TOWN OF AUBURN- A Campbellsport woman was injured Monday after the vehicle she was driving was involved in a two-vehicle crash shortly before 1 p.m. Monday. Jean M. Janz, 31, of Campbellsport was traveling southbound, waiting to turn into Bartoli's Greenhouse when her vehicle was rear-ended by Jill M. Merget, 17, of Campbellsport.

Developers Wait to Build in Farmington

By AMY SWANSON
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
aswanson@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Town of Farmington's subdivision moratorium picks up speed as developers patiently wait.

"We have a lot of developers wanting to get into Farmington," said James Dieringer, town chairman. "The problem is that we have a zoning moratorium, which indicates that we cannot change our zoning until we get our ordinances straightened out. If someone wants to come in with a subdivision, we have to rezone it from agricultural to residential."

Dieringer said the Town board enacted the moratorium to control the growth of the town. "We have six different developers who want to put in subdivisions...18 homes on the west side, 65 homes on Decorah Road and

Fr. Mark Jones Called To Parish in Racine

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

In the book of Job, it states, "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

In the Milwaukee Archdiocese, the task of taking and giving falls on Archbishop Timothy M. Dolan, who is currently in the difficult position of having to staff parishes with a declining pool of priests.

One of the recent assignments made by Archbishop Dolan, in conjunction with Fr. William Kohler, the director of the priest placement board, is not what parishioners at Holy Trinity Catholic Church were hoping to hear.

Fr. Mark Jones, the pastor at Holy Trinity for the past six years and four months, will be leaving on June 20th to accept a new assignment as the pastor of St. Lucy's Church in Racine, a new church built in 1997, with 2,500 families and a parish school.

Fr. Jones made the announcement after all the Masses on Saturday and Sunday. He had informed members of the the Holy Trinity Parish Council and the Finance Committee at what turned out to be an emotional meeting on Tuesday evening.

He said Fr. Kohler called on May 11th to ask him to accept the new assignment, and Archbishop Dolan called him on Friday to see if he had accepted the post.

"I loved it here. We got a lot accomplished," Fr. Jones told his flock at the conclusion of the weekend Masses, and it was obvious from his demeanor the transfer will be as difficult for him as it will XX...it just keeps going," he said. "It was getting to the point that it was out of hand."

"The developers have Waukesha, Milwaukee, and south of Washington County that has been developed. Now they are moving north where it's cheaper and there is a lot of open space to develop."

Farmington's population is currently around 3,400, according to Joanne Oneska, town clerk. She said statistics from the 1990-2000 census show Farmington has grown 20 percent.

"The moratorium wasn't to stop land division, it was to get a hold on subdivisions," she said. "We just are getting more requests for subdivisions and we want to have some good rules and regulations in order."

evening sent four to St. Joseph's Community Hospital.

The crash occurred at about 9:20 p.m. on USH 45 north of County D in the Town of Barton. The highway in the area where the accident occurred is under construction with lane changes and barrels guiding the flow of traffic.

A southbound car driven by Marilyn S. Klippel, 76, of Wauwatosa, drove off past the barrels, driving off the road into the median. The vehicle continued through the median striking a concrete culvert. The impact with the culvert caused the car to flip onto its roof coming to rest. The occupants of the car were trapped inside.

Kewaskum Rescue Squad

responded to free the occupants. The driver was transferred to Froedtert for further treatment. She is listed in serious condition.

The weather at the time of the accident was heavy overcast, with intermittent rain showers. The roads were wet and the area is not lighted.

The passengers of the car were Jack H. Klippel, 80, of Wauwatosa, the husband of the driver, and Arlene M. Koch, 78 and Doris D. Nollinske, 78, both of Brookfield. The two were friends of the driver.

All three were treated and released from St. Joseph's Community Hospital.

Registration for the annual Summer Reading Program at the Kewaskum Public Library begins on Monday, June 7th. The program is open to kids from kindergarten age through fifth grade and runs from June 14 through July 23.

The Summer Reading Program rewards kids for reading (or being read to) during the summer with prizes, games, and special events. For every hour kids read, they earn prizes and points for the library's Prairie Bookstore--full of cool books, games, and other summer diversions.

To register for the program, a child must have a valid library card from a Washington County library (Kewaskum, West Bend, Hartford, Slinger or Germantown). Cards and registration are free, as are the other summer activities at the Kewaskum Library.

This summer, kids will have a chance to watch science in action with the staff of the Discovery World museum, find out about birds of the world with the Milwaukee Zoo staff, visit Riveredge Nature center, make animal tracks, and more!

Calendars are available at the library or find dates and times at www.kewaskum.lib.wi.us. The special programs are open to the general public, but please be aware that space is limited. Contact the library before each event to sign-up.

Kevin Struck of the UW-Extension, who works with municipalities on revamping their ordinances, led work on the subdivision ordinances. "He has been very helpful and I would recommend to any community to work with him," Dieringer said.

Oneska said the town attorney is currently reviewing a draft of the subdivision ordinance. After his approval, a public hearing date will be set.

"The developers just can't wait," Dieringer said. "The developer on the west end of town has been very patient and we appreciate that because there is nothing worse than to have people breathing down your neck to get this done and we want to get this done right so it helps everybody."

Dieringer has lived in Farmington for 40 years and has seen a lot of changes. "I didn't mind the changes because they were always gradual. Now there are not gradual. It's too much too fast and then you can't control it. We feel with the new ordinance it will be good, otherwise we wouldn't be doing this."

"We just wanted to slow things down a little bit," Oneska said. "Everybody needs a place to live and everybody has their own ideas on it. We want our kids and our grandchildren to live here."

A survey will be mailed out this week asking town residents for their input on the new ordinances. "We want to get a feel for what people think about what is a good lot size," Oneska said. "We made several different lot sizes to accommodate all income levels of people. We are trying to be fair to everybody."

The town board has put a lot of work into developing the new subdivision as well as updating a 1986 zoning ordinance. "It needs a lot of updating because of the times and how times change. You just need to keep up with different changes and regulations," Oneska said.

Both Dieringer and Oneska agreed that the residents of Farmington have a definite voice in the community's development.

"This involves the whole community," Dieringer said.

Kewaskum Library Announces Changes

The Kewaskum Public Library is expanding its hours, kind of. In the past, the library has always closed its doors on Saturdays from Memorial Day to Labor Day. Not anymore. Last week, citing increased usage over the past year, the library board recommended that the Kewaskum Public Library stay open on Saturdays during the summer months. June will be a trial period for the new policy; the library board will meet on July 12 at 6:30 pm to discuss how the Saturday hours have worked thus far. Saturday hours will remain 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Another policy starting this summer is video check-out times are growing. Starting in June, all new release videos and DVDs will check out for 4 days; all other videos and DVDs—movies, non-fiction, and children's films—will check out for 7 days. This change in policy will bring Kewaskum's due dates in line with those from West Bend. Because the Kewaskum Public Library shares many patrons with the West Bend Community Memorial Library, the common due dates will make it easier for patrons to remember when their materials are due.

RECYCLING TIPS

ALUMINUM BEVERAGE CONTAINERS AND TIN & STEEL CANS

TYPE OF ALUMINUM: Aluminum cans generally used in the beverage industry.

TYPE OF TIN/STEEL: Tin and steel cans generally used in the food industry.

PREPARATION: Simply empty, rinse and remove any labels. This is the most important aspect of a successful recycling program. Aluminum, steel and tin containers that are contaminated with residue cannot be recycled.

Place aluminum, tin or steel containers in your dark green recycling bin or blue recycling bag. Flattening containers, although not necessary, will save space in your recycling bin or bag. Place the bin or bag at the curb on the same day that your solid waste is to be collected. Pick up will be Wednesdays for both solid waste and recyclables. Multi-family dwellings of six or more, remember, your recycling pick up will be the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

County Health Department Urges Residents to Use Caution

Due to recent damage in Washington County from heavy rain and high winds, the Washington County Health Department is urging citizens to use caution to avoid illness and injury from unsafe or unsanitary conditions. According to Linda Walter, Health Officer for Washington County, "The recent power outages, downed trees and power lines and heavy rains can effect food safety, sanitation and cause unsafe environments. People need to take precautions to protect themselves as well as their families."

The following health and safety tips are offered by the Health Department:

Downed Power Lines - Avoid these areas, especially in wet areas. Electrical current can travel through water. Report downed power lines to your utility as soon as possible.

Damaged Buildings and Structures - Carefully assess before entering. Do not enter alone. Do not attempt to restore or work on power sources without first contacting your utility.

Confined areas - Basements, crawl spaces and other enclosed areas may pose special hazards.

Chainsaw safety - Wear protective clothing, including gloves to give you a good grip, a hard hat, safety goggles, hearing protection, steel-toed shoes with non-slip soles and trim-fitted clothing that won't get caught in the chain. Follow instructions in the owner's manual for starting and operating the saw. Stand to the side of the saw so you don't follow the cut through into your leg. Hold the saw parallel to the ground with your left arm straight for better control and to reduce the chance of "kick back." Keep both hands on the saw while it is running. Avoid cutting above mid-chest height. Never try to cut a tree with a diameter greater than the length of the chainsaw blade.

Be extremely careful when cutting limbs or stems of trees that are bent or under tension as the branch can spring back into the operator. Carry the saw below the waist with the engine off and bar pointed to the rear. Do not work alone. Have bystanders stay well away from the work area. Children should not be present in areas where chainsaws are being used and tree branches are being removed.

Wear Protective Clothing - Use gloves, work boots, goggles, hard hat as necessary to avoid injury and to avoid contact with contaminated items.

Avoid Stray and Wild Animals - If bitten, seek immediate medical attention.

Private Wells - If your well has been compromised due to storm damage or flooding, only use water from a known safe source. Test your water for bacteria when power/service is restored before consuming. For testing information contact the Washington County Health Department at 262-335-4462 or the Wisconsin State Laboratory of Hygiene at 1-800-442-4618.

Flooded Basements - Storm water flooding can occur when sump pumps go out.

Sewage backup can occur due to heavy rains and flooding.

Do not use appliances or motors that have gotten wet unless they have been taken apart, cleaned and dried.

Use caution to avoid electrical shock in wet basements.

Wet items should be dried out within 24-48 hours to avoid mold growth.

Porous items damaged by sewage effluent such as carpets and books should be discarded as they are usually uncleanable.

Use of Generators and other energy sources - Use a generator or other gasoline-powered machinery outdoors. The same goes for camp stoves. Fumes from charcoal are especially deadly. Cook with charcoal only outdoors. Do not use a gas stove to heat your house.

Flooded Areas - To avoid injury and possible drowning, do not walk or drive through flooded areas.

Stress and Fatigue - Storm damage can take a toll on you as well as your property. Rest often and eat well. Set a manageable schedule for cleanup.

Food Safety - When a power outage occurs, food safety becomes a concern. Do not panic - in warm weather foods will stay frozen for at least two days in a fully stocked freezer and foods in your refrigerator will stay cold for at least four to six hours. Without heat and depending on the length of time the power is off, you will need to assess the situation using common food safety rules.

Refreezing foods - As soon as the freezer is operating again, check the frozen foods to see if any have thawed. It is essential to check the foods at this time before they refreeze. If any foods have developed an off-odor, discard them. For foods that have thawed, use the following guidelines for specific foods:

Meat and poultry (raw) - Refreeze if ice crystals are still present. Fully thawed meats or poultry that are still cold and that have no off-odors or signs of spoilage can be cooked and eaten or refrozen after cooking. Such thawed meats or poultry could be canned (with a pressure cooker) if alternate frozen storage is not available and if the freezer is likely to be inoperable for several days.

Fish and Shellfish - Refreeze if ice crystals are still present. If fish or shellfish fully thawed and have been at refrigerator temperature (40°F) no longer than 24 hours, it can be cooked and eaten. Discard thawed seafood that has been held longer than 24 hours.

Cooked meats, poultry, fish and casserole - Do not refreeze. If ice crystals are still present, these foods may be eaten. If the food is fully thawed, discard it.

Fruits and Vegetables - Refreeze if ice crystals are still present. If fully thawed, but still cold, check for off-odors. Fruits ferment quickly and while they will not be unsafe, the flavor will be affected. They may be used for jams, jellies and other cooked purposes.

Vegetables undergo flavor changes rapidly and may develop a sour odor. Fully thawed vegetables that do not look or smell unusual can be cooked and then refrozen.

Bakery Products - These foods can be safely refrozen, but may be drier.

Refreeze foods as quickly as possible by setting the freezer to its coldest temperature. Relabel all foods so you know that they have been refrozen and try to use them within two or three months. While foods refrozen according to the guidelines will be safe to eat, they will be lower in quality because of loss of color, flavor, texture and some nutrients.

Refrigerator - Foods in a refrigerator will stay cold at least four to six hours after a power failure. The length of time depends on how warm the surrounding area is. Some foods stored in the refrigerator can be safely held at room temperature for a few days. These include salad dressing, catsup, mustard, barbeque sauces, jams and jellies, margarine, butter, pickles, fruits and vegetables.

A Record Only Wisconsin Could Love

CAMPBELLSPORT - The people of Wisconsin take pride in many things: our great work ethic, our Green Bay Packers, our cheese, and our love for the bratwurst. From Bratwurst Days in Sheboygan, to the Klements racing sausages at the Brewer games, we are infatuated with the best of the German sausages, the brat.

So it may not be a total surprise that the people of Campbellsport, a small hard-working Wisconsin community with mostly German heritage, will be creating (and consuming) the World's Largest Bratwurst on Saturday, July 3, 2004. Preparation for the grilling will begin at about 5 p.m. at the Fireman's Park and the official measurements and cutting of the world's largest bratwurst will be at about 6 p.m.

"We wanted to do something big to celebrate the 100th anniversary of our volunteer fire department. After tailgating for a few hours - with brats and beer as the main entree - somebody came up with the idea of making the world's largest bratwurst. So we e-mailed the Guinness Book of World Records. After a few weeks we heard back from them," explains Tom Krueger, owner of the Fin-n-Feather Supper Club (Tom is making the giant bun). "The e-mail indicated that it must contain traditional ingredients in the correct proportions and must be prepared in the same way as a normal-sized brat. It must look like a scaled up version of the normal sized brat. The people at Guinness have very serious claim guidelines. The e-mail was 12 pages long."

There have been some obstacles in attempting to break the record. It turns out the people at Guinness told them that even though they were going to be making a bratwurst, they had to break the longest hot dog record that was held by a group in Virginia. So the Campbellsport Area Chamber of Commerce came up with a game plan to break the record. Later they were e-mailed that the hot dog record had just been broken by a University in South Africa. So they had to make a new game plan. "The fact that South Africans currently hold the record just got us more motivated. We want to - and we will - bring that record home to the USA and Wisconsin where it belongs," quoted Judy Holzmann, Campbellsport Chamber president.

So how long will the World's longest bratwurst be? The people of Campbellsport are keeping that information a secret until July 3rd, less a competing country, or worse yet, a town from Illinois, might try to beat that record. The current record is 34' 5 1/4".

It seems the whole community is getting wrapped up in the record attempt. The bratwurst itself is being made locally at Loehr's Meat Market, know for their soon to be world famous brats. The condiments are being supplied by the local grocery store, Klotz's Piggly Wiggly. Even the huge custom grill is being made locally, by Richard "Ducky" Zehren of St. Kilian. And the local chamber will be making and serving the gigantic bratwurst on a first come, first served basis. The volunteer fire department will be serving the beverages and smaller, normal sized food. After the official measuring the brat will be cut into pieces and sold for $10 each. Each person that buys a piece will also receive a t-shirt stating, "Campbellsport, home of the world's largest bratwurst."

The world record attempt coincides with the much anticipated 100th annual fire department's picnic and parade over July 4th weekend in the small town of Campbellsport (pop. 1962). For more information log on to their website at <http://www.campbellsport.org>.

Auburn Will Budget for Ordinance Revisions

BY ANDREW KUEHL
STATESMAN MANAGING EDITOR
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

TOWN OF AUBURN - A few town residents are chomping at the bit to get their ordinances re-written and revised in the Town of Auburn. They'll just have to wait though according to advice from the town's attorney, John St. Peter. Town chairman, Howard Laubenstein made the announcement at their May meeting.

Laubenstein indicated that the town will need to budget the project due to its size and cost. He says the item will be discussed at their budget meeting held in November. He encourages town residents to attend that meeting for their vital input in these ordinances that govern the township. Subsequent workshop style meetings will be held to garner further input on the revisions.

The last time the town edited the ordinances was between 15-20 years ago. After the budgeting process is complete the board of supervisors will search for an individual to assist the town with the project.

At that same meeting the supervisors approved a motion to rezone 3.534 acres on Kaschner Drive from EAG to RD. The purpose of the rezoning was to allow for the owner to sell a portion to his daughter.

As the meeting closed town clerk Bonnie Berg announced that Open Book will be held on Wednesday, June 2 at the town hall from 4 to 6 p.m. The board of review will meet on that same date from 6 to 8 p.m.

At a special meeting held, Thursday, May 13 supervisors appointed Ken Jandre as an alternate to the Board of Review.

Also at that meeting action was taken on repairing the shoulder on Auburn Ashford Drive. Work on that project has already been completed. The damage was caused from rainfall that washed out the shoulder.

be for many of those at Holy Trinity.

"We built a special bond," Fr. Jones said after 11 a.m. Mass, noting Holy Trinity "became home because they walked with me through my mom's cancer and her death," and also "because the parish was welcoming right from the start."

Fr. Jones, who was ordained 12 years ago on May 22, 1992, had been an associate pastor in Brookfield before coming to Kewaskum. And did he see any differences in being a pastor?

"You learn how to take the responsibility for what's going on," he said as one major difference.

In that area, Fr. Jones was instrumental in getting two building projects completed, the Build a Path to Christ, which included the addition of an elevator to make it easier for the elderly and handicapped to get into the main body of the church, and an addition to the parish school, which included an art/music room, a computer room and various offices for the principal and staff members.

Building additions are not what Fr. Jones lists as his top accomplishments, however.

"I think strengthening our parish family attitudes are the thing I appreciate the most," he said, quick to stress the work in this area was a joint effort.

"Really the support of the people is what makes it (Holy Trinity) special and hard to leave," Fr. Jones said, including his staff in that statement.

"They'll stay strong," Fr. Jones said of the staff. "They've become good friends. That will not change. We will remain friends ... 75 miles apart."

As far as a message to his parishioners at Holy Trinity, Fr. Jones said it would be first, "That I hope they would be as welcoming to the next pastor as they were to me," and secondly, "That they will continue striving for strong Catholic Christian values in the home and in the parish."

Fr. Jones is confident the archbishop will send Holy Trinity a new pastor, one who will work with them on the collaboration with St. Michael's parish and its pastor, Fr. Robert Artmann.

Council members and members of the Finance Committee have already put together a parish profile to submit to Fr. Kohler for any priests who may be interesting in coming to Holy Trinity.

And how is Fr. Jones personally approaching his transfer? "With great hope," he said, "Emotionally this parish is hard to leave, but I really believe the Holy Spirit is calling me to St. Lucy's," adding as he listens to that calling, "I can gain strength to begin anew."

As people left Masses over the weekend, there were a lot of comments like, "We're going to miss you, Father," "Good luck," "God bless you," "Thank you for everything," and even, "We'll see you in Racine."

When it comes to good memories the parishioners will always have of Fr. Mark, we offer the following — the beautiful homilies he prepared for each of approximately 2,600 liturgies he led here ... the twice-a-week expositions of the Blessed Sacraments ... his beautiful singing voice ... the empathy he showed the families at funerals of their loved ones ... the delicate way he counseled those with marital problems ... how he blessed each and every baby and child coming up to the altar with a parent who was receiving the Eucharist; and on the lighter side, seeing him do the limbo at the Hawaiian Night party or roller skating with the children during Catholic School week ... his costumes for the annual Halloween dance ... and seeing his car rumbling down the street with his dogs sticking their heads out the windows.

Parish Council Chairman Paul Dean is working with council members and committee chair people on organizing a picnic for Fr. Jones on Sunday, June 20th after the 11 a.m. Mass.

Local Author to Hold Book Signing

atee he adopted, Miss Michurtle based on a young lady he worked at a day care with who liked turtles, and Christophin is his mother, whose name is Chris.

This is definitely a book people must read while focusing on details. If they don't, they are certain to miss some of the humor Brettingen has wittingly slipped in, regarding the characters and their homes in the sea.

When asked if he felt he was a bit of a comic, Brettingen said, "Definitely with children I'm humorous," and that can certainly be an asset in his career as an elementary school teacher.

And where was his interest in writing developed? "I always loved writing," he said, noting he took both the Creative Writing classes offered at Kewaskum High School — he graduated from KHS in 1998 — and also the poetry class.

When the book was completed, Brettingen began the task of finding a company to publish it. His search ended when he found a small online publisher called AuthorHouse.

"They print on demand," he said, explaining they notified him within a couple months they were interested in his book, and then he began the editing process which took six months to complete.

The book was made available a little over a month ago and is in stock at Fireside Book Store in West Bend, and Brettingen is also holding a book signing on Saturday in conjunction with the village-wide rummage sale.

The signing will take place in front of the Brettingen home at 1238 Roseland Drive from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and he is eager to see the response he gets from people in the area.

There also may be book-signing at Fireside sometime during the month of June.

Between those two days, Brettingen is trying to secure a full-time teaching position for next year. This year, he was a substitute in a couple different districts in the area, including Kewaskum and West Bend.

And will he continue to write? Oh yes. "It's going to be a series. I've written a sequel already," Brettingen said, indicating it is titled "Mystery Manatee, What's With the Pink Tutu?"

KEWASKUM — College students can find thousands of ways to waste time when they are not in class, but here's a story about a young man who took the opposite approach.

While Nick Brettingen was attending UW-Whitewater, he looked forward to what little free time he had to write his first children's book, which he recently had published.

That's right, Brettingen, now 24, is an author, and the book, entitled Mystery Manatee, The Case of the Missing December and March, is about one of his favorite subjects, a manatee, which is a large, plant-eating mammal with front flippers and a broad flattened tail.

So how did Brettingen get so interested in this large endangered specie? The fascination began when he was still attending elementary school.

"When I was young, I adopted a manatee," Brettingen said, explaining it was about fifth grade when he saw information on the adoption process in a book on manatees, so he sent part of his allowance each month until he had partial ownership in one.

"I've been fascinated with them every since," Brettingen said, recalling the building interest which led to his two-year work on the book.

"I wrote it in a notebook, then I would transfer it (information) to my computer," Brettingen said about the 95-page, soft-covered manual, which features a colored picture of the main character, Detective Mystery Manatee, drawn by Brettingen.

At the time Brettingen started his book, he was working part-time in a day care in Fort Atkinson and going to school, so he would have to slip in the writing "when I had time, an hour here and an hour there."

The story is a mystery, but definitely a light mystery, according to Brettingen, who said, "It's suppose to be fun. The characters are suppose to be fun."

The young author knew right away Mr. Manatee was going to be the main character in the book. For one thing, he said, "A lot of people don't know what a manatee is."

Brettingen has made certain Mystery isn't very smart, and he has slipped in some other main characters, who are based on some of his family members and people he has known.

Without giving up too many of his secrets, he said Crazy Nick is the name of the Man-

Athletics Scramble to Honor the First Family And the First Conference Champions of Golf

The Fifth Annual (2004) Kewaskum High School Athletic Golf Scramble will be dedicated to the members of the (1968) first championship team and their coach. The corresponding dinner banquet will be conducted in honor of Kewaskum's first family of golf, the Korths. Both events will be held at Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club on Saturday, August 7th.

The 18 hole scramble is scheduled to begin with a Shotgun Start at 2 p.m., followed by a buffet style dinner banquet at 7 p.m. and concludes with an awards/prize presentation and honorable program at 8 p.m. The scramble, dinner, awards and honor are all fundraising activities for KHS athletics.

The Kewaskum High School Teacher, Coach and local golf pro for over 30 years who helped garner the local Indian linksters first conference title was Joe Harlow. Harlow was only in his third Scenic Moraine Conference season. Mr. Harlow has been invited to serve as the Honorary Starter for this year's event.

Just as all area golfers are encouraged to participate, any available members of the 1968 KHS boys golf team are requested to help compose the first several groups off of red number one tee at 2 p.m. on August 7th. Two members of that first championship team, Clark Eichstedt and Al Bohn, will serve as contact persons for their fellow team members.

Besides presenting prizes for hole events, blind bogey, skins game, raffles and for the scramble, members and coaches of the 1968 KHS boys golf team in attendance will be recognized and acknowledged. Coach Harlow just might regale participants with a few significant stories or interesting insights concerning his players and employers.

The buffet dinner and awards banquet will be conducted in honor of the Korth family, who recently were named recipients of the Distinguished Service Award from the Wisconsin Athletic Directors Association. The program will conclude with current KHS Athletic Director Jason Pittmann recognizing Bud, Tuddy, Jonsey and Jane Korth for various testimonials and presentations.

All those in attendance will be able to purchase raffle tickets and bid on donated auction items to raise supplementary funds to support and benefit Kewaskum High School Athletic Programs. Golf registration forms, banquet dinner and raffle tickets are available at the KHS office, Hon-E-Kor Pro Shop and Smith Insurance Agency. If you have any questions, please contact Glenn Eichstedt at 262-626-2166. ext. 4251, Scott Rohlinger at 262-626-2332 or Dennis Butz of Smith Insurance at 262-626-2277.

Washington County Fair Organizers Announce Entertainment Acts

Washington County Fair officials have released the entertainment acts for the 2004 Fair, scheduled for July 20th - 25th, according to Sandy Lang, Fair Manager.

Wednesday evening will feature Christian recording artist Rebecca St. James. The Sydney, Australia native is scheduled to perform many of her hits from her new album "Worship God," on the main stage at 8 p.m. Favorites include "Breathe," "Better Is One Day," and "It is Well." She has sold over a million albums and generated nine number one Christian radio singles. In the last 11 years, Rebecca has honed in on her strong Christian faith. She is known for reaching out to her peers and teens, using her signature blend of modern rock/pop sensibilities and lyrics of unwavering devotion. Her awards include Dove Award nominations, Grammy awards and Campus Life: Favorite Female Artist, 2002.

Thursday will feature country legend Loretta Lynn. To millions of people worldwide, she is country music. A woman who rose from hard-scrabble poverty to the heights of fame. Born in Butcher Holler, Kentucky, Loretta released her first single, "A Honkey Girl" in 1960. After 40 years in the music business, she still brings her formidable creative energies to bear on the music she loves. A member of the Country Music Hall of Fame, look for Loretta to perform such hits as "Don't Come Home a Drinkin'," "You're Looking At Country," "One's on the Way," "Trouble in Paradise" and signature song "Coal Miner's Daughter." Mark your calendar for Thursday, July 22nd, at 8 p.m. at the Main Stage.

Changing the pace on Friday evening is dual entertainment by .38 Special and Eddie Money.

.38 Special will be making their second appearance at the Washington County Fair. The Southern rock group, formed in Jacksonville, FL 25 years ago, has proven to be one of rock's most durable recording and touring attractions by continuing to grow musically and build upon the legacy they inherited. Their pop hits "Rockin Into The Night," "Hold On Loosely," "Caught Up In You" and "If I'd Been The One" are from one of rock's pre-eminent live bands. .38 Special will kick off the rock concert at 7:30 p.m. on the Main Stage.

Eddie Money, a straight up rock and roll icon, has been making music and delivering it to his fans since the mid 70's. With hits such as "Two Tickets To Paradise," "Baby Hold On," "Walk On Water," "Think I'm In Love" and "Shakin," Eddie continues to be one of the hardest working men in rock and roll. A native of Long Island, New York, next year, Eddie will celebrate his 25th year in the music business. An accomplished musician, he sings, he writes, he plays the saxophone, harmonica and piano. Eddie will take the stage following .38 Special.

Journey will rock the county on Saturday evening beginning at 9 p.m. Founded in 1973, Journey has spanned nearly 30 years with 18 U.S. releases and 50,000,000 in album sales. Their music is artful, intense, melodic rock played with passion and superb musicianship. Hits such as "Who's Crying Now," "Don't Stop Believing," "Open Arms," and "Be Good to Yourself" stayed on the Billboard album chart for nine weeks. For Journey, transformation and renewal are an integral part of the creative force that has led the band on their remarkable "journey." Journey's touring and performing continues to delight audiences across the country and around the globe.

Other wheel events taking place during the Fair include a tractor pull on Tuesday evening, a demolition derby and truck pull on Sunday.

Regional bands scheduled of the five-day fair run include Oil Can Harry, Five Guys with Day Jobs, Hat Trick,

Arriving and Learning About Greenland

Nikki Airaudi analyzes snow samples.

BY SHERI BALDIKOWSKI
STATESMAN FEATURES EDITOR
sbaldikowski@kewaskumstatesman.com

When Nikki Airaudi arrived in Kangerlussuaq (Kanger), Greenland, she along with other researchers went right to the KISS facility, which is a dorm-type accommodation. While in Kanger, Nikki went to the warehouse there to gather cold weather gear and her sleep kit. She also took a walk and saw the Sondrestrom Fjord, one of the largest fjords in the world, surrounded by mountains, framing a very picturesque sight. She was also lucky (?) enough to be served some of the regional cuisine for lunch----a huge helping of musk ox pizza! Although she had planned on being adventurous with food, this portion of arctic gourmet would just not go down. The concept of time completely changes when the sun is just setting at 10:00 PM!

The midnight sun can be encountered north of the Polar Circle. In Ilulissat, Greenland, for example, the sun never sets from May 25th to July 25th, and during that period "normal" calendar time is virtually non-operative. One can leave your watch in your suitcase cause time makes no sense in this time warp. The permanent light makes flowers and plants grow rapidly and the landscape turns green in places. It is light around the clock. At what used to be nighttime, the soft, warm light and the long shadows from the low-hanging sun bring the scenic backdrops into dreamlike and almost supernaturally beautiful sights.

The winter darkness is the companion to the midnight sun and equally fascinating. For weeks the sun doesn't rise above the horizon. The landscape is all white from the snow and the frozen sea. The stars, the moon and the northern lights provide the little illumination necessary to light up the snow. The world turns real and unreal like a dream in Greenland. The sun reappears in Ilulissat on January 13th and is celebrated with a festival that everyone looks forward to.

The northern lights are no less impressive. White, yellow, green and red, they sweep across the dark sky in a state of eternal, rapid motion. They accumulate in intensity and culminate in scenery beyond imagination. Northern lights appear all year round in Greenland, but they can only be observed against a clear, dark night sky. They appear at a height of about 100 kilometers (65 miles) and have the shape of a flapping curtain or points radiating from a single dot. This phenomenon is due to electrically charged particles from the sun entering the earth's atmosphere. The northern lights colors are determined by the nature of the molecules. The US National Science Foundation operates a scientific station near Kangerlussuaq, devoted to the study of northern lights.

Since the average person knows very little about this vast continent, we are inserting some culture, history and facts about the country to squelch the common belief that it is just icy tundra. Greenland is blessed with a peaceable people that have never waged war with anyone, and, people generally show great openness to visitors. The population of Greenland is predominantly Inuit, a people bearing an affinity and solidarity with the Inuits of Canada, Alaska and Siberia. It is only 140 years since the last immigration from Canada took place. There are only about 55,000 Greenlandic people in an enormous country. Approximately 20% of the population were born outside Greenland.

The Greenlandic language is polysynthetic; I.E. its words consist of a stem, one or more affixes and a suffix. In some cases, one word in Greenlandic corresponds to an entire sentence in a European language. "Sumukassaagut?" means "Where are we going?"

Greenland is part of the Kingdom of Denmark, but since the introduction of Home Rule in 1979, Greenland has moved towards relative independence based on parliamentary democracy.

Today fishing is the all-dominating trade and accounts for 95 percent of total exports. Long lines are set through holes in the ice for Greenland halibut. These fish are frequently caught at a depth of 800 meters, and the lines are pulled up by hand. Greenland halibut are also caught from dinghies, and it is not unusual for fifty tonnes per week to be landed by a small village with a few hundred inhabitants.

In the hunter districts of the outer areas, the seal and whale catch is of great importance. It actually forms the stable existence for one fifth of the Greenlandic population. Seals, polar bears, birds, narwhals and walrus are also hunted in trips that last several weeks. These hunting trips are a way of life, but there are also several local restrictions, which cover where, and how long the hunting can be done.

During the winter, when the fjords freeze over, the dog sled is an indispensable means of transport for the fishermen and hunters. The importance of dog sleds is clearly indicated by the fact that there are more dogs than people in many places.

The terrain at Greenland is well diversified, with high and low mountains, cliffs, glaciers and ice fields. During May the last snow disappears, except from the mountains, and usually the sea ice will break up and melt in the Disko Bay. Then again the icebergs can drift from the glaciers into the open sea.

In Greenland whale watching can be enjoyed from the streets or even from your hotel room. During the late summer and early autumn, whales swim close to the coast and are sometimes seen in the harbors. But, of course, the best way to spot these huge mammals is at sea. Whale-watching tours are offered in several towns in Greenland. When you sail along the coast on a passenger ship, the captain will often notify you when whales are close. There are many different species of whales in Greenlandic waters including the two largest, the blue whale and the fin whale. Humpback whales, minke whales, narwhales, beluga and white whales, sperm whales, pilot whales and Greenland whales are among the other species there. At sea, you will also see seals. An estimated two million seals live in Greenlandic waters. Walrus are primarily seen in north and east Greenland.

In Kangerlussuaq, where Nikki arrived, the natural conditions are favorable for raising musk ox. Twenty-seven animals moved there in 1962 and 1965 and they have since grown into a population of approximately 3500 animals, which is one of the world's biggest concentrations of musk ox. In appearance the musk ox resembles both a sheep and an ox as is reflected in its name. The musk ox is up to 140 cm tall and up to two meter's long, a full-grown bull weighing anything up to 400kg. Its coat is brown, with a grey-white patch over the back and gray-white legs. The overhair can be up to 60 cm long. The musk ox is also a food source.

Reindeer live all over the ice-free parts of Greenland and you may be lucky to see a herd. Reindeer hide is very insulating and if you decide to go on a dog-sled tour, you will have the chance to dress in clothes made from reindeer hide. Polar bears live predominantly in north and east Greenland but also come to south Greenland drifting on the field ice. Encounters with polar bears are extremely rare except in north and east Greenland and no precautions are necessary outside these regions.

The northeastern part of Greenland is a protected national park. With a size larger than England and France put together, it's the largest national park in the world. Polar bears, walrus, reindeer, musk ox and a growing stock of wolves live here along with smaller animals and many bird species.

Greenland has various modern means of transportation like elegant cruise ships and flights between major cities. Many of the cities have hotels to accommodate tourists. Generally travel agencies and tourist offices are ready for the coming season with new programs and may expeditions. In May, several expeditions will cross Greenland ice cap—a highly demanding journey of at least 700 kilometers.

Nikki Airaudi is an eighth grade Science teacher at Kewaskum Middle School. She recently returned from a two-week trip to Greenland.

Airaudi was discriminately selected for this expedition over many others, through a group called TREC (Teachers and Researchers Exploring and Collaborating), which is part of the educational program of ARCUS (Arctic Research Consortium of the United States).

The next edition of The Statesman will feature her and the researchers arrival at Summit Camp in Greenland.

Kewaskum Begins to Dry Out

Campus Notes

What was once a walkway to the dam in the lower west portion of River Hill Park is currently just an extension of the Milwaukee River. There is no official cost yet on how much all the rain has cost the Village in overtime pay and equipment costs. Waterworks crew members spent most of their weekend in the park. Department of Public Works director, Jerry Gillies indicated that Kewaskum has two separate systems for sewage and storm water. These separate systems do not create a problem for Kewaskum as it does for Milwaukee who has one large system for both and is now forced to dump millions of gallons of raw sewage into Lake Michigan.

LEFT: Two girls get a close-up view of the flooding near the dam. Gillies urges people to stay away from the dam area as the current is very swift.

Mrs. Anne Picket began operating Wisconsin's first cheese factory in 1841 on the family farm near Lake Mills. By 1849, Pickett and other Wisconsin farmers were producing 400,300 pounds of cheese and 3,634,000 pounds of butter.

EAU CLAIRE - The University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire chapter of Phi Eta Sigma National Freshman Honor Fraternity initiated 160 new members on April 24, during the university's annual scholastic Honors Week. New officers were elected from among the initiates: president Thomas Hahn, Platteville; vice president Michelle Schroeder, Theresa; secretary and historian James Hahn, Platteville; treasurer Todd Dennis, Eleva.

Malia Dickman of Kewaskum was awarded this honor.

Two Phi Eta Sigma Scholarships were awarded to outstanding Phi Eta Sigma undergraduate members. This year the recipients of the $200 scholarship were Morgan Swanstrom of Middleton and Diane Thelen of Clear Lake.

Phi Eta Sigma also awards an Outstanding Senior Book Award to the Phi Eta Sigma senior graduate who has the highest cumulative grade point average among graduating members. This year the award went to Amanda Ehler of Hixton.

To qualify for membership, first-year students must earn a 3.5 grade point average and rank in the upper 20 percent of their class. Phi Eta Sigma's goals are to encourage and reward high scholastic achievement among freshmen at UW-Eau Claire and thus indirectly promote a higher standard of learning at institutions of higher education throughout the nation.

A TIME FOR REMEMBERING

Wounded Soldiers Have Comrades in Legion

WASHINGTON - A young Army sergeant first class recuperates in his bed at Walter Reed Army Medical Center here with the leader of the nation's largest veterans organization standing at his bedside, asking him how he's feeling and if there is anything the Legionnaires "back home" or in the nation's capital can do.

He told American Legion National Commander John Brieden during the recent visit that he yearned to return to active duty and to complete his Army career. The "leader" in him was unimpaired despite his wounds. He told the commander, "Thank you for visiting. But you do not need to spend time with me. I am a little older with different life experiences. I can handle what happened to me. You need to spend time with the 18 and 19 year olds that are devastated at their injuries. He was already treated in Afghanistan and at Landstuhl, Germany, before arriving at Walter Reed."

He requested that the ward nurse "treat that other soldier" before treating his own wounds, then told Brieden he wanted a prosthesis and a prompt return to active duty rather than a medical discharge because, "I want to return to my troops, because they need me." Brieden, an Army Ranger who served during the Vietnam War, understood.

Some of the wounded simply appreciate a visit. Some can benefit from service officer's counsel on benefits-related decisions. Virtually all wish for a speedy return to active duty and are proud of both their service and their mission. And, thanks to a new Army program, the Disabled Soldier Support System (www.armyds3.org), all severely wounded soldiers will have The American Legion and other veterans service organizations at their disposal.

"Our nation - the Pentagon, civilian agencies, troops, their loved ones, and the community of warriors past and present - are in this global war on terror together," Brieden said. "When the families are praying for the safe return of their deployed members, we Legionnaires are praying with them. For those who come home with debilitating wounds, we appreciate the Army letting us offer our services and support directly, the sooner the better."

Otherwise known as "DS3," the Army's new program is designed to expedite the offering of benefits and services from the Department of Veterans Affairs for severely wounded soldiers, such as amputees. The program also gives them an early option to seek assistance from veterans service organization. Among its services to veterans and troops, The American Legion (www.legion.org):

- * Provides free, professional assistance - for any veteran and any veteran's survivor - in filing and pursuing claims before any administrative or judicial body of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

- * Helps the family of a deployed service member - ranging from errands to household chores to providing someone to talk to through the Family Support Network, (800) 504-4098; and

- * Offers Temporary Financial Assistance to help needy families of deployed troops meet their children's needs.

The organization's service "For God and Country" encompasses the survivors. American Legion honor guards perform more than 100,000 solemn funeral honors annually for KIAs and veterans. Its American Legacy Scholarship Fund raises money to provide educational assistance to the children of US service members killed while on active duty honor since September 11, 2001. The 2.7 million-member American Legion is the nation's largest veterans organization.

A Funny Tale During The Korean War

By Wally Daggett
former T/Sgt. USAF 98th Bomb Wing Flight Engineer, Korean War

As I think back to this period in time, I can recall an incident that happened which is still as funny, today, as when it occurred.

One evening as our crew was lounging around we decided we'd go to the small Japanese village of Fusa, which was a short distance from our B-29 Air Base at Yokota, Japan, for a beer or two. This was a highly unusual evening for all of us, as we rarely, if ever, were all together as a complete crew.

Japanese beer during the Korean War/Conflict was called Nippon. It was bottled in quart bottles of green glass and was quite potent stuff.

We all went to this small night spot which, I believe, was called Fusa Gardens. There were many such night spots around our base. While at Fusa Gardens, Ed, one of our crew members, complained of feeling ill and decided he would head back to base on foot. We often call him "Mr. Ed."

Ed was of slight build and always in trouble for something or other. I personally never had any problems with Mr. Ed. He came from the state of Maine and was of Finnish descent. He always told us how poor his family was and so when he turned 17 he enlisted in the Air Force. He felt it couldn't be any worse than his life had been growing up. Our other gunners said when on the firing range he just never missed. He had found himself a band of brother, our crew, and excelled as a tail gunner. He was in an auto accident in the state of Kansas before we left to go overseas. Ed had a nasty gash on his head but he wasn't going to let that stop him from being with our crew. We were home to him.

During that period of time the Japanese had large, round sewage storage areas that generally were five feet deep and four feet in diameter. Normally these pits were covered.

It was very dark this particular evening. Mr. Ed left Fusa Gardens and decided to take a short cut across a grassy, tree area. For whatever reasons sewage storage pit located in this area has been left uncovered and Mr. Ed fell into the pit. he yelled for help and we rushed to his rescue. Wow! Did he smell bad as we pulled him out of the pit. The pit was nearly full of human waste. It was their fertilizer. Their vegetables really grew but we couldn't eat their food. It was just too rich and would make us very sick. They filled these pits with buckets we nicknamed "honey buckets" as they emptied them from their homes. Here Ed, who was our tail gunner, all 5' 4" of him, was up to his chin in human waste. What to do with Mr. Ed? He smelled so bad it made all of us feel sick. We got a brain storm. We hailed a cab, paid the cab fare and told the driver to take him back to the base. We shoved Ed into is the perfect time to pay your respects to the soldiers who fought and died for you and your country.

They may not have known us, but they fought for us. They fought for our freedom. They fought for our rights.

Food for Thought

By Amy Swanson

aswanson@kewaskumstatesman.com

We took the Arc out last weekend for a spin to our first picnic this year. Even a flood couldn't wash away our plans to get together for a picnic potluck. Two by two we arrived with a dish-to-pass. The only thing missing were the bees - they must have all drown - and Noah, who must have been running late.

It was an early kickoff for Memorial Day, originally called Decoration Day; a day set specifically to remember those who have died in our nation's service.

Memorial Day means more than picnics. It is a time to reflect on those who gave the ultimate sacrifice for our country. It's a day for friends and family to come together to remember. With everything our country has been through lately, shouldn't we pay more attention to the memorial in Memorial Day, than what is on the grill?

In 2000, the National Moment of Remembrance resolution was passed to help remind Americans what Memorial Day represents. At 3 p.m. local time all Americans are asked, "To voluntarily and informally observe in their own way a Moment of remembrance and respect, pausing from whatever they are doing for a moment of silence or listening to 'Taps.'"

At 3 p.m. I'll probably still be trying to make Jell-O. My cousin is having a family get-together and my invitation said, "Please bring Jell-O." I'm usually asked to bring chips. I've never made Jell-O and I thought there might have been a mix up, so I called my sister and she was asked to bring a dessert. My sister makes a Jell-O mold that looks like watermelon, seeds and all. I don't get it. It is more like a science project than a dish to pass.

I don't even have a dish to pass the Jell-O in. Maybe I can make a Jell-O dip to go along with the bag of chips I'm bringing.

My mom was asked to bring her famous fruit tray. It's the Fine-fruit-fandango and if you saw it on the table you would know why. I think my parents handpick the strawberries and have a secret way of seeing the inside of a watermelon to know its sweetness. She must a Hawaiian connection for the fresh pineapple that Dole-out-of-the-can doesn't have. They travel with the fruit scientifically cut and individually wrapped a special cooler. They bring their own silver tray, which has enough dividers for each separate fruit, arranged in hues. When the masterpiece is displayed on the table it is more colorful than a rainbow!

I doubt I'll ever be asked to bring a salad. The competition is too fierce. Some of my relatives must have their apron strings pulled too tight for this category. They can throw together elaborate salads with ingredients that I didn't even know existed. When did soy nuts become so trendy? I am so impressed!

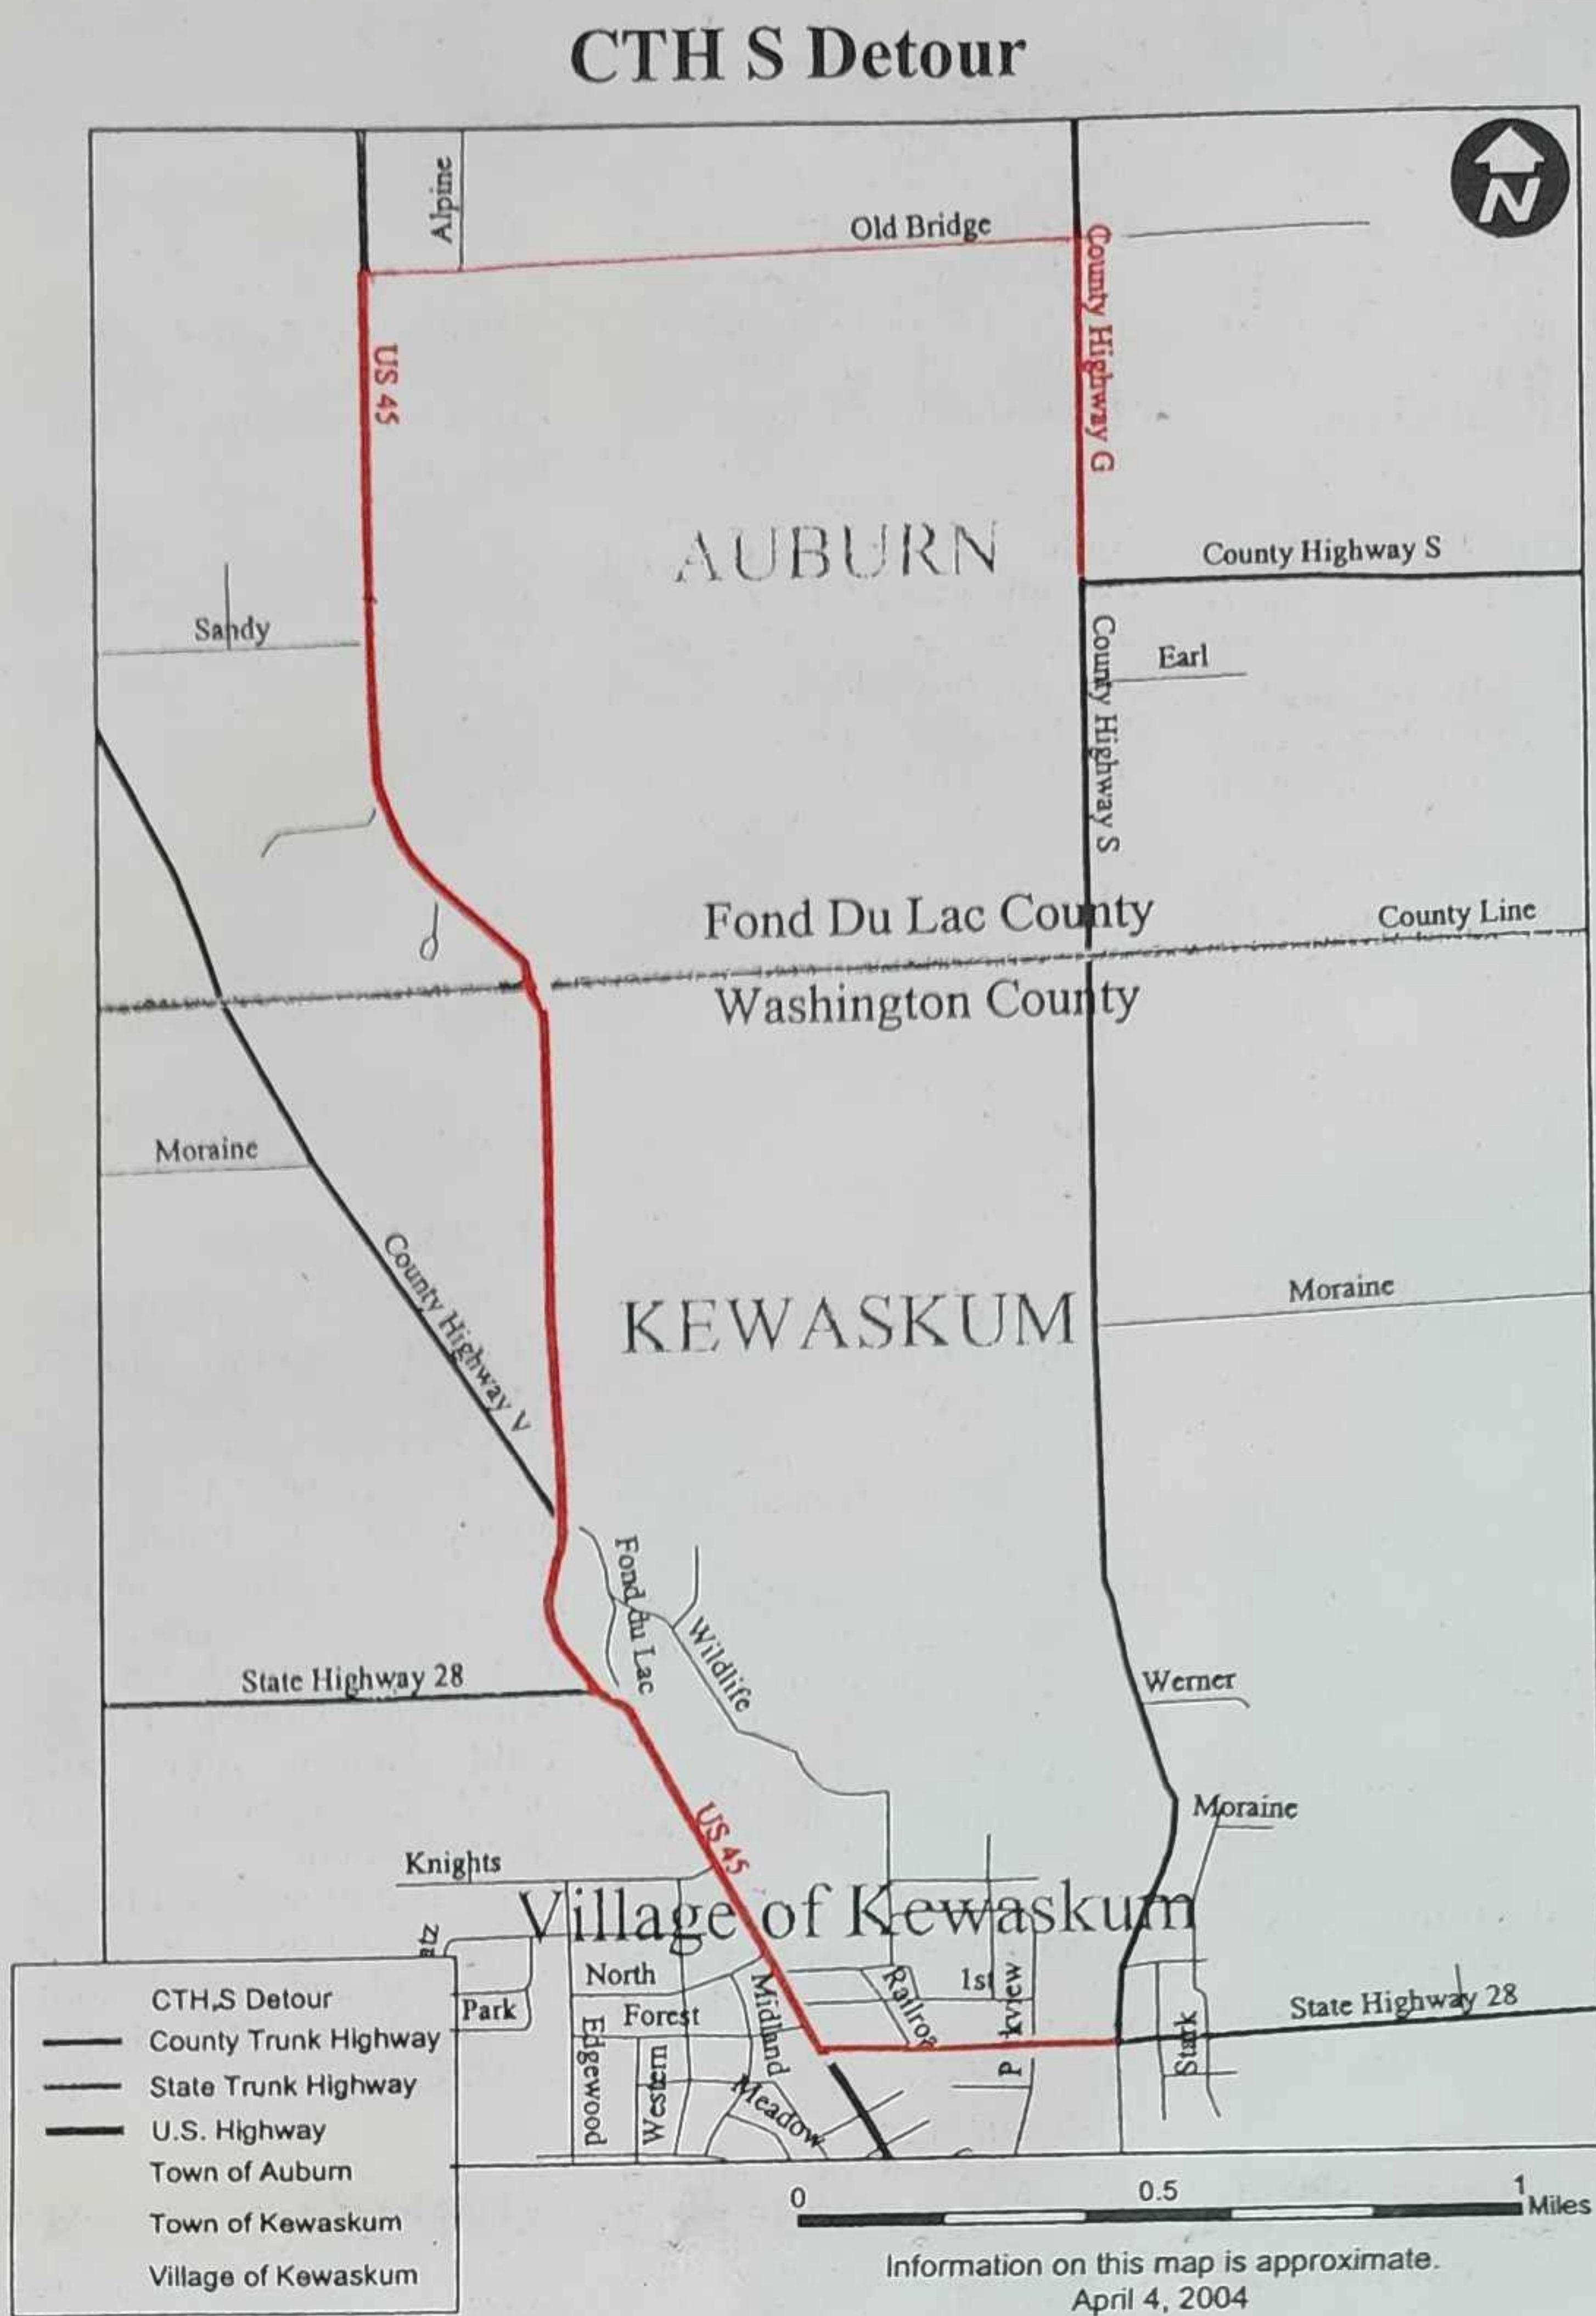

Memorial Day was officially proclaimed a holiday on May 5, 1868 by General John Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, in his General Order No. 11. It was first observed on May 30, 1868, when flowers were placed on the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers at Arlington National Cemetery. Although over two dozen cities claim to be the birthplace of Memorial Day, the first state to officially recognize the holiday was New York in 1873. By 1890 Memorial Day was recognized by all of the northern states. The southern states did not acknowledge Memorial Day and chose to honor their dead on separate days until after World War I when the holiday changed to honor Americans who died in any war, not just those who died in the Civil War.

Memorial Day is now celebrated nationwide on the last Monday in May. Several southern states celebrate an additional separate day to honor the Confederate war casualties.

Have a safe Memorial Day weekend. I'll spend most of my weekend boiling water for my Jell-O surprise.

In loving memory of GERALDINE (GERI) GAVIN, who passed away 14 years ago, May 28, 1990:

INSIDE OUR HEART

Right now you're in a different place,
And though we seem apart,
You're closer than you ever were...

You're there inside our hearts.
You're with us when we greet each day.

And while the sun shines bright,
You're there to share the sun sets, too...

You're with us every night.
You're with us when the times are good.

To share a laugh or two,
And when a tear should start to fall...

You'll be there for us too.
And when that day arrives
That we no longer are apart,
We will smile and hold you close to us...

Forever in our heart.
Forever missed, but never forgotten...

Mom and family

The Bookworm Sez
By Terri Schlichenmeyer
See Jane Die
By: Erica Spindler

Everybody has good memories of their childhood, and no matter how minor, they're something you like to remember often. But isn't it funny how something bad can stick with you? Even after it's done and forgotten, it subtly alters your life in some way. My guess is that, whether it happened 10 years ago or 70 years ago, you can recall some event with infinitesimal detail, and it stings just as much today as it did then. Jane Killian had a life-altering event 17 years ago, and in "See Jane Die" by Erica Spindler (c.2004, Mira Books) it's come back to haunt her in more ways than one.

In 1987, Jane was a teenager, when she tagged along with her sister Stacy to play at the lake. Stacy taunted Jane to see how far she could swim, and as Jane turned around in the water, the day turned to horror. Two men in a boat bore down on Jane, aiming straight for her and in a watery instant, Jane's life was changed.

Seventeen years later, Jane has grown up. Reconstructive surgery has turned her into a lovely woman. Jane has a career as an artist, and she's getting rave reviews. She's inherited a great deal of money. Best of all, Jane is married to Ian, a plastic surgeon, and they're expecting a baby.

Stacy, too, has grown up, and Jane's accident changed her life as well. Since she was the one who taunted Jane, she always felt responsible for Jane's accident, and the closeness the sisters had is gone.

Now Stacy works for the Dallas Police Department. She's hard-bitten, no-nonsense, and nobody wants to work with her - until Mac McPherson came along. Mac and Stacy mesh like good partners should, and now Mac and Stacy have a crime to solve: a woman has been murdered in a swanky hotel. The dead woman is beautiful. She's also a former patient of Ian's.

As the evidence piles up, more women are killed, and soon Ian is arrested. But amid Jane's protestations of Ian's innocence, malevolent notes start showing up: "I did it on purpose. To hear your screams." As Mac and Stacy struggle to piece together the evidence while protecting Jane, the questions remain... could Ian have been the killer? Who wants to see Jane die?

I am one of those people who, when reading a mystery, smugly think "Aha! There's the killer!" I'm happy to say that in "See Jane Die", I had the killer figured out four or five times... and I was wrong every time. Erica Spindler weaves a good story with twists and turns that - just when you think you've got everybody pegged - throw you around curve and change your thoughts. Stacy was my favorite character in this book; she tries to be hard-hearted, but she can't, and I liked her enormously. Look, look, look. See Jane. "See Jane Die". See yourself picking up this book soon.

Seatbelt Enforcement Effort Steps Up

Law enforcement agencies and other Wisconsin safety belt advocates today are kicking off the summer driving season and the Memorial Day holiday with a comprehensive safety belt crackdown and education campaign aimed at saving lives.

The campaign, called "BUSTED. Buckle-Up or Pay the Price," coincides with new data just released by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) showing that after the focused enforcement/education push in May 2003, young men and women ages 16-24 increased their seat belt use 7%, compared to a 4% increase for the population as a whole.

While this data is encouraging, still more must be done. Data from NHTSA indicates that 5,666 young people (ages 16-20) died nationwide, and thousands more were injured in traffic crashes in 2002. Of these, 64% were unrestrained.

According to the figures from 2002, in Wisconsin, 130 young people, ages 16-20 died, with 73% unrestrained.

"This data is unacceptable. We must take steps to keep our young people safe while traveling our roadways," said Wisconsin State Patrol Superintendent David Collins.

"Every driver should accept this personal challenge" keep yourself and everyone in your car buckled up every time you get in the car - not only during this two-week mobilization, but also every day of the year. Your friends and family deserve no less," said NHTSA Administrator Dr. Jeffrey W. Runge.

"BUSTED. Buckle-Up or Pay the Price" features a period of intense enforcement of safety belt laws coupled with aggressive public information and education. "For many motorists, especially young people, the threat of a ticket has proven to be a greater inducement to buckling up than the threat of injury or death," said Superintendent Collins.

To address unbelted motorists, more than 200 local, county, and state law enforcement agencies and thousands of officers will implement an aggressive zero tolerance approach to safety belt violators. The enforcement will accompany a high profile public education effort.

Wisconsin law enforcement will join more than 12,000 law enforcement agencies nationwide in similar mobilizations, participating in stepped-up enforcement including saturation patrols and coordinated, multi-county corridor enforcement.

The seat belt enforcement period will place special emphasis on protecting teens and young adults. "Many young people think they are indestructible. For them, messages about the lifesaving benefits of safety belt use appear to fall on deaf ears," Collins said. "You can call it tough love, but we'd rather write 1,000 tickets than knock on one more door to tell a parent their child isn't coming home."

"BUSTED. Buckle-Up or Pay the Price" runs through June 6.

State's Free Fishing Weekend June 5 - 6

MADISON - Resident and nonresident anglers of all ages can fish without a fishing license on June 5-6 as Wisconsin celebrates Free Fishing Weekend. Trout stamps are not needed during the two days, however, all other fishing regulations such as length and bag limits apply.

Anglers can take part in a variety of special fishing events, many of them at state parks and forests and some of them at state hatcheries. A complete list of Free Fishing Weekend events can be found on the Department of Natural Resources Web site.

"Free Fishing Weekend is aimed at people who have never fished and people who haven't fished for a long time," says Theresa Stabo, the Department of Natural Resources' aquatic resources educator. "It's time to pull that neglected fishing pole out and head down to the water's edge. After people have a chance to reaffirm that fishing with family and friends is a lot of fun and time well spent, we think they'll recognize what a bargain it is compared to other family activities."

People don't need to make a big investment in equipment to go fishing, Stabo says, just a cane pole, hooks, a bobber, and some worms they've dug up from the backyard. People who don't have their own fishing equipment can borrow basic equipment from one of DNR's 42 tackle loaner sites, most of which are located at state parks, forests and recreation areas. Several of those sites are offering introductory fishing clinics on Sunday, June 6, when admission to state parks is free.

"Even if a tackle loaner site is not offering a clinic you can still borrow a fishing pole for a few hours to give it a try," Stabo says. "Bait is not included so dig a few garden worms to bring along before you leave home or plan to stop at a bait shop."

A list of tackle loaner site locations can be found on the DNR Web site

the back of the cab and slammed the door shut. This cabbie was not happy with his passenger. I doubt if he realized what he would be transporting in his 1935 Ford car, set up as a cab, when we paid him up front.

Later I heard that the MP at the gate took one look at Ed's pass and after getting a whiff of Ed, as the window was open, wasted no time in allowing the cab to enter the base. The flight line was always extremely, heavily guarded but the barracks area wasn't.

A short while later we all arrived back at the base to check on our buddy. We had to undress him and we threw him in the shower. All of his clothes, shoes, belt, etc. were all thrown into the washing machine.

Needless to say, this little tale gave us many chuckles as we flew our combat tour of duty in B-29s, deep in the heart of North Korea. Maybe that is why tail gunners have their own private pressurized compartments!

Mary Byrns, District Manager

Teachers, Summer Jobs and Social Security

The school year is nearly over, and most teachers I know are busy planning their summer - which for many will include a second job. I am often asked by my teacher friends about a so-called Social Security "teacher's offset" on the retirement benefits they earn when working outside the classroom.

I can usually clear up this confusion by making one important point: THERE IS NO OFFSET if your teaching job is covered by Social Security.

Most educators work for school districts that are covered by Social Security. In other words, Social Security taxes are deducted from their salary. If that is your situation, then you will get all the Social Security retirement benefits you are entitled to, with no offsets or reductions.

So, if you are a teacher whose teaching job is covered by Social Security, you do not need to read further.

But some teachers do not pay Social Security taxes. If you are in this situation, then you should take time to understand two provisions of the law that may reduce or eliminate any Social Security benefits paid to someone who will get a pension from a job not covered by Social Security. So if you are a teacher who does not pay into Social Security, but did earn at least 40 Social Security credits or "quarters" (the minimum requirement) at other jobs, then your Social Security benefits will likely be reduced.

Why? Your Social Security benefits are meant to replace only a percentage of pre-retirement earnings. The way Social Security benefit amounts are figured, lower-paid workers get a higher return than highly paid workers. For example, lower-paid workers could get Social Security benefit that equals about 55% of their pre-retirement earnings. The average replacement rate for highly paid workers is about 25%.

Before 1983, people who worked in jobs not covered by Social Security received benefits that were computed as if they were long-term, low-wage workers. They received the advantage of a higher percentage of Social Security benefits, in addition to their other pension. Congress passed the windfall elimination provision to eliminate this advantage.

The amount of the reduction depends of your circumstances, but it currently can be no more than $306 per month. Also, if you have 20 or more years of "substantial" earnings under Social Security, the reduction is smaller and can be totally disregarded if you have 30 or more years of Social Security-covered earnings. To learn more, read the fact sheet, Windfall Elimination Provision, at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs.10045.html or request a copy by calling 1-800-772-1213.

There is another provision affecting people who will get a pension from a job not covered by Social Security. So if you are a teacher who does not pay into Social Security, the Government Pension Offset law says we must take two-thirds of your teacher's pension and subtract that from any wife's/husband's or widow's/widower's benefits you might be due on your spouse's Social Security record. To learn more, read the fact sheet, Government Pension Offset, at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs.10007.html or request a copy by calling 1-800-772-1213.

Social Security also has a special Government Employees website for teachers and any other federal, state or local government employee who may get a pension from a job not covered by Social Security. The Government Employee website - www.socialsecurity.gov/gpo-wep/ - contains more information, as well as answers to many questions about the two provisions and illustrative examples of how they may affect your Social Security benefits.

Three WBKV/WBWI Employees Win Induction into President's Club

Three employees of Pure Country 92.5 WBWI and Classic Country AM 1470 WBKV won induction into the Bliss Communications' highest honor, cash and an engraved keepsake.

Jack Kurcharik and Bob Bonenfant, account executives with West Bend's hometown radio stations, won for outstanding sales performance.

Mike Elliott, operations director, won the "Associates" award for his contribution in providing to fellow employees and listeners outstanding customer service. Elliott was nominated by his co-workers for the award.

A special awards banquet, attended by the other President's Club winners from throughout the Bliss Communications Radio Group was held to salute the winners of this year's honor. The three won a weekend getaway February 13-16 at The Abbey in Lake Geneva, a free day of vacation, a personalized plaque to display Bliss Communications' highest honor, cash and an engraved keepsake.

"Our radio stations are only as good as the people who we employ," James Hodges, Vice President and General Manager said. "Each of the winners did an outstanding job this past year in servicing our advertisers and listeners. They are all very deserving of this honor. We are all especially proud of them and they are great examples of the teamwork we stress internally in order to do the very best job we can to service our listeners and advertisers."

WBKV/WBWI are subsidiary companies of Bliss Communications, headquartered in Janesville. Bliss has owned and operated the stations since 1970.

Indians Can't Hold Lead In Regional Contest

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

LAKE MILLS — You wouldn't think a hit that traveled just six or eight feet would cause such damage, but the bunt was Kewaskum High's worst enemy Thursday afternoon in a Division 2 girls' fast-pitch regional game against Lakeside Lutheran here.

With the game tied at 2-2 going into the bottom of the fifth inning, the hosts used two bunts and a couple of KHS errors to score twice and go on to a 4-2 win, officially ending the Indians' season.

"Back-to-back errors ... We make those plays and we get out of here," KHS Coach Jeff Gosse said afterward, obviously excited his girls stayed right with the second-seeded team and disappointed it came down to a couple of miscues, which seemed to be the story of the Indians' entire 3-17 season.

"We played with 'em, and obviously Rachel (Breese, pitcher) is getting better," Gosse went on, also complimenting the winners by saying, "They've got a good short game. They're a well-coached team. You can see that."

There was no scoring in the first inning and a half, then the Warriors used a single by Whitney Pfeifer to score the first run in the second inning. Becky Hahn walked, went to second on a ground out and to third on a ground out before Pfeifer delivered her single.

The Indians came right back in the third to score a pair. After Breese popped out, Beth Boedeker and Amy Holm drew walks off Lynette Brown and when Kristin Mantz's grounder to short was mishandled, the bases were full.

Laura Schladweiler followed with a clutch single, scoring Breese, and then if looked like Becky Junk also had a base hit when she slapped a hot grounder to right field. Christa Doelger had other ideas, however, when she scooped up the ball and whipped it to first base in time to get Junk, who did get credit for an RBI on the play when Holm sprinted home.

The inning ended when Tiffany Hedlund grounded out to second.

Breese blasted a two-out double to right-center field in the fourth, but Brown got Boedeker to ground out to third, ending the threat.

In its half of the fourth, Lakeside tied the game thanks to a walk to Hahn, steal, wild pitch and a fielder's choice that went catcher to first. The throw back home was too late to get Hahn.

Mantz singled in the top of the fifth and stole second but was left stranded when Junk hit a fly ball that was caught by the center fielder.

Brown had easy sailing in the sixth when she faced just three Indians hitters, getting two on grounders and Bekki Heberer on a fly ball to center.

In the seventh, Holm drew a two-out walk, but the game ended when Mantz grounded out to third.

Breese tossed a two-hitter in taking the loss. She struck out two and walked five.

"Nice game tonight, Rachel," Gosse said to his pitcher.

The Indians had five hits off of Brown.

Lakeside moves on to the second round of action in the regional.

When Gosse gathered his troops after the traditional game-ending handshakes, he told them all to play a lot of softball this summer. "Next year, you'll come back stronger," he said.

Return to Birch Point

Hello Friends,

Last June, I fished Chippewa County's Marsh Miller Lake and stayed at Birch Point Resort for the first time.

I was impressed with the humongous bluegill and the laid-back attitude at Birch Point (715-568-1525) and knew I would return this spring. Paul Maire is the current owner of the resort which was built around 1917 and still has an aura hanging over it like time hasn't changed a thing.

Friday, May 14

High 54, Low 33

A cabin on the lake and catching big bluegill - what more do you need to keep a 3, 10- and 12-year-old happy?

Actually, this 42-year-old has been smiling for the last couple of weeks knowing that this trip was coming up.

As usual, we had a late start today, which meant we weren't fishing until this evening. Joey, 10, stayed on shore and fished with some new friends he had just made. My wife, Laurie, and kids, Travis and Selina, and I headed out in our 14-foot boat with the high hopes of locating some big bluegill. We anchored in about six feet of water and fished with bobbers and hocks, as well as ice fishing jigs baited with either wax worms or night crawlers.

I didn't care how many fish we caught; I just wanted to have a good plan for the rest of the weekend. That's when I noticed my bobber was missing. That would become a family joke for the weekend since my bobber was always missing.

I reeled in and landed an eight-inch sunfish. My fish wasn't a trophy, but the big pigs we were after soon started biting. Our biggest bluegill tonight was nine inches, and like every other fish I catch in this lake, is incredibly overweight.

The real highlight of our night was when 3-year-old Selina caught the first fish of her life and held it up for a picture.

Saturday, May 15

High 60, Low 22

There was frost out on the pumpkin this morning. Joey, Travis and I went out for an early morning of fishing.

Marsh Miller, which is about 400 acres, is a man-made lake loaded with stumps and a good share of weeds.

This morning, Joey took the lead in our "Big Bluegill of the Weekend" contest with a fish just over 9 1/2 inches. We found a honey hole with lots of big fish and brought Laurie and Selina back there this afternoon but didn't get a bite.

For the last three hours of daylight, we fished where we did last night and had a blast. Everyone but Selina caught lots of big fish including bass and northern pike.

A painted turtle was stealing our worms. It had kind of a bad afternoon, though, when a bald eagle appeared overhead, swooped down, plucked it out of the water and flew away. Can you imagine what that must be like for an eagle to try to eat a turtle in a shell?

Sunday, May 16

High 65, Low 40

The boys and I were on the water extra early. It is our last day, and none of us wants to go home!

Later this morning it was all five of us in the boat once again. As usual, someone was always snagged or tying on a new rig, or losing or catching a fish. So far, it is still a mystery as to how both of the boys broke their favorite fishing rods.

When I think back to when my father, a single parent, would take us on at least 15 trips a year, I am truly amazed. Most of the trips were camping out of a tent, including three annual trips to an island. We always ate good, were fishing or hunting before sunrise and still had plenty of camp-time.

One of the nice things about staying at Birch Point is the boys can catch fish from shore, so they always have something to do.

If I were a bit older and more settled down, I would be checking out the permanent campsites at Birch Point Resort and become a world class bluegill fisherman, or else die trying.

That wouldn't be a bad way to go!

KMS Track Teams Place Third, Fourth

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

While Slinger dominated both ends of the Moraine Conference boys track meet, the Kewaskum seventh and eighth grade teams had plenty to be proud of, as they finished third and fourth, respectively in the year-end competition.

The eighth grade boys wound up third with 83 points, and the highlight of the meet was the win by the 4x400-meter relay team. The quartet of Matt Donath, Mike Bunkelman, Dylan Kenworthy and Dan Dymond toured the four laps in a time of 4 minutes, 11 and .28 seconds (4:11.28), which was a full 10 seconds ahead of the Slinger foursome.

Another good effort was the second place finish by Ben Boettcher in the discus. He sailed the metal platter 102 feet, 8 and 1/2 inches (102-81/2).

Other KMS top-six finishes are as follows: 110 hurdles,

5. Ben Butler, 17.48; 6. Billy Otten, 17.56; 100-meter dash, 3. Justin Krueger, 13.11; 1,600, 4. Dave Spang, 5:35. (new personal record); 4x200 relay, 7. 1:55.40; 400, 5. Dan Dymond, 61.89; 4x100 relay, 4. 55.73; 5. Dave Spang, 2:34.37 (new personal record); 200, 2. Ryan Wunsch, 26.8; shot put, 2. Justin Krueger, 36-09; discus, 4. Dan Pulvermacher, 91-05; high jump, 4. David Spang, 5-4 (new personal record). Team scores: Slinger 119, Pewaukee 96, 3. Kewaskum 83, 4. Germantown 80, West Bend Badger 68, West Bend Silverbrook 49.

Seventh grade results: 110 hurdles - 6. Nathan Westerman, 19.11; 100 - 4. Brandon Conroy, 14.51; 4x200 relay, 4. 2:12.41; 4x100 relay - 5. 63.06; 200 - 5. Brandon Conroy, 29.55; shot put - 2. Joey Paulus, 35-06; discus - 5. Nathan Westerman, 78-08; high jump, Jake Dickman, 5-0.

Team scores: Slinger 142, West Bend Badger 116, Germantown 88, Kewaskum 57, Pewaukee 55, West Bend Silverbrook 32.

KHS Track Teams Shine at Monday Night's Regionals

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

GRAFTON — Normally athletes and spectators consume gallons of sport drinks during high school track meets, but that was definitely not the case at Monday's Division Two regional meet held here.

Hot chocolate was the refreshment of choice, both to warm the hands and the body as the wind chills dipped into the mid-40s.

The weather did not seem to slow the Grafton High boys (168 points) and the Kettle Moraine Lutheran girls (121 points), however, as they captured the team titles. In both events, Kewaskum High teams were second.

The Indian boys scored 116 points and more importantly advance one relay and eight individuals in 10 events to the sectional competition at Kewaskum on Thursday. To move on to the sectional required placing in the top four in Monday's competition.

Junior Eric Nass and sophomore Garrett Donath had excellent outings. Nass advanced in three individual events and the 4x400-meter relay. KHS Coach Jerry Gosa rolled the dice and decided to have Nass run the 200 and 400-meter dashes and compete in his specialty, the triple jump.

He responded by winning the 200 in 23 and .40 seconds (23.40). Which was just off his preliminary time of 23.23.

Like rapid fire, Nass, Luke Rundel of Kettle Moraine Lutheran and Donath came across the finish line in 23.40, 23.50 and 23.60, respectively.

Nass also won the 400 in 51.20, not quite as fast as he ran in last week's Eastern Wisconsin Conference test but very respectable considering how cold and windy it was Monday.

He completed his day with a third in the triple jump, and his best effort of 40 feet and 1/2 inches (40-00.5).

Donath also had an excellent day in the pole vault, clearing 12-0 for third place. He also combined with Zack VanWormer, Nick Bartley, and Nass to finish second in the 4x400 relay. They were clocked in 3:30.80, three seconds in back of Grafton's ace foursome.

Two KHS athletes advance in the high jump. Both Luke Herriges and Adam Schlosser cleared 5-8 to tie for second place. Another second was posted by Josh Uelmen in the 100 (11.50), who has been very strong down the stretch run of the season. Uelmen and his 4x100 relay had hoped to qualify but were disqualified for a handoff out of the zone.

Earning thirds were Bartley in the 800 (2:02.70) and Josh Meyer in the 1,600

(4:48.30), and Nate Behring in the discus (120-05).

Junior Rachel Dums paced the Lady Indian effort (108 points). She was outstanding in the 300 hurdles again, winning with a solid time of 49.60. She also helped the 4x100 relay to first place in 52.10. Others on the winning foursome were Jessie Butler, Katie Patterson and Amanda Magnus.

The 4x200 runners also came out best, running a 1:50.20, which was four seconds faster than their seed time. Runners in this event were Butler, Magnus, Lindsay Keller and Amanda Donath.

The Indians swept the relays by also taking first in the final event, the 4x400. Running a sizzling 4:13.00 were Dums, Magnus, Sam Droese and Donath.

Patterson was the pole vault champ with her effort of 8-6, and Donath's time of 1:02.00 was good enough for second in the 400.

Magnus had the best long jump in preliminaries but had to settle for second place at 16-00.75.

KHS also got a third place from Butler in the 100 (13.40), a surprising third by Danielle De Groot in the 800 (2:39.30), and fourth from Keller in the 200 (27.90).

Thursday's meet at Kewaskum begins with field events at 3:30 p.m.

Paulus, Two Double Teams Take Fourth in EWC Tennis Test

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Playing the Eastern Wisconsin Conference matches at the Sports Core in Kohler turned out to be a stroke of genius over the weekend. Had they been scheduled outdoors, they would have probably been postponed by rain like many of the other prep athletic events were.

And speaking of genius play, the Sheboygan Falls Falcons were at the tops of their games, using wins at three of the four singles spots and a second at the other, toward a second straight EW championship.

The Falcons wound up scoring a whopping 57 points, six ahead of runner-up Roncalli, which had 51. In third place was Plymouth with 49, followed by Kohler, 42; Kewaunee, 39; Two Rivers, 37; Kewaskum, 25; and Chilton, 1.

Winning the premier No. 1 singles title was Ross Klette of Sheboygan Falls, who defeated Knepfel of Plymouth, 6-4, 6-3.

"We had Nos. 2 and 3 doubles and No. 4 singles takes fourths. That was the best," KHS Coach Dan Ross said Sunday.

For his fourth, Mitch Paulus downed Kussow of Kewaunee in the first round, 3-6, 7-5 and 10-2 before losing to Elliott Simery of Sheboygan Falls, 6-0 and 6-1 and then to T. Fehlinger of Kohler 6-4, 6-4.

At No. 3 doubles, Craig Johann and Adam Ziebel came out on top in their first match against Justin Muench and Jared Stroobants of Chilton 6-3, 6-4. They took the eventual champions from Kewaunee to three sets before falling 6-4, 3-6 and 1-6, then lost to a team from Sheboygan Falls in the battle for third.

Playing some of their best tennis of the season, Andy Marx and John Carpenter defeated Christian Volbrecht and Jake Arpke of Sheboygan Falls, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-4 before losing their next two matches at No. 2 doubles.

"I was hoping we could get a couple thirds. They were very close finishes," Ross said, adding, "No. 2 doubles was a surprise. They hadn't won all season."

Ross said he had hoped Nic Luther would be able to place at No. 2 singles, but he was unable to get a seed, despite the fact he was 3-3 at No. 2 singles and 1-0 at No. 1.

"Nic had a tough draw. He played the No. 2 seed (Kerry Doyle) who won the whole thing," Ross said, reporting on Luther's 6-0, 6-1 loss that eliminated him from further competition.

Despite the large number of losses his team suffered this season, coach Jeff Gosse remained upbeat about his Kewaskum High girls fastpitch softball team until the two recent losses to Sheboygan Falls by respective scores of 6-4 and 10-7.

"Last night was frustrating," Gosse said. "We shouldn't have lost to that team."

What Gosse was referring to was the fact mental lapses cost the Lady Indians both games.

In the opener, Kewaskum spotted the Falcons three runs in the first, then came back with four runs in the third on successive singles by Amy Holm, Kristin Mantz, Becky Junk and Laura Schlad-weiler.

The hosts came back to retake the lead with a two-run fourth, and Kewaskum frittered away a big scoring opportunity in the top of the fifth. After Holm and Mantz reached base and successfully pulled off a double steal, the next three Indians struck out, two of them looking.

"Very frustrating," Gosse said, reporting Rachel Breese took the loss after giving up six hits, the same number as the Indians had.

In the nightcap, Kewaskum was up 7-6 going into the sixth, then the roof caved in. The Falcons got three consecutive hits, but Kewaskum picked off the runner at third for one out. Then Gosse decided to give a free pass to one of the Falcons who already had three hits, but the next girl up got a hit, and the Indians started throwing the ball around and their lead was gone.

"We only had one (physical) error, but we committed several mental errors. That was what killed us," Gosse said.

Kewaskum had eight hits, including three by Holm, who was just on fire at the plate, with a single, double and triple for four RBI. Beth Boedeker, Mantz, Tiffany Hedlund, Schladweiler and April Lettow all had singles.

Lettow pitched for KHS and gave up eight hits.

Indians end EW season with a win

It was a slugfest, and Kewaskum was the last team standing on May 18 in its game at Kiel that ended up 15-14.

When asked how many hits his team had, coach Gosse said, "We had a whole slew of them," reporting Becky Junk and Laura Schladweiler both had three, while Tiffany Hedlund, Beth Boedeker, Kristin Mantz and Amy Holm each had two. Mantz had a double with a teammate on base.

In the RBI department, it was Junk leading the way with three.

"We were down 9-0 after the first inning," Gosse said, reporting his starting pitcher, Rachel Breese, had trouble with walks early, then she settled down and pitched a good game the rest of the way.

The Indians ended up 3-11 in EWC play.

KHS Track Teams Place Fourth in EWC Finale

KHS Baseball Preview

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT

The pattern of similar scoring and similar finishes was continued by the Kewaskum High track teams last week in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Championships held at the Municipal Field in Manitowoc.

Behind one first place from Luke Herriges in the high jump and a host of seconds and thirds, the KHS boys wound up with 94.50 points, good for fourth place overall. Rachel Dums turned in outstanding efforts in the events she participated in, leading the

Eric Nass

The Indians did very well in most of the relays. In the 4x100, Ross Stockhausen, Jake Sabel, Mike Wagner and Josh Uelmen motored to a 45.70, good for second place, and in the 4x800, the young quartet of Matt Parrent, Robert Gibson, Justis Clayton and Zach Holm reeled off a fourth in 8:46.50.

Bartley ran an excellent time of 2:02.51 in the 800, good for third place, while Uelmen was the third fastest man in the 100, with his time of 11.40.

Other top-six finishes included: Josh Meyer, 4th in the 1,600 (4:41.10); pole vault, Donath, tie for fourth at 11-0 and Scott Rhoads, tied for sixth at 10-6; and Nass and Donath, sixth and seventh in the 200 at 23.50 and 23.60.

Mike Wagner finished seventh in both hurdle races, the 110 highs in 16.51 and the 300 intermediates in 45.29.

"Rachel Dums was fantastic," Gosa said, looking at her victory in the 300-meter hurdles in a personal-best time of 47.41 seconds.

Gosa said one of the other girls in the race had a seed time one second faster than his runner, but, "By the second hurdle, Rachel was already ahead," and she never looked back. She was 1.71 seconds ahead of the second-place finisher.

Another impressive effort was turned in by the girls' 4x200 relay team. Jessie Butler, Kayla McCormack, Lindsay Keller and Ashley Turner easily claimed bragging rights in the event with their time of 1:54.20, a full second ahead of Kiel.

Butler, Katie Patterson, Amanda Magnus and Dums came back later to win the 4x100 relay (52.30), and again they had over a second to spare. Magnus, Patterson and Butler also did well in their individual events. Magnus wound up second in the long jump at 16-3, while Patterson cleared 8-6 in the pole vault, which was also good for a second place.

Butler raced to a third place in the 100-meter dash, covering the distance in 13.28 seconds.

Magnus also added points with her sixth (1:04.29) in the 400, two places behind teammate Amanda Donath, who was clocked in 1:00.98.

Donath's fourth was a bit disappointing, considering she had won so many open 400s this season. She did bounce back nicely in the 200, however, finishing third in 27.40.

Also, Donath, Magnus, Dums and Sam Droese picked up good points in the 4x400 relay where they wound up fourth at 4:16.70. Kiel owned this event, burning to a 4:05.00, which would beat quite a few Division 1 teams.

Kewaskum had two places in the high jump, a seventh and eighth by Droese (4-8) and McCormack (4-6).

Dums added an eighth in the triple jump with her mark of 30-3 3/4.

What hurt the Indians, both boys and girls, were the field events, normally one of their strong suits. Claire Spang's sixth in the discus (83-5) was the best place in either event.

While he would have liked to have finished higher in the standings, Gosa said the EW is a very strong conference in track, "Our conference helps us in the state competition."

When a team loses its four starting pitchers, you can pretty well be assured the following year will be a challenge.

That's the scenario the Kewaskum High baseball team will face this spring. Gone are Travis Kempf, who earned himself a baseball scholarship at the University of Illinois-Chicago, Lee Schacht, Matt Hartmann and Jake Wilson, leaving Coach Dave Donath scrambling to come up with an entirely new pitching staff.

"We lost a lot of quality pitchers," Donath said recently, reporting the four mentioned above were responsible for all the decisions the Indians were involved in during 2003, which saw the Indians go 11-10 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (fifth place) and 13-17 overall.

Kewaskum did make a bit of a splash in the WIAA summer tournament when it defeated Random Lake and upset Campbellsport before falling to West Bend East in the sectional final.

Donath does have a solid group of infielders returning, starting with junior shortstop Josh Meyer, who earned second-team — all-conference honors after batting around .330 last season.

"He played some short, some second base" last year, Donath said. "He'll do some pitching, too."

Sophomore Jon Olla got some attention in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference balloting, winding up among those receiving honorable mention. Olla wielded a pretty good bat, hitting at a .320 clip for the Indians, and Donath said he is slated to play in the outfield and do some catching.

Senior letterman Ryan Koepke also appears to have a lock on one of the outfield spots, along with Tim Trott, a senior who was a starter most of last season.

Senior Brandon Prom was an occasional starter in '03, and Donath is giving him a try at third base and at pitching.

Senior Dave Wicklund, who hasn't played baseball for several years, is out this season and is competing for an outfield spot.

The juniors Donath has include Brett Zimdars, Adam Zieball, Abe Foerster and J.J. Krahn. Krahn is competing for the catcher job, while Zieball is an infielder, Foerster likes the hot corner at third, and Zimdars is expected to join the pitching corps and will play some at third base.

Leading sophomore candidates are Ross Stockhausen, who is the top candidate to play first base and may also be the designated hitter for some games, and Garrett Donath, the coach's son, who could work into the starting infield.

Currently two freshmen are being looked at as varsity candidates. Matt Parrent is an infielder/pitcher, while Dan Shea could also make the varsity in the same capacities.

Looking at the other EW teams, Donath said, "From the players returning, Sheboygan Falls has a chance" at contending for the title ... Plymouth is actually picked to take first, but they have a new coach (Butch Cain, a former PHS player)."

As far as the Indians' chances, Donath said, "I guess realistically I'm looking at .500 being good for this team."

The inexperience of the pitchers is a concern, but Donath, who is starting his fourth season as head coach, said there is good hitting potential and, "We could sneak up on some people ... It's going to come around. It's just a matter of when."

Tournament moves back a week

Kewaskum was slated to open its season last Saturday at the Germantown Tournament, but the event was postponed because of rain and wet grounds. It will be played Saturday, May 29, with opening games starting at 8 a.m.

The Indians had a non-conference game Tuesday and are scheduled to play at Random Lake (against former KHS coach Mark Heise) tonight at 5:30 p.m. EW play opens tomorrow night, with the Indians traveling to Kiel.
