Edwards Takes County Kerry Claims Victory in State Presidential Preference Vote

By Andrew Kuehl
Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

Democratic front runner John F. Kerry has pulled through yet another primary victory. Unofficial returns claim Kerry to have carried the state with John Edwards and Howard Dean coming in second and third respectively.

As far as Washington County voters are concerned their favorite is Edwards who received 5,480 votes. Kerry received 4,443 while Dean garnered 2,635. 13,223 total votes were cast county wide.

The Village of Kewaskum had a tie for the lead between Edwards and Kerry. Each received 145 votes while Dean received 73.
Village administrator

Daniel Schmidt stated that 21% of Kewaskum's electorate came out to the polls.

Results from the Town of Kewaskum were not received at press time.

Town of Auburn voters also favored Edwards who received 82. Kerry and Dean came in second and third with 64 and 50 votes respectively. Town clerk Bonnie Berg reported the township had 275 voters.

With his Wisconsin victory, Kerry has won 15 of the 17 elections - seven by nearly half the vote - on the East and West coasts, in the Midwest, the Great Plains and the Southwest.

Dean who was rumored to drop out of the race if he did not carry Wisconsin states he will continue to fight for a chance at the Presidency.

Cajun Buffet One of the Highlights Of Mardi Gras Celebration March 5

Plans are falling into place nicely for the upcoming Mardi Gras Dinner and Dance celebration being sponsored by the Friends of Kewaskum on Friday, March 5 at the Amerahn, located just north of Kewaskum.

The chefs at Woody's Steakhouse in Kewaskum, who will be catering the unique buffet, have announced an outstanding lineup of cajun food at a very reasonable price. They will be offering something for all degrees of tastebuds in attendance ranging from mild to spicy. The cajun buffet is being offered for only $10.95 per person and will include crawfish, cajun sausage and peppers, shrimp jambalaya, cajun catfish, chicken Mardi Gras, okra, hush puppies, bean and rice casserole and corn bread. No one could possibly leave this buffet hungry. For those of you who are afraid to sample the wonderful Cajun buffet, (try it, you'll like it!) the Kewaskum Sno Chiefs will be offering hamburgers, brats and hot dogs, ala carte.

All who attend will be required to purchase admittance to the dance and celebration for $3.00 at the door. The dance will feature live entertainment by the ever-popular Downtown Harrison, who has a great time getting the audience involved in a variety of popular music from robotics to soft favorites.

Also being featured will be lots of raffles, games, beads, prizes and many other Mardi Gras favorites, including two awesome "kink" cakes, courtesy of cake aficionado, Alice Ketter of rural Campbellsport. A token will be placed inside each one of the two cakes prior to frosting. Attendees will have the opportunity to purchase a piece of this delectable cake and just may be the recipient of the piece with the token inside. A male and female prize will be awarded to the lucky person with the token in his/her piece of cake. Be careful where you bite!

A special raffle will also be held to benefit Barb Liegl, a Kewaskum resident and member of the Friends of Kewaskum, who has incurred extremely large medical bills. Barb will also be the recipient of the matching funds being raised this year by the Modern Woodmen Card Party being held at Amerahn in April.

All are encouraged to attend the celebration in Mardi Gras costume, however costumes are NOT mandatory, just part of the fun. Prizes will be awarded for the most original.

The Friends have been working on authentic decorations for weeks and it is planned to turn Amerahn into a typical Bourbon Street festival.

Another highlight of the celebration will be the crowning of Kewaskum's first-ever Ms. Mardi Gras. (Please see the related article on Page 5).

Mark your calendars and plan on attending Kewaskum's first Mardi Gras celebration. Good food, lots of fun, prizes and games, (anyone know the French word for "gemuetlichkeit"?), exciting entertainment, Ms. Mardi Gras coronation and a variety of activities. It promises to be an evening you won't want to miss!

January is Deadliest on Wisconsin Roadways

Last month was the deadliest January on Wisconsin roadways since the mid-1960's. According to preliminary data from the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, 74 people were killed in traffic crashes last month making in the third deadliest January on record. Only January 1964 with 82 deaths and January 1966 with 77 deaths were higher.

"We are very concerned that many motorists didn't remember their winter driving skills when the snows of January arrived," Bureau of Transportation Safety Director Major Dan Lansdorf said. "Far too many times people were killed because they were driving too fast on slick winter roads then paid the ultimate price. Driving 60- or 70- miles per hour on a snow covered road is just plain irresponsible."

Last month's 74 deaths was 14 above the number killed in January 2003 and 23 above the five-year average.

According to the preliminary data, crashes last month killed 47 drivers, 24 passengers and three pedestrians.

Major Lansdorf said motorists should allow themselves enough time to get where they're going so they're not rushed and feel it necessary to use the drive to make up time lost. They should also wear their safety belts. He noted that some 63% of passenger vehicle occupants killed in traffic crashes were not wearing safety belts in 2002, the most recent year for which there is safety belt data.

Vehicle Registration Top 5.1 Million

If you thought the roads were a little more crowded last year, you were right. According to the Division of Motor Vehicles, 5,160,673 vehicles were registered in Wisconsin as of January 1, 2004. That's an increase of 2.4% over January 1 last year when vehicle registrations totaled 5,038,541.

The biggest jump in registrations came from motorcycles and mopeds. There were 225,181 motorcycles registered, a 13.4% increase over the 198,495 registered last year. Moped registrations were up 21.6% from 22,527 last year to 27,386 this year.

Also increasing were light trucks, up 2% to 794,677. Automobile registrations were down slightly to 2,412,197, a decrease of about six tenths of a percent from the 2,426,922 registered a year ago. There are a wide variety of vehicles, including semis, school buses, and motor homes, which make up the balance of the vehicle registrations.

The decline in automobile registrations and increase in light truck registrations continues a recent trend as more people are either purchasing pickup trucks or other similar vehicle or are electing to register their sport utility-type vehicle as a light truck. It's not possible to sort out SUVs from other vehicles because of the ability of people to register them as either autos or trucks. There is not a specific plate type for SUVs.

Chamber

hat at te r
 Hon-E-Kor Country Club was the setting for the Annual Chamber Valentine Banquet and Meeting held on Wednesday, Feb. 11, 2004. Members and guests in attendance enjoyed a delicious dinner and the camaraderie of fellow business owners and friends.
 Following the dinner, members were treated to the entertainment of comedy Sportz of Milwaukee. Laughter was in abundance as the comedians entertained with improv stand-up portraying their own version and style of local businessowners, Kevin Stautz of Hollywood's Portrait Studio, Wendi Dreher of Hair on Main and many others in attendance. Thank you to everyone who attended to make this evening so totally enjoyable and for those who were unable attend you missed out on a really great time.

President Linda Theisen of St. Francis Bank called for a short business meeting prior to dinner to inform the membership about proposed Chamber projects and this year's fund raisers. Three vacant board positions needed to be filled. Members nominated to fill these positions on the Board of Directors are Phyllis Schmidt of Artcentral, Dave Goeden of Goeden's Auto Body and Larry Jesowshek of First Weber Group.

The first and foremost exciting project is the redesign, set-up and maintenance of the Chamber Web Site. Jake Schneider of Blink Internet Consulting of West Bend will be up-grading the site and maintaining it. The site will become more of a point of destination site to promote local business, commerce, and tourism.

It will provide general information, information on local events and calendars. It will hi-lite the culture of the greater Kettle Moraine area, along with things to see and do while visiting the area. The web has become an important tool in the promotion of tourism, consequently keeping a site current is extremely important to a community.

Chamber members in attendance approved a donation of banners for village lamp posts on the new Highway 45 south entrance, as well as the completion of the River Hill Park Steak Stand. The Chamber will also be making a donation toward the landscaping at the "Gateway to the Kettle Moraine" sign at the south village limits.

Upcoming events include the Appreciation Dinner/Style Show to be held April 21, 2004 at Amerahn's on Highway 45, Kewaskum. Chairwoman Wendi Dreher of Hair on Main will be looking for models for the style show, as well as workers to help at the event. Wendi and her crew always do an outstanding job providing an enjoyable evening of food and entertainment. We encourage the business community to show the appreciation of their employees by considering sending them to this event.

A Brat Fry is scheduled for Saturday, June 19, 2004 at Geidel's Piggly Wiggly.

The Annual Chamber Golf Outing will be held on Saturday, July 31, 2004 at Hon-E-Kor Country Club. Mike Geidel of Geidel's Piggly Wiggly will be chairing this event with the proceeds going toward the Christmas Parade which is sponsored by the Chamber.

This year the Chamber sponsored the first Winterfest on Sunday, Feb. 8, 2004. Area organizations chose an event to host as their own fund raiser at a particular site in the Village, with the Chamber picking up the tab for all the advertising.

The weekend started with the Friday night kickoff event of a trip to the Admirals Hockey Game in Milwaukee hosted by Jeff Jaeger-Modern Woodmen and Angie D's. Sunday started out with the American Legion's pancake breakfast which was well attended by about 200 people and the Holy Trinity Card Party proved to be an enjoyable way to spend a Sunday afternoon.

Geidel's Piggly Wiggly Turkey Bowling was also well attended with the proceeds going toward Special Olympics. This event was definitely good for a few laughs. The Kewaskum Junior Women's Club sold delicious chili, chicken soup, and hot dogs with all proceeds going towards the purchase of additional playground equipment at Kiwanis Park. The Holy Trinity Athletic Association joined the Juniors at the Annex, selling bakery as a fund raiser for their organization. Thank you to all organizations for taking part in this year's Winterfest.

The goal of the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce is to support the enhancement of the Village, to attract business, and to promote a friendly and attractive environment for business, shoppers, and visitors. To accomplish this, we need the support of the entire business

Boltonville Memories

This is the second article for February, 2004 from the Boltonville Sesquicentennial Committee. The committee will be running bi-weekly articles and updates on the celebration being held June 26 and 27.

I am making a quilt for my youngest son to take away to college with him next fall. He picked out the manly pattern of bearpaw; color: green. He even laid out the pattern in a way I wouldn't have considered. It is pleasing to his eye, and mine, too. He won't need it for warmth like the first settlers who came to Boltonville did, though. It's a family project for us, making good memories.

One hundred and fifty-one years ago, the woman who raised seven children in the house she and her husband built, which is now ours, made quilts. Finding part of her quilt frame, with her name written bold and black on it, was an exciting discovery. I think about how the women worked together to decide on some pattern, cut out their blocks from worn-out clothing and other blankets, or coats. Sewing machines were available, but not widely used. In fact, a version of the one with uses the kind of feed on our modern machines is 150 years old this year, too. I put my blocks together with my machine, but I have to set in the sashing pieces by hand to get them straight. I'm not very good at measuring. I'll probably quilt it by hand, too, opposite of my grandmother's method of making the tops in the summer and quilting with the blankets over her lap for warmth all winter long.

You can relive this classic pioneer craft with us on June 26 and 27, when a quilt display and demonstrations will be part of our Boltonville Sesquicentennial Celebration. We'll be here to answer your questions as we keep this tradition alive.

Advertising opportunities are still available in our Remembrance book, call Kevin Fay or Kevin Belger. Calendars are available at The Statesman, Coffe Corner, General Store Antique Mall and Marshall's Country Corner in Boltonville, as well as the Old Courthouse Square Museum in West Bend.

Town of Kewaskum Denies Re-Zoning Request

The Town of Kewaskum denied a request Monday evening from Al Luedtke, agent for JLM Partnership, owner of a parcel of land at N8475 USH 45. Luedtke petitioned to have 6.38 acres zoned from Manufacturing district to Business district. The town's planning commission recommended that the town deny the request because the applicant would not give their intention for the land after it was re-zoned and possibly sold. Gerald Remillard of JLM Partnership stated the rezoning would make the land more attractive to buyers. Two Village of Kewaskum business owners along with a town resident voiced their disapproval for the re-zoning as well.

Library Ledger

By Steev Baker
Kewaskum Library Director
www.kewaskum.lib.wi.us

During the next few weeks, I would like to highlight some of our collections and address how you can help us make them better. This week, we tackle magazines.

The Kewaskum Public Library currently has just over 70 different magazines, which places us squarely in the middle of the list of Wisconsin libraries with similar service populations. While I won't list every title we own, we should consider at least the most popular "genres" of magazine that we circulate. It breaks down roughly like this: women's interest magazines (Redbook, Woman's Day, Country Living, etc.) are probably our highest circulating; next is hunting/fishing/outdoors magazines (Wisconsin Trails, Fur Fish Game, Wisconsin Sportsman, etc.); then come entertainment magazines (People, GamePro, Nickelodeon, etc.); then come consumer interest magazines (Popular Science, Popular Mechanics, Consumer Reports, etc.); finally, we have a few craft magazines (Family Fun, Crafts N' Things). The rest of our magazines tend to fit in the general category of non-fiction publications: Backwoods Home, American Artist, Organic Gardening, Games, Zoobooks, etc.

My dilemma is this—I would like to get new subscriptions for the Library, but everything we currently have gets checked out with similar frequency. We have a limited budget and, aside from soliciting donations or asking people to adopt publications, we must get rid of current holdings in order to add new ones. If I had my way, of course, I would do away with Time, Newsweek, Sports Illustrated, and some of the other weekly magazines whose price is the highest and have the weakest circulation. And if you are willing to come into the library and not see any of these, then I am very willing to cancel our subscriptions. I would like to offer various periodicals that will enhance our non-fiction collection: another gardening magazine, perhaps, more home-decorating, quilting, collectables, more specialty magazines rather than weekly newsmagazines that rarely get checked out.

Some titles I have had suggested to me recently are: Fine Gardening Magazine, Oprah, Mary Engelbriet's Home Companion and Cricket. I would add to these: Scientific American, Family History Magazine, Writer's Digest, Popular Photography. I would appreciate your input; this library belongs to the people of Kewaskum. Please e-mail any comments, questions or suggestions, to me at kewaskum@mwfls.org. Or, better yet, stop by the library to check out a magazine or two.

Kettle Moraine YMCA Community Open House

On Sunday, Feb. 22, from 10:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. the Kettle Moraine YMCA will host a community open house and ribbon cutting ceremony in celebration of the renovations and expansion. The day includes a ribbon cutting ceremony and building presentation, class demonstrations, building tours, family activities, and more.

Plans for the expansion and renovation were driven by member requests for an enhanced facility and the reality that the size of the current facility could not accommodate the expanding membership.

"This is an exciting time for the YMCA. The YMCA is a place where individuals and families can come together," said Jon Lange, Executive Director.

The YMCA serves more than 8,000 members with more than 7% growth in the last three years. At the current rate of growth, the YMCA expects to serve about 10,000 people annually in 2005.

The construction includes: a youth and family center, a larger interior lobby/check-in area and exterior plaza/gathering area, an expanded circuit weight room and "spinning" studio, and increased space for classes and other community activities.

The Kettle Moraine YMCA is a nonprofit organization dedicated to putting Christian principles into practice through programs that build healthy Spirit, Mind and Body. They build strong kids, strong families, and strong communities.

Ms. Mardi Gras Down to Final Five Contestants

The votes have been cast and the results have now become a part of the history of Kewaskum. Five finalists are now on the road to an eventual coronation for one of them. The lucky (?) winner will become the first-ever Ms. Mardi Gras in the history of this fine community (and perhaps the last!).

Can you imagine the pride you would feel sitting down to tell your grandchildren that you were chosen to be the first Kewaskum Ms. Mardi Gras? It is no wonder this whole contest has been filled with unbridled emotion! I just figured nobody actually wanted to be the lucky lady. How wrong I was!

The voting this week was furious and fast-paced. It was almost as thrilling as the Daytona 500. Just when I thought one "princess" was way ahead, another envelope would arrive for a different "princess." This is the time in the contest that things really get exciting when the status of the contestants changes almost daily.

I have been trying to keep you in suspense and building up to a climactic announcement of the final five, but mere words cannot describe the tension building.

Perhaps it would be easier to begin by the process of elimination. CTXYZ, also known as Carole Timblin, was upset that she got alphabetically placed at the end of the article last week, so I will begin with her. Carole, as well as Sue Dobke and Annie Shaske, received no further votes and consequently can breathe a sigh of relief for they have been eliminated... from the contest that is.

Also eliminated were Karen Heberer who received only one additional vote and Denise Kudek, who received three more votes. And last but not least, in spite of a flurry of ballot box stuffing by a close friend, Sheri Baldikowski did not make the final five.

Too bad, America! Now you will never see the picture or hear the juicy story of "the brussels sprouts queen." I warned you all last week but your votes went elsewhere. However, if you attend the dinner/dance celebration and offer me a Bud Lite, I would probably tell you the story anyway. (Don't worry Diane... Sheri will eventually tell you the tale!)

I suppose it all worked out for the best anyway, because Sheri will be in Las Vegas oogling Celine Dione during the coronation ceremonies here on March 5. If she would have become a finalist we would have had to spring for a satellite TV monitor so Sheri could have been a part of the celebration. That would have cut into the profits considerably.

So six have been knocked out of the running and five remain. Have you figured it out? Okay here's a few clues and these are in no specific order.

I received two larger green votes for one of the finalists, anonymously, of course! One of the bills had musical notes drawn all over it and the other one, believe it or not, had cucumbers placed on it.

I know this is some type of clue but it kept me scratching my head. For those of you who are as clueless as I am, the votes were for Beth Phillips and those secret bills carried her right into the finals.

Another finalist tried to "trim" her votes by threatening her customers with a "bad hair day!" Did you get it? This was an easy one. The second finalist is none other than Wendi Dreher, owner of Hair on Main.

Finalist number three is married to a gentleman who won the dubious distinction of kissing a live pig a few years at Kettle Kountry Kolors. Is he seeking revenge? Apparently so, as Lianne Becht, wife of Paul Becht, has made it into the home stretch.

Our second last finalist is known far and wide for her friendly smile at the Silver Platter. She has also been known to pull a few pranks herself that have made people giggle. Rumor has it, actually, it's quite true, and a "smelly" rumor it is! Silver Platter owner, always ready to campaign for her friends, has stated "the smelt are running" for finalist Diane Schneider. Tammy has pledged a $1.00 vote for every smelt plate purchased at the Platter on February 25 on Diane's behalf. What a pal!

You better order lots of smelt Tammy. Diane has a big family and I would be willing to bet her sisters would just love to see Diane crowned Ms. Mardi Gras!

And last but not never least, our final finalist is a business owner in Kewaskum who has really taken the Ms. Mardi Gras contest very seriously, but is still having a great time with the fun of it all. And that is exactly the way the contest has been designed. Lois Bahr of Sun Seekers tanning salon is bound and determined to solicit more votes than John Kerry. Lois has instituted ballot boxes in her establishment and campaigns actively every day, and let's just leave it at that.

As a matter of fact, Lois already has her coronation costume all picked out. Oh yeah, did I forget to mention that finalists who arrive at the dance in costume will receive an additional 50 votes. Those who attend the dinner/dance celebration at Amerahn on March 5 will get to voice vote for the best costume. The one judged the "best of the finalists" will receive 100 extra votes. So this could end up a very close contest!

So get busy campaigning and designing those costumes finalists and the rest of you, start voting (coupon below) for your favorite of the "fab five!"

Loston Harris to Perform at Schauer Center

Loston Harris

Love You," and "Twilight." USA Today says of Loston, "Incredibly fluid playing . . . Harris never fails to impress." His vocals have been compared to Harry Connick, Jr. and his keyboards to Ahmad Jamal, but Loston Harris is a fresh face on today's jazz scene. Making his musical "home" at the Carlyle Hotel in New York City when he is not touring.

Loston Harris was a member of Grammy-award winner Wynton Marsalis' ensemble and played at the Lincoln Center with Marsalis before forming his own group. His first recording, Comes Love, received critical acclaim. Of Harris, Marsalis says, "Loston plays with a lot of fire and intelligence!"

Tickets for the 7:30 PM Friday evening performance on February 27th can be purchased by contacting the Schauer Center box office at tel. 262. 670.0560. The box office is open from 11:30 AM to 5:30 PM, Monday through Friday.

Loston Harris has paid his dues, so-to-speak, having played with some of the jazz world's greatest musicians. At his ripe young age of 30, Harris is a rising talent in today's jazz scene.

Described by the Los Angeles Times as, "an upcoming jazz talent worth noting," Loston Harris performs at the Schauer Center on Friday, February 27th for one night only in a 7:30 PM concert with his own quartet. An "Open Rehearsal" from 4 to 5 PM will precede the evening's performance at the Schauer Center with the artist entertaining questions about his musical career from the audience during that event.

The accomplished pianist and singer Harris will appeal to jazz buffs and fans of the straight ahead standards of the 1950s and 1960s. Loston Harris is as classic as the songs on his new album, Timeless that features jazz versions of "On the Street Where You Live," "If I Say I

SCHOOL NEWS

Education... It's Everyone's Business

By Wayne P. Graczyk,
Kewaskum Superintendent of Schools
www.kewaskumschools.org

Empowering Students to Shape the Future

At a recent School Board meeting a presentation entitled the Ten Trends was made. These trends will greatly affect the very foundations of society, as we know it. However, these trends represent only a starting point as schools, school systems, and communities come together to make plans for an even brighter future for the community and for their children.

In facing the challenges of what the future holds for us we have a choice. We can defend the past or the status quo, or we can get on with creating a future. Schools did a marvelous job of preparing students for an industrial age. However, we are now moving into a global knowledge-information age. Doing it "the way I was taught when I was in school" doesn't work in this new information age.

Think about this for a moment. High School graduates in the 1950's knew 75% of what they needed to know when they moved in to the work force. Today kids know about 2% of what they will need to know. What today's schools will be called to do is teach kids how to generate knowledge. Schools must encourage kids to learn beyond us, and that is scary for people who may be uncomfortable with the advances in technology today. When you realize that 80% of the jobs that will be available to our students in the year 2010 weren't even created in 2000, you can see our young people are moving into a world far different than what most adults grew up with, or know.

Educating students today is vastly different then when you and I were in school.

Technology, computers, hand-held devices, are a part of their everyday lives. Our students have never lived in a world without computers, while a majority of middle and older adults clearly remember a world without computers. Like it or not, we are not going to change the world and make it go backward. The future is now, and the future is our children.

District residents will soon have an opportunity to vote on a school referendum. One part of that referendum addresses the technology needs of the school district. When the time comes to vote on April 6, I hope you will remember this article. In fact I hope that you cut it out, put it on your refrigerator or little bulletin board. When it is time to cast your vote, keep in mind what I said: Educating today's students is vastly different then when you and I were in school. By saying, "We didn't have computers when I was in school and I turned out alright" doesn't make sense. Maybe you didn't know it at the time, but I am fairly confident that when you and I were in school, we were given the latest and most advanced machinery and technology available at that time. Whether that was a Dictaphone, calculator, moving from a manual to electric typewriter, the film strip machine, a VCR or the video camera, you probably had the best "stuff" society had to offer, and graciously took advantage of every new advance that came along.

The future is now, and the future is our children. Take time to learn and understand the technology part of the referendum. You can visit our website listed above. The entire referendum will be placed on it within a few days. If you have any questions stop in and visit me personally at 1455 School Street in Kewaskum, or call me at 626-4487. Our children's future depends on it.

HEROES

There are heroes in our land today that never receive any recognition

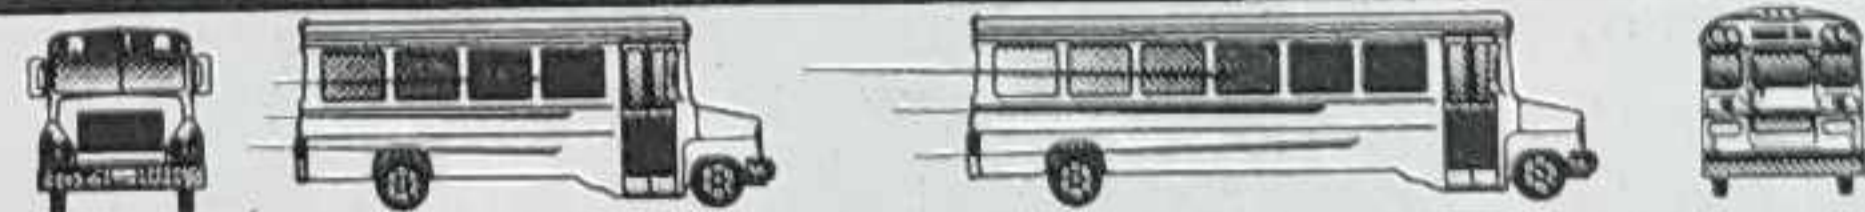

Some of these are a child's first acquaintance with education
Now a teacher might be the first one who comes to our mind
But I speak of the bus driver for which the kids wait in line.

For a moment, put yourself in the bus driver's shoes
And I'm sure you will find that it's a job you might not want to choose
Just think what it would be like to baby sit for sixty or better

And remember you must chauffeur this busload of kids regardless of the weather.

I must admit, to be in front of a classroom with 20-30 kids wouldn't be a picnic
But to drive 60 kids over icy roads would set my nerves on edge and make my stomach sick
A school bus driver is like a postman and must go regardless of rain, snow, gloom and darkest of night
But no postman ever had to have 60 kids, clean up their mess, or break up a fight.

A child can have a bad day at school without any warning
But can be forgotten when a bus driver says, "Have a good evening, I'll see you in the morning"
Ask any student, what heroes out there never received any fame
And I'll bet a bus driver will be among those that they name.

THANK YOU FOR THE GREAT JOB YOU DO!

The State of Wisconsin has over 16,000 school bus drivers and they travel over 90 million miles in transporting 600,000 pupils to and from school daily. School buses are the safest form of surface transportation in Wisconsin. All citizens are asked to be aware of the valuable service provided by their school bus driver. The Kewaskum Terminal has an outstanding safety record and should be complimented on it. We would like to recognize the following drivers at this time.

F.E.S. Students Celebrate First 100 Days of School

Mrs. Robrahn and Mrs. Witte's 1st grade classes collected 100 items for the Washington County Food Pantry.

Taylor Nelson, Max Vetter, and Melanie Otten are busy sorting milk caps by the 100s for our Give 'Em Five and Kids Caps & Cash Programs.

First graders in Mrs. Witte and Mrs. Robrahn's classrooms at Farmington Elementary School celebrated the 100th day of school on Monday, February 9, 2004.

Various activities included each child bringing in 100 items of food to be added to a class trail mix. They enjoyed eating the trail mix, but before they could do that, they each made a graph of their portion.

The classes also had their own little food drive to collect food for the Washington County Food Pantry. Their goal was to collect 100 items of food between the two classes. They succeeded!

The first graders are still in the process of collecting milk caps for the Give 'Em Five and Kids Caps and Cash Programs. As of February 10th, the students have collected 3,400 milk caps.

Cast Announced for UW-WC Spring Play

West Bend - The University of Wisconsin-Washington County (UW-WC) is pleased to announce the cast for their spring theatre production, Bridegroom of Blowing Rock. The award-winning play will be performed at 7:30pm on Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6 and March 12 and 13 in the University Theatre. Directed by Professor Brad Ford, the production provides an upclose look at two Appalachian families (the Farthings and the Hopewells) in the aftermath of the Civil War.

Claire Zautner of West Bend will portray the main character of Laurel Farthing, a young blind woman, engaged to and in love with a Union Raider (the mysterious bridegroom). Laurel's brother, Jacob who returns ragged from the war will be played by Tyler Dieringer of Fredonia. Peggy Strang of Random Lake is cast as Elsa Farthing, a hard mountain woman and the mother of Jacob and Laurel.

Two UW-WC students are cast as sisters in the Hopewell family. They include Jessica Jennings of Richfield, as Bitty Hopewell and Angela Blau of Cedarburg, as Maizey Hopewell. Maizey is the older of the two sisters - cheerful, pretty and looking to get married - while Bitty is much more of a tomboy. She prefers to charm snakes over boys.

The mysterious bridegroom and teller of stories is played by Patrick Erdman of Hartford. Rounding out the cast is Jeffrey Brigham of West Bend who plays the part of Pastor

Burns, a man of lost faith. Assisting Professor Ford are Casem AbuLughod of Saukville as Assistant Director and Emily Hamel of Cedarburg as Stage Manager. Both are students at UW-WC.

The story of Bridegroom of Blowing Rock takes place in Blowing Rock, North Carolina. It explores situations that could easily have taken place in 1865 in the Shenandoah Valley as families awaited the return of husbands, fathers and sons from war. Laurel must decide between her Union lover (who promised to return to her) and her Confederate family.

This captivating and thought-provoking play is written by Catherine Trieschmann. Tickets are $8 for adults and $6 for seniors (over 62) and children (under 18). Admission for UW-WC students is free, with presentation of student id. For tickets and reservations, phone 262-335-5208.

The University of Wisconsin-Washington County is located at 400 University Drive in West Bend (off Hwy. 33). More information is available online at www.washington.uwc.edu.

New Lighting Brightens Kewaskum School Gyms at Lower Cost

A lighting update carried out last August in the Kewaskum School District's middle and high school gyms was projected to not only dramatically improve the gyms' lighting, but is expected to cut the lighting's power consumption by 55 percent -- and benefit the local environment as well.

All told, in the retrofit project 72 six-tube Illuminator fixtures, made by Orion Energy Systems, Inc. of Plymouth, replaced 72 400W metal halide lights in the two gyms. Two other 250W metal halide lights were removed without being replaced.

The lights in both gyms receive an estimated 3,120 hours of use each year, and, as a result, Orion has projected an annual saving of 31,581 kilowatt-hours (kWh) for the high school gym and another 27,924 kWh for the middle school gym, a total of over 59,500 kWh per year. This represents a usage reduction -- and cost savings -- of better than 55 percent.

Bob Ellis, buildings and grounds manager for the Kewaskum School District, said the new lights were a notable improvement over their predecessors. "There's been a definite drop in the power usage," he said. "I'm glad to go to the school board with these results because we're clearly going in the right direction."

As to the quality of the lighting, Ellis commented, "We could notice the difference right off. People like the new light better. Somehow you don't 'notice' the light as much even though it is brighter because it is not as 'obvious' as some types -- it is much more even and consistent. It's just a different atmosphere, and everybody likes the change."

Ellis said he also liked Orion's instant on-off operation, because the gyms receive heavy use. It takes metal halide lamps ten minutes or so to warm up each time they are turned on, he said, and this discouraged school staff members from turning the lights off until the end of the day. This, he felt, would save additional electricity and costs.

A final cost-saving factor, Ellis noted, was the lamps themselves. "I can replace all six fluorescent tubes in the Orion fixture for what it would cost me for one metal halide bulb," he said. "And when I was with a different organization, we'd swap (replace) the metal halides every year, because they lost that much light."

New metal halide bulbs typically lose up to half their brightness in six months to a year; the T8 full-spectrum fluorescent tubes used by the Illuminator fixture are rated at a 20,000 hour life and lose only a small fraction of their brightness over time.

Ellis said the lighting upgrade had been suggested by a distributor of Orion products. "We were talking with Enersave, a local electrical contractor, about how to save energy and they suggested the Orion lighting," Ellis said. "At the time, they hadn't been carrying the Orion products that long."

"Some of our schools had been remodeled fairly recently, so the school board was not interested in replacing things they had just bought. We eventually settled on the high school and middle school gyms."

In addition to cost savings, the Kewaskum schools' power reduction will be beneficial to the local environment for years to come. This is because the significant amount of electric power -- 59,500 kWh -- that was once used for the lighting now no longer has to be generated at all. This will mean that several pollutants normally produced by that power generation will now not go into the atmosphere.

The Federal EPA estimates that over its 20-year estimated life of the fixtures, this retrofit will mean 20-year savings of 1,180,000 kWh not generated. This will mean, in turn, that 885 tons of Carbon Dioxide, 241 tons of Carbon, three tons of Sulfur Dioxide and eight tons of Nitrogen Oxides will not be released into the air.

EPA figures also indicate that this will also be the environmental equivalent of planting 217 acres of trees, or removing 167 cars from the road; it is also the conservation equivalent of saving 2107,273 gallons of gasoline or 2,554 barrels of oil over the same 20-year time frame.

All of these savings are possible because Orion Illuminator fixtures have been engineered to use a specially formed, highly reflective surface to 'harvest' light that is emitted from all sides of a fluorescent tube. The 'harvested' light is directed downward to where it is usable. As a result, The Illuminator provides more light from far less energy than standard fixtures.

The Illuminator is typically used with T8 full-spectrum fluorescent tubes and electronic ballasts. As a result, Orion systems turn on instantly, provide a much more natural type of light than older fluorescent types, and are more popular with employees in the typical workplace.

The Illuminator has been awarded several U.S. patents and recently won for Orion Wisconsin's prestigious Spirit of Ecology and Manufacturer of the Year awards, as well.

"We're glad to see 59,500 kWh come off the power grid," commented Orion president Neal Verfuert. "It represents not only a cost savings to the school district and a plus for the environment, but is beneficial to the economy as well because it tends to reduce upward pressure on electric power rates -- and increasing power rates is an issue we're all facing."

"We're also glad that the school district didn't have to sacrifice something or 'do without' to obtain these benefits. They actually have better lighting at lower costs than before. We congratulate them on this noteworthy accomplishment."

Orion Energy Systems, Plymouth WI, manufactures and markets energy efficient lighting solutions for the manufacturing, distribution center, warehousing, commercial, school, and gymnasium markets. Orion provides capacity displacement solutions for supply side management, transmission management, and demand side management for the electricity industry. Besides the awards mentioned above, the company recently received the Wisconsin Business Friend of the Environment Award, and was chosen as a "Success Story" for the 2002 Governor's Summit on Capital. The Jake Becker Blacksmith Shop was once a fixture of Kewaskum's downtown. The shop was located between what is now Woody's Steakhouse and Starfire Motors on Fond du Lac Ave. The photo is thought to have been taken of the Beckers in the early 1900's. The shop closed and the building was razed but an exact date was not determined.

Jeanne Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Becker, and Patrick Hanrahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hanrahan, both of rural Kewaskum, have been chosen as Kiwanis students for the month of November.

Although the outlook for the season is not too bright due to the lack of experience and depth, the Kewaskum wrestlers looked pretty good in their opener here Tuesday against St. Mary's Springs of Fond du Lac. The Indians lost, 29-20, but won five of 11 matches and gained one draw. With only 30 boys out for the sport, the Indians have only four letter winners back. Returnees include senior Kerry Klein, juniors Jeff Gundrum and Tom O'Reilly and sophomore Scott Klein. The latter at 98 pounds should do well. Two good prospects up from the JVs are junior Steve Beck at 138 pounds and 155 pound Mike Pettit. The team is also bolstered by two good transfer students, Jeff Bastian, who moved in from West Bend, at 138 pounds, and Rich Waldkirch, who came from Campbellsport at 185 pounds.

A son was born to Wayne and Janet Lemke, Campbellsport, on November 23.

A son was also born to Joseph and Lynn Judnic, Kewaskum, on November 28.

The Forest Lover

By: Susan Vreeland

If you have a child in your life, chances are that somewhere in your home or office, you've hung a "masterpiece" or two. I've never met a kid who didn't love to draw, and some are pretty good at it. Their mothers, of course, think they're the next Rembrandt. Art, much like beauty, is in the eye of the beholder, and it should come as no surprise that some artists struggle for years before they get any recognition.

"The Forest Lover" by Susan Vreeland (c. 2004, Viking) is Vreeland's novelized historical biography of British Columbian artist Emily Carr, a woman who rejected the standards for women of her day, and followed her heart to paint the Native people and to record their carved cedar poles in her art.

Vreeland's novel starts in 1906, with a young Emily on a trip to Vancouver Island where her passion for Native art is awakened by the kindness of the people in the villages she meets. As she's reluctantly accepted in each village, she learns that the Old Ways are becoming lost to new generations, through both assimilation and "White Man's" law that forbids the Native potlatches, ceremonies by which one chief tries to out-do another by giving increasingly extravagant gifts. Ignoring her sisters and the rules that Victorian society tried to impose, Emily vows that the cultures won't be forgotten, and sets out to paint as many of the poles, in as many different styles as she can find.

After a romance that never quite got started, Emily traveled to France in 1911, and studied with several teachers to learn to use color in a more bold fashion. Friends urged her to stay in France and paint, and although she enjoyed some successes and her paintings were displayed in an art show, she missed her beloved Canada, and soon returned to find and record more Native culture.

At first, Emily's paintings were reviled; many didn't understand the significance of her work, and it wasn't until after World War I that Carr's paintings and sketches began to gain wide acceptance. Emily Carr died in 1945, leaving hundreds of portraits, paintings and drawings, many of which now hang in museums.

Susan Vreeland traveled to British Columbia to get a feel for the life that Emily Carr lived, and "The Forest Lover" is lushly rich with detail. Vreeland's Emily is brash and unafraid, a strong woman who knows what she wants and works to get it. Emily's friend Sophie is a heartbreaking character; be sure to read the Author's Afterward at the end of the book to learn about the life of the real Sophie Frank.

Also take a good look at the cover of the book. Yes, it's one of Emily Carr's paintings, and you'll find others inside the book, although "The Forest Lover" is a story that is a work of art in itself.

Coleman and Kohl Poised to Offer Milk Program Extension Legislation

Senator Norm Coleman (R-MN) and Senator Herb Kohl (D-WI) announced recently that they will introduce bipartisan legislation in the coming days of this session to extend the Milk Income Loss Compensation (MILC) Program first authorized under the 2002 Farm Bill. The MILC program, a key safety net for U.S. dairy farm families during the price collapse of 2002 and early 2003, is currently set to expire September 30, 2005 even while the remaining safety net programs authorized under the Farm Bill remain in effect through 2007.

"The MILC program has literally been a lifeline for thousands of Wisconsin dairy farmers. Without a doubt, we have prevented scores of agriculture bankruptcies this Spring because this program was in place when milk prices hit historic lows," said Kohl. "It is my hope, despite the long-standing regional clashes on dairy policy, that we can get this vital federal policy extended and put dairy on an equal footing for the next farm bill."

The MILC program provided critical assistance to U.S. dairy farm families when prices collapsed in 2002 and early 2003 due to factors beyond their control while still allowing markets to readjust and return to more profitable levels later in 2003 and into 2004 just as this market-oriented safety net was carefully crafted to do. Importantly, the MILC program provides the same safety net to all producers across the United States regardless of their location.

"A December 17, 2003 Wall Street Journal article pointed out that the recovering farm economy is helping to fuel an economic recovery nationally and I agree," said Coleman. "We need to maintain a strong safety net for all America's farm families so that if prices fall again, we not only safeguard our hard working farm families but our national economy as well. The 2002 Farm Bill provides that safety net to most farm families through 2007 and we need to ensure that the MILC program, which provided Minnesota dairy farmers with $149 million in critical help during some record low prices in 2002 and 2003, stays in effect at least through 2007 as well. This should be a bipartisan, national goal and I am pleased to be leading this effort with Senator Kohl," Coleman concluded.

Since the MILC program was first authorized under the 2002 Farm Bill, this safety net has provided $1.8 billion in needed assistance to hard working U.S. dairy farm families who have struggled over the last two years against collapsed prices with prices in some months falling to levels not seen since 1979. Prices began to recover later in 2003 with November posting an all milk price of $14.50 per hundred weight after dipping to $11 in March of the same year.

WHAT MARRIAGE IS

Practical Truth: God has ordained marriage and the family as the backbone unit of any society. When the family unit breaks down, so follows the nation. To make this issue clear, just read the papers and watch the news.

- 1) The existence of marriage and the family, had it's foundation in the will of our creator. Gen 2:24
- 2) Man's role Deu (Deuteronomy) 11:18-22, 26-28 Eph 5:25-33
- 3) Woman's role Eph: 5:33, Proverbs 31:10-31
- 4) Jesus's teaching on marriage Matthew 19:6
- 5) Marriage which was instituted by God to be of one man and one woman.

WHAT MARRIAGE IS NOT

God never instituted marriage to be between one man and another man or one woman to another woman. For if God approved of such an act, then both Old and New Testaments are lies. Therefore since our God cannot EVER same sex marriage is an abomination, and a moral tragedy. The real issue here is not God, But SATAN's agenda (Gen 19:1-29, EX 22:19, Romans 1, 1Cor 6:9).

Since the creation of the world, Satan and his followers, continue to twist God's Word. Example: Satan said in the garden of Eden, Gen 2:1, "Yea, hath God said" (is that what God really said?) since Satan is a liar, deceiver, destroyer, and accuser of the brethren (John 8:41-47), it would be logical that Satan would pen the lie that God where in the Holy Scriptures (The Bible) (not a denominational doctrine or position) they base their beliefs on. They will not find any. It would be of best interest of their soul for them to step down, and repent and allow Christ to restore them. God will not be mocked; a man shall reap what he sows.

The Bible teaches that God created Hell for a reason. For if we think all will make it to heaven, we deceive ourselves, Rev 21:6-8, Rev 22:12-15. I am an example of God's grace on a man who drifted far from him. I have also seen Jesus set men free, not only from the sin of Sodomy, but others as well (drunkards, adulterers, fornicators, liars, thief's. John 8:36) God delights in changed hearts and lives. Trust in Him today!

To The Glory of Christ and no other reason,
Pastor Bobbie G. Minor (Whitewood Family Home Church & Food Pantry)

News From The Capitol

By Senator Mary Panzer

The Legislature Looks at Job Training

The non-partisan Legislative Fiscal Bureau recently announced that revenues for the state were lower than had been anticipated. Although corporate tax collections are on the rise, individual income tax collections have dropped. The decrease in individual income tax collections is a result of the loss of jobs that the state has seen in the last few years. It is also an indication that the state's number one priority should be to retain existing jobs and create new higher-paying jobs.

The Legislature has worked hard since last summer to enact legislation that will help create jobs for the state. We have passed legislation that streamlines the regulatory process, improves Wisconsin's infrastructure and creates incentives to increase venture capital. Another important piece in job creation is to strengthen our work force. Senator Joe Leibham (R-Sheboygan) recently introduced legislation to create the "Wisconsin Advantage Jobs Training Program."

The nation's economy has become more and more reliant on technology to make companies new and existing more efficient. With the emergence of new technology has come the need for a highly skilled workforce. An important aspect of gaining a skilled workforce is increasing the knowledge and providing the needed training for current employees.

The Wisconsin Advantage Program is designed to attract and retain jobs in Wisconsin by allowing businesses and technical colleges to strengthen their partnership by entering into a contract to finance training programs for new or existing employees. Wisconsin's technical colleges provide job training to more than 100,000 workers each year. This program would enhance their ability to help local businesses, particularly those companies with fewer than 100 employees.

Under the program, a Technical College District Board would be allowed to issue municipal revenue bonds to provide training to new or existing employees in businesses throughout the state. The service is free to businesses to encourage them to participate in the program. The bonds would be paid for by the state collecting and returning to the technical colleges a share of the income taxes paid on the wages from the jobs that are created. The bill prohibits technical colleges from raising their property tax levy for the purposes of the program.

A program like this is vitally important during a time when Wisconsin's manufacturing companies are closing their doors or moving to other states. Wisconsin will be more competitive in keeping and attracting businesses when we can increase the size of our skilled work force.

Campus Notes

The following local students have been named to the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities dean's list for fall semester 2003. Students on the list must achieve a high GPA while maintaining at least 12 credits.

Students include: Bridget C. O'Meara, Kewaskum; Emily M. Brown, Campbellsport and Stephani M. Schultz, West Bend.

On April 14, 1910, William Howard Taft became the first President to throw the first pitch to open the baseball season. The home team, Washington, beat Philadelphia 3-0.

Charter Communications Awarding $1000 Scholarships to Wisconsin Students

As part of Charter Communications' Cable in the Classroom initiative, the Wisconsin telecommunications company will be awarding $1000 scholarships to local students again this year.

"We feel this has been, and will continue to be an important step to help our kids succeed in the future," said Lisa Washa, Vice-President of Charter's Northeastern Group Operations. "We are committed to bringing our local schools free access to educational programs and study guides through our very successful Cable in the Classroom Program. This is yet another way to give our local students a leg up."

2004 is the sixth year for the Charter Communications scholarship, and the fourth year that each scholarship is worth $1000. "As the cost of education and the cost of living continues to rise, we feel our scholarships are an important way to support further education of students in our local communities," commented Washa. Last year's recipients were Greg Shad-New Holster High School, Nicole Billings-Mayville High School, Ross Knipfer - Algoma High School, Jerry McDougal - Antigo High School, Erin Anderson - Medford High School and Mai Nue Khang - Wisconsin Rapids Lincoln High School.

$1,000 scholarship applicants are available at any Charter Communications office location or at each local high school. Applicants need to be graduating seniors obtaining at least a 2.0 grade point average with plans to attend an accredited college and pursue a degree in communications, marketing, business, computer technology, engineering or a related field. To qualify, applications must be returned to a local Charter Communications office by March 31, 2004.

Fabulous Foods

Add Salmon To The Menu For A Romantic Repast

(NAPSA)—Take heart. Foods such as champagne, oysters and chocolate have long had a reputation for producing amorous results. Chef John David Crowe of Salmolux has added salmon to that list of foods that are good for the heart, in more ways than one.

Said Crowe, "Fresh, fabulous salmon is everything desirable in a romantic entrée—it's visually appealing, flavorful, low in calories, low in fat, but high in protein and taste."

Crowe notes that salmon also contains a special kind of fat called Omega-3 fatty acids, which, research indicates, has a protective effect on the heart.

Creating a memorable feast, whether for that special someone or for family and friends, can be made easy by keeping the menu simple.

Take advantage of time-saving foods such as smoked salmon appetizers from Salmolux, one of the country's premier seafood suppliers. They believe Sure Lock Air Tight Seal™ packaging from DuPont™ ensures that their salmon products retain their savory flavor and freshness from the sea to your table.

Crowe suggests sticking to a simple signature dish, such as Pasta Alla Rusque, which will impress without keeping you tied up in the kitchen.

Pasta Alla Rusque

1½ gal. salted water
olive oil
8 oz. fettucine, dry
2 tbs. butter
2 tbs. shallots, minced
1 tsp. garlic, minced
2 shots good quality Russian vodka
8 oz. heavy cream

Salmon contains Omega-3 fatty acids, which can have a positive effect on the heart—in more ways than one.

sea salt, to taste
white pepper, to taste
10 ea. small oysters
2 tsp. dill, fresh, chopped
4 oz. cold smoked salmon, sliced

Bring water to a boil. Cook pasta al dente, 5-7 minutes. Drain pasta (do not wash).

In large sauté pan, sauté shallots and garlic in butter.

Deglaze pan with vodka and add cream. Reduce slightly for 30 seconds. Season with salt and pepper.

Add oysters and dill. Cook for one minute. Toss in cooked pasta and swirl around. Add salmon. As soon as salmon is warm, take off heat.

Indian Wrestlers Finish Third at Region Meet

Scott Rhoads prepares to take down Nate Sipple of Campbellsport. Rhoads eventually came out on top of the intense match up.

The Kewaskum wrestlers competed in regional competition Saturday at Campbellsport finishing third overall. The Indians finished the day with six sectional qualifiers. Junior Noah Olla (171) and freshman Jacob Turowski (189) finished first while freshman Eric Ogi (130), junior Zach Holm (135) and sophomores Nick Bartley (140) and Scott Rhoads (145) finished second to advance.

Olla started out the day with a bye, then major decisioned Dennis Brown of Mayville 13-0. Olla drew Jim Wiesner of Campbellsport in the finals defeating him in a close match for the third time in three weeks, 3-2.

Jacob Turowski opened with a pin over Ike Lemmenes of Waupun in 2:44. In the semi finals Turowski had Jeremie Paul of Campbellsport who he had lost to twice in the last two weeks. Turowski wrestled a solid match, defeating him 6-4 to advance to the finals. In the finals Turowski faced Arick Zuehlke of Lomira who he lost to by pin early in the year.

"Jacob controlled the match from start to finish beating him 6-4. He wrestled well considering he is 20 pounds light for his weight class. He is a competitor, he doesn't like to lose," stated coach Dennis Aupperle.

Eric Ogi returned to the line up after almost two months off with an injury. He opened with a bye, then pinned Greg White of Waupun in 2:51. In the finals he met Lee Mueller of Lomira. Ogi took an early lead before losing the match by fall in 5:10. Mueller is ranked in the top five in the state at 130 pounds in Division II.

"Eric wrestled well for his first tournament back and the level of competition he faced," stated Aupperle.

Zach Holm received a bye in the first round, then defeated Shane Priessnetz of Lomira 11-0. In the finals Holm lost to Garrett Stevens of Campbellsport 14-8. In the wrestleback for second he pinned Jon Erwin of Mayville in 5:45 to advance to sectionals.

Nick Bartley defeated Jack Trull of Winnebago Lutheran by pin in 1:06. In the semi finals Nick defeated Brett Loomans of Waupun 6-1. In the finals Bartley wrestled Andy Jatczak, who is ranked sixth in the state at 140 from Lomira. He lost a close match to him 3-0 to take second.

Scott Rhoads opened with a 13-0 decision over Mike Campagna of Winnebago Lutheran. In the semi finals Rhoads drew Nate Sippel of Campbellsport. Sippel was ranked fifth at 145 in the state. He wrestled a very intense match beating him 8-3. In the finals Rhoads faced Eric Haefs of Lomira. He then lost 8-4 to Haefs who is ranked honorable mention in the state to take second and advance to the sectional.

Seniors Levi Spaeth and Justin Krueger finished very successful careers by placing fourth and fifth.

"They (Spaeth and Krueger) will definitely be missed next season," stated Aupperle.

Freshman Mason Smith finished Third at 103. Sophomores Jon Hawig (119) and Jon Olla (160) finished fourth while freshmen Ashley Turner (112) and Matt Rewald (215) finished sixth.

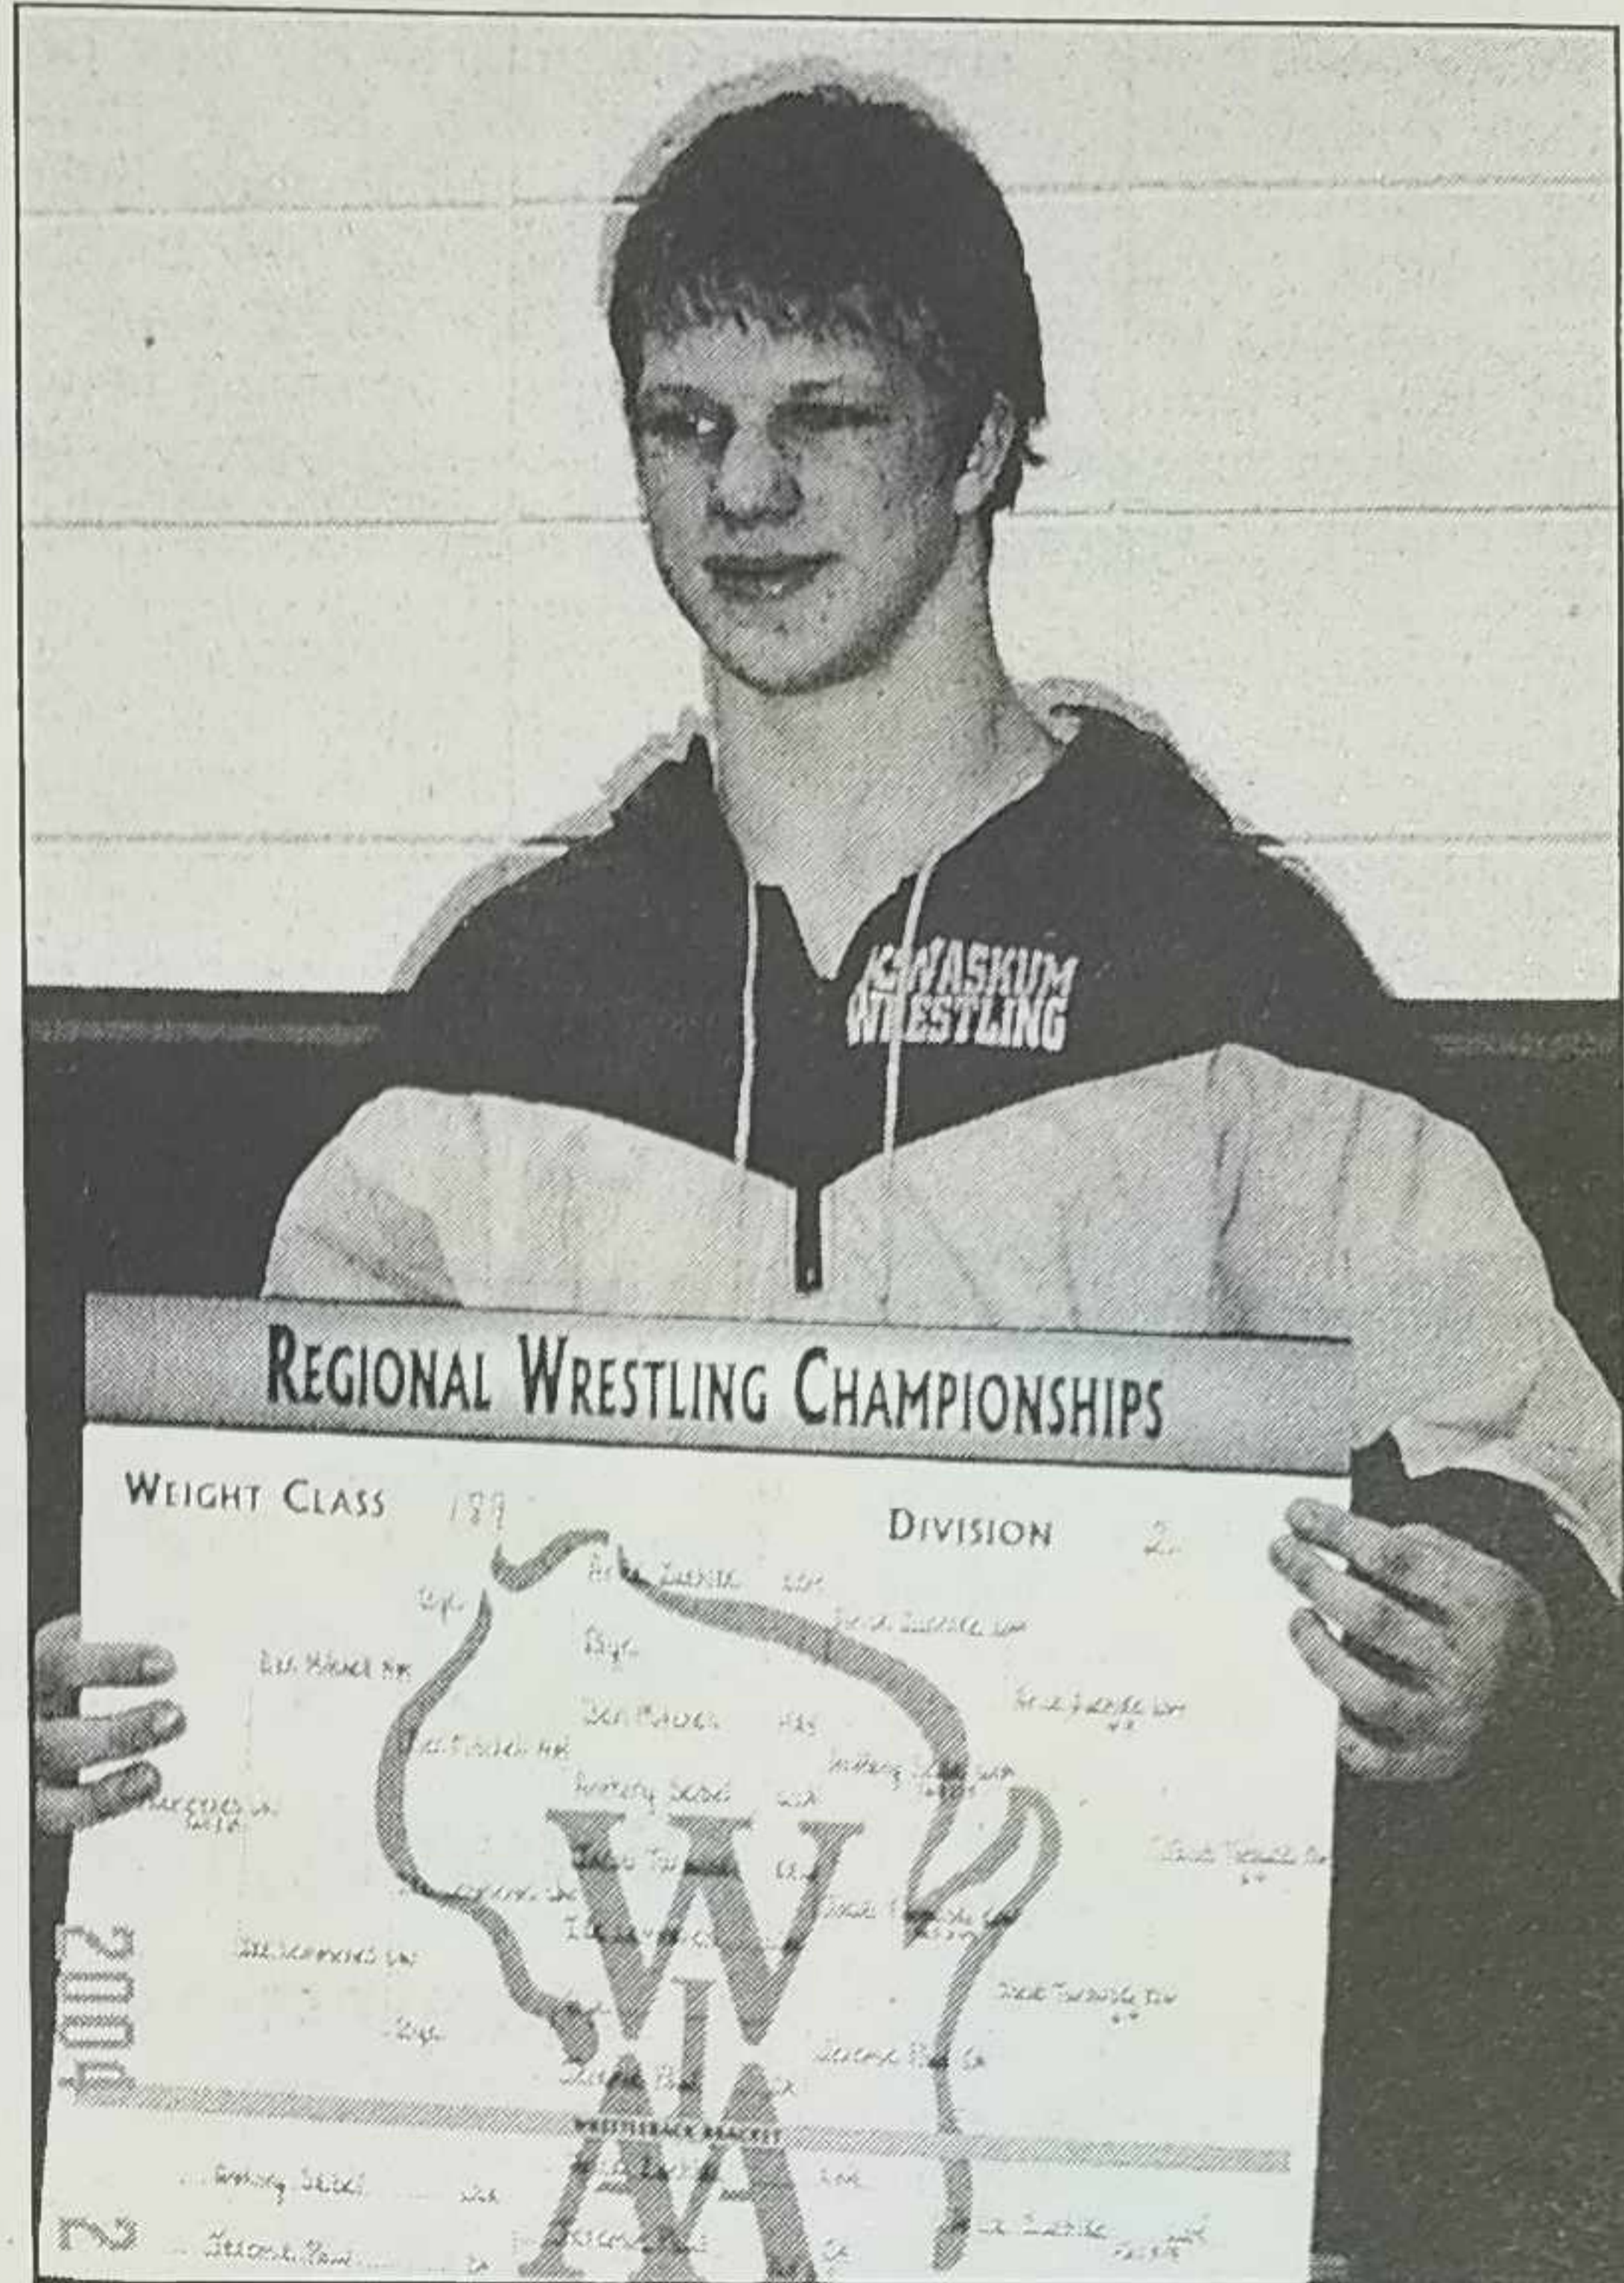

The division II individual sectional tournament will be held at Milwaukee Lutheran High School on Saturday, February 21st. Wrestling begins at 10:30.

Team scores from the match-up at Campbellsport follows:

Lomira 266
Campbellsport 215.5
Kewaskum 175
Waupun 138.5
Winnebago Lutheran 111
Mayville 91.5
Horicon 61.5

Jacob Turowski (189) will advance to sectionals Saturday.

Indians Snap Losing Streak

BY KYLE DARMODY

After dropping eight straight games, the Kewaskum girls varsity basketball team picked up their first win since January 9, last Tuesday, February 10 at Random Lake.

The Indians won the contest by a score of 47-37.

Indians' Lindsay Keller took over for the Indians, leading them with 21 points, and eight rebounds. While Ashley Welch chipped in nine points, six of which came from beyond the arc. The Indians went to the line 38 times in the night but were only able to convert 19 of those trips into points (50%).

The Indians also struggled holding on to the ball as they turned the ball over 25 times throughout the match.

Despite it all the Indians pulled off the much needed win.

That would all change as the Indians traveled to New Holstein on Thursday, February 12 and fell to the Huskies by a score of 53-41.

This time Keller was kept quiet throughout the night forcing someone else to step up and take charge for the Indians.

Beth Boedeker stepped up to the challenge as she had a double-double with 15 points and 10 rebounds. However it was not enough as the Indians were ineffective in stopping the Huskies attack.

The Indians record now stands at 3-16 with two contests to go. One was held at Sheboygan Falls on Tuesday, February 17, and one at home against Two Rivers on Friday, February 20, before tournament play begins.

Indians Looking for Lost Quarter

Despite investing their efforts well and spending their energy efficiently, the Kewaskum High School Varsity Boys Basketball Team keeps coming up one quarter short of victory. Recently, the Indians have evenly battled their opponents for three out of the four periods. Unfortunately, Kewaskum has not been productive for all four quarters.

On Tuesday, February 10th, Kewaskum hosted the Manitowoc Roncalli Jets in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference contest. The Kewaskum cagers scored 15 or more points in three periods, but the Indians only tallied six in the second. K.H.S. never got closer than four points the remainder of the game, as the Jets defeated their hosts 69 - 58.

Second leading scorer Todd Warnecke injured his right ankle during the second period and the Indians were unable to overcome the loss of their most experienced team member. Frosh Casey Scheel recorded 13 points and junior Adam Lehnerz tallied ten for the Indians. Sophomore Chad Piwoni and senior Brett Klug both contributed 8 points to the home team total.

On Friday, February 13th, the unlucky and winless Indians hosted the New Holstein Huskies of the E.W.C. on Elementary School Night. Most area fans were appreciative of the Indians inspired efforts in spite of their first quarter offensive woes. The Indians trailed 20 to 6 after the first period then evenly competed throughout the rest of the game, thereby losing 72 to 58.

Frosh Matt Parrent returned to form by putting up 18 points and gathering in seven rebounds. Six other team members contributed between five and eight points to help overcome the injured absence of Todd Warnecke. Yet, the Indians could not mount a serious run late in the game.

Kewaskum has demonstrated great hustle, heart and intensity but have not been consistent offensively.

The Indians have scored 58 points total in the past two games with 52 of those points tallied in three quarters and only six in the fourth. This young team is noticeably competing better as the season progresses regardless of their overall record.

If these young chargers keep developing they may just be able to overcome their record and their highly seeded opponents early in the W.I.A.A. Tournament series. Hopefully, junior Todd Warnecke will return by the first week of March to participate in the regionals. If the Indians put together a full four periods of offense, the K.H.S. Varsity Boys Basketball Team just might surprise a few opponents.

Kewaskum travels to Two Rivers on Thursday, February 19th before concluding their regular and conference season at home on Friday, February 27th versus Sheboygan Falls. The Indians will finish against the top two teams in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference in preparation of the playoffs that begin on Tuesday, March 2nd.
