The above photo shows two vehicles involved in a crash that occurred early Saturday morning on Higway V just south of Auburn Ashford Road. The driver of the vehicle in the ditch was transported to St. Joseph's Community Hospital by Campbellsport Rescue Squad. Details of the crash were not available due to the Labor Day holiday. Witnesses at the scence stated that one of the vehicles attempted to pass another and was hit head-on.

Maertz Bound Over for Trial

Above, Chad Maertz speaks with one of his two attorneys. Chris Hartley of Forrestal Law Offices in Milwaukee. Maertz was bound over for trial in an alleged attempted abduction that took place on August 12 near Ashford on Highway 67. He was in court Thursday and testimony was given by the victim, the girl who Maertz is accused of trying to abduct. She stated in her testimony that she had seen Maertz on a few occaisions on highway 67 prior to August 12. After her testimony Fond du Lac County Circuit Court Judge Peter Grimm decided there was enough evidence to hold Maertz over for trial. He will be back in court on September 20 at 8:30 am..He remains in jail on a $300,000 cash bail.

Brunner to Start 59th Coalition for District

Temperance * Frugality

ark Brunner, Republican candidate for the 59th district Assembly from Kewaskum announced today his plans to form a coalition of diverse voters from across the district called the 59th Coalition.

The coalition, Brunner states, will be made up of merchants, farmers and ordinary citizens interested in promoting the best interests of the district to state government through their state representative. When there are issues on the local level that need addressing on the state level, Brunner hopes that this group will provide the input needed by which new legislation can be written or existing legislation changed. The dynamics of the group will include the internet as well as organized meetings that would move around the district.

Brunner stated that there is a need for such a group since the dynamics of government are rapidly changing in Wisconsin. We have seen government grow exponentially over the past several decades and the time is fast approaching when such rapid growth can no longer efficiently manage the needs of local municipalities. As many local governments are finding out, the cost of doing business with the state is growing while the services often provided are shrinking

The handwriting is on the wall and it won't be long before shared revenues are curtailed and, perhaps, eventually cut-off altogether. Brunner advocates the growth of local governments and an increase in tax relief to municipalities, businesses, and property owners to offset the current high cost of state services and mandates. "It is also essential

TIPS ON TRIPS

On The Road Again? Take Your Four-Legged Friend

(NAPS)-Many pet owners might find vacations more enjoyable if they could take their pet along.

Pets are welcome at some vacation destinations, but it's a good idea to check on pet policies before leaving home. Some places require deposits for pets and some have special exercise areas.

Sharing vacation fun with your dog or cat can be easier if you follow a few tips from the experts at KOA Kampgrounds.

When traveling, pet owners may need to bring a crate, a first aid kit, familiar toys, a supply of the pet's food and treats, at least two leashes, food and water bowls, proof of license and vaccination, plus a picture in case the pet gets lost, a brush or comb, and an identification tag and updated rabies tag.

A first aid kit for pets should include a topical antibiotic, veterinary eye drops, gauze and wrapping tape, tweezers, and any regular medication that the pet takes.

Take your pet to the veterinarian before your trip so he or she is up to date with all the required shots.

If you are traveling to Canada or Mexico, your pet will probably need a health certificate from your vet in addition to proof of rabies vaccination.

If you are traveling to Lyme disease country (New England, the upper midwest, or California) your pet may require a Lyme Disease vaccine. Flea prevention can also be a good idea.

Traveling with a pet may require some extra planning but it can add a lot to your vacation fun.

When traveling in a car or RV, be sure to keep it cool and well-ventilated for your pet. Stop every two to three hours so the dog can take a walk. Offer water during the stops.

If your dog is not traveling in a crate, put on a doggie seatbelt.

Never leave your pet in a parked car, even in the shade with the window cracked open.

Don't leave your pet alone all day, even if he is in a crate.

Staying at a campground can make it easier to travel with pets. KOA Kampgrounds, a national chain of campgrounds, does accept pets. Each campground may have its own rules or fees, which you should check when making a reservation.

While reservations for RV and tent camping are not required, the campgrounds do encourage you to make them.

With September 11 Approaching, This is Worth Reading and Passing on... 'Do Not Forget'

By: Ed Evans, MGySgt. USMC (Ret.)

I sat in a movie theatre watching "Schindler's List," asked myself, "Why didn't the Jews fight back?" Now I know why.

I sat in a movie theatre watching "Pearl Harbor" and asked myself, "Why weren't we prepared?" Now I know why.

Civilized people cannot fathom, much less predict, the actions of evil people.

On September 11, dozens of capable airplane passengers allowed themselves to be overpowered by a handful of poorly armed terrorists because they did not comprehend the depth of hatred that motivated their cap-

On September 11, thousands of innocent people were murdered because too many Americans naively reject the reality that some nations are dedicated to the dominance of others. Many political pundits, pacifists and media personnel want us to forget the carnage. They say we must focus on the bravery of the rescuers and ignore the cowardice of the killers. They implore us to understand the motivation of the perpetrators. Major television stations have announced they will assist the healing process by not replaying devastating footage of the planes crashing into the Twin Towers.

I will not be manipulated.

I will not pretend to understand.

I will not forget.

I will not forget the liberal media who abused freedom of the press to kick our country when it was vulnerable and hurting.

I will not forget that CBS anchor Dan Rather preceded President Bush's address to the nation with the snide remark, "No matter how you feel about him, he is still our president.

I will not forget that ABC TV anchor Peter Jennings questioned President Bush's motives for not returning immediately to Washington, DC and commented, "We're all pretty skeptical and cynical about Washington."

And I will not forget that ABC's Mark Halperin warned if reporters weren't informed of every little detail of this war, they aren't "likely - nor should they be expected - to show deference."

I will not isolate myself from my fellow Americans by pretending an attack on the USS Cole in Yemen was not an attack on the United States of America. I will not forget the Clinton administration equipped Islamic terrorists and their supporters with the world's most sophisticattelecommunications equipment and encryption technology, thereby compromising America's ability to trace terrorist radio, cell phone, land lines, faxes and modem communications.

I will not be appeased with pointless, quick retaliatory strikes like those perfected by the previous administration.

I will not be comforted by "feel-good, do nothing" regulations like the silly "Have your bags been under your control?" question at the air-

I will not be influenced so called "antiwar demonstrators" who exploit the right of expression to anti-American chant obscenities.

I will not forget the moral victory handed to the Vietnamese American war protesters who reviled and spat upon the returning soldiers, airmen, sailors and Marines.

I will not be softened by the wishful thinking of pacifists who chose reassurance over reality.

I will embrace the wise words of Prime Minister Tony Blair who told Labor Party conference, "They have no moral inhibition on the slaughter of the innocent. If they could have murdered not 7,000 but 70,000, does anyone doubt they would have done so and rejoiced in it?

There is no compromise possible with such people, no meeting of minds, no point of understanding with such terror. Just a choice: defeat it or be defeated by it. And defeat it we must!"

I will force myself to:

- hear the weeping - feel the helplessness
- imagine the terror
- sense the panic
- smell the burning flesh
- experience the loss
- remember the hatred.

I sat in a movie theater, watching "Private Ryan" and asked myself, "Where did they find the courage?" Now I know. We have no choice. Living without liberty is not living.

When he served as a supervisor on the Osceola Town Board, he exhibited the qualities of investigating a greatly needed project before making a snap decision. Jim Porfilio, Teacher, Retired (Milw.) Fond du Lac County Osceola Township

Dear Editor,

I would like to say a few words about the "great race" that is the 59th assembly race next Tuesday. I feel there is a terrific need for some good old common sense in Madison. We already have enough professional politicians and the mess they have created. We need more business people to make decisions for us. The guy who gets my vote is Tommy Thompson because I have known him most of my life and have seen his business abilities and leadership on the town board treating everyone equally and fairly through many tough decisions.

The State is also facing some tough decisions for which he has some good answers, and I know he will not fold when the going gets tough, under the pressure of the big spenders like so many of the career politicians do.

Vote for Tommy Thompson on Tuesday and we will all benefit.

> Arlene A. Ebert Campbellsport

Dear Editor,

I'm not real good with words, but I felt that I just had to ask a couple of questions about one of the candidates currently running for the 59th district assembly seat. His name is Anthony Bonnett. I keep hearing that he has spent a whole lot of money and in fact some say he is trying to buy this election. Added to that I also keep hearing that he doesn't even live in our district.

This makes me angry. In the brochure he sent to my house it said he lives in Wilson. So, I thought I would check it out. Yet, when I call the number on the brochure I only get an answering machine. Isn't he ever home? Or, does he really even live there? Seems to me that if you are going to put so much money and time into trying to get elected, you sure should try to at least live where you want to work? Right?

In the brochure he also said his family had a 57 year history in the Sheboygan area. Ok! But, is that in this district? Who cares about Sheboygan! I care about the towns in this district and Sheboygan isn't one of them.

Come on. Why not level with us. If you expect my vote you need to be honest about things that are pretty simple like, where you live.

> Sincerely, Darwin Schulz 5674 Cty Rd D West Bend, WI 53090

An Open Letter to the Citizens of the 59th Assembly District,

Choice. It is something that the voters who previously were in the 53rd Assembly District have now as residents of the newly created 59th Assembly District. So, who do we vote for? The candidate with the largest billboard? The one with the most yard signs? Or one of the other eight candidates vying for this Assembly seat? I want to let the readers know that I have not yet made a decision who to support and have not been contacted by any campaign to voice the following concerns. Rather, I believe that it is important to gather as much information regarding all the candidates before making a decision about who can best represent me in Madison. Constituents need to share as much information with each other so we can collectively send the right person to represent us in Madison. This requires more that just reviewing the campaign brochures filled with promises of what the candidates will do for us. We must also consider each candidate's past actions and espoused beliefs. Most of the time, this behavior is most likely to predict how the candidate will perform in the future. This then brings me to my concern regarding one of the candidates for the 59th Assembly District, Thomas "Tommy" Thompson-not to be confused with the former Wisconsin Governor, Tommy

Thompson. The September 13, 2001 edition of the Campbellsport News chronicled my factbased concerns regarding the performance of our soon to be former Representative Carol Owens over the past several years; including falling asleep during an Assembly hearing regarding racial profiling, the use of discriminatory and prejudicial language during an interview with Wisconsin Public Radio, the proposal of a "Miss Manners Bill" requiring school districts-by state law-to punish children who did not use titles such as "Mr." or "Mrs.", and her calling my request of her, as a member of the Corrections and Courts Committee, to thoroughly investigate the death of an inmate in a correctional facility, from an asthma attack a "witch hunt". All of these concerns are documented in writing as correspondence from Rep. Owens and were reprinted in the above-mentioned edition of the Campbellsport News.

An excerpt of a Capital Times, Madison editorial reprinted in The Reporter, Fond du Lac, on August 2, 2001 indicated the following of Rep. Owens' career "...it should be said that Owens does not discriminate when it comes to discriminating. During a legislative career distinguished by its lack of distinction, Owens has taken shots at gays and lesbians, young people, couples experiencing marital difficulties and just about every other group that does not include white women of a certain age from Winnebago County. Owens' legislative specialty has been the importation of bills based on legislation passed by the backwards legislature of Louisiana and Alabama."

I suggested at that time that she be replaced in the 2002 elections with someone whose beliefs and values better match those of her constituents-whatever the party affiliation. What is most alarming is that Mr. Thompson reportedly was prompted to "try filling their (Rep. Carol Owens, R-Oshkosh and Glenn Grothman, R-West Bend) shoes because he shares many of their ideals, ... adding that Owens asked him to run." (The Reporter, Fond du Lac, July 7, 17, 2002) Given this information, I am deeply troubled that he wants to represent us-perhaps continuing Rep. Owens' agendawhen we finally have an opportunity for a fresh voice representing us in Madison.

I have other concerns regarding Mr. Thompson's leadership abilities. February 1, 2001, Campbellsport News printed a letter to the editor that I authored expressing concern that guns are the only consumer product not regulated by the Consumer Production Safety Commission (CPSC) and suggested that Congress close the gun show loop hole in 40 states that allows individuals to go to a gun show and buy a gun from a private seller without a background check. In response to that letter, Mr. Thompson submitted a letter to the editor that was printed in the Campbellsport News on February 15,

In addition to expressing his views regarding guns and gun laws, he voiced his opinion regarding public education. Following quotes by James Madison, Sammuel Adams and

Area Square Dancers Attend Conventions

During June 26-29, 2002, the city of St. Paul, MN hosted the 51st National Square and Round Dance Convention. Almost 9,000 dancers and callers from around the world attended this event.

One of the special events took place on the Wabash Bridge, during which MN State Troopers diverted traffic for several hours to allow approximately 6,000 dancers to square dance on the bridge.

Some of the local members from the Kettle Moraine Squares that attended this dance were Dick Borowiak, Ed and Rosemary Brown, Dale and Carol Buettner, Gayrene Chambers, Lloyd and Joyce Gatzke, Bob and Peg Jacklin, Bob Laubenstein, Dennis and Eunice Mueller, Barb Strobel, Dorothy Ziebell and Gordy and Mary Ann Ziemann.

The 43rd Wisconsin Square and Round Dance Convention was held August 15-17, 2002 at the LaCrosse Center with over 1000 dancers in attendance. Some of the local members from the Kettle Moraine Squares that attended this convention were Peter and Boldt, Michelle Laura Farrell, Millard and Murial Gerndt, Jim and Karen Parson, Will and June Rosenthal, plus all of the people who attended the National convention in Minnesota.

Next year, the 44th Wisconsin Square and Round Dance Convention will be held at the West Bend High Schools, August 8-10, 2003. This will be a great opportunity to see approximately 1100 dancers having a great time.

Now's great time for local people to get involved with this wonderful activity.

Why square dance?

 You're never alone.
 What better way to be with friends than filling a hall with music, color and laughter?

 The touching of hands is friendship set to music.

• It gives the brain muscle a workout and is a great stress reliever

• When you enter the square dance world, you leave all your problems, outside what starts as a smile in your heart as the music and movement begins, ends up as a smile on your face. It's the truth!!

 Life is one continuous learning process and we are never too old to learn

• Great exercise-you walk approximately 2.5 miles a dance

Sharpens your mental and physical reflexes

 Strengthens relationships when people go dancing together

 Very affordable, approximately $7.00/couple for several hours of dancing, which generally includes

Now is the time to get ready for next year's convention in West Bend. A new dancer program starts September 8th at St. John's Lutheran Church at 7:00 p.m. The first night of lessons is free, so you've got nothing to lose. For more information call 262-677-0513 or 262-677-3530.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thomas Jefferson regarding the right to bear arms (of which I do not disagree with), Mr. Thompson wrote the following "See if you can find any of these quotes in the Public School System today let alone being taught there. In the search for all this violence and school shootings, could it be the Public School System itself? God and the Bible have been tossed out which had been welcome since the beginning of our Country. Now our kids are taught they are an animal that evolved from an animal and the murder of unborn babies is actually a good thing because there are already too many people here destroying "Mother Earth." Is it no wonder that some kids act like animals unless the parents can correct the stupidness of that teaching at home."

Mr. What will Thompson's agenda will be regarding public education? What kinds of bills will he author in the Assembly to address his obvious discontent with the public education system in Wisconsin? His campaign literature expresses his goal for education as "merit pay for teachers, reward our good teachers and provide a quality education for our children." How does Mr. Thompson "quality"? define expressed tone regarding the failure of public education concerns me greatly. Will he attempt to introduce legislation similar to Rep. Owens "Miss Manners Bill" or something more damaging?

His campaign literature also indicates that he will protect "innocent life and promote families" which The Reporter, Fond du Lac (July 17, 2002) has interpreted as However, his "pro-life". campaign brochure also indicates that he supports the "death penalty for those caught in the act and premeditated murders". What Mr. Thompson means when he says "caught in the act" is not clear. Caught in the act of what? In any case, Mr. Thompson holds this belief despite the fact that in January 2002, the state of Illinois, who had supported the death penalty for years, put a moratorium on the use of the death penalty. Governor George Ryan announced his decision following the exoneration of the 13th death row prisoner found to have been wrongfully convicted in the state since the U.S. reinstated the death penalty in 1977. According to the ACLU, a review of death penalty judgments over a 23 year period found a national error rate of 68% indicating that in a matters of life and death, we are getting it wrong more than two out of three times. In addition, states that have death penalty laws do not have lower crime rates or murder rates than states without such laws. And states that have abolished capital punishment, or reinstituted it, show no significant changes in either crime or murder rates.

So, who are these people that Mr. Thompson would say were "caught in the act"? Just how is he going to determine this and guarantee that the state of Wisconsin would not be executing an innocent person? Similar to many of Rep. Owens repressive and archaic bills, introducing the institution of the death penalty in Wisconsin would be "backwards legislation". Additionally, it seems that Mr. Thompson's beliefs are in apparent conflict. How can one indicate that he is pro-life but then support the death penalty? Is it Mr. Thompson who will decide when and whose life is valuable? This certainly does not respect the individual self-worth and dignity of every individual.

Lastly, Mr. Thompson closed his editorial (Campbellsport News, February 15, 2001) suggesting that I get out of these "Left Wing," "Socialist," "anti-American groups". Is this the kind of response that one would expect of someone who wants to be the leader of the 59th Assembly? Whomever is elected to represent us will need to work cooperatively and respectfully with people who have different political ideas. Are these the kinds of allegations that people can expect to endure if they express ideas different than those held by Mr. Thompson-that they are ""anti-American?"

We finally have an opportunity to elect someone with a new perspective to represent us in Madison. Let's not miss this opportunity. Those elected to this next term have a tremendously difficult task facing them as they will wrestle with a significant budget deficit among other important issues. We cannot afford to be a one-issue voter. Let your voice be heard.

Grandparent's Day is Sunday September 8

I was busy. Too busy. It his Sunday best so he would was only 6 a.m. and this determination had already been made as I mentally mapped out the day ahead over a cup of coffee. My "what-to-do" and "where-togo" list seemed endless, but I needed to squeeze in one stop: Grandma's more house

It had been over three weeks since I last visited my mother-in-law, and I knew she would appreciate some company. So, I penciled in a few minutes for a visit, but only a few. (Next time I would try and stay longer. Always "next time")

Arriving at the apartment complex where she lived, I saved a little time by being able to pull into one of the many empty parking places right up front.

"This is great!" I thought to myself. "Just great!"

You cannot do a kindness too soon, for you never know how soon it will be too late.

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

Hurrying into the security entrance, I rang the buzzer and waited to be electronically allowed to enter. It was then that I turned to stare out the large foyer windows facing the visitor parking lot from which I had just come.

Aside from my own vehicle and one other parked there, it was empty. Remembering that over 100 other elderly residents shared this facility with Grandma, my previous thought - "This is great! Just great!" - was silenced as I realized a front row parking place meant that everyone else must be as overly busy as I was. Too busy.

Resolve to be tender with the young, compassionate with the aged sympathetic with the striving, tolerant with the weak and forgiving with the wrong; for sometime in your life you will have been all of these.

Lloyd Shearer

Grandma's voice called from the speaker box there in the entrance to greet me and the security system buzzed, unlocking the door, while I mentally erased the "few minutes" I was planning to spend with her and decided it was finally "next

Science or Religion: Lecture Focuses on

WEST BEND - UW - Washington County in West Bend is presenting a free lecture by Herman Bender, a geologist, amateur astronomer and historian, on Thursday, September 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Founder and past president of the Mid-American Geographic Foundation, Inc., Bender will discuss the astronomical alignments of effigy mounds at Lizard Mound State Park as well as other Wisconsin sites. The reason why some effigies may have been built and aligned will also be discussed. Bender explains that "it takes a background in astronomy and math to scientifically investigate these sites and understand how they may have functioned, however, the effigies are not about science or math - they're about religion." He adds, "even if you can figure out a scientific property or function, it doesn't give you the purpose as to why they did this.

His lecture will also discuss hierophany, which is the transformation of the mundane into something sacred, through a series of events considered sacred (such as key sunrises and sunsets).

Internationally lished in the fields of archeoastronomy and applied geophysics, Herman Bender conducts public seminars and has spoken at various universities, including Princeton. He is also a Native American tribal consultant. Through his company, ASHCO (American Seten History Company), he provides environmental consulting, specializing in applied geophysics and cultural resource surveys. These surveys help regional government units develop, establish and implement comprehensive land plans and cultural resource management.

The lecture is free and open to the public. It will be held in Room 228 at UW-Washington County, located at 400 University Drive in West Bend. For more information, contact Sue Survis, Director of University Relations at (262) 335-5233 or visit the website at www.washington.uwc.edu.

Kate Hafeman

WEST BEND - It isn't every day that one comes across an employee who gives her employer and customers 20 years of dedicatfull-time service. However, that is what makes Kate Hafeman, Moraine YMCA Kettle Health Enhancement Director, a true rarity.

more What's even extraordinary is that her family members, friends and YMCA staff have secretly raised $50,000 to secure the naming rights for the YMCA's spinning studio, soon to be titled the "Kate Hafeman Studio." The gift announcement was made on Tuesday, August 13, as 60-70 of Hafeman's closest friends, family members and Y staff gathered for her surprise breakfast celebration

Since 1982, Hafeman has instructed a large array of fitness and health classes including aerobics, spinning and step aerobics. She has also mentored numerous members within the YMCA and the community through her many lectures and group teachings.

Jon Lange, Says Executive Director of the Moraine YMCA, Kettle "Kate is more to the YMCA and it's members than just an employee or instructor. She's a friend. She has been an inspiration to many at our Y and in our community.

Hafeman currently leads weekly exercises for her "Half Century Group," a group which consists of Y members over the age of 50. She also originated and developed a YMCA Woman's Retreat Weekend, which she began in 2000. And finally, in focusing on the importance of spirituality and the strength of one's "self," Hafeman hosts a book club, which reads and discusses literature on the strength and vitality of one's mind, body and spirit.

The mission of the Kettle Moraine YMCA is to put Christian values into practice through programs that build a healthy spirit, mind and body for all. The YMCA serves more than 8,000 kids, families and individuals in Washington County.

Approximately 50 people attended the one hour, 18 minute Kewaskum School District annual meeting Monday evening. A member of the audience, Warren Schmidt, proposed adding $20,000 to the budget for additional staff at the central administrative offices. He stated he had been following the school board meetings closely and felt with a three million dollar operation, there was too much work for one man. The amendment was passed on a 29-7 vote.

August 7. Leon Laatsch, senior righthander, who missed most of the season because of a knee injury, returned to the Kewaskum Indians lineup for the WIAA tournaments and pitched five innings of shutout ball as Kewaskum blanked Ozaukee in regional play here last Wednesday, Laatsch missed all of the Scenic Moraine games. Thus the Indians moved up the Sectionals, as Laatsch, after only one day of practice, not only handcuffed Ozaukee on three hits but contributed as a hitter and scored two runs. His towering triple probably would have been a home run had he been 100%.

In the Sectional opener at West Bend Regner Park at 6 p.m. Tuesday, it was Leon Laatsch again who pitched shutout ball as the Indians upset heavily favored West Bend West, 1-0 in a tight pitchers duel. The Spartans went into the game with a glossy 21-2 record while Kewaskum was 7-13. Kewaskum didn't hit the ball well until Dennis Westerman's sharp single in the fifth drove in the game's only run.

STATESMAN 2002 FALL ELECTION SPECIAL

oes God want me to vote? Is it ever proper to vote for a non-Christian candidate? How can I be sure that my vote is pleasing to God? Does the Bible give instruction on how to choose the right candidate when I vote?

As Christians we are confronted with a multitude of choices every day. We choose the type of job we want and where we want to be educated. We choose our spouse and the town where we would like to raise our family. Life is brimming with choices that, in our Christian freedom, we exercise every day. But what about voting? Is this another choice God has given to us with few, if any, strings attached? Just what are a Christian's responsibilities when it comes to exercising his right to vote?

Fortunately, God's Word provides a great deal of direction for Christians concerned about their political responsibilities. Basically, there are four principles that we need to consider:

- Thristians vote because they care about their country.
- Thristians vote expecting that God's will be done.
- Thristians vote because God has called
- Thristians vote with the liberty to decide.

Christians Vote Because They Care About Their Country

Civil government, its power and authority, is instituted by God. God instituted the state to provide peace and security for his creation. It is His will "that there should be government among men; anarchy is contrary to his will." Just as God blesses us through the family and the church, He also blesses us through government. We should, therefore, be as concerned for that blessing as we are concerned for the welfare of our children and the well-being of all Christians.

Christians should not disdain the privilege of voting for their civic officials and magistrates. By exercising our vote we show others that we take seriously the blessing God has given us government. The act of voting also evidences our faith in God's almighty will. It is His power that underlies all government. It is His will that moves history and shapes events. Finally, we participate in the electoral process out of thanksgiving to God for His gift of government. Caring Christians vote because they love their country.

Christians Vote Expecting That God's Will Be Done

It is important to remember that no matter how much we try, sin will never be eliminated from the world. Abortion, suicide, euthanasia and infanticide along with all the sins of man will persist until the Day of our Lord. We must never become overly optimistic about government's ability to eradicate these sins. God tells us that sin will be ever with us and that it can never be purged from the human heart.

Knowing this helps us to focus and put our vote into the proper perspective. It is easy to get caught up in the euphoric expectation that maybe, just maybe, that next candidate or that next administration will be able to do God's will in respect to abortion. Yet, we need to remind ourselves that this is not a realistic expectation. Abortion, like any sin, is a sin of the heart. Men's hearts need to change before society changes. Even if government decides to stop this ungodly practice, God did not give government the ability to change hearts. That power He has given to the church and the church alone. We can, however, pray that someday government will realize that it is in the best interests of its citizens to eliminate the killing of the unborn. We as Christians should remind government continually of this. Voting is one way of serving our country by acting as its loving conscience. Regardless, when we vote we must always recognize that whatever the outcome of the election, God's will is being

Christians Vote Because God Has Called Us to Act

Despite the fact that our vote will never serve to eliminate sin in this world, that does not give us license for inaction. God has called each of us to be his disciples. Discipleship implies action.

We are to be God's witnesses to the truth, serving our country with the talents and abilities that He has given us. It has been said that witnessing is first by being and then by doing. In a sense, that is what voting is all about for a Christian. God has called each of us to be His disciple. We have been declared righteous before God. Just by being made holy in Christ, we are all witnesses to His saving grace, But a witness left to being without doing is shallow indeed. Knowing that we are Christians compels us to act as Christians. Jesus said, "Love your neighbor as yourself." This is what motivates us to exercise our political freedom to vote. When we vote we affect how the laws of our nation are formulated and enforced. laws affect the overall good of society. Although good laws don't make people good, they do affect the good of the people. Our country benefits from good laws because they provide peace and security for all of its citizens including the unborn and the infirm. Good laws can help to curb sin, and it is in our best interest and that of all Christians to see that sin is held in check. Christians love their country and, with the knowledge that sin will never be eliminated, courageously strive to affect the good of society by being active citizens who care about the political process.

Christians Vote With the Liberty to Decide

God has granted each of us a great deal of liberty in deciding how we should vote. Yet His only instructions are that we be good citizens, love our government and obey it. In that endeavor, we seek through our votes to secure the welfare of the state; that it may continue to offer us and all citizens the peace and security that God has mandated

We have the freedom to vote any way we choose as long as it secures God's aim for government. For example, God does not dictate that we base our votes upon whether or not a person is a Christian. For that matter, he has not commanded that we vote only for candidates that are pro-life. God wants us to vote for candidates who promote His aim for government. Since God has declared that human life is sacred and to be preserved, as Christians we will be moved to look for candidates that share this view. That candidate may or may not be a Christian

Your Vote Will Make a Difference! Your vote will help to support life and help to install in office those who care about God's Word and about the sanctity of life. Let your light shine! When Christians bind together and witness through their votes, they do make a difference! Scientists have estimated that if you took the energy from one man's heartbeats in a single day and concentrated them into one large throb of vital power, it would be sufficient to throw a ton of iron 120 feet into the air! One heartbeat, taken alone, is but a minor spark. However, when all of these minor sparks are combined into one large fire of energy, they have the power to move mountains. That's why your vote means something.

As Christians, we have the privilege to demonstrate our thanksgiving to God who created life by witnessing to others that life is sacred. We do this in part when we vote for civil magistrates who love God and abide by the will of God.

Primary Voters Must Keep Within Party

officer, Kevin J. Kennedy reminds voters that the fall partisan primary is Tuesday, September 10. Electors have the opportunity to nominate candidates to represent the party of their choice on the general election ballot on November 5. "It is important to vote in this election," Kennedy, emphasizes "because the partisan primary frequently has a low turnout, so your vote has a significant impact on the results."

Voters sometimes confuse the primary with the general election. Unlike the general election, where it is possible to select any party's candidates for a particular office, in the partisan primary a voter is allowed to vote on the ballot of only one party.

Most states have a closed primary system: voters are required to publicly register their party affiliation in order to receive the ballot of that party. Wisconsin's "open primary" law allows the voter to make that choice in the secrecy of the voting booth. Voters do not have to pub-giance to cast votes for that party. Instead, the voter has access to the ballots of all the parties, but may only vote on one party's ballot. This year five parties: Democratic. Republican, Wisconsin Greens, Libertarian and Constitut-ion, as well and Indepen-dent candidates for legislative and statewide office, will be on the ballot.

Polls open as late as 9 a.m. Check with your municipal clerk. Polls close at 8 p.m. throughout the state.

BACKGROUND

Wisconsin adopted the open primary law for partisan offices after a favorable referendum vote in November 1904. In 1905, the law was extended to the selection of national convention delegates. Until then, Wisconsin candidates for public office were selected at caucuses or conventions made up of delegates, eligible voters, or members of a political party. Even today in towns and villages, the nominating caucus is still an option for selecting candidates for local office.

In Wisconsin, those who aspire to political office qualify for primary ballot status by filing a declaration of candidacy and nomination papers signed by a specified number of persons eligible to vote in the constituency to show that they have at least a minimum level of support. In the primary, the candidate for an officer who receives the highest number Wisconsin's chief election of votes in each party becomes that party's nominee for the general election. A write-in candidate in the primary may qualify to appear on the ballot in November only if the number of votes he or she receives equals the greater of at least five percent of the party vote for governor cast in the jurisdiction or the district at the last general election or the minimum number of signatures required on nomination papers for the office. If a write-in candidate receives more votes than a candidate whose name appears on the ballot, the five percent requirement does not apply.

Independent candidates qualify to appear on the general election ballot simply by filing nomination papers with the appropriate number of signatures. However, independent candidates for legislative and constitutional offices appear on the primary ballot in order to qualify for public funding grants.

There are four different voting systems used in Wisconsin: paper ballot, lever machine, optical s c a n (marksense) a n d

Voters using an optical scan system will receive a ballot that lists all party and Independent candidate. The voter selects the primary he or she wishes to participate in by completing the arrow or filling in the oval next to the political party of choice. Once the political party choice is made, the tabulation equipment will only count votes in that party. If no party choice is made and the voter chooses candidates from more than one party, none of the votes are count-

Voters using paper ballots will receive six different ballots. Only one is used and the voter discards the remaining five before placing the voted ballot in ballot box. With the lever voting machine, the voter selects a party by pulling the lever on the machine that designates the party of choice, preventing voting for any of the other parties. Direct record is an electronic version of the lever machine. Once the desired party primary is chosen, the other primaries are electronically locked out.

Eight Republicans Vie for 59th District Assembly Seat

Richard C. Karshna, Jr.

By Nicole Rawley

Staff Writer/Photographer

Toter's in the newly formed 59th Assembly District have a huge decision to make Tuesday when they go to the polls.

Since June candidates started popping up like West Nile cases and now voters must choose which man or woman is right for the job. Three candidates forums have been held with low turnout at all of them. One would have never expected this with all the yard signs seen posted at the intersections of every highway in the district not to mention huge billboards on state highways and interstates.

Many accusations have been thrown around but it is up to the voter to get his or her information and do their patriotic duty to go and choose their leader. Much information is contained here. We encourage you to contact the candidates directly and ask them for straight forward answers to your questions.

The candidates above are listed in the order they are on the ballot. They are all republicans. Two other candidates shown at the bottom right are also in the primary. They both have guaranteed placement on the ballot.

A. Raised on a family farm and still have farm land. Been an employee and union member. Been an employer and two successful businesses. Supervisor town board, chairman zoning board, church and church school board treasurer and secretary. Worked with Sen. Roessler and Rep. Owens on various state and local issues. Working for businesses, contractors, home owners and farmers and retired people, along with holding a federal firearms license has given me a very good insight and common sense to represent all walks of life.

What specific proposals do you have or do you support to reduce the impact of property and income taxes on individuals and businesses?

Remove school funding from property taxes to sales taxes. This will especially protect the farmer and the retired and force the crooks in the underground economy and drug dealers to pay taxes. Statewide budget cuts not from the usual bottom up, but the top down.

Should the state continue to pay two-thirds of the cost of K-12 public education, continue the spending caps on school budgets and continue use of the qualified economic offer for teachers?

Yes, at least until the school funding is removed from the property tax.

What can the state do to help the family farmer and agriculture industry in general?

Remove school funding from property taxes. Allow a retired farmer to transfer land and operation to a family member tax-free.

What would you propose to improve the process of developing and passing a state budget?

and passing a state budget?

A deadline with enough time for the governor to review and veto and each day this deadline is not met, legislators will have their salaries prorated and forfeited. Just like when a contract is not met out in the real world. There are penalties. The budget for the next five years should be the same or less than the year before until Wisconsin gets out of the No. 3 position of highest taxed states.

What can be done to limit the influence of large corporations and lobbyists in the campaign process?

Eliminate all contributions except from private U.S. citizens and a limit of $10,000 per year. No PACs, no unions and no corporations. Individuals only.

What should the state's role be in attracting new business and industry to Wisconsin?

Businesses need to make profit, which in turn provides jobs to people who pay taxes and spend money at other businesses who create jobs for people who pay taxes and on and on. When taxes, regulations and mountains of government paperwork reduce the profits until there are none. The business goes broke or moves out of state or country until the profit returns. What should the state do? Reverse that process. Especially on new power plant construction.

what other initiatives will be priorities for you?

Affordable health care and prescription drugs and medications. Death penalty for those caught i the Non-violent correctional facility inmates who voluntarily and successfully participate in job skills and career training should have reduced sentence initiatives to reduce overcrowding and taxes. Voter identification - either driver' license or state I.D. card required. I suppor the right to keep and bear arm which also includes a concealed carry permit (state training required) that has proven to greatly reduce crime in the 31 other states where it has been implemented.

The rest agree there is a problem...

BUT I HAVE THE ANSWERS!

Guest Election Editorial

by Mike McCabe

If ever there was a "throw the bums out" kind of year, this is it.

There's the faltering economy. Then there's the billion-dollar state budget fiasco. If average voters haven't noticed the fiscal mismanagement in Madison, the New York bond houses sure have. Witness the state's plummeting bond rating, which will make future state borrowing more expensive for taxpayers.

The response of the state legislature and the governor was a "budget reform" bill that is the single most irresponsible budget I've seen in 20-plus years of Capitol watching. They sold off $6 billion worth of tobacco settlement money for 20¢ on the dollar and spent it all in a single year. Instead of having $6 billion to spend on smoking prevention programs over the next 25 years, the tobacco settlement went up in smoke.

What our elected state officials did was the equivalent of teenagers blowing their college savings on an afternoon shopping spree at the mall.

What's worse, the "solution" passed by the legislature and signed by the governor solves nothing. It sets us up for an even bigger budget mess that will have to be cleaned up after the election.

That's not all. There's the growing political corruption scandal that already has resulted in a prominent state senator being charged with 18 felonies. He won't be the last indicted. It's just the first tremor in a political earthquake.

For anyone who still remembers that Wisconsin used to be known for squeaky clean politics and sound public management, the urge to throw the current inhabitants of the Capitol out in the street sets in as soon as the gag reflex subsides. There's just one problem. The current system is so rigged in favor of those in power that voters have been left with little leverage.

Thanks to a legislative redistricting plan that allowed the representatives to choose their voters long before voters are given a chance to choose their representatives, precious few races are remotely competitive. Layer on top of that a corrupt campaign finance system that gives current office holders a 14 to one cash advantage heading into the stretch of drive of the 2002 campaign, and it's clear why half of state legislative races are uncontest-

In 57 or 116 legislative araces voters are deprived of even the most basic choice between at least two major party candidates. Even in the contested races, there's not much real competition. Because of the grotesque fundraising edge incumbents enjoy, they are able to shout their message to voters while their challengers can't afford to speak above a whisper. It's a real stretch to call these democratic elections.

One of the ways the incumbents will use their bulging campaign chests is to tell voters over and over again that they passed campaign finance reform. What they won't tell you is that their reforms will never take effect because they deliberately put a selfdestruct mechanism in the new law to make sure it blows up in court. Conveniently for them, that won't happen until after the election. Then they'll blame the judges for reform's demise.

Don't believe a word of it. A more telling measure of our elected officials' true desire to clean up the cesspool at the Capitol is their response to questions the organizations I work for the Wisconsin Democracy Campaign - asked them recently.

We challenged all of the candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and state legislature to go beyond vague statements of support for political reform and take a public stand on the specifics of campaign finance reform legislation as well as other key political reforms.

*Overall, 80% of incumbents refused to respond. The silence of the vast majority of our elected representatives speaks volumes about their commitment to maintaining the corrupt status quo. They don't want to tell voters who overwhelmingly want reform that they're against it. But they can't bring themselves to commit to specific changes that would actually change a system that is rigged in their favor.

You can see the responses of candidates in races affecting you on the Wisconsin Democracy Campaign's website at www.wisdc.org/pr081402b.h tml.

It all goes to show that achieving a real political reform amounts to taking a bone from a dog. The people in power will never be persuaded to give up their ill-gotten electoral gains voluntarily.

They'll have to be forced.

KARSHNA = QUALITY SCHOOLS

As president of the Cedar Grove-Belgium School Board, Rick Karshna has set high standards for education. The cost per student in the district is $500 less than the state average—yet the quality of education is high. Across all grade levels, students in the district have test scores 15% higher than the state average. 97% of Cedar Grove-Belgium third graders read at the proficient or advanced level—compared to the state average of 77%.

KARSHNA = LOWER TAXES

- Proposes sunset legislation be put into state budgets, requiring state agencies to justify expenses at regular intervals.
- Supports freeing pensions and social security benefits from state income tax.
- Supports assessing non-productive farmland and wetlands at less than use-value, to ease the tax burden on family farms.

KARSHNA = SAFER NEIGHBORHOODS

As a police officer for the past 17 years, Rick Karshna understands the need for tough-on-crime legislation. He sees it every day. Police officers arrest criminals and watch as liberal judges and district attorneys put them back on the streets-where they endanger his life and yours. He'll take his common sense knowledge of the law to the state assembly... so we can all sleep a little easier at night.

A Lesson Learned

by Wally Daggett

Re: Gen. Curtis Le May, Strategic Air Command (SAC) commander.

While I was stationed at Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso, Texas I was a member of the 97th Air Refueling Squadron. I was a senior flight engineer on a KC-97 refueling tanker, commonly referred to as air to air refueling in Air Force language.

The KC-97 was the latest version of the Air Forces' aerial tanker. A few months earlier I had graduated from a KC-97 school in Palm Beach, Florida where we received three months of intense training. Prior to this I had flown on B-29s and KB-29s.

At a crew briefing at Biggs Air Force Base our crew was selected to return a KC-97 from Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma back to our base at Biggs in El Paso, Texas. We flew via a commercial airline to Oklahoma City. After a very thorough inspection of the aircraft, we were told to return as soon as possible to our home base. Tinker AFB performed overhaul of aircraft for the Air Force.

After reporting to the hanger and flight line, where our aircraft was waiting for us, we performed our pre-flight inspection. Everything was in top shape as we had anticipated so there was no long delay to get back to

Biggs. The aircraft commander, 1st Lt. Schneck, informed us that we had been ordered to wait for a passenger that would be returning with us. All we knew was that he was a command officer so we were told to be on our best military behavior.

Our passenger turned out to be non-other than General Curtis Le May, Commander of SAC. General Le May was the commanding officer who had directed the air attack of all the B-29 air raids on Japan in WWII. His Bomber Wing dropped the A Bombs on Japan that saved thousands of our military men's lives and ended the war months sooner than ever anticipated. Gen. Le May was known as a no nonsense commander who always had a cigar in his mouth. In fact, he was called "Cigar" by the military personnel and everyone knew who that was.

When Gen. Le May entered the aircraft, sure as the devil, he had a cigar in his mouth. We had very strict orders about smoking on an aerial tanker. The fuel system was very complicated as we carried both 115 -145 hi octane fuel for our propeller conventional engines and JP4 jet fuel for refueling in mid-air. The two could not be mixed so we really had to know our business. Fuel management was the flight engineer's responsibility. "No Smoking" was a 100% enforced order Seeing who our passenger was. I must admit I gulped a few times but I informed General Le May that he would not be allowed to smoke on board this type of aircraft now or in mid-air. He looked at me very sternly and said "Son, when I'm on this aircraft it better not catch fire or blow-up"! A few moments later, with a smile on his face, told me "Sgt. The cigar is out and cold." He told me that it was just a habit of his to always have one in his mouth to chew on.

Later I reported the incident to my pilot, 1st Lt.Schneck and co-pilot, D. Howell, upon completion of our mission. They informed me that this is one of the ways General Le May graded his crews. They also told me that if I hadn't spoke up and informed Gen. Le May of the non-smoking rules I most likely would have been strongly reprimanded or worse been put up on charges. I had originally been told that Le May was on an inspection tour of the 95th and 97th Bomb Wings stationed at El Paso, Texas. I had no idea his grading would start with our return flight to El Paso. I've never forgotten this incident.

As long as Gen. Le May was in charge of SAC our air crews, when on stand-by alert, had only a few moments to get airborne if ordered to do so. I strongly believe this was a major reason the cold war never escalated for so many years.

Gen. Curtis Le May actually became famous for another reason in serving his country. Although he did not succeed he did run for Vice President of the United States.

I am deeply grateful for the lesson I learned that eventful day and it has served me well ever since. To follow the rules no matter what!

Blueberry Buddy Helps Parents and Schools Defend Against Child Abductors

He wasn't born - he just

His name is Blueberry, and he is the featured character in a new child safety program for parents of young children and schools (grades K-6). "Being Berry, Berry Safe" takes direct aim at tactics used by child abductors to lure children into cars or other dangerous situations.

The one-hour school program focuses on abduction prevention and is offered, free to schools and parent teacher organizations. It features a live appearance by Blueberry, the loveable country bumpkin, who has a taste for ice cream - blueberry flavored of course. Kids are treated to ice cream too, along with a "Being Berry, Berry Safe" coloring book, and Blueberry Buddy Club stickers. A 35-minute video reminding kids what to do when danger approaches, rounds out the program.

Parents can also access the information online at: www.blueberryfun.com/program.htm http://www.blueberrybuddy.com/>

David Gleason, creator of the Blueberry character, says schools administrators and parents are very interested in finding ways to educate children on how to be safe.

"Child abduction is every parent's nightmare. We can't be with our children 24 hours per day. We have to prepare them to recognize and avoid dangerous situations. The trick is, to teach children in such a way that they are not frightened, just prepared to properly defend themselves. Blueberry does just that. He is a fun guy."

Many abductions could be avoided when children are trained to take specific action, said Gleason.

"The problem is, how do you teach very young children to avoid dangers they really don't understand." Blueberry, says Gleason, is a way to reach children at their own level, helping parents and teachers to overcome attention span problems inherent in trying to explain complex issues to 5-year-olds.

The recent publicity surrounding the Elizabeth Smart abduction has made many parents and educators aware of this problem and its apparent growing prevalence. Gleason said many parents, including he and his wife, sympathize with the anguish the Smart family has felt. Our prayers go out to them and their daughter as well as to all of the other victims.

"It's a dangerous world for kids. Whatever we can do to help them be safe we must do. That's why we have offered this program to grades schools across the country for free."

Ramthun Wins State FFA Tractor Driving Contest

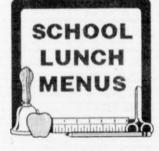

Tom Ramthun, graduated president of the Kewaskum FFA, recently won the State FFA Tractor Driving contest held at the University of Wisconsin experimental farm in Hancock, Wisconsin. After winning the qualifying sectional contest in June, Ramthun beat the other nine representatives from around the state to bring home the gold.

Tom recorded a perfect score in the tractor troubleshooting section, and scored a 48 out of 50 on the mechanics and safety test. He drove through the two wheel and four wheel implement courses under the allotted time with minimal problems. He completed the day with a perfect score on overall safety while using equipment.

Tom is the son of Ken and Carol Ramthun of West Bend. He plans to attend the University of Wisconsin Short Course in Madison this fall. Tom improved upon his seventh place finish at state last year in winning this years championship.

Chenille Sisters at UWWC Sept. 13

WEST BEND -Chenille Sisters, whose music is nationally known and has been compared favorably to groupe like the Andrew Sisters, are scheduled to perform at the University of Wisconsin Washington County at 7:30 p.m. on September 13.

Audiences from coast-tocoast have discovered the honest vocal variety of The Chenille Sisters, labeling them "irreverent," "contemporary," and "down right fun." This unforgettable trio compares to sister acts Boswell named and Andrews, yet lifts performances to an originality all their own. Cheryl Dawdy, Grace Morand and Connie Hubner found their humble beginning at The Old Town in Ann Arbor, Michigan in Less than a year later, the Chenilles caught their break, landing the first of showcases several Garrison Kellor's Prairie Home Companion radio show. Doors opened, and the gifted singers' career skyrocketed. Nine albums later, the Chenilles have earned national critics' acclaim, appearances on NPR's All Things Considered and a busy performance schedule.

The group has also produced two specials with PBS, one of which earned an Emmy in 1995 and still airs on several stations throughout the year.

The Chenille Sisters are not really sisters. After the first time the sang together, they noticed how well their voices really blended together. They thought it sounded "familial." In concert, their signature show offers an appealingly diverse repertoire of snappy originals and familiar favorites, all laced with the Chenille brand of airtight arrangement and zany humor.

Their humor stems from the members' goofy version of democracy, in which they sit around and discuss some of their original works, such as "Regretting What I Said." which features some of the awful wishes lovers can hurl at each other in anger without really meaning it. The song features versus in which one lover wishes the other things like a mauling by drug-sniffing dogs and crosstown bus crashes.

"We throw together thinks like, 'Hey, what if we got a guy to come up out of the audience for 'Pink Cadillac,' put a babushka on his head, and get him to dance with us," Morand laughs.

Tickets for the concert are $15 for adults, $10 for seniors and under 18. A fish fry dinner is also available before the show from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the University Cafeteria. Cost of the dinner is $8.50. Ticket and dinner reservations are required and can be made by calling (262) 335-5208.

Give Your Kids A Boost This Fall: Back-To-School Immunizations A Must (NAPS)-Each year, children miss the first day of school because they do not have the immunizations needed to enter a particular grade.

That's why the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) and Ronald McDonald House Charities® (RMHC) want to remind parents to immunize their children on schedule as the best protection against dangerous childhood diseases and to avoid missed time at "One of the most important steps a parent can take to maintain their child's health is to immunize them on schedule against deadly, preventable diseases," says Louis Z. Cooper, MD, FAAP, president of the AAP. "The success of immunizations can make parents think these diseases no longer exist. In reality it's because the vaccines are working that we rarely see a child with measles, for example. Therefore, it's imperative that we never take the importance of proper immunizations for granted.

According to Dr. Cooper there are three key points parents need to know about immunizing their children:

By keeping your child up-to-date on recommended immunizations (see attached chart), you not only protect your child but also your family and community against the spread of infectious dis-

· Vaccines are extremely safe. Like any medicine, vaccines may cause reactions in some children, but they are usually mild.

· Immunizations begin soon after birth and continue throughout life. But because the youngest children are especially vulnerable to infection, most doses of vaccine are given before the age of two.

Students in the United States between the ages of four and six need at least three boosters, including the fourth dose of polio (IPV), the fifth dose of diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis (DTaP) and the second dose of measles, mumps and rubella (MMR). Additional immunizations may be needed between the ages of six and 18 to continue protecting against such diseases as: hepatitis B, tetanus and diphtheria:

Together the AAP and RMHC have identified immunization education as a priority. RMHC initiatives in this area include: the Ronald McDonald Care Mobile program, a fleet of mobile pediatric healthcare units that provide cost effective immunizations; a partnership with UNICEF to eliminate maternal and neonatal tetanus in developing countries; and an "Immunize for Healthy Lives" education program.

The Annual Hawk Migration Another season of the An Evening with Nature Series at the Northern Kettle Moraine State Forest kicks off with the program, "The Annual Hawk Migration." The program will be held on Thursday, September 12, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Center is located off of Hwy. 67 1/2 mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always greatly accepted.

As the air chills and the cold winds begin to blow, the hawks of the north begin their annual southward journey. All summer long these amazing sky hunters help keep rodent and other small mammal populations of the north in check. As the winter approaches, they head for better hunting grounds where the snow is not such a challenge. To find their way, hawks use natural landmarks such as large rivers and the shorelines of the Great Lakes. On a good day at a good spot, people can spy hundreds of hawks as they catch the rising thermals on their

Slinger HS Sports Update

SHS varsity football took off on the positive note on Friday evening. The Fighting Owls took the early lead with just over six minutes into the game with a 1/2 yard run by number 10, Jake Hausmann. This followed a 70 yard run play by Aaron Weninger. The PAT by Matt Henrichs was good.

The Rams from Random Lake tied the game with just two minutes remaining in the first half with a five yard run by Andy Biddle. The PAT by Jeremy Baker was good and the score was tied seven to seven, going into the half time show by the Slinger HS marching band.

With one minute into the second half, Weninger made a 24 yard run for daylight. The PAT by Henrichs was no good.

The fourth quarter found the Owls scoring two more times. At about two minutes into the quarter, Hausmann scampered for a nine yard touchdown. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

With three minutes and 22 seconds remaining in the game, quarterback Matt Henrichs completed a 24 yard pass play into the end zone to Jake Tracy for another touchdown. Henrichs' PAT was blocked.

The game ended with Luke Tennies getting his second interception of the game in front of a Ram receiver in the end zone.

The final score was Owls

Return to Chimo

Roger and Eloise Kuippers with Eloise's 27 inch walleye. She later released the fish.

Hello friends,

A big part of my life is centered around Chimo Lodge. Owned by Pete and Elizabeth Hagedorn, Chimo Lodge is a fly fishing lodge located 55 air miles northwest of Red Lake, Ontario. I was camp manager there in 1988-89 and started this column when I spent time there in the 1990s. I visited the Hagedorns, and three of my favorite groups from back in the good old days this past week.

Sunday, August 18 High 74, Low 53

I made the 678-mile drive from my house to Red Lake alone last night. By the time I hit the Canadian border, I had to use toothpicks to keep my eyes open. I woke up in a big hurry when Pete's Cessna 180 landed on Roderick Lake.

I've met hundreds upon hundreds of people in the 21 years since being associated with Chimo Lodge and the Outposts. This week I hit the jackpot.

Three of the groups occupying the five cabins on the 15,000-acre Roderick Lake were at the top of my fun list. Tonight was designated as the yearly let'shave-fun-with-the-Tomczaks party.

The Tomczaks are five brothers, all about 50, from Illinois and California, who truly know how to have a good time. The Tomczaks supplied the steaks and refreshments, and Doug VanDuzen, a good guy out of Red Lake, had a couple dozen lobsters flown in from

The laughter on this night did not end until the last of us hit the sack. It's good to be home.

> Tuesday, August 20 High 78, Low 54

Jacob Moose, an Ojibwa Indian, lives on a reservation called Pikangikum about 40 miles from Roderick Lake. Jacob has a hunting cabin on Roderick Lake and has been a good friend of mine since we met back in 1988.

Today, Peter and I flew Pikangikum, picked up Jacob, and flew to "secret lake No. 16" for a fishing adventure. The lake is such a secret, we have the only boat on it.

It is well-known for fantastic walleye and northern pike - fantastic for Pete and Jacob, at least.

They were constantly catching walleye that measure 17-21 inches while taking pleasure in the amount of time it took me to catch my limit of four. The life Jacob lives is almost unimaginable to the average American. A writer could make a good book from his

Roger and Eloise Kuippers from are Kankakee, Ill. where Roger sells insurance, and Eloise is a nurse.

Roger taught me how to drink martinis. I taught Roger how to fish. Today was designated as our day together in a boat. Most of the time we gave each other good, clean verbal abuse.

Today, Roger was the guide for the first half of the outing. After three hours, buzzards were circling overhead. We hadn't had a single bite. I was proud of my old buddy when he asked where I would fish if I were running the boat.

After a short journey, we began fishing near a rock pile and immediately began smacking 3-pound walleye. As much as I hate to mention this, both Eloise and catching were myself

Results of the Southeastern Waterfight Tournament

The "granddaddy" of the 2 1/2" water barrel fights was held at Knowles Fire Station on Saturday, August 25th.

Results of the double elimination tournament were as follows:

Kohlsville Fire Department's team under the leadership of nozzleman Todd Steger coming out of retirement took first place for the second week in a row. Todd Steger has led the Kohlsville team to eight first and three seconds in eleven Southeastern Tournaments.

From Waukesha county, Dusty Becker and his brother teamed up with three other members of the Stone Bank Fire Department for second place.

Hometown favorites, Knowles, received fourth place with their nozzleman Tony DePonte leading his seasoned team. Fifth place went to Ashippun, a two year team that has really matured and developed this year into a true contender.

During the banquet which followed the tournament, Rookie Team of the Year was awarded to the Allenton Fire Department. As stated above, the Ashippun team has truly matured and was selected by their peers as the Most Improved of the Season.

Each year the teams in attendance for the banquet select the best Sportsmanship Award for the team that is dedicated to good clean family fun and improving their skills as firefighters. This year's award went to Lomira.

The final award was given to a relatively new-comer to the nozzle, Paul Lenhardt of the Woodland Fire Department. Woodland won eight trophies throughout the season, only to get eliminated early at this tournament, due to some team coordination problems.

The waterfighting in this area is done with each team of five members using a 2 1/2" fire hose with a 7/8" tip nozzle at 90 to 100 lbs. of pressure. This relates to approximately 235 gallons of water every minute. The nozzleman aims the straight bore nozzle at a empty 1/2 barrel on a cable 25 feet off the ground, strung between two poles, 100 feet apart. The object is to get the barrel to the other team's pole first or keep it across the center line (50 ft. mark) the longest in a two minute match. The team must be able to advance and retreat with the hose and not lose contact with the spinning, jumping, gyrating barrel.

This was the final tournament of the season. The first tournament will be at Boltonville during their Rain Days Picnic next Memorial Day weekend.

Collaborative ApproachTo Protect Muth Woods

The "team" concept is being applied to preserve an important woodland in West Bend. Ron Weis, a West Bend businessman and developer, the Ozaukee Washington Land Trust, City of West Bend Parks Department and Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources have joined forces to preserve a 21-acre tract known locally as Muth Woods.

Located on the east side of West Bend just north of the intersection of CTH G and Paradise Drive, Muth Woods has been identified by the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission as a Natural Area of Regional Importance and as Rare Species Habitat.

More than 170 vascular plant species have been counted in the Muth Woods, only 14 of which are nonnative. The 163 native species is among the highest for any woods inventoried in southeast Wisconsin.

The Land Trust will be acquiring the land and subsequently transferring property title to the City of West Bend for management as a community nature preserve. To ensure permanent preservation, the Land Trust will retain a conservation easement on the land and be responsible for monitoring and enforcement of the easement.

The purchase price of the land is $412,000. To date, $362,000 has been raised from the project partners, with the remaining $50,000 needed by the end of September. Contributions to help complete the project are being accepted by the Land Trust. For more information, contact 338-1794.

"An important part of the story behind this effort is the energy and contribution of the owner and developer, Ron Weis, says Steve Seyfert, Land Trust executive director. This is our first transaction wherein the developer has been the driving force behind the project. He's revised his plans several times and excluded development from the woodland. His patience and perseverance through the process have been outstanding. Simply put, Mr. Weis and his family want to see the land preserved and have been willing to do what it takes, including a large financial gift, to make it happen."

Indians Lose Big in Season Opener

By: Kyle Darmody Student Reporter

The Kewaskum varsity football team kicked off their 2002 season last Friday at home against Hartford. Heading into the game the Indians hoped to seize a win against a big school to gain some confidence early in the season.

Instead the Indians hopes for a big win were shot down while the Orioles ran all over the Indians and picked up the 34-6 win. Just like last year, turnovers and mental mistakes killed the Indians

The Indians set the tone for themselves early in the game, when on the first play they received a false start penalt. After a few dropped passes the Indians were forced to punt the ball away. If it wasn't dropped passes, false starts, or turn-overs that killed the Indians, it was their special teams.

In the first half the Oriole's Ryan Abbot returned a punt all the way, untouched, for a touchdown. For the only time that night, luck was on the Indians side, as Hartford was called for a block in the back which brought the ball back.

On the kickoff to start the second half, Hartford's Ryan Abbot struck again. This time he did not get to the end zone, but he did return the ball deep into Indian territory which led to a field goal.

With the opportunity to beat Hartford with the long ball all night the Indians finally did midway through the second half when Travis Kempf hit Dave Wicklund for the 60+ yard touchdown pass. The extra point attempt failed which left the Indians with their only six points of the night.

Now the Indians next goal is to put the Hartford loss behind them and look forward to taking on the Denmark Vikings in Denmark on Friday, September

Kewaskum (0-1) did beat Denmark(0-1) last year 31-6, Denmark is also coming off a tough loss as they lost 9-6 on a last second field goal last week.

FACSIMILE BALLOT NOTICE OF PARTISAN PRIMARY ELECTION SEPTEMBER 10, 2002

OFFICE OF THE WASHINGTON COUNTY CLERK TO THE ELECTORS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given of a partisan primary to be held in Washington County, on the Tenth day of September, 2002, at which the nominees for the offices named below shall be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in the appropriate office, are given under the title of the office under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, in the sample ballots below.

INFORMATION TO ELECTORS

TO CONTINUE VOTING, PLEASE TURN

Upon entering the polling place, an elector shall give his or her name and address before being permitted to vote. Where ballots are distributed to electors, the initials of two inspectors must appear on the ballot. Upon being permitted to vote, the elector shall retire alone to a voting booth and cast his or her ballot except that an elector who is a parent or guardian may be accompanied by the elector's minor child or minor ward. An election official may inform the elector of the proper manner for casting a vote, but the official may not in any manner advise or indicate a particular voting choice.

At the partisan primary, the elector may select the party of his or her choice or the ballot containing the names of independent candidates for legislative office. Where lever machines are used, depress the lever or button of the party of your choice, and then depress the lever or button next to the candidate's name. Where a marksense system is used, fill in the oval next to the party of your choice, and then fill in the oval next to the candidate's name under the party of your choice.

To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, write in the name of the person of your choice in the space provided for a write-in vote. Where lever machines are used, raise the slide above the office and write in the name of the person and party of your choice on the paper exposed. Where a marksense system is used, write the name of the person of your choice in the space provided for a write-in vote. To write in a name for an office that does not appear on the ballot under the party of your choice, fill in the oval in the write-in section on the ballot, and write in the name of the person. Write-in votes are not permitted on the Independent ballot.

In order to qualify for participation in the Wisconsin Election Campaign Fund, a candidate for legislative office must receive at least 6% of the votes cast on all ballots for the office for which he or she is a candidate, in addition to other requirements.

If an elector spoils a ballot, he or she shall return it to an election inspector who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. If the ballot has not been initialed by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the elector shall return it to an election inspector, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place. Not more than five minutes' time shall be allowed inside a voting booth. Unofficial ballots or a memorandum to assist the elector in marking his or her vote may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the voting booth, properly deposit the ballot, and promptly leave the polling place.

After an official marksense ballot is marked, it shall be inserted in the security sleeve so the marks do not show. After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the booth, insert the ballot in the voting device and discard the sleeve, or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit.

An elector may select an individual to assist in casting his or her vote if the elector declares to the presiding official that he or she is unable to read, has difficulty reading, writing, or understanding English, or that due to disability is unable to cast his or her ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the elector's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the elector.

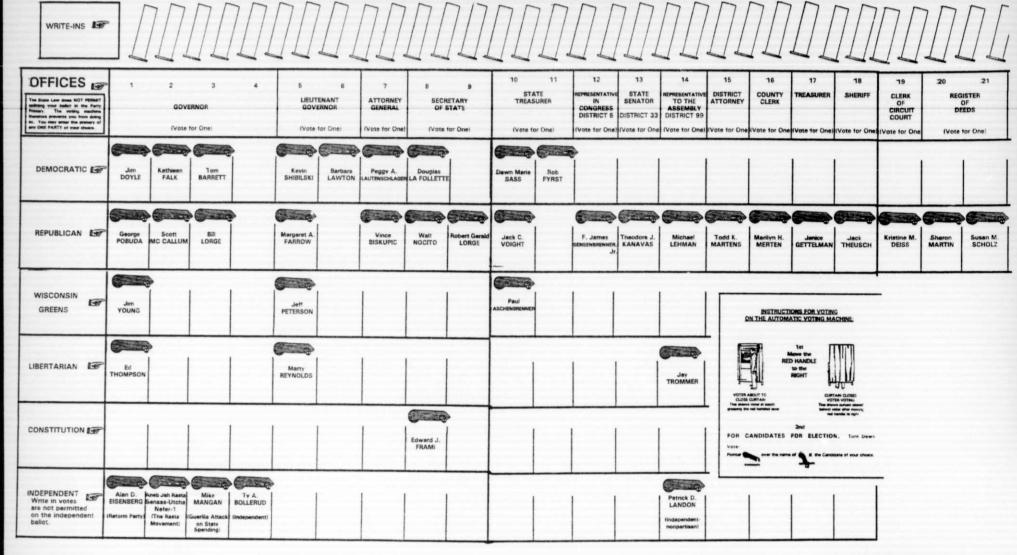

The following is a facsimile of the official ballots:

Each ballot will include: Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, US Congress – District 5, Representative to the Assembly, District Attorney, County Clerk, County Treasurer, Sheriff, Clerk of Circuit Court, and Register of Deeds. Where applicable, the office of State Senator – District 33.

ADDITIONAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR VOTING ON LEVER MACHINES

Move the RED HANDLE to the RIGHT to close the curtain. TO WRITE IN A PERSON'S NAME NOT PRINTED ON THE BALLOT. Raise the slide (located at the top of the machine) having the same column number as that office and write in name on paper exposed. DO NOT raise the slide unless you intend to write in a name not appearing below below. IF YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND AT

ANY TIME, TURN UP THE LEVER AND TURN DOWN ANOTHER FOR THE SAME

OFFICE. As no votes are registered until the Red Handle is moved to open the curtain, you can make as many changes as you desire while the Red Handle is at the right side. The machine is so arranged that you may depress the lever for only the proper number of voting levers for each office; you cannot spoil your ballot by voting for too many candidates. LEAVE VOTED LEVERS DOWN. No one will know how you have voted because the movement of the Red Handle returns the voting levers to the unvoted position before the curtain begins to o Move the RED HANDLE to the LEFT and
