School Board Hears Referendum Options KSD Raises Activity Fees, Parking Passes

Tuesday night's Special Board Meeting covered topics ranging from the 2002-2003 budget to referendum ideas to the building of a new high school and remodeling of the existing one.

Raymond Haen and Stephen Kuhnen of Bray and Associates Architects Inc. of Sheboygan were on hand to present the board with the plan that Ad-Hoc committee co-chairs Ann Wicklund and Dr. Greg Ogi had presented to the board last week.

Haen and Kuhnen presented a more detailed plan outlining the construction of a new high school and remodeling the existing high school to a middle school.

Their changes to the high school to make it a middle school includes: taking off the existing library and remodeling Rose Hall into a new library, repainting, new tiles on the floor and ceiling, updating the plumbing, HVAC, and Electrical systems, some general work including ADA compliant signage and hardware, exterior building maintenance and re-roofing the 1996 addition. This would come to approximately $3,352,000.

"We need to know what we need to get to where we want to be - a top rated school."

*-Board President
Gordie Dickman*

When this is done, the school would be in like new condition. There also would be computer hookups in all classrooms.

The new high school is proposed to be 247,619 square feet and have a capacity of 800 with core areas capable of holding 1000 students. A section of the academic portion would possibly be two stories depending on the lot the district decides on.

Also included in the cost of the new building is a security door monitor. It would tell janitors if any doors are open and/or unlocked.

Early Deadline

The Kewaskum Statesman office will be closed in observance of the Memorial Day holiday Monday, May 27.

Please have all ads and news items in our office by noon on Friday, May 24. NOTHING WILL BE ACCEPTED AFTER DEADLINE!

Please remember our veterans.

The possibility of future expansion to the new school was brought up by the board. Architects suggested that now is the time to think about a second story because the new building could be built to accept a second story in the future. He further stated that the mechanical systems would be designed to hold additional classes and are somewhat oversized for the original new building.

The board also brought up the five year maintenance plan. Business manager Paul Reichert stated that most of the issues that needed taking care of at the high school were covered in the improvement project. He said that external things like the parking lot and tennis courts were not.

Of the things left on the five year plan, most of them were improvements to Farmington and Wayne. Both schools need asphalt for the parking lots and some roof replacement. FES's plan also includes bleachers for the gym. Also left on this plan is replacing some lawn cutting equipment and vehicles. Two vehicles were set to be replaced this current school year and one next year, but all three were cut from their respective budgets.

The board then moved on to the budget. Mary Meiser stated that things like textbooks should not be cut. The idea to resolve the textbook problem was to put them as a part of a referendum that would include other things. Meiser further stated that the textbooks have been put off again and again and would like to see numbers as to what it would take to get the books to a current state.

The board decided they would like the leadership team to come up with a detailed list/plan of cost's needed to bring the districts academics up to speed.

Michael Hallmann and Carol Ann Wirth from Griffin, Kubik, Stephens and Thompson, Inc. were on hand to present the procedure for a referendum. They pointed out all the things that would need to be done and showed an example of a timeline the board would need to follow.

Hallmann stated that they could not come in and present what costs to taxpayers would be until he knew all of the final costs himself. The cost of land has not been determined yet.

Dickman asked the board about possibly presenting the referendum to the public for vote in the November election. Meisser and Wicklund thought that this was too soon and they would not have enough time to educate the public enough. Wicklund stated that, "November is a wonderful dream, but we need to get the education out there first."

The district, and architects are working on coming up with a total of costs to present to Hallmann and Wirth who will come up with possible tax rates then.

A meeting will be held at a later date to discuss this further.

The Kewaskum School District Board voted unanimously to raise parking passes and activity fees at Monday night's meeting.

Parking fees were raised from $30 for the year to $30 per semester or $60 for the year. Mark Steinhardt pointed out that at $60 for the year, this is only $0.33 per day. Counting on 285 passes being sold, this generates approximately $11,400 in extra revenue.

In comparison with other districts, West Bend charges $60 for the year while others don't charge. Some in Milwaukee charged between $100 and $150.

"We are not happy with this situation."

*-Board President
Gordie Dickman*

Activity fees were also raised. They were $20 per student per year for an unlimited number of sports. They were raised to $40 per student per sport. Included in this are all competitive sports and clubs at the high school. This does not affect the fees at the elementary and middle school levels. The board also decided that they would find a way to help students who can't afford the fee.

The board also discussed implementing a family cap like the one the Racine school district has limiting each family to $200 in activity fees per year. The board later decided against this idea.

Parents asked if raising the athletic fees would guarantee that the freshman sports would be added back to the budget. Board members stated that this could not be guaranteed, but it was more likely with the raises then without. They stated that they would come up with a prioritized list and would go from there.

New board president Gordie Dickman stated that the district will probably go to referendum in the fall to raise the spending limit. If that is so, this budget will just get the district through till then.

The board also agreed to look at raising the price of the activity pass from $15. No prices were discussed at this meeting. The single event admission fee would stay the same as the WIAA controls those fees.

Kieth Kriewaldt pointed out that, "This is tough. nobody got their way when they walked away from the table."

Kriewaldt had met with staff at Farmington, Wayne and Kewaskum Elementary Schools to discuss possible staffing problems. The three schools worked through their problems with staff coming up with solutions.

The meeting ended with an audience member commending the job the board has done in trying to reinstate programs. He stated that the board has come a long way in four weeks and that they were doing a wonderful job.

Memorial Day Parade, Program Here Monday

On Monday, May 27, the Robert G. Romaine Post No. 384 of the American Legion will hold their annual Memorial Day Parade and ceremonial program.

The parade to honor those who gave their lives will be held at 9 a.m. beginning at the Kewaskum High School and proceeding to the American Legion on Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum. A short memorial service will be held there.

All Legionnaires, fire department members, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H and youth groups, civic organizations, etc. are invited to march in the parade honoring our war dead. Participants are asked to meet in front of the high school at 8:45 p.m.

The parade route is from the high school to Third Street, south along Park-view, to Main Street, west on Main Street to Fond du Lac Avenue and north to the Legion grounds where the ceremony will then be held.

In case of rain, the program will be held in the high school auditorium at 9:30 a.m. Marching groups will assemble in the halls and march into the auditorium.

The Memorial Day address will be delivered by Meggan M. Gronbeck, SPC, US Army.

Meggan joined the Army at the end of her junior year in 1997. She spent her senior year in the Delayed Entry Program while attending West Bend West High School. Thirteen days after graduation, she left for Basic Training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

After Basic she spent 13 weeks in Advanced Individual Training at Fort Jackson. During these weeks she was a platoon leader and squad leader.

Following AIT Meggan went on to Airborne School at Fort Benning, Georgia. During her four weeks there she became one of the few females to graduate from that school. When jump school was over she was stationed at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

She served in the 82nd Airborne Division, was assigned to a tough unit, the First Squadron 17th Cavalry Regiment, part of the 82nd Airborne Brigade.

Meggan accomplished her dream to be a part of history and stated, "I served in the greatest Division in history."

She also accomplished 20 successful jumps out of C-130's, C-141's, a Blackhawk helicopter, and a tailgate C-130. While she was at Ft. Bragg, her unit was called to serve overseas. Her unit was all set to go over to Kosovo and support the Infantry units that were there. When they were told to stand down, and that they didn't need them she was disappointed. She was ready to go and protect this country that she love so much.

Meggan also went to Ft. Polk, Louisiana to take part in JRTC. It was mock wartime situations and taught soldiers how to fight in a combat environment with civilians around.

Towards the end of her tour she fell in love and got married and had a little baby boy, David Scott.

Meggan got out of active duty in December 2000 and moved back to West Bend where she grew up. She is currently in the Reserves at the 961st Engineer Battalion in Milwaukee and also a Manager at Applebee's in West Bend.

Meggan's future plans include the Military. She's on her way to PLDC and when she's done with that she plan on going to Recruiting School, and recruit out of West Bend. Meggans says she enjoys the Military so much, and has accomplished dreams and goals while there. Other than her son she says it was the best time of her life, and she's so honored and proud to be apart of history.

Dunlop Tires Recognizes Associate For Support of WW II Veterans

Goodyear Dunlop Tires North America, Ltd. has recognized Timothy P. Coulter, Regional Manager with Dunlop Tires' Corporate Account Sales and Marketing Division, for his support of World War II veterans whose lives were interrupted by their country's call to service.

Coulter, a member of American Legion Post #95, was instrumental in helping 75-year-old Charles A. Kraft of Liberty, Missouri, receive his high school diploma through a program called Lessons Learned, Credit Earned. Lessons Learned, Credit Earned provides World War II veterans who did not finish their high school education the opportunity to receive their well-earned honorary diploma from the high school they attended.

"One of the reasons it was important that this program be started is that World War II left something important unfinished for many of those who served our country. Their education," Coulter explains. "An entire generation of Americans saw their high school education suddenly interrupted by their country's call to service. Of the men and women who were fortunate enough to come home after the war, many never returned to school, electing instead to take jobs with companies like Dunlop to support their families. Those who completed their educations through equivalency programs, however, missed out on an important rite of passage -- their high school graduation."

Life Line Screening Here May 30

Spend 10 minutes that could save your life! Life Line Screening will be at the Village of Kewaskum Municipal Building Annex, 1308 Fond du Lac Avenue on Thursday, May 30.

Life Line screens the carotid arteries in the neck to determine if you are at risk for stroke. 75% of all strokes are linked to carotid artery blockage. Screenings of the arteries of the legs are offered to check for peripheral artery disease, which is linked to heart disease.

A third test is performed for aneurysms in the aortic vessel of the abdomen. Life Line also offers a bone density screening to test for early detection of osteoporosis.

This is a preventative program. People 40 years and over are encouraged to participate. The program is open to the public. Problems can be detected early and taken care of before they become a bigger problem.

Your results are sent back to you and you are referred back to your own doctor if further evaluation is necessary. These non-invasive, completely painless, ultrasound screenings take about 10 minutes each.

Each of the three vascular tests are offered for $45 and osteoporosis for $45. The complete vascular screening (three tests) are available for $109 or all four tests for $139. You must pre-register. Please call 1-800-407-4557 for your appointment or for more information.

POLICE REPORTS

Marijuana Found on Village Teen

A Kewaskum Police Officer was dispatched to Kewaskum Mobil in the village on April 24 for a juvenile runaway who slept behind the gas station the evening prior.

During a pat-down conducted by the officer, a plastic vial and bag was found. The contents of the bag was marijuana. The teen stated he bought the marijuana from a high school student.

Dog at Large

A county deputy responded to a residence on Sandy Ridge Road for a dog at large on April 26 at 4:13 pm.

The complainant stated that the neighbor's dog has been running loose in his yard frequently since the weather has turned nice this year. He could recall four times that the dog was loose. He stated that he saw the dog today running through the woods in his backyard.

He further stated he did not care if the dog ran around the property, however, once the dog began to dig up holes in his yard he did not want the dog on his property. He wanted the deputy to warn the neighbor.

The deputy then spoke with the dog's owner. The owner stated that they normally have the dog chained but her children sometimes fail to do so. The deputy noted this attempt to keep the dog under control.

Underage Alcohol Party

A Kewaskum Police Officer was dispatched to a underage alcohol party on Kewaskum Street in the village on April 27.

A marijuana scale was found at the scene and confiscated. The teens holding the party stated they thought possibly marijuana was being smoked but they did not have any. Four of the teens were cited for underage drinking.

Fight Breaks out Among Teens in Village Subdivision

A Kewaskum Police Officer was dispatched to a fight occurring on Dream Catcher Drive in the village the evening of May 2.

The officer responded and was met by three male parties and a female. One of the males appeared to have been struck by another of the males and had a one and a half inch cut on the top of his head.

The fight was broken up by an adult male. The injured male was transported to St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend.

The instigator was taken to secure detention.

County Deputies Stop Underage Drinking Party

Two county deputies responded to a residence on Mill Road east of the village limits for a possible underage drinking party on May 3 at 10:37 pm.

Officers observed nine vehicles in a parking lot near the home. The deputies heard very loud music coming from the residence where the party was being held.

One of them then approached the home. A 25 year-old male resident of the home answered. He stated he allowed the party. He then allowed the deputy to enter the home. The other deputy joined him.

Upon a search of the home seven teens were found while hiding from the deputies. Breathalyzer tests were given to the individuals. One of the individuals then became uncooperative and refused to give up his alcohol and threw it at one of the deputies.

All the teens were cited along with the male who allowed the party to take place.

Car Vandalized in Village

A Kewaskum Police Officer was dispatched to a vandalism complaint in the village on May 4.

The complainant advised that sometime earlier in the day someone put a small dent in the right front fender of her car. When attempting to open the car door, it would not open. There are no suspects.

The next day at 12:04 am another deputy was called to a Lake Bernice Drive residence in the Town of Wayne for another mailbox vandalism. The complainant stated that he left his residence at 7 pm and came back home at 11 pm and when he arrived his custom made mailbox was damaged.

Suspects were not known. The mailbox was valued at $100. The officer checked other boxes in the area and noticed none of them were damaged.

Later in the day a deputy responded to a residence on Sandy Ridge Road south of the village limits for a mailbox that was also vandalized on May 4.

It appeared to the deputy that it had been struck with a blunt object causing the front of it to be crushed in. The mailbox was estimated to cost $15.

She explained that earlier in the day she removed a newspaper from the box but at 11 pm that night she received a call from her parents saying her mailbox was damaged. It was valued at $10.

MEMORIAL DAY WEEKEND

Town of Scott Holds May Meeting

By Bernadette Mondloch
Statesman Correspondent

TOWN OF SCOTT- The Town of Scott has taken a second look at its long term debts and comparing the interest being paid for those debts with the interest rates being received on contingency accounts.

Supervisor Robert Gluck said, "It does not make sense to pay interest rates of 4.75% to 5.75% on borrowed money when we are only receiving 2.5% on funds in the bank."

For several months Clerk B.J. Richter has been researching town records to determine the exact amount of outstanding loans and what each represented. These are her findings:

- Front end loader- $7,939.68
- Library loan- $14,360.48
- Batavia Fire Dept. tanker combined with ISO equipment- $25,480.47
- Recycling center equipment, landfill closing and Beechwood Fire Dept. pumper- $44,811.24
- Beechwood Tanker- $47,860.33.

In an attempt to save money, this year at an earlier meeting, the board agreed to pay the three loans with the lowest balances. At Monday night's meeting a motion was passed to pay off an additional loan by using money out of the fire department contingency fund and some out of the general fund.

A Beechwood Fire Department member asked, "What do we do if we need a truck or other piece of equipment." The answer was that the board would then take out a loan. With the elimination of the four loans, the Beechwood tanker loan will be the only one remaining.

The Batavia Athletic Association was given permission to tear down the old brown shed at the Town of Scott Community Center and to build a 16 by 20 foot storage building on a concrete slab where the brown shed had been located. The former bingo building will be moved closer to the ball diamond concession stand as a shelter from inclement weather when necessary. The vacated bingo stand area will be made into a horseshoe pit.

After a lengthy public hearing to hear comment on a request from Scott and Kelly Fechter for a conditional use permit which would allow them to extract gravel to create a pond on a 9.8 acre parcel located in Section 34 on County Road D and another for a zoning change from A-1 to M-3 which would allow for extraction and sale of the gravel obtained from building the pond was tabled until next month.

Steve Rathke representing Hartman Sand and Gravel explained that his firm has done soil borings and is interested in purchasing the gravel. Borings indicate that the north side of the property has a substantial good quality gravel deposit and estimates two to four years to remove it.

He said that there will not be any crushing or washing, only a front end loader loading into trucks. It was the planning commissions recommendation that the zoning change which would allow mining be denied. The primary reasons given were the loss of very good A-1 farm land, the proximity of the Garbisch gravel pit which is only one-half mile away and located on the same road, the increase in trucking on the road already being used by those mining the Garbisch pit, dust, and noise, the blind entrance at the base of the hill near the Fechter property and the effect on adjacent property values. In the meantime board members will be given the opportunity to view the property and obtain a detailed map of elevations related to the proposed pond.

Two other items which had been scheduled for public hearing were put on hold at an earlier planning commission meeting. A zoning change request from A-1 to A-5 by Frank Hetzel for a 10.68 acre parcel was postponed for not more than four months for another appearance at a planning meeting. Hetzel wishes to build a home on a lot which was platted in the late 1960's. This property is reached by permanent easement which does not meet the 66 feet of road frontage to comply with zoning requirements. The delay would give him time to see if he can purchase the needed frontage.

The Planning Commission recommended a conditional use permit submitted by Chad and Shelly Abler but Town Board action is being delayed to such time that the Ablers will become legal owners of the 63.35 acres in Section 25. They have 24 months in which to accomplish this. They do not have plans to build for another 18 months.

The board erred in reappointing Jean Linton and Gary Held to the Board of Appeals last month unaware that each has another year to complete their term. Instead Terry Weber and Tim Marquardt have been reappointed for a two year at the meeting.

Alexis Dennis has resigned from the Lakeview Community Library Board. She is being replaced by Dawn Reksten.

Andy Herriges has been hired to cut the grass at Union Cemetery and Batavia Firemen's Park.

Committee Assignments: Highway-Ivan Kumrow and Ira Weber, Community Center - Bruce Birenbaum and Bob Gluck, Recycling-Ira Weber.

Purchase of a new copier was approved, the cost not to exceed $1,000.

Beer Licenses were approved for the Beechwood Fire Department for June 8 and 9 and the Batavia Fire Department for May 28-29-30.

In last month's article it was reported that the town sold a piece of property to Michael Stewart for $200. The correct amount was $2,000.

New Medicare Rates For 2002

The Medicare hospital insurance deductible and medical premium has increased for 2002.

The hospital insurance deductible has increased by $20, $812. The medical insurance premium is $54 per month, an increase of $4. Under federal law, Medicare rates must be recalculated each year to reflect changes in health care costs.

Hospital insurance, also called Part A, covers hospital, skilled nursing, hospice and home health care. The hospital insurance deductible is a beneficiary's only cost for up to 60 days of Medicare-covered inpatient hospital care. The daily cost to beneficiaries for hospital days 61 through 90 has risen by $5 to $203 per day. For hospital days beyond the 90th day, the cost has risen from $396 to $406. Individuals who require care in a skilled nursing facility must pay $101.50 per day for days 21 through 100.

Medicare medical insurance, also called Part B, pays for doctors' services, outpatient care and other medical services. Most people who have Medicare also have this voluntary coverage.

States have programs that pay some or all of the Medicare premiums and deductibles for some people with low income. For information about programs in your states, contact your local Social Services department.

As I See It

By Rochelle Pennington

Encouragement Gives a Lift

"Good job." "Way to go." "Come on! Do it right once!"

Whether watching 5-year-olds or 15-year-olds, comments from varying parents reacting to their child's efforts on the sports playing field usually run the full circle: praise, encouragement, disappointment, anger, intimidation.

I've often walked away from the bleachers wondering what each of those reactions accomplished in the young heart targeted.

There is no such thing as an insignificant improvement.

-Tom Peters

Today, I found out firsthand what encouragement accomplishes: I stopped at Dairy Queen, purchased a sandwich, and sat down in the crowded dining room next to a family celebrating their son's basketball game over an ice-cream cake. Since the aisles were especially narrow, I soon felt like I was a part of the party.

"So, your team must have won this afternoon," I commented.

The little fellow smiled and whole-heartedly announced, "No, we lost 24 to 2!"

"Well, you must have made the only basket then," I said.

"No," he responded, "I missed all of the eight shots I took, but three of them did hit the rim."

This child was elated. I was confused. They were celebrating because his team lost the game and because he had missed eight baskets!!!! Seldom am I at a loss of words, but the only response I could muster up at that moment was a blank stare (and a very large, insincere looking smile). Absolutely no clue.

I have yet to find the man, however exalted his station, who did not do better work and put forth greater effort under a spirit of approval than under a spirit of criticism.

-Charles Schwab

After another mouthful of cake, and still grinning from ear-to-ear, he added, "We're having a party because last week I missed nine shots and none of them even came anywhere near to the backboard. Dad says that all of my practicing this week really paid off. I'm making progress."

Hang on to Your Wallet or Purse!

Who would not be in favor of reform? If you asked the public if they were in favor of education reform, environmental reform, criminal justice reform, or tax reform, my guess would be that the public would overwhelmingly be in favor. But remember, when politicians in Madison or Washington talk about reform, hang on to your wallet or purse.

In Madison right now there is talk of campaign finance reform. My experience in Madison is that the biggest problem is not campaign donors trying to buy politicians. The big problem is politicians using your money to buy votes. Nevertheless, certain politicians are now trying to get a favorable editorial in the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel and other papers by adding taxpayer money to the already large sums of money already spent campaigning.

Under current law taxpayers can check off $1 on their income tax return to fund political campaigns. This costs $350,000 per year. Since the check off does not affect tax due, this amount is paid for by all of us. New proposals call for this amount to be increased to anywhere from $5 to $20. Furthermore, people would be able to designate a political party so that both Republicans and Democrats would be encouraging their members to check the box. The current $350,000 a year program could balloon to $5 to $10 million a year. (And this when the state has a billion dollar shortfall!!!!)

Worse, incumbent politicians want to end so-called "independent expenditures" by groups that buy their own ads. Groups such as the Farmer Bureau, teacher's union, National Rifle Association or Wisconsin Right to Life sometimes buy their own radio, television, or newspaper ads. These groups try to educate voters about the positions of incumbents. This is called exercising your First Amendment rights. Sometimes incumbent politicians wish the First Amendment didn't exist so these groups couldn't tell you what the incumbents are up to. To punish these groups, these incumbents want government money to be used to offset independent expenditures.

I am for some campaign finance reform. The call for reform should not involve asking overtaxed citizens to contribute millions of dollars more to political campaigns against their will. The call for reform should not be an excuse for politicians to try to damage the First Amendment. (Actually, some cynical politicians believe part of their reform will be struck down by the State Supreme Court after a lot of money is spent on lawyers by groups listed above as well as money by the taxpayer for government lawyers.) Count me out of this sort of "reform." I stand with the taxpayer and with the First Amendment.

Please let me know what you think on this issue. Contact me here in Madison please call 1-888-534-0059.

Library Ledger

By Steev Baker
Kewaskum Library Director
www.kewaskum.lib.wi.us

When I was in eighth grade, I was at an awkward stage; I knew what I wanted out of life, I wanted to be a writer, but I also wanted to go along with the crowd and try new things.

Peer pressure is very subtle, it encourages you to follow your friends even if they do things that do not interest you. Now what didn't interest me was sports. Really. Name a sport, and I wasn't interested in it. Of course, all of my friends were interested in sports, so I went along. I joined the various teams that were available at our small school: softball, basketball, track. I couldn't run, I had no coordination, I didn't understand any of the rules. So one by one, I gave up. I quit each sport in turn. The track coach said, "You know what your problem is, Baker? You're a quitter." So from then on, I was the quitter.

In our science class later that year, we made rockets out of cardboard tubes. We painted them, put weird fins and stickers on them; some kids gave them names like "Speed Machine" or "High Flyer," I named mine "the Quitter".

I remember the day we took them out to fly them in a field by the school. It was a calm spring day, we tramped through the tall grasses and waited as our teacher set out a large piece of plywood, watched as he attached the engines to each rocket and sent them whizzing into the air. When he called my name, I stepped forward with the Quitter. A few random chuckles floated from my assembled classmates. With a strangely peaceful sigh, I hunkered into the grass and shielded my eyes from the sun. I heard the click and hiss of the rocketed engine ignite. Sparks sputtered. Smoke drizzled. Suddenly, the Quitter leapt into the air.

There was a moment of silence as the entire class moved as one, their heads tipping back on their necks, their backs arching to watch the rocket fly. Higher and higher it darted. I watched it for a moment, then sprang to my feet. In that instant, the spell was broken and we rushed forward to follow the Quitter as it rode the air currents high above us. Now descending, it spun lazy whirls against the blue sky.

Finally the Quitter dropped into the grass, still and rumpled-a seemingly lifeless, motionless gray tube. But there was life there. The Quitter had gone higher and further than any of the other rockets. Higher than the most aerodynamic; further than the lightest and quickest.

Here's the lesson I learned that day: it doesn't matter who you are or what you do, it doesn't matter what other people think of you or what they call you, when things seem the most hopeless, you can still come out a winner. I may have been a quitter to everyone on that basketball team but the label they gave me didn't even begin to reflect the complexity of who I was and in the end, the Quitter accomplished what no one else could.

This summer, the theme of our reading program is Join the Winner's Circle-READ! Whether you're interested in video games, football, skateboarding, music, art, reading, or cars, there's always more you can learn to help you become a winner. The Summer Reading Program is open to anyone up through fifth grade. There are great prizes you can win by reading and fun programs to attend. Please call the library to find out more about the reading program: 626-4312.

It may sound trite or cliché, but take it from the Quitter, anyone can be a winner.

KES Holds Star Performers Night

Parents taking time to tell their Star Performers how dazzling they are.

The stars were shining brightly at Kewaskum Elementary School for the 5th annual "Night of Star Performers." Family members came to celebrate their child's accomplishments and achievements.

Student-made displays from Early Childhood to 5th grade could be seen throughout the gym. Books, villages, rockets, book reports, chirping chicks and student videos were just some of the highlights of the evening.

Before family members left for the evening, they had the chance to write a note of encouragement and praise to their shining star.

All 434 students gleamed brightly at Kewaskum Elementary School!

To commemorate the occasion, the Kewaskum 4-H'ers will host an ice cream social on Sunday, June 2, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Kewaskum Town Hall which is located just east of Kewaskum at the intersection of Highway 28 East and Kettle Moraine Drive.

All past club members, leaders and their families are invited to join the fun and share their 4-H experiences. Contact the Club's General Leader, Bonnie Zanow, at 626-8071 if you have any questions.

Meeting for Gridiron Cheerleading

Parents and future cheerleaders are invited to attend a mandatory informational meeting on Tuesday, May 28, at 7 p.m. in the Kewaskum High School Cafeteria.

At this meeting there will be a signup which will include signing of release forms and payment of the $35 entry fee. The entry fee must be paid at signup. Volunteering Quality Education, Emergency Service in Allenton

Emergency Medical Services Week activities started off in Allenton with a sudsy foam spray down when the first EVER known ambulance dry down took place on Sunday.

The Allenton and West Bend Fire Department's ambulances were dedicated into service with a genuine "Dry Down" on Sunday. This ceremony was followed by an open house hosted by the West Bend Fire Department.

The Allenton Fire Department hosted their own open house/get acquainted gathering on Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. "This gathering allowed our community to get a better idea of how we work and what we are all about," said Assistant Chief of EMS Paul Wolf.

"Every fire department and rescue squad is looking for more volunteers to help staff their vehicles and respond to calls for emergency services. Especially with our very mobile society," Wolf continued.

Wolf went on to say, "Our goal is to attract 10 people over the next few years that want to be a firefighter and/or emergency medical technician. Every year we have people leave because of their jobs or family commitments or changing lifestyles." For these reasons the board of directors of the Allenton Volunteer Fire Department opted to take this positive approach to attract more members with this educational open house.

Members of the department displayed many of their skills in auto extrication, the use of emergency medical equipment and many other skills that are used in the course of their duties to help their neighbors when they can no longer help themselves.

"A unique characteristic of volunteer fire departments, such as ours, is the vast background of experiences that are brought with memberships," said Chief Wolf. "We have bankers, carpenters, mechanics, heavy equipment operators, masons, and many other talents. All these enhance what a volunteer fire department is all about, being able to help others to the best of our capabilities."

Refreshments and much information was available for those that attended the open house of the Allenton Volunteer Fire Department. This date was one that was designated by the Wisconsin Emergency Medical Services as the key recruitment/awareness date for all of Wisconsin.

Town of Addison Holds Monthly Meeting

By Andrew R. Kuehl
Staff Writer/Photographer

The Town of Addison Town Board held a public hearing after a closed session meeting to review legal matters the town faces. Supervisors Gary Kranz and Norm Faber were absent as well as treasurer Dennis Klink.

The hearing was to give town residents an opportunity to discuss the rezoning of 30 acres of land currently zoned A-1 to R-1. The land located on Crooked Road in the township is owned by Robert and Mary Aufdermauer.

Town chairman Robert Bingen explained to residents that there is a potential for the 30 acres to be divided into six five acre parcels.

Mary Aufdermauer stated they would not be developing the land themselves.

Residents who attended the hearing asked basic questions like who was paying for roads and all questions were answered accordingly and the hearing was closed on a unanimous vote.

The next order of business was to put the proposal to a vote. It passed unanimously.

The board then discussed a request from a Marshview Drive resident, David Henneberry who requested a second driveway to better access a secondary garage at his home. The board of appeals recently turned down his claim because having only one driveway did not pose a "hardship" which Henneberry had to prove to the appeals board in order to win his petition.

Henneberry's neighbor spoke on his behalf and was in favor of the driveway for his neighbor.

The town board saw a different point of view "This just makes common sense," stated Chairman Bingen. He did though, worry about setting a precedent, but after citing numerous reasons why this case was different town supervisor Gerald Rate motioned to grant the variance his motion was seconded by supervisor Bill Clark.

The supervisors approved the purchase of 900 ton and reserving another 900 ton of road salt for the 2002-2003 winter. Bingen informed the supervisors that they currently have 1,000 ton in the salt shed and 300 still on reserve at Jones Island in Milwaukee.

The transformation of a house trailer to a shelter for birds. The property owner recently constructed a new home and according to town code two dwellings can not be cohabited by humans. Clark motioned to allow the transformation to take place and Rate seconded.

Two operators licenses were approved. One was approved upon the completion of a background check.

The next town board meeting will be Thursday, June 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall.

Allenton, Wisconsin 53002 Memorial Day Cancel 5-30-02

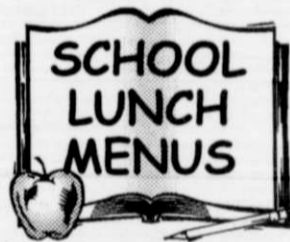

MEMORIAL DAY VILLAGE STATION
ZIP CODE DAY 5-30-02

Allenton, Wisconsin will celebrate Memorial Day this year with a special pictorial cancel planned by one of its well known residents and veterinarian for over 40 years. Dr. W.E. Melbery, affectionately known as "Doc" or "Willy". When he realized that in 2002, the zip code of his town would have the same number as Memorial Day, also known as Poppy day, he began working on an idea for a pictorial cancel to commemorate the event. Unfortunately, he was not able to see his project through fruition as he died on September 8, 2001, losing his courageous battle with cancer.

His wife, Florence encouraged by the Allenton Post Office staff proceeded with his project and incorporated the poppy in the design. The red crepe paper poppy flowers are made by hospitalized and disabled veterans not only as therapeutic help but also to raise funds for their benefit. The Allenton American Legion, Fohl Martin Post 483 Auxiliary will help with the canceling. A stamp colleague, Roland Essig completed the design according to regulations and it was approved by the U.S. Postal Service.

Doc was a long time stamp collector, specializing in whale, submarine and Danish stamps and was a member of several philatelic societies. As a member of the Scandinavian Collectors Club he served as its librarian for over 12 years. He organized and procured philatelic materials and through his efforts is became one of the finest specialized philatelic libraries in the United States. He was a WW II veteran serving four patrols in the Pacific Submarine Fleet, three of these as a machinist on the USS Whale.

The cancel may be procured by affixing correct postage on a self addressed stamped envelope or post card. Envelopes should have a stiffener inserted to assure a good cancellation and to protect against bending while passing through mail stream. Then mailed in a larger envelope to: Memorial Day Village Station, Postmaster, P.O. Box 9998, Allenton, WI 53002-9998. Requests are available only for the date indicated and must be post-marked no later than 30 days after the date of cancellation to qualify for servicing.

Eight Estate Planning Strategies You Should Know

Despite the scheduled repeal of estate taxes by 2010 (and scheduled to reappear in 2011), many estate planning strategies, including tax reduction strategies, are still needed. Here are eight estate-planning strategies you should know.

1) A will. A valid will stipulates to whom you want your assets distributed. Without a will, the laws or the state where you reside will determine for you.

2) A living will, medical power of attorney and financial power of attorney. A living will stipulates what life-saving medical procedures you want or don't want in the event you are physically or mentally incapacitated. A medical power of attorney appoints a person the power to make medical decisions on your behalf, while a financial power of attorney states who can make financial decisions on your behalf.

3) The annual gift-tax exclusion. One of the most basic inexpensive strategies for saving estate taxes, the gift-tax exclusion allows you to give away, tax free, $11,000 a year (indexed for inflation) to each beneficiary you choose. Thus, you and your spouse could jointly give away $22,000 annually to each of your children, grandchildren or anyone else without incurring a gift tax.

4) Medical and tuition payments. A person can make unlimited gift-tax-free payments for another's tuition or medical bills without it counting against the payer's lifetime gift-tax exclusion, as long as the payments are made directly to the educational or medical institution. A grandparent, for example, could pay a $20,000 annual tuition bill to a college for a grandchild gift-tax-free, and then give directly to the child up to another $11,000 a year for non-tuition college expenses, taking advantage of the annual gift-tax exclusion.

5) Lifetime giving. Assuming you have sufficient funds to live on, lifetime giving often can better reduce your estate tax liability than waiting until death to pass on your estate. One advantage of lifetime gifting is that you can remove appreciating assets, such as common stock, from your estate. The second advantage is that if your gift is taxable (you can give away up to $1 million gift-tax free during your lifetime), the money you use to pay the gift tax is also removed from your estate, thus reducing any future estate taxes.

6) By-pass trust or credit-shelter trusts. For people who die in 2002 or 2003, the first $1 million of their estate is exempt from estate tax (assuming they haven't used up some or all of their exemption amount through taxable lifetime gifts). That exemption amount gradually rises to $3.5 million by 2009. A spouse (with the exception of a foreign-citizen spouse) can pass his or her entire estate tax free to the surviving spouse. But because the surviving spouse can't use the deceased's exemption amount at his or her subsequent death, this "wastes" the deceased's exemption amount.

Often it's better for the first-to-die spouse to pass his or her exemption amount to a credit shelter trust. The surviving spouse can use income generated by the trust assets, and at the survivor's death, the assets pass to the trust's beneficiaries tax free. In addition, the estate of the second spouse also saves the additional exemption amount. Thus, for example, if both spouses died in 2003, they could exempt $2 million between them instead of only $1 million.

7) Irrevocable life insurance trust. The proceeds of a life insurance policy held in your estate, perhaps used to pay for estate taxes, is subject to estate tax. But if an irrevocable life insurance trust owns the policy, the proceeds will not be included in your estate. You may donate annually to the trust an amount equal to the premiums to pay for the policy. For these donations to qualify for the annual gift-tax exclusion, you must use a complicated strategy called Crummey letters.

8) Charitable remainder trust. The donor transfers property to the CRT, receiving an immediate income-tax deduction and avoiding any capital gains taxes on donated appreciated property. In return, the donor receives an income stream generated by the trust assets either for a specified time or for life. At the end of that period, the charitable organization inherits the trust assets.

What a Surprise?

by Ami

Weather-wise this spring has been an Up and Down affair! The usual height of many of spring's usual wild flowers apparently were stunted ... as were the Marsh Merry Gold, Jack in the Pulpit and the Violets and May Flowers.

I would imagine that the mixture of cold air and wet conditions caused this to occur. However, tall or small, the beauty of the great variety of blossoms still moved one to be thrilled by it all.

One of my friends had two encounters meeting a wild cat face to face. Another has been amazed at the number of coyotes he has seen. I was really pleased to catch sight of a number of otters frolicking in a nearby lake. Somehow or other the wild animal movement from the North to our Washington County seems to be the coming "surprise" story. Anyone catch sight of a Black Bear lately?"

This is the second year a pair of Sand Hill Crane have nested on my humble acres. When out for a hike, don't be afraid to be treated to a this or that experience. Our hardwood stands of trees and shrubs prove to be fine homes for our country cousins.

Kiwanis Club Still Seeking Old Cell Phones

The Kewaskum Kiwanis Club is asking cell phone users to answer the call and turn in used cell phones they no longer need to help raise funds for the various community projects the club sponsors. Collection efforts have been going strong since November 12. Over 200 phones have been collected thus far.

"The primary goal of our phone drive fundraiser is to collect wireless phones that consumers aren't using anymore," said the club's president Larry Ammel. "With more than 30 million used wireless phones lying idle in American homes and businesses, an individual can turn a used item into new funding that helps support our mission in a simple but effective way."

Any portable cellular or PCS phone is accepted, excluding bag phones of vehicle-installed models. The Kiwanis Club will also take the phone's battery or charger, if available. All donors should deactivate the wireless service of any donated phones before turning them in.

"We're very excited about this new fundraising opportunity," said Ammel. "Not only will it benefit our organization, but donated phones that can't be refurbished are properly recycled to benefit the environment as well."

The public may donate their used wireless phones by mailing them to

River Bottom Turkey Hunt

Hello friends,

Sometimes I shoot a big buck; sometimes I couldn't shoot a doe in a four-day hunt if my life depended on it.

Frustration is part of everyone's life. Last week I hunted turkey in Unit 15 for the fifth period hunt and found out just how difficult it can be to bag a gobbler in the late season.

Wednesday, May 8
High 61, Low 44

John Morris sold Laurie and me our home two years ago, and has been a good friend of mine.

Back in the spring of 2000, when I sat in a blind with John and watched him bag a 23-pound bird with a bow, I came to appreciate his ability to call turkey.

Last night, John and I built a camp on the banks of the Yellow River. Our plan was hunt and fish for the next three days.

John bagged his bird in April and was along for his calling ability and outdoor adventure.

Long before the sun came up, we were sitting in a blind within a stone's throw of the Yellow River backwaters, which were alive with surfacing fish.

In the oak forest in front of us, John had placed a jake and hen decoy. The jake, an immature male, is supposed to anger the tom (which we were hunting) into coming within shotgun range.

John uses different calls to let the local birds know where we are.

Our first frustration, which lasted for three full days, was wind so strong that John's calls were rendered useless.

We saw one hen today and she totally ignored us. On the up side, we fished from shore at camp and had a blast catching a 12-pound channel and a mixed bag of stripers and walleye.

Thursday, May 9
High 58, Low 42

Today was a dandy. A nasty thunderstorm twisted my brand new screen tent into a glob of spaghetti. The wind was blowing at a steady 25 mph with gusts up to 51 mph.

More bad luck came our way after we spotted six toms working a 15-acre field surrounded by an oak forest. The birds that were about 200 yards from us couldn't hear John's calls.

We came up with a plan on how to ambush them when, unfortunately, John's cell phone rang. A man delivering a load of dirt to his place got stuck in John's yard and needed John to pull him out.

We came up with a morning plan, caught a stringer of fish, and hit the rack early.

Friday, May 10
High 64, Low 40

Up at 3:20, in the blind by 5 a.m. That's our life. Today was action-packed, and loaded with more bad luck. First, the strong winds didn't die down. Second was a bearded hen five yards out of range. Third, a trophy tom five yards out of range. Fourth, several decoy shy birds. Fifth, after nine hours in the blind, two toms, a jake and a hen came into our setup. Unfortunately a gust of wind hit our blind and blew up the front flap, revealing us and creating a chorus of obnoxious laughter from among the local turkey flock.

John and I extended our three-day hunt two more days. We had lots of laughs, somewhat frustrated our women on Mother's Day and never filled my tag. Those stupid birds you see picking corn out of corn manure are a whole lot smarter than John Morris and I.

Love to hunt!

Statewide Changes Approved to Deer Hunting Seasons in Wisconsin

MADISON -- Deer hunters will have additional statewide hunting opportunities and will be able to look forward to more consistent season dates for the special antlerless-only deer hunts in overpopulated deer management units, under new rules that received final approval this month.

The changes are among the first major rule changes to result from the Deer Management for 2000 and Beyond project and are not related to the recent outbreak of Chronic Wasting Disease in Wisconsin, according to Kurt A. Thiede, regulation policy and outreach specialist with the Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Wildlife Management.

"The Deer Management for 2000 and Beyond Project began in 1996. It was led by the Wisconsin Conservation Congress, which is a legislatively established advisory body to the state Natural Resources board," Thiede says. "The Deer 2000 project involved a major public participation effort. These rule changes are the results of hundreds of public meetings held around the state and thousands of volunteer hours by people serving on the various committees formed through the deer 2000 process."

The rule revisions (WM-40-00, which changed portions of NR 10, 12 and 19 of the Wis. Admin. Code) were originally submitted for adoption in January 2001 and received final approval from the state Natural Resources board (NRB) in April, and final approval from the state legislature earlier this month. Legislative committee reviewing the proposal had earlier rejected portions of the rule changes and returned the package to the NRB for modification.

"The most significant change from the legislative review process was the removal of Zone T units in northern Wisconsin from the four-day December Zone T hunt," Thiede says. "That change recognizes the concerns of snowmobilers and cross-country skiers who felt the December hunt could interfere with their sports."

Significant changes approved in the new rules include:

- * The early archery season will begin each year on the Saturday nearest September 15 (this year on September 14).

- * The early archery season will be extended four days statewide to include the Monday through Thursday prior to the Saturday opener of the nine-day deer gun season (this year the early bow season will run September 14 through November 21).

- * The late archery season will begin on the day after the nine-day regular gun deer season (this year December 2).

- * The late archery season has been extended three days to include the New Year's Holiday weekend, and will now end each year on January 3 (this year the late bow season will run from December 2 through January 3).

- * The muzzleloader season has been extended by three days. The muzzleloader season will now run for 10 days (this year December 2 through 11).

- * There will be a one-day antlerless deer hunt for youths 12 to 15 years of age each October in non-Zone T units (this year October 26).

- * Zone T unit selection has been codified and units are now determined by a formula and will no longer require emergency rules by the NRB. Deer Management Units (DMUs) that are not expected to get to within 20 percent of established population goals (based on historical harvest data for the unit) with the regular deer season framework and antlerless permits, will have a Zone T season. And, after two consecutive years of Zone T, if it does still not appear that another Zone T hunt would bring the unit within the 20 percent of goal, an "Earn-a-Buck" season framework could be implemented.

- * The Zone T framework is also codified. It will consist of a four-day antlerless deer hunt in October (this year October 24 through 27) in all DMUs in the state that require the additional herd control defined above and a four-day December antlerless hunt in Zone T units south of Highway 8 beginning the second Thursday following the Thanksgiving holiday (this year December 12 through 15).

- * All deer harvested -- whether with a firearm or bow, whether antlered or antlerless -- must be registered in the unit of kill or an adjacent unit.

- * All metro units will have the same season framework. This includes the traditional nine-day gun season followed by an antlerless gun season that runs until the second Sunday in December (this year November 23 through December 8); an archery season that runs from the Saturday nearest September 15 through two days prior to the gun deer opener and then starts up on the opening day of the deer gun season and continues until January 31 (this year September 14 through November 21 and November 23 through January 31); and a 10 day muzzleloader season (this year December 2 through 11).

- * Hunter success in harvesting and seeing deer and public deer viewing opportunities will be included in the list of criteria for determining deer population goals at future DMU goal and boundary reviews.

- * Developing standards for tolerable levels of deer damage to crops and requiring the department to lower the overwinter goal in deer management units that exceed the tolerable levels in two years out of a three-year period.

- * Requiring farmers enrolled in the Wildlife Damage Abatement Claims Program (WDACP) in a given year who experiences $1,000 or more damage in that year be automatically issued a shooting permit by February 15 of the following year, with the required harvest objective of 80 percent of the harvest quota by September 15 in order to qualify for the benefits of the WDACP for the current year.

"While these are the first changes to come about through the deer 2000 project, there are other proposals that are still being developed from this process and other changes that could be recommended in the future, especially from those committees that worked on the issues of believability of population estimates and recommendations for addressing agricultural damage and access to private lands," Thiede says. Most of the additional proposed changes require statutory authority and would also have to go through the NRB rule-making process.

Drinking Water, Groundwater Awareness

Water is essential to life and we need to take the time to think about what we do or do not do every day to protect our water supply.

In observance of National Drinking Water Week, the Washington County Health Department, along with the Washington County Land Conservation Department, is encouraging the citizens of Washington County to think about one of our most valuable resources, our drinking water.

Water is essential to life and although most of us don't take an abundant water supply for granted, as we may have 30 or more years ago, we should still take the time to think about what we do or don't do to protect our supply.

Water is a daily necessity for all living creatures. It falls as rain and snow from the sky where it then collects in rivers, streams, and lakes. Water also collects underground in aquifers. An aquifer is a rock or soil formation that can store or transmit water efficiently.

This same water is pumped out of wells to be used for drinking, cooking, bathing, laundry, washing cars, recreation, and cooling industrial parts in factories. There are hundreds of uses for water, the most important of which is drinking.

The same water we use every day evaporates and eventually forms into more clouds that again fall to Earth in some form of precipitation. This constant cycling of water from the sky to the earth, back into the sky is called the "water cycle."

The water that flows into aquifers and collects in the soil is called groundwater. In Washington County, all of our drinking water comes from groundwater. Some communities, such as Milwaukee, get their drinking water from lakes or surface water.

Washington County residents depend on groundwater to supply both our municipal wells and our private wells, so it is important that it stays clean.

Because the rainwater that eventually becomes groundwater or surface water washes over the earth, anything that is put on the ground can eventually end up in our drinking water.

Chris Mechenich, groundwater educator at the University of Wisconsin-Extension Central Wisconsin Groundwater Center states, "Our drinking water, whether it's from groundwater or a lake, is a local resource and local people are the only ones who can choose to pollute or protect it, we all need to actively participate in protecting our drinking water." Because it is a local resource, we need to make keeping it clean a local effort.

In observance of Drinking Water and Groundwater Awareness Week, consider taking the following action to help assure that your drinking water remains safe to drink:

- * If you have your own well, test the water for coliform bacteria and nitrate nitrogen. Also test for other contaminants, like pesticides or gasoline, if they are a problem in your area.

- * A coliform test should be done every year, yet only about five percent of private wells are tested each year. Water test kits are available from the Wisconsin State Laboratory of Hygiene at 1-800-442-4618 and from the University of Wisconsin Stevens Point Environmental Task Force Laboratory at 1-877-383-8378.

- * If your water comes from a municipal well, contact your water utility for information about how your community's water is tested and protected. Thank them for doing a great job, and ask how you can help.

- * When you do spring cleaning, choose cleaning products that minimize harm to the environment.

Indian Varsity Golfers Defeated by Cougars

After suffering two conference defeats last week, the Kewaskum boys golf teams tried to develop some momentum going into Thursday, May 16's conference championships.

All three Kewaskum High School teams traveled to Campbellsport to challenge the 2-4 Cougars on their home course. The 3-2 Indians needed to upset the local linksters on Tuesday, May 14, as a means of creating confidence coming into the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Tournament.

Campbellsport, however, proved to be very difficult to overcome on their home course, as the Cougars handily defeated the visiting varsity by a final score of 162 to 173.

The hosts were led by three seniors recording 40 or better. They were Mike Schrauth (39), John Pitzen and Kevin Miller. The Indians were unable to match their league counterparts, therefore, Kewaskum dropped to 3-3 in conference play with one conference dual meet to complete.

The KHS varsity team was led by senior Noah Koch who fired a 40, junior Josh Timblin, 42; sophomore Brandon Gitter, 45; and sophomore Ryan Koepke and senior Andy Bauer, who each hit 46.

The Indian JV team won their match 180-198. Freshman Luke Koch carded a 42, junior Brian Mertz, 44; freshman Josh Riebe, 46; sophomore Shane Dreher, 48, and junior Mike Schilter, 49.

Campbellsport finished their conference play at 3-4 and will host both the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and WIAA Division Two Regional Tournaments at the Golf Course at Camelot near Lomira.

The Indians commuted to Manitowoc on Wednesday, May 15 to battle another team (Roncalli) that has played much better on their home course than on their opponents' layouts.

Indians Take Early Exit In State Playoffs

By Kyle Darmody
Student Reporter

The varsity fastpitch team hosted the Kiel Raiders Thursday night in the first round of the state playoffs. The Raiders who had previously lost both regular season games to the Indians, had no problem advancing to the second round by beating the Indians 8-4.

The only worries for the Raiders were juniors Amanda Schladweiler and Heather Meyer, who both had two hits offensively. Schladweiler also provided great defense with a diving stab in foul territory to get the Indians out of a jam. The efforts were not enough as the Indians came up four runs short.

It was a disappointing end to the season especially for the six seniors playing in their final game. The loss gave the Indians an 8-11 overall season record.
