B&G Committee Hears Yet Another Option for KHS

By Nicole Rawley
nkuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

Ray Haen of Bray and Associates, the architects hired to explore remodeling and renovations to the middle and high schools, presented yet another plan to the Building and Grounds committee at the meeting held Monday night.

The latest proposal deals just with the issues at the high school. The middle school was not addressed.

This proposal calls for an 8,850 square foot gymnasium/multipurpose addition. This area would have a removable platform/stage at one end for performances and portable bleacher seating for up to 250. It would be large enough for a basketball court and would also consist of a room for storage of tables, chairs and the platform and also a PE storage area.

This gymnasium would be built on the southwest corner of the building, attached to the existing fieldhouse. This however would cut 25 to 26 parking spaces in front of the high school.

The other components of this plan consist of remodeling the existing tech ed area, the 700 wing into Agriculture, Graphic Arts and the Hope School, and Rose Hall into an IMC, two computer labs, a workroom and an office and also redecoration to the existing graphic arts to a drafting room.

The total cost of the project would be approximately $3 million. With optional upgrades including existing corridor redecoration, exterior building maintenance and restoration, replacing the existing boiler with a hot water boiler and replacing fire alarms, the project would be just over $4 million.

Town of Kewaskum Holds Meetings

By Jessica Fladvid
jfladvid@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum Town Board held a meeting on November 18, 2002 at the Kewaskum Town Hall at 7:30 p.m. The meeting consisted of Public Hearings, Plan Commission and also touched on the 2003 budget.

Chairperson Michael Lettow began the meeting and the first issue discussed was the Town Zoning Ordinance that is to be amended due to the number of issues that have been presented as it is now. Section 6.03(A)(1) should allow for variation in the size and location of an accessory building that would deviate from the current requirements. Structures such as sheds and gazebos are allowed on property as long as they are on the side or rear of the principle structure, and are 10 feet or more from any lot lines and the principle structure. Anyone with discrepancies with the Ordinance has the opportunity to appeal it and get a conditional use permit.

While clean-up efforts were still in process at a two vehicle accident at the intersection of Highways B and D in the Town of Barton, Thursday evening, the driver of another vehicle passing through the scene drove into the rear end of a West Bend fire truck that was legally parked at the accident scene with its emergency lights flashing.

The first accident occurred on Highway D at 5:39 p.m. when the westbound Patrick J. Krance of West Bend failed to yield to a eastbound full size pick up truck driven by Thomas J. Lexa also of West Bend. Krance attempted to make a southbound turn onto Highway B but struck Lexa instead.

Lexa's truck rolled and landed on its roof.

Both driver's were taken to St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend via ambulance. It is unknown if Lexa's passenger was also transported.

In the second crash, Julio Munoz-Flores of West Bend was heading northbound on Highway B at approximately

Beaver Dam Man Killed in Allenton

By Jessica Fladvid

jfladvid@kewaskumstatesman.com

Washington County Deputies responded to a early morning call to Allenton on Saturday, Nov. 16, where a man was apparently beaten to death across from the former Carmel Lanes on Main Street in the small town of Addison.

When the officers arrived at the scene, less than a minute after receiving the call, they saw several people running away from the 25 year-old victim, Jose A. Guerrero of Beaver Dam who was lying unresponsive on the ground. Lifesaving efforts were started on the victim with the help of Allenton Rescue and West Bend Intercept.

Despite the effort made,

Guerrero died at St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend. It is believed that the injuries inflicted on Guerrero lead to his death. "The investigation is continuing and an autopsy is being performed to determine the exact cause of death," said Washington County Sheriff Jack Theusch.

Suspects from the incident consist of four men and a woman. Two subjects face charges of first-degree reckless homicide. Two other suspects face battery and disorderly conduct charges, while one more faces a disorderly conduct charge. Other details of the suspects have not yet been released.

Option for KHS

Haen also presented a plan that he said he created one morning out of frustration. This plan he stated would cost quite a bit more, but then the site could stay a high school longer.

This approximately $6 million plan, Haen had no exact figures, would meet the needs of classes and teachers much better.

This plan called for first the library to be knocked down, and Rose Hall would still be turned into an IMC. The differences would be that a gym with a permanent stage would be built onto the northwest side of the building where the tech ed areas are now.

The auto, metals, woods, ag, and art areas and a greenhouse would be put into an addition that would be built on the north side of the building where the library is now. This would give the theater a permanent home, and help give all of the tech ed areas the room that they need.

The group in attendance agreed that if the district would decide to go with this or a similar plan the high school would remain the high school for many years to come.

The committee also addressed the auditorium option but decided it just isn't feasible right now. To add the auditorium it would be another $4.8 million dol-

The Plan Commission began with a public presentation from Debra Sielski, the Assistant Administrator of Washington County who discussed the benefits of partnering with other communities, villages and townships from the county for a comprehensive plan. This plan would include sharing costs and planning over the course of many years. The idea is simply being discussed now to see where interest levels are at, while the actual process of combining efforts would not begin until 2004. The Plan Commission has decided to see what the plans will entail before deciding if they want to take part.

Standards were set for Michels Materials' Conditional Use Permit for non-metallic extraction and processing of sand and gravel from the property of Charles and Beverly Schultz. The hours set forth for Michels Materials were 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays. Other restrictions placed on them were that no water wells in the area are to be disturbed by their work, no asphalt or concrete manufacturing should take place, and the highway must be kept free of debris and dust as much as possible. The town also stated that if noise became an issue, the job could be terminated.

The town budget of approximately $450,000 was approved by the public at the Plan Commission meeting, as well as a highway budget of $350,000.

Damage to both his vehicle and the fire truck were minimal. No medical transport was made.

Pennington at Fireside Books

Rochelle Pennington

according to Pennington, an incredible bit of luck.

Adults and children alike are in for a wonderful holiday treat at Fireside Books in West Bend on Saturday, November 23.

That's when Campbellsport author, Rochelle M. Pennington, will read and discuss her brand new book, The Christmas Tree Ship; The Story of Captain Santa.

It's the exact 90th anniversary, in fact, of the tragedy at the center of the story - the sinking of the Rouse Simmons, a three-masted schooner carrying thousands of evergreen trees from Upper Michigan to Chicago, in a blizzard off of Two Rivers on November 23, 1912.

Pennington's inspirational account of the last voyage of Herman Schuenemann - whose annual Christmas tree delivers to Chicago's lake-front earned him the nickname Captain Santa - and the continuation of the tradition by his wife Barbara the following year is filled with warmth and sensitivity.

When Pennington first heard the story last summer, she "knew immediately why it had endeared itself to so many people over the years and was still being shared nearly a century later. It exemplifies the best in humanity," she said. "It has heroism, generosity, devotion."

The book is the product of a great deal of research and, according to Pennington, an incredible bit of luck.

FFA Sends Four Delegates to Kentucky

On October 29th through November 1st, the Kewaskum FFA sent four delegates to the 75th annual National FFA Convention, held at Freedom Hall, in Louisville, Kentucky. The delegates from Kewaskum were Lee Schacht, Shannon Dwyer, Michelle Weber and Lee Schmidt. These four delegates were among 51,000 delegates from other chapters around the nation to attend the convention.

On Tuesday, October 29, the delegates visited the AgCo Plant in Dekalb, Ill. They observed the assembly of CAT tractors, and got a tour of the plant. Wednesday, the delegates visited The Kentucky Horse Park and Churchill Downs, where they had the opportunity to watch a few horse races. Also, that afternoon the delegates got a tour of the Louisville Slugger Museum and bat factory. That night, the delegates headed off to the Freedom Hall, for the kickoff of the convention. That night they had the opportunity to see Mohammed Ali receive a special award.

On Thursday, the delegates spent the entire day at the convention center. Delegates from around the nation had the opportunity to attend workshops, attend the career show, and listen to influential speakers such as Rick Pitino, Rick Rigsby, and many more.

During the last day of their trip, delegates attended the convention for a short while, and then packed their bags to go home. All the delegates had an excellent time, met many friends from other states and chapters, and brought back new ideas for their chapter.

KHS Junior Competes for the Miss Teen Milwaukee Title

Christine Emma Behn

Christine Emma Behn of West Bend was recently selected to participate in Nationals' 2002 Miss Teen Milwaukee pageant competition that will take place on November 24, 2002. Christine learned of her acceptance into this year's competition as Nationals, Inc. announced their selection on Monday afternoon. Christine submitted an application and took part in an interview session that was conducted by Patty Neidert, this year's Milwaukee Pageant Coordinator.

Christine will be competing, for her share of over $20,000 in scholarships, prizes and specialty gifts that will be distributed to contestants. Christine will be competing in the Miss Teen division, one of three divisions that will have young ladies between the ages of 10 and 19 competing in modeling routines which include casual wear and formal wear. Most important, Christine will display her personality and interviewing skills while interviewing with this year's Milwaukee judging panel. Personality is the number one aspect that each contestant is judged on during all phases of competition.

If Christine were to win the title of Miss Teen Milwaukee, she would represent Milwaukee and the surrounding communities at the Cities of America National Competition that will take place in Orlando, Florida. Over $60,000.00 in prizes and awards will be presented at the National Competition while each winner enjoys this expense paid trip of five nights and six days in Orlando, Florida.

There is no cost to Christine for participating in the pageant competition. Community businesses, organizations, and private individuals will assist Christine in participating in this year's competition by becoming an official sponsor to her. Through sponsorship, each contestant receives all the necessary training, rehearsals, and financial support which will allow Christine to become a very confident and well-prepared contestant in this year's Milwaukee Pageant.

VILLAGE OF KEWASKUM NEWS NOTES

"Snow and Ice Removal

The snow and ice season has arrived bringing along some problems. To alleviate these problems or to clarify a few items, let us refer to the Municipal Code, Chapter 82.6, which covers "Snow and Ice Removal."

(a) SIDEWALKS TO BE KEPT CLEAR. The owner or occupant of any lot or lands within the village abutting upon a public street along the line of which a sidewalk shall have been constructed shall, whenever such sidewalk shall be encumbered with snow or ice, clear the same therefrom within 24 hours after cessation of each storm. If it is impossible or impractical to remove the ice therefrom, he shall treat the same with sand, cinders, ashes, salt or some other substance continuously until removed so that such sidewalk will not be slippery or dangerous to pedestrians. If any such owner or occupant fails to remove such snow or ice from such sidewalk or to treat such ice, the director of public works may do so; and the expense of such removal or treatment shall become a special tax or charge against the property to be collected in the manner specified in subsection (c). If the director of public works orders such removal of snow and ice, a minimum charge of $25.00 per occurrence shall be affixed as the expense of the removal or treatment. If the cost of removal or treatment exceeds the $25.00 minimum, the actual cost for such work shall be charged plus a ten percent handling charge.

(b) SNOW NOT TO BE DEPOSITED IN STREETS. No person shall cause to be deposited snow from his premises on the sidewalk abutting thereon onto any street in the village without a permit from the director of public works, who may require to be paid a fee sufficient to reimburse the village for the cost of removal of the snow. The expense of such removal or treatment shall become a special tax or charge against the property to be collected in the manner specified in subsection (c).

(c) Assessment of cost. After clearing or treating any such sidewalk as provided in this section, the director of public works shall file with the village clerk/treasurer a written report containing a description of such lot or tract charged and the amount of the expense chargeable to the same. The clerk/treasurer shall thereupon make out and mail to the owner of such lot or tract at his last known address an itemized statement of the cost; and, when paid, the amount so paid shall be credited to the village general fund. If the same is not paid within 30 days, it shall bear interest at the rate of six percent per annum from the date on which the work was completed. If any such bill shall remain unpaid on October 1 next following the clearing or treating of the sidewalk, the village clerk/treasurer shall insert such charge in the general tax roll of the village and the same proceedings shall be had thereafter for the collection of such taxes as in cases of other taxes extended upon such roll.

DAYS GONE BY

50 Years Ago

September 26, 1952

Cpl. Raymond Rosbeck, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rosbeck of near St. Kilian, in the Town of Wayne, died suddenly on Monday afternoon, September 22, at Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek, Michigan, where he had been a patient since April 4, 1951. Death was caused from injuries suffered in action near Chipjong, Korea, on February 5, 1951, while serving with the Eighth Cavalry Regiment.

In Resolution No. 3 of the Kewaskum Village Board meeting held the Village finds it necessary to construct a new sewage disposal plant and has been directed by the State Board of Health to complete such a plant according to approved specifications not later than December 31, 1954.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cudnohoske, Kewaskum, was baptized Sunday in St. Lucas Ev. Lutheran Church by the baby's grandfather, Rev. Gerhard Kaniess. He was given the name Richard Lee.

Pfc. Roger Hawig, who spent the past two years and three months serving with the army in the United States and Korea, returned on September 11, to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hawig in the Town of Wayne.

Sgt. Merlin Dreher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dreher, Sr. of Kewaskum returned from Korea where he had served since last Christmas with the 179th Infantry Regiment, 45th Division. Prior to that he was stationed in Japan since June, a period of six months. He has been in the service since January 8, 1951, for two years. Sgt. Dreher was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds suffered in action in Korea.

2002 Gun Deer Season Opens Nov. 23

MADISON - With the opening day of the traditional nine-day gun deer hunting season in Wisconsin rapidly approaching, the state's top wildlife official says preparations for the most intensive wildlife health testing effort in history are "moving at the speed of a high-velocity rifle round."

Tom Hauge, director of wildlife management for Department of Natural Resources, says the state will be ready when the regular deer season opens half an hour before sunrise on Saturday, November 23 to undertake the task of sampling up to 50,000 deer as part of an effort to determine where chronic wasting disease is present in the state.

"But the real success of this effort," he adds, "will depend on hunters bringing in their deer."

Wildlife staff and hundreds of other DNR volunteers have signed up to work at registration and sample collection stations and processing centers until the state has collected enough samples, he says.

"I've voiced the number '50,000' over and over the past three months," Hauge says. "It's easy to say but when I sit down and think about what it's going to take to collect and test that many CWD samples, my blood runs a little cold."

"While we'll use the results of the surveillance to map out our future CWD strategy, the real payoff is for Wisconsin citizens because when it's over we'll know exactly where CWD is and where it isn't in the state."

After discovery of CWD west of Madison, the state CWD response team formulated a bold plan to test more Wisconsin deer in one year than have been tested in all of North America in any single year. The testing will take place in the Wisconsin Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory in Madison, one of a small number of newly certified CWD testing laboratories in the county.

"If we are successful in our plan to sample 500 deer from every county, and that sample is relatively evenly spread over the county, we'll be able to tell with a very high level of accuracy, whether or not CWD exists in a county," Hauge said. "The payoff for all hunters is that they will know if the deer they've brought home had any chance of being exposed to the disease."

"Wisconsin hunters can participate in this effort at no cost beyond transporting their deer to one of hundreds of CWD sample collection stations across the state on opening weekend," says Hauge. "The 50,000 tests are on us, there's no charge to the hunter. That's the best price on a 'gold standard' test I've heard of anywhere."

It's easy for a hunter to help out.

•After registering a deer, bring it to a collection station. Roughly one-half of the state's registration stations will also be collection stations. For the other half, the drive to a collection station shouldn't be too long.

•After the deer is registered, the hunter will be asked for some additional information on the kill, the animals head will be removed and bagged for testing, and the hunter will be given a slip with a bar code number identifying their deer.

•Beginning November 15, the DNR website will post weekly updates (on Friday) with available test results.

Hunters supplying deer to the testing effort will be able to look up the results of their deer's test using the bar code number they were given at the collection station. Hunters without home Internet access might be able to use the computer at a local library or they could contact a DNR service center for help.

Ultimately, all hunters will receive a postcard with results. If a hunter's deer tests positive for CWD, they will get a phone call.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor,

Nov. 12, 2002

I just returned home today from chaperoning the Kewaskum High School band trip to New York City, where our band marched in the Veterans Day Parade on Nov. 11, 2002.

I was very impressed with our students behavior during the entire trip. They were polite, responsible young adults having a good time.

I wanted to let our community know that they can be very proud of these high school students. I know I was, watching them march up 5th Avenue representing our high school and community

Sincerely,
Rose Gaskell

YOUR FAITH

As I See It

By Rochelle Pennington

Life's Most Embarrassing Moment

Honor student, Spanish Club President, Sunday school teacher assistant, swing choir piano accompanist. Although these publicly recognized accomplishments of my teenage years went on to influence my life in many ways, there was one particular group activity I participated in which had an even greater impact on me. Let me explain...

1977 found me enrolled as a freshman in the school system I had attended since kindergarten. Basically, I was a model student. No suspensions. No detentions. However, within a total time period of approximately one hour, this trademark predictable behavior was about to fly right out the window (at the speed of sound). It was a really bad day.

Three of my lifelong girlfriends - who would fall under a fairly close ditto description of that above-caught up to me after school on a Friday afternoon. One of them had just received her drivers license and was going cruising in a nearby town to celebrate. She asked if I would like to come along.

My response? "Yes! Yes! YES!"

The final bell was sounding as we piled into an older model Dodge Charger on its last leg of life. Regardless of its condition, it had a full tank of gas and the ability to get us from Point A to Point B which was enough criteria to justify our awe of The Car.

Within minutes of leaving the school parking lot, we were on the open highway. As I look back now, that highway was pretty significant. It not only separated two towns, it separated those of us in the car from the people who knew us and the people who didn't. We became daring.

When the novelty of just driving around wore off, someone suggested it might be fun to squirt mustard on parked cars as we drove past them. (Author's sensible reaction twenty-some years later: WHAT?!?!?!?!?) A unanimous agreement must have followed, because all four of us stood beside each other in the checkout line where the bottle of mustard was ultimately purchased.

Loading back into the car, each of our faces looked as though we couldn't believe what we were doing. We couldn't. Four kids, four clean records. (Lost time was about to be made up for.)

be the designated squirter, while the others in the car would be responsible for choosing the target ahead. Since I was cowardly trying to hide in a corner of the back seat, I thought this sounded swell. Really swell. Compromising my guilt to be somewhat lessened if I didn't actually touch the mustard bottle, I felt I was off the hook. A nervous sigh of relief was escaping me until the words "and we'll pull over every other block and switch seats so it will be fair" were added. Hook reinserted. (How ironic that an issue of "fair" should apply to the situation at hand which was nothing more than a deliberate act of unfairness to others.)

The "talk" in the car proved to be more productive than the "action" as the first and second girls took their turn in the passenger seat, both chickening out at the last second squealing, "I can't!" No one had done a thing, and before I knew it, the car had stalled and it was me who was climbing in beside the driver. Sliding my sweaty palms up and down the bottle's sides, the target was being pointed out to me, loudly and with demanding encouragement. The attack was to be launched on a little red Volkswagen up ahead, fast approaching.

"Do it! Do it! Do it!" my friends yelled...and I almost did. But, as was the case with the girls before, feathers grew from within me, and we soon sped past the car leaving it as solid red as it had been when first spotted.

Since the driver couldn't take a respective turn as the shooter, we headed for home, the mischief supposedly ended. However, just when we were nearing the highway, we passed two girls jogging. As is the case with joggers, their hands moved up and down in front of them. Still looking for trouble, we interpreted their innocent actions: "Hey! They just gave us the finger!" And, of course, if we had been needlessly insulted, they certainly would have to pay. Simple as that.

In case you're wondering if any of us had ever been in a fight before, the answer is no. Never. Although we had no experience in confrontations, we did have something that could punish them adequately enough: MUSTARD. Yes, the mustard that I was holding.

Within seconds, the innocent joggers were heading into a K-Mart parking lot, and we were right behind them. Jumping out of the car, we ran towards our unsuspecting prey yelling, "Get 'em!" And then we did. (Well, I did.) After all, there was only one bottle, and it was my turn. Silently they just stood there. My feathers were gone.

We ran back to the car as quickly as we had run out of it. I was the last person back in and started to feel the shame of what we had just done. It felt like everything inside me was shutting down and falling into the pit of my stomach. My legs began to shake. What had I just done?

Well, my hearing must have been the last of my senses to fail for I did not slam the car door shut behind me without hearing the words from one of these mustard covered strangers ringing in my ears: "That wasn't very funny, Rochelle." Clear words. Echoing words. "Rochelle, Rochelle, Rochelle, Rochelle."

Terror struck. Not only had I just left two people covered with mustard back in a parking lot, at least one of them wasn't a stranger. (Please pass the Excedrin.)

Although no one in the car physically recognized either of our victims, there was no doubt amongst any of us that the voice which just spoke was a familiar one. But who's? The longest minute of my life followed until we figured it out: Miss Greatens, MY TYPING TEACHER! (Can you just believe this? I can't either...and I was there!!)

Miss Greatens, fresh out of college, was committed to making a strong professional impression on the business class students she taught. Her hair was always gathered on top of her head, large glasses covered her eyes and crisp business suits were her chosen attire.

And yet outside of her work environment, she suddenly changed. Drastically. Her hair was now down and looked as though it grew a foot or so (since just this afternoon), she shrunk a solid two inches (heels removed), contact lens replaced glasses, and her business suit was traded in for a sweat suit. She no longer looked like Miss Greatens; she looked more like...well, us!

Situation assessment: WE HAD A PROBLEM. The blue Dodge Charger immediately went chasing back to the parking lot, but the joggers were no where in sight. Plan B was implemented. A telephone booth directory could provide her home address. Success. She lived right across from K-Mart in an apartment complex.

Little did we know that Miss Greatens was doing some of her own phone referencing while we were trying to find her. First, she called the school principal at home, and then, she called my parents. (My life, as I knew it, was about to end.)

However, she hung up after the first two rings before anyone answered either call. She had decided to speak to us first. And here we were.

Miss Greatens answered the door graciously, standing before us with mustard stained clothes and tear stained cheeks wanting to hear what possible explanation warranted her pain. There was none. Absolutely none. What we had done was completely unfair and cruel. Our consciences made that perfectly clear as we poured out a flood of genuine remorse and tears to equal her own.

Then something extraordinary happened: she forgave us. Fully. Right there on the spot. She could have spoken to all of our parents about what happened, but didn't. She could have contacted school officials and sought stern reprimands for each of us, but didn't. And she could have held the incident over our heads for a very long time, but didn't. Miss Greatens forgave us when she easily could have chosen not to. (Can you just believe this? I can't either...and I was there.)

Her actions on that day went on to influence my life in many ways. As an adult actively involved in Christian education, understanding and teaching the Biblical principle of forgiveness came a little more easily having witnessed an intense undeserved mercy first hand.

Turkey Carving In Three Easy Steps

(NAPS)—If you want the guests at your next dinner party to "gobble up" the turkey you serve, try these carving tips:

- Step 1—Be sure to use a good, sharp knife. Sharp knives are not only safer, they will help you smoothly cut thin, even slices without shredding the meat. Fortunately, you don't have to be an expert to put a razor sharp edge on your knife. A sharpener such as Chef'sChoice® EdgeSelect™ 120 can make sharpening easy. The sharpener uses 100 percent diamond-coated disks and a revolutionary polishing stage to create a professional knife edge in seconds. The precision guides eliminate all guesswork and that means predictable, razor-sharp edges every time it's used. For help finding a sharpener that's right for you, call (800) 342-3255.

- Step 2—After the turkey is cooked (meat thermometer should read 180° when inserted in the thickest part of the turkey) cool the bird for 15 minutes. Cooling makes the meat firmer and easier to slice. Remove and set aside the turkey legs and the last joint of each wing. Make a long, deep (to the bone) horizontal "base cut" into the breast just above the wing.

- Step 3—Slice down vertically through the breast until you meet the original base cut. This will release perfect, even slices.

Carbon Monoxide: A Silent Killer In Your Home

Dr. Wojo's Prescription Instruction:

When your gas furnace goes on, your house will be warmed from the chill - but be aware that carbon monoxide may be in the air, and your family it could kill!

Each year, as gas furnaces light up across the colder climates of the United States and warm our homes, our families are protected from the elements.

But unfortunately and tragically, this isn't always the case. Some families, in fact, are put at serious - even fatal - risk each cold weather season due to problems with their gas furnaces.

The cause is carbon monoxide, a silent killer in your home.

What do I need to know? Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas that is a byproduct of combustion, the reaction that takes place within a motor. The most frequent source of carbon monoxide (CO) is a faulty furnace. The second most common source is an automobile. CO is also produced by a variety of other fuel-powered devices and heating sources that are extremely dangerous when used in poorly ventilated areas.

During times of cooler weather, the risk of CO poisoning grows because furnaces are being switched on after sitting idle during warmer months. This is when furnaces are most likely to malfunction, which can result in CO poisoning.

How bad is it? There are more than 40,000 visits to hospital emergency rooms because of carbon monoxide (CO) poisonings, making it one of the most common forms of poisoning in America! Of these visits, between 1,000 and 5,000 patients die, and countless others suffer from long-term disabilities as a result of CO exposure!

Tissue and organ damage can occur from oxygen starvation, and the chemical breakdown of CO in the body can cause brain damage. Of course, the worst-case scenario is, as happens far too often and needlessly, families go to sleep and never wake up!

But CO poisoning isn't only a cold weather danger. Even during the warmer months, a person can be at risk for CO exposure from a faulty exhaust system on the car, or by working with gas-powered engines in poorly ventilated spaces.

What are the symptoms? There are no classic symptoms of CO poisoning. Recent studies have shown that nearly 25 percent of all patients may have a headache. Other symptoms may simply involve flu-like symptoms such as nausea, vomiting and "just not feeling well." More extreme symptoms can include severe nausea and vomiting, changes in mental status, seizures and even coma. The classic description of "cherry red" skin and mucous membranes is more unusual.

Helpful information to tell the doctor includes knowing when symptoms started, if any other family members have the same symptoms, and noticing an improvement in health when outside of the home or workspace.

Getting a proper diagnosis and the right care - as well as getting the CO problem fixed - is critical to your family's health! Tissue and organ damage can occur from oxygen starvation, and the chemical breakdown of CO in the body can cause brain damage. Of course, the worst-case scenario is, as happens far too often and needlessly, families go to sleep and never wake up!

What is the treatment? Emergency treatment for CO poisoning begins by moving the patient to a safe, well-ventilated area. Oxygen therapy is provided by the paramedics and continues in the hospital. The length of therapy depends on the levels of CO present in the blood and how quickly it is removed.

Over the years, treating CO poisoning patients in a hyperbaric oxygen chamber (which provides oxygen to the body under high pressure) has become more common. Medical studies have shown that patients suffering from severe CO poisoning benefit most from hyperbaric therapy. Long-term effects from CO poisoning - including problems with memory, concentration, depression and anxiety - have been notably reduced following this treatment.

What can I do? Have your furnace checked annually by a heating professional, and by all means, purchase CO detectors! Today, many smoke detectors also feature CO detectors, making them a great investment not only in dollars...but in sense! And remember to cut and save Dr. Wojo's Prescription Inscription!

Town of Scott Organizes 'Smart Growth Committee'

By Bernadette Mondloch
Special to the Statesman

Town of Scott officials have taken the first step in organizing a "Smart Growth Committee." Supervisor Ira Weber said, "We've got to open up the area to building a little bit more especially around the Beechwood and Batavia area."

Selected to be a part in the decision making for the town's future is Robert Gluck and Bruce Birenbaum representing the board, Jim Ramel and at least one other Planning Commission member along with the possibility of two or more volunteers from the town's citizenry.

After a forty minute discussion on conditions of the Scott Community Center a decision was made to hire a cleaning service to "go over" the place prior to each rental reservation. Cost of cleaning both top and bottom floors along with the rest rooms, will come to approximately $92.00 per cleaning. Additional charges were quoted for spot cleaning the existing rug at $55.00 each and a total annual rug cleaning for $477.00.

Decision on when or if to do the annual cleaning has been postponed. There being no reservations at the present time, the first use of the service will be scheduled prior to the "Spring Ball" sponsored by the Lakeview Community Friends of the Library in February, 2003. If the Center is booked before that, the cleaning will be done at that time.

A conditional use permit was granted to Joel Firme which will allow him to build a new house on A-1 land.

The road committee reported that the fall grass cutting is nearly completed. Nearly a dozen road signs have been either broken off and destroyed and will need replacing. This destruction has been done by vandals. Some of these posts are four feet into the ground and it appears that a log chain was used to assist in pulling them out.

Anyone with information regarding these pranks are asked to notify any member of the town board.

The recycling committee reports that the town will be selling the Crusher and Baler which has been used for its' recycling efforts. The Town is accepting bids for one or both of these machines. For further information, contact BJ Richter at 262-692-9834, or leave a message at 920-994-4470.

WINTER PARKING

The Winter Parking Restrictions and Snow Emergency Parking Restrictions go into effect at mid-night (12:00 a.m.) on December 1, 2002.

Municipal Code Section 90-96 (c) Night Parking Restrictions, reads as follows: Signs have been erected at or reasonably near the corporate limits as provided in Section 349.13, Wisconsin Statutes, no person excepting physicians or licensed emergency vehicles on emergency calls, shall park or stop any vehicle on any public street or highway within the village between the hours of 2:00 A.M. and 6:00 A.M. from December 1, to April 1, of each year; provided that, notwithstanding such restrictions vehicles may be parked a period of time not longer than 3 minutes for actually loading or unloading of passengers, and provided further that no other regulation restricting parking as to place, time, or manner violated thereby.

The fine for violating the ordinance is:

$10.00 if paid within three (3) days of the issuance of the parking citation.

$20.00 if paid after ten (10) days but before 28 days.

After 28 days, the amount is $30.00 and a notice will be sent to the Motor Vehicle Department to suspend any and all vehicle registrations held by the owner and refuse renewals of the same until the citation is satisfied.

An important fact is the owner of the vehicle is responsible for the payment of the citation whether or not he or she was the operator.

Municipal Code Section 90-96 (d) Removal of Illegally Parked Vehicles. This section covers the issuance of citations to and possible removal of such vehicles in violation of this ordinance. In addition to other penalties provided by Section 7.04(6) of this code, the owner or operator of a vehicle so removed shall pay the cost of the towing and storage.

DNR Asks Hunters to be on the Lookout for Deer With Ear Tags

MADISON - Hunters have always played a major role in the conservation of Wisconsin's natural resources. Now, for the first time since conservation wardens began investigating the origin of chronic wasting disease (CWD) in Wisconsin's wild and captive white-tailed deer herds, hunters are being asked to directly lend a hand in the ongoing investigation.

With thousands of men, women and youngsters donning their blaze orange in just a matter of days for the gun deer season opener, investigators with the Department of Natural Resources hope to harness that manpower in the search for the cause of CWD in Wisconsin.

Hunters are being asked to provide information to the department on any deer they see or shoot which have an ear tag. The tag could provide information on the origin of the deer or simply indicate that the deer was tagged as part of a scientific study.

Whatever the reason for the tag, shooting an ear-tagged deer in the wild is not illegal and wardens will not be collecting ear tags from hunters who might shoot one of these deer.

"We don't anticipate that there will be a flood of callers reporting that they've shot a tagged deer," said Warden Karl Brooks, who leads the DNR CWD Investigation Team. "But even a few leads could help shed some light on this case and protect the wild deer population from further exposure to CWD."

Hunters who shoot an ear-tagged deer this season should call the DNR poacher hotline at 1-800-TIP-WDNR (1-800-847-9367) or dial #DNR (#367) of their US Cellular phone.

Investigators aren't just interested in deer shot this season - they're also interested in information from previous hunts.

"We know that there are hunters out there who keep those ear tags as a sort of trophy," Brooks said. "That's just fine. They can keep the tag, we just want the information from it."

Wardens need to know the color of the tag and what information is written or printed on it. If possible, information as when the deer was shot and where the deer was shot - down to the section or township if possible - will also help the investigation.

Hunting Tradition Turns 151 Years Old

Hello friends,

Wisconsin deer hunters and their out-of-state friends are running out of time to knock down the state's exploding population of whitetail deer. I am not able to get a story out this week because I am on a remote deer hunt in northern Wisconsin. But I thought you might enjoy this partial chronology of Wisconsin's first 151 deer hunts.

1851 - First closed season for deer, Feb. 1-June 30. Native Americans permitted to hunt anytime.

1876 - Hunting with dogs prohibited statewide.

1887 - Two game wardens appointed by the governor at a monthly salary of $50.

1892 - Lawful to kill any dog running or hunting deer.

1897 - First bag limit for deer, two per season. Resident license costs $1, non-resident is $30. Estimated license sales total $12,000.

1905 - Salt licks prohibited.

1914 - Twenty-four hunters killed, 26 injured. License sales at $155,000.

1919 - Estimated kill is 25,152.

1924 - Estimated kill is 7,000.

1925 - Legislature passes law closing deer season on alternate years.

1930 - Estimated kill is 23,000 with 40,284 tags sold.

1931 - No open season.

1934 - First bow season.

1938 - Use of 22 rifle and 410 shotgun prohibited.

1945 - First year of shotgun only counties; wearing red clothing required while hunting deer.

1951 - Wisconsin leads the nation in whitetail deer kill for third year in a row.

1956 - 100th established gun deer season. Registered gun kill is 35,562 with 294,644 tags sold.

1962 - Deer population is about 400,000.

1967 - Hunter Safety Education program begins.

1970 - Registered gun kill is 72,844 with 501,799 licenses sold, 13 hunters killed.

1984 - Fourth record harvest in a row with 255,726 harvested; 657,969 licenses sold. Group hunting is legalized.

1999 - Pre-hunt herd estimate is 1.5 to 1.6 million deer. Resident licenses cost $20; non-resident are $135.

2001 - Chronic wasting disease identified in three deer harvested in the town of Vermont (Dane County).

2002 - DNR plans to sample about 50,000 deer during the early Zone T antlerless hunt and opening weekend of the nine-day gun hunt to determine if CWD is present anywhere else in the state. In an effort to control the spread of CWD, baiting or feeding of deer is banned.

We are all aware by now that we have hit a bump in the road with our deer hunt. Right now is the time to slow the spread of CWD. In the eyes of many hunters, the whitetail deer has become a virtual toxic dump. If you followed the numbers, it is very easy to see to see how Wisconsin's herd has mushroomed over the last 90 years.

As with any other species, over population eventually leads to disease. Hunters need to buck up, swallow their fears, and help win a very winnable fight.

Whether we beat CWD or not, would your rather say you helped in the fight or laid down your rifle, picked up the remote control, and let the rest of us do your fighting for you?

We need you!

Football Season Wrap-Up

By Kyle Darmody
Student Reporter

Starting in the intense heat of summer the Kewaskum varsity football team, ended another season in the first round of their regional on a cold October night in Luxemburg-Casco, after losing to the Spartans 35-10.

The following Sunday, November 3, the Indians held their annual end of the season banquet in the KHS Cafeteria. The ups and the downs of the year were discussed.

One of the major ups for the Indians during the year, was the Indians 27-24 upset overtime victory over Plymouth, at Plymouth, to capture a third place conference finish and a playoff berth.

As far as individuals, the conference awarded ten conference awards to Indian players. Those players include: Corey Darmody, first team all conference offensive guard, first team all conference defensive end, and runner-up defensive player of the year; Troy Koferl, unanimous first team all conference inside linebacker; Mike Donath, first team all conference offensive tackle, and voted as offensive tackle of the year. Donath also received an honorable mention for his work at defensive tackle.

Matt Hartmann received a second team all conference award at the defensive back position and honorable mention for his work at the kicker position. David Wicklund earned a second team all conference award at the offensive end position.

Two more Indians that rounded out the list were Keith Schmidt, honorable mention defensive end, and Ryan DeLaurier, honorable mention running back.

The conference's offensive player of the year was Ryan Walsh from Sheboygan Falls, while Dan Flaherty of Campbellsport was the defensive player of the year.

Herriges and Meyer Selected MVR

At last Thursday's cross country awards banquet senior Becky Herriges and sophomore Josh Meyer were awarded the Most Valuable Runner award for their respective teams.

This was Becky's second year receiving this honor. Becky has been a leader for the girl's team in setting a good example and time.

This was also Josh's second year receiving the MVR award. It is an impressive record to be awarded this honor as a freshman and now as a sophomore. Josh's hard work ethic and dedication set the standard for the rest of the team to follow.

Along with the MVR awards, various other awards were presented to individuals for their outstanding achievements demonstrated throughout the season.

The Indian Spirit Award was awarded to Jon Hawig and Allison Janz, Most Improved to Katie Uelman and Kevin Keller, Dedication Award to Adam Janz and Rachel Shea, and Most Improved Freshman to Sammie Czerwinski and Zack Van Wormer.

A special honor was bestowed upon the senior members in appreciation of their years of dedication. Receiving the Honorary Captain Award were Breyan Donath, Becky Herriges, Jessie Graham, Andy Lickel, Adam Woebeking, and Marty Harris. These senior members are going to be missed next year but with the good nucleus of runners coming up, it is hoped that they will step up to meet the challenge.

Volleyball Season Wrap-Up

By Kyle Darmody
Student Reporter

On August 19, the Kewaskum girls varsity volleyball team, got together for their first practice of the season filled with high hopes. On October 25 they ended their season in a loss to Milwaukee Lutheran in the second round of regionals. The Indians finished their season 12-2 in conference which earned them a second place conference finish, and an overall record of 23-8-2.

One highlight for the ladies this year would have been being the only team to hand the conference champion New Holstein Huskies a loss, and earning two, first place finishes out of the four tournaments.

Individuals who earned themselves conference recognition were: Heather Meyer, second team all conference; Jenna Roecker, second team-back row specialist; Beth Boedeker, honorable mention, and Jill Wittmann honorable mention.

Season stat leaders for the Indians were: Danielle Degroot 124 kills; Beth Boedeker 273 assists, and 40 aces; Jenna Roecker with a 96% serving and 207 digs. At the net Katie Klug led the Indians in blocks with 30 solo and 31 assisted.

Next year the Indians will be bringing back six varsity players, as they lose six seniors this year.
