan Donath, Jenna Roecker, and Becky Herriges almost made it four-for-four in new school records for the relays. The boys got the two they were after (the800m and 1600m relay), and the girls got one and just missed the other. Graham, who usually anchors and Herriges who usually leads off switched positions and the results were great.

Graham opened with a great 63.9 second 400m split and Herriges anchored with a 64.1 second split. The relay team's time of 4:22.47 placed them seventh out of 51 teams and was just 0.37 seconds off the time of 4:22.1 set by Laurie Wilson, Barb Wilson, Diane Bremser, and Julann Zemlicka in 1980.

West Bend West won with a time of 4:10, Eastern Wisconsin Conference opponent Two Rivers finished third with a time of 4:16.29, and Germantown finished fifth in 4:19.15.

"Very good efforts by girls team. They continued with the good intensity they displayed on Tuesday night at the Oshkosh Invitational. They will need to continue working hard if they want to make the kind of progress that they are striving to obtain," concluded Coach Gosa.

Other Kewaskum male athletes completing and their event and time were the following: Matt Hartman - 55m high hurdles, 8.6 seconds; Canter and Fitts - 55m dash, both in 6.7 seconds; Josh Meyer - 1600m run in 5:00.16; Alex Herriges - 800m run in 2:19.76, and Tom Ramthun - 800m run in 2:19.78.

Other Kewaskum female athletes completing and their event and time or distance were the following: Nicole "Coco" Herrmann -35'1/4" in the shot put; Jolene Clark - 4'8" in the high jump; Jessi Graham -8' in the pole vault; Jenna Roecker - 55m high hurdles in 9.52; Herriges and Stacy Muckerheide in the 55m dash in 7.97 and 8.42 respectively; Kate Ginocchio and Mandi Will in the 800m run in 3:03 and 3:10.8, and Kayla McCormack and Robin Thelen in the 1600m run in 6:28.15 and 6:36.78 respectively.

Nolan Ryan is the only pitcher to throw seven no-hit games.

Kewaskum Gridiron Club Busy Behind the Scenes

Now that the last bits of winter have all seemingly melted away, thoughts begin to turn to... Football??

An emphatic yes if you're a member of the Kewaskum Gridiron Youth Football Club's Board of Directors. When other folks are thinking baseball, spring soccer, track and the like, the Gridiron Club's Board is hard at work behind the scenes during the off season fulfilling administrative needs and making plans for next fall's football season.

The Kewaskum Gridiron Club was established in 1997 by a group of dedicated and tireless individuals who saw the need to bring full contact youth football to Kewaskum. This is an effort to teach area youth the fundamentals of tackle football in an organized setting and better prepare them to be more competitive at the high school level.

It has been very gratifying to the volunteer coaches who have given of their time, and parents alike to see many former Gridiron players go on to do very well as Kewaskum High School football players.

As members of the Wisconsin All American Youth Football League, the Gridiron Club is preparing to head into their sixth season. In their short time of existence, the Club has enjoyed great success, fielding winning teams most years, especially in 1999 when the eighth grade team won the North Division Championship, the North Conference Championship, and the League Grand Championship with an undefeated record.

Originally fielding teams in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, the Club expanded in 2000 to include a fifth grade team as well.

The Kewaskum Gridiron Club holds monthly meetings the first Wednesday of every month at the Hon-E-Kor starting at 7 p.m. Anyone wishing to attend is cordially invited. If you or anyone you know would like to know more about what the Gridiron club is all about, feel free to contact any board member, including Jim Korth, the current President, at 626-2520, or Joe Backhaus, Vice-President, at 626-2327.

Be sure to watch the Kewaskum Statesman for further announcements about this year's registration and sign up date slated for Saturday, April 20, 2002 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club. For more information regarding registration, or if you are unable to register on April 20, contact the individuals mentioned above.
