Town of Farmington Holds Meeting

By LISA LICKEL
 STATESMAN STAFF WRITER
 llickel@kewaskumstatesman.com

Building Inspector John Derler noted twenty building permits have been applied for to date in the Town. A request to change the Town's swimming pool ordinance was denied. Even with a sturdy cover, the supervisors felt liability was too great of an issue to allow the change, which currently requires inground pools to be fenced.

The Plan Commission reported that a land division in Section 13 was created without town approval, the required road frontage or the payment of the park fees. The property owners were advised to adjust the amount of frontage on the undeveloped lot to meet Town requirements or attach the lot to an adjacent piece.

The seventeen-plot subdivision, Overlook Estates, on Highway M is proceeding. A vision triangle required at the egress has been moved to county land, and a passing lane on the east side of the road should not involve any extra property purchase.

Supervisor Roell's quest to have the current storm water ordinance returned to county control was tabled due to a request for more information. A representative from the county will be asked to attend a Plan Commission meeting in the next two months to discuss the matter.

Gypsy moths have been reported in the northeast corner of the Town. According to DNR requests to keep a survey of conditions, Chairman Dieringer will make a note of the matter and send it in with the taxes.

In correspondence, a Clean Sweep weekend will be held at 900 Lang St., West Bend for Agricultural waste materials on Friday September 19, and household hazardous waste on Saturday, September 20, 8:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon on both days. The next Town Board meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 2 at 7:00 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Little Folks Schoolhouse Looking to Build in Village

By ANDREW KUEHL
 STATESMAN EDITORIAL STAFF
 akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum Village Board met Monday and approved a conditional use permit that would allow Wayne and Dodie Sargent to operate a daycare center in the village. They operate a center in the Town of Wayne.

The proposed 4,200 square foot center would be located on a currently vacant property between Dairy Queen and Silver Platter Restaurant. The building could hold 75 children but the Sargents are planning on 50 to start out.

On July 29 the village's Planning Commission gave the two a favorable recommendation to take to the village board.

The Sargents entertained questions from surrounding residents about items such as traffic, hours of operation and onsite parking. By the end of the discussion the neighbors were happy to welcome their new neighbors.

There was no word as to when construction will begin. The Statesman will feature a more in-depth article in a future edition.

Town of Scott Discusses Pavillion At Batavia Firemen's Park

By BERNADETTE MONDLOCH
 bmondloch@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Town of Scott Planning Commission will be looking into establishing an ordinance which will limit the size of buildings which will be allowed in the various size lots throughout the township. At the present time the town does not have an ordinance which would regulate building size.

Building inspector Frank Mayer reported that he has permit applications calling for "storage sheds" as large as 50 x 100 ft on small lots. He presented the Scott Town board with a sample ordinance which would regulate the square footage of such buildings. Example: One, two and three acre lots limited to 864 square feet, five acre lot - 1200 square feet and ten acre lots - 1400 square feet. The board has referred the sample ordinance to the planning commission.

At a public hearing which preceded the board meeting, there were no objections to a rezoning request from Steve Siebenaler, W 8214, County Road SS for zoning changes on a 40 acre parcel.

Later on, the board approved a zoning change from A-1 to A-6 for four acres and from A-1 to A-5 for the remaining 31 acres. The four acre parcel is destined for a home site for Siebenaler's daughter.

The Batavia Athletic Association requested monetary support for construction costs related to a pavilion at the Batavia Firemen's Park bordering the Scott Community Center. If approved, the money would come from funds in the town's open space and park fund.

At the present time the fund amounts to $8,923. Money from this fund increases as lots are created within the town. A $200 fee is paid by the lot owner at the time of recording the division of land, and is credited to the park open space fund. The money in the fund is restricted to most types of park development which is used totally by the public. It is never to be used for maintenance.

In this case the pavilion will be a new 32 x 50 foot building which is estimated to cost $11,350.

Discussion also referred to dredging and location of the pier on Beechwood Lake which also may be eligible for money from the fund. Sharing money which would benefit both sides of the town was suggested by Supervisor Bruce Birenbaum. Final decision was to contribute 1/3 or $3,000 to aid in the pavilion project.

times when the site is not open. It is either dropped in front of the door or deposited in the metals dumpster.

A policy has been established to send a warning letter to first time offenders who are observed violating the regulations and a $20.00 fine for second time offenders. Recently a long time resident of the town was observed leaving material after hours and will be receiving the first letter mandated by the new policy.

Residents are reminded that the garbage and recycling center is open on Saturdays.

Certify Survey Map was approved for The US Fish & Wildlife Service (on the former Floyd Steurwald farm on County A.)

COMMUNITY NEWS

Jungle Gym Jamboree A Success

The Kewaskum Junior's and their "helpers" at the ribbon cutting ceremony for the new playground equipment.

The Kewaskum Junior Women decided on a community project in October of last year and came up with the Jungle Gym Jamboree. They formed a committee to iron details of the fundraiser for playground equipment and they drove forward. As they met with the village and word got out, they were amazed by the support they received from many organizations and the village. Everything started falling into place and we were lucky to have their ribbon cutting ceremony during our Jamboree. Many families came during the day to enjoy activities. The turnout was good.

Activities, food and sunshine were plentiful all day. If you were lucky enough to win a cake at the Cake Walk, there were many delicious looking deserts. The team from Paul Auction Co. took the Tug-O-War contest. The Basket shoot was won by Corey Watzig and Cody Nuernberg. The band they hired was great. It was Relative. During the first set they threw out stuffed animals for the younger kids. Danny Shea and Tom Kudek won the Home Run Derby.

Many thanks to the following organizations, businesses and individuals for their donations and support. They are New Fane Sportsman's Club, Kewaskum Women's Club, Kewaskum Chamber, the Village of Kewaskum, St. Francis Bank, WB Savings Bank, Kewaskum Kiwanis Club, West Bend radio station, Herriges Oil, Wayne Koester, Dave Goeden, Sharon Miller, Judy Geidel,

They were overwhelmed by the community response and very thankful for everyone's support. We are truly blessed to have such a great town. The Junior Women appreciate your kindness, encouragement and support for our event. THANKS KEWASKUM!

Statesman Reporter Returns from Down Under

Hello everybody!

It's me again Kyle Darmody, the young man who so proudly wrote to you a few weeks back, in regards to a trip I would be taking to Australia to play basketball. Today I'm writing to you to let you know how that trip went, and to give thanks where it is most definitely needed.

The trip to Australia for me was everything I had dreamed of. Unfortunately however, I had bad luck that seemed to follow me everywhere down there! The first day when my teammates and I arrived in Australia, we checked into our hotel located in Sydney Olympic Park, and then proceeded to take a swim in the Olympic pool also located in the park, and do some sight seeing.

After we set out to have our first practice, one that would not turn out to be a good one for me. I sprained my ankle in a bad way, half way through the practice, and was forced to sit out the rest of practice. After a night of icing and much needed sleep due to the long plane flight, the next day was everyone's free day to visit whatever sight they wished to visit in Sydney.

The Wisconsin girls team and I hit a variety of places in the heart of Sydney. Some places I hit included an underground marketplace, the Sydney opera house, and Pitt St., a street in the heart of Sydney laid out for the common shopper.

The next day we visited the Blue Mountains, and this was a personal favorite of mine. We started at the top of the Mountains and hiked most of the way down, and then took a train back up the mountains backwards.

Later that night while dining I met a real Aborigine. He performed for all of the athletes at dinner, and then made our coaches get up and dance with him. Afterwards, he stayed around to have photos taken with him.

The following day we left Sydney for the Gold Coast. Upon arrival we checked into our hotel, ate dinner and had the rest of the night free. The following day we had practice and then headed off to Dreamworld amusement park, where we went on rides, and saw a tiger show. Amazed at how fast the first week had gone by, everyone went to bed early this night, in preparation for the Basketball Tournament which lay ahead of us in the morning.

The day had arrived, the reason for which all of us had been sent down there, to play basketball. In game one, my team, a combination of young men from Texas, Colorado, and Wisconsin, faced off against an Australian team, called the Runaway Bay Seahawks. The Texas, Colorado, and Wisconsin team won by 21 points, which was critical because this tournament was based on a points system. Yours truly, scored ten points, and converted a four point play.

In game two tragedy struck! After only scoring three points, and playing two quarters, I dislocated my left shoulder while going for a loose ball. I was then rushed to the hospital in an ambulance, where after a rather painful hour, they finally popped my shoulder back in place. The team ended up losing the game, and needless to say losing me for the rest of the Tournament! The team went on to finish the tournament with a 3-2 record, good enough to take seventh out of 17 teams.

The following day was our free day, and unfortunately due to my recovering shoulder, I was unable to go surfing and deep sea fishing which I had previously signed up for. I did go out deep sea fishing and watched but was unable to participate. The next morning we were sent back home. Despite being battered and bruised, I had the time of my life!

Now I would like to thank those who made it happen. Thanks to Mike's Country Meats, for all the Brat Frys we had at their shop in Kewaskum, also thanks to all the businesses, and people who donated money to help with the cost of the trip. Those businesses and people being Carl Marquardt, Dennis Butz, Auto Body Dynamics, Kohn's Citgo, The Kewaskum Statesman, and Piggly Wiggly. Last, but certainly not least. Thanks to my family for sticking countless hours and money into this fund. From Brat Frys, to Rummage Sales, they were there through it all. So thanks again to everyone, I had a blast!

More Nominations Needed

We Have Contestants, Now Let's Make This Interesting!

Finally... the tiny little group of nominees we had last week has expanded and my faith in this community helping support this idiotic contest (and Kettle Kountry Kolers) has been renewed. But let's not call it a contest just yet! There's so many more to nominate and so much teasing left to be done.

The Friends of Kewaskum is asking (no... I think begging is the word I should be using) everyone who wants to see Kettle Kountry Kolers continue, to nominate a favorite relative, co-worker or neighbor.

As we have stated before, not only will the festival benefit, but another area charity or organization will receive a donation. I have elaborated on that extensively in the past two weeks so I will say no more on that subject, other than, "why on earth wouldn't you want to earn half of all the proceeds for your organization?"

We are getting down to the wire here for the nominations will close at noon on August 30. That means, at this writing, only 10 days are left to send in those coupons. And there are so many perfect candidates still out there!

There are so many that come to mind to nominate, but they are probably just too shy to send in coupons for themselves, even though that is perfectly legal. For those of you who absolutely have no ax to grind or pranks to play, how about Joel Serwe of PJ Magoos? or Mike Nitschke of Mike's Country Meats? I know Roy Garbisch of Silver Platter is feeling awfully neglected. And where are the members of the Fillmore, Campbellsport, Beechwood, Batavia, and Kohlsville fire departments? Don't forget about Richard T, Kissy, Moochie, Joe T, Squeak, Mudduck, Sweet Roll, Muffler and Team Rick. I would tell you to nominate Gumby but then I would have to listen to him grumble. Has a certain ring to it though...

Oh yes... don't Ron Jon from Woody's and Ron Will have a little "payback" they need to accomplish from last year?

And don't forget that obscure state law that says you absolutely have to nominate anyone who has a birthday in October, so they may have the opportunity to be a contender for the crown!

Last week we mentioned nominees Scott Rohlinger, Norb Rohlinger, Dennis

Fechter, and Pat Schmitt. This week we are adding Jim Gaffke, Jim Hammes and Randy Krebs. Not sure though, if any of these gentlemen win where they want their half of the proceeds to go. More investigative reporting is in order, I guess.

Also being added to the infamous list is Officer Bob Buddenhagen, Woody Kleinhans and Larry Ammel. It's easy to figure out Larry Ammel would probably earmark his winnings for the Kewaskum Kiwanis and if you have been at his Steakhouse, you know Woody has a soft spot for the Washington County Dive Team

Rumor has it that Officer Bob Buddenhagen is going to contribute his winnings to the B.B. Retired Officers Home. Not real sure about that one, but if Bob pulls you over, ask him and then tell him you would like to contribute to his coronation. On second thought, maybe that isn't such a good idea... it just might get misconstrued and you may end up in jail. (Send in the money to me secretly... that way you won't get into any trouble!)

Gil De Laurier, Larry Martin and Joe Enright are also new nominees. Gil, so I'm told, is representing the Kewaskum Gridiron Club and should he win, will donate his portion to that organization, another excellent choice to make donations. At least Gil better decide to channel the proceeds there, or he will be shagging footballs for a very long time!

I'm clueless where Larry Martin would like to send his proceeds. The Junior Women's Club? The fire department? Holy Trinity Church? Always a good idea to keep on the good side of your friends... a better idea to keep on the good side of your wife, but the best idea of all would be to stay on the good side of your maker!

And as long as we are on that subject, another nominee is Father Mark Jones, Pastor of Holy Trinity Church. Guess where he will donate the money. Father Mark is such a good sport, I probably could get away with ripping on him a little bit, but he hears my confessions, so I better keep a low profile.

There will definitely be a rivalry between newly-nominated Boltonville Fire Chief Joe Enright vs. firefighter Dennis Fechter (previously nominated). Do you vote for Joe or Dennis? Joe IS the chief, but Dennis would probably be most likely to dump a pail of water down your back at the next fire. Actually, they will undoubtedly be voting for each other!

Remember... only ten nomination days left... and half of all proceeds go to Kettle Kountry Kolers and the other half goes to the charity of the winner's choice.

Nomination forms can be found on this page or can be downloaded off the Statesman website at www.kewaskumstatesman.com

Completed nomination forms can be dropped off at the Kewaskum Statesman, 250 Main Street, or mail them in to "Mr. October Contest," P.O. Box 98, Kewaskum, WI 53040.

SCHOOL NEWS

Summer School Rocketry

Each year during summer school, Kewaskum students get the opportunity to really "take off" in class. For the past 10 years, Paul and Kathy West have offered a class on rocketry. Rocketry I is for students who have never taken the class before and usually have little or no experience with rockets. Learning the correct terminology is important at this level. The kids learn how to build paper airplanes which is almost as exciting as launching the rockets. The launch day, shown above, is exciting and most all the other summer school classes come to watch. Rocketry II is for students that have had Rocketry I. More advance study of rocketry is done as well as experimenting with painting and gluing techniques. The students seem to enjoy the classes as they are two of the more popular ones offered.

Students attending Moraine Park Technical College have a new assessment component added to their graduation requirement. Each student presents a wide range of documents to depict specific elements of performance.

Culinary Arts portfolios were just one of many program area portfolios assessed on June 24 at the Fond du Lac Campus. Examining the content of each portfolio using specific criteria, presents measurable and meaningful highlights of a students' learning experiences to the evaluators. Artifacts provided by the student serve as supporting evidence of both program learning outcomes and general education learning outcomes. Evaluators are asked to comment on exemplary elements, and ways to make improvements. Prospective employers are asking to see portfolios to supplement a job interview.

Girls Night Out Program Returning To Kewaskum Middle School

Middle school years are often turbulent times filled with changes for young women. It is also the beginning of a girl's journey into the teen years during which they will face significant and difficult decisions that impact their health and well-being. That is why the Kettle Moraine YMCA is offering a special program, Girl's Night

Out, sponsored by Aurora Health Care.

The goal of the program is to build confidence and teach life skills to girls at a crucial time in their lives. Jon Lange, Executive Director for Kettle Moraine YMCA explains, "Our focus is to get these young women to think through choices they will be faced with in the next three years on the street. Alcohol, smoking, drugs and sexual activity are topics they need to consider now before they are in a position to decide 'in the moment'."

Girls will meet for two hours in each of the 12 sessions throughout the school year to learn about self-defense, conflict resolution, peer pressure, body image, healthy eating, caring for their changing bodies and emotions, sexuality and self-respect. Brochures detailing the program will be sent home at the beginning of the school year. Space is limited to the first 40 girls. For more information, call LuAnne Salmon at Kettle Moraine YMCA at 262-334-3405.

UW-WC Mourns Death Of Former Dean

UW - Washington County Dean Thomas Brigham announced the death of former dean, Robert Thompson on August 13. Thompson, 77, was dean at the West Bend campus for 16 years, serving from March 1973 until his retirement in 1989.

"Thompson's wit, humor, leadership and friendship will be missed," Brigham wrote in a memo to faculty and staff. Cathi Dziedzic, Assistant Dean, who worked with Thompson for 13 years, remembers Thompson as "an incredible person". "He was very caring and thoughtful and he always had a vision for the campus," she stated. That vision helped lead the campus through two major building projects during his tenure, as well as steady growth in student enrollment.

Dean Thompson came to West Bend from Kendall College in Evanston, Illinois, where he served as dean for four years and served an additional seven years as a teacher in philosophy and religion. Father of 3 children, he and his wife, Mary, were very active in the community, where he served on Rotary and other community boards. After his retirement, they moved to Middleton, Wisconsin.

Eligibility Requirements for Free, Reduced Price Meals Announced by School District

The Kewaskum School District announced its policy for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch Program and School Breakfast Program. Each school office and the central office has a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by an interested party.

The following household size and income criteria will be used for determining eligibility. Children from families whose annual income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free and reduced price meals.

who signs the application. In lieu of a social security number, the household may indicate that the signer does not possess a social security number. Also, the income received by each household member must be provided by amount and source (wages, welfare, child support, etc.). Households are required to report increases in income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size.

Under the provisions of the free and reduced price meal the Director of Food Services, will review applications and levels shown above, and they may reapply at that time.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a household has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for free or reduced price meals, the household should complete an application for a family of one or contact the school for more information.

The information provided by the household on the application is confidential. Public Law 103-448 does authorize the release of student free and reduced price school meal eligibility status

If a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size changes, the family should contact the school. Such changes may make the household eligible for reduced price meals or free meals if the household income falls at or below the

Be on Alert When Schools are Open

As students return to schools across the state, AAA Wisconsin reminds motorists to slow down and watch out for school-age pedestrians.

"Children get caught up in the excitement of 'back-to-school' season and forget to look out for cars," said AAA Wisconsin spokesman Michael Bie. "Many youngsters have trouble making accurate judgments about traffic speed and distance, so drivers have to be particularly aware."

One-fourth of all children 14 years of age and younger who die in motor vehicle crashes are pedestrians, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. The majority of these pedestrian fatalities happen in the afternoon hours when school is letting out.

AAA's School's Open - Drive Carefully campaign encourages motorists to stay alert in areas where morning and afternoon hours while children are coming to and from school. Drivers should look out for children who may dart out into the street near school zones, playgrounds, bus stops, and in neighborhoods. As part of the School's Open - Drive Carefully campaign, AAA offers drivers tips to keep school children safe:

- Slow down in or near school and residential areas.
- Drive with your headlights on - even during the day -- so children and other drivers can see you.
- Look for clues such as School Safety Patrols, crossing guards, bicycles, and playgrounds which indicate children could be in the area.
- Scan between parked cars and other objects for signs that children could dart into the road.
- Practice extra caution in adverse weather conditions.
- Pay particular attention near schools during the morning and afternoon hours.
- Always stop for school buses that are loaded and unloading students.

"Drivers should always be aware of their surroundings, but especially around children," Bie said.

AAA Wisconsin, which serves more than 590,000 members, offers automotive, travel, insurance and financial services. It is part of the The Auto Club Group (ACG), the largest affiliation of AAA clubs in the Midwest, with 4.1 million members in eight states. ACG clubs belong to the national AAA federation, a not-for-profit organization, with more than 45 million members in the United States and Canada.

FISHING REPORT

By Mr. Fisherman

It just had to happen. I caught Bert and he was upset. He said, "Put me in your live well and let's talk." O boy now what's up?

Mr. Fisherman: "How's Bertha I asked?"

Bert: "Never mind about Bertha. The bass in Long Lake are having a problem with you. That Bagley bb3 has got to go. Too many bass are being caught with it. I was elected the one to be caught so I could talk to you about this dilemma. The bass and some walleyes have been passing the word about this lure."

You know that gold bb3 that you lost a month ago; well it was confiscated by us. A northern friend of mine bit on your line and now we have it hooked on a log. We are having a kind of show and tell, putting it on our no hit list. This lure is dangerous to us and we want it banned from use. That Tournament Frog and the brown spinner bait you use is also on our no hit list also. Don't think changing the color of a bb3 will help because we are learning the shape of it and the color change won't help. We just like to be left alone and have a party once in a while. Party. You guys party. Yes, we all eat a couple of crawfish, swim around and talk about how we broke some guy's line and got away or whatever else that happened during the week. You are also talked about Mr. Fisherman and it's always bad. We have I.Ded. your boat and have put an "all points bulletin" out on it."

Mr. F: "You already know my answer on this. No way am I not using a bb3. You do what you have to do. Teach the other bass not to strike this lure. There are many other bass that won't get your message and I'll catch them. Now listen to me, it's not the lure that catches the fish, it's the fisherman using knowledge. (Now, trying to tone down the discussion) So you don't think I'd be a good poster boy for P.E.T.A.?"

There was not even so much of a smile for him. Bert will never understand the power of knowledge. It takes more than a lure to catch bass! By this time we were both still upset and knew nothing would change. We said our goodbyes and that was it.

Mr. F: "Say hi to Bertha" (as Bert swam away). My hope is that I didn't blow my interview that Bert and Bertha promised me later in the year.

Let's get on to more important things. Bert thinks he can stop me from catching bass. Well I'll show him. Long Lake bass fishing was slow until Tuesday night when 5 bass hit brown spinner bait. (This bait is about to be retired. The wire has been bent up, the blades have marks on them and the skirt is starting to look ragged.) The smallest bass was 15" and the biggest two were 17" and 18". Guess you didn't tell these fish about the brown spinner bait Bert. The way these bass hit was unbelievable. They slammed that spinner bait so hard I almost lost my rod. When they knew they were caught they just took off with reckless abandon. The drag was screaming. There was a full moon out and fish jumping all over the place. I can't remember that much activity at night, ever. Let me know if you want to know where I bought these baits.

Long Lake Wednesday morning the brown spinner bait caught a 15' bullhead. Can you believe that? The Big A did it to me again Wednesday night. My son caught one 16" bass and had another one on and lost it. He also had a hit on a buzz bait. The other two hit a tube. Guess what? I just got off the internet and ordered some tubes, rattles and jig heads from Bass Pro Shops. I may be dumb but I'm not stupid. When some thing works for some one else you better buy it. My plastic worm had dropped on the same spot as his tube did and he caught the fish. Of course he had only one tube with him so he couldn't give me one to use. Forgot to mention that a guy was sitting on his pier and said that the night before there was a lot of fish activity just to the south of his pier. (Same thing on Long Lake the night before - must be something to do with a full moon?????????)

Thursday morning the fishing was tough on Long Lake. Only had one hit on a Bagley bb3. This was a great time to use the trolling motor and cruise the inside edge of the weed line. There were some big bass on the inside edge and I marked the spot for fishing later that night.

That night I lost a friend. We had fished together for a month or so and now he's gone. The brown spinner bait is where all great baits usually go, into the lake never to be found again by me. When it broke off my heart skipped a beat. I named this lure after my first dog, Randy. Yes, I sometimes name my lures when they do such a good job. Randy was the lure that caught big bass, big northern, big walleye and finally a bullhead. His last fish on Thursday night was a bass just under 20" and weighed 3 lbs 11 ozs. This lure was used on almost all the lakes in the area and it will be sorely missed. We both were hoping this would not happen but I know that Randy understood that if this occurred his brothers could take over for him. I was hoping to be buried with Randy, the Quantum reel and Bass Pro rod that we used together. But this will never happen. It is a sad ending for a great, great lure. A tip of Mr. Fisherman's hat and farewell my friend. My only fear is that Bert and his hoodlums will get a hold of Randy and hang him up on a log. They will then use him in their show and tell school. Hopefully not! It would be sad fate for this outstanding lure. I know. I know. It's not the lure that catches the fish but, but

The "night bite" is on again and this bigger bass came after 9:30 p.m. It came off the deep water weed line on the south side of Long Lake. There is an inside turn of the weed line and that's where she was. I worked this area for a half an hour before the hit came. The weed line is not long and my persistence paid off.

There are bass, walleye, and northern there all the time but it takes something to trigger them. Mornings are not as productive as nights, at least for me, and as of late plastic worms are not working. The inside weed line, where I saw those bass, was so so Friday night. There were many hits on the new brown spinner bait and one bass got off right near the boat. I did hook into a 17" bass at another spot and lost a few at the boat. Even the northern are hitting at night. Nothing big but it sure is fun catching them. They hit as hard as the bass.

The fishing pressure is so high during the day and with the water being so clear it is probably the best to fish at night. Check out the "night bite" as it truly is an exciting and excellent time to fish!

We are changing lakes on Wednesday nights is what I told my son. Why he asked? Because you always catch the fish and it's not fair! We will be going to Lake Ellen or Musky fishing on Big Elkhart. Will let you know how I do.

How's your fishing? Email me at Mr.FishermanRU2@aol.com

Darmody Receives Gridiron Coaches Scholarship

Kyle Darmody, center, accepts congratulations from Gridiron Club President Jim Korth, right and vice president Joe Backhaus, left, upon being named the recipient of the 2003 Kewaskum Gridiron Club Coaches Scholarship.

At their monthly meeting held on July 2nd, the Kewaskum Gridiron Club's Board of Directors chose Kyle Darmody as the recipient of this year's $1,000 Gridiron Club Coaches Scholarship. A 2003 Kewaskum High School graduate, Honor Student, and multi sport letter winner, Kyle was chosen from a field of four finalists who were among a group of eleven applicants for this year's award.

To be considered for this scholarship, an applicant must have participated in the Gridiron Football Program all years an applicant is eligible to play, and must also have participated in Kewaskum High School football all four years of one's high school tenure.

Kyle will be entering UWWC West Bend this fall with plans to later transfer to UW-Oshkosh in hopes of pursuing a career in the sports media field focusing on either print, radio, or TV. He's already taken a step in that direction and should be a familiar name to readers of The Kewaskum Statesman, where he has been a sports reporter for the past year. He is also quite interested in becoming a teacher and/or coach, and in addition, is a Big Brother through the Washington County Big Brothers / Big Sisters Program.

A special presentation was quickly made to Kyle at the July 16th Gridiron

Coaches meeting, as the next day he boarded a plane bound for Australia, where Kyle participated in the "Down Under Hoops Classic" basketball event.

Funding for this scholarship was provided by many of the 2002 Gridiron Coaches who donated over $500 of their own money. The Gridiron Club provided the remaining funds to bring the total amount of the scholarship to $1,000.

Kyle is the son of Kevin and Carol Darmody of rural Kewaskum.

Congratulations to Kyle, good luck in college and your career path from the Gridiron Board and coaches.

Wisconsin Supreme Court Allows Mourning Dove Season to Begin

MADISON - Wisconsin's first legal mourning dove season is set to begin as planned following the state Supreme Court's denial of a request from an opposition group to temporarily stop the hunt.

Today's decision means the mourning dove season will open statewide September 1.

"We're pleased with today's announcement to allow the season to go ahead as planned," said Keith Warnke, upland wildlife biologist with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. "All along we've been confident in the science behind a dove season and our authority to establish one through the rule process."

"We look forward to the opportunity to present our case before the high court and hopefully a successful final ruling in the upcoming year," Warnke added.

The hunting season previously had been scheduled to open on September 1, 2001 but had been halted by an injunction issued by Dane County Judge Daniel Moeser. The Fourth District Court of Appeals subsequently removed the injunction allowing the season to open this year. The petition before the Supreme Court was filed mid-June of 2003.

According to Warnke, an estimated 5.2 million mourning doves migrate from Wisconsin each year. Just over half die each year to disease, accidents, predators and other causes. But because of the dove's high rate of reproduction, hunting in Wisconsin will not threaten the state's population.

The 60-day dove season ends October 30 and hunters must comply with a daily bag limit of 15 birds. No state or federal migratory bird stamps are required to hunt doves in Wisconsin, but hunters must possess a valid small game license.

The DNR's bureau of wildlife management has published two brochures pertaining to the mourning dove, a fact sheet and a hunting primer. The fact sheet can be found at www2.dnr.state.wi.us/org/land/wildlife/hunt/dove.dove.htm and the hunting brochure can be found at www2.dnr.state.wi.us/org/land/wildlife/hunt/dove/MourningDove.pdf. The hunting brochure is also available at DNR service stations statewide.

Warnke expects 20,000 to 30,000 will participate in Wisconsin's dove season.

"The future of hunting in Wisconsin depends upon the safe and ethical practices of every hunter every time he or she takes the field," Warnke said.

Money Matters: How Newlyweds Can Avoid Conflicts About Cash

(ARA) - Starting a life together is one of the most exciting times in a newlywed couple's life; yet disagreements over money matters can strain even the strongest of marriages.

Different styles of spending and saving can be a source of great conflict for newlyweds. It doesn't matter whether couples are getting married right after college graduation, blending two families together after years of being a single parent or after living alone for most of their adult lives. Regardless of the situation, it is important that newlyweds understand how to trust the process of working with and relying on their spouse's judgment.

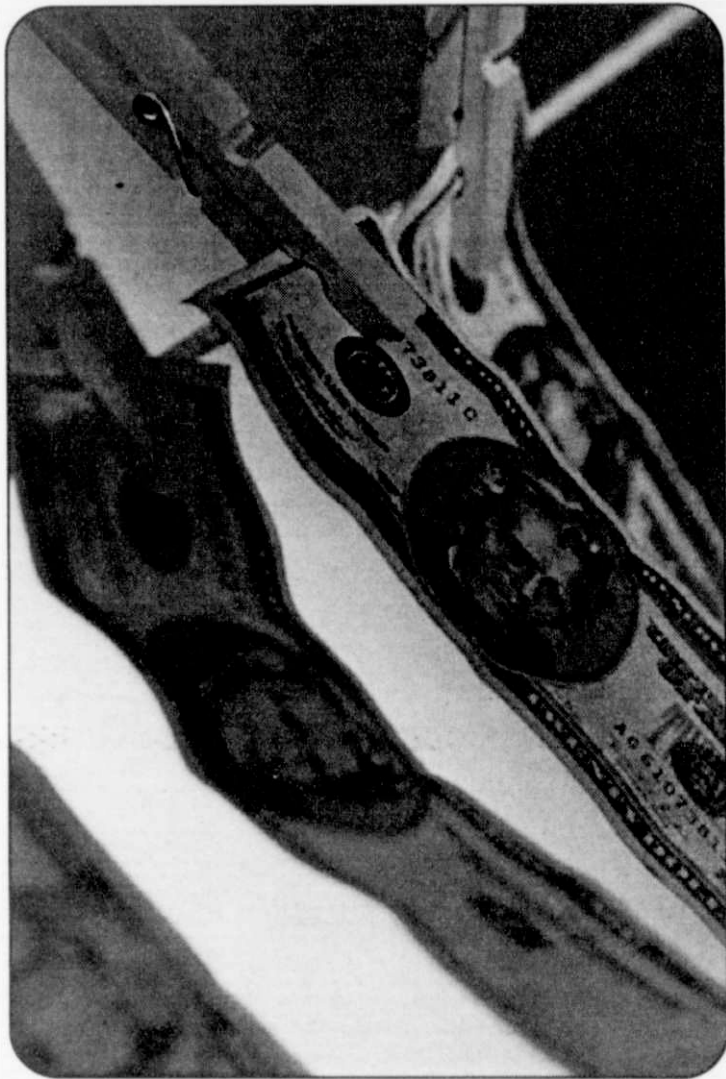

As associate professor in clinical and counseling psychology at Argosy University in Dallas, Dan Clement, Ph.D., believes that newlyweds need to learn how to trust their ability to make difficult financial decisions as a couple. Some newlyweds may find it hard to make tough financial decisions together as a couple and will consequently try to make all the decisions unilaterally or be complacent and let the other person make the decision. This happens especially if either person senses tension in the discussion. "As a professional therapist, my biggest challenge in pre-marital counseling is getting couples to see past the illusion that falling in love makes everything else irrelevant or that you will naturally agree on everything just because your partner makes you feel wonderful," says Clement.

Though the idea of falling in love appeals to almost everyone, except maybe Tina Turner with her "What's Love Go to Do with It?" mantra, the feeling that love will solve every challenge in marriage is about the person you will marry is seeing who you are, who they are and who you are as a couple," added Clement. Clement suggests that couples look for a marriage and family therapist who is certified to give assessments designed to help couples get a good start in handling financial conflicts before they get married. Couples are spending a great deal of money and time planning their dream wedding; however, having a successful marriage probably has more to do with the plan a couple creates to tackle tough financial decisions than it does with making wedding plans.

unrealistic. "A big part of making a good decision

(ARA) - The quest for love - and for the perfect partner - is really a quest for wholeness. When speaking of spouses or significant others, people often refer to "my better half," or "my soul mate."

But how do you go about finding and nurturing this all-important relationship? How do you deal with obstacles to your happiness such as meddling in-laws and extended family squabbles? Author Elizabeth Clare Prophet and co-author Patricia Spadaro give advice on these topics and more as they explore the spiritual dimension of love and relationships in three books from the popular series "Pocket Guides to Practical Spirituality," published by Summit University Press.

Prophet believes that the secret to attracting what we want is to start to become it ourselves. Rather than desiring to be loved, be love. If you want to increase your capacity to give and receive more love, start by giving more love to others. In this same way, you can work on your ideal relationship by becoming what you want to see in your partner. You can become the magnet that attracts the perfect relationship.

She also shows how compassion can overcome challenges and create a vibrant and healthy love relationship. In "Alchemy of the Heart," the authors outline how to cultivate compassion and forgiveness, which can help individuals understand the spiritual lessons inherent in any challenge.

It is important to deal with problems as they arise, lest the energy of non-resolution build up, like layers of sedimentary rock, blocking the doors of the heart. "Compassion doesn't blame others for the circumstances we find ourselves in, but shows us that it's our reaction to those circumstances that matters most. It invites us to climb to a higher vantage point so we can meet our challenges from a new level," says Spadaro.

In "Alchemy of the Heart," she outlines how to cultivate compassion and forgiveness, which can help individuals understand the spiritual lessons inherent in any challenge. In the end, Prophet says, one of the most important keys to a good relationship is to cultivate our unique relationship with our Higher Self and with God, and to help our partner do the same.

To read more about spirituality and relationships, ask for these books at fine bookstores everywhere.

Cotton Wedding Dress Designers Marry Beauty and Originality

The New Face of Bridal Wear

(ARA) - There's a new trend brewing in the world of bridal wear and, true to its own subtle style, it's making small waves and catching one bride at a time. The trend is cotton wedding dresses in a variety of different fabrics ranging from piqué, dotted Swiss and eyelet to stretch denim. Fresh, functional and most importantly, original, these cotton designs are as distinctive in style and fabric as the brides who wear them.

Christina Dalle Pezze designer and owner of Simple Silhouettes, strongly agrees. A firm believer in the less is more theory, she describes her creations as "classic, modern and sleek. They're wedding dresses as opposed to wedding gowns," she explains.

"I've always been attracted to natural fibers," says Pezze. "Cotton is beautiful. It's bright white and very fresh." She cites her fashion icons as Jackie O. and Audrey Hepburn and designs her wedding dresses to reflect what she describes as this "classic, all-American style." The bride who wears a cotton creation is down to earth and often planning a summer outdoor ceremony or reception. A cotton wedding dress thus gives her the elegant, clean lines she seeks without sacrificing comfort.

Just like in science, in bridal fashion, for every cotton wedding dress design there is an equal and opposite design. Case in point, the sexy, romantic designs of designer Edgardo Bonilla.

"I like the texture of cotton and combining different textures like heavy twill next to a silk satin. It's that mix of the unexpected that makes the gown interesting," he explains. Add to that the Latin flavor he incorporates into his designs and the results are sexy and unique looks for fashion-forward brides of any age.

The designer enjoys working with cotton so much, in fact, that he's already planning his next move. "Cotton is so comfortable and airy," he explains, "and with a little bit of stretch it provides a really great fit, especially around the torso so I'd like to create with cotton knit or a cotton/linen blend next," he muses. In the meantime, his denim designs have made quite an impact on the world of bridal fashion. "I got a lot of [press] coverage because these dresses were so unexpected," he explains with pride.

So if variety is the spice of life then cotton fabric is the fabric of choice for brides seeking to set themselves apart from the crowd. In addition to providing a refreshing lightness and dance-all-night comfort, this natural fiber offers unsurpassed versatility from texture and design to weight and color. The result is a look that's unique to each bride -- the epitome of personalization and a true reflection of who she is. And, after all, why not? Isn't that what separates one wedding from the next?

Need Help Decorating Your New Home?

Are you getting married and are fortunate enough to be able to buy a house? If you have been living at home or have just had an apartment in the past, what you don't know about window treatments, flooring, furniture and all those other "home" decorating ideas can cost you a lot of money. Especially if things do not turn out exactly as you envisioned. But, don't worry, assistance is available and you will find you CAN do it the RIGHT way the first time around with the help of Connie Podewils, an affordable, full-service interior designer.

Doing it the RIGHT way is the key as Connie sees so many newlyweds buy what they "like" the first time around, without the co-ordination of other items in the room, and then they get tired of the room very quickly. This obviously is a waste of time and money, not only for newlyweds, but also for anyone who is upscaling to a new home, or remodeling their current living quarters.

Connie custom personalizes a room to reflect how YOU feel in that room, which is what makes her work so unique and well, accepted. When Connie walks into a home she asks which room they would like to address first, realizing that for most people, it is a matter of cost containment to do one room at a time.

She will ask you leading questions about the room such as, will it be casual or formal, what colors do you prefer, and what furnishings you wish to retain. She then attempts find a common denominator and utilizes her unique talent to get a comfortable flow in the room which "pleases the eye".

ate a flow. Tints add more white to color, like trying to get a lighter shade of pink. Tone adds gray and mutes a color. Shade adds black and darkens a color like Hunter Green.

Colors also portray temperature with blues, violets and greens having restful, cool colors while red, orange and yellow portray excitement. Yellow, for example, is a happy color and would be good in a child's playroom but not in the bedroom. As people age, some may develop a film on their eyes, so yellow would be too bright for them. So, how many of us know all these things? Most people are color ignorant of these facts, but they also do not possess that keen eye for complementing a room which seems to come naturally to Connie.

Connie does not remember exactly when this creativity began, but remembers she was always moving the furniture around as a child to give the house a "new look". It was not until 1995 that she followed her dream and went to MATC for two years to receive her interior designer degree.

She worked as a designer for other firms for awhile until she went into business for herself where she felt freer to use her talents and education to the best of her ability.

Another reason Connie to venture out on her own, is that she can work out of her home (with no storefront) and thereby pass on the savings to her clients by eliminating the middleman.

Never in your wildest dreams would you believe the full spectrum of variables that an interior designer examines. In addition to the tangibles of drapes, valences, furniture, flooring and accessories, Connie also helps people with the intangibles such as space planning, color consultation, room transitioning and personalization.

Connie has a knack for looking at shapes and sizes and being able to arrange them in a symmetric pattern, including the incorporation of oversized furniture being made to look proportionate with the room.

She advises her clients that by using an interior designer it also gives you certain privileges. You do not have to go to a store, for example, and go through dozens of color swatches, as she brings them all to you. For the "non-shoppers" she is a savior as she brings the store's best to you.

The average person pays little attention to quality and craftsmanship. Connie checks all these things out before she advises you. She alleviates the work of decorating a home as she takes you directly to the product or brings the product to you, which is a true time-saver in today's fast paced world.

Connie stresses the importance of using a full service interior designer, not a decorator, as only interior designers hold a degree and mistakes that are made can be very costly. She advises if you don't use her, ask for an interior designer when you go to select furniture as a simple decorator may not know what goes together in a systematic way in your home. Buyers should be aware of this in all aspects because the buyer is the one who is paying.

Connie can go places others cannot in search of specific items or prices like the Mart in Chicago, which can be entered only by a pass. She might be able to negotiate a better price on a rug, for example, than a client. Business owners are more willing to let her take a rug off their premises to see how it would look in your home, which they would not do for individuals.

Many people are lacking this characteristic and cannot "SEE" disharmony in a room.

Connie shared one major aspect of decorating, which is color. You can start with one object in a room (the keeper) and, working with tints, tone and shades of color, can crein your home to guide you and that your home should be a reflection of you.

Connie is an affordable interior designer who tries to redo each and every room in the most economical way for her clients, and feels no job is too small. She will go the "extra mile" for her clients to make sure they are happy with the finished product.

Connie has two grown children and resides in West Bend with her husband, Rick. She belongs to BNI (Business Networking Interaction), West Bend Chamber of Commerce, a member of PACE (Women's Business Organization), a member of St. Mary's parish in West Bend and a member of Clare Oasis (house of prayer).

In her spare time she reads various magazines and books to keep up with the trends of her trade. She also enjoys cooking, quilting, and going fishing.

Another service Connie provides is hiring reliable sub contractors to do the actual work. Her familiarity with them insures her confidence in the final product. She remains the liaison for all the sub contractors. The people she recommends are neat and clean up after themselves, which is another plus.

Connie loves her work and treats people the way she wants to be treated, a trait which she also demands from her professional sub-contractors. She tries to get to know her clients and wants them to express their ideas and feeling for a room. She respects her clients, their needs and their desires. She is more interested in giving a room you already find comfortable, a fresh, new look rather than following something trendy. Wedding Photography: Some Money Saving Tips

(ARA) - If you're not careful, wedding photography costs can get out of hand in a hurry. The typical couple spends about seven percent of their wedding budget, or $1,150, on photos and a video.

How can you make sure your wedding is beautifully photographed and not go over budget? You definitely don't want to skimp on something so important; the photos will be something you will treasure for years to come, but there are ways to keep costs from getting out of control.

Here are some ideas from a few professional wedding photographers for saving money without sacrificing the quality of your photographs.

- * Always hire a professional, but limit their time taking pictures. You only have one chance to get it right, so make sure you engage the services of someone who has experience photographing weddings. You have several options, including a "ceremony only" package which means the professional would take all the formal pictures of the bride and groom, family and wedding party and the ceremony, but wouldn't stay for the reception.

- * Choose a photography package instead of purchasing all of the items separately. If there is something you want that isn't included, ask the photographer if you can swap it for something else without increasing the price.

- * Be careful about choosing the smallest or least expensive photography package. You may end up spending a lot more money after the wedding for all the additional prints you will need to buy separately that are not included in the original package. It may be less expensive to purchase a more comprehensive package up front.

- * Be skeptical of all the extras you are offered. Options such as a "Deluxe" or "Ultra" wedding album or a framed wedding portrait will add up. What really counts are the photographs, not the packaging.

- * Have some designated friends help you document the reception. Putting disposable cameras on reception tables has become popular recently, but many couples are finding that the resulting photographs aren't very good. It works much better to choose just a few trusted people and supply each of them with a high quality camera.

- * Have a friend or two videotape the ceremony. Most of us know someone who has experience with a video camera and would be willing to record the wedding ceremony.

You could save about $1,000 on your photography bill by asking your talented friends for their help.
