Past Convictions Will Be Used in Maertz Trial

By Jessica Fladvid
 jfladvid@kewaskumstatesman.com

It was decided by Fond du Lac County Circuit Court Judge Peter Grimm that the prior criminal records of Chad A. Maertz, Kewaskum can be used as evidence against him in his trial set to begin Dec. 16 in Fond du Lac Circuit Court.

Maertz, 33, is being accused of trying to abduct a 16-year-old girl on August 12 while she was biking home from a driver's education class in Campbellsport. Fond du Lac County District Attorney Tom Storm wants to use Maertz's past record to show his intentions were far from harmless. Maertz served time for two felony charges of sexual assault and enticing a child for immoral purposes in June of 1987. Defense Attorney of Maertz, Christopher Hartley, has attempted to acquire a change of venue, as well as a bail reduction, both which were denied by Grimm earlier.

Due to the efforts of the law enforcement officials and the media, the description of the suspect, his vehicle and the alleged attempted abduction brought about the arrest of Maertz shortly after the event took place.

Senate Republicans Unanimously Elect Panzer As New Majority Leader

Mary Panzer
 By Andrew Kuehl
 akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

Republicans in Washington County rejoiced Thursday when news hit that their own Mary Panzer of West Bend was unanimously elected the first female Senate majority leader in our state's history.

Panzer, whose father, Frank, a Republican from Brownsville, served as president of the Senate from 1947 to 1967 has been a lawmaker since 1980 when she was elected to the Assembly. She served the Assembly until 1992. In 1993 she was elected to the Senate. She has served as minority leader since 1999.

Panzer represents: The 20th Senate District, which includes parts of Dodge, Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington counties

In remarks to Republican colleagues and later to reporters, Panzer stated "I will give you order, I will give you discipline, but, what I want to see for all of us is a place where we come to work and are happy with what we have accomplished at the end of the day. I am looking forward to leading this Senate in a new way, a new dynamic and I am delighted and enthused at the opportunity in front of us. At the end of the day our goal has to be, and I believe this collectively, to improve the job base in this state, to help the pocket-books of every citizen and to create a Wisconsin government we can all be proud of."

Internet Web Auction This Weekend

Anyone with a computer link to the Internet will be able to take part in the weekend's CommunityCare TV-Web Auction.

The Web Auction, a fundraising benefit for helping a Wisconsin couple with medical and therapy costs resulting from a March 2002 vehicle accident, will kick off Saturday, November 16 at 10 a.m., and conclude Sunday, November 17 at 5 p.m.

"This is a unique opportunity to shop electronically for Holiday gifts, while supporting the recovery efforts of local Wisconsin residents," commented John Miller, Public Relations Manager for Charter Communications, the organization sponsoring the event.

"We'll have some great items in the auction, such as Packer, Badger, Admirals, Bucks and Marquette tickets and merchandise, get-away weekends, dining opportunities, DVD players, household furnishings and jewelry," Miller said. "Plus some one-of-a-kind items, such as an in-home visit from Santa Claus, two tickets to the David Letterman Show and the World Wrestling Entertainment Championship belt worn and autographed by Kane and the Undertaker.

Bidders should go to www.ctvauction.com in order to register to bid, as well as preview the items up for auction.

Eastern Wisconsin civic leaders have also joined in to offer unique items for bid. Ripon Mayor John Reinsch and City Administrator Steve Barg have teamed up to offer an Italian dinner for six, cooked and served in your home. Fond du Lac City Council President Martin Ryan and Sheboygan Mayor James Schramm have also each offered up an opportunity to bid on lunch with them at an area restaurant.

The funds raised from the Community Care TV-Web Auction will go to a Fond du Lac couple, Bob and Debbie Lunda, who were involved in a March 2002 automobile accident. The accident resulted in paralysis from the shoulders down to Debbie Lunda. After an extensive stay in the hospital, she is currently undergoing rehab therapy, similar to actor Christopher Reeve. Besides providing assistance with the Lundas' therapy and medical bills, the couple will be targeting a portion of the proceeds to go to the national Christopher Reeve Paralysis Foundation. Bob Lunda is an employee of Charter Communications based in Fond du Lac, while Debbie is employed by Time-Warner Cable in the Appleton-Green Bay area.

"The men and women of Charter are committed to several principals, among them are corporate citizenship and caring about others," stated Lisa Washa, Vice President of Operations for Charter's Greater Wisconsin Group.

Charter is currently promoting all auction items and providing bidding instructions on the Community Care website at www.ctvauction.com. The website will be adding items right up to Saturday's bidding time.

FES Students and Teachers Celebrate Halloween

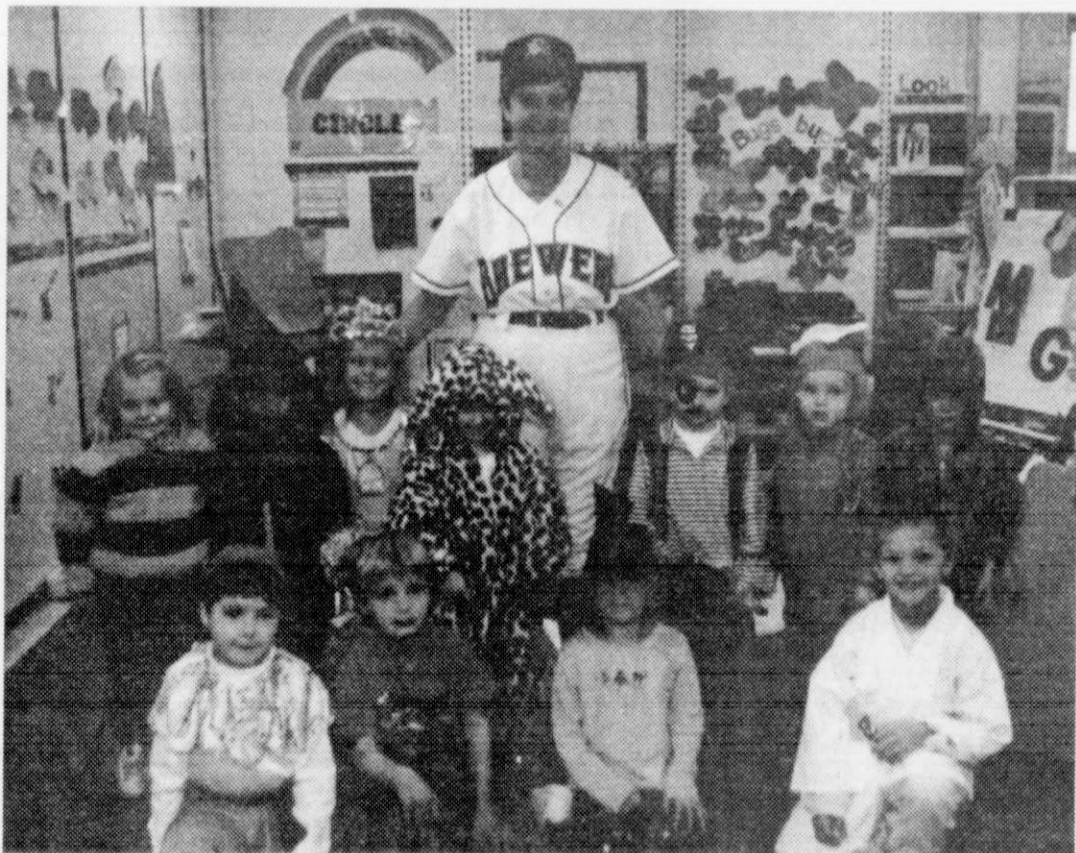

It was another fun-filled day at Farmington Elementary on Thursday, October 31. Teachers and students arrived with the usual backpacks and smiles, but were garbed in less than usual attire. The day started with an all-school assembly, shown above, where students gathered to vote on which teacher had on the best costume. Students clapped for their favorites while Superintendent Wayne Graczyk judged the volume of noise they produced. The overall winner was Nicole Amadon, a third grade teacher.

Mrs. Rohrer's 5 K class.

Shown above are the Farmington staff members that took part in the costume contest. Third grade teacher Nicole Amadon, back row, far right, won the contest.

Whitewood Family Home Church Sets Date For Services to Begin

Whitewood Family Home Church, 8406 Whitewood Dr., Kewaskum, will begin services Sunday, November 24th, at 10 a.m.

Whitewood Family Home Church is a non-denominational Biblical Christian Church. Their vision is simple, "People Helping People."

Whitewood Family Home Church is pastored by Rev. Bobbie Minor. He says "It is an honor to serve this community, to reach out to those of us whom are hurting and in grave need. You do not need to be a member of this Church to receive help. We have in place programs to help those who are dealing with life issues such as alcoholism, drug abuse and other life controlling issues, all from a Biblical perspective. We like to call it the "Jesus" factor.

They currently have on Saturday nights, a study for married couples which is open to all. With divorce at an all time high, they feel led to help marriages to be restored and strengthened, which will impact this community. They also currently have a Men's Ministry, call Man In The Mirror, "Success That Matters" in place for men which meets Thursday nights from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Both classes meet at their home as well. They also are planning a "Success That Matters" event for men in Kewaskum coming soon.

Their goal is not to take anyone away from their current place of worship, but to strengthen them and that will have an enormous impact upon their homes, jobs and the community as a whole.

Pastor Bobbie Minor is an ordained Minister and a current hospice Chaplain, along with his wife, Karen, and their daughter, Brittany, and son, Brandon. They bring with them many years of ministry in children, mens, addictions and the family. They currently have a mini-farm for special needs children and a state licensed day care run out of their home as well. They also are looking to add a food pantry, in the future.

If you would like more information or would like to get involved, need help or just want to talk, feel free to call them at (262) 692-3739.

Is Your 401(k) Plan a Failure

The decline of the stock market over the last 2 1/2 years, and the devastating bankruptcies of such companies as Enron and WorldCom, have prompted critics to call 401(k) plans a failure. Some have even called the two-decade old concept a scam and say employers need to return to the traditional pension plan to ensure that workers will have enough funds for retirement. 401(k) supporters counter that the problem is not with the plans themselves so much as the way participants use them.

Whatever the pros and cons of the debate, 401(k) plans are here to stay, and plan participants can do more to make their 401(k) an effective way to build a comfortable nest egg. The following are some of the criticisms of 401(k)s and what participants can do to minimize potential drawbacks.

Participation. Critics contend that all eligible workers benefit from a traditional pension plan, whereas 401(k) participation is voluntary. According to the Profit-Sharing/401(k) Council of America, roughly 75 to 80% of eligible workers participate in 401(k) plans, with participation rates even lower among younger workers and low-income workers.

Proponents note that more companies are providing automatic enrollments in 401(k) plans, which requires workers to opt out of participation. In these plans, participation rates are around 95%, according to the benefits consulting firm of Hewitt Associates.

Proponents also point out that if it weren't for 401(k) plans, many workers wouldn't have any type of retirement plan because 90% of 401(k) plans are offered by small companies who typically wouldn't offer a traditional defined-benefit plan.

Failure to contribute as much as possible. The average 401(k) participant contributes less than 7% of pre-tax salary, according to the Employee Benefit Research Institute. Financial advisors encourage workers to contribute at least 10% or more of pre-tax money.

Poor investment decisions. In a traditional pension plan, the company makes the investment decisions. In a 401(k) plan, all workers must be their own investment manager - a task many are not up to. Workers typically don't diversify well, either loading up on company stock or investing too much in lower-returning fixed-income options. Proponents concede that the average 401(k) plan offers too few investment options for workers, but workers compound the limited choice by choosing only two to three funds, and often similar or overlapping funds at that. Fortunately, workers can seek professional independent investment advice to help them make smart investment choices.

Vulnerability to market fluctuations. A traditional defined-benefit pension plan promises that you will receive your pension payments at retirement, typically based on your highest salary and years of service, regardless of the ups and down of the market and the economy. If the company's plan can't meet its obligations, the federal government will step in, though higher-paid workers may not receive all the benefits they are entitled to. 401(k) plans don't have guaranteed payments.

Proponents argue that workers can protect themselves better against market volatility through greater savings and long-term diversification, instead of trying to hit a home run as many workers attempted in the 1990s.

Proponents also point out that pension payouts during retirement typically are not adjusted for inflation - your pension will lose purchasing power over time. A well-invested 401(k) can keep up with inflation so you don't lose ground.

Cashing out 401(k) plans. Another criticism of 401(k) plans is that when workers change jobs - which they do every four to five years on average - many cash out what they've saved and spend it. This is particularly true among young workers. The money not only can no longer grow tax deferred, but the withdrawal faces income taxes and usually a 10% early withdrawal penalty.

Proponents agree that workers need to roll over their accounts into an individual retirement account or another employer's retirement plan. But they also point out that this portability of 401(k) plans is one of the pluses. The payout from a pension plan can be excellent if you stay at the same company for 30 years, but who does that anymore? If you change jobs every four to five years, you may not even qualify for the pension, or payments will remain small because you don't have the years of service.

Traditional pension plans and 401(k)s each will continue to have their pros and cons. The important point is that workers must better educate themselves about their plan options so they can make smart choices, whichever type of plan they use.

Massage Program To Be Offered At St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend is offering "Relaxation Through Your Fingertips" to teach the healthful benefits and techniques of massage. The program will be held Saturday, November 23 from 9 a.m. to noon in the hospital's rehabilitation services department.

The three-hour program, presented by certified massage therapist Pam Schall from St. Joseph's Community Hospital, focuses on relaxation through the techniques of massage. Participants should sign up with a partner and dress casually for comfort and movement (short sleeves and elasticized waist). Dressing gowns are provided.

The fee is $20 per person. Please register by contacting St. Joseph's Community Hospital's Class Connection Line at 262-306-7888.

Sleep Apnea Group to Meet

The sleep apnea health awareness group sponsored by St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend will meet Tuesday, November 19 at 7 p.m. in conference room A at the hospital. The group is open to anyone with sleep apnea. The free group provides education and discussion for people with this common sleep disorder, and assistance with continuous positive airway pressure (CPAP) devices.

Robert Pamerter, sleep specialist with the Sleep Disorders Center, facilitates the health awareness group. Sleep apnea is an extremely common disorder that involves the collapse of the breathing passageway during sleep. It affects more than 12 million Americans, according to the National Institutes of Health, yet often goes undiagnosed. Snoring may be a symptom of sleep apnea.

The program is free but registration is suggested by calling the hospital's Class Connection Line at 262-306-7888. Walk-ins are also welcome.

The sleep apnea group meets every third Tuesday of every other month (odd numbered months).

I would like to thank everyone for the tremendous support I received last Tuesday when you elected me to represent the 59th Assembly District in Madison. This victory comes with a very serious challenge. Next January all elected officials in Madison need to listen to the voters not only in this district but throughout the state.

We need to bring state spending in line with the ability of a working family's ability to support that spending. We need to bring back accountability and clean government to Wisconsin.

When I get an address and phone number in Madison I will make sure all the local papers get that information so you can contact me with your concerns and ideas. The best way for me to represent you is to hear your concerns firsthand. My home phone is 920-564-3392 and address is 21 S. 8th St., PO Box 700200, Oostburg, WI 53070. If you have concerns prior to January feel free to contact me at my home address or phone.

Again thank you for your vote of confidence and I look forward to serving you the next two years in Madison.

DAYS GONE BY

25 Years Ago

September 30, 1977

The downward trend in school enrollments missed the schools of the Kewaskum District this fall. Total enrollment is at 2,139 up 13 students from the fall of 1976. Because some decreases in the number of students had been anticipated the 2,139 total is 32 over projections for this fall's enrollment.

Jocelyn's Plasterama, a new business specializing in plaster crafts for home decorating and macrame, will be opening within the next few weeks in the old bank building at 120 Main Street in Kewaskum. Instructions will be given to show those interested how to paint the items for sale and a large table will be set up for people to paint at the store. The business will be operated by Mrs. Robert Bruckert of Kewaskum, the former Jocelyn Fellenz.

Kewaskum High School is being literally filled with music as the school is preparing to present this year's musical, "The Sound of Music." The show will be presented November 4 and 5. The cast includes: Maria: Anne Strancke; Captain Von Trapp: Dave Schoofs; Max: Joel Moths; Elsa: Susette Van Asche; Mother Abbess: Carol Asche; Frau Schreider: Donna Ehnert and Franz: Tom Rosenberger. Because of the large number and high quality of young children that tried out it was decided that there would be two families with a selection made at a later date as to which group would perform on Friday night and the other group performing on Saturday. These children are: Julie Dettman, Julie Lundquist, Sue Bade, Kathy Parvin, Scott Nigh, Paul Anderson, Scott Buchel, John Koerble, Shelly Fritz, Amy Kougl, Mitzy Nigh and Diane Ratzburg. Other members of the cast include: Vicky Key, Laura Asch, Liz Ogi, Renee Sleger, Jeff Kreuser, Dave Sleger, Richard Rauch, John Dettman, Carrie Swanson, Robin Gust, Terry Zoller, Kay Bauer, Kelly Coulter, Phillip DeLuisa, Carrie Dreher, Chelli Dreher, Pam Eichstedt, Jackie Herriges, Dawn Gavin, Sherry Forester, Shelly Hamernick, Renee Janz, Laurie Kougl, Mary Kougl, Tim Kougl, Lori Kutska, Margie McClain, Chris McEwen, Doug Pesch, Blake Rodenkirch, Jane Russell, Darcie Schmidt, Patti Sleger, Rich Stephanie, Nicky Stoffel, Audrey Taylor, Lisa Taylor, Cathy Waldorf, Jane Yogerst and Leslie Zwick.

Henry and Hattie Weddig, Kewaskum, were honored at a reception at the Peace United Church on Sunday, September 25. Friends, relatives and church members wished them a "happy retirement" for their 35 years of serving the church as custodians.

The Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club is again sponsoring the block parent program which is designed to give refuge in case of emergency to any person in trouble. It is designed especially for grade schoolers on their way to and from school. The program will also be in effect during the summer months.

Kristy Honeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Honeck, Kewaskum, and Doug Schacht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schacht, Kewaskum, were united in marriage on Saturday, September 17.

A daughter was born to Duane and Carol Konglien, Kewaskum, on Sunday, September 23. A son was born to Donald and Diane Theusch, Allenton, on Friday, September 23.

50 Years Ago

September 19, 1952

The Kewaskum Mutual Insurance Company, now in its 51st year of business activity, marked another milestone in the progress of the company, when it broke ground last week for a new office building on the north side of Main Street, west of the Bank of Kewaskum.

The Republican Hotel and Tavern in Kewaskum changed hands this week. It has been leased by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Liniewski of Milwaukee, who took possession of the business on Monday, September 15. The Liniewskis leased the hotel and tavern from the Mrs. Rose Bruhn estate. Mrs. Bruhn, who resided in Panama, passed away during the past year. Mr. and Mrs. Liniewski, newcomers to the tavern and hotel business, have no children. During the past two years the business was conducted by Mrs. Lorraine Guth. Mrs. Guth and son, Billy, a Kewaskum High School student, have moved back to Milwaukee, from which city they came to this village.

The Schaefer Brothers Garage in Kewaskum was burglarized late last Friday night or early Saturday morning.

The unexpected turned up for a baby shower planned by Miss Mary Gay Searles in honor of Mrs. Ollie Staehler Jr. The shower was set for Wednesday evening but was preceded by the blessed event on Monday evening. Miss Searles decided to go ahead with the shower as planned. So Wednesday evening she and the invited guests drove to St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend, to call on Mrs. Staehler and infant son and present them with many pretty gifts there.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius Staehler, Jr., Kewaskum, on September 15, at St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend. Mrs. Staehler is the former Joan Dreher.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Marquardt announce the birth of a son at St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, on September 14. Mrs. Marquardt is the former Lorraine Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art. Meyer.

Spotlight Shines on Junior Handlers Kewaskum Teen to Compete In Prestigious Dog Show

NEW YORK - Zara Gercz of Kewaskum, will participate in the 2002 AKC-Eukanuba National Invitational Championship, the largest prize money dog show in the world, which has been dubbed the "Oscars" of dog shows.

Zara, and other competitors under 18 years of age, will demonstrate their expertise December 11, 2002, at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando. Four scholarships will be awarded to junior handlers; $2,000 for first place and $1,500, $1,200, and $1,000 going to the second, third and fourth place winners, respectively. The event will air Saturday, January 25, 2003, on cable television's Animal Planet.

The AKC/Eukanuba National Invitational Championship features competition among America's top 25 dog shows from every AKC recognized breed. Zara is one of under 100 junior handlers from throughout the United States who have been invited to compete in this exclusive, invitation-only event.

The junior handler competition is judged based on the junior's ability to handle and present the dog capably and with confidence. Eligibility to enter is based on the juniors' accomplishments in both the show ring and the classroom.

Juniors are required to:

- Be between the ages of 10 and 18 at the time of the wins, age on the day of the AKC/Eukanuba National Invitational Championship has no bearing.

- Have five wins in an open class event with competition present. Wins must be earned between January 1, 2002 and October 7, 2002.

- Have a grade point average of at least a 3.0 or equivalent for the two semesters completed immediately prior to the closing time of entries. An official school transcript accompanying the entries verifies the student's GPA.

- Show dogs that conform to ownership requirements as described in AKC's "Conformation Junior Showmanship Regulations."

The Board of Directors of the American Kennel Club established a National Junior Organization in January 1971. Junior handler events are aimed at recognizing and supporting the special relationship between young people and dogs, encouraging responsible dog ownership and promoting dog show participation for future generations.

Cancer Support Group to Meet

The "Living with Cancer" support group sponsored by St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend and the American Cancer Society is meeting Wednesday, November 20 at 7 p.m. in conference room A.

The free cancer support group is an opportunity for cancer patients, friends, and family to share their feelings and concerns. For more information, call 262-334-7423.

United Way Effort Continues

The United Way of Washington County campaign has announced that as of November 8, the campaign is at the 75% mark, with more than $860,600 in gifts and pledges counted toward the county-wide goal of $1,155,000.

"We are impressed with the efforts to date, and thank our donors and volunteers for the results thus far," said Tom Yahr, Co-chair of this year's campaign.

A number of divisions are already at or above the 75% mark, and others are continuing to solicit donations.

According to Yahr, "Our campaign theme of 'Giving People Hope' is reflected in the results of donor dollars, which enables our Agencies to deliver effective and efficient programs and services. Funds raised will be used in 50 programs in 24 different agencies serving local Washington County residents," he said.

"Our campaign volunteers have taken the 'hope' message to heart. We compliment them on their efforts to help us raise funds and favorably impact thousands of lives here in Washington County," stated Lori Yahr, Campaign co-chair. "One out of three individuals in the County has used or will use a United Way funded service sometime in his or her life," she said.

More than 99% of funds stay right here in Washington County. "Many people are unaware of this statistic and are pleasantly surprised to learn that such a large part of their donation stays right here in the area," said Lori. "Our local volunteers decide funding amounts for our member agencies, including Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, Senior Citizens Activities, Full Shelf Food Pantry, Citizen Advocacy, the Threshold and other agencies. A total of 24 agencies will be funded in 2003 from this Campaign effort," she said.

Volunteers are continuing their efforts with individuals, businesses and employee group Campaigns. Those interested in contributing to the fund drive, they are encouraged to send contributions to United Way, PO Box 304, West Bend, WI 53095, or call the United Way office at 262-338-3821.

QUESTION: How can I reduce back strain while performing yard work in the fall.

ANSWER: Yard work can irritate the low back in several ways including joint irritation, disc irritation and muscle strain. Since raking is an activity that we do infrequently, these structures can be injured more easily. Our clinic suggests the following helpful hints with your yard work this fall:

- 1) Alternate raking hands
- 2) Do not attempt to do all the work in the yard at one time and take breaks.

Stand up and arch your back to relieve muscle tension.

3) If you are raking leaves or other yard debris into bags or containers, go onto one knee and then gather them into the container vs. bending at the waist.

4) If you need to carry yard litter for any distance, utilize a wheel barrel or a trash can carrier.

5) When raking, avoid twisting of your back by moving your feet and always face your shoulders and hips in the direction that you are raking.

6) Move your feet forward rather than reaching or bending forward.

7) Tighten your stomach muscles when lifting bagged leaves or other debris. This helps activate the muscles in your back.

8) If available, use mechanical devices such as a leaf blower, mulching mower, etc., which offers you an improved ergonomic position.

9) After you are done performing yard work, avoid sitting for prolonged periods of time. This can frequently aggravate several structures in your back.

If you have any further questions regarding back pain, please call our clinic at 262-626-6700.

Perseverance is not a long race; it is many short races one after another.

Humane Society Temporarily Halting Kitten

The Washington County Humane Society is temporarily suspending adoption of kittens six months and under due to a panleukopenia outbreak.

Panleukopenia is a virus that attacks kittens primarily two to five months of age, and is not uncommon in shelters due to the high number of unvaccinated stray cats coming in daily. Unvaccinated kittens contract the virus and have not yet developed antibodies to fight it off.

Incoming cats to the shelter receive inoculations that include panleukopenia but the vaccinations take a few days to be effective. It is estimated that only 50% of infected kittens survive the virus. By the age of one-year-old, even unvaccinated cats have developed antibodies for the virus.

The shelter is taking every precaution. A more costly but quicker acting nasal inoculation will be given to kittens, and separate holding rooms will be set up until the virus is eliminated. Vaccinated surrendered cats will continue to be admitted as well as stray cats with separate holding areas for each.

Because their existing foster families already have kittens, shelter officials are asking for additional foster homes for young cats for an approximate two to four week period of time. Potential foster families should have no other cats in the household.

Don't Let Bacteria Set Up Housekeeping in your Kitchen

By Jane Losee,
Regional Program Manager,
Dairy Council of Wisconsin

What are you serving this Thanksgiving? Will it be the traditional oven-roasted turkey with dressing, candied sweet potatoes and pumpkin pie? Or will you serve nontraditional fare, like deep-fried turkey and pumpkin mousse?

Whatever is on your Thanksgiving menu, don't turn the day into a turkey by inviting unwanted guests into your home - and I don't mean the in-laws. When you are preparing a special feast for family and friends, the last thing you want lurking in your kitchen is virulent microorganism that can make everyone sick.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) estimates that food-borne diseases cause approximately 76 million illnesses, 325,000 hospitalizations and 5,000 deaths in the U.S. each year. The Centers for Disease Control say that 97% of those food-borne illnesses can be avoided by following a few simple food safety rules at home.

Follow these food safety precautions all year long, but be especially vigilant during the holidays. It's easy to let common sense lapse when you are rushed and cooking for a crowd.

•Wash your hands. This all-important step is also the easiest. Wash your hands with hot, soapy water before and after handling food and especially after handling raw meat, poultry, eggs or fish.

•Spray counters and table tops with a weak bleach solution (two teaspoons of bleach per quart of water) to kill germs.

•Use a fresh dishcloth and towel everyday. Damp sponges and dishcloths can harbor germs.

•Don't cross-contaminate. Keep raw meat, poultry and seafood away from ready-to-eat foods.

•Cook foods to the proper temperatures. Thorough cooking is the most important step in preventing food-borne illness.

•Never leave food at room temperature for more than two hours. Defrost frozen food in the refrigerator overnight, in cold, running water, or in the microwave oven using the defrost cycle.

•Store leftovers promptly. Use leftovers within two to three days or freeze and use within one to two months.

Keep these food safety tips in mind when preparing Butter Basted Turkey and Cornbread Dressing. This traditional recipe uses real butter for a picture-perfect turkey that's melt-in-your-mouth delicious.

Butter Basted Turkey and Dressing

- 1 1/2 c. chopped celery
- 1 c. chopped onion
- 3/4 c. chopped nuts (optional)
- 1/2 c. butter, melted
- 7 c. coarsely crumbled corn bread (one 8-in. square pan)
- 5 c. dry bread cubes or croutons
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. poultry seasoning
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. sage
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 3/4 c. water
- 1 frozen turkey (10-12 lbs), thawed
- butter, melted

Saute celery, onion and nuts in butter until vegetables are tender.

Combine corn bread, dry bread cubes and seasonings. Stir in sauteed celery, onions and nuts with butter, eggs and water.

Spoon 2/3 of dressing into neck and body cavity of turkey. Do not pack. Close cavities by holding skin together with metal skewers. Tie drumsticks together.

Place turkey on rack in shallow roasting pan, brush with melted butter. Roast turkey according to directions of the processor.

Refrigerate remaining 1/3 of dressing. Bake in covered 1 1/2 quart casserole during last 30 to 45 minutes of roasting time.

International Cooking

Foreign Cuisine With A Touch Of Americana

(NAPS)—A soft drink whose name and logo are known around the world is increasingly being incorporated into many other countries' cuisines.

Amusingly, when Coca-Cola first became available in China, there was a bit of apprehension; the name roughly translated to "bite the wax tadpole." Linguistics experts got right on the problem and came up with a sound-alike phrase which means, more appropriately, "may the mouth rejoice."

Here at home, family and friends may rejoice at the succulent flavor of this delicious dish—flavored with Coca-Cola—that brings a touch of the Orient to the dinner table:

In sauerbraten, Chinese pepper steak and more, Coca-Cola serves as a versatile ingredient.

Trim all fat from meat and cut into pencil-thin strips. In deep skillet or Dutch oven, heat oil, garlic and salt. Add meat and brown over high heat about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally with a fork. Add beef broth, cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes, or until meat is fork-tender. Stir in green pepper, celery, onions and 1/2 cup Coca-Cola. Cover; simmer 5 minutes. Do not overcook; vegetables should be tender-crisp. Peel tomatoes, cut into wedges and gently stir into meat. Blend corn starch with the remaining Coca-Cola and soy sauce. Stir into meat and cook until thickened, about 1 minute, stirring lightly with fork. Serve over hot rice.

Chinese Pepper Steak

Makes 6 servings

- 1 to 1 1/2 lbs. boneless top round or sirloin steak
- 2 Tbsp. oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 cup canned, undiluted beef broth (bouillon)
- 1 cup thinly sliced green pepper strips
- 1 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced onions
- 3/4 cup Coca-Cola, divided
- 2 medium, ripe tomatoes
- 2 1/2 Tbsp. corn starch
- 1 Tbsp. soy sauce
- Hot cooked rice

As I See It

By Rochelle Pennington

The Weinsberg Castle of Germany

The wives who lived within the walls of the Weinsberg Castle in Germany were well aware of the riches the castle held: gold, silver, jewels, and wealth beyond belief.

Then the day came in 1141 A.D. when all their treasure was threatened. An enemy army had surrounded the castle and demanded the fortress, the fortune, and the lives of the men within. There was nothing to do but surrender.

A woman unsatisfied must have luxuries. But a woman who truly loves a man would sleep on a board.

-D. H. Lawrence

Although the conquering commander had set a condition for the safe release of all women and children, the wives of Weinsberg refused to leave without having one of their own conditions met as well: they demanded that they be allowed to fill their arms with as many possessions as they could carry out with them. Knowing that the women couldn't possibly make a dent in the massive fortune, they were told their request would be honored.

When the castle gates opened, the army outside was brought to tears. Each woman had carried out her husband.

The wives of Weinsberg, indeed, were well aware of the riches the castle held.

Car-Killed Deer Numbers Remain High

MADISON - A deer herd numbering more than 1.6 million and a growing number of rural miles driven in the state combine to keep the number of whitetail deer killed by motorists at a dangerously high level.

From July 1, 2001, through June 30, 2002, motorists struck and killed 45,278 deer in Wisconsin, according to figures from the Department of Natural Resources.

The report has conservation wardens warning motorists to be on the lookout for deer, especially during the upcoming mating season which occurs in the fall of the year, typically late October and November.

"The same conditions that contributed to high vehicle-killed deer numbers during the past year will be present again this fall," said Tom Van Haren, law enforcement policy officer with the DNR. "Lots of deer and more people driving on our rural roads and highways. It's a bad combination for motorists and for deer."

Wisconsin's deer population is estimated at 1.6 million this fall. Figures from the Wisconsin Department of Transportation indicate that motorists drove over 30 billion miles on rural roads and highways in the state during the last year.

The five counties with the most reported vehicle-killed deer for 2001-2002 are Waupaca (2,169), Shawano (2,042), Dane (1,615), Marinette (1,460), and Waukesha (1,337).

The DNR pays private contractors to pick up and properly dispose of the deer carcasses. In the last fiscal year, contractors picked up 34,858 deer for a total cost of $597,212, or about $17.13 per deer. Law enforcement officers issued free permits to motorists who claimed an additional 10,420 deer.

"Deer activity will increase in several weeks and peak as deer enter the mating season, or rut, and they'll be moving around much more than they have been in recent months," Van Haren said. "Deer will also become a more common sight next to roads in the fall when much of the vegetation in the woods begins to die and the deer turn to the green vegetation that is often abundant along the mowed roadsides."

Van Haren advises motorists to take the following steps to help prevent car-deer collisions:

- Watch the roadsides carefully for movement and be particularly alert in the early morning and evening when deer are moving around to feeding spots.

- Look for more deer to follow when one appears on a roadside.

- Be especially cautious when road signs indicate a deer crossing area.

- Reduce speed, tap the brakes to warn other drivers or sound the vehicle horn when a deer is visible on the roadside.

"By slowing down and keeping a sharp eye on the roadside, most drivers should be able to avoid hitting a deer this fall," Van Haren said.

Reducing herd size helps reduce CKD; Provides samples for CWD testing

DNR wildlife managers consider collisions between motor vehicles and deer when establishing population management goals and hunting seasons. Currently, deer numbers are above established population goals in much of the state. In order to help reduce the deer population, special Zone-T hunts will take place in late October and in December in some deer management units. Hunters can also take part in an "earn-a-buck" permit program within the CWD management zone.

The Zone-T hunts are for antlerless deer only while "earn-a-buck" rules are in effect in the CWD intensive harvest and CWD management zones. The CWD zones are defined in the new Wisconsin Regulations Related to Chronic Wasting Disease pamphlet, which is available at DNR service centers and ALIS vendors. The free "earn-a-buck" tags are only valid in the CWD zones and can be obtained at DNR service centers statewide or at some license vendors in the CWD zones. The "earn-a-buck" hunt allows a hunter to harvest a buck within the CWD management zone only after an antlerless deer has been taken. Hunters may receive up to four "earn-a-buck" tags each day of the hunting season.

"Clearly, the more deer we have the greater the possibility that a motorist could hit one," Van Haren said. "The state DOT reports that a total of 801 people were injured in motor vehicle collisions with deer in 2001 and that nine people died as a result of those injuries."

In the last 23 years, there has been a general increase in the number of people injured in vehicle-deer collisions. 1999 was the worst year since records have been kept with 847 injuries. The injuries sustained in 2001 made for the fourth worst year on record. Historically, the months of October and November count for a majority of the year's car-deer collisions.

"The Zone T and other deer hunting seasons are important tools that help keep the state's deer herd under control," Van Haren said. "With fewer deer, we can expect fewer collisions between motor vehicles and deer. It's important that hunters understand that they are an important part of the state's wildlife management team. And this fall, some hunters will also be asked to donate the head from their animal for CWD testing as the state attempts to collect statistically reliable information on where CWD exists in Wisconsin."

The DNR plans to test approximately 50,000 deer from this fall's harvest for the abnormal protein that causes chronic wasting disease, a neurological disorder that is fatal to deer.

Car-killed deer not suitable for CWD testing

While testing a large number of whitetail deer is critical to the overall success of determining the extent of CWD in Wisconsin, DNR biologists cannot rely on samples gathered from deer killed in collisions with motor vehicles.

"Road kill deer do not provide good tissue samples for CWD testing," Van Haren said. "In most cases the tissue to be sampled either decomposes because it can't be collected soon enough or the tissue is damaged as a result of the collision."

What You Should Do if

You Hit a Deer

Drivers who hit a deer should notify a law enforcement agency if they sustain reportable vehicle damages or wish to obtain a tag for a deer killed in a collision with a vehicle. Drivers who want to keep the deer need to get it tagged by the law enforcement officer responding to the accident, or by following the officer's instructions on where to take the deer to obtain the required tag. A deer may not be moved until it has been tagged or until the person seeking the tag has been given verbal authorization from a law enforcement agency to bring the deer to specific location to be tagged.

If the driver doesn't want to keep the deer it can be donated to another person or a charitable organization after it is tagged. Another person at the accident scene may claim the deer if the driver who killed the deer does not want it. The tagging procedures are the same.

People who see dead deer along roadsides that need to be picked up should call their county sheriff's office non-emergency number to report the location. In a few counties, highway department road crews mark deer carcasses that have already been reported with blaze orange paint.
