Low turn out for Auburn Primary

By ANDREW KUEHL
 STATESMAN MANAGING EDITOR
 akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

After many heated debates at Town Board meetings in the last few months one would have thought residents would have taken quite an interest in Tuesday's Primary election. However, that was not the case as only 279 of the town's 1,579 registered voters took part in choosing their leadership for the next two years.

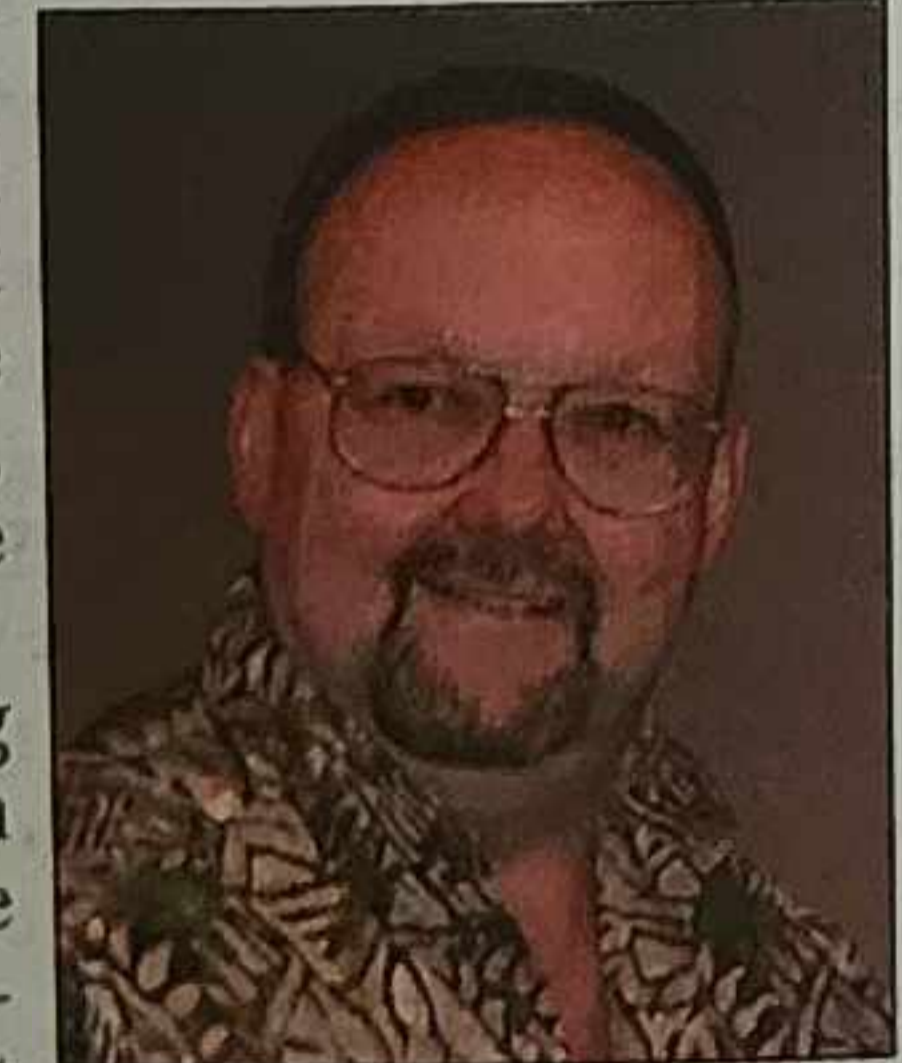

In the race for town chairman, two men, not at all new to the political arena will have their names on the April ballot.

Current town supervisor, Merle J. Laatsch was the top vote getter on Tuesday, receiving 144 votes. Next in line was former town supervisor, Joe H. Minz receiving 97 votes. Bud Discher did not advance to the general election as he received only 34 votes.

In the two positions open for town supervisor, four candidates will emerge to the General Election. Plan commission member, Michael Desterhoff garnered the most votes, taking home 114.

Making some town history, Alice Linnabary became the first woman in the town's history to be on the ballot. She will advance to the general election after receiving 106 votes.

John Janz and Joseph Woodworth also advance to the general election receiving 103 and 98 votes respectively.

Judge Laatsch fails in Primary

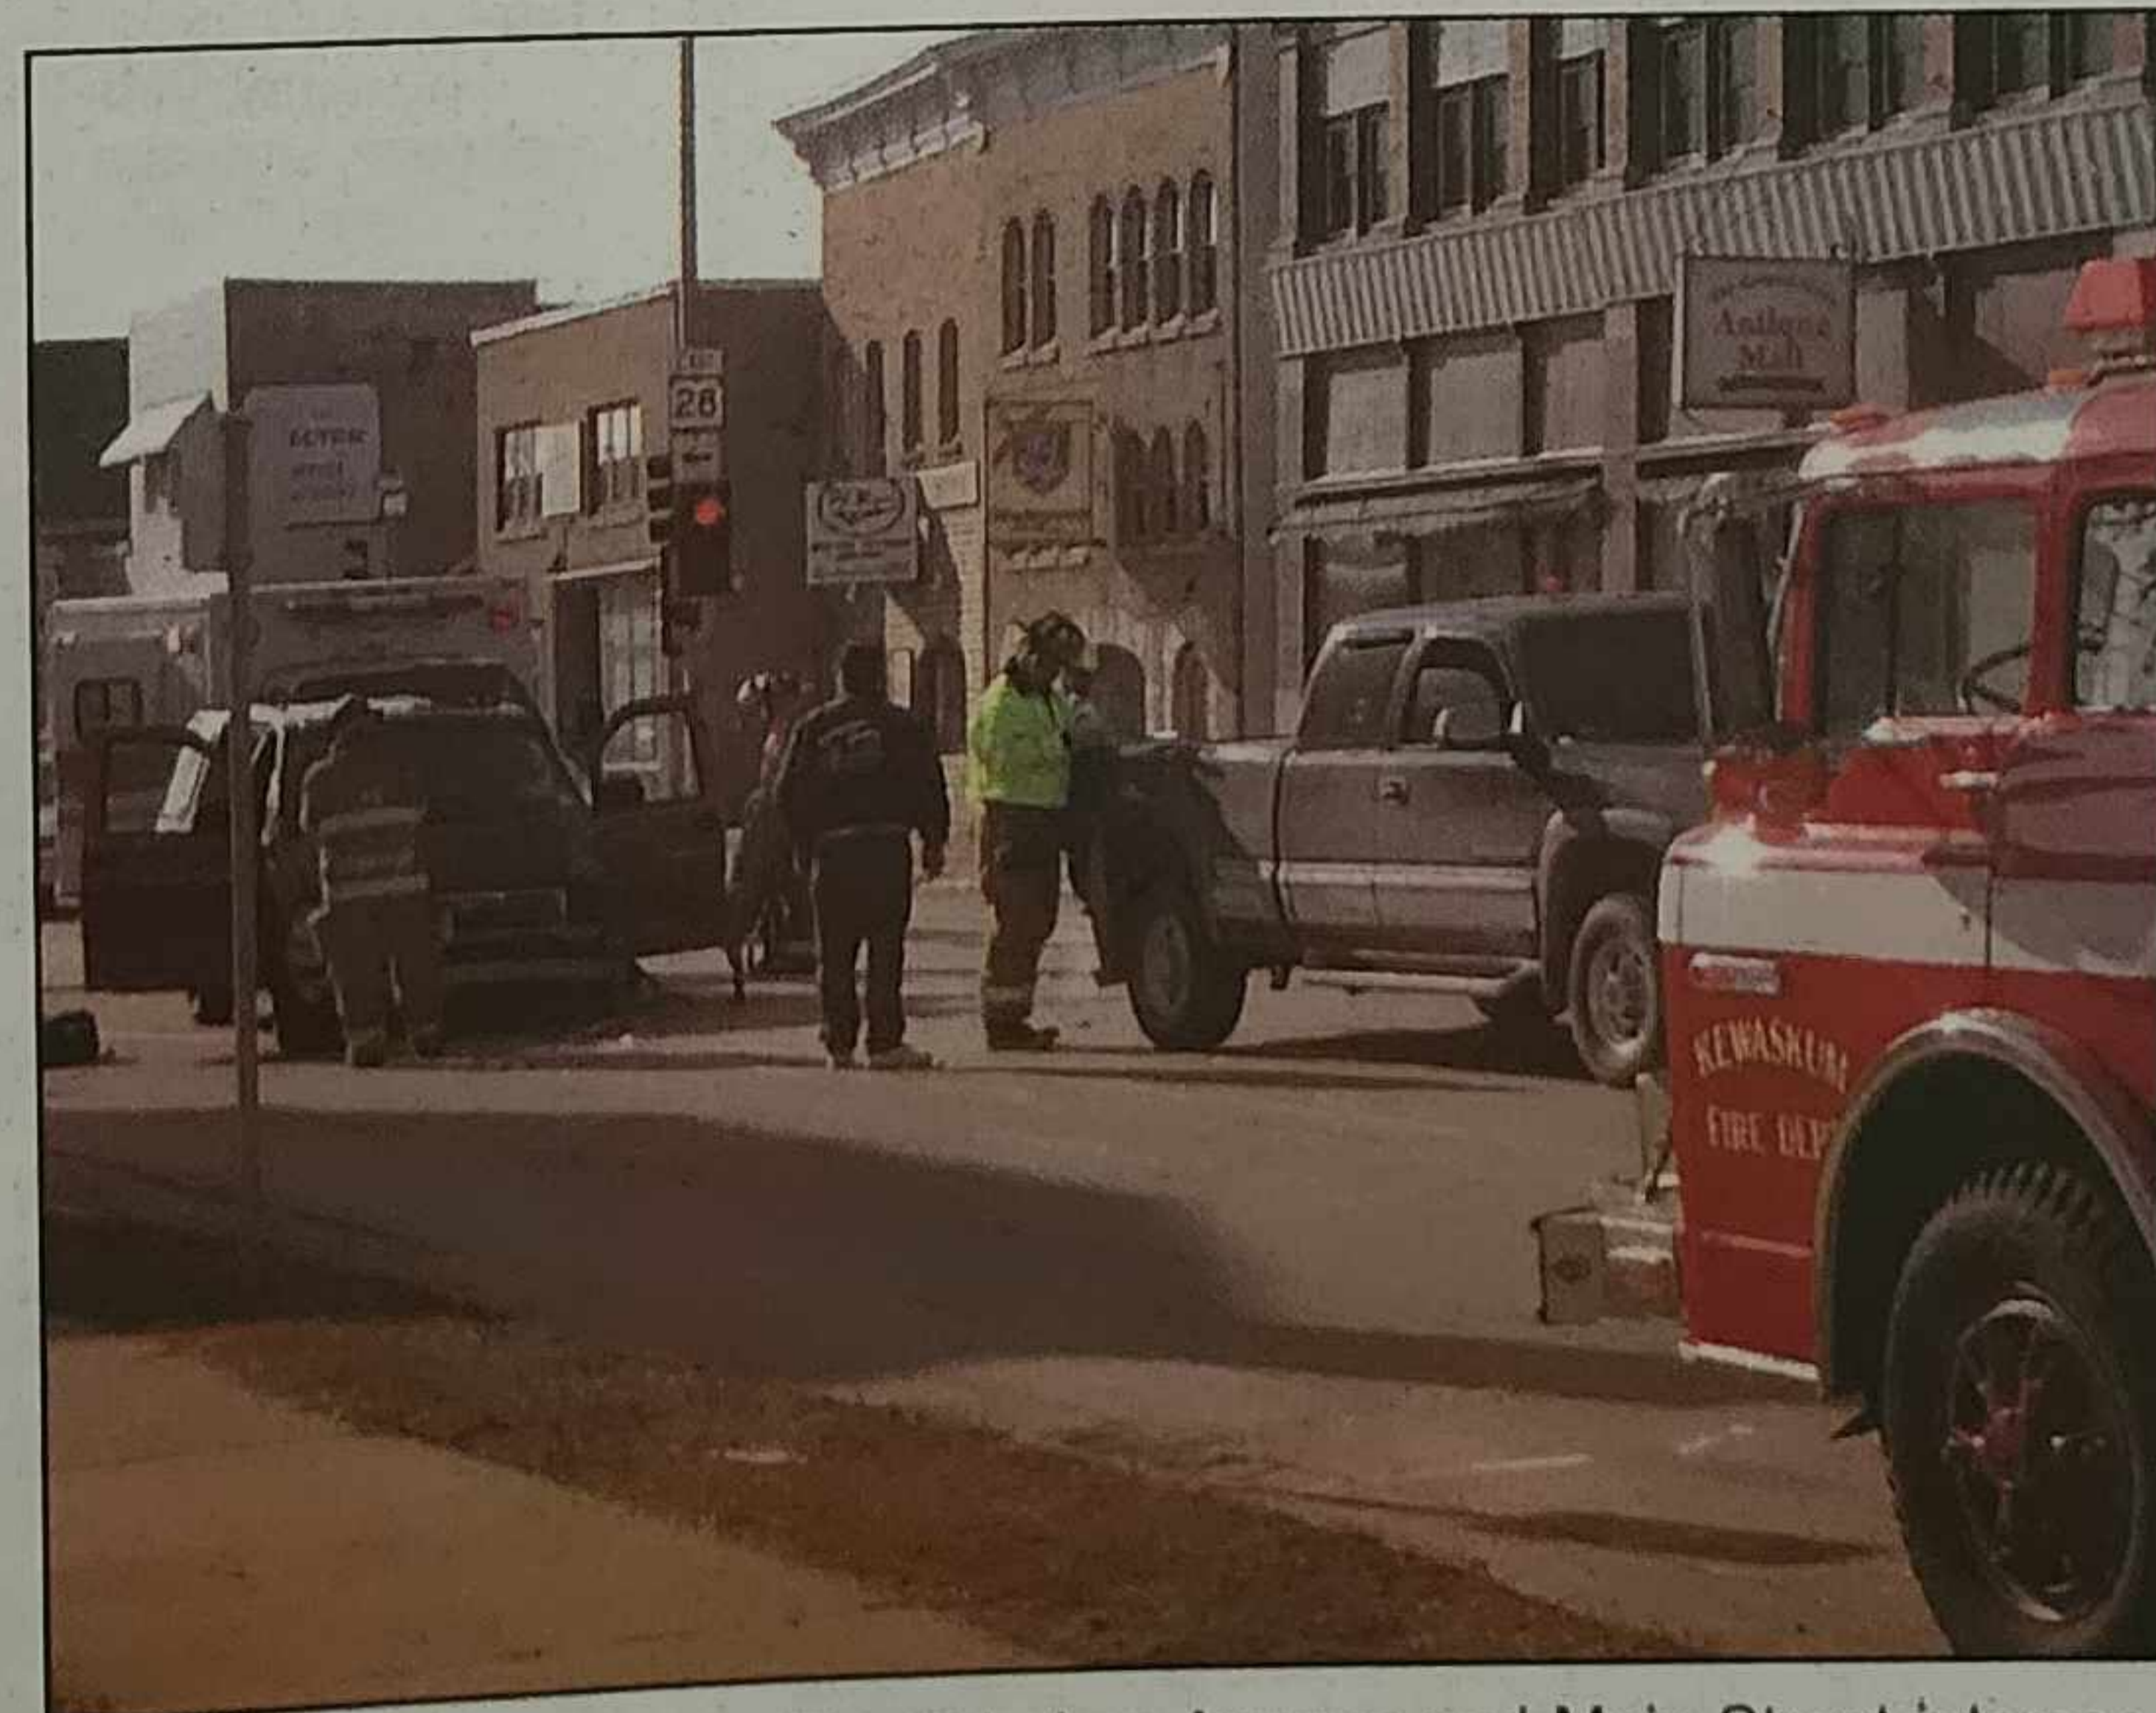

By JUDY STEFFES
 SPECIAL TO THE STATESMAN

Although voter turnout was pretty low, there was a Primary election on Tuesday. The results send Judge Daryl Laatsch back to private practice. The incumbent lost out in his bid to retain his seat in the Mid-Moraine Municipal Court. The winners were John Grundahl of West Bend and Janet Heins of Germantown. Those two advance to the April election.

The Statesman will carry more information on this race closer to the General Election.

Traffic was tiedup at the Fond'du Lac Avenue and Main Street intersection on Wednesday morning, February 16, as a two vehicle crash brought out Kewaskum Rescue to transport victims to St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend. Complete details of the crash were unavailable at press time but unconfirmed reports state three small children passengers, in one of the vehicles were involved in the crash. Open enrollment deadline Feb. 25

Open enrollment applications for the 2005-06 school year can be submitted to Wisconsin public schools until February 25, 2005 (4:00 p.m.).

The February application period of February 7 to February 25, 2005 (4:00 p.m.) marks the eighth year in which Wisconsin law has permitted children to attend public school in a school district other than the one in which they live.

Under the full-time public school open enrollment program, parents must apply during the application period to the school district they wish their children to attend. Early and late applications are not accepted. Parents may submit applications to no more than three nonresident school districts for each child during the open enrollment application period. Submitting more than three applications to nonresident school districts will result in all applications being invalidated. Parents will be informed by April 8, 2005 whether their open enrollment applications have been approved or denied.

Transportation is the responsibility of the parent. However, some school districts may elect to provide partial transportation. Parents with questions about transportation should call both resident and nonresident school district offices to find out if any transportation will be provided.

Reimbursement of some transportation costs is available for low-income parents whose children are eligible for free or reduced-price lunches under the federal school lunch program.

Most students who attended a nonresident school district under open enrollment last year are not required to reapply for the 2005-06 school year. However, if the student will be entering middle or high school in the 2005-06 school year, parents should call the nonresident school district to find out if reapplication will be required.

Parents may apply for their children to attend 4-year-old kindergarten under open enrollment only if the resident school district also offers a 4-year-old kindergarten program for which the child is eligible.

More information is available from the DPI's open enrollment Web site at www.dpi.state.wi.us/dpi/dfm/sms/psctoc.html or from Mary Jo Cleaver, DPI, 888-245-2732, or maryjo.cleaver@dpi.state.wi.us.

Ye Olde School storytellers wanted

Cedar Community is seeking older adult volunteers to participate in its popular Ye Olde School intergenerational program. Ye Olde School is a lovingly restored one-room schoolhouse, circa 1917, visited by more than 3,000 elementary school students each year. Students enjoy a day-long field trip, hosted by a full-time schoolmarm who immerses them in the experience of attending school as it was in the early 1900s. They learn how to use dip pens and inkwells, help fetch water and wood, ring the school bell and participate in authentic lessons taught during the era.

A vital part of the program is a visit from older adult volunteers who share stories of their own school days. Volunteers need not have gone to a one-room schoolhouse - just be willing to share their memories and perhaps pass on stories told by their parents or grandparents. The time commitment and hours worked are flexible. Ye Olde School is located on the Cedar Community main campus at 5595 County Road Z in West Bend. If interested, please call Bonnie Amerling, Cedar Community volunteer coordinator at 262-306-4218.

Cedar Community is a not-for-profit, church affiliated leader in providing superior health care, education, rehabilitation and senior housing to over 1,000 residents. Its facilities are located on three campuses in West Bend. For more information, visit their website at www.cedarcommunity.org.

THANK YOU

I would like to thank my family and friends for visiting me and for the flowers and gifts they brought while I was hospitalized recently. Also a big thank you to all who sent cards and prayed for me.

And then there were those wonderful ladies who shared some of their gourmet cooking with me after I was home. It was all much appreciated.

Also thanks to all the generous friends who gave rides to doctor's appointments and some grocery shopping while I was unable to drive.

All your kindness will long be remembered.

Feb. 20-26 National School Bus Week

James Syburg, president and Robert W. Christian, executive director of the Wisconsin School Bus Association, are proud to announce that Governor Jim Doyle proclaimed the week of February 20-26, 2005 as "School Bus Driver Recognition Week."

The proclamation states that more than 16,000 school bus drivers in Wisconsin travel over 90 million miles in transporting 600,000 pupils to and from school daily, in the safest form of surface transportation in Wisconsin. He urged all citizens to be aware of the valuable service provided for the youngsters of our state by Wisconsin school bus drivers and the outstanding safety record they have compiled and to take advantage of appropriate observances to extend their appreciation to our school bus drivers.

Christian said that many owners and school districts are talking to local service clubs on the important job school bus drivers have. Displaying new buses at shopping malls, supermarkets, etc. with drivers on hand to answer questions on safety is also being done in some cities.

Many school bus contractors and schools are having a "driver recognition dinner" or "safety awards banquet." Although, the public should recognize the tremendous contributions school bus drivers make for the entire school year, it is still extremely important to especially honor them during this week.

With that in mind, Christian said "The school bus heroes of the 2004-05 school year will be honored at the annual WASB convention and trade show held at the Chula Vista Theme Resort in Wisconsin Dells in June 2005. These drivers will be honored for taking quick action that may have resulted in either the saving of a life or prevention of serious injury. The safe driving of the bus, evacuation and the heimlich maneuver are all examples of things that past drivers have been recognized for. The state of Wisconsin should be very proud of these outstanding bus drivers.

Mississippi to Wisconsin

Project helps bridge cultural differences

While society continues to inch closer to realizing Martin Luther King's dream of racial quality, the need to build bridges between cultures is as real today as ever.

With that in mind, Project Self Help and Awareness (PSA), a catalyst for racial understanding since 1971, is currently recruiting families to host African American children from Mississippi in their homes for a few weeks this summer.

To participate, families who qualify need only possess the desire to show caring and understanding. Individuals welcoming children from Mississippi may be single, married and with or without their own children.

In only a few short days, the goal is simply for the children to experience and enjoy life in Wisconsin. The hope is for the host families to be enriched by the experience as much as the children who reside from Mississippi. Many of the children enjoy the time with their host families so much that they return to Wisconsin year after year.

Families from both states who commit themselves to PSA agree that, at its heart, the program isn't about black and white, rich or poor, but rather making friendships, creating opportunities, shar-

AARP driver safety program

If you are 50 years old or older and would like to take a driver refresher course, the AARP Driver Safety Program will be offered in an eight-hour course taught in two, four-hour sessions spanning two days on Thursday, March 17 and Friday March 18, 2005, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The AARP Driver Safety Program is the nation's first and largest classroom driver refresher course specially designed for motorists age 50 and older.

The course helps drivers refine existing skills and develop safe, defensive driving techniques. AARP members and non-members alike may take the course.

The course will be held at the Public Agency Center, 333 E. Washington Street, Suite 113 A&B, West Bend. Pre-registration is required. The cost of the course is $10.

For more information, please call Dewayne Stiefvater of AARP Chapter 401 at 262-335-4165 or the Washington County Office on Aging at 262-335-4497.

ing the good and learning that we can find unity in our diversity.

The children from Mississippi range from age six to 16. Host families may choose the age and sex of a child.

A $45 insurance and transportation fee pays for the bus ride from Mississippi to Wisconsin. Room, board, and other costs during the stay are also incurred by the host family.

Children will arrive from Mississippi on June 12, 19, 26 and July 3. They can depart on either June 23, June 30, July 11 or July 21. A host family is able to choose the desired arrival and departure dates.

PSA, a nonprofit, non-denominational organization, evolved from a similar project initiated in 1968 by a black woman in Mississippi and a white law student at the University of Wisconsin - Madison who found that a great deal of myth existed about each other's cultures. Over the years, the emphasis has been on fostering a cultural exchange for the children.

Each year, about 70 children return to Wisconsin and stay with their previous or new host family. Please consider hosting a child this summer. There are many children on the waiting list hoping to discover Wisconsin.

Parkview Drive pump station requires replacement and relocation

BY CASSANDRA THOMPSON
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
cthompson@kewaskumstatesman.com

Constructed in 1954 and upgraded in 1971, sewage pump station #1 located on Parkview Drive has outlived its useful capacity.

The Village of Kewaskum board of Trustees discussed the pump station at a special board meeting on Monday night, February 14. The village has four pump stations scattered throughout the community. The pump station "pumps" raw sewage back to the water treatment plant.

After some discussion, the village board approved 5-1 an outside engineer group to gather information on design and costs for the pump station. By the end of 2005, the village will submit plans to the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. And, in 2006, the village must award construction of the pump station project to a qualified company. Trustee Kevin Scheunemann was the one dissenting vote.

Thomas Renner, a project engineer with Ruekert-Mielke of Waukesha, said the (DNR) has recommended the village repair or replace pump station #1. What prompted the DNR's action was the by-pass pumping of 1 million gallons of water resulting from the flooding during the spring of 2004.

Renner said the DNR based its decisions on three things. First, the pump's age required work. Second, the forced sanitary sewer mains are weak and are unable to handle new development growth. Third, and most importantly, the pump station sits in the flood plain. So the village must relocate the pump station to another area. Renner suggested a site near the firehouse.

"The northeast corner is higher elevation," said Village Administrator Dan Schmidt about the site near the firehouse. "The base of the building is out of the flood plain."

Renner had some preliminary figures projecting the pump station design cost to run $135,000 and the actual construction to run between $108,000 to $2 million.

Scheunemann wasn't convinced that a new pump station was needed. He also objected to farming out the work to an outside engineering firm.

"So it pumps one million gallons of water," said Scheunemann. "Ninety-five percent was storm water run off, and only five percent was sewage. It was mostly clear storm water run-off; it wasn't raw sewage."

Scheunemann went on to say water rates for residents will likely increase because of what he believes is unnecessary replacement costs. He said the pumps were overstressed because of heavy rains and floods resulting from an unfortunate and rare weather occurrence.

However, other village officials countered that special-engineering projects can't be done in house. The village is in jeopardy of overspending and/or not meeting the project's deadlines. The village relies on accurate figures and data to complete projects, which is compiled by the engineering firms. By bringing in outside experts, the village saves money.

Besides, many officials pointed out that their hands were tied by the DNR; the pump station is not in compliance with the DNR's 100-year flood plain policy.

Renner said the village meets the criteria for some low interest loans. He said the village is scoring high on the minimum requirements for those loans.

Clarification

The Statesman would like to point out clarification in an item from our real estate transfers pages from a few weeks ago.

In the transfer showing Mark and Jackie Herriges purchasing some property, The Statesman did not mention Rick and Mary Schoofs purchasing the property with Mark and Jackie.

To dispel further rumors, This is Mark Herriges, son of Richard Herriges.

Agnesian Health Care to give away red roses in honor of American Heart Month

Many people may not realize February is American Heart Month. Or that heart disease is the number one cause of death among women, taking a woman's life every minute. In fact, according to the American Heart Association, while one in every three women dies of heart disease, only 13 percent of women consider heart disease to be their own greatest health risk.

Because Americans can lower their risk of heart disease by as much as 82 percent simply by leading a healthy lifestyle, the dedicated and caring healthcare professionals from Agnesian HealthCare's Campbellsport Clinic will spend time on February 22 sharing the importance of good heart health with community residents.

Known as the "Red Rose" campaign, Thomas Fabricius, MD, a board-certified family practice physician, and Patricia Hayes, PA-C, a physician assistant, both with Agnesian HealthCare's Campbellsport Clinic, will be on hand at Klotz's Piggly Wiggly, 450 Cty. Road W, from 5 to 7 p.m. to present free roses to men in the community to educate them and ultimately help the women in their lives recognize the importance of living a heart-healthy lifestyle. The campaign plays off of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute's "Heart Truth" campaign and the American Heart Association's Red Dress program. The Red Dress is the national symbol for women and heart disease awareness.

Agnesian HealthCare's Campbellsport Clinic sees patients from newborns to seniors, women and men. Dr. Fabricius and Hayes diagnose and treat a variety of medical concerns, from prenatal care (up to seven months), ear infections and rashes, to diabetes and heart disease. The clinic is located at 328 N. Helena Street.

Agnesian HealthCare has announced plans to construct a new state-of-the-art facility for the Campbellsport Clinic, which will be able to accommodate up to three healthcare providers, and will offer on-site laboratory and X-ray services. The approximately 5,700-square-foot, one-story clinic will feature nine exam rooms, a spacious waiting room with a special kid's area and expanded parking.

DMV Customer Service Centers closed February 21 for staff training

Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) Customer Service Centers throughout the state will be closed for business on Monday (2-21-05), Presidents' Day, so that all front-line customer service representatives can attend training sessions.

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation's DMV phone centers will remain open so that motorists can make road test appointments and have their questions answered. The Madison central business office and all district business offices will also remain open.

DMV will conduct regional training sessions to minimize employee travel and to provide more training time at reduced costs to the division, according to Gary Guenther, Director of the DMV Bureau of Field Services.

"Ongoing staff training is critical to DMV operations and customer satisfaction," Guenther said. "It improves the consistency, productivity and proficiency of overall services to customers."

He indicated that February 21st was selected because it is a federal holiday, which typically reduces the number of customers visiting service centers.

DMV customer service staff will receive technical process updates, refresher training on financial accountability, organ donation, customer communications and cultural diversity.

Questions regarding the closings may be directed to DMV District Managers or Director Gary Guenther at (608)266-9831.

Random Lake Man Drowns After Vehicle Goes Through Ice

An 84-year-old man from Random Lake died Sunday after his vehicle went through the ice about 150 yards offshore on Random Lake. Authorities stated the man, Alex Noster, lived in a house on the lakeshore. He apparently had driven out on to the ice to check his tip-ups. The man left his car on the lake and later in the day, when he went to drive off, his car broke through the ice and sank in about 12 feet of water. The man and his dog were trapped inside the vehicle. It took the Sheboygan County dive team approximately two and a half hours to recover the man's body.

Weather Conditions Contribute to Many County Accidents

Rapidly deteriorating weather and road conditions contributed to 22 accidents in Washington County early Sunday evening. The worst mishap caused Highway 41 to be shut down for nearly four hours when a bus was hit by a car around 6 p.m. just south of Sherman Road in the Town of Polk. The impact of the crash knocked the front axle off the bus. Twelve people were taken to area hospitals with minor injuries. The Sheriff's Department also reported ten vehicles were in the ditch with no damage reported, seven more were property damage accidents and five were accidents with injuries. No citations were issued and U.S. Highway 41 was reopened by 9:30 p.m.

Low Numbers for Sturgeon Spearfishing

Poor visibility seems to have had an affect on the harvest for this year's sturgeon spearfishing season. In Fond du Lac, the DNR reported 64 sturgeon registered on Monday. Officials say Monday's numbers are typically low and many spearfishers seem to have been discouraged by the snowy weather. Others were pulling their shanties off Lake Winnebago because they had to return back to work. The total harvest so far this year is 785 sturgeon, which is way below last year's total. The DNR says the season will close on February 27 or earlier depending on the catch.

Motorcyclists Participate in Endurance Ride

More than 30 motorcyclists participated in a two hour endurance ride on Wallace Lake on Sunday to try to raise money for Big Brothers, Big Sisters of Washington County. Hundreds of people turned out to watch the event which had motorcyclists completing a one mile track at speeds of a minute thirty seconds a lap. The event was coordinated by Scott Schneiberg of Mid-Cities Motorsports. They were hoping to raise $1800 for Big Brothers, Big Sisters. This coming weekend, Big Brothers will host their annual Bowl-A-Thon fundraiser, which will be held at Weiland's Family Fun Center in West Bend.

Two County Drivers Stopped for Fifth DWI

Two people from Washington County are each facing charges for their fifth DWI. Washington County Sheriff's Deputies say a 29-year-old Hartford man was picked up on Highway 60 and Main. Authorities say he smelled of marijuana. The suspect reportedly told the officer he had taken a hit, but he never thought he'd be stopped for "driving while high." If convicted the suspect faces up to six years in prison. A 29-year-old Kewaskum woman is also facing her fifth DWI after she was pulled over on I-43 in Ozaukee County. She admitted to police she had been drinking because it was her birthday. If convicted, she also faces up to six years in prison. That's a long time to celebrate your birthday.

Sensenbrenner to Consider Additional Funding Request For Military

Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner will be considering a request from President Bush for nearly 82 billion dollars in additional funding for military operations in Iraq and Afghanistan. The President wants Congress to move quickly on the proposal, stating the added funding will help train Iraqis to take over security, and in turn, allow U.S. troops to come home.

Long Lake Fisheree a success

The Long Lake Fishing Club's annual Fisheree on Sunday, February 6 was a great success. They had a tremendous crowd of young and old and some of the fish were "once in a life timers". If that is a phrase.

The largest fish of the event was a 40 and 3/4" Northern caught by Dan Zolp. Dan's fish spent the day in the club's live tank. It was a great opportunity for people to see such a large fish up close. To the club's knowledge it is one of the biggest northerns if not the biggest ever registered at the event. Only one walleye was registered at the event.

With the strong weather front moving in, the anglers seemed to have a harder time getting the fish to bite. The perch seemed to be biting the best this day with some real monsters being brought in.

Results are as follows:
Northern - 1st 40 3/4" Dan Zolp $30; 2nd 31 3/4" Loren Sorheim $20 and 3rd 28" Chad Ebert $15.

Bass - 1st 15" Dennis Junk $30 and 2nd 14 1/8" Todd Muras $20.

Walleye - 1st 18 1/2" Renee Roehl $30.

Perch - 1st 12 1/2" Tony Maas $20; 2nd 12" Denis Peterman $15 and 3rd 11 3/8" Rick Scherer $10.

Crappie - 1st 12 5/8" Todd Muras $20; 2nd 12 1/8" Randy Downs $15 and 3rd 11 7/8" Randy Downs $10.

Blue Gill - 1st 8 7/8" Dan Zolp $20; 2nd 8 3/8" Todd Prahl $15 and 3rd 8 3/8" Garrett Johnstone $10.

Three prizes were also awarded to participants in the Catch and Release Contest. Anglers who catch any legal sized gamefish (northern, bass or walleye) can register the fish, place it in our live tank and then have their picture taken as they release it back into the lake. Their names are then placed in a hat and the first one drawn received $50 (Renee Roehle) the next two names drawn each receive $25 (Darryl Gruber and Dan Zolp).

The tent was once again the gathering spot. The club served over 200 hamburgers and 140 brats and hot dogs, not to mention 5 gallons of chili.

Club members were also busy selling raffle tickets for the February 13th, 2005 drawing at DnD Country Tap in Dundee. The club gave away a Polaris 400 Sportsman ATV 4x4 or $4000.00 cash along with 80 other prizes.

A Taste for Wine and Murder coming to Kewaskum

Five years ago, Barry Underwood, owner of the prestigious Underwood Wine Estates, mysteriously disappeared during the Napa Valley Annual Wine Festival. A massive search conducted at the time of his disappearance failed to turn up any clues, and the case has been in the F.B.I.'s unsolved files since then. Now, five years later, it is once again time for the Annual Wine Festival, but this year it is being held at the American Legion Hall in Kewaskum, WI...

"Salut!" The Kewaskum

Heritage House presents program on ice harvesting

Ice harvesting was once a vital trade in Wisconsin, supplying several tons of ice per year to the brewing industry alone during its peak in the late 19th century.

On Sunday, March 6 from 2 to 4 p.m., Heritage House will host an Open House featuring "Frozen Assets: Ice Harvesting in Wisconsin," a program presented by expert Eileen Eckert of Kewaskum. Participants will learn the cold hard facts about how, where and why ice was harvested and what caused the industry's meltdown in the early 1920s. This program is free and open to the public.

Heritage House is a restored 1860's farmhouse located on the Cedar Lake Campus, 5595 County Road Z, West Bend. It is a division of Cedar Community, a not-for-profit, church-affiliated provider of health care, education, rehabilitation and senior housing.

Junior Women's Club invites you to the Underwood Wine Estates (a.k.a. the American Legion Hall in Kewaskum) to celebrate this year's wine festival and grape harvest on Saturday, April 2, 2005. The doors open at 6:30pm. Come join us for an evening of wine and other beverages, appetizers, door prizes, and an interactive MURDER MYSTERY. It's a clear case of murder, help us figure out "who dun it" before the night is over. There are several "shady" characters... could you be a suspect?

Advance tickets of $20.00 per person are required. For more information or to reserve your seat at the festival please contact Karen Heberer of the Kewaskum Junior Women's Club at 626-2816.

Free adult programming at the Campbellsport library

Campbellsport doesn't have a movie theater, a coffee shop, or a mall but they do have a great library. For these reasons and many others, the staff at the Campbellsport Public Library wants to provide free programming for everyone in the community that is entertaining, educational and relative to the needs and interests of the people in the area.

Over the past year they have held gatherings that discussed topics such as gardening, ice fishing, tax preparation, and the rising costs of health care. The library has also hosted book talks by popular Wisconsin authors Jerry Apps and Jennifer Chiaverini.

Due to the success of these programs, they feel that it is time to start providing these events on a regular basis. On the second Tuesday of each month, at 6:30 p.m., the Campbellsport Public Library will be holding free adult oriented programming in the lower level of the library.

This is a huge undertaking for a little library so they are asking for the community's help. First of all, they would appreciate everyone's input on what kind of programming you would like to see the library offering. Are you interested in outdoor sports, or home improvement tips, how about a low-fat cooking demonstration? Is there a local author or celebrity that you would love to meet? Let them know and they will put every effort into producing programming based on your interests.

The library would also like to hear from the people in the community that have talents, hobbies, or experiences which you would like to share with your neighbors in the form of a speech or hands-on demonstration. There must be some great hobbyist in town that would love to provide a hands-on demonstration.

Maybe you have a neighbor who went on an exciting adventure and has a great slide show complete with interesting stories that you think would appeal to more than just their friends. Consider sharing a great collection you have and your extended knowledge about that topic. If you have any suggestions for programming topics or presenters please stop by the library or phone them at any time.

The library also needs a catchall title for the new programming series. They keep calling the series "Second Tuesday" and think that it deserves a more glamorous title! If you have a great name for the free adult programming that will be held the second Tuesday of every month on varying topics, please let them know.

Whoever suggests the winning title will not only have the honor of naming the program, they will also be awarded a prize. You can submit your title by stopping in at the library or by emailing your title to the director at librarydirector@charter.net. Make sure to include your name and phone number with your suggestion. This contest is open to people of all ages. Please have your suggestions to the library by March 4th.

If you have any questions, please call The Campbellsport Public Library at 920-533-8534, or stop in at 220 North Helena Street. They are open Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 12 to 8 p.m., Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

YMCA to offer Tai Chi for spring session

The Kettle Moraine YMCA will be offering Tai Chi during the Spring Session. The class is scheduled on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m. This seven week course teaches form and warm up exercises along with an introduction to some basic breathing exercises. Tai Chi is a centuries old technique to improve movement, flexibility and balance. Originally designed to perfect the skills of martial artists, the movements came to be practiced for exercise and general well being. The relaxation and gentle movements lower blood pressure and ease away tension.

The class is taught by Mark C. E. Peterson, Ph.D. who is an Associate Professor of Philosophy at the University of Wisconsin - Washington County. He began practicing Yang style Tai Chi in 1981 with the Taoist Tai Chi Society while in graduate school at the University of Toronto. He has since studied Chen and Wu styles of Tai Chi and has taught both the 24-form and the traditional Yang style long form for the past six years at UWWC.

Culinary Olympics April 13

100th day of school

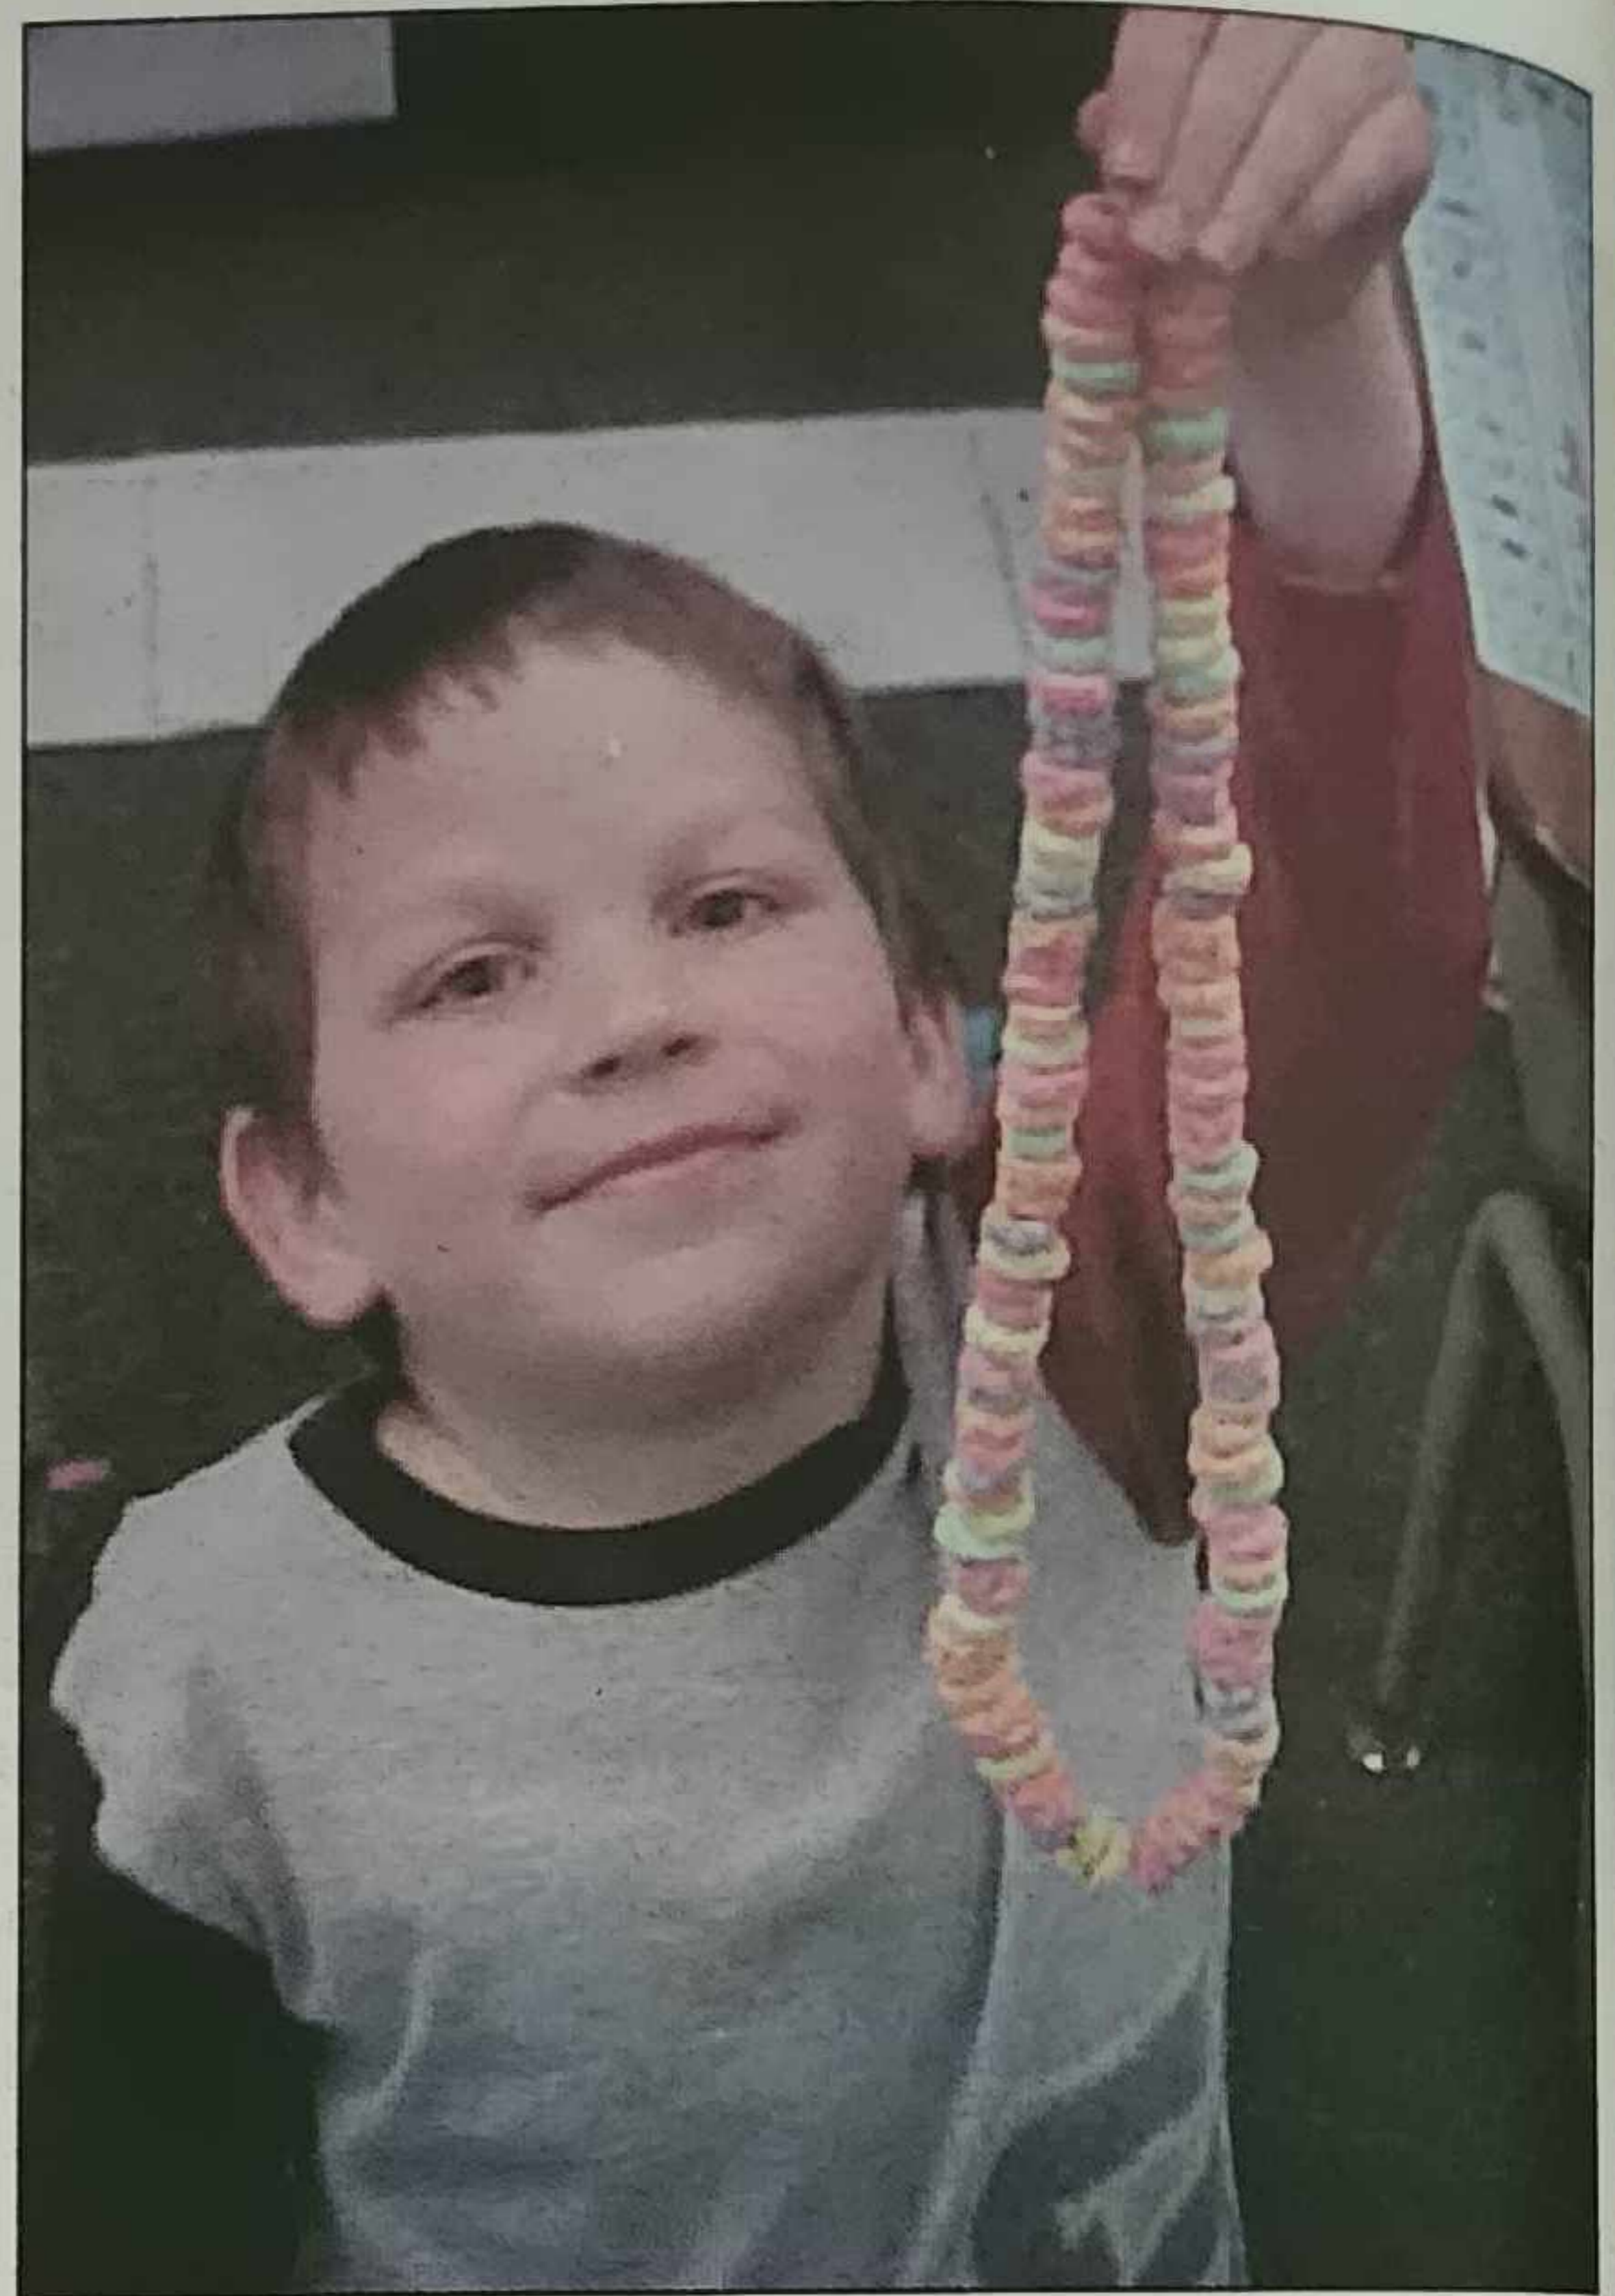

The third annual Culinary Olympics will be held at Moraine Park Technical College in Fond du Lac on April 13, 2005. Left to right, Justin Weindorf, Brett Koeferl and Rick Giese represented Kewaskum High School last year, and are preparing to compete again this year. The contest requires the team to safely prepare 20 meticulously constructed and properly wrapped sandwiches within 10 minutes. The sandwiches must be made with a protein spread, lettuce and butter. A basic test of equivalents and abbreviations is required of each member of the teams that compete.

Computer Literacy at KHS

Computer literacy is the order of the day in Single Living class at KHS. Students are required to complete a series of project assignments that require basic computer skills. Skills assessed in these projects include problem solving, math, writing, reading, verbal, scanning, presentation, spreadsheets and word processing. Students of Kitchen 5 hour 7 are pictured, clockwise from lower left, Chad Piwoni, Tom Thull, Andrea Theisen and Tim Thull.

The children in Mrs. Hanschke's 1st grade class at Wayne Elementary School enjoyed the 100th day of school on Monday, February 7. The children listened to the story "The 100th day of school", by Angela Shelf Medearis. The children were asked to bring 100 items that were 2 inches or smaller to glue on a 100 graph. Mr. Schebrel (Class intern) helped students make Fruit Loop necklaces. Above, Ricky Zapf proudly shows off his necklace.

Mock trial experience broadens the scope of 15 KHS students

STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT

The television attorneys can make trials look easy, but students at Kewaskum High School learned first hand the profession requires plenty of preparation, quick thinking, a command of the English language and the ability to be very persuasive.

Fifteen of them recently spent over a month planning for their day in court — the annual mock trial experience rotated among several area county courts.

Kewaskum sent two teams to the mock trial contest held in Juneau last Saturday, and both finished 2-2 in their competitions against other schools. Finishes are based on points given by a panel of judges who watch the trials.

After spending nearly a full day in a courtroom, two of the girls found they had more of an appreciation for the law and the professionals who put their knowledge and skills to the test on the verbal battlegrounds.

Concerning what they found to be the most difficult part of trials, Ashley Ellenbecker was certain it was cross examinations. "With the cross examinations, you had to work with witnesses on the other team ... you didn't know exactly how they would respond," she said.

Katie Schoofs said it was, "the opening and closing statements," then after thinking about it a while, she pointed to the task of objecting to the other attorney's line of questioning.

"You would have to come up with why you objected ... You had to think quickly on your feet," she said.

One of the teams was comprised of the following students: Jill Schmitt, Ashley Sajdowitz, Jamie Sabish, Mitch Herriges, Bill Moser, Dan Courtney and Megan Dean.

On Team No. 2 were Ashley Feucht, Ellenbecker, Alex Herriges, David Figge, Abe Foerster, Noah Schoofs, Katie Schoofs and Elisa Schoofs.

On this second team, Katie Schoofs was a plaintiff attorney, while Ellenbecker, Foerster and Noah Schoofs were attorneys for the defense, and Figge, whose mother, Deborah Strigenz, is a real life attorney, was prepared to serve for both sides.

Information was received on the cases in November, according to Ellenbecker, who said the students worked nearly six weeks in preparation for the trial.

"We started around Christmas," Katie Schoofs said. "Then we picked the parts ... all the attorneys had to write up the questions they would ask the witnesses."

Both girls admitted there were butterflies before the trials got started.

"I was freaking out. I had to do an opening statement first," Ellenbecker, who said she is considering studying law, said.

Schoofs, who is a cantor at Holy Trinity and participated in the KHS musicals, said she rarely gets nervous about anything but she had the jit-ters. "I've never done anything like this in my life," she said.

And what will the two take from the experience?

"You learn about law and court procedures," Ellenbecker said. "It's a very respectful procedure."

"You have to stay poised. If you're a witness, you have to stay in character," Schoofs said. "It was a real good experience."

"Yes, it was," Ellenbecker added.

The Kewaskum students received guidance from Strigenz, and Mark Benson, who is the Washington County District Attorney, and from David Rockhill, one of the social studies teachers at the school.

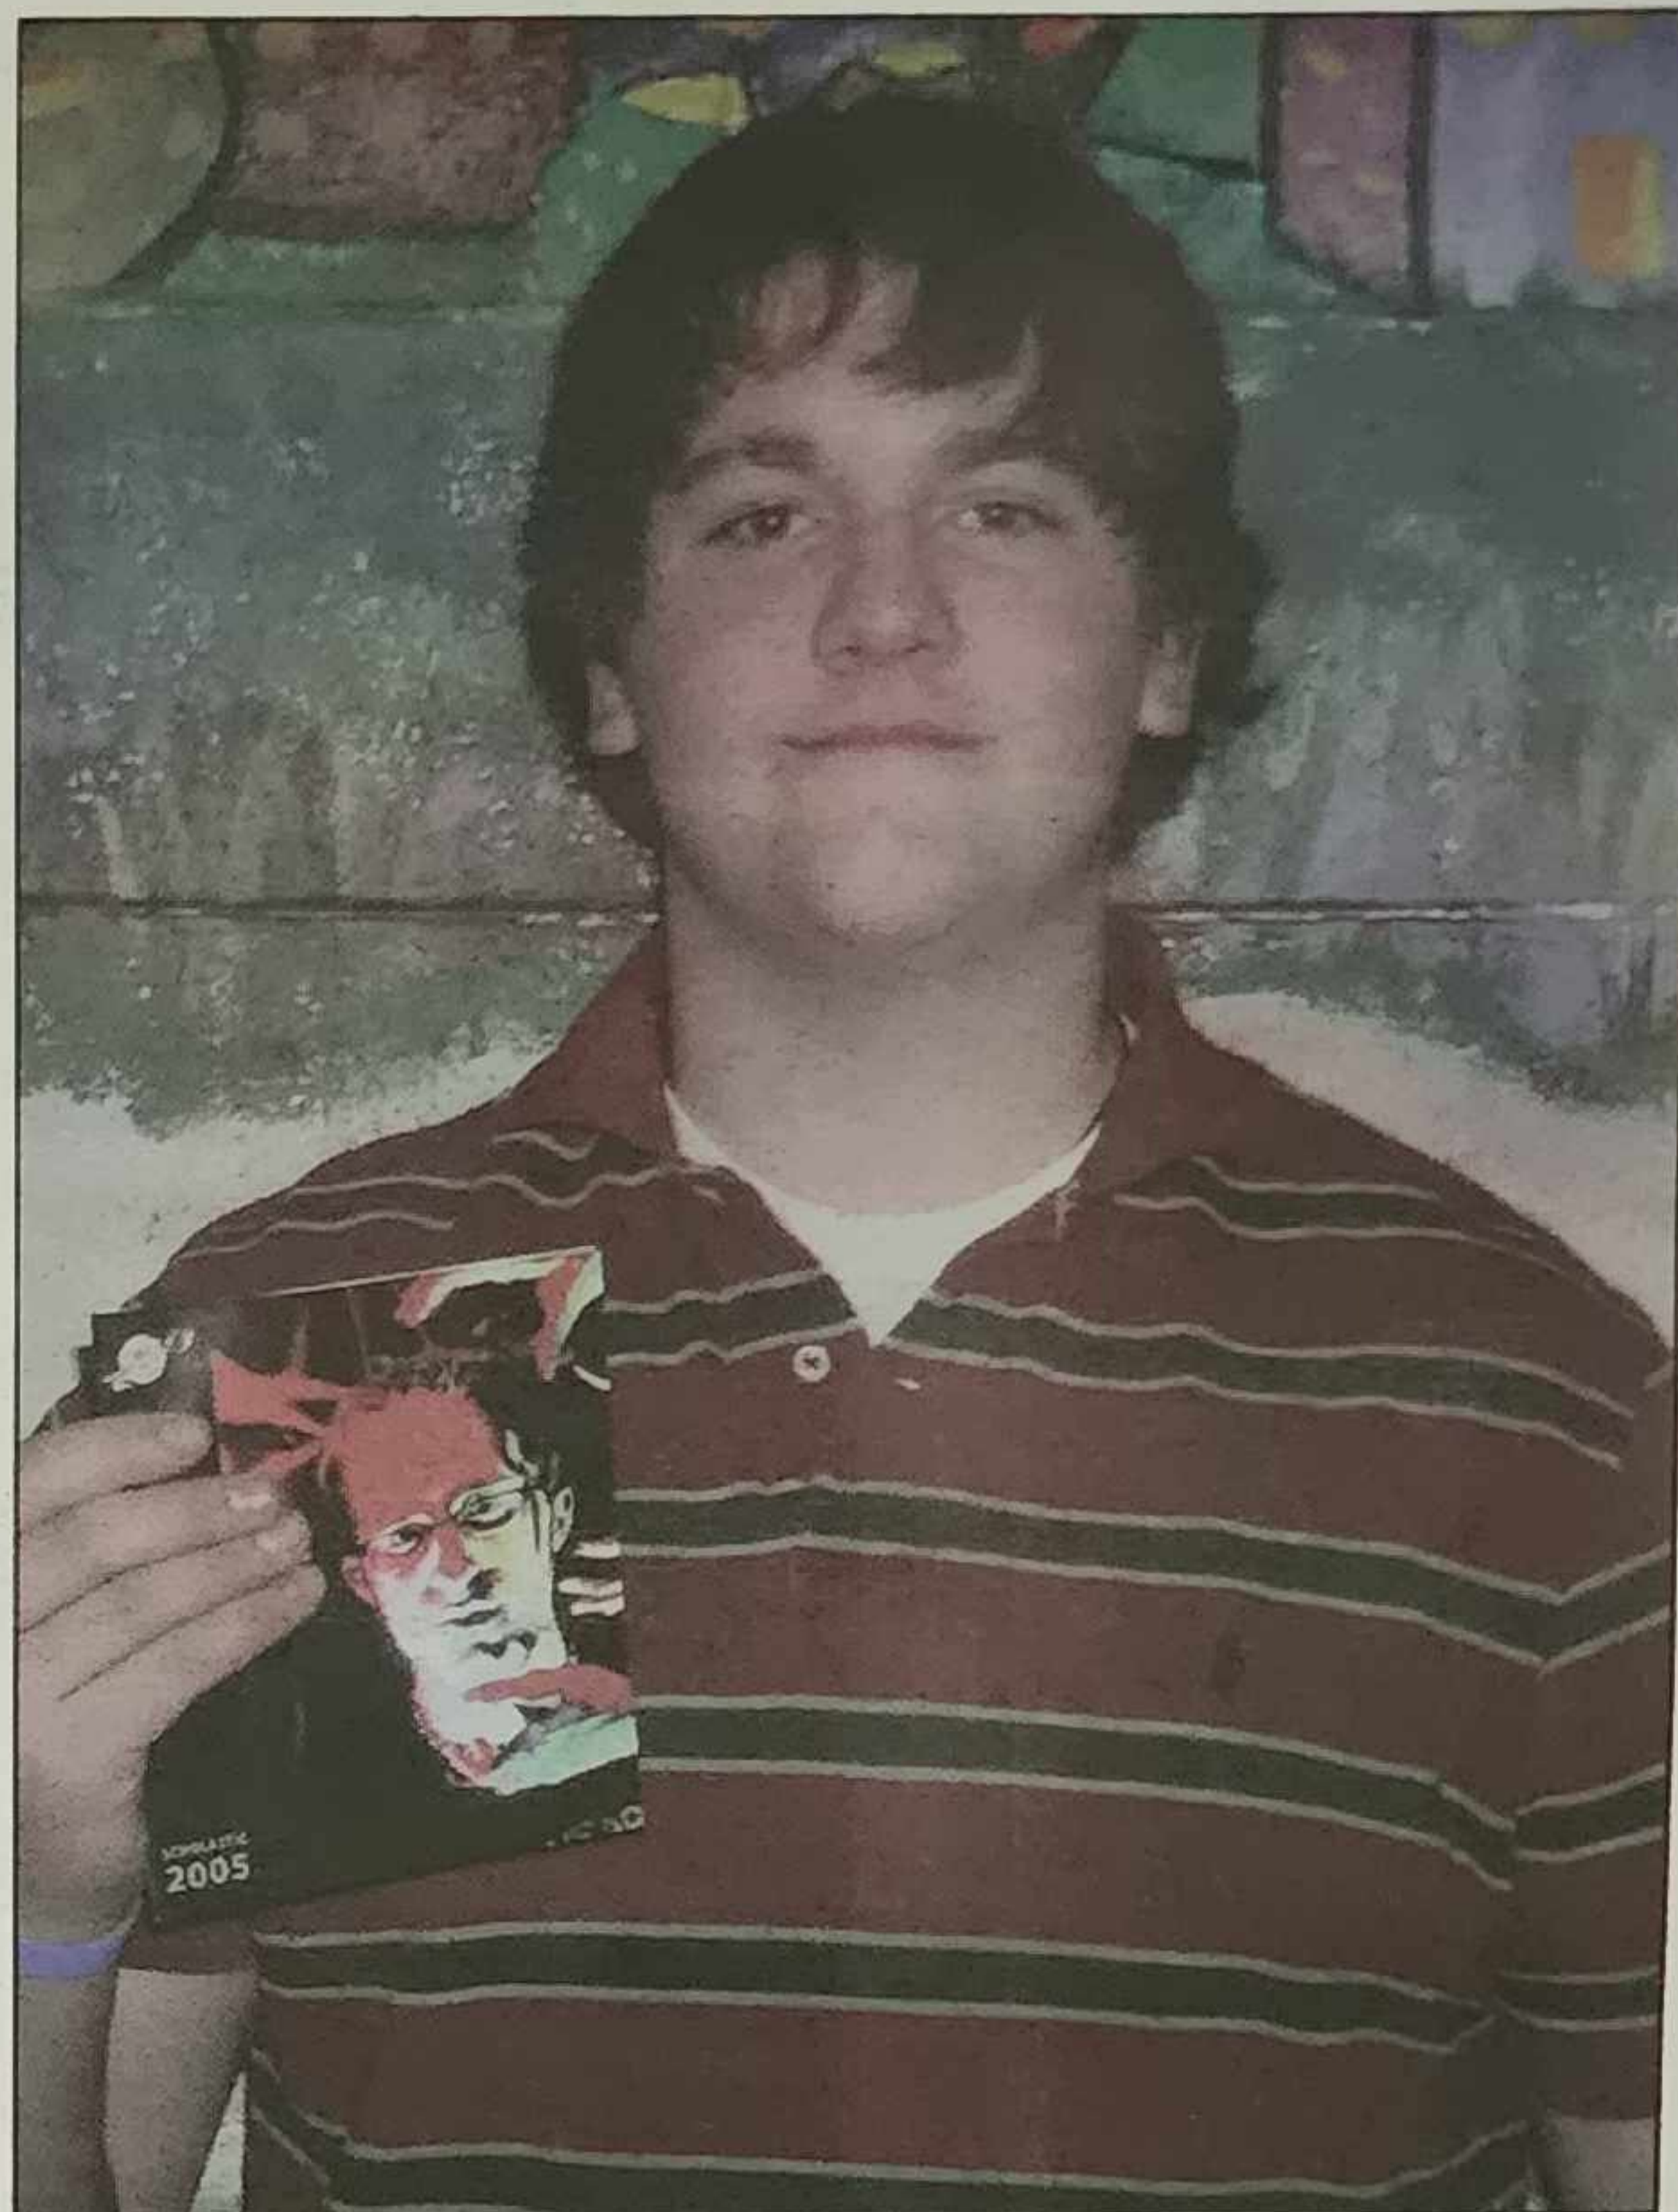

"This is our third year (in mock trial)," Rockhill said, indicating this was probably the strongest team Kewaskum has fielded. "Deb Strigenz's son (Figge) was in all three years. So were some of his friends."

Rockhill sees definite benefits the students receive in participating in the event. "(In) Public speaking, definitely and organization," he said, indicating the students receive affidavits to study, "but they have to put the cases together themselves."

"I think it's very good," Rockhill said, adding the assistance from the two attorneys is invaluable.

The term "barbecue" originated with the Mayan Indians, indigenous to Mexico and Central America, who cooked over a "barbacoa," meaning a lattice of thin green sticks suspended over an open fire.

Stamm receives art award

Clark Stamm, Holy Trinity graduate and now a St. Mary's Springs student, won a special National art award. Stamm was awarded a Silver Key for his oil pastel drawing entitled "In the Zone."

A total of 342 outstanding works by Wisconsin students, grades seven through 12, comprise the annual Scholastic Art Awards - Wisconsin Regional exhibition. The artwork is on display at the Milwaukee Art Museum until February 26.

Students from 117 schools throughout Wisconsin entered this competition; works by students from 77 schools were juried into the exhibit.

The Scholastic competition and exhibition is the regional section of The Scholastic Art and Writing Awards National program conducted nationally by the Alliance for Young Artists and Writers, Inc., and is the major competition for students in grades seven through 12. The exhibition includes works in 17 media categories selected from 1699 entries by a jury of 24 artists, educators and other art professionals.

Student artists whose work is selected for the exhibition were awarded 125 Gold Key (sent on to national competition) and 217 Silver Key (special state recognition) awards. American Vision Award Nominees and the prestigious Bronze Medallion Award of Excellence were also chosen. The awards were presented at a private ceremony on Saturday, January 29.

The regional Gold Key winning artwork will advance to The Scholastic Art Awards National competition along with those from 70 other art regionals across the USA.

Students whose work wins at the national level of competition will be invited to The National Awards Ceremony held at Carnegie Hall in New York City June 2-3, and there will be exhibits of national award winning artwork in NYC and at the Corcoran Museum of Art in Washington D.C.

This competition and exhibit is sponsored by The Milwaukee Art Museum, The Marc Flesch Memorial Fund, James and Avis Heller, The Milwaukee Art Museum Docents and James and Carol Wiensch.

Lincoln's prayer

The following is an excerpt from the book "Prayers of the Presidents" by Dr. Larry Keefauver. It is one of Abraham Lincoln's prayers.

"We have been recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven. We have been preserved, these many years, in peace and prosperity. We have grown in numbers, wealth, and power as no other nation has ever grown; but we have forgotten God.

"We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace, and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us; and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us.

"It behooves us, then, to humble ourselves before the offended Power, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

Deadlines approach for ice fishing shelter removal

MADISON -- Anglers are reminded that deadlines are approaching within the next 30 days for removing ice fishing shelters from land and boundary waters. Dates are determined by anticipated ice melting and if not removed, shanties can sink or be carried away, creating a threat to boaters.

All ice fishing shelters must be completely removed by:

Feb. 20 - Wisconsin-Iowa boundary waters.

March 1 - Wisconsin-Minnesota boundary waters.

March 5 - Inland waters south of State Highway 64.

March 15 - Inland waters north of State Highway 64, Lake Michigan, Green Bay, Lake Superior and Wisconsin-Michigan boundary waters.

Failure to remove a shanty by either of those deadlines could result in a forfeiture of $208.40. Additional costs may be incurred if the shanty breaks through the ice and must be recovered.

After the date for removing permanent shelters from a frozen lake, an angler may continue to use a portable shelter but must remove it when it is not occupied.

The Bookworm Sez By Terri Schlichenmeyer Beautiful Jim Key

By: William Morrow

There isn't a pet owner in the world who needs to be convinced that animals have smarts. We already know it. Get a group of dog or cat owners together, and the conversation quickly turns to one-upmanship stories about the intelligence and ingenuity of their pets.

Speaking of which... did I ever tell you about my Truman? He's the smartest pup in the world. He knows lots of tricks, but he can't add nearly as well as the horse in "Beautiful Jim Key" by Mim Eichler Rivas (c.2005, William Morrow).

William Key was born into slavery in 1833, and from a young age, he was renowned for his "way" with animals. People said that if Bill went into a pen with a wild horse or angry mule, he could calm it with his voice. He also had a strong knowledge of herbal and natural medicines, and because of his healing abilities, young Bill traveled around Tennessee, helping animals and their owners, and enjoying a freedom of movement almost unknown to slaves.

In his later years and following the Civil War, "Doc" Key became quite affluent; he was a landowner, businessman, and creator of a popular patent medicine. Key spent his days touring the South, selling his famous liniment for man and horse. While traveling, Key was also looking at horseflesh. He wanted to breed the greatest racehorse in the world. What he got, instead, was a spindly, sickly colt that looked as if it might never walk, let alone race.

Key took care of the colt, which he named Jim, and he allowed Jim to follow him around unimpeded. How far could a bandy-legged colt go, anyhow? Key began to notice that Jim was unusually observant and liked to watch Key play with his dogs. One night, Jim brought Key a stick and asked to play "fetch". It was then that Key realized he had a very unusual horse on his hands.

Eventually, Doc Key was able to teach Jim to read, spell, count, and write his name on a chalkboard. Millions of people saw Jim perform at the World's Fair in St. Louis, at exhibits in Pennsylvania, New York, Tennessee, and dozens of other places. Beautiful Jim Key postcards and souvenir buttons became sought-after collectibles. So how did it happen that such a famous celebrity is almost unknown today?

Author Mim Eichler Rivas asked that same question. Weaving history, biography, and culture in her book, she hints that the story of William Key and his educated horse might have disappeared from history only because so much else appeared. Automobiles, telephones, and electricity - much more exciting to future-seeking Americans - eclipsed a mere spelling horse. But was Jim really educated, or was he just good at picking up clues from his teacher and the audience? Rivas doesn't say, leaving readers to draw their own conclusions.

"Beautiful Jim Key" is a beautifully researched book, perfect for pet owners, horse lovers, and history buffs. Should you miss it? I say neigh.

BUSINESS NEWS

Dairy conference offers learning, networking opportunities

Diary producers will find the information, resources and connections they need to fuel farm profits and ignite their passion for production dairying at the upcoming Professional Dairy Producers of Wisconsin (PDPW) Annual Business Conference, March 8-9, at the Exhibition Hall of the Alliant Energy Center, Madison.

Informational sessions are scheduled on production topics ranging from managing alfalfa stands, calf nutrition and raising replacement heifers, to reproductive efficiencies, bloody bowel syndrome, breeding the "right" kind of cow and nutrient management planning. On the financial side, a lender/accountant panel discusses enterprise analysis, while a farm team explains the inner workings of their system and an out-of-state panel shares their number, business plan and vision.

A highlight of this premier dairy industry event is an address entitled "Best Management Practices for Agriculture in the 21st Century" by Agricultural Economist David Kohl, Ph.D., professor at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Kohl is a highly-rated, internationally known conference speaker who bases his advice on research and interacting with producers and other dairy industry professionals.

Later in the conference, Kohl also will conduct a hands-on breakout session that helps producers analyze the health of their business. This session centers on bottom-line economic and business principals that occur with successful transitions and the critical uses of communication, time management and business investment on production dairies.

National Football League legend and former Green Bay Quarterback Bart Starr makes a special appearance at the conference and other featured speakers include Olympic Wrestler Rulon Gardner, Supermarket guru Phil Lempert, motivational speaker Randy Snow and human resources specialist Christ Hinrichs.

Federal library grants expand services to library patrons

MADISON - State Superintendent Elizabeth Burmaster announced the release of 43.3 million in federal Library Service and Technology Act (LSTA) grants, commending libraries for writing grant proposals that improve the quality of life in their local communities. The Mid-Wisconsin Federal Library System, which the Kewaskum Public Library is a part of, received a total of $106,400. The libraries received $85,000 for a Shared Automation Project, 2005 and $21,400 for Technology Projects, 2005.

"These federal grants help our libraries provide resources and services that improve educational, economic, and quality of life resources for all Wisconsin residents," Burmaster said. "Libraries are our statewide knowledge network, ensuring that all the people of Wisconsin have the broadest possible access to the information resources and materials they need for lifelong learning."

Grants that supported technology improvements represented the largest allocation of LSTA funds. Since March 2003, all Wisconsin public libraries offer Internet access and 96% of the state's 387 public libraries have high-speed access to the Internet. Libraries also planned a variety of other projects, including those that improve adult, family, and early literacy; provide services for senior citizens and others with disabilities; and enhance resource sharing throughout the states. The Lakeshore Library System's "Library Services for Latinos" helped member library staff acquire Spanish-language skills, resulting in increased use of public libraries by the Latino community. The outreach project has served as a model for other Latino community outreach efforts in Wisconsin.

New projects this year encourage library card sign-up activities and digitization of library materials of unique or special interest, such as local history, plat books, and old photographs. These digitized materials will be made available on-line through the University of Wisconsin - Madison Libraries State of Wisconsin Collection.

The Department of Public Instruction Division for Libraries, Technology and Community Learning administers Wisconsin's yearly LSTA allocation through the Institute of Museum and Library Services, a federal agency responsible for strengthening museums and libraries. The Wisconsin 2004 LSTA Advisory Committee reviewed all grant applications and made recommendations on grant awards for projects to take place from January through December 2005.

Gov. Doyle's Patients Compensation Fund

There's a jingle that goes "everything old is new again" and that must have been running through Governor Doyle's head when he put together his 2005 budget he unveiled last week. Many of the items are simply recycled discards from his 2003 budget and for one particular portion of the budget this could spell disaster for our already teetering health care system here in Wisconsin.

In his first term, Governor Doyle proposed raiding $200 million from the Patients Compensation Fund (PCF) to fill the holes in his budget. This fund was started in 1975 to provide health care providers with additional medical malpractice coverage with the money in the fund coming from yearly assessments on those providers. Fortunately the Legislature realized that taking money out of a fund for injured patients and their families that contains no taxpayer dollars was wrong and dangerous.

Wisconsin is one of only six states in the nation that has a stable and affordable medical liability climate that continues to attract excellent medical specialists, and it's largely because of the PCF. According to the Department of the Health and Human Services, one of the contributing factors to our nation's health care crisis is the medical malpractice environment. Patients have less access to doctors who have given up their practice because of high premiums, doctors may only accept patients who do not have health conditions that are more likely to lead to lawsuits, or doctors move to other states where malpractice insurance costs are lower.

In a further ironic twist, months after the budget was passed Governor Doyle signed into law a bi-partisan bill that changed the name of the PCF to the Injured Patients and Families Compensation Fund (IPFCF). A new name might not sound significant, but it reflects the statutory changes that the Legislature made in the purpose of this fund: that this money is to help settle medical malpractice claims only.

The new IPFCF also specified that it is to be held in an irrevocable trust and further specifies that the trust is solely for the benefit of health care providers and patients and any moneys in the IPFCF may not be used for any other purpose of the state.

Due to these simple but significant changes, it was supposed to be clear that both patients and providers have a constitutionally protected interest in the fund and that it is strictly off-limits to those looking for ways to fill budget gaps.

So why does this fund continue to tempt our Governor? In his latest budget he wants to take $169 million out of this fund to pay for items such as our growing Medicaid costs. As a member of the Assembly Medicaid Reform Committee I know we need to get a handle on MA costs, but putting our state's whole health care system in jeopardy is not the way to do it.

Village Board Meeting Minutes

Village Board Meeting
January 24, 2005
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Mathew A. Heiser presided. Trustee Andy Pesch asked to be excused and was absent; all other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board approved the minutes of the January 10, 2005 Village Board meetings as printed.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel presented the December 2004 monthly report:

Criminal arrests	29
Criminal investigations	39
Traffic warnings	72
Traffic citations	37
Adult arrests	86
Juvenile arrests	8
Property stolen	$ -0-
Property recovered	$ -0-
Parking warnings	29
Parking tags	80

Director of Public Works, Jerry Gilles reported on the following:

1) It was noted the snow has been removed from the streets and cul de sacs where necessary and it is anticipated the clean up should be completed Tuesday barring any more snow.

2) It was noted a number of residents have shoveled out their areas fire hydrant which is commendable.

3) The Board was informed of a dispute regarding the baseball diamond topping asked for by the school and ball associations. It appears small stones cover the diamonds and need to be removed prior to play this spring. The ball groups are working with their contractor on the matter, but it was noted the village has not paid for the approved work.

On a motion by Trustee Harry Roecker and seconded by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board authorized the issuance of Operator's Licenses for the following for 2004/2005 after payment of fees and documentation:

Bohn, Tiffany L. West Bend, WI
Coster, Brandon G. Kewaskum, WI

The Police Department had no objections to the issuance of said licenses.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt reviewed the following with the Board:

1) Review Taxpayer and League Bulletins

2) Reviewed proposed legislation from the state that is proposed to cost the village money.

3) Review of correspondence.

Board Representative for the Plan Commission, Trustee Andy Pesch asked to be excused and was absent, but a draft of the minutes for the Plan Commission meeting for January 11, 2005 was distributed to the Board for their review for the February 7, 2005 Village Board meeting.

Mid-Moraine Municipal Association Legislative Committee Representative Trustee Andy Pesch indicated President Heiser and he would be attending the MMMA Dinner Meeting on January 26, 2005 hosted by the City of Cedarburg.

Review of the second requirement by the DNR took place in reference to the recently approved 5-year Wisconsin Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit Sanitary Sewer System Study (Proposal for Treatment Plant Outfall Improvements.) The $48,200 engineering costs include: $16,600 for design, survey easement, bidding documents, drawings, etc., $6,000 for the DNR Chapter 30 permit, $18,700 construction inspection costs, $2,400 for as-built drawings and $4,500 pre-construction meeting fees. The actual construction cost is estimated at $180,000 for a total of $276,400.

This matter or work is a condition of the WPDES permit and one that the Sewer Utility has no control over. Trustee Kevin Scheunemann stated we should not be made to do anything we don't want to. It was mentioned that the outfall pipe not only handles the plants discharge, but some storm water, which should be separated. The existing pipe would be left in place and used for storm water. A larger sized pipe would be installed to handle current flows as well as future projected growth flows. On a motion by Trustee Harry Roecker, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and carried by the majority the Board authorized said work to proceed so to allow the utility to meet the DNR timetable. Trustee Kevin Scheunemann voted Nay. Additional discussion is needed on the WPDES permit requirements, details of both the I & I and Outfall Pipe projects. A suggested meeting date for that discussion is February 14, 2005 at 7:00p.m.

Robert Manthei was present to explain the Toxicity Reduction Evaluation Plan Sampling Testing Requirements as per the WPDESP. The cost on an annual basis has been under $1,000.00 in the past, but now would range from $3,600 to $12,000. Trustee Kevin Scheunemann again voiced his objection to the DNR mandating additional testing and those costs. The Utility has no choice other than to comply or get fined, have a moratorium imposed or even have other restrictions placed on the Utility. No action was asked for or required.

Ordinance No. 2005-01 An Ordinance to Amend The Zoning Ordinance Of The Village Of Kewaskum, as recommended by the Planning Commission (regarding Marquee, Awning, or Canopy Signs) as attached hereto:

Resolution No. 2005-01 A Resolution Authorizing the Signing of the Final Plat For Woodland Creek I As Requested by James Wessing and recommended by the Plan Commission as attached hereto:

On a motion by Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Steve Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board reviewed and accepted for submission to the DOA and Engineers the Preliminary Plat for Nature Haven Estates as recommended by the Plan Commission.

President Mathew Heiser read a Proclamation A Proclamation of Appreciation is presented to Municipal Employees for Length of Service as attached hereto:

The Village Board reviewed the meeting schedule for January, February and March It was by consensus to try and schedule the special meeting to discuss the DNR requirements placed on the WPDESP on February 14, 2005 at 7:00 p.m. with the Engineers. The March schedule was then discussed and it was determined to cancel both the March 7 and 21 meetings and schedule one for March 14, 2005. On a motion by Trustee Harry Roecker, seconded by Trustee Steve Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board adjusted the March meeting as noted above.

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and carried by the majority roll call vote, to adjourn to closed session under Chapter 19.85(1)(c) and Chapter 19.85(1)(g) of the Statutes to discuss employee performance data and evaluation for the Village Employees over which the governmental body has jurisdiction and conferring with legal counsel for the governmental body who is rendering oral or written advice concerning strategy to be adopted by the body with respect to litigation in which it is or is likely to become involved. Village of Kewaskum Tax Incremental District No. 2 Joint Review Board Meeting

January 5, 2005
7:00 p.m.

The Tax Incremental District No. 2 Joint Review Board of the Village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin held their first meeting in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt called the meeting to order with the four designated members present; Neal Weare, School Board Designee (Kewaskum School District), James Esselmann, Washington County Board Designee (Washington County), Craig Johnson, MPTC Designee (Moraine Park Technical College), and Mathew Heiser, Village President (Village of Kewaskum). In attendance were Village Attorney Gerald Kiefer, Village Engineer Ken Ward and Village Financial Analyst Christie Cramer. The audience had Plan Commissioners Andy Pesch, Frank Beesten, Theodore Meilahn, Richard Schmidt and Andrew Kuehl in attendance. Three students were also present from the Government Affairs Class, Kewaskum High School.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

Administrator Daniel Schmidt introduced everyone in attendance and briefly explained why and who would be serving on the Joint Review Board. Everyone serving on the Board was extended a thank you on behalf of the Village of Kewaskum.

The selection of a Chairperson was next on the agenda. On a motion by James Esselmann, seconded by Neal Weare and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board elected Mathew Heiser as Chairperson of the Joint Review Board.

Chairperson Mathew Heiser indicated the next agenda item was to select a Citizen Member. Chairperson Heiser informed the Board that he would suggest James Reigle for that position. Mr. Reigle was planning on attending the meeting this evening, but late this afternoon called asking to be excused, but stated he is still willing to serve and would be available for the next meeting. It was noted that James Reigle is a long time resident of the Village, an area businessman and a member of the Village of Kewaskum Economic Development Advisory Committee.

On a motion by Neal Weare, seconded by Craig Johnson and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board selected James Reigle as the Citizen Member to the Joint Review Board.

Chairperson Heiser turned the review of the Tax Incremental District No. 2 Project Plan and Adoption Timeline over to Ken Ward and Christie Cramer. Ken Ward explained the maps from the Project Plan that addressed the improvements needed. The area to be in the TID boundary is 115.6 acres, of which an estimated 38 acres is zoned residential. This leaves an estimated 77 acres in which there are 6 property owners, 5 acres of rural roads, leaving 72 acres. Less than half of those 72 acres (33 acres) is under the control of the developer. It is on those 33 acres that new streets are to be installed, and a regional detention pond is to be constructed. That means the single developer has only 26 acres or less for development. The 38 acres is currently zoned residential, the 72 acres would have a mixed use zoning of commercial/business and manufacturing.

The discussion regarding infrastructure informed all present that much of the work is needed for this development but looking at future commercial/business and manufacturing on adjacent land would also need those expanded infrastructure items. That cost would be recaptured with impact fees versus the TID. It would also provide better coverage and service to existing areas of the village.

In response to a question, Ken Ward explained that infrastructure would be required adjacent to the newly improved USH "45" but that construction would occur within the ROW outside of the roadway.

Christie Cramer then reviewed the financial impact of the Project Plan. The estimated overall cost is 7.8 million dollars, of which the TID would be responsible for an estimated 4.6 million dollars. The remaining 3.2 million dollars of construction costs would be covered by developer contributions, special assessments, sanitary sewer impact fees and utility charges.

In response to a question regarding developer contributions Christie Cramer explained the total contribution is an estimated 10%, plus the bulk of impact fees being collected are from the developer. It was noted the residential area within the TID is solely being paid for by that developer and is not any part of the village project. The TID project would not work without that small portion of proposed residential development.

The payback of the TID borrowing would be accomplished by expanding and increasing the tax base within the district, with the payback time estimate being 14 years versus the 20 years allowed by law. It was further noted commercial and industrial tax base equals an estimated $46,000,000 today. After the TID that is expected to increase by $14,000,000 or 30% when in fact those numbers have been declining over the last few years.

In response to another question regarding the taxes currently received by the other taxing entities and if they would decrease, the answer was no. All taxes currently received would remain the same; only the increased value generating new taxes (increment) would be retained by the TID. The TID would numerous benefits to the village as well as entire area and county, creating tax base with minimum cost or added services to any of the taxing jurisdictions, as well the creation of jobs and boosting or encouraging auxiliary or supplementary growth.

General comments from the members of the Joint Review Board were supportive of the TID. No action was required.

The timeline for the TID was discussed and was noted the next and probably last meeting of this Board needs to be held between February 8, 2005 and March 9, 2005. On a motion by Neal Weare, seconded by James Esselmann and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board selected Tuesday, February 8, 2005 at 7:00 p.m. to hold their next meeting.

On a motion by Neal Weare, seconded by James Esselmann and carried by the majority roll call vote to adjourn. Roll call vote was 4 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 1 "Absent."

SPORTS

Nell reflects on last mat win against Cougars

BY JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

They didn't come right out and say it but the Kewaskum High School wrestlers could have dedicated their recent thrilling win over Campbellsport to the long line of Indians who left the school without doing so.

In the 40-year history of the sport at KHS, the number of victories could be counted on one hand, and then one would not need all his fingers.

Back in 1966 (or was it '67?), the Indians had the better of things in a match held in what is now called Rose Hall. Campbellsport didn't even have uniforms, and Gerald "Sarge" Marking was just embarking on what would be a storied career with a couple dozen wrestling families providing a legacy that would extend through the Scenic Moraine to the Flyway and now the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

Kewaskum also was just testing the wrestling waters and bucking a strong basketball tradition at the same time. Still Joe Harlow forged ahead with a full 14-match schedule the first year and 60 athletes turned out to see what this rising sport was all about.

Harlow, who also was the head coach of football and golf at that time, stressed fundamentals and conditioning, and the combination of the two added up to a win over Campbellsport and a 7-7 season in the first year and having a state qualifier (there was just one class of wrestlers in those days) the second year.

The drought against Campbellsport lasted until the 1995-96 season when another Indian wrestling team finally beat the Cougars. John Nell, in his 15th season, had waited patiently for Jan. 6, 1996, wondering if the day would ever come, and the Indians finally had the upper hand, 39-31.

"I remember the kids having little side bets ... They were spotting us a couple, and we ended up winning by nine (actually eight)," Nell said last week. "That was with Joel Dziejcz, Matt Heather, Glen Schnabel."

This was not a conference meet because the Indians were already members of the EW, while the Cougars were cleaning house annually in the Flyway.

"It was a dual meet tournament ... in Fond du Lac," Nell said, recalling how Dziejcz won by pin, and the key match came between Schnabel and Travis Ebert of Campbellsport.

"They moved Travis up a weight class," Nell said, indicating Ebert, who wound up with two Division 2 state titles to his credit, was expected to win, but, "Glen ended up catching Travis and pinning him ... That was the highlight."

The "topper" in the meet was Tim Gundrum's pin in the heavyweight match.

Gundrum had been injured, so his younger brother, Bruce, moved up a weight class from 189 to fill in for him for several weeks, and when Bruce met the CHS heavyweight in the Oshkosh tournament, he was pinned.

"Timmy came back, and he ended up pinning him (the Cougar). "We were confident in Tim," Nell said.

Others on that team included Josh Dieringer, Rich Wulff, Mike Kertscher and Tony Olla.

And were there any other close meets Kewaskum had against Campbellsport and Marking?

"I think we had some other close ones, but we just weren't strong enough to do it. A lot of times we didn't have full teams."

"The thing I remember the best (about this win) was they (Indians) were ready to go. They were ready to win. They just looked at Campbellsport as another team." That was the difference in these kids," Nell said, pleased he got at least one win over the Cougars.

Nell retired from the sport five years ago, letting one of his former athletes, Dennis Aupperle, take over the position. Aupperle is 1-4 against Campbellsport, but by the looks of things, he may be winning a couple of other matches against the Cougars in the next few years.

Perhaps the ending won't be as storied as the one in 2005, (when Noah Olla and Jacob Turowski posted a pin and major decision, respectively, to turn a deficit into a 36-34 victory), but a win is a win over an arch rival no matter how it comes.

Thelen, Dehler lead Indians past New Holstein

BY JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Sparked offensively by senior Paige Thelen, and with sophomore Marissa Dehler spearheading an excellent defensive team effort, the Kewaskum High girls basketball team soared past host New Holstein last Tuesday night by a score of 47-34.

The win gave the Indians a sweep over the Huskies this year and boosted their Eastern Wisconsin Conference record to 3-9.

While the Lady Indians, now 4-13 overall, were the victims of a free throw barrage in their last loss, in this game they used free throws to secure the win.

Kewaskum successfully converted 22 of 33 tries, including 10 of 14 in the fourth quarter when the Indians pulled away from the Huskies.

Thelen scored a game-high and personal-high 16 points, and she really came up big at the end, scoring 10 of her points down the stretch. The fourth-quarter scoring spree by Thelen, included a four-of-four effort at the line.

With eight minutes to play, the game had been a dead heat, 29-29, then coach Jeff Gosse went to the whip, full court pressure, to put the heat on New Holstein.

"We found a press that really worked," Gosse said, indicating he used it early in the game to help the Indians jump out front 11-6. When the Huskies appeared to be doing better against the press late in the first half, Gosse switched to another defense, but he didn't forget about it, and the Indians had enough energy left to apply it with intensity.

"That helped us a lot," Gosse said, adding, "Marissa Dehler did a fantastic job last night. She had six steals," plus disrupting a lot of the New Holstein plays.

"As a team, we played some really good defense," the coach went on, also lauding the play of Katie Kurer, who chipped in with six points and helped defensively.

"She's (Kurer) been helping us coming off the bench," Gosse said, pointing to the leadership, scoring and defense the 5-foot-6 senior is providing. "plus, it helps us to rotate four players."

Thelen's points were obviously very instrumental. "She should have scored even more," Gosse said, reporting, "She missed a lot of bunnies," expecting to get hit from behind and winding up overplaying the ball.

Sophomore Bry Timblin just missed double figures, scoring nine points, and Lindsay Keller chipped in with six points and contributed some strong rebounding.

Keller led the Indians with 11 rebounds, and Thelen and Rachel Breese each hauled down seven.

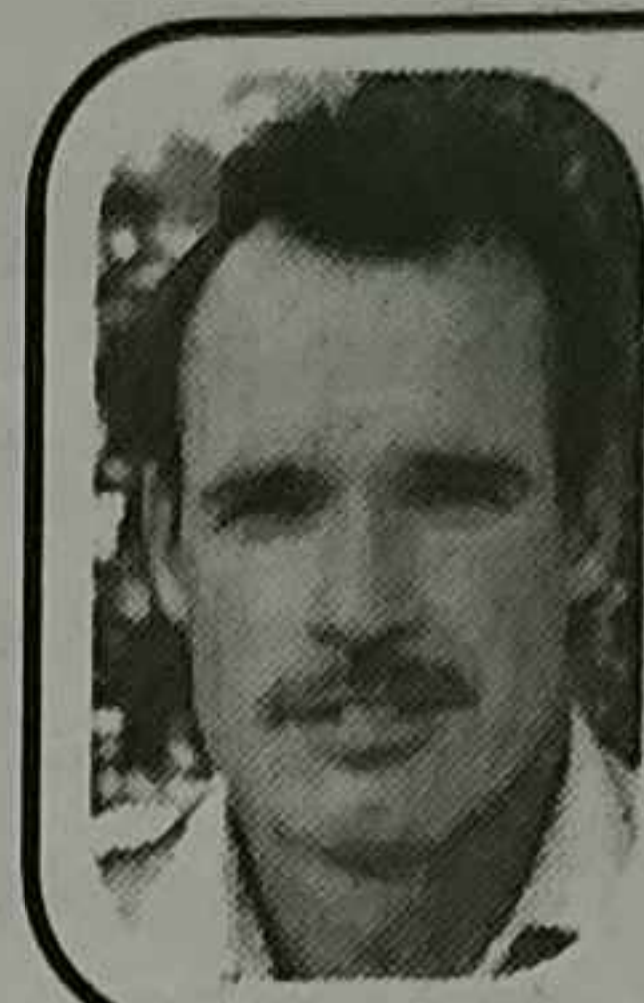

While he was disappointed by 29 KHS turnovers, Gosse was tickled with the good defense and the clutch free throw shooting. "The last four games we've been shooting around 80 percent or better (from the free throw line)," he said.

Kewaskum had another key game at home against Kiel on Friday night.

Kewaskum: 11-7-11-18-47;
New Holstein: 6-13-10-5-34

Kewaskum: Droese 2, Dehler 4, Timblin 9, Kurer 6, Thelen 16, Breese 4, Keller 6. 3-point goals — Breese. FTs — 22x33. Fouls — 21.

Mystery Fish Strikes Again

Hello Friends,

This week's column is about the second half of an ice fishing/winter camping trip I recently returned from with my stepson Travis and my friends, Chuck and Luke Rieb, from Mellen.

Saturday, January 29
High 31°, Low 28°

Greenville, S.D., population under 100, is the closest town to us on our section of Waubay Lake. The lake covers 15,500 acres, and until about 12 years ago, it was just a duck hunting slough.

Solid rain and snowfalls in the early '90s created lakes out of ponds in the eastern Dakotas. The incredibly fertile new lakes almost immediately produced healthy fish populations, especially with the help of the South Dakota Game, Fish, and Parks Department.

My first Waubay experience was five years ago, and I had an absolutely incredible time catching 4- to 10-pound northern pike. The following winter, Travis and I figured out that fishing for perch and walleye on Waubay would rapidly become one of my favorite trips of the year.

This year, I have to admit, the bottom fell out on our fish catching success, as far as numbers go. Up until today, which was day three on the ice, our biggest and only northern was 35 inches, and we had yet to catch a perch. Luke had also iced a 7-pound walleye on a tip up baited with an eight-inch sucker. He used a 40-pound Power Pro line for a leader. That same set up, which also caught the northern, we rigged on a tip up that had all the line yanked off the spool. Warm weather, which is rare in the Dakotas in late January, was the norm on our trip. Our livewell outside the shack had a hard time ever freezing over.

Chuck is an adventurer, and he took daily walks with the boys on the completely remote shoreline.

Last night, I heard a deer snorting its warning after dark. Then all of us heard a pack of coyote coming from the direction of the deer. On today's walk, Chuck and the boys came across a fresh deer kill and a badger den with six different entrances. My golden retriever Ice was with the guys. They said Ice would not go near the deer kill.

Even though the fish catching was very slow, we had our high points. One reliable method of catching fish is to drop a live fathead minnow hooked on a small hook and weighted with a split shot. If there are fish near by eventually they will take it.

Just after dark today, Travis had a large fish take his fathead from the set up in the shack. If it had not been secured, the fish would have stolen his pole. Travis did his best, but the fish straightened the hook, making it impossible to land.

I was head cook on this trip, and all of our fishing holes inside the shack were on the other end of my kitchen. Today I did something I only dream about. I started up my chainsaw and cut a hole in my kitchen floor, then I drilled a hole through 30 inches of ice with my trusty Jiffy auger. I fished with that fathead set up, and we all had a lot of laughs every time a 13- to 16-inch walleye would start bending my pole.

Today, I had some local boys stop by who read my column in Midwest Outdoors. They had some interesting history about the lake, including how the lake was once filled with cattails and was an awesome duck marsh.

They told me that in the 1890s Waubay was actually much larger than it is today. During the dust bowl years of the 1930s, the lake was literally a desert.

Sunday, January 30
High 34°, Low 22°

I'm starting to feel a bit guilty because tomorrow is our last day and we have yet to catch a perch. We only caught one northern pike and maybe 75 small walleye.

The word on the ice and at Greenville Sport Mart is that the shut down is regional. After returning home, I heard that the fishing was bad across the entire upper midwest.

Tonight we fished our last primetime evening with high hopes. Before long, we iced four or five small walleye, which for Waubay is pathetic. I felt a good tug on my jig pole and landed a perch just shy of 12 inches. What a moral victory that was. Within minutes, one of the monsters from the deep grabbed Luke's $30 jig pole and took it to the bottom of Waubay.

I laughed, but Chuck didn't. He mentioned something about his bum luck as the sun set on our 2005 Waubay ice journey. I know Chuck has a lot of friends back in Mellen so maybe they could start a collection at his local pub for some new line for his tip up and a new jig pole.

Already looking forward to next year's season.

KHS boys explode for 71 points to end EWC losing streak

Behind spurts of more than 20 points in the second and fourth quarters, the Kewaskum High boys basketball team defeated Kiel 71-58 last Thursday night, breaking a two-year Eastern Wisconsin Conference losing streak in the process.

"It was our first conference win in 25 games," an elated Kewaskum Coach Glen Eichstedt said. "We benefited from significant contributions from our bench and solid play by our starters. We controlled the tempo throughout, with the aid of our full court pressure and tremendous free throw shooting."

The Indians exploded for 23 points in the second quarter to take a 34-23 lead at intermission, then after allowing the host Raiders to close the gap to seven, they found an extra gear in the final quarter to pull away.

The usually dependable Matt Parrent (nine points) and Todd Warnecke (15 points) came up with good games, combining for 24 points, but unexpected help came from Paul Gaynor and junior Eric Cain.

Gaynor scored 13 points and contributed three rebounds, while Cain who is seeing more playing time since coming back from an athletic code violation that sidelined him for nearly half of the season, scored 11 points and added five rebounds.

"Paul had a good game. He stepped up ... had a lot of backdoor shots," Parrent said while practicing shooting on his own Friday after school.

About Cain's effort, Parrent said, "He had a couple big shots ... a three (point goal) that gave us the lead (in the third quarter), and another one giving us a bigger lead."

Eichstedt reported Gaynor was 4x4 in shooting, while Cain hit three of the four threes he attempted.

Concerning breaking the long EW losing streak, Parrent said it felt good to win, adding, "It's been a long time."

Parrent, who led the Indians in rebounding with eight, felt the team played tough defense and also was more patient on offense. "We actually ran an offense that worked," he said.

"Our guards, senior Brad Benike and sophomore Casey Scheel, had 10 assists between them, which resulted from much improved ball movement," Eichstedt said, reporting his team had 17 total assists, up six from the season's previous high of 11."

Eight different Kewaskum players contributed points in what has to have been the best balance the Indians have produced all season.

After the three double-figure scorers and Parrent, Zach Wollner added seven points, while Luke Herriges and Brad Benike each scored six. Benike and Herriges combined to be a perfect ten-of-ten at the free throw line, as the Indians had a great night shooting free throws, going 26 of 31.

In the fourth quarter, Kewaskum only missed four of 18 free throws. Parrent scored seven of his nine points down the stretch, and Gaynor had five.

"Parrent, who willingly took only one shot in the first three quarters, started to attack, went to the line and made five of six tries (in the fourth quarter)," Eichstedt said.

Kiel, which also has just one win in EW play this season, was led by sharp-shooting Brett Arenz, who scored a game-high 16 points.

With the win, the Indians are 1-10 in the EW and 2-15 overall, with three conference games left on the schedule before the tournament opens.

"All in all, this was an emotional victory for a team that has persevered without giving up or quitting on each other. If we can capture one or two more wins in our last three games, we not only build confidence and momentum for the WIAA playoffs, but possibly a seventh seed," Eichstedt said. "That's great motivation for a team that has struggled throughout the season."

Scott leads Kiel past KHS; girls will face top seed in tourney

The Kewaskum girls basketball team came out on the short end twice over the weekend, and the Lady Indians played in just one game.

After losing a 47-32 decision to Kiel in Senior Night and Parents Night, Coach Jeff Gosse said the coaches had their meeting Saturday morning to determine Division 2 regional seeding, and he was more upset about the outcome of that session than he was in the game the night before.

"Terrible" was the way Gosse described the seeding meeting. "This is wrong. The way we do it now its wrong ... it's all about politics."

Gosse reported Plymouth drew the No. 1 seed, and, "That was a given" since the Panthers are currently 16-3.

Two others team were at .500, according to Gosse, who said the rest of the teams had from two to four wins. (Kewaskum is currently 4-14 overall). "Teams in your conference. We should stick together," Gosse said, reporting a couple of the coaches from the Eastern Wisconsin Conference who were involved voted against Kewaskum.

Mayville and Slinger were two of the teams in the same boat as Kewaskum, and "Teams they lost to, we beat," Gosse said, scratching his head on the thinking of some of his colleagues.

The result is the Indians ended up eighth, or last, in the seeding and thus will play at Plymouth on Tuesday (Feb. 22, 7 p.m.) in the opening round.

Getting back to Friday's loss to Kiel, which puts Kewaskum's record at 3-10 in the Eastern Wisconsin, Gosse said, "We played well, but we had a poor second quarter, and that was the game. It cost us the game."

After leading 10-5 after the first period, the Indians "couldn't hit the bottom of the barrel, according to Gosse, who said while the offense struggled, defensively the Indians rose to the occasion against the taller Raiders.

"Paige (Thelen) played great on defense. She only gave up six points to their big girl (Amy Jaschob)," and she was giving up six inches to her. Jaschob did end up with another six when Thelen wasn't on her, so she wound up with an even dozen points.

Scoring honors went to Kiel guard, Jessica Scott, who poured in a game-high 18, including a 3-point bucket in the early going.

Kewaskum got 11 points from senior Lindsay Keller and another 10 from Katie Kurer. The play of both was lauded by Gosse, who said both played very well.

Bry Timblin was next high with six points.

Thelen and Keller led the Indians in rebounding, with six and five, respectively.

The illness bug is still affecting the KHS camp. Rachel Breese got sick during the game, Gosse said, reporting, "We're still battling."

The Indians had a non-conference game at Ozaukee on Tuesday and finish up the EW season Friday when they travel to Campbellsport.

Kiel: 5-16-14-12 - 47;

Kewaskum: 10-3-8-11 - 32

Kewaskum: Timblin 6, Kurer 10, Thelen 4, Keller 11, Zimdars 1. 3-point goals - Keller, FTs - 5x7. Fouls - 17.

Kiel: Scott 18, Dederling 4, Bruckner 8, Adams 4, Camp 1, Jaschob 12. 3-point goals - Scott. FTs - 10x18. Fouls - 12.

Indians advance six to sectionals but regional title goes to Lomira

Kewaskum High sophomore Eric Ogi cleared the first hurdle toward a berth in the WIAA Division 2 state wrestling tournament when he captured top honors in the 135 pound weight class during Saturday's regional meet held in Horicon. Above, Ogi keeps tight control on Jon Mortag of Grafton toward an 8-1 win in the finals.

HORICON — Not even an impressive five champions and one second place could earn the Kewaskum High wrestlers the Division 2 regional title here Saturday.

Lomira went to 232 points in the three-team battle between the victorious Lions, Campbellsport and Kewaskum for a berth in the team sectional.

Campbellsport, which eked out the Eastern Wisconsin Conference championship last week in the final match of the day, wound up with 212.5 points for second place, and Kewaskum, which again had some obvious holes at the lower weights, finished third with 201.

Waupun finished fourth with 174 points, followed by Grafton, 118.5; Mayville 67.5 and Horicon, 64.

KHS Coach Dennis Aupperle said he figured the battle would narrow down to one of the three, but he was hoping it would be his team advancing. KHS has never qualified for a team sectional.

As expected, Kewaskum boasted several of the top wrestlers in the tournament, including 130-pound Zach Holm, Eric Ogi at 135, Nick Bartley at 140, Scott Rhoads at 145, and 171-pound Noah Olla.

All won titles, and four of them were very convincing. Holm, on the other hand, provided one of the most thrilling endings in his match against Peter Geelan of Lomira.

The match was all tied up at 8-8 at the end of regulation, then Holm, who is now 29-5, got the first takedown to get the nod over Geelan, who brought a 27-9 record into the finals.

Even though he was ahead most of the way, Holm said, "I wrestled kind of sloppy," but indicated he was pretty confident going into OT. "I knew I could take him down."

To reach the finals, Holm received a bye, then pinned Derek Hafermann of Campbellsport in 4:52.

Ogi, 31-6, also used a bye and pin (over Kevin Grotelueschen of Mayville, 46) to get to the finals where he outpointed Grafton's Jon Mortag 8-1, scoring a quick takedown and staying in complete control the rest of the way.

Bartley, who finished third in state last year and is aiming for bigger and better things this season, coasted into the finals behind a bye and a pin in 39 seconds over Kenton Stevens of Campbellsport. Then Andy Jaczak of Lomira, a two-time state qualifier and the No. 1 seed with his 31-3 record coming into the tournament, proved to be a formidable foe.

Bartley was a 4-0 winner, scoring a takedown at the beginning in the first period and adding a second one in the second period, but he couldn't escape Jaczak's ride in the third period and had to settle for a 4-0 victory.

With his three wins on the day, Bartley improved to 32-3.

Rhoads who suffered a disappointing loss in the EWC finals last weekend, had no problem notching the title at 145, with a bye, a pin over Josh Pastorious of Lomira in 1:41 and a pin over Justin Kitzman of Waupun in 3:12.

Rhoads simply overpowered Kitzman, with a five-point reversal and nearfall for a 7-2 lead in the second period and then applying a tight cradle for the pin.

Rhoads take a 31-3 mark into Saturday's sectional tournament at Elkhorn.

"He looks good, and that's the third time he's wrestled that kid, in the triple dual, the Waupun Tournament and today," Aupperle said.

Olla, 26-4, made it five-for-five in the finals for the Indians with his 8-0 major decision over Louie Braatz of Campbellsport. The match was never in doubt from the first 20 seconds when he used an ankle pick to take Braatz down.

Olla has now won three of his four matches against Braatz.

In his first two matches, Olla received a bye and then pinned Adam Wulff of Waupun in :58.

Sophomore Jacob Turowski hoped to be the sixth champ but he got caught in early throw by Nate Phillipisky of Lomira in :26.

Turowski (26-8) argued one of his shoulders was off the mat but lost the debate with the referee and ended up in the wrestleback for second place, which he won "by rule" over Brett Galligan of Campbellsport. By winning, he also qualified for the sectional.

When asked if there were any surprises in the meet, Aupperle said, "Turowski getting pinned. I didn't expect that. Otherwise, I thought we wrestled really well." This was the first time he has been pinned all season.

One other Indian, Mason Smith at 119, was involved in a wrestleback, but he was pinned by Tim McGill of Lomira in 2:46, thus taking third and not advancing.

Smith, who finished the season at 18-15, got a first round bye, then lost 4-1 to the eventual champion, Spenser Rodenkirch of Campbellsport, whose parents, Carrie and Bruce, are both Kewaskum High alumni.

Finishes of the other Indians wrestlers are as follows: 103, Stephen Kattar took fourth, 112, Will Schisel, sixth; 125, Jon Hawig, 4th; 152, Jake Sabel, fourth; 160, Jon Olla, fifth; 215, Jeff Thull, fifth; and 275, Frank Walcheske, no place.

The tournament at Elkhorn gets under way at 10 a.m. Wrestlers must place first, second or third (out of the eight qualifiers) to advance to the state tournament in Madison on Feb. 24-26.

"I know Elkhorn and East Troy have some good kids," Aupperle said. "We've got a good tournament here. A lot of these kids will face each other again next week."

The first round matchups on Sunday are as follows: Holm vs. Paul Kettler of Sheboygan Falls (15-16); Ogi vs. Jake Myers of Elkhorn (17-11); Bartley vs. Cal Youngbeck of Brown Deer (19-17); Rhoads vs. Gene Baumann of Sheboygan Christian (14-10); Olla vs. Aaron Yurk of Sheboygan Falls (19-11); and Turowski vs. Ben Murnane of East Troy (36-6).
