New management style for Town of Kewaskum

By Andrew Kuehl
 Statesman Managing Editor
 akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

There's a new captain of the ship in the Town of Kewaskum. His open door policy management style seems to be a breath of fresh air to many township residents.

The new Town Chairman Ellis Kahn and supervisor Ellen Dettweiler were sworn into office on Tuesday, April 12, Incumbent officials were also sworn in. The Statesman erroneously reported that they were to be sworn in on April 18.

At the start of his first monthly town board/plan commission meeting Chairman Ellis Kahn told residents that they are welcomed to call him about any town related issues. In fact, he encouraged it. Taking it a step further he announced that he will have office hours at the town hall every Wednesday from 5 to 7 p.m. until further notice.

Town residents should also take note of an open forum that is planned for May 3. This is the start of a series of open forums regarding smart growth. Kahn encouraged community involvement in the process and is excited to get the ball rolling. Deb Sielski of the Washington County Planning and Parks Department will be the featured speaker from 6-6:30 p.m. Kevin Struck will speak from 6:30-7 p.m. at the May open forum. After the speakers residents will be welcome to ask questions.

Kahn also motioned to have the town meetings start earlier.

The monthly joint plan commission/Town Board meeting will begin at 7 p.m. instead of 7:30 p.m. This change will start with the May meeting.

Supervisor Dettweiler updated the board on the progress of the cleaning up of the Schmidt property on Highway 28. She said her and supervisor Butzlaff met with Wilmer Schmidt. The town is drafting a list of items Schmidt must comply with by July 14, 2005. She did state that though much work needs to be completed, the property is better organized.

On Wednesday, the town was set to meet to review administrative procedures. Kahn hoped at that meeting they would be able to set policies in place to streamline some town business. An agenda posted with this newspaper stated they were to discuss potential hiring decisions and the town's current computer technology and possibly upgrading the system.

In closing his first meeting, Kahn ordered that the outgoing town officials be thanked for their service. Supervisor Dettweiler will be drafting a letter to send to the former officials and will be published in the town's newspaper, The Statesman.

WEEK'S WIT

Spring is wonderful! It makes you feel young enough to do all the things you're old enough to know you can't!

Free concerts in the park this summer

The Friends of Kewaskum have recently announced they will be sponsoring four free concerts in River Hill Park this summer.

The free concerts have been scheduled for Saturday, May 7; Friday, June 3; Sunday, July 17, and Wednesday, August 24. Most of the concerts will take place early in the evening with the exception of the May 7 date which will probably be held late in the afternoon due to the coolness of the evening hours in May.

Exact times are still tentative and will be announced very shortly. All concerts will also feature raffles and the sale of food, refreshments and homemade desserts.

Discussion is still ongoing regarding incorporating a tree planting ceremony, a steak fry and a card party into some of the free concert dates. More information about these decisions will be forthcoming.

A different type of music will be featured at each one of the concerts in an

Last meeting in Auburn for Laubenstein, Nitschke

BY ANDREW KUEHL
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

Auburn Town chairman, Howard Laubenstein presided over his last meeting as Town Chairman Tuesday evening, April 12. This was also the last meeting for one term supervisor, Mike Nitschke. Laubenstein had been serving as the town's top official for the last four years. Nitschke served as supervisor the last two years or one term.

The first item on the agenda for the town's annual meeting was to approve the 2004 annual report. Town Treasurer, Shelby Sarauer stated that the town paid out $2,442,363.48 in expenses in 2004. On the revenue side of things the town took in $3,058,709.09. The town started the year out with $2,139,106.83 in their pocket books.

Appointments to the Plan Commission were then approved. Supervisor-elect, Joe Woodworth is being replaced by Karen Ramthun. She will serve a three-year term. Town chairman-elect, Merle Laatsch, will keep his chairmanship of the commission. Doug Schacht was re-appointed to a three-year term.

Roger Mathieu and Gene Peters were all given three-year terms on the Board of Appeals. Roger Schleif will serve as the alternate, a two-year seat.

What to do with an abandoned cemetery that was tabled at the 2004 meeting was again brought up for discussion. After much heated debate about liability and cost, it was decided that town resident Cookie Minz will organize a group to clean the cemetery without involving the township.

A bit of a surprise came to resident Bud Discher when it was noted that the cemetery was on land owned by him on Auburn-Ashford Drive.

A number of months ago town residents were surprised to learn that an antique grader, once used by the town, was in storage. A town resident came forward to clean up the grader so it could be put on display. Resident Albert Fleischmann offered to pay for landscaping at the town hall so the grader could be displayed. This project will be started soon.

The over forty residents in attendance were divided in half when it came to increasing the size of the town board. Earlier in the year the idea came to light. Chairman-elect Laatsch said he didn't favor the idea because it could raise the town's expenses by $12-15,000. He cited declining state aid and numerous other expenses coming before the board as his deciding factor.

New Fane resident Shelby Hron asked that the board address the abandoned alleys in New Fane. Chairman elect Laatsch stated it would be on the next town board agenda in May.

Laatsch, Woodworth and John Janz were then sworn in along with incumbents, Treasurer Sarauer and Clerk Bonnie Berg.

KEYS organization has reason to celebrate

Officials and friends of the KEYS (Kewaskum Youth Scholarship) organization gathered last Wednesday for a milestone celebration, the reaching of the $1 million mark in scholarship funds. KEYS President Jerry Gosa, left, is joined by Joe Swanson, vice president; Ric Leitheiser, treasurer; and Angela Schickert, secretary.

By JUDY HARLOW
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

"You have made a dream come true for many Kewaskum High students."

These words resonated in the Kewaskum Village Annex last Wednesday evening as officers, board members, and friends of the KEYS (Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc.) gathered for an open house to celebrate a milestone in the groups 20-year history.

Just recently the organization reached $1 million in scholarship funding, and just as Jerry Gosa, the president of KEYS since 1986, said, the monies have certainly helped a large number of students make their dreams of attending universities, colleges and technical colleges a reality.

To be exact, there have been 223 scholarship recipients in the 20 years, starting with one $500 award made in the spring of 1986, less than a year after a concerned group of citizens got together to organize a scholarship effort similar to the ones in West Bend and Slinger.

In June of this year, KEYS will be awarding 25 scholarships totaling $73,700, according to Gosa. He praised the efforts of the officers, including Joe Swanson, vice president; Ric Leitheiser, treasurer; and Angela Schickert, secretary, along with board members Jacqueline Burtard, Sharron Miller, and Julann Zemlicka.

Gosa said it has been an honor and a privilege to work with people "who shared the vision" he and the initial organizers had.

Gosa said he has developed some good friendships while working with the organization, as well as meeting a lot of wonderful people. One example, he said, was meeting the parents of the late Andrea Haberman, who graduated from Kewaskum High and later St. Norberts College and was a victim of the 9-11 bombing of the World Trade Center. The parents have established a scholarship in their daughter's name.

A highlight of the evening's activities included an appearance by the first scholarship recipient, Dr. Rick Staehler, a physiatrist with the Neuro Spine Center in Appleton. He is a partner in the group.

"It's really unbelievable what all of you have done for students at Kewaskum," Staehler said, indicating how the money helped him in his academic journey and how he came back to the community last fall to compete in his first KEYS Run/Walk, which helps raise funds for the scholarships.

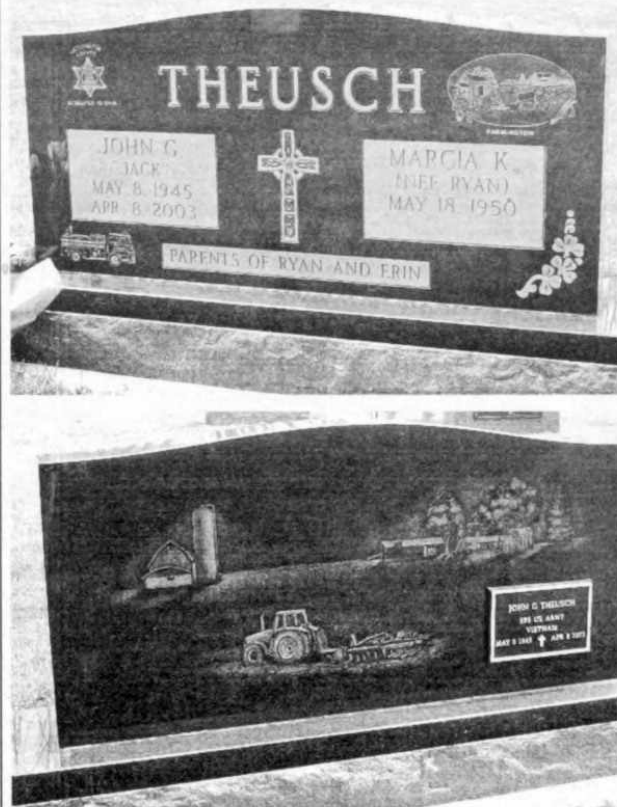

Staehler also voiced his appreciation to the teachers he had at Kewaskum High "for the start they gave me 20 years ago."

"We will keep working," Gosa pledged, indicating the group's future goals include being able to award $100,000 in scholarships each year.

Past, current and new donors are asked to please accept the challenge and make a donation. All money contributed to KEYS is used directly for scholarships, and the work by members of KEYS Inc. is done strictly on a volunteer basis.

Gosa also got in a plug for this year's KEYS Walk/Run which will be held on Sunday, October 9.

Fitting memorial for late sheriff

A fitting tribute for the late Washington County Sheriff, Jack Theusch was recently placed in the St. John of God Cemetery in Farmington. The memorial shows artists' renderings of Theusch's farmstead, the Boltonville Fire Department, The Town of Farmington and his badge from the Washington County Sheriff's Department. Sheriff Theusch passed away unexpectedly at his home on April 8, 2003.

Forest gets spruced up

A very successful 12th Annual Earth Day Cleanup sponsored by the Friends of the Kettle Moraine was held in the Kettle Moraine State Forest on Saturday, April 16th from 8:30 to 12 noon. Approximately 83 individuals volunteered their time picking up trash along the Kettle Moraine Scenic Drive and recreation areas in the state forest. Some of the volunteers are shown in the above photo. There were a variety of organizations assisting in the clean up: 4 H; Girl Scouts; Boy Scouts; High School and Church Groups. Volunteers came as far as Glendale and Waukesha. Mike McFadzen once again was successful in having Waste Management - Fond du Lac donate two, 20 yard dumpsters. The containers were earmarked for solid waste and co-mingled recyclables. Both were 3/4 full at the end of the work day. Approximately 25 tires were also collected.

Kewaskum Frozen Foods products recognized

The exceptional quality of meat products by Kewaskum Frozen Foods of Kewaskum was recognized at the 66th annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Meat Processors, held in Madison on April 8 and 9. At the Meat Product Show held in conjunction with that meeting, Kewaskum Frozen Foods received the following product awards:

- Ring Liver Sausage, Reserve Grand Champion
- Fresh Traditional Brat, Reserve Champion
- Fresh Breakfast Links, Grand Champion
- Fresh Specialty Bratwurst, Reserve Grand Champion
- Smoked Polish Sausage, Reserve Grand Champion

The Wisconsin Meat Product Competition is the largest of its kind in the United States. Meat processing plants and meat markets from throughout the state this year entered 887 individual products into 33 product categories, including summer sausage, bratwurst, ham, bacon, smoked poultry and a variety of other types of meat products. Over 40 judges including food scientists, out-of-state meat processors, and other food-industry professionals were required to effectively evaluate the many products during a marathon session on Saturday, April 9. Individual products are scored for external appearance and eye-appeal, internal appearance, aroma, and taste, using a scale of 1,000 points.

The size of this product show and the quality of its entries demonstrates the important role that sausage and processed meats play in Wisconsin's meat industry and among state consumers. If you removed hot dog production, Wisconsin would lead the nation in sausage production, and is known around the US for the quality of its meat products.

Owner Bob Beisbier and employees Mae Spradau, Al and Cindy Schickert, and Fred and Jackie Unke attended this year's convention.

Kewaskum Frozen Foods has produced award winning brats for five consecutive years at the Wisconsin Association Meat Processors Convention in Madison (WAMP).

Brief collection knocks socks off organizers

A few weeks ago The Statesman published a story about Shepherd of the Hills' "Brief Collection to Knock Your Socks Off" that collection ended with Easter and did indeed knock the socks off parishioners.

The parish collected 932 pairs of underwear and 711 pairs of socks. Cash donation raised $1,997. That money will be used to cover shipping and purchase additional items for the Haitian mission.

School children at the church also donated 350 different small toys for the boys in Haiti.

Man sentenced for child assault

Washington County Judge David Resheske sentenced a 38 year-old Milwaukee man to 17 years in prison for sexually assaulting a 14 year-old Germantown girl. Christopher Ladousier was convicted in a jury trial last February for an assault that occurred last June. Ladousier was babysitting the girl and her younger sister.

Fond du Lac considers extending Wild Goose Trail

Supervisors in Fond du Lac County are considering a plan to extend the Wild Goose State Park Trail. Currently the gravel trail ends at Rolling Meadows Drive. They want to push it down to Pioneer Road.

Robbery at Pick N Save South

Pick N Save South was the victim of an armed robbery this past weekend. Police say the incident happened around 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon as a pair of suspects tried to get out of the store with baby formula. Sheriff's deputies arrested the two off Hwy. 45 and 167.

On Friday, a staff member working in produce chased down a man trying to leave the store with a coat full of canned goods.

Investigations are underway and charges are pending.

County putting together tourism video

The Washington County Convention and Visitors Bureau will be filming a piece to promote tourism. The bureau received a small grant and they're going to be touring local "hot spots" via motorcoach. The spot will be debuted during a tourism piece "Life's So Good." The spot will be debuted during a tourism breakfast May 8 at the Mineshaft in Hartford. The piece will be shown on local cable.

C-sport couple hurt in motorcycle accident

A man and woman from Campbellsport were injured in a motorcycle accident Sunday in Fond du Lac County. Sheriff's deputies say the accident happened just after 5 p.m. on County Highway Q in the Township of Marshfield. The driver apparently failed to make the turn. The 61 year-old and his 46 year-old wife were flighted to Theda Clark Medical Center. The extent of the injuries was not known as of press time. Neither person was wearing a helmet.

Dundee UFO's highlighted in book

Dundee is highlighted in a new book called "Weird Wisconsin." The book is by Linda Godfrey and Richard Hendricks and it focuses on odd things across the state. Dundee is mentioned as the "UFO Capital of Wisconsin." The book says Dundee has a UFO theme festival where neighbors wear Hershey Kiss Hats made of tin foil. The hats are used to prevent aliens from reading their minds.

Bad accident on Hwy. 45

A Kewaskum man was injured last Friday morning, April 15, in a single vehicle rollover accident. Washington County Sheriff's deputies said it happened around 5:30 a.m. on Hwy. 45 near the fair park. Authorities say 49 year-old Steven Spoerl apparently lost control of his vehicle, traveled across the median into the Northbound lanes and crashed. Spoerl was ejected from his vehicle. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with non-life threatening injuries. The accident remains under investigation.

Sheriff's Dept. warns about grass burning

The Washington County Sheriff's Department is asking neighbors to be careful with outdoor burning. In the past few weeks, local fire departments have been called to a number of grass fires.

One fire last Thursday began after a grass fire reignited and burned down a garage. Damage is estimated at $250,000. The Jackson Fire Department was assisted by the Richfield Fire Department.

Other fires in Washington County on Thursday were reported in the Towns of Allenton, Erin, Jackson and Trenton.

Water Park for West Bend discussed

There's still a lot of discussion to be had before the City of West Bend decides whether to dive into the water park business. About 30 people attended an informational meeting at City Hall where architects from Bonestroo and Associates talked about the amenities and expenses associated with an aquatic facility.

David Burch says revenue could be generated through a number of sources including concessions, increased fees for out of towners and renting the facilities for private parties.

The West Bend Park and

Rec commission oversaw the meeting. Jackie Maynard with the parks department talked about a downturn in attendance at Regner Park. She says the swimmers are turned off by the mucky consistency of the water at Regner and many are leaving West Bend to go to water parks in other communities.

Many at last Thursday's meeting favored development of an aquatic center. If constructed, the facility would be located on the south end of town near the Kettle Moraine Ice Center. An aquatic center would have to be approved by the common council.

State Senate approves bill blocking local minimum wage increase

State Senator Glenn Grothman is voting along with other Republicans in Madison on a bill barring local governments from enacting minimum wage laws that exceed the statewide minimum. The measure passed the Senate on a party line vote of 18-14. The measure bars municipalities from raising the minimum wage above the statewide level of $5.15 an hour. Gov. Doyle says he'll veto the bill if it's passed by the assembly.

Bush can't cut payments to farmers

Some good news for farmers across the area, the Bush administration has dropped an effort to cut government payments to farmers. In February, the President asked congress to slash billions of dollars from payments to large farm operations dropping the maximum farmers are allowed to collect from $360,000 to $250,000. Farmers across the country would have been impacted by the proposed cuts, but it would have primarily been felt by cotton and rice farmers in the South and California.

WB man to stand trial on child assault charges

A West Bend man will stand trial on charges he allegedly assaulted a five-year-old girl from the town of Trenton.

In court this week, Washington County Judge Patrick Faragher found probable cause and set arraignment for Brian Homz. The 37 year-old is accused of breaking into the home and assaulting the girl. Initially the child's grandfather was accused of the crime, however he was cleared through DNA evidence. Homz has been released on $50,000 bond and is due back in court May 4th.

Walgreens to pay for overcharges

Shoppers at Walgreens may want to make it a habit to check the receipt. Walgreens has agreed to pay $55,000 in civil forfeitures and fees to the state for overcharging customers. According to a report from the Dept. of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection there were nearly 100 overcharges at 31 stores across Wisconsin. A store in Greenfield was tagged with the most mistakes.

An environment designed for caring.

Studies show that patients heal and get well faster in a compassionate atmosphere. It's why the new St. Joseph's Hospital creates a more relaxed and caring environment. The main entrance features a warm welcoming area where greeters will guide patients and visitors. A garden level dining room and special waiting areas will offer peaceful space for patients, visitors and staff. And a non-denominational chapel will be available for quiet reflection or spiritual rejuvenation. It all adds up to exceptional patient care.

59th Anniversary

Tom and Rose Slaughenouh celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary on February 6, 2005. On that day, Tom, a resident at HCR ManorCare was ill and staff advised Rose to stay home and not visit for her own health and welfare. This anniversary came and went without a celebration, with the two of them apart. So, one week later, a surprise dinner celebrating their anniversary was held at ManorCare. Staff provided soft music, candlelight, and wine for the couple.

Steel Magnolias to Play at Schauer Center

Members of the cast from the Montant Repertory Theatre include Nora Mundé Gustuson as Annelle, Kathlee Conry as M'Lynn, Kendra Mylnechus as Shelby, Anne-Marie Cusson as Truvy, Rebecca Coon as Clairee and Kathy Danzer as Ouiser.

Fast becoming an American classic, "Steel Magnolias" made its way to the Broadway stage in New York this Spring, and the Kettle Moraine region will be able to see what many other New York City theatergoers will be enjoying when it visits the Schauer Center, Sunday, April 24th. Robert Harling's play of six witty southern belles who gather to gossip, commiserate, chit-chat, needle and harangue each other at Truvy's Beauty Spot has been called a celebration of the healing power of laughter, and a tribute to the strength of American women.

The Montana Rep, an Equity company based at The University of Montana in Missoula, is in its 37th year as a touring repertory theatre company. In recent years the company has presented: To Kill a Mockingbird, It's a Wonderful Life, The Diary of Anne Frank, Death of a Salesman, The Miracle Worker, and A Streetcar Named Desire, presenting more than 300 performances in over 100 communities from California to New York.

When the Montana Repertory Theatre decided to select a comedy for its 2004-05 touring season, the reasons were apparent. It didn't take long... "We wanted material that examines the American character and investigates the human heart. 'Steel Magnolias' is such a play," declared artistic director Greg Johnson. Johnson's credits include Broadway's "Biloxi Blues," "Crimes of the Heart," "Is There Life After High School?" and "Hide and Seek." Additionally, Johnson spent nineteen years working in professional theatre in New York City, as an actor, stage manager, and director, before coming to Montana to head the Rep.

Johnson continued, "With 'Steel Magnolias,' the company continues its ten-year tradition of telling great American stories, this time with humor and insight. We are proud to present this wonderful play live and on stage at the Schauer Center." One critic wrote, "Johnson and his cast deliver a riveting, powerful performance that seems completely filled with the energy of human life."

"Steel Magnolias" is set at Truvy's Beauty Spot in Chinquapin, Louisiana, where a delightful bevy of Southern women convene for much more than a wash and set. The wisecracking Truvy with the help of her new "glamour technician," Annelle, dispenses shampoo with a liberal dose of advice to the town's curmudgeon, Ouiser, an eccentric millionaire. Meanwhile the town's social worker, M'Lynn, is wrapped up in preparations for her daughter's upcoming marriage. Through the years jokes are cracked, grievances aired, and tears are shed. Through it all the six women become the Steel Magnolias of the title each one more colorful than the next and, beautiful but strong enough to face life's challenges, together.

"From its off-Broadway smash success in 1987, to Montana, and now appearing in Hartford, you'll not want to miss this hit of the season when 'Steel Magnolias' visits the Schauer Center stage," said Kevin Cole, marketing director of the Schauer Center. "Steel Magnolias."

Kewaskum students best in nation

Three Kewaskum High School juniors proved that this small rural town school can still get the job done. Last week Principal Christine Horbas was notified that three of her juniors were in the top three percent of all students in the United States who took the PSAT test last fall. Of course, any good coach, or teacher in this case, knows it's 90% the ability and effort of the student that makes them a success and only 10% of the coach or teacher.

Still, KHS is proud of their students, Nicholas Bartley, Walter J. Huf, and Kyle Riedén who were informed that due to their extremely high scores (98 for each of them) they were to receive free notification to two of the colleges of their choice. This service is designed to help promote the student to a competitive college and it is only

School speech contest helps students develop skills

Local students from St. Mary's School in West Bend recently gained the opportunity to demonstrate their public speaking skills and take pride in personal accomplishments. On April 6, the kids took part in a speech contest sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America, a national provider of fraternal financial services and programs.

Students competing in the contest, which was held in the St. Mary's gym shared their presentations on this year's topic, "A Great Time in American History."

The winners were Ben Breuer, first place; Brandon Schneider, second place; and Sara Lehnerz, third place. Each of them received a trophy and a gold award pin, and their names will be engraved on the school's speech contest plaque. Gold award pins were also given to the next four ranking finalists: Megan Theisen, Haley Britz, Joseph Stubbe and Allison Schwartz. All participants received certificates of participation for their hard work.

Modern Woodmen's School Speech Contest is one of six free Youth Educational Programs Modern Woodmen offers to schools nationwide. Nearly 100,000 students compete in the contest each year.

Founded in 1883 as a fraternal benefit society, today Modern Woodmen of America offers financial services and fraternal member benefits to individuals and families throughout the United States.

The preschoolers at Tuttle Creek were excited to spend a morning at the Betty Brinn Children's Museum in Milwaukee recently. They had a chance to explore different careers, play with Clifford and his pals, test their hearing skills and learn more about their bodies and the way they work. At the end of their fun learning experience, everyone sat down and had a lunch packed with love from home. It was a great learning experience for the teachers and children!

Bringing intergenerational care to St. Joseph's Convent

When Tom Fabricius, MD, makes his rounds at St. Joseph's Convent in Campbellsport, he brings more than medical care to the 175 residents - he offers a psychological boost as well. That is because the Campbell-sport physician has a special companion each week: his 18-month-old daughter Katie.

Dr. Fabricius is a board-certified family practice physician at Agnesian Health-Care's Campbellsport Clinic, but he also serves as the convent's medical director. Every Wednesday he comes on site, at St. Joseph's to tend to the needs of those who may need medical attention.

"I know it can sometimes be difficult for the sisters to get around, so I am happy to be able to come to them and provide my services," he says. "They have spent their lives helping others, and this is the least I can do."

When he assumed the medical director role last fall, he thought the residents at the convent might enjoy meeting his young daughter, so he brought her along too. "I thought Katie could bring a psychological boost for them. It is an intergenerational type of program that has worked out real well," he says.

In fact, Katie has reached celebrity status at the convent, with residents looking forward to her arrival each week along with her father.

"She is just a precious little sweetheart," says Sister Alda, a St. Joseph's resident who often serves as Katie's "babysitter" while she's there. "We all look forward to seeing her every Wednesday. It is exciting to watch her change and grow."

Residents also appreciate having an on-site physician care to complement the medical services offered by the St. Joseph's nurses. As a general practitioner, Dr. Fabricius is able to treat patients with everything from a minor cold to those who require emergency care. And if needed, he is able to make a referral to a specialist or advanced care.

As a full-time physician at the Campbellsport Clinic, Dr. Fabricius sees a diversity of patients there as well. "We are able to treat anyone who walks through our doors, from newborns on up. We are dedicated to serving the comprehensive healthcare needs of patients in the Campbellsport area," he says.

This includes prenatal care for women up to seven or eight months into their pregnancy, and he also hopes to expand his pediatric patient base. "As a father, I not only have a lot of professional experience with children, I have personal experience as well."

The Campbellsport Clinic, 328 N. Helena Street, is also staffed with three nurses and physician assistant Patricia Hayes.

Dr. Fabricius adds that both he and Agnesian Health-Care are very dedicated to the Campbellsport community and plan on being part of it for a long time.

"Agnesian HealthCare has made a long-term commitment to caring for the healthcare needs of the residents of Campbellsport, and so have I," he says. "I look forward to becoming more involved in the community, and with their support as well we can remain a vital part of this area for years to come."

Dr. Fabricius and his wife currently live in Fond du Lac, which allows him to be close to the hospital for emergency cases. He can also make rounds first thing in the morning to consult with any Campbellsport patients who may be hospitalized before heading to his clinic.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Bookworm Sez
by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Big Hair and Flying Cows
by Dolores J. Wilson

Legend has it that back in the mid-to-late 1960s, a certain television network decided that there were too many "rural" sitcoms on its roster, and cancelled the whole lot of them. Before that time, we were entertained by people like Barney Fife, Uncle Joe, Mr. Haney and Arnold the Pig.

Fortunately, those beloved characters still entertain us on Nostalgia TV. Folks like that are also found in the pages of the new novel, "Big Hair and Flying Cows" by Dolores J. Wilson (c.2005, Medallion Press, Inc.).

Sweet Meadow, Georgia, is your typical small town. Everybody knows too much about everybody else. Most folks hang out at the Dew Drop Inn and Tavern on Friday and Saturday nights. If you're not in church on Sunday morning, the ladies of the Sweet Meadow Garden Club give you nasty looks all week. And if anybody has an accident, they call Bertie over at Thomas Byrd & Sons Garage.

Roberta Byrd wasn't supposed to be the one to join the business, but her Pop needed help, and now Bertie's running the tow truck and fixing cars. Monday through Thursday, Bertie brings the wrecker home so she's ready to go in case of emergency, but someone's complained to the zoning office about the truck being parked in the driveway. Now Bertie has to figure out how to get a permit from a dead man.

Bertie and her best friend, Mary Lou, have known one another all their lives. Back when they were six years old, Bertie's brothers held Mary Lou from a tree by her ankles to show how strong they were (or maybe it was so they could look down her shorts legs). One thing led to another, and they dropped Mary Lou on her head. Bertie thinks that explains a lot.

Life in Sweet Meadow is usually kind of quiet, but things have suddenly taken a turn for the strange. Mary Lou's pregnancy test is positive, and it looks like she and Rex the Wonder Dancer are going to be parents. Bertie's brother, Bobby, shows up at Bertie's house after a tiff with his wife. Bertie's neighbor, Barbie, sits in a nearby tree and spies on everyone, and now Helen Weidemeyer wants to introduce Bertie to her brother. What more can possibly happen?

Don't ask.

It's been a long time since I laughed as hard at a book as I did when I was reading this one. "Big Hair and Flying Cows" is populated with the goofiest bunch of townspeople since Andy Taylor had a badge, and every one of them - even the most nefarious of them - is hilarious. Author Dolores Wilson created Bertie with a dry, droll wit; she's someone who can clearly see the absurdity that surrounds her. She loves her townsfolk even so, and I loved her.

If you are up for a good laugh and don't mind looking a little harder for a book, this is the one for you. Turn off the TV and be prepared to be entertained.

Letter to the Editor:

I'm am not a perfect Christian by far, nor will I claim to be. I'm just hoping that God will bless me with many more years to try and become better. I have been a very disheartened Christian though. I'm saddened by the intolerance here in our community.

My husband and I joined Holy Trinity about 4 years ago and since then have become involved in serving our parish and others. We felt welcomed and at home here. We've met many new people, and have made some wonderful friends. It was a community that seemed like it could stick together through thick and thin. I've realized lately, that doesn't seem to be true.

Unfortunately some of this started with the transfer of Father Mark Jones. I understand how sad we were to see him go. He is a very good friend of ours too, but he was called to religious life and part of answering that call is going where he is needed. Father Mark offered us a lot while he was here, now he needs to do the same to help out another parish. I guess I wanted to think positively, but I figured even though he was leaving, our parish community was strong enough to move on together.

Since June our worship services are not as well attended and financial support has decreased. This is common knowledge to anyone who has been attending Mass or reading their bulletin. It seems like we are forgetting that WE are the church. The whole reason for coming together to worship is to honor Jesus and the ultimate sacrifice he gave for all of US.

Yes, we need a priest to help celebrate that sacrifice and we are blest to have one. Parishes all around us have been combining or closing their doors because there is a shortage of priests. Here in Kewaskum and St. Michael's we have been fortunate enough to keep our church doors open. Now we are in the midst of collaborating. I thank God that we will have a priest to serve the two parishes, and we will be able to have services at both. We should feel blest that we are able to keep both churches open. Instead, I've been hearing a lot of intolerance because of the situation. The fact is there is a shortage of priests. Our option is to collaborate or close parishes.

This situation is not going to change unless we, in our parishes and families encourage and support the vocations. There are two parish councils working very hard to deal with the details of this collaboration. They are putting in long, stressful hours to try and make this situation best for all those involved. Becoming angry with the situation and leaving the parish will only lead to its demise. A parish needs people in order to function, not just money. As a Christian community,

I hope we can work together to create a larger Christian family that can worship together. No matter which church you may have to drive to, be thankful that there is a parish nearby WITH a priest to worship at. Find ways to become part of the solution, attend meetings when possible and voice your concerns. We can only fix a situation if everyone is willing to listen and compromise.

Thank You from

The following letter was sent to Kewaskum School Board President Jean Goeden from Keith Amundson, Pat Moerchen, Kevin Hein and Dan Unertl to thank the board for transferring funds to purchase some equipment for the Tech Ed., Ag. and Industrial Arts Depts. Some of the equipment was from the 40's and 50's and was badly in need of being replaced.

Dear Kewaskum School Board:

I would like to thank all of you for your support last night for the transfer of funds for the technology education department. Our metals and woods area has been in dire need for better equipment for our students for many years. This will help a great deal to teach our students. Students will recognize that our district supports them in their desire to expand their knowledge in the area of technology. New and better equipment increases the students desire to learn, the teachers desire to teach, and fosters a caring attitude for our students who may or may not want to pursue a four year college degree. There are many great careers that a student may pursue through the technical college system. New equipment will help high school students to experience more of what the industry is like today. This in turn will help them to make a more informed decision about their future plans.

Sincerely,
Keith Amundson

Tax Day at the Capitol

Strachota Votes for Tax Cutting Bills; Endorses Taxpayer Bill of Rights

Rep. Pat Strachota

MADISON - Representative Pat Strachota (R-West Bend) spent Tax Day at the State Capitol standing up for the taxpayers of Wisconsin. As a member of the Assembly Ways and Means committee she voted on several tax-cutting measures, including eliminating the tax on Social Security. Representative Strachota also formally signed on to the Taxpayer Bill of Rights as a co-sponsor.

"As citizens across the state file their taxes today, it is only fitting that on Tax Day government takes steps to alleviate some of that tax burden," said Strachota. "The time is long overdue for government to go on a fiscal diet and cut back on the bite they take out of the taxpayer's wallet."

The Assembly Ways and Means committee voted unanimously to advance legislation that phases in an elimination of the tax on Social Security benefits. This would bring Wisconsin in line with 35 other states. The committee also passed bills to provide tax relief for Wisconsinites serving in the Armed Forces and for school districts.

"Seniors are the backbone of our community here in Wisconsin and too many of them are being taxed out of this state," said Strachota. "By eliminating the tax on Social Security benefits and implementing a long term rein on government spending like the Taxpayer Bill of Rights I hope we can stem the flood of seniors leaving Wisconsin for other states when they retire."

The Taxpayer Bill of Rights proposal is a constitutional amendment that allows voters to decide through referendum whether the government at the state, local, and school levels will be able to tax more, borrow large amounts of money, or increase spending above inflationary limits. The proposal must be passed by two consecutive legislatures and approved by voters in a statewide referendum before it is enacted.

Said Strachota, "On 'Tax Day' it is only fitting that through this bill, we empower the taxpayers of Wisconsin with the ability to voice their opinion at the polls on whether government needs a permanent reform of the way we spend their money."

Grief is the agony of an instant, the indulgence of grief the blunder of a life.

St. Joseph's Laboratory Receives CAP Accreditation

SynergyHealth St. Joseph's Hospital laboratory has been awarded an accreditation by the Commission on Laboratory Accreditation of the College of American Pathologists (CAP), based on the results of a recent on-site inspection.

"The CAP Laboratory Accreditation Program is recognized by the federal government as being equal to or more stringent than the government's own inspection program," said Patrick Gardner, MD, pathologist. "St. Joseph's continually strives to provide the highest quality in laboratory services and this accreditation acknowledges our efforts. We are very proud of the work we do."

During the CAP accreditation process, inspectors examine the laboratory's records and quality control of procedures for the preceding two years. CAP inspectors also examine the entire staff's qualifications, the laboratory's equipment, facilities, safety program and record, as well as the overall management of the laboratory. The inspection program is designed to specifically ensure the highest standard of care for the laboratory's patients.

SynergyHealth (www.synergyhealth.org) is a regional health system serving the greater Washington County community. St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend Clinic, and SynergyHealth Foundation are members of SynergyHealth.

Game fish season opens May 7 on inland lakes

MADISON - Weather willing, the game fish season that opens May 7 on inland waters should bring fantastic fishing for the 1.4 million anglers who annually wet a line in Wisconsin waters, the state's fisheries director says.

"Wisconsin has great fishing opportunities at any time of the year, but many anglers really look forward to the gamefish opener and their first walleye shore lunch of the season on most inland lakes," says Mike Staggs, who directs the Department of Natural Resources fisheries management program. "It's been an early spring across Wisconsin and opening day is later than usual, so we expect most gamefish to be in their active post-spawn feeding stages particularly in the southern parts of the state."

"Also, most of our assessment netting and ceded territory tribal walleye spearing should be done so anglers should have the lakes more to themselves."

People can read fishing forecasts, survey results, and other information specific to individual waters in the 2005 Fishing Report, found online or available in limited quantities at DNR service centers and license agents.

In general, Staggs says, fishing prospects for all anglers' favorite species are good. The following information is based on reports from state fish biologists:

Walleyes: Although 2000 was not a good year for walleye reproduction in northern Wisconsin, there were very good year classes in northern Wisconsin in 2001 and 2002. The fish will be out there, but the weather will probably have more of an effect on angler success. Generally the best populations are in the larger rivers such as the Mississippi and Wisconsin, and flowages such as the Flambeau and Chippewa, which have good natural reproduction.

Largemouth bass: Surveys of young fish show the catch rates of juvenile bass have been increasing steadily over the last four years, so the abundance of adult bass should also be increasing in the coming years.

Panfish: Wisconsin's panfish don't often get the media attention, but they are the most popular fish taken home by Wisconsin anglers. Of 31 million fish harvested by anglers each year, 25 million were bluegills, yellow perch and crappies. Anglers certainly know that Wisconsin is a great panfishing state! There are many outstanding panfish waters - the Madison lakes and the Mississippi River backwaters, for example, are legendary for producing large numbers of quality size panfish.

Muskies: The catch-and-release ethic is going strong, resulting in continuing declines in angler harvest of musky, contributing to good musky fishing. Also, more and more trophy fish are being caught each year, like the 17 fish measuring in at 50 inches or greater at the Vilas County Muskie Marathon in 2004. Because muskellunge take 20 years or more to reach trophy sizes, we expect to see more big fish in the coming years.

Great Lakes: There has been record setting chinook fishing in Lake Michigan the last two years - it may be hard for the fishery to get any better, but biologists expect another great year. Lake trout populations in Lake Superior continue to increase and are very popular with anglers up there.

Mississippi River: Pools 4-10 are a good bet any time, any year. It's tough to match the year-round season, fish diversity and habitat diversity, which offers diverse fishing opportunities.

Wisconsin anglers catch 69 million fish and keep about one-third of them, or 31 million, and release the rest to fight another day, according to a 2000-01 University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point mail survey of anglers. Walleye and bass are the most popular targets, but anglers catch more panfish - bluegill, yellow perch and crappie - followed by walleye and largemouth bass.

Wisconsin typically sells 1.4 million licenses, and state fisheries officials figure the number of anglers swells to about 2 million when children and others who aren't required to have fishing licenses are added in. Nearly one-quarter of Wisconsin's adults fish, and the state trails only Florida as the top destination for non-resident anglers. With 462,000 non-resident anglers spending a whopping 3.74 million days fishing in Wisconsin and spending $280 million on retail goods, sportfishing in Wisconsin generates a total economic impact of $2.3 billion and $90 million in sales, fuel and income tax revenue for state and local governments, according to the American Sportfishing Association.

Season dates and regulations

The game fish season opens May 7 on inland waters for walleye, sauger, and northern pike statewide. The largemouth and smallmouth bass southern zone opens May 7, while the northern zone opens for catch and release only from May 7 through June 17. From June 18 to March 5, 2006, there's a minimum length limit of 14 inches with a daily bag limit of five fish in total. The northern zone is the area north of highways 77, 64 and 29.

The musky season opens May 7 in the southern zone and May 28 in the northern zone, with Highway 10 the dividing line.

The seasons for rock, yellow and white bass, panfish, bullheads and rough fish, catfish, cisco and whitefish are open all year. Check the 2005-2006 Guide To Wisconsin Hook and Line Fishing Regulations for special regulations listed by county, for regulations on the Great Lakes and boundary waters, and for tributary streams to Green Bay and Lake Michigan. The complete guide is available at DNR offices and license agents and can be found on the DNR Web site.

Fishing licenses

Wisconsin residents and nonresidents 16 years old or older need a fishing license to fish in any waters of the state. Residents born before Jan. 1, 1927 do not need a license, nor do people who exhibit proof they are in active service with the U.S. armed forces and are a resident on furlough or leave.

Fish consumption advisory

All people eating fish caught from Wisconsin waters or bought at the store or restaurant should learn and follow the state's fish consumption advisory, particularly in light of separate new studies suggesting that some Wisconsinites may have unhealthy mercury levels in their bodies and linking mercury exposure to heart disease, state fisheries and health officials say.

The advisory contains recommendations for how many meals of certain fish people can safely eat from Wisconsin waters to gain the benefits of eating fish while reducing exposure to environmental contaminants. Wisconsin's advisory, which the Department of Natural Resources issues with the Department of Health and Family Services, also contains recommendations regarding consumption of store-bought fish.

Boats, Cats and Kids

Hello Friends,

This week's column jumps around a bit. But if you're into the outdoors, it's worth reading.

Saturday, April 9 High 65, Low 35

For several years, I have been writing about fishing from my 14-foot boat (built in 1969) powered by a 25-horsepower Johnson outboard (built in 1968). The years have definitely caught up to the motor, and the boat was too small for a large family that goes on several overnight camping trips on the boat.

My dream for the last several years was to buy a brand new 18-foot fishing boat and motor. Reality came in the form of realizing I could not afford a $15,000 boat, so I settled for a 16-foot Mirror Craft, NorthPort Troller built in 1987.

The boat is powered by a 40-horse, 1990 Mercury and is well-rigged with a livewell, trolling motor and fish locator and it rides on a brand new Shore Lander trailer.

The rig is in mint condition, and this past weekend, the boys and I took it out on its first overnight mission. I put the boat in the water for the first time last night on the Castle Rock Flowage. Talk about reality check.

My entire life I have always run a tiller started by pulling a cord. A strong south wind on the big flowage made launching the rig tough, but an electric start made starting it easy. Putting the boat back on the trailer was a learning experience. Like I said, all I have ever driven is a tiller. Good thing my old buddy Dan "Foxy" Fox showed up at the landing. Today, the boys and I headed over to Winneconne to fish on the Wolf River with high hopes of hitting up-river bound walleye. Unfortunately, all the reports we heard at both the Wolf River House Resorts from owner Doug Nelson and from bridge fishermen was that the bite was basically non-existent. My plan had been to spend the night in the boat at Winneconne, but the reports portant for all people, regardless of their age or gender, to follow Wisconsin's advice for fish caught from our lakes and rivers," says Candy Schrank, a DNR toxicologist who coordinates the advisory. "People who buy fish from a store also need to evaluate how much fish they are eating."

sent us up river past Fremont. With our rig fully loaded with sleeping, fishing and cooking supplies, we headed up river. The Wolf River in this area has a marshy shoreline that reminds me of the Louisiana Bayou. We fished and observed other fishermen until dark and then headed up river to a secret hole where we anchored and waited for a big walleye to steal one of our minnows hooked to a Wolf River rig.

Our first bite came about 10:30 p.m., and I hooked into a good fish that I could hardly move. As luck would have it, the fish got away. Catching fish wasn't meant to be on this trip, but we did sleep well while anchored on the river.

Just after sunrise, I developed a serious case of stomach flu, and headed home in a hurry. Travis and I practiced with a shotgun and bow for our upcoming turkey hunt scheduled for the first period of the season.

On Monday night, I went to the Conservation Congress meeting in Juneau County. All 72 counties in Wisconsin held meetings, and I was interested to see how the feral cat issue would work out. As far as I'm concerned, the media has blown the whole feral cat issue out of proportion.

The question posed at the meeting was, "Do you favor the DNR taking steps to define free-roaming cats by the previously mentioned definition and list free-roaming cats as an unprotected species?"

Presently, feral cats, which are responsible for killing between 47 and 139 million song birds a year in Wisconsin are not listed as protected or unprotected.

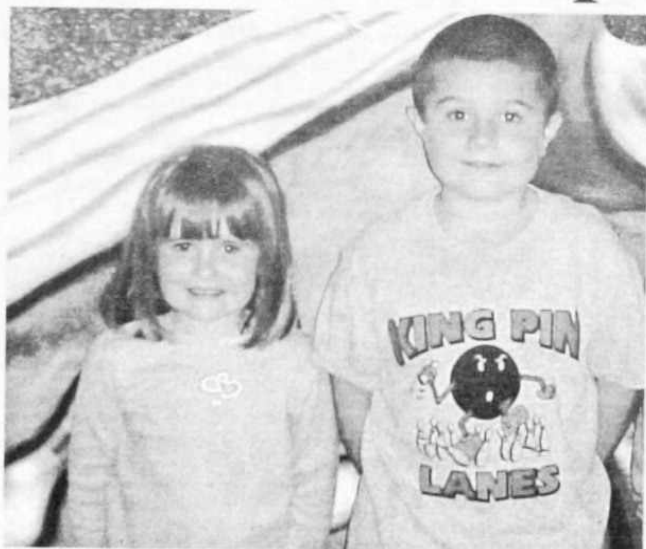

I would be ashamed of myself if I reported that question differently just to draw interest to the story. I think the best part about the foolish publicity is that the well-documented damage that feral cats do received national attention.

Another question posed at the meeting asks the interest of lowering Wisconsin's legal hunting age from 12 to 10. It gets my full support. By the time my kids were 12, they were so involved with sports and catechism that hunting almost overloaded their time. If we can get our kids hunting before they get so busy, we may have a better chance of recruiting more hunters. Please do not misquote me, catechism and sports are important!

Longtime member, Ritchie Schuetz of West Bend, holed out a shot with his No. 5 wood from 170 yards out on Monday for a 2 on the par-4, ninth hole on the Red Nine.

Schuetz was playing with several of the members of the "car pilot" regulars.

Gosa helps with another victory

For the second week in a row, Colleen Gosa of Kewaskum helped the University of Wisconsin's second varsity eight lightweight boat to victory.

Gosa and the second boat toppled two of the Big Ten powers in a double dual meet held in Ann Arbor, Mich., on Saturday.

The varsity four and second varsity four were also victorious.

In the opening competition for Gosa and her boat, UW clocked in at 6 minutes 33.4 seconds (6:33.4) over the 2,000 meters to defeat Michigan State University by an impressive 4.7 second.

The Badgers' first varsity eight turned in a 6:29.9 but lost to the powerful Spartans by 5.5 seconds.

In the afternoon, UW took on Michigan, with Gosa and her boat finishing ahead of the Wolverines by seven seconds in the second-to-last race of the day. Their time in the event was 6:30.2.

Michigan's first varsity eight, currently rated No. 2 in the nation, according to a press release by the university of Wisconsin, beat the Lady Badgers, 6:29.8 to 6:32.8.

This weekend, Wisconsin will host the Midwest Rowing Championships on Saturday.

Correction: Last week, due to incorrect information on the University of Wisconsin website, the Statesman reported Gosa was only involved in one of the two second varsity eight events held near San Francisco. Gosa was in two races on the second boat, which won both times.

Improvement is seen in 2nd place efforts; girls relay team sets record

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Had it not been for a dropped baton in the opening 4x800 meter relay and if Kiel allowed the pole vault event in Thursday's Eastern Wisconsin Conference track triangular, the Kewaskum boys might have left the meet in first place, instead of the host Raiders.

Kiel finished with 77 points, to 62 for Kewaskum, and Roncalli was far back at 36.

Kiel does not allow vaulting on its track, so that took points away from the Indians who are usually strong in the event.

About the first relay, Kewaskum Coach Jerry Gosa said "We had a bad handoff and dropped the baton," resulting in no points.

There were several bright spots in the meet, however, starting with the fact most of the athletes were present and in their right events.

"With spring break, vacations, ACT test (taking kids away from meets in the past), we were actually close to having 100 percent competing," Gosa said, reporting this was the first outdoor run for Nick Bartley and Zach Holm in the 800 meters.

Bartley, who had to sit out two meets because of a suspension, was clocked in 2 minutes, 6.6 seconds (2:06.6), which is very good for this early in the season. He won the event, and Holm, who had been nursing a sore knee, finished third at 2:10.1

Logan Stange did well last night," Gosa said. "He had his personal best. He threw the discus 119 feet, 2 inches (119-2) in the discus," taking third place.

Kewaskum came up with nine first places, which was impressive. Senior Eric Nass was responsible for two of them, taking the 400 in 54.1 and the triple jump in 39-10.25. He also helped the 4x400 relay to a win in 3:39. Other members of the winning foursome were Donath, Bartley and Zack Van-Wormer.

"This is the first time they have run in tact all season," Gosa said. "They are the four who placed eighth in state last year... they all ran well."

Junior Ross Stockhausen, also competed well, winning the 100 meter dash in 12.1, .1 ahead of Miller from Roncalli, and taking the shot put with a mighty heave of 44-10.

"Garrett Donath ran well in the 200," Gosa said referring to his win in 24.3. Without having to pole vault, Donath may have been fresher for this sprint and the relay.

Gosa also lauded the efforts of Jake Sabel in the long jump. Sabel went 18-8 in the long jump to take second. This was his best effort by over a foot. "He's starting to do a nice job there," Gosa said.

"This is definitely a step in the right direction," Gosa said in summing up the boys' performance. "I would hope by the conference meet, we could beat a team like Kiel."

On the girls' side of the competition, Kiel, which won 13 of 17 events, was first with 71 and 2/3rds points, while Kewaskum was second with 57 and 1/3 and Roncalli was far behind with 25.

Kewaskum came up with four firsts, including a win by top senior Amanda Donath, who won the 400 in 1:02.

Two of the other Indian wins came in relays. Donath, Lindsay Keller, Katie Patterson and Jessie Butler were far ahead in the 4x200 (1:56.6), and Butler, Patterson, Keller and Kellie Uelmen stepped off a 54.2 to take the 4x100 relay.

Erika Brock led the shot put with a heave of 31-7.

"Lindsay Keller ran well in the 200 (2nd, 29.2), and Kelly Uelmen continues to run well in the 100 meter relays (2nd, 14.2)," Gosa said, reporting Sam Droese "has been very consistent in the high jump (2nd, 4-10). She had a couple good attempts at five feet. We need her to do well in that event."

Gosa also lauded Patterson for helping the team by running in all three relays and competing in the pole vault at tracks other than Kiels.

At Madison last Saturday, the foursome of Donath, Keller, Patterson and Butler set a KHS record in the 4x200 relay at the Wisconsin Track and Field Federation State Indoor Meet. They were clocked in 1:52.86. The old mark, set in 2002, was 1:55.02.

Another highlight in Madison was Donath's 16-8.75 in the long jump, easily her best by over a foot, and it gave her fourth place in the event, and, "She just started long jumping this year," Gosa said.

Kewaskum is hosting its annual invitational Friday.

Losses keep piling up for fast-pitch team

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

It's beginning to sound like a broken record. Kewaskum High gets pitching that's good enough to win some of its fast-pitch softball games, but the offense continues to struggle.

If the Lady Indians don't get base runners, there aren't going to be many runs, or like last Thursday against New Holstein at Kiwanis Park, there were no runs scored in the 3-0 loss.

"We had no hits," a rather disappointed coach Jeff Gosse said after the Indians suffered their fourth loss of the season, second against an Eastern Wisconsin Conference foe.

Kelly Freund went the distance for the winners, striking out seven while walking only two.

Kewaskum's lone base runner was sophomore Marissa Dehler. "She got on twice through walks. She stole three bases tonight," Gosse said.

The Indians did hit the ball to the outfield a couple times, but the balls were all caught for outs.

Gosse went on that two of the Huskies' three runs, all scored in the third inning, were unearned.

The inning started with Rachel Breese striking out the first batter, then Jamie Petri doubled, and the next Husky hitter lofted a fly ball, which was dropped by the outfielder.

"You use two hands, you catch it," Gosse said about the costly miscue. Courtney Olig followed with a two-run triple, and Olig, who went 2x4 for New Holstein, came home on a sacrifice fly.

Breese scattered four hits over the other six innings of the contest. She struck out five and walked five.

Kewaskum committed just the one error in what could be termed a well-played game. "We cut that way down," Gosse said, referring to the fact the Indians had been making four or five errors in a couple previous outings.

On Friday, Kewaskum traveled to Elkhart Lake to play a non-conference game against Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah. The Indians lost 9-4.

"We went there with the intention of having some fun," KHS coach Jeff Gosse said. "We looked at some different people at different positions... brought some JVs up."

April Lettow started for the Indians and pitched five innings before Gosse brought in Breese for the final three outs.

"They had one big inning... seven runs after two outs in the second," Gosse said, indicating most of the Resorters' nine hits came in that inning.

Kewaskum finished with four hits, including a pair of singles by Courtney Uttech, a single by Amy Holm, and a home run by Dehler in the second inning. Unfortunately, it was a leadoff shot, so the Indians only scored one run on the blast.

With the loss, Kewaskum fell to 0-5 overall, but Gosse said, "I've seen some good things in the last two-three games. We're improving."

After a game at defending champion Campbellsport on Tuesday, the Indians return home this afternoon (Thursday) for an EWC game against Sheboygan Falls.

Close tennis setbacks are hard to swallow

It was a case of being close but finishing with no cigar for the Kewaskum High tennis team in its two matches played last week.

First, the Indians lost a 4-3 decision to host St. Mary's Springs in a match played in Fond du Lac, then in their Eastern Wisconsin Conference home opener, third-set losses were costly as the Indians fell 4-3 to Two Rivers.

"We had three matches go to third sets ... we lost all three in close finishes. Turn one of these around, and we win," KHS coach Dan Ross said, reporting, "The doubles all looked very good, even with the loss at No. 1. They (Abe Foerster and Josh Bryant) played an exceptional opponent."

The Foerster-Bryant duo lost the first set 5-7, then won pretty handily in the second by a score of 6-3 before losing 5-7 in the third.

At No. 3 singles, sophomore Jacob Cochran also took his match to a third set against Mike Katnik before falling 5-7, and at

No. 2 singles, another talented sophomore, Travis Bryant, lost the deciding set to a senior, Bryan Mueller, by a score of 3-6.

One highlight, according to Ross, was Dan Parker's 6-0, 6-3 victory at No. 4, singles. Parker is only a freshman, and this was his first varsity win.

John Carpenter and David Figge combined to win at No. 2 doubles, giving up just six games in two sets, and Adam Ziebell and Craig Johann were more dominant, winning 6-1, 6-2.

"We are still getting hurt by inexperience ... knowing how to win on the singles side, but improvement is happening," Ross said.

About Tuesday's match, Ross said, "The doubles teams looked outstanding."

All three came away with victories and needed just two sets to finish off their Ledger opponents.

Two Rivers 4, Kewaskum 3.
Singles: 1. Mitch Paulus lost to Bryan Streu 4-6, 0-6; 2. Travis Bryant lost to Bryant Mueller 3-6, 7-5, 3-6; 3. Jacob Cochran lost to Mike Katnik 6-7 (4-7), 6-1, 5-7; 4. Dan Parker def. Tyler Schmidt 6-0, 6-3.

Doubles: 1. Abe Foerster/Josh Bryant lost to Steven Anschutz/Chris Dent 5-7, 6-3, 5-7; 2. John Carpenter/David Figge def. Drew Kassner 6-2, 6-4; 3. Adam Ziebell/Craig Johann def. Chris Lange/Nick Senovich 6-1, 6-2.

St. Mary's Springs 4, Kewaskum 3

Singles: 1. Paulus lost to Ben Schneider 3-6, 6-4, 4-6; 2. T. Bryant lost to Kyle Buechel 4-6, 1-6; 3. Cochran lost to Mike Strigenz 2-6, 6-4, 0-6; 4. Parker lost to Matt Moses 1-6, 2-6.

Doubles: 1. Foerster/J. Bryant def. Dan Nelson/Josh Mueller 6-1, 6-3; 2. Carpenter/Figge def. Brad Arenz/Ryan Petrie 6-3, 6-3; 3. Ziebell/Johann def. Mitch Christensen/Dan Craze 6-1, 6-1.

Strength of KHS netters is at doubles

When Dan Ross looks at the talent on his Kewaskum High boys tennis team, he's pretty certain the doubles teams will win their share of battles this spring, but the singles players are all pretty experienced, so they will more than likely have a lot of ups and downs.

"Our doubles teams are very experienced and talented," Ross said last week, reporting Abe Foerster and Josh Bryant will be together at No. 1, John Carpenter and David Figge have locked down the No. 2 position, while Craig Johann and Adam Ziebell will again be in the No. 3 spot where they finished fourth in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Tournament a year ago.

Five of the six players are seniors. The lone exception is Ziebell, who is a junior.

Junior Mitch Paulus has made a big jump, from No. 4 singles to No. 1, and facing the best players from all the other teams can be an unenviable task.

Ross believes with experience Paulus, who finished fourth in the EWC last season at No. 4 singles, will be OK and says, "The Number 2 to 4 will be new players." Already Ross has liked the efforts he is getting from sophomore Jacob Cochran at No. 3 singles, and it looks like a lock that Travis Bryant will be at No. 2.

"Number 4 singles is unsettled at the moment, with several people in contention," Ross said, indicating, "The sophomore class is strong in numbers and athleticism."

Looking at the other schools in the EWC, Ross picks defending champion Sheboygan Falls, Plymouth and Roncalli as the three teams that will be challenging for the title. "And maybe Kohler," Ross said.

"A realistic goal for us is the middle of the pack ... from fourth to sixth," the coach said. "Competition here will be tight. There is usually a big jump between the top three teams and fourth through sixth."

Currently Kewaskum is 0-1 in conference matches and 0-3 overall. The Indians host Roncalli this afternoon on the high school and Kiwanis Park courts.

Tide has turned for KHS soccer team

Since getting dismantled by New Holstein in its Eastern Wisconsin Conference opener, the Kewaskum High girls soccer team has made almost unbelievable strides.

The Lady Indians have outscored their next three EWC opponents eight goals to one, including the 4-0 shutout over Two Rivers on April 7, a 2-1 decision over Roncalli last Monday and then a thrilling 2-0 decision over Campbellsport last Thursday.

"I wanted to win this one. This was a big win," KHS coach Dennis Gutbrod said after the victory over Campbellsport. "This is a big rivalry."

At practice the night before, Gutbrod said he talked to his players about "not being satisfied being 2-1 in the conference." the coach went on, "I wanted them to step up ... keep improving, so we worked on some things Monday in practice, and I think we did some of that stuff ... We looked for the ball, worked the give and go."

Krystal Cochran scored both of the Indians' goals. "She had one in each half," Gutbrod said. "Danielle Yanke had an assist on the one in the second half."

The first goal was a thing of beauty, according to Gutbrod, who said, "Krystal put it on the goal" and when it bounced off the keeper, she went after it again, and, "She got it about the third kick. She was tenacious. She didn't quit ... That was big!"

Kewaskum got 15 shots on goal, five more than the visiting Cougars.

"Jocelyn (Abfall) had 10 saves, which, for a freshman, is pretty good," Gutbrod said. The defense was solid again. Our goalie (Abfall) played great again."

In Monday's win at Manitowoc, Gutbrod said, "We didn't play particularly well. I'm not saying we were lucky to win, but we certainly didn't play well."

Cochran played pretty well, scoring the Indians first goal. It was her seventh of the season in five games. (She missed one because of a commitment with her church's youth group.)

Also, sophomore Lindsay Krautkramer scored her first varsity goal. It came in the second half, according to Gutbrod, who said his team is now 3-1 in the EWC and 3-3 overall, adding, "I couldn't be more thrilled that we're 3-1 in conference," figuring it's one of the best starts ever by a Kewaskum High girls soccer team.
