Gavin Proposes New Residential Development for Kewaskum

By Jessica Fladvid
jfladvid@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Village of Kewaskum's Planning Commission addressed plans by local developer Gary Gavin, at their meeting here Tuesday.

Gavin requested authorization to continue looking into the prospect of creating a new subdivision with the now well known Ogi-Reigle property on Highway H, west across from his latest development, Old Glory Heights.

Led by Village President, John Kenworthy, the Plan Commission listened to Gavin's proposal to turn 77 acres of land located in the Town of Kewaskum into 59 single-family homes, 27 four family condominiums and 16 R-3 duplexes. This new subdivision would require the annexation of the said land into the Village of Kewaskum along with the actual purchase of the land.

Two new streets would be created, as would two cul-desacs. The four family condos would include two-car garages and the first level of all would be handicap accessible.

Questions were asked and discussed among the commissioners and Gavin and it was resolved that, if approved, the new subdivision would come to be through various stages.

The first stage would be, building a road and the first three four family condos. That would be followed by an average of three to five condos per year for five to eight years. Gavin expressed that it would not be financially possible for him to put all of the streets in at the same time.

A main issue talked about during the course of the discussion pertained to the water and sewer situation. Gavin had various solutions as to how that problem would be taken care of, depending on the annexation of the area.

Along with the living establishments to be built, creation of new retention ponds and a nature trail would be involved in the development of the subdivision. The nature trail Gavin is proposing would coincide with the Village's master trail plans. Gavin received the commission's acknowledgment of consensus.

The names of the streets and cul-de-sacs of the proposed subdivision, such as Odawa Circle and Ojibwe Path, were derived to express Kewaskum's own ancestry. "I wanted the subdivision to show the heritage and background of Kewaskum," Gavin said.

The commission also gave a favorable recommendation to the Village Board for Bob Hackbarth of Premier Auto Center to place a temporary office trailer on his car lot on Highway 45. Hackbarth plans to break ground on a new office building in the near future. The village board will take formal action on this at a public hearing.

Assembly Candidates Forum Held Here

By Jessica Fladvid
jfladvid@kewaskumstatesman.com

As Election Day quickly approaches, candidates for all positions up for election are making their final stops to wrap up their campaigns and see what the outcome of many months of hard work will be.

Assembly candidates for the 59th district of Wisconsin made an appearance at a forum at Kewaskum Elementary School Saturday, October 26. The candidates are Catherine Lawton, Independent; Daniel LeMahieu, Republican; and Richard Levandowski, Libertarian.

Catharine Lawton of Barton believes this election is the most important in Wisconsin history. "I've had enough," Lawton said Saturday in her opening statement. Lawton has been investigating financial and economical issues of the state government for months and stands firm in her belief that the government is dysfunctional in Madison right now.

During his opening statement, Daniel LeMahieu of Oostburg said if elected he intends to use his background in business to help him out. LeMahieu's goal is to work with the people to help improve current conditions.

Richard Levandowski plans to work to reduce government regulations and taxation, as he believes that "less government is government that governs best." Levandowski would like to stop all taxes and give full equality to all voters.

While at the forum, the candidates were asked a series of questions. Their answers can be summarized as follows:

Q: Do you defend or oppose the expansion of casinos and gambling?

Lawton does not defend the expansion of casinos. She supports strengthening casinos already present, but does not believe that Wisconsin needs more of them.

LeMahieu does not support gambling. He does not want gambling to expand to taverns and he believes that too much money is spent and too many lives are ruined due to it. LeMahieu would like to decrease or eliminate gambling and bring that revenue back to the state.

Levandowski finds gambling to be a morality issue. He believes that the casinos affect the local populous and keep tourism going as it brings cash into communities.

Q: What, if any, increases in sales tax would you support?

Lawton believes we must say no to tax increases because that money would be used to increase state spending. She said the increase would affect the base, rate and taxes and is not addressing the principle

Board Sets School Levy at Lowest Rate In Over 20 Years

By Nicole Rawley
nkuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum School District Board of Education met on Monday night to finalize the 2002-2003 school budget. The budget was finalized after the third Friday head count and ended up being less than originally thought.

This year's mill rate for the school district is $8.65, down 46¢ or 5.05% from last year. This is also the lowest the mill rate has been for at least 20 years. The mill rate was originally projected to be $9.21.

The lower levy is the result of decreases in the revenue limit and computer aid and an increase in state aid. The actual revenue limit was less than earlier estimates due to a lower than projected September enrollment. State aid certified by DPI was more than previously estimated and computer aid was less than projected.

The proposed budget was $15,482,781, but this number was decreased due to the fact there were less students enrolled than projected. Also, less students took advantage of the open enrollment than projected. It was projected that 116 students would leave the district, but only 89.5 actually did. It was also projected that 26.5 students would transfer in, but only 19 did.

This makes the total enrollment of the Kewaskum School District as of the third Friday count, 1,952.

This number is important in the budget due to the fact that it is the basis for the amount of money the district can spend. Currently, the KSD is allowed to spend a maximum of $7,507.36 per student. This makes the magic number for this year's budget $14,802,379.

The board unanimously approved the budget with Lisa Maul being absent.

Custom Cabinetry Welcomes Jaime Schulz

Jaime Schulz the newest member of Campbellsport Building Supply's Custom Cabinetry division.

Custom Cabinetry, a division of Campbellsport Building Supply (CBS) has added another designer to their sales team, Jaime Schulz, of Kewaskum. Jaime along with Kris Ballard help clients create their next cabinetry project—including kitchens, baths, entertainment centers, or offices.

Jaime Schulz brings enthusiasm and a genuine interest in her client's needs to this creative division of CBS. She has studied civil engineering for a year and also has a degree in architectural technology from Milwaukee Area Technology College.

"Jaime brings a structural background to cabinetry, which is a distinct plus for our clients. She is able to look at the whole project. Sometimes adding a window, or removing a wall adds so much to the overall look of a remodel job," explains Kris Ballard, Custom Cabinetry Design Manager.

"I'm happy to be part of a team atmosphere. From the initial design of the home to delivering a front door, all of us really enjoy and care about our clients. Helping design a dream kitchen is not easy, but I'm looking forward to the challenge," remarks Jaime.

Located at 227 West Main Campbellsport,

Custom Cabinetry's showroom inside CBS boasts one the largest display areas in the Kettle Moraine. It showcases six species of wood and over 30 door styles and a seemingly unlimited number of options to choose from. Appointments are recommended.

For more information or to make an appointment call Kris or Jaime at 920-533-4412.

Whitewood Family Home Church Sets Date For Services to Begin

Whitewood Family Home Church, 8406 Whitewood Dr., Kewaskum, will begin services Sunday, November 24th, at 10 a.m.

Whitewood Family Home Church is a non-denominational Biblical Christian Church. Their vision is simple, "People Helping People."

Whitewood Family Home Church is pastored by Rev. Boobie Minor. He says "It is an honor to serve this community, to reach out to those of us whom are hurting and in grave need. You do not need to be a member of this Church to receive help. We have in place programs to help those who are dealing with life issues such as alcoholism, drug abuse and other life controlling issues, all from a Biblical perspective. We like to call it the "Jesus" factor.

They currently have on Saturday nights, a study for married couples which is open to all. With divorce at an all time high, they feel led to help marriages to be restored and strengthened, which will impact this community. They also currently have a Men's Ministry, call Man In The Mirror, "Success That Matters" in place for men which meets Thursday nights from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Both classes meet at their home as well. They also are planning a "Success That Matters" event for men in Kewaskum coming soon.

Their goal is not to take anyone away from their current place of worship, but to strengthen them and that will have an enormous impact upon their homes, jobs and the community as a whole.

Pastor Bobbie Minor is an ordained Minister and a current hospice Chaplain, along with his wife, Karen, and their daughter, Brittany, and son, Brandon. They bring with them many years of ministry in children, mens, addictions and the family. They currently have a mini-farm for special needs children and a state licensed day care run out of their home as well. They also are looking to add a food pantry, in the future.

If you would like more information or would like to get involved, need help or just want to talk, feel free to call them at (262) 692-3739.

St. Joseph's Community Hospital Breaks Ground For New Facility

TOWN OF POLK - Site dedication ceremonies were held Wednesday, October 23 at the site of the new hospital to be built by St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend, a member of SynergyHealth, and celebrated the efforts of many people involved in planning the hospital.

The program was held at the 143-acre site at the northwest corner of Highway 45 and Pleasant Valley Road (PV) where the new $55 million hospital will be built. Themed "Building for the Future, Focusing on Patient Safety," the program included remarks by hospital leaders, physicians, employees, volunteers, and government officials.

Among those invited to attend were members of the boards of directors for the SynergyHealth system, the hospital, the SynergyHealth Foundation, and the West Bend Clinic, all members of SynergyHealth; the hospital's executive team; the hospital's Facility Design Advisory Council, whose 11 members are employees; the New Hospital Design and Construction Team, which includes the architect and builder; as well as staff and volunteers.

"With this event, we wanted to provide an opportunity to thank all of the people whose dedication and involvement in the planning process have taken us to this point, and this site. It marked the dedication of this site to a new hospital for the community, with enhanced quality of care and patient safety as its focus. At the same time, we will rededicate ourselves to the exciting work ahead," said John Reiling, St. Joseph's president and CEO.

Shirley Laufer, a 41-year radiology employee at St. Joseph's, was one of the speakers on the program agenda: "I've always thought we've had a great hospital staffed by friendly, efficient, and dedicated people. The physical structure will be improved with a new hospital, putting departments back together that have been fragmented due to lack of space," she said.

The hospital's unusual process to improve facility design from the ground up to increase patient safety has gained attention nationally from health care leaders and equipment providers and is viewed as an innovative break from traditional hospital design process. St. Joseph's efforts have been featured in publications by the Center for the Study of Healthcare Management at the University of Minnesota and the National Patient Safety Foundation. John Reiling has also been speaking on the topic to national forums. The emphasis on patient safety through design was jump-started in April 2002 when St. Joseph's invited nationally known speakers to a learning lab called "Charting the Course for Patient Safety: Designing Safety Through Facility Design." The conference developed a set of recommendations the hospital is now using in its design efforts.

The 80-bed hospital, slated to open in May 2005, will be a 166,500-square-foot facility with three levels and "garden" level. Design elements include private rooms, and a quiet, less stressful environment for patients and employees. It will include inpatient and outpatient services, intensive care, obstetrics, emergency care, inpatient behavioral health, and other services, and will make use of standardization and advanced technology for patient safety and efficiency.

Planning began in November 2000 when St. Joseph's Community Hospital's Board of Directors approved planning for a new regional hospital. The board indicated its goal was to select a site that would enable the hospital to provide a high level of quality medical services, serve the greatest number of people in the region at the lowest possible cost, ensure long-term financial success for the hospital and accommodate future growth.

In November 2001, with community and staff input, the board adopted seven principles to guide facility development. They call for a patient-centered, healing, efficient, and safe environment, and providing quality care in a technologically advanced and staff-friendly facility.

After extensive study and consideration of a number of sites, including the current 72-year-old location, the board decided in May 2002 on the Highway 45 and PV site. It cited better projected financial performance at that location; the ability to serve a greater patient population there; and, given higher patient volumes, the ability to offer a greater variety of locally-available high quality services. The freeway location would allow it to compete favorably with other health care providers in the future; capital costs at the new site compared well with building new on the current site; and the site provided ample space for efficient hospital design and layout with room to grow.

In April, the hospital chose the health care design firm of Gresham, Smith and Partners of Nashville, Tenn. as architect for the new hospital, and CG Schmidt, Inc. of Milwaukee as general contractor. Ring and DuChateau of Milwaukee was selected for MEP (mechanical, electrical and plumbing). Ric Miller of Ric Miller Construction/Consulting LLC as owner's representative works with the architect, engineer and contractor. Recently, the hospital also hired a medical equipment planner, Gene Burton and Associates of Franklin, Tenn. to review equipment needs as they relate to design and construction of the new building. Representatives of the firms were expected to be at the site dedication.

Gresham, Smith and Partners is among the top 10 largest health care design firms ranked by Modern Healthcare magazine and has designed 21 new hospitals in the past five years. CG Schmidt has built a number of notable health care facilities in the region, including the Aurora Women's Pavilion in West Allis and St. Vincent Hospital in Green Bay, and was also celebrated for its work on the Calatrava-designed Milwaukee Art Museum expansion.

In July, the hospital board determined that the new hospital will be an 80-bed facility of 166,500 square-feet and agreed that it would be built within the $55 million budget previously announced, which includes the $3.5 million cost of the land.

The hospital is currently involved in an intensive design effort involving hospital committees, employees, physicians and volunteers. This past week over 100 employees on design teams representing 18 departments began weekly meetings with the architects to help determine design of space in the new hospital. Their focus continues to be on patient safety and the other guiding principles.

It is expected that architects will have a completed design for the new hospital sometime in January 2003. The anticipated opening date of the new hospital is May 5, 2005.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Readers

Having walked the streets of Kewaskum the past several weeks stumping for Republican votes, I have noticed one rather startling fact; many Republican voters haven't decided yet who they are going to vote for on November 5th. According to the most recent Harris polls, about 10% of Wisconsin voters are indicating that they are "undecided."

Now, that might be understandable in a close race where both candidates have basically the same ideas and stands, separated only by fine points of difference. However, I am startled to find that so many Republicans are having a difficult time establishing a difference between Governor McCallum and Jim Doyle. Sure, it is understandable that both candidates claim that they won't raise taxes. That could cause confusion. Both candidates have detailed plans on how they are going to balance the next state budget. It is also understandable that most voters really don't know the differences here either.

Nonetheless, when it comes to how these two men stand on life issues, there should be no doubt. Governor McCallum is pro-life and Jim Doyle is not. Once the facts are known, there is no doubt that these two men stand on diametrically opposed platforms. Let me quote from an October press release from Wisconsin Right to Life.

"It is bad enough that James Doyle supports abortion throughout the entire nine months of pregnancy for any reason ... but his running mate, Barbara Lawton, supports the gruesome partial birth abortion procedure whereby late-term babies, who are in the process of being born, are stabbed in the back of the head by the abortionist who then suctions out the babies' brains. Even most pro-choicers are revolted by this barbaric procedure and want it illegal. But not Barbara Lawton!" The release continues, "James Doyle has carefully avoided publicly stating what his position on partial-birth abortion is, but the fact that he holds such a radical position in support of abortion throughout the entire nine months of pregnancy for any reason and has made no attempt to separate himself from Lawton's public support for partial-birth abortion should make Wisconsin voters wonder just how far the Doyle/Lawton 'team' would be willing to go to satisfy the abortion lobby in Wisconsin."

Jim Doyle would just as soon look the other way when full-term babies are being bludgeoned, speared, and mutilated in the birth canal. Why? Because Doyle is in bed with the powerful pro-abortion lobbies. He is the darling of such ardent foes of life as Planned Parenthood of Wisconsin. They have endorsed Doyle for good reason. There are currently bills pending in the state legislature that would force Wisconsin health insurers to pay for birth control and abortion procedures. Should Doyle become governor, they would have a man in office who would not only push to liberalize Wisconsin's abortion statutes, he would also be likely to push for you and I to pay for new abortions through higher health insurance costs.

Jim Doyle, without a doubt, is no friend of life. And, if you don't believe these press releases, go onto his web site. You won't find any mention of life issues at all on the site. Why? Doyle knows that his radical stance on abortion would turn most Wisconsin voters off. That's why you can't find any mention of protecting the lives of the unborn on the Doyle site.

I know that the vast majority of voters in this area are pro-life. I know this because I have met many of you over the course of the last few months as I have campaigned for the state legislature. The resounding response to the question "Are you pro-life?" has been "Yes!" in Kewaskum and throughout the 59th district. There can be no doubt of this.

Sure, the budget is an important issue in this election. But, let's face it, neither candidate will be able to wave a magic wand over the deficit and make it all better. But, when it comes to protecting the lives of Wisconsin citizens as of yet unborn, let there be no mistake, with Jim Doyle in the governor's mansion, human life will have little value. Can there be anything more important than life itself?

When you go to the polls on November 5th please remember this: THERE IS A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THESE TWO MEN! If you feel that it is more important to save an unborn baby's life, please decide to be "decided" in your choice for governor. Jim Doyle is no choice at all for anyone who respects life.

Mark Clifford Brunner,

The Kewaskum Statesman

A few comments regarding the upcoming election for Governor - specifically Jim Doyle:

- Jim Doyle is anti-gun to the extreme. At one point in his career he proposed a ban on sales of all ammunition in the State of Wisconsin.

- During the course of his campaign, Doyle has promised over two billion dollars in new spending while the state is now facing a fiscal deficit. Although he has insisted that he will not raise taxes, huge tax increases are inevitable if he is elected. One of the options his fellow Democrats have indicated they will consider is a sales tax increase and possible levying taxes on some items that in the past were exempted (the list of major exempted items includes food and prescription drugs). This would hit the poor and elderly the hardest.

- Doyle presided as Attorney General while the caucus scandal was happening. For years he did nothing. Evidence suggests that he himself may have participated. That means he is either extremely incompetent or guilty of charges similar to those now being levied against members of Congress. What a choice. At least Clinton waited until after he was first elected before being targeted for possible criminal activity.

- Doyle has every intention of lifting all spending caps on education including teachers salaries and new buildings. This means a huge increase in property taxes.

- As Attorney General Doyle refused to pursue instances of voter fraud during the last Presidential election. Meanwhile - his campaign was by chance caught attempting to manipulate absentee voters in a home for the mentally ill in Kenosha. One wonders - how long have the Doyle Democrats been doing this and how many votes have already been stolen and how much does Doyle know about this? This voter fraud issue tears at the very foundation of how our form of government works and should not be taken as lightly as the biased media is treating it. Doyle by his past and present lack of action on this and other matters has demonstrated a lack of concern for honesty and integrity in state government.

- Doyle is pro-abortion to the extreme - including partial birth abortion.

Jim Doyle brings serious issues of competence to his candidacy for Governor. His honesty, or lack thereof, is in question. He is going to raise taxes. He is a typical Madison hyper liberal set on invading your life as much as possible with social mandates (gun control, tax funded abortion, etc...). This is the guy you want to entrust to our highest state office?

Sincerely,
Douglas Rinzel

Letter to the Editor

On or about October 11, 2002 Governor Scott McCallum announced (in a press release) that his campaign would begin running a television ad that would address the issue of taxation and referendums. He refers to it as, "Governor McCallum's Pocketbook Protection Pledge." It includes a constitutional amendment that would require that sales and income tax rate proposals go to voters for approval.

The ad begins by the Governor stating, "There is a big difference between my opponent and me."

That statement is so true. The ad also implies that he, Governor McCallum, is putting trust in the taxpayers to make those important decisions.

In our system of government we elect candidates to make those important decisions for us. We expect that they have the courage and foresight that are needed to make responsible decisions that are in the best interest of society, in our state and communities, as a whole. And, that includes taxation issues.

Although, had the Governor's constitutional amendment been in place since he's been Governor I seriously doubt that the voters of Wisconsin would have voted to squander Wisconsin's share of the tobacco settlement money to fix the budget deficit that was created in the last 16 years by Governors Thompson and McCallum.

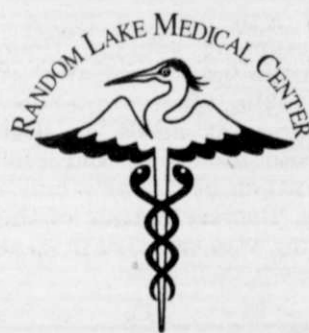

That could have meant an income for Wisconsin of approximately $175 million yearly with 3% increases each year. Over a 25-year time period, with increases, that could have amounted to approximately $6 billion for the state.

So, when our politicians begin to make sound and responsible decisions we can begin to develop trust in them!

If they don't, we have a system in place to correct the problem, it's called the "Election Process", let's use it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

While most of the focus this election season has been placed on the gubernatorial candidates, the voters of Wisconsin also have an important decision to make in the race for attorney general. I believe that Peg Lautenschlager is the clear choice in this race, given her experience and history of fiscal responsibility.

During her time in the state Assembly, Lautenschlager passed two budgets that effectively restrained government revenue growth by resisting increases in taxes and fees. She was a devoted friend of the taxpayer, passing property tax relief measures worth over $235 million annually, and increasing the dependent child tax credit. She was able to decrease the effective rate of income taxation while still funding quality programs such as school aids and shared revenue. She co-authored a bill that called for study of ways to reduce prison costs, many years before the potential for prison spending to spiral out of control became common knowledge.

Peg Lautenschlager is the only candidate with experience defending the public purse. During these times of fiscal difficulty, it will be critical to have an attorney general who knows how to set priorities and live within her means. Lautenschlager's experience in writing budgets, as a district attorney, and as the U.S. Attorney in charge of prosecution in 44 Wisconsin counties is something that her opponents simply cannot match. She is the one capable of effectively managing the Department of Justice and protecting both the safety and the pocket-books of Wisconsin voters.

Dear Editor:

With the recent scandal reported on Chuck Chvala (D) and Scott Jensen (R) soliciting funds and the more recent developments of the Pension Scandal involving Jensen, Chvala and our old Governor - Thompson, I am disappointed at the lack of interest in the latest forums held in the Town of Wilson Friday, Oct. 25 and at Kewaskum Elementary School Saturday, Oct. 26 for the 59th State Assembly race.

With all the corruption going on inside our government and the elected officials forgetting who sent them to Madison and WHY! I can't understand why more voters do not get involved. As citizens of Wisconsin - You owe it to yourselves to be educated voters!!!

The Most Powerful Word in the World

Attitude. How important is it?

Charles Swindoll, writing in his compelling book, Strengthening Your Grip, gives this answer: "I believe the single most significant decision I can make on a day-to-day basis is my choice of attitude. It is more important than my past, my education, my bankroll, my successes or failures, fame or pain, what other people think of me or say about me, my circumstances, or my position. Attitude keeps me going or cripples my progress. It alone fuels my fire or assaults my hope. When my attitude is right, there's no barrier too high, no valley too deep, no dream too extreme, no challenge too great for me."

Happiness is not a matter of good fortune or worldly possessions. It's a mental attitude. It comes from appreciating what we have, instead of being miserable about what we don't have. It's so simple - yet so hard for the human mind to comprehend.

-John Luther

Is our attitude toward life really as significant as Swindoll would have us believe? Many among us would answer "yes" - like Emily. She's a vivacious high school senior who lives a couple hours drive from here. Not long ago, I interviewed her over breakfast for a local newspaper. The editors down at the paper thought her story would make for a great feature article. When I finished the interview, I couldn't agree more.

Here's what I learned about Miss Emily.

At first glance, you'd think this young lady has it all. She's bright, has a beautiful smile, and often laughs out loud. She was voted by her classmates as "Most Likely to Succeed" and was this Spring's prom queen. Really, you'd think she has it all.

Then you see the chair - the wheelchair, that is. For three years now, Emily has been confined to it. "Paralyzed from the waist down," were the words that changed her life.

Yet despite her challenges, she sat across from me smiling, ordered two eggs, and told me all about her life, her friends, and her dog named Pork Chop. I learned she likes to sing and she plans to go to college. Her favorite food is pizza, and her favorite color is yellow - "like sunshine and daffodils."

If we want a joyful life, we must think joyous thoughts. If we want a loving life, we must think loving thoughts. If we want a grateful life, we must think grateful thoughts. Whatever we send out mentally or verbally, will come back to us in like form.

-Louise Hay

Where in the world does this girl's joy come from? I wondered.

If you ask her, she will tell you. She will tell you that it comes from her power to decide what thoughts will fill her mind. She will tell you that although the accident crippled her body, only she can cripple her mind - "and that would be the worst paralysis of all."

Attitude. It's powerful. It's also a choice. Day by day, we decide how we will greet each new morning and each new moment. Each decision is then subject to the same laws of multiplication that our actions are. By consistently sending out positive thoughts of gratitude, happiness and hopefulness, we connect with a positive energy that pulls like energy into our life. This is also true of the negative. Negative thinking multiplies upon itself and pulls more negative energy into our lives. For this reason alone, it is worth our time to evaluate what thoughts dominate our minds.

Be on the lookout for mercies. The more we look for them, the more of them we will see. Blessings brighten when we count them. Out of the determination of the heart, the eyes see. If you want to be gloomy, there's gloom enough to keep you gum. If you want to be happy, there's gleam enough to keep you glad. Better to lose count while naming your blessings than to lose your blessings by counting your troubles.

-Maltbie D. Babcock

During the next week, try this. Pay close attention to your thoughts and, if time allows, write them down in a small notebook. Keep track of how often you find yourself thinking thoughts of gratitude and appreciation, and how often you find yourself in attitudes of criticism and complaining. Pay attention, as well, to the words you are speaking because they are an important indicator of the energy - positive or negative - that is presently the controlling force of your life.

If, at the end of the week, you find that you have been allowing negative thoughts to dominate your life and want to change this, start by replacing every negative thought with a positive one. Some days this will be easier than others, but through making consistent efforts, this process will establish itself as a habit and positive responses will then become a more natural reaction.

In the daily grind of everyday life it is tempting to sit in the dark shadows of our thoughts and hit Life's rewind button, listening to yesterday's sad songs, and singing, "Woe is me." There is no shortage of people who do this and no shortage of those who would try to convince you that the sky is falling. We can find them at our jobs, in our neighborhoods, and sometimes they are even wearing our clothes and staring back at us when we look in the bathroom mirror in the morning.

If this is the case, let us consider accepting Life's invitation to step out of the shadows of our minds and come into the sunshine where we belong.

Positive thoughts are light. Negative thoughts are darkness. Nothing grows in the darkness. Not daffodils, and not us. Nature teaches us this in no uncertain terms. Light fosters warmth and growth, darkness fosters the exact opposite. When our thoughts are controlled by darkness and negativity, our hopes die, our dreams die, and our spirits die - contracting and closing in upon themselves. It takes just one second to change this. In the same single second it takes to walk into a dark room and throw the switch, flooding the room with light, we can throw a positive thought into our mind and dispel the darkness of negativity.

Emily agrees, and shares with me what she believes is the most powerful word in the world. The word is "next." It was this single word that helped her usher negative thoughts out of her mind after the accident, making room for something better.

She really is amazing, and at first glance, you would think she has it all. And do you know what? You'd be right. This young lady is living her life like she orders her eggs: "Sunny side up, please. Sunny side up."

need it now. I'm tired of being taxed to death. In the Governors race there is talk about increasing our income tax to help relieve our deficit - tell me when will it stop? In Madison - they need to spend less. One of the candidates mentioned her web site, and I encourage you to check it out - regarding the pension scandal and budget crisis, etc. www.lawton2002.org If Republicans and Democrats can't get it right - it's now time for a change - Vote for the Independent. Thank you.

Dear Editor:

The upcoming 2002 gubernatorial race is important to those who wish to actively uphold the sanctity of life. Candidate Jim Doyle is endorsed by Planned Parenthood and has accepted PP's "voice for choice" (to kill babies) award.

PP is the leading provider of abortions in the United States. PP also works to undermine parental authority by distributing contraceptives to minors without the same parental consent required by school nurses for dispensing aspirin.

PP's Fall 2002 issue of "The Advocate" correctly states that the Governor "appoints hundreds of people to state posts, commissions and boards, many of whom deal with health and human service issues and oversee distribution of state funds to vital health programs." The sad part is that PP and others work to elect candidates who find human life expendable even for "convenience."

Voters have the opportunity to deny Jim Doyle the office of Governor. A person who is morally blind enough to condone abortion and to celebrate the death of innocent children with an award does not have the capacity to faithfully uphold the laws of Wisconsin. Doyle needs our prayers, not our votes.

Sincerely,

Robert G. Dwyer

Dear Editor:

Candidates Governor Scott McCallum (R), Lieutenant Governor Margaret Farrow (R) and Attorney General Vince Biskupic (R) believe unborn children should be legally protected, and yes, will sign pro-life legislation into law and veto anti-life legislation. Candidate Attorney General Vince Biskupic (R) also believes unborn children should be legally protected. These three individuals elected in November 2002 will determine the fate of innocent human lives for years to come!

Please vote Tuesday, November 5, and defend human life. I know the unborn babies we save thank you!

Dear Editor:

An ad for one of the gubernatorial candidates states that it is time for a change. I couldn't agree more; that's why I am voting for my fellow veterans Ed Thompson (Navy) and his running mate state representative and Ladysmith mayor Marty Reynolds (Air Force). As the owner of a successful supper club, Ed provides jobs, meets payroll, and balances budgets.

As the mayor of Tomah, he helped reduce the city's debt by four million dollars without increasing property taxes. As governor and lieutenant governor, Ed and Marty will work to cut spending and taxes, to increase local and parental control over our children's education, to reform our criminal justice system, and to fight corruption and bring common sense to the statehouse. I strongly urge my fellow overburdened Wisconsin taxpayers to vote for Ed Thompson and Marty Reynolds on November 5.

Biskupic Using Past Success Stories to Win AG Election

BY ANDREW KUEHL
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

With current Attorney General James Doyle deciding to move up the ladder to the governor's position it has left his seat vacant and two strong candidates are ready for the challenge. Doyle was top law enforcement official since 1990.

Vince Biskupic has been the Outagamie County District Attorney for eight years, having been elected four times to the seat. Prior to this position he served as a prosecutor in Winnebago County, where he was a Deputy DA for three years and an Assistant DA for two years. Biskupic has been elected by his peers to serve as President of the Wisconsin District Attorney's Association (WDAA) and has been a member of the WDAA Executive Board for three years.

Before becoming a prosecutor in Wisconsin, Biskupic, served as a Federal Judicial Law Clerk for the late Federal Judge and former Attorney General Robert W. Warren. Biskupic also worked as an intern-prosecutor for the City of Chicago, and an intern for Judge John L. Coffey, Judge for the United States Court of Appeals, Seventh Circuit.

Biskupic is a member of the National District Attorneys Association, the Outagamie County Domestic Abuse Intervention Team, the Sexual Assault Crisis Center Intervention Team, Wisconsin Law Enforcement Officers Association, and the Outagamie County Arson Task Force. He is a certified law enforcement instructor and gives training presentations to police officers and prosecutors.

For his work in law enforcement, Biskupic has received awards and letters of commendation from FBI Director Louis Freeh, the Outagamie County Arson Task Force, Lake Winnebago Area Drug Unit, the Mid-States Organized Crime Information Center, and the Winnebago County District Attorney's Office.

Biskupic is married and shares four children with wife Laura. Both Vince and Laura graduated from Marquette University.

Biskupic is also endorsed by Washington County District Attorney, Tood Martens and Tom Storm, Fond du Lac County District Attorney. More information can be found on <www.vincebiskupic.com> two-thirds of the state. She created a civil enforcement unit that pursued environmental, health care fraud, consumer protection, and Americans with Disabilities Act enforcement actions.

During her tenure as U.S. Attorney, she also emphasized community training and prevention to focus on community safety. Because of her work, Lautenschlager was the first Wisconsinite ever appointed to serve on the Attorney General's Advisory Committee.

Lautenschlager has served as a state prosecutor as well. As Winnebago County District Attorney, she personally prosecuted major cases.

Before her time as District Attorney, Peg served as an attorney in private practice, focusing on family and domestic violence law.

From 1988 until 1992, Lautenschlager represented the Fond du Lac area in the Wisconsin State Assembly. She was elected to a leadership role in her second term by her colleagues.

Born and raised in Fond du Lac, Lautenschlager, the daughter of long-time public school teachers, graduated valedictorian of Goodrich High School and Phi Beta Kappa from Lake Forest College before attending UW Law School. She is married

STATESMAN 2002 FALL ELECTION SPECIAL

Thompson Says He's The "Common Man's Candidate"

By ADAM BERGSTROM
Special to Statesman

People have called him a lot of things: a common man, the "governor's brother" the mayor. But there's one title that Ed Thompson does not want: politician.

The brother of Wisconsin's longest-serving governor has secured his place as the third party candidate in a fairly close gubernatorial campaign this year. And although the 57-year-old Thompson knows that the road will be a long and difficult one, he's out and about, traveling the state from one end to the other, getting his message out. His odds are unlikely, going up against incumbent Scott McCallum and Attorney General Jim Doyle. And with a budget that pales in comparison to that of Wisconsin's "career politicians," Thompson can't rely on money to further his campaign, but rather on hard work and a strong message.

A small business owner for 35 years, Thompson feels he has what it takes to appeal to the common people. He's held a number of jobs over the years. He worked in his parents' grocery store in his hometown of Elroy, Wis. He served for a time in the U. S. Navy. He worked in a federal prison. More recently, he was the mayor of the city of Tomah in western Wisconsin, and is the owner of "Mr. Ed's Tee Pee Supper Club," one of downtown Tomah's mainstays.

Thompson recently answered some questions about his campaign, his ideas on various issues, and how he stacks up against the other candidates.

US: First, how are things going? What's the latest?

ET: Well, we're doing tremendously. We're so thankful for the numbers we got in the primaries. We got the same number that [Gov. Jesse] Ventura got in Minnesota. We wanted 6%, but we knew the deck was stacked against us. We knew it would be almost impossible. So, we put all our effort into getting that 6%. And we got a lot of press for trying, but we knew the deck was stacked against us. And with so many county races, The coroner in Iron County got more votes than the Democratic candidate for governor. That was indicative of what happened throughout the state. In Milwaukee County, we got 1.3%, but on the [UWM] campus, we got 8%.

US: You probably did quite well in Monroe County, right?

ET: I won Monroe County. I won Juneau County. In Tomah, I got 58% of the vote. So, with the people who know me I did extremely well, but getting out, getting over to this area, it's so difficult. And they're spending so much money against us.

US: So, why the Libertarian Party?

ET: Well, why not? I was just so fed up with career politicians and what's been going on. Tommy asked me, "Why didn't you run as a Republican?" and I told him, "Because I don't want to run as a Republican." I'm not a career politician. I have no intention of being one. The Libertarian party is neither liberal nor conservative. And you know, both sides want more government. I don't. I want less government. I want government security, and I want to take care of the infrastructure, of course, but far less government. One girl said to me the other day, "What about the tobacco settlement?" Look what we've done with this. $5.8 billion that was earmarked to help people get off smoking, or to get patches or to inform them. Not a dime went where it was supposed to go. They used a third of it last year to balance the budget, and the other two-thirds this year. They didn't address the problem at all. As a businessman, I've balanced a lot of budgets. I don't know one person that's ever succeeded using one-time money to balance a budget. It just doesn't work.

US: What about the budget? What are your opinions on the problems we're facing?

ET: Wisconsin's budget is probably the worst in the nation. We're the third highest-taxed state. In 25 years of watching what's been going on in Madison, analysts have called this year's budget the "worst budget fiasco ever." These career politicians will do everything they can to get reelected. Their main concern is taking care of their careers, not the people. It's not of the people, by the people, for the people. It's the career politicians. This is their career. They're not going to cut the budget because they might offend someone. I'm not running for re-election. I believe in term limits. And I'm also not taking any PAC money, because I'm not for sale. I'm not going to be obligated to any PAC. These career politicians are going to overlook issues if they're receiving money. They're not going to address something when they're getting $100,000 or $200,000. They're going to make excuses; they're going to spend it. And I'm sick of that. Look at the road builders and we do need roads, don't get me wrong but for every dollar they donate to a campaign, they get $4,000 back. That's not a bad investment. They've given $1 million to both sides of the fence. They don't care who gets elected! As long as they've bought them, it doesn't matter. One hundred and thirty-three people have given McCallum $352,000, and the same people have given $192,000 to Doyle. Thirty-seven hundred people have given me $340,000. So, that's the difference. I'm getting $5 here and $10 there.

US: Do you have ideas on how to balance the budget? What would you do differently?

ET: Many ideas! First of all, we're not going to use one-time money. That tobacco money was earmarked to help people quit smoking. Do you know what that money would have done? $5.8 billion. That would have generated $165 million every year, forever. Imagine what that would have done for Badger Care or for our senior citizens or for the people who really need help. But they spent the money to balance the budget. They squandered the money, and that's just incredibly wrong. What are they going to do next year? Shared revenue is going to be cut. They've already threatened it. I was mayor of a small community. I know the small towns need that money. Monroe County sent $22 million to Madison in shared revenue. We got $2.1 million back. I ran the city of Tomah for less than $13 million. That's 8,400 people. It took $62.5 million to run 132 legislators' offices in Madison. And McCallum has the audacity to call us the "big spenders!" What about the prison systems? Our prisons are sitting at 125% capacity, and two are sitting empty. And we've got inmates in other states. Why don't we bring them back? At least we'd have that money generating in our economy, and then we can get the non-violent criminals out. Put them on bracelets. You can put a person on a bracelet for less than $2,000 a year, versus $28,000 to keep them locked up in a jail cell. I'm talking about non-violent criminals. I want violent criminals locked up for a long time. But the non-violent ones, I want them out. I worked five years in a federal penitentiary and I know that non-violent criminals absolutely do not belong locked up with violent ones. It's not right, and we can do much better.

L: What about the UW System and their budget problems?

ET: Let's talk about that. Look at Katherine Lyall. She agreed to work for $207,000, and then three months later, they gave her a $91,000 raise. Everybody under her got a raise, and then the students got an 8% tuition hike. So, why should it be on your backs? It just makes no sense. She agreed to work for a certain amount, and that's what she should be paid. Common sense.

US: You had video poker machines at the supper club.

What's your stance on gambling in general?

ET: Well, gambling is here. I think they should license the video poker machines. Tax them and get the revenue out of them. I'm not saying it's right or wrong. I'm saying it's here. I'm sick of people, especially the government, passing rules on how we're supposed to live, on morality. How you live your life in the privacy of your own home is your own business.

US: You've also talked about the decriminalization of marijuana.

ET: Absolutely. It's long overdue. Let's just face the truth: they had the chief of police in Detroit on TV talking about the "war on drugs" and what a dismal failure it's been. It's been going on for 30 years. You can keep arresting people, but week after week, there's just more people out on the street. Now let's get one thing straight: I don't condone the use of illegal drugs. I quit smoking and drinking a few years back, and I'm very glad I did. But I still run a supper club. I still sell cigarettes. I still sell alcohol. That's what living in America is all about, being free.

US: So you'd be in favor of medical marijuana, then?

ET: I think that doctors know far better than the bureaucrats in Madison about medications. I stood on the steps of the capitol last year when they were lobbying for medical marijuana. But what happened to the bill? It died in the committee. They didn't even bring it up before the legislature. If I were governor, I'd be pushing it. Let's at least debate it in an open forum. You know, in America, 50% of the courts, 50% of the prisons and 50% of the police are directly tied to the war on drugs. I'm sick of kids selling drugs to kids. I'm sick of drive-by shootings. I'm sick of gang warfare. It's all about the drug war! End it. Get the money out of it. In Milwaukee, it's been reported that it's easier for high school students to get marijuana than it is to get cigarettes or beer.

US: What about your brother? What kind of impact will he have on your campaign?

ET: Tommy's my brother, and I love my brother. But he's a career politician, and I'm not. And I never will be. Obviously, he's made a big impact on Wisconsin. He was the state's longest-serving governor. But he and I have a lot of differences. And he backed McCallum, because the White House told him to. I certainly didn't expect him to back me.

Powerful Issues Addressed In Gubernatorial Race

Assembly Candidates Forum

By Lanaya A. Martin

As election day draws near philosophies, promises, theories, accusations, and proposals flood the voters' eyes and ears. The race for governor has become heated and zealous. Characters, intents, and special interest ties have been questioned of all four candidates.

Complaints about scandals and lies mark this year's governor race in the state of Wisconsin, a state that has had a reputation for clean campaigning. In a recent interview, Governor Scott McCallum shared his views on a number of issues including gambling, college graduates leaving the state, and the budget deficit.

The state of Wisconsin has strict laws regarding gambling. Only Native Americans are allowed to own casinos on or off reservations. In order for a casino to be built or an existing one to be expanded off a reservation, the proposal must be passed by the governor. Governor McCallum plans to block any such proposals. He believes that the 17 casinos the state of Wisconsin currently has is quite enough.

Many studies have shown that Wisconsin is losing its college graduates. In response, Governor McCallum wants to see the Build Wisconsin Program carried out. The purpose of this program is to draw companies with high paying jobs into the state. It also gives incentives for companies, whose home is currently in Wisconsin, to expand.

The state is divided into seven tech zones, as they are called, which are boarded by local officials and businessmen. Funds are given to recruit businesses and entice them to come to Wisconsin.

The budget is a touchy subject, and each candidate has his own antidote on how to cure the pending deficit for the next fiscal year. Governor McCallum is no different. He plans on presenting two constitutional amendments and two bills to prevent such a deficit like we experienced in the past.

The first of the two amendments states that if the government wants to increase taxes then a vote by the citizens of the state of Wisconsin is required. The second amendment is a rainy day fund. If the state has a surplus, the excess money would go into a state fund which could not be touched without a 2/3 vote by the legislature.

Governor McCallum is also looking to pass a bill which creates a deadline for both the governor and the legislature. If the governor does not propose a budget by a certain date, his wages would be withheld. If the legislature does not agree on a budget by a certain time, their wages would also be withheld.

The Governor believes that in order to prevent another deficit, government spending needs to be capped and can only be allowed to increase at the same rate as incomes.

The current proposal includes five plans of action: First, to dislodge the state from its current predicament, the Governor wants to cut state spending. He would cut programs an average of 5% and the only programs that would not be cut are those that are adding jobs or raising salaries.

Second, the Governor wants to help the economy which will yield to a higher per capita income and result in $1 billion government revenue to help balance the budget.

Third, the Governor has a good relationship with the White House and has increased the amount of federal funds that Wisconsin receives. In order to balance the budget, he will continue with these efforts.

Fourth, the Governor wants the government to run more efficiently and that includes consolidating government agencies. The department of electronics will be the model for this concept. Previously IT directors from all sectors of the government were buying their own software and long distance services. It was consolidated into one agency who buys everything in bulk and the savings add up, in this case up to $18 million.

Fifth, the gaming compact is due and the Governor wants to increase the percentage the government takes from the gaming revenue from 2% to 4%, which is half of the national average.

The issues are many, the solutions complicated. Leadership makes a difference. Exercise your right to vote on Tuesday, November 5, 2002.

problem, which is the spending.

LeMahieu believes that tax increases "will not solve problems...we need to cut spending." He said tax increases would be a last resort.

Levandowski said no, he would not support any tax increases. We "can't keep taxing and spending at present levels," said Levandowski. He wants to cut spending across the board from village levels to state level.

Q: What is your philosophy of government? What role should the government play in the lives of the people?

"It's time for change," Lawton said. She said most people have no idea what the government is doing with the money they accumulate, as it was hardly clear to her and she has spent the last five months investigating it.

LeMahieu said, "Government is too big." He believes the government should be involved in safety and infrastructure. LeMahieu said that people have relied on the government to solve all of our problems and now we need to solve the problems ourselves.

Levandowski said you can't legislate morality, everyone just needs to be treated like adults.

Q: What can you do as a state legislator to ensure that basic health care is available to all persons?

Lawton is a supporter of Badger Care and plans to continue to stay involved and "expand programs without increasing cost."

LeMahieu said that government gets involved in too many things that they should not be. He said if less money is spent in taxes, people could spend more on their health care. LeMahieu believes the best solution is to downsize government and keep more money in the pockets of those earning it so they can afford insurance on their own.

People need to pool together, said Levandowski, and create better plans.

Q: What impact do you feel the scandals in state government have had on the elections?

Lawton said the behavior of the elected officials has represented themselves, not us. She said this "is not the government we want or deserve." Lawton also said that with the magnitude of the scandals and their effects, it is "time to take action."

LeMahieu believes that the impact of the scandals will be that people will stay home and not vote. He said people are "fed up with corruption." LeMahieu said people would listen to those who show integrity and hopefully there will not be a lower turn out of voters.

Levandowski said he believes that Wisconsin has become the laughing stock of the Midwest. He said there was arrogance in that people have "no clue what other's are dealing with."

Q: What is your stance on human embryo research and human cloning?

Lawton said she was opposed to bioengineering. She said future repercussions are too uncertain and that "we are all at risk" when things start getting rolled out before they're tested.

LeMahieu said that he is Pro-Life, no exceptions and that he does not support cloning or abortion.

Levandowski said that due to his Christian beliefs he does not support abortion.

After these questions, the candidates were each allowed to ask the other two candidates a question. That was followed by four minute closing statements. The voting on November 5 will determine which of these candidates will be representing the 59th district as a Legislator.

Get Out and Vote November 5th

By Mary E. Alexander and Keith R. Clifford

Do you care about whether you will be laid off from your job, or, if you are retired, whether your investments and social security income will support you during these bad economic times?

If you are a parent, think about the quality of your children's education, or, if you are a young person, how you will pay off your student loans?

If you are a patient, are you worried about the cost of your prescription drugs? About how your HMO treats you? About the price of your health insurance?

If you are concerned about any of these things, get out and vote on Tuesday, November 5th -- and help your friends and neighbors get out and vote, too.

This November's elections will help decide how our country deals with these issues and more. That's why groups like the AARP (American Association of Retired Persons), the NAACP, the League of Women Voters, and other groups are urging all Americans to vote on November 5th.

"Politicians pay lots of attention to who votes and who doesn't," says the League of Women Voters in its booklet Navigating Election Day.

"For example," the League says, "because so many older Americans vote, politicians don't want to mess with Social Security, because it is popular with older people. But young people and new U.S. citizens have not voted in high numbers in recent elections, so some politicians feel they don't have to pay too much attention to their needs."

And your vote counts. As the League points out, "In 1999, Leslie Byrne was elected to the Virginia Senate by 37 votes, less than I vote per precinct... (Former President) John F. Kennedy's margin of victory over (his opponent) in the 1960 presidential race was less than one vote per precinct." And in the last presidential election, Vice President Al Gore won the popular vote while President George Bush won the Electoral College vote when Florida's presidential vote was decided by less than a thousand votes.

This November 5th, your vote for national candidates -- such as those for U.S. Senate -- will have a big impact. Right now, Republicans control the White House and House of Representatives, and Democrats control the U.S. Senate. But the margins are small. The House currently has 222 Republicans, 210 Democrats, 2 Independents and 1 vacancy. The Senate has 50 Democrats, 49 Republicans and one Independent.

Several races for U.S. Senate are very close, including races in Missouri, South Dakota, Arkansas, Colorado, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. The outcomes of these elections may determine how America's economy recovers, whether we become involved in a war with Iraq, and how our health and educational systems will work.

In Wisconsin, there are important statewide races. The race for Governor is one of the closest in decades and we will also be electing a new Attorney General this year.

Do you have questions about the voting process itself? Rock the Vote, an organization aimed at getting people to the polls, especially young people, lists answers to these frequently asked questions for voters of all ages on its web site, www.rockthevote.org.

• Question: How can I find out if I am registered? Answer: Call your Municipal Clerk. Wisconsin allows people to register to vote on Election Day. Voters must bring some proof of residency - drivers license, utility bills or another form of identification.

• Question: Where is my polling place? Answer: Polling places are generally listed in the newspaper prior to the election or go to <http://www.freedomanswer.net/voter/polls.shtml> to find your polling place.

• Question: Can I vote if I am a felon? Answer: it varies by state. Find out at the Sentencing Project website: <http://www.hrwo.org/reports98/vote/usvot98o.htm>

• Question: What if I can't make it to my polling place on Election Day? Answer: Your state may offer a mail in or an absentee ballot. Keep in mind; you must already be registered to request an absentee ballot or a mail-in ballot. In Wisconsin a voter must request an absentee application no later than 5 p.m. on Friday, November 1. Applications are sent to your municipal clerk.

(A list of municipal clerks for each town, village and city can be found on the Wisconsin Election Board website: <http://elections.state.wi.us/municipalclerklist.txt>.)

Make sure to get out and vote this November 5th. It is your right, your privilege, and your responsibility as an American citizen. Your country is asking you to give it guidance. Answer the call.

Doyle-Lawton Lead In Election Polls

Recent polls taken show that Attorney General Jim Doyle is only two percentage points ahead of Governor Scott McCallum. Tuesday's election no doubt will show that every vote cast will count.

Doyle was elected as Wisconsin's Attorney General in 1990 when he beat the Republican incumbent. He was reelected to the state's top law enforcement position in 1994 and 1998. In winning his third four-year term, Jim received over 1.1 million votes, more votes than any candidate for state office in Wisconsin history.

He served three terms as Dane County District Attorney from 1977-82, then left office and built his own private law practice, handling a wide range of civil and criminal cases.

Doyle is a graduate of Madison West High School and the University of Wisconsin - Madison. He earned a law degree from Harvard University Law School in 1972. Jim and wife, Jessica have raised two sons Gus and Gabe, who are now young adults.

Doyle's running mate, Barbara Lawton grew up in Racine County. She later moved to Green Bay and has lived there for the past 31 years. While raising two children, Barbara earned her college degree at Lawrence University in 1987, graduating summa cum laude. In 1991, she completed a graduate program from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

An advisory board member to the Green Bay Multicultural Center and to Women's Political Voice, Lawton serves on the Business Planning and Resource Team for Entrepreneurs of Color, and is a board member of Planned Parenthood Advocates of Wisconsin and the Northeastern Wisconsin Technical College Educational Foundation. She is a member of the League of Women Voters, American Association of University Women, and National Women's Political Caucus.

Lawton ran for the Wisconsin State Senate in the 30th District in 1996 and was the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor in 1998.

Barbara and her husband, Cal, live in Green Bay. Barbara and Cal have been married for 29 years.

Cedar Haven Agency To Hold Open Houses

To celebrate the grand opening of new treatment space at its West Bend clinic, Cedar Haven Rehabilitation Agency will hold Open Houses and free screenings at all four outpatient clinics Thursday, Nov. 14 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The public is invited to stop in, meet the staff and enjoy free refreshments and door prizes at Cedar Haven's Horicon, Germantown, Grafton or West Bend locations.

Each clinic will hold free backpack adjustments for children, and Balance and Falls Risk screenings for older adults. Physical, occupational, speech or massage therapists also will be on hand to answer questions on the rehab treatment and prevention for health conditions "from A to V;" Arthritis to Venous edema in adults, or Attention Deficit to Voice disorders in children.

As a follow-up to National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, free measuring kits and information will be available on lymphedema, a chronic swelling that effect one in four breast cancer patients, among others.

Cedar Haven administrator Lori Dominiczak said the open houses are a celebration of the agency's 18 years of helping their patients meet their rehabilitation goals. She extends a special invitation to past and present patients, family members, and referring physicians.

"Recently one of our pediatric therapists attended the high school graduation of a patient she's been seeing since he was an infant," Dominiczak said. "Our patient satisfaction surveys have been so consistently excellent, and we're so proud of our patients' progress, we just wanted an excuse to throw a party."

• Cedar Haven's Grafton clinic is located at 885 Badger Circle, just west of I-43.

• Cedar Haven's Germantown clinic is located at W157 N11647 Fond du Lac Ave.

• Cedar Haven's Horicon clinic is located at 112 Clinton Street.

• Cedar Haven's West Bend clinic is located at 5595 County Road Z in the new Community Medical Clinic building.

Library Ledger

By Steev Baker
Kewaskum Library Director
www.kewaskum.lib.wi.us

Thank you to everyone who visited the Kewaskum Public Library for our annual book sale! We made just over $150, which will go toward the purchase of new books.

Be sure to watch for notices of our annual magazine sale. It is usually held in February. A list of magazines will be available on our website in the next few months.

Don't forget about our weekly Halfpint Bookworm Storytime for children three and older. Every Wednesday at 1:00 p.m., children (and their parents) are invited to the library for stories and a craft project. Please contact the library for more information.

Also ongoing is the Kewaskum Book Review. The group meets on the fourth Tuesday of every month at the school administration building. The book for the November 19th meeting is Barbara Ehrenreich's Nickel and Dimed.

Ehrenreich, an investigative reporter, took some time off from her regular job to see how the average minimum wage employee lives--by actually becoming a minimum wage employee in several urban areas. Find out what she discovered and share your views with others.

A complete list of books and dates is available on our website.

The Kewaskum Public Library is participating in the Green Library Project. We are a drop-off point for used printer cartridges and cellular phones. Rather than throwing away these chemically hazardous containers, bring them to the library for recycling.

We'll send them to the Green Library Project where they will be reused and/or safely disposed of.

Finally, we are hoping to receive a grant from the Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System before the new year to enable us to join our catalog with the four other Washington County libraries.

When this happens, you will be able to check our holdings from any library in the county and from your computer at home! More information on this project will be forthcoming.

Wisconsin consumers deserve greater long- distance choices

Although competition in telecommunications is thriving, recent questionable business practices of companies like MCI/WorldCom highlight the importance of continuing to promote a competitive - and stable - phone market.

Currently in Wisconsin, MCI/WorldCom, AT&T and Sprint account for over 71% of long distance minutes. With the importance of technology in today's economy, consumers need more choices and better choices.

SBC Ameritech is now in the process of obtaining regulatory approval to offer long-distance in Wisconsin. When SBC can offer long-distance, choices will increase, prices will be more competitive and SBC customers will enjoy the convenience of having all telecom services on a single bill.

And unlike the companies that have been recently called to task for unethical business practices, and gone into bankruptcy, SBC Ameritech is a solid company with more than 100 years of service to the residents of Wisconsin and deep roots in our community.

We invest in our networks, and we are invested in the future of Wisconsin.

For more information about the benefits of full telecommunications competition, please visit www.connectwisconsin.org.

North American Bears Program

The "An Evening with Nature Series" at the Northern Kettle Moraine State Forest continues with the program, "North American Bears." The program will be held on Thursday, November 14, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center.

The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy. 67 1/2 mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Bears captivate our imagination with their size and strength, and no one knows this better than Randy Hetzel, a career wildlife researcher. Randy has worked with grizzlies in the Wyoming wilderness, and black bears in northern Wisconsin. He has also had numerous bear encounters in Alaska and elsewhere.

Hetzel will describe the capturing and handling techniques, food habits, and ecological niches of bears. Participants will also learn some valuable tips for avoiding bear conflicts and living in harmony with these magnificent creatures. Come spend the evening with Randy as he recaps some of his colorful events and shares interesting facts about bears.

For further information or directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, please contact Jacki S. Scharfenberg, Forest Naturalist. She may be reached at 920-533-8322, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

State Optometrists Warn Consumers

The Wisconsin Optometric Association (WOA), a statewide professional association of doctors of optometry, joined the Food and Drug Administration in warning consumers against using decorative, non-corrective contact lenses without a proper professional fitting and valid prescription.

According to WOA President Dr. Dan DeWinter, "As eye doctors, we are very concerned over the increased use of decorative or plano contact lenses obtained by consumers without a prescription or professional fitting." Both the FDA and WOA warn that without a valid prescription and proper fitting by an eye care professional, serious vision and eye health risks exist that can potentially lead to blindness.

According to the FDA warning released on October 21, 2002, these products are being marketed and distributed directly to consumers through flea markets, convenience stores, and other retail outlets.

The FDA warning urges consumers to discontinue immediately the use of decorative contact lenses obtained without prescription and proper fitting. In addition, the FDA asks consumers to report any complaints or problems associated with these products directly to the FDA district office of consumer complaints.

The FDA has alerted Customs officials and has instructed them to detain automatically all decorative contact lenses presented at US ports of entry. According to the October FDA alert, these products currently on the market will be seized in violation of Federal Law.

"Optometrists all across the state of Wisconsin have seen first hand the serious impact these products can have on individuals," said Dr. DeWinter. "Ocular infections or other serious eye problems can develop from the improper wear and fitting of these contact lenses." According to Dr. DeWinter, these infections can quickly develop into ulcers and cause corneal scarring, loss of vision and in some cases, blindness.

The WOA urges consumers to be well informed regarding the use of these products. "Our concerns increase over the Halloween season when many people use decorative contact lenses to enhance their Halloween costumes," said Dr. DeWinter. "We urge consumers to consult with their eye doctor before purchasing decorative, non-corrective contact lenses."

News From The Capitol

By Rep. Glenn Grothman

Absentee Ballot Laws Need Changing

We are currently in the middle of election season. The amount of money spent, the unnecessary negative tone of the campaigns, and the cheating already reported in Kenosha County will inevitably call for reform. As mentioned in the past, calls for reform are more likely to make matters worse than better.

A perfect example occurred in the spring of 2000. A bipartisan coalition of Republicans and Democrats decided to reform the election laws. A proposed bill was drafted allowing absentee voting for any reason. I felt this was a horrible provision. With so many groups looking for any advantage in politics today it was predictable that to allow absentee ballots for any reason would result in abuse. College dormitories, low-income housing, and homeless shelters would be examples of places where "supervised" voters could fill out ballots.

I amended this provision out of the bill. In the Senate, Senator Alice Clausen added the provision back in. They both passed the bill one move time with the Assembly removing the absentee ballot provision on a party line vote and the Senate adding it back in.

Finally, the Assembly voted 88-11 to allow any registered voter to use an absentee ballot. Having been there that day, I believe the primary motivation of most Republicans who voted yes was the fear of not doing something - anything. They also were afraid of appearing partisan or argumentative. The number of absentee ballots filed this year has skyrocketed. One can only guess at the number of voters who have been "helped." According to numerous clerks I have talked to this is also an added expense.

I will introduce a bill to require a reason for absentee ballots once again. But the above story should remind us all that doing nothing is better than doing something bad.

Indians Slip by Huskies After Blowing 17-0 Lead

By Kyle Darmody
Student Reporter

On fourth and goal from the four yard line, Indian quarterback Travis Kempf rolled out to his left in search of an open receiver. With everyone covered Kempf decided to take it in himself to give the Kewaskum varsity football team the 24-21 lead with just a little over a minute left in the game.

New Holstein would try and answer, but would only end up turning the ball over, when quarterback Joe Horsch threw an interception to Indian defensive back Mike McKee to seal the 24-21 win for the Indians last Thursday, October 24th in Kewaskum.

The Indians took the early lead in this game when Matt Hartmann hit a 25 yard field goal in the first quarter, to give the Indians the 3-0 lead.

In the second quarter, after a solid Indian drive, Ryan DeLaurier pounded it in from one yard out for another Indian score. After the Hartmann extra point, the Indians took the 10-0 half-time lead.

On the first drive in the second half the Indians got on the board again. This time Kempf hit Kyle Rabuck on a short dump-off pass, but Rabuck put on some nice moves to get by a couple of defenders before leaping over one more at the goal line for the 23 yard touchdown. After the Hartmann extra point the Indians had a commanding 17-0 lead.

The Huskies answered on the very next drive when Horsch hit Kyle Binversie, and with poor tackling by the Indians secondary, Binversie broke free for the 45 yard touchdown play. The extra point was good making the score 17-7.

The Huskies then drove again later in the quarter. Late in the drive, with lots of confusion in the Indian secondary, Horsch hit Binversie for a 17 yard untouched touchdown pass. After the extra point the Indian lead was cut to three with the score standing at 17-14.

The Huskies were not done there though as they struck again with about five minutes left in the game, when Binversie (6-6) caught the jump ball thrown from Horsch over Indian defensive back Jake Wilson (5-8).

Then the Indians marched the ball down the field and scored on the Kempf scramble to win the game.

The win puts the Indians record at 5-3 overall and 5-2 in conference, a record which earned them a fifth seed in the WIAA state football playoffs.

Regionals started on Tuesday, October 29th. On Tuesday the Indians traveled to Luxemburg to face fourth seeded Luxemburg-Casco.

The winner of the game will go on to face the winner of the Campbellsport (one seed), Slinger (eighth seed) game, Saturday, November 2nd. If the Indians win at Luxemburg they will be playing at home Saturday against either Campbellsport or Slinger.

Keep a close eye on the Indians this week as they hope to make a memorable playoff run.

Lady Indians Advance to Second Round, Then Lose to Milwaukee Lutheran

Jill Wittmann sets the ball for Danielle DeGroot (14), while Katie Klug (7) watches in last Tuesday night's volleyball regional against Shorewood High School.

By Kyle Darmody
Student Reporter

After collapsing and losing match one 13-15 against Shorewood, Tuesday, October 22nd, the Kewaskum girls varsity volleyball team rebounded and went on to win the next three matches (15-8, 15-5, 15-12) to take the first round playoff win.

"Well we has a few short spurts of bad passing which coasted us the first match," Indians coach Dave Rizzardi said, "But then we were able to maintain our composure and dominate the rest of the way," he continued. "Shorewood had a very solid middle, and they had a lot of quick hits, but Katie (Klug) was there to pick up a lot of blocks for us."

Klug had six blocks for the Indians which led the way defensively, while on the offensive side of the ball Danielle Degroot led the Indians with 12 kills, and she was followed by Beth Boedecker who had 10 kills. After the Indians' win

Tuesday they traveled to Milwaukee Lutheran, Friday, October 25th, to face Milwaukee Lutheran in the second round of the Regional.

"Well, against Milwaukee Lutheran, we struggled for most of the evening trying to find ourselves," Coach Rizzardi said.

The Indians were swept by Milwaukee Lutheran in three matches (11-15, 12-15, and 12-15)

Leading the way for the Indians was Beth Boedecker who had 13 digs, one ace, 11 assists, and five kills. Boedecker was followed by Jill Wittmann who had five kills, and 10 assists. Heather Meyer recorded 13 digs to go along with five kills, while Lindsay Gaffke recorded one ace.

Did You Know?

- Diabetes affects some 16 million Americans and accounts for more than $105 billion in health-care costs annually.
- The JDRF was founded in 1970 by the parents of children with juvenile diabetes; it is the world's leading non-profit, non-governmental funder of diabetes research.
- Since its inception, JDRF has provided more than $500 million to diabetes research; 85 cents of every dollar goes directly to research and education about research.
- The Ruby and Rufus bears were created by Carol Cramer. She designed the first bear with diabetes after her son, Brian, now 10, was diagnosed at age 3.

Shoo The Flu & Pneumonia Too!

Influenza is a highly-contagious disease that affects people of all ages. Every year, about 114,000 people are hospitalized because of influenza and about 20,000 die because of it in the United States. Protect yourself and your loved ones by getting your flu shot in November or December. The Visiting Nurse Association of Wisconsin is the largest provider of community-based flu shot clinics in eastern Wisconsin.

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION AND SAMPLE BALLOTS
NOVEMBER 5, 2002

OFFICE OF THE WASHINGTON COUNTY CLERK TO THE ELECTORS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given of a general election to be held in the several wards in the County of Washington on the Fifth day of November, 2002, at which the officers named below shall be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in the appropriate office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, in the sample ballots below.

INFORMATION TO ELECTORS

Upon entering the polling place, an elector shall give his or her name and address before being permitted to vote. Where ballots are distributed to electors, the initials of two inspectors must appear on the ballot. Upon being permitted to vote, the elector shall retire alone to a voting booth or machine and cast his or her ballot except that an elector who is a parent or guardian may be accompanied by the elector's minor child or minor ward. An election official may inform the elector of the proper manner for casting a vote, but the official may not in any manner advise or indicate a particular voting choice.

At the general election, if an elector wishes to cast a straight party vote for all candidates nominated by any party, the elector shall select the party of his or her choice and:

Where lever machines are used, depress the lever or button under the party designation. Where a marksense system is used, fill in the oval next to the party designation.

A straight party vote is a vote for all the party's candidates listed on the ballot, unless the elector casts a vote for a candidate of another party, writes in the name of a candidate or applies a sticker. A straight party vote cannot be cast for Independent candidates.

To vote for individual candidates where lever machines are used, depress the lever or button at the right of the candidate's name. Where a marksense system is used, fill in the oval next to the candidate's name.

Each ballot will include: Governor/Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, US Congress – District 5, Representative to the Assembly, District Attorney, County Clerk, County Treasurer, Sheriff, Clerk of Circuit Court, and Register of Deeds. Where applicable, the office of State Senator – District 33, Hartford Union High School District Referendum.

To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the elector shall write the name of the candidate of his or her choice in the space provided for a write-in vote.

An elector must vote for Governor and Lieutenant Governor jointly on one ticket. A vote for Governor is also a vote for Lieutenant Governor. To vote for persons whose names do not appear on the ballot, write the names of individuals for both offices on the lines provided. A write-in vote for only one person for Governor/Lieutenant Governor will not be counted.

If an elector spoils a ballot, he or she shall return it to an election official who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. If the ballot has not been initialed by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the elector shall return it to an election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place. Not more than five minutes' time shall be allowed inside a voting booth. Unofficial ballots or a memorandum to assist the elector in marking his or her ballot may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the voting booth, properly deposit the ballot, and promptly leave the polling place.

After an official marksense ballot is marked, it shall be inserted in the security sleeve so the marks do not show. After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the booth, insert the ballot in the voting device and discard the sleeve, or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit.

An elector may select an individual to assist in casting his or her vote if the elector declares to the presiding official that he or she is unable to read, has difficulty reading, writing, or understanding English, or that due to disability is unable to cast his or her ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the elector's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the elector.

The following are samples of the official ballots:

ADDITIONAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR VOTING ON LEVER MACHINES
 Move the RED HANDLE to the RIGHT to close the curtain. For REFERENDUM QUESTION, turn a voting lever over the YES or NO of the question. TO VOTE A SPLIT TICKET, ignore the straight party levers and begin with Column No. 1 (Governor/Lt. Governor), turn voting pointer over the name of the candidate of your choice. If you wish to VOTE A STRAIGHT TICKET, Pull the lever of your party. If after having voted a STRAIGHT TICKET, YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND, turn up the voting lever over the name of the candidate you wish to cut out, and turn a voting lever over the name of any candidate for the same office. To WRITE IN A PERSON'S NAME NOT PRINTED ON THE BALLOT, raise the slide (located at the top of the machine) having the same column number as that office and write in name on paper exposed. DO NOT raise the slide unless you intend to write in a name not appearing below. Once you raise a slide, you cannot turn down a lever below. IF YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND, turn up a voting pointer and turn down another for the same office. As no votes are registered until the Red Handle is moved to open the curtain, you can make as many changes as you desire while the Red Handle is at the right side. The machine is so arranged that you can turn down only the proper number of voting pointers for each office; you cannot spoil your ballot by voting for too many candidates. Each candidate's voting pointer is located just above the name; a voting pointer must be turned down over the name of each candidate for whom you wish to vote. LEAVE VOTED LEVERS DOWN. No one will know how you have voted because the movement of the Red Handle returns the voting pointers to the unvoted position before the curtain begins to open. Move the Red Handle to the LEFT and leave the voting booth.

A Personal Message...

The State of Wisconsin needs our help. Wisconsin is in the midst of a serious financial crisis and political corruption and scandal unseen in generations. In addition, years of fiscal mismanagement have resulted in a $2.87 billion dollar budget deficit, slow economic growth, and taxes that are choking Wisconsin's economy. We need swift and decisive action—not Madison business as usual and political gridlock. It is time for change, new leadership, new ideas and new directions. That is what my campaign is about. The problems are urgent and the time is now. Wisconsin is at the crossroads. Election 2002 may prove to be the most important election in the last century. It is you, Wisconsin's voters, that are responsible for choosing the leaders that will determine Wisconsin's future. By working together we can make a difference.

What People say about her...

"Vote for Catharine Lawton if you want a capable and honest representative in Madison." Eugene (Pat) Weeden, Former Sheboygan County Board Supervisor

"The 59th Assembly District could greatly benefit with the election of Cathy Lawton. She has worked hard to uncover many issues in Madison and I believe she will continue to work hard to represent our district. She is honest and educated on the issues." Vicki Wiesner, Campbellsport

Why Elect an Experienced Financial Analyst...

Wisconsin's most pressing problems are financial and economic. I have the skills, experience and commitment to provide leadership on these critical issues. Like Wisconsin's families, State government must live within its means—and stop mortgaging the future of our children.

First things First...

We must cut State spending—and all areas must share equitably in the spending cuts. Wisconsin's part-time Legislators—who are the 6th highest paid legislators in the nation—can lead the way by eliminating the daily $88 tax-free per diem and expensive, taxpayer-funded employment benefits including health insurance and pension.

I Care About You...

I am running because I care about you and your problems, and I care about our future. I want to help restore Wisconsin's proud tradition for our children and our children's children.

For more information about my campaign, please visit my website:
www.Lawton2002.org

Why Vote for an Independent...

Even if you usually vote Republican or Democratic, it is time for change and new ideas. Wisconsin is facing a variety of serious problems. We must take charge of Wisconsin's out of control State spending and begin to restore Wisconsin's respected reputation for clean, responsible government. State government must regain the trust of Wisconsin's citizens—trust that has been lost in the sea of scandals and corruption that now plague our State.

The Work I Have Already Done...

During the past 5 months, I have been investigating and analyzing Wisconsin's financial and economic problems. I have released a number of papers that cut through the spin and boil the issues down to a straight talk synopsis—and demonstrate my commitment to serve the people of Wisconsin by bringing in-depth analysis and straight talk solutions to the Capitol.

State pension deal could cost billions

Stock market woes bring fast-track bill to light

BY PETE MILLARD
pmillard@bizjournals.com

A multibillion-dollar, pension-sweetening bill passed by the Wisconsin Legislature during the stock-market heyday in 1999 looms as a budgeting boondoggle that could cost taxpayers dearly. Assembly Speaker Scott Jensen and former Senate Majority Leader Chuck Chvala, with the blessing of four-term Gov. Tommy Thompson, rushed a pension improvement act through the Legislature that estimates say will cost state and local governments a minimum of $5.7 billion over the next 12 years.

While arch-enemies Jensen and Chvala are currently reeling from felony charges related to political campaign contribution scandals, it was their collaborative effort that allowed the pension improvement bill to fly through the Legislature in five days.

The people benefiting from the legislation are the more than 400,000 current and retired employees of state government — including Thompson, Chvala and Jensen — and employees of more than 1,000 local units of government. They are all part of the Wisconsin retirement pension system, which is run by state government.

The complex nature of the bill called Act 11 — and the fact it was only on the floor of the Legislature for five days — didn't give opponents of the proposal enough time to fight it, said Scott Dennison, a former state actuary and research director for the Legislature's Joint Survey Committee on Retirement Systems.

Dennison authored a report in October 1999 that warned legislators they were considering pension changes that could have dire consequences in the future.

Even though the state pension improvement plan has no upfront lump-sum payments for elected officials like the much-maligned Milwaukee County Board plan, the magnitude of the enhanced pension plan's cost will dwarf the county's.

Milwaukee County Executive Scott Walker, a former GOP Assembly representative, was one of 20 representatives who voted against the pension or enhancement plan. He rode into his new office based on the taxpayer revolt against the super-sweet Milwaukee County pension plan.

"Legislators had the benefit of reading a report from the Joint Survey Committee that raised all kinds of red flags, and they still passed it overwhelmingly," Walker said.

Milwaukee County's pension board did not produce a written actuarial report for supervisors. In fact, one of the three felony charges brought against former Milwaukee County human resources director Gary Dobbert says he broke the law by failing to get an actuarial analysis of the cost impact to the county's $1.5 billion pension fund.

"Wisconsin legislators voted to approve this bill even though the warnings of the state's actuary were loud and clear," said Cathy Lawton, a West Benford resident and an independent candidate for the 59th Assembly District seat.

Lawton, a financial consultant, first learned of the pension problem when she was gathering state fiscal data that she was using in her campaign.

The only thing that may save lawmakers from being second-guessed for supporting the bill is for the stock market to rebound beyond the levels of the late 1990s, said Lawton.

According to Steve Bass, Jensen's press secretary, the pension bill was conceived by the Chvala-led Senate Democrats as a benefit improvement for the state employees who historically support Democrats.

Assembly Republicans who tried to fight the bill were quickly outnumbered, Bass said. Chvala was allied with Thompson and former Department of Administration secretary Mack Bugher.

"We couldn't hold out playing two-in-one against Chvala and Thompson," Bass said.

Chvala and Thompson were unavailable to comment on the pension improvement bill.

TROUBLE ON HORIZON

In June 2001, most Wisconsin municipalities and state budget planners may begin to understand the level of trouble they're in when they review the contribution levels they must make to the Wisconsin Retirement System pension fund in 2004.

On Dec. 31, 2000, the Wisconsin Retirement System reported a deficit of $10.9 billion.

"I'm thankful I'm not in state government," added Walker. "How they deal with future shortfalls is not going to be pretty."

When the bill was passed, advocates of the legislation promised lawmakers and officials from other governmental units in the Wisconsin Retirement System that the bill would be "revenue neutral" and not cost them a penny, said Rich Eggleston, a spokesman for the Wisconsin Alliance of Cities.

Three years later, the state and other local governments with employees in the retirement system are expecting to pay considerably more into the retirement fund. They will have to cover losses that resulted because the legislation took $4 billion from the fund to enhance pensions and because the stock market tanked.

The $4 billion was drawn from the then-$13.9 billion Department of Employee Trust Fund account called the Transaction Amortization Account. The amortization fund had been created to help the retirement system smooth out the bad times when the stock market was underperforming, but it had grown immensely during the stock market bubble of the late 1990s.

The pension bill, originally known as Assembly Bill 495 before it became Act 11, also shifted more than $200 million to help balance the 1999-2001 biennium state budget.

Thompson had no qualms about taking better care of state employees in their retirement years. The former governor, who has more than 14 years of service to the state, saw his own personal retirement account grow by 8 percent.

Democratic and Republican leaders put their differences aside on this legislation in the interest of passing the 1999-2001 budget bill.

On Oct. 6, 1999, Act 11 was passed by both the Assembly and the Senate. In the Assembly, the vote was 79-20. The Senate vote was 23-10.

More than a month after the bill passed the Legislature, the state's actuaries finally delivered to the Joint Survey Committee on Re-irement Systems a report on AB 495.

Thompson reviewed the report prior to signing Act 11 on Dec. 16, 1999.

Act 11 was challenged in a lawsuit filed Dec. 23, 1999. The Wisconsin Supreme Court rejected all the challenges to Act 11 on a 4-3 decision on June 21, 2001.

Chief Justice Shirley Abrahamson, one of the dissenting justices, wrote that the state's once-burgeoning pension funds should not have been used as a source of budget relief.

"The State was spending money that would eventually evaporate in the stock market decline," said Dennison, an actuary who now teaches mathematics at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

FUNDING FUTURE PENSION PAYMENTS

Municipalities, school districts and other government units were given about $600 million of the $4 billion lifted from the amortization account and were told they could use the pension surplus to fund future pension payments or place the money in their budgets.

For the first three years after the bill's passage, cities were not asked to contribute more to their retirement funds. Now, with the stock market in shambles, the government employees will likely pay out 50 percent to 60 percent more into the retirement fund.

"Taxpayers pay the majority of pension costs because most public employee union contracts include provisions for the employer to pay workers' share of the costs. In 2003, the pension-funding costs of most government employers in Wisconsin was 0.4 percent of their payroll. By 2005, that percentage is likely to go up to 0.62 percent," said a spokesman for the Department of Employee Trust Funds.

Employers participating in the Wisconsin Retirement System include the state, counties, cities, towns, villages, school districts, library districts and other units of government.
