Nick Sandoval, front, addresses members of the Kewaskum School Board seated in front of him at Monday night's board of education meeting. Sandoval and a handful of other residents are wound up over the secrecy involved in a separation agreement costing over $100,000 given to Kewaskum's former superintendent of schools, Wayne Graczyk. Many of those who spoke threatened board members with a recall election. Sandoval also expressed his extreme distaste for board clerk Jean Goeden, who he says asked a board member to "mislead the public," he further stated she should resign. Please see page three for a complete article and information on starting a recall election.

Mini golf, driving range plans progressing

By Andrew Kuehl
Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Young and old golf enthusiasts will soon have a place to practice their swing at a driving range and miniature golf park just outside of the Village of Kewaskum on County Road H west. That park will be planted on what is locally known as the Neuman Farmstead.

"We are hoping to have the driving range open early in the spring of 2006 and the mini-golf to follow in June of 2006," stated Nancy (Neuman) Roncke.

In November of 2004, the township approved rezoning the 10-acre site from agricultural district to park district. Property owners Roger and Ann Neuman were granted permission to rezone 10 of their 139-acre property from exclusive agriculture to park district.

Currently, Roncke and her husband Andy are working on getting the buildings approved.

"We are really looking forward to providing wholesome family entertainment for Kewaskum families and surrounding communities," she said.

Watch The Statesman for more updates on the opening of this park.

Chairman Kahn asks for input on clean up of Wilmer Schmidt property

By Andrew Kuehl
Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

The Town of Kewaskum's board chairman, Ellis Kahn has a problem; it's not a small one either. That problem is trying to get a town resident to clean up his property located at 4350 State Highway 28 west.

The town board took action on getting the property cleaned up and in compliance with town ordinances in April 2005.

Supervisor Bill Butzlaff motioned to give Schmidt 90 days to clean up his property. Halfway through that 90 days supervisors thought they saw improvement. Lately though, they feel they are back at square one.

"It's a mess out there, something has to be done," stated Kahn at a meeting held Wednesday morning, July 13 before the town tried to inspect the property to determine if the town would step in the take control of the clean up.

After a meeting Wednesday, town supervisors, building inspector and Sheriff's deputies confronted Schmidt at his home for the final inspection. Schmidt refused to let them on his property. Town officials were then advised to leave by the Sheriff's deputies.

Those officials, deeming Schmidt was in non-compliance, declared that they will take action on cleaning up the property at their next meeting, Monday, July 18 at 7:30 pm. Kahn says he hopes to pack the town hall with residents voicing their opinions in favor, or not in favor of spending more town money to take care of the problem. "This decision is up to the town residents, it's their money, if they want us to clean up the property we will," stated Kahn. The town has already spent thousands in attorney fees and court orders.

Washington County Sheriff's deputies will help keep order at the meeting. The town's attorney and building inspector will also be in attendance to help guide the town through the process.

Residents of school district express displeasure with Kewaskum School Board members

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

The Kewaskum Board of Education got an ear full Monday night, July 11 at their monthly meeting. Residents in the school district are incensed about the recent payout made to former Superintendent of Schools Wayne Graczyk.

Just a month ago, The Statesman reported on the unexpected retirement of Kewaskum's top school official. We shortly learned Graczyk left with a separation agreement worth over $100,000. That does not include cost's associated with his departure such as attorney fees and finding a replacement.

Last week we reported that attorney fees have mounted to over $7,000 just in the month of May alone. One school official stated that amount and more had been spent in June. The Statesman requested copies of those invoices and will report our findings soon.

Residents filled almost every seat in the school district's administration building and many addressed the board during the public presentation portion of the meeting. Many of the residents were upset by the fact that they were not told why and never will know why.

Nick Sandoval, a resident of Farmington stated, "This board, I compare to a runaway train, it is out of control. Something has to be done." Sandoval was also upset with Clerk Jean Goeden's email that she sent President Gordie Dickman and carbon copied to board members asking that School Board member John Kenworthy make a statement crafted by the school's attorney. Instead, Kenworthy shot back with a few words of his own, much to the delight of some taxpayers.

"Some thing must be done, we should start first by Mrs. Goeden resigning, turning her resignation in to this board. My reason for saying that is I think your credibility has been tarnished. You have instructed a board member to mislead the public as to what had occurred," stated Sandoval.

School board treasurer, Beth Steiner argued with Sandoval after he said, "What you're saying to us is that this $100,000 plus that is coming from the school budget, we do not have the right to know why he resigned." Steiner alluded to the fact that if details are released, the district could face thousands of dollars in a defamation of character lawsuit.

"We made a tough decision, and I wish we could say more, it would be a lot easier on us," stated Dickman.

Steiner then asked, "Would you like an answer that costs you $2-3-400,000 in a law suit?" Another resident stated it wouldn't cost anything if they told the truth. "It's not defaming anyone if it's the truth," said the audience member.

As the taxpayers made their way to the board and spoke their piece each had pretty much the same point.

"Why can't you tell us why you did what you did?"

Bruce Braidigan, of Farmington stated, "School superintendent, you screwed that up, it wasn't him. Don't we have a right to know, we're paying, it's our money. We pay the bills; you need to answer to us not to no body else. After receiving a round of applause he took his seat.

Former school employee and taxpayer, Connie Schulist who spoke highly of Graczyk, announced her own "top seven ways that the money could have helped students." Her main concern was where this money was coming from. "I look at the people sitting on the board, this doesn't surprise me, that this is taken place again."

"This money will come from somewhere, where is this coming from?" stated Schulist to Business Manager, Paul Reichert. He answered her by telling her the money will come from what would be a surplus. She asked, what would happen if there actually were no surplus at the end of the fiscal period? "We could go in the red, but I don't think so," stated Reichert.

At the request of a resident, Reichert stated that the total for Graczyk's payout stands at $113,000. That amount however does not include the costs of replacing him or money spent on attorney fees.

Julie Dombrowski also of Farmington stated "This board has been a thorn in many resident's sides for quite a few years. Mrs. Steiner, in your profession of accounting, you must have to pay attention to detail and understand the importance of documentation. Then one would ask why, if Mr. Graczyk was not performing his job, there was no documentation done by the board to support this. If there had been, there would be no concern regarding "defamation of character" and he could have been fired at no cost to the school district instead of being bought off."

Dombrowski then asked if there was any supporting documentation that he did not perform his job. The board, as they have been since this ordeal unfolded were silent. The audience however was not, yelling recall!

How does a recall election work?

The word recall was tossed out more than once at Monday evening's school board meeting. Just what does it take to start one?

Wisconsin state statutes says, Any local elected officeholder who has served one year of the term for which he or she was most recently elected, as of the date the recall petition is offered for filing, can be recalled. If the regular term of an elected officeholder's position is scheduled for reelection at the spring election to be held within six weeks of the date the recall petition is filed, a recall election cannot be held.

In Kewaskum's situation that means that the board members who were elected in the spring 2005 election are not eligible for a recall until April of 2006. Those members were Sally Cochran, John Kenworthy and Jean Goeden. This means that only Board President Gordie Dickman, Vice President Tammy Weyer, Treasurer Beth Steiner and member Neal Weare would be eligible to be recalled.

Any qualified elector of the Kewaskum School District may circulate a recall petition. Before circulating a petition, the petitioner must register with the district's administrative secretary Jeanne Jakak. A registration form can be found on the Wisconsin Election Board's website at <http://elections.state.wi.us/> Also on the website is a copy of the recall petition itself. That form is similar to a nomination paper except that at the top of it, it states boldly "recall petition"

When more than one petition is filed at the same time for the recall of more than one officeholder from the same district, each petition must be handled separately. If the recall petitions are found to be valid, a separate election contest will be required for each incumbent officeholder. For example, if valid petitions are filed to recall two school board members, there will be two recall elections. If only one of these positions requires a recall primary, because three or more candidates are seeking this position, the recall primary will be held on the same day as the recall elections for the other position.

Circulation of the recall petition must be completed and returned to the school district within 30 days of registration. Each person circulating the petition must contain an affidavit of circulator.

Recall instructions

The petition must contain the signatures of qualified electors equal to at least 25% of the vote cast for the office of President of the United States. The most recent Presidential election in the Kewaskum School District was 2004. Goodsell states that Within 31 days after the petition is offered for filing, the filing officer is required to determine the sufficiency and validity of the petition. The filing officer will then issue a certificate of sufficiency or insufficiency.

If a certificate of sufficiency is issued, a recall election shall be called on the Tuesday of the sixth week commencing after the date on which the clerk issues the certificate of sufficiency. Within 10 days after the recall petition is filed the office holder can challenge its sufficiency.

Candidates for the recall election would be required to file a declaration of candidacy and nomination papers just as in a regular election. They would need to be filed no later than 4 pm on the fourth Tuesday before the date of the recall election. Incumbent candidates would not be required to file nomination papers.

Citizens for Responsible Government, (CRG) has already publicly stated that they would assist the residents of the Kewaskum School District with a recall. Orville Seymer stated that an organizational meeting has been planned for 6:30 p.m. at the Kewaskum Dairy Queen. Seymer stated he would like interested residents to contact him if they wished to get involved. He can be reached at 414-573-8709.

Kewaskum Beautification Project Underway

The 15 Village cement flower pots were planted before Memorial Day by the Kewaskum Women's Club members Joyce Schlieff, Joan Wszalek and Gwendolyn Dreher. The flowers were donated by the Village Parks Committee, the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce and the Kewaskum Women's Club, who also donated the 30 American flags, that will hopefully NOT be stolen this year.

Watering the flowers will be done by Women's Club members and/or spouses, but it business sites would help to water that would be greatly appreciated. Maintenance will be provided by the Women's Club committee.

Now is the time to get your yards ready for the Village's four Beautification Awards which will be chosen on July 20 by members of the Kewaskum Women's Club. Awards will be presented at the Village Board Meeting on Monday, August 1.

Special thanks to David Tennes of Kewaskum Tennes Ace Hardware for ordering the flowers. Also a special thank you to Jeanne Moe and Thirvent for Lutherans for planting flowers at the welcome sign on Riverview Drive. Thanks to volunteers Mrs. Petri and Mrs. Weddig for watering flowers.

Do your part to help keep our Village a beautiful place to live!

Red Cross will hold blood drive in C-Sport

The Knights of Columbus of Campbellsport need your help. The group will hold a Red Cross blood drive at Campbellsport Elementary on Wednesday, July 27 from 11:30 am to 5:30 pm.

They are asking all able and willing people to make an appointment by calling 1-800-GIVE LIFE.

The American Red Cross has seen a continuous increase in blood donation over the last few years. However, the demand for blood in the United States has grown faster than the available supply.

Your donation should take no less than an hour, you can make a difference between life and death.

SWAT team called to Newburg church

The Rev. Guy Gurath had a bit of excitement at his parish, Holy Trinity Catholic Church of Newburg last week.

On Tuesday, June 28 Father Gurath was greeted at his rectory by a man who said he was hitchhiking. The man was looking for a bed and Fr. Gurath obliged.

When he woke he told Fr. Gurath he was looking for work. Fr. Gurath gave him some jobs to do around the church.

The man, later identified as James Earl Henry was a fugitive on the run. After making a phone call from the rectory to his former wife he was no longer in cognito.

The Sheriff's Department contacted Fr. Gurath and informed him of the situation on Wednesday, July 6 and that evening the SWAT team took over the rectory.

Henry was taken into custody, without incident and now remains in the Washington County Jail awaiting an extradition hearing.

Fr. Gurath is quoted in an area newspaper saying he intended on visiting him while he awaits extradition.

W.B. attorney gets in trouble for 'G-string'

A West Bend attorney with a history of lewd and lascivious conduct was caught once again. This time wearing nothing but a "G-string" while going into his Downtown West Bend office.

Patrick R. Griffin, has been cited for disorderly conduct after a West Bend Police Officer caught him in nothing more than the revealing undergarment.

In Griffin's last offense he was caught wearing nothing at all.

No one claims Goodwill money shirt

A lucky shopper of West Bend's Goodwill store will get to keep $2,000 he found in the pocket of a shirt he purchased there.

The West Bend Police Department told 70-year-old West Bend man that 24 others had contacted police about the money. None of them were able to correctly describe the details of the shirt filled with $2,000.

The Police Department said they fielded claims from as far away as Portland, Maine, and Seattle.

The lucky shopper said he plans to donate some of the money to area churches.

Man injured in bike accident in Erin

The Washington County Sheriff's Dept. was notified of a motorcycle accident with injuries in the town of Erin at 5:30 pm on July 9. Responding deputies found the accident to have occurred on CTH Q, less than one-quarter mile west of CTH. K.

A single motorcycle driven by Keith A. Brower, 38 of Hartland, had been operating westbound on Q, attempting to negotiate a sharp left hand bend in the road. The cycle went off the road to the right entering the ditch line. The cycle operator, and sole person on the cycle, was ejected from the bike.

The operator was transported to Waukesha Memorial Hospital by North Lake Rescue with serious head and internal injuries. The cyclist was not wearing a helmet at the time.

The accident is still under investigation by department deputies. Alcohol is not believed to have been a factor to the accident.

Man dies after crash at Big Cedar Lake

Washington County suffered its fifth traffic fatality of the year as the result of a one-vehicle crash on CTH K at STH 144 in the Town of Polk on Friday, July 8th, 2005.

The Washington County Sheriff's Department received a 911 call at 1:06 am from a nearby resident who was reporting that he believed that he heard a car crash in the area. The first arriving Deputy located a truck overturned and partially submerged in Big Cedar Lake East of the intersection.

Two Sheriff's Deputies and a passerby entered the water to attempt to rescue the lone occupant of the vehicle, who was pinned inside. The rescue attempts were unsuccessful, and the victim was pronounced dead at the scene by the Washington County Medical Examiner.

The Washington County Dive Team, consisting of members from the Washington County Sheriff's Dept., the Slinger, and the West Bend Fire Depts. responded to the scene and assisted in the recovery efforts. The Slinger Fire Dept. and Lifestar Ambulance also responded.

The investigation found that the vehicle was being driven Eastbound on CTH K, and Patrick J. Lahr, 54, of Menomonee Falls, failed to stop for the stop sign at STH 144. The vehicle crossed both lanes of STH 144, went off the roadway at the "T" intersection, and entered Big Cedar Lake.

The vehicle struck a section of wooden pier, and a large pontoon boat that was moored to the pier. The vehicle then overturned coming to rest on its driver's side in the water. Lahr was not wearing a seatbelt, and the cause of the accident remains under investigation.

Fond du Lac County Fair

New for this year's Fond du Lac County Fair, being held July 20-24 at the Fond du Lac County Fairgrounds, are two bands that will be performing on the Expo Building Stage.

On Senior Citizen's Day, "A Little Bit of Heaven" will be performing from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

"A Little Bit of Heaven" is a musical group based out of Hartland, that entertains for private parties, banquets, senior's groups and in nursing homes around the Lake Country Area, just west of Milwaukee. The group performs primarily old favorites and gospel music.

The band became organized when a few musicians gathered in a church in Hartland, about 15 years ago to provide music for special services. Today its musicians play accordion, banjo, guitar, trumpet and drums, with a variety of singers. The name "A Little Bit of Heaven" actually has a double meaning. The reference is that the time spent together is a pleasant experience...and also refers to the gospel music that's performed.

The band is made up of people with diverse occupations ranging from a professional watercolor artist to building repair to advertising and military experience. Band members enjoy their occupations, but especially appreciate the opportunities to sing and play music. And we sincerely hope the time spent with your group at the Fond du Lac County Fair will be... "A Little Bit of Heaven".

More information about the band is available by calling Bill Anderson at 262-367-7186.

On Thursday and Friday, from Noon to 4 p.m., Gary Cross will take the Expo Building Stage. He will also entertain the audience from 4 to 7 p.m. on Saturday.

Cross is a talented entertainer with a great baritone voice. His repertoire spans from contemporary and classic country to adult contemporary favorites. Using the latest in electronics to boost his sound, he is a true "one man band". He is ready and willing to take requests throughout the event and knows how to work a crowd.

Entertaining a variety of audiences for years, Cross is a singer/songwriter/guitarist, and draws from a song list of over 500 songs, ranging from country, bluegrass, folk, classic rock, and 60's & 70's tunes.

Cross has had several large scale event experiences having opened for the Marshall Tucker Band and the Desert Rose Band. He has also performed at Milwaukee's Summerfest as well as numerous other music festivals, church and firemen picnics, and events. ## Local students inducted into National Honor Roll LYNBROOK NY - Several local students recently were inducted into the 2004/2005 National Honor Roll.

The National Honor Roll recognizes high-achieving high school and middle school students. "Young people like our inductees, who work hard to attain academic success, deserve to be congratulated," says Lynn Romeo, Publisher of the National Honor Roll. "Honoring their achievements provides motivation and encourages them to continue striving. We're proud to include them in the National Honor Roll."

Local students include: Mac Abfall, West Bend, Kewaskum High School; Samantha Bothwell, West Bend, KHS; Tylere Daggett, Random Lake, Random Lake High School; Ashley Ellenbecker, Kewaskum, KHS; Rebecca Gatzke, Campbellsport, Campbellsport High School; Tracy A. Hansen, Allenton, Slinger High School; Jena Jaekels, Cascade, Plymouth Comp High School; Adam Janz, Allenton, KHS; Craig Johann, Campbellsport, KHS; Leah C. Jones, Campbellsport, Winnebago Lutheran Academy; Lindsay Krautkramer, Kewaskum, KHS; Blaise A. Lopez, Kewaskum, KHS; Dawn M. Miller, Kewaskum, KHS; Casey Navis, Campbellsport, WLA; Jonathon Olla, Kewaskum, KHS; Katie Patterson, Kewaskum, KHS; Jeffrey Paulus, Kewaskum, KHS; Chad J. Piwoni, Kewaskum, KHS; Nathan B. Steiner, West Bend, KHS; Andrea Stocker, Campbellsport, CHS; Ross N. Stockhausen, Kewaskum, KHS; Patrice Treu, Adell, RLHS; Theresa Trott, Campbellsport, KHS; Ryan Uttech, Kewaskum, KHS; Alexander S. Waranius, Fredonia, KHS; and Danielle Yanke, West Bend, KHS.

fers several benefits which can contribute to the success of its student members. For students in the 2004/2005 school year, National Honor Roll set aside $25,000 to be shared among 25 of its qualifying inductees. All members were entitled to compete for one of these National Honor Roll Awards for Academic Achievement, which will be awarded in September. National Honor Roll's College Admissions Notification Service notifies the admission offices of as many schools as the inductees designate that they have been accepted into the National Honor Roll and that they are interested in obtaining information about those colleges. A copy of the student's biography is sent along with the notification. Each state governor and US senator receive a complimentary copy of the National Honor Roll Commemorative Edition, along with a list of the students from their state who have been inducted into the National Honor Roll. And complimentary copies of the book are sent to selected school libraries across the country.

The National Honor Roll contacts potentially qualifying students after reviewing information about their academic performance. Each student is asked to submit information about his/her GPA, interests, activities, and future goals. Only students with a B or better average are eligible. Sixty-seven percent of the inductees in the 2004/2005 National Honor Roll averaged an A- or better; 33% averaged B through B+. Forty-one percent were seniors (class of 2005), 29% juniors, 18% sophomores, 9.5% freshmen and 2.5% were from the class of 2009.

Spanish girls are enjoying their stay here after extra travel time

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

A trip from Spain to Wisconsin takes long enough under normal circumstances ... add another 24 hours for a delayed and eventual canceled connection flight, an overnight in a Philadelphia airport and eventually a six-hour bus trip from Indianapolis to Kewaskum, and travelers might question their plans to visit a different country.

Luckily teenagers are a resilient group, and thus, Nerea Hernandez, 17, of Zaragoza, Spain and Esther Vivas, 17 of Bariz, a suburb of Madrid, have overcome their trying flight venture and are now settled in with their host families, the Eric Christies and Gil Kowalczyks. And if Kewaskum, they are enjoying Kewaskum, some American food, swimming, movies and side trips to other parts of Wisconsin.

"The main difference I have found we are in a small town, and we live in a big city ... there is more space here," Nerea said, and Terry Christie, her host mother, chimed in that Nerea lives in an apartment on the ninth floor in her home country.

"Food is also very different," Nerea went on, explaining she didn't care for one of America's staples, peanut butter, "or root beer or Dr. Pepper."

But Nerea has taken a liking to cheese. "Oh yes, I love the cheese," Nerea said, adding to that good list, bratwurst, "frozen custard, and the hamburgers are great."

"The cheese and ice cream" were among Esther's favorites, along with vegetables, "all of them."

In Spain, like in Wisconsin, this is summer vacation from school, and during the break many Spanish students take advantage of traveling opportunities.

"We are traveling with an organization. It's Kells College," Nerea, who speaks very good English and also French, said. Mrs. Christie pointed out Nerea took a similar trip to Ireland last summer, but Nerea and Esther didn't know each other until just before they arrived in Kewaskum on June 30.

Esther goes to a Catholic School in her community, saying, "I have about 33 students in my class" and adding the primary school and high school are housed there in a single building.

Nerea's school is a bit larger, with a total of about 700 students. She explained the school format in Spain is quite different than the United States in the fact primary school runs six years, then high school is the next six years, but only four of them are obligatory.

"The last two years ... you can do them if you want," Nerea said, indicating in those last two years, you start specializing in an area, like science, the humanities, social studies.

Both girls are carrying challenging academic loads. Esther takes economics, history and Spanish, in addition to taking English, which she has studied for eight years.

Nerea's schedule includes biology, chemistry, math, Spanish, English, French and philosophy.

Sports are offered at both schools, according to the girls. Esther indicated the school offers basketball, "running," and soccer, but she does not participate in any of them now.

"I used to play basketball in my old school, but now I don't," Nerea said, indicating soccer is the king of sports in Spain. "It's like the national sport. We are supposed to have the best players."

From Terry Christie, Nerea said she has already learned in Wisconsin, "It's the Green Bay Packers and the Badgers."

Terry Christie said it was interesting to learn in many schools in Spain, the students stay in the same classroom for the majority of the day, with the teachers doing the moving from room to room.

As far as career plans, Nerea, who is an only child, said, "There are several things I like. On the one hand, I like acting and maybe advertising."

Esther is considering a career in computers or teaching. She has one brother and last Thursday, when the terrorists struck, he was in London. After a few hours worrying about his safety, Esther said, "My father sent a text message to say my brother was fine."

The girls, who are among 15 Spanish students visiting the United States, have traveled to Madison, spent an afternoon at Summerfest and are still hoping for a day in Chicago to go shopping before their July 27 departure date.

In Spain, teens enjoy movies and going out in groups of boys and girls, they said. Nerea said she knows the star from the movie Spanglish, Paz Vega. "She's very famous there," Nerea said.

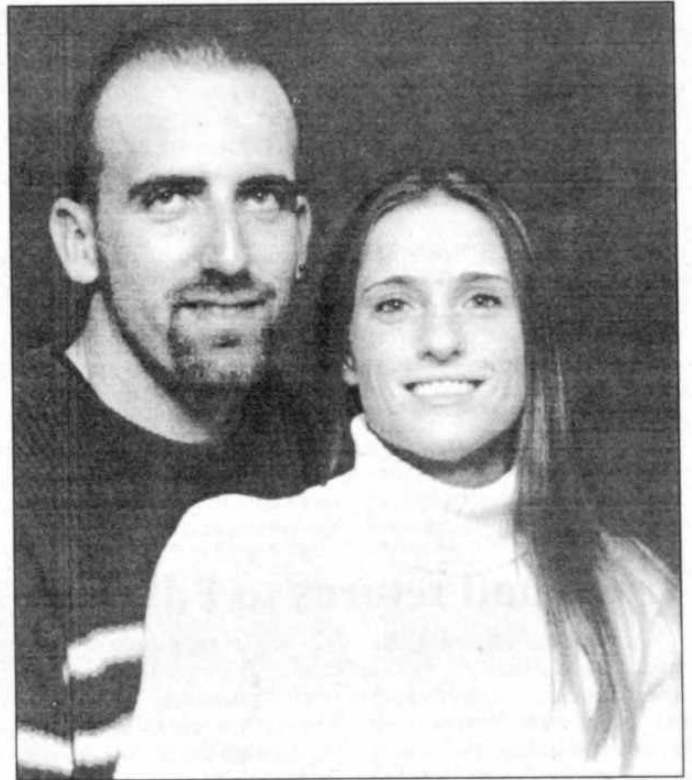

Esther said her favorite movies are comedies and adventures, but she didn't have a favorite actor or actress.

Nerea said she saw definite differences between U.S. and Spanish teens. "They don't act the same way," she said, and one major difference is "They can drive, and we can't."

"We have (age) 18 for about everything," including driving and legal drinking, Nerea said.

And are the girls glad they came to the United States, especially after the rough start they had? "Sure," was Nerea's answer, and Esther was quick to answer a big "Yes," with a wide grin on her face.

Ludwig-Bergseth

Bill and Vickie Ludwig of Kewaskum are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Denise Mary to Elijah Edward Bergseth. Elijah is the son of Chris (Kudek) and the late Edward Bergseth.

An August 6, 2005 wedding is being planned.

UWSP students study abroad this summer

Area students are experiencing the culture, language, and history of countries around the world this summer through International Programs at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point.

More than 170 students and trip leaders from UWSP are studying abroad in Germany, Poland, Austria, the Czech Republic, Mexico, Great Britain, France, Greece, China and Tibet.

Forty-one students are participating in the College of Natural Resources Environmental Seminar in Germany and Poland. Led by Kevin Russell, assistant professor of wildlife, and Hans Schabel, professor of forestry, the trip also includes a stop in Iceland.

Fourteen students led by Professor of Music Paul Doeblen are traveling to Germany, the Czech Republic and Austria. The focus of the program is music in Europe. Students will travel by train, bus and airplane to experience music across the continent.

Seventeen students led by Richard Olson, a Spanish teacher at Stevens Point Area Senior High School, are spending the summer in Oaxaca, Mexico. The trip is focused on the Spanish language and will give students the chance to experience life at the Instituto Cultural Oaxaca.

Stephen Sherwin, professor of theatre arts; Susan Sherwin, associate professor of theatre and dance; and Isabelle Stelmahoske, English emerita, are leading the 11 students on the Theatre in London trip.

Twenty-two students are making stops in England, France and Germany as part of the International Retailing in Europe trip. The group will be led by Barbara Mihm and Scott Wallace, associate professors of business and economics.

Larry Ball, professor of art history, and Kathleen Julin, professor and Head of the Division of Interior Architecture are leading 28 students to Greece. The trip will focus on architecture.

Eight students; led by Gary Mullins, professor and chair of business and economics, are studying in Chengdu, China. The students are participating in a business internship program.

Karl Ryavec, assistant professor of geography, is leading nine students on a tour of Tibet. The trip includes several days of horse camping as well as field studies of monasteries, palaces and Lhasa, the capital city. The trip also includes stops in Chengdu and Beijing, China.

Twenty students will be teaching in Japan as part of a summer session program. The group is divided into six teams that will teach English during their stay in Japan.

Local students who will be abroad include: Courtney Timblin, Kewaskum, International Retailing in Europe; Elizabeth Rammer, Kewaskum, Architecture, Art and Design, Greece; Katie Schuppel, West Bend, International Retailing, in Europe and Melissa Hubatch, West Bend International Retailing in Europe.

Wild land fires in Wisconsin

The Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit's Summer Evening Events series continues with "Wild Land Fires in Wisconsin." Sponsored by the Friends of the Kettle Moraine. The program will be held on Saturday, July 30, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

A fiery inferno roars through a forest leaving behind a charred landscape of burnt trees and blackened soils. But, is this really the disaster we humans view it to be? Wild fires have scorched our native landscapes for millennia allowing some natural communities to become dependent on fire to keep them healthy and thriving. As humans have encroached into more and more natural areas, fire has taken on a more sinister character causing millions or even billions of dollars of damage and destruction.

Catherine Regan, the Department of Natural Resources Fire Prevention Specialist, will explain what a destructive force wild fires can be to natural communities and to human development, and how to prevent them. She will also cover when fire can be beneficial in managing various natural habitats. It's sure to be an enlightening evening as we learn about the two sides of fire.

For further information or directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, contact the forest staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The staff can be reached at (920) 533-8322. The center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Truck pull returns to FdL Fair

After a year's absence, the truck pull is returning to the 2005 Fond du Lac County Fair. The event will feature four classes, including two-wheel drive trucks, street altered trucks, and two classes of 4X4 stock classes (one diesel, one gas).

As in past years, the Truck Pull will be run by Puller's Inc. of Reedsburg, WI. Past years have seen 50-60 trucks compete in the event. Pullers come from across Wisconsin, with a few coming from neighboring Illinois.

Puller's Inc. President Gary Schyvinch is looking forward to coming back to Fond du Lac County.

"It's always been a good crowd. You get to see some wheels standing with two-wheel drive trucks or dirt flying through the air," Schyvinch said.

The Truck Pull is scheduled to take place at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, July 24 at the Grandstand. Admittance to the Grandstand is free with gate admission.

Rules and regulations are available by calling Schyvinch at 608-963-5308 or by contacting the Fond du Lac County Fair Office at 920-929-3168.

A listing of other Grandstand acts and other fair activities is available by logging on to www.fonddulacountyfair.com.

New weight categories added to Fair Tractor Pull

By Julie Kottke
Public Relations Intern
Fond du Lac County Fair

Two new weight classes have been added to the 2005 Fond du Lac County Fair's Tractor Pull, being held at 12:30 p.m., Saturday, July 23 at the Fond du Lac County Fairgrounds Grandstand.

New to this year's Fair will be a 7,500 lb. Hobby Farm Class and a 14,500 lb. Hobby Farm Class.

The Tractor Pull will feature seven classes in the Stock Farm Tractor category. Also returning to the Fair is the 12,500 lb. Special Farm Class.

The rules of the tractor pull have been set up to give all tractors entered at the Fair an honest chance of placing in the different classes. The Farm Class theme will be "Pull them as you farm with them."

Rules for the Tractor Pull are available at the Fair Office. Entry forms will be provided the morning of the Tractor Pull at the Fair.

For more information about the 2005 Tractor Pull, please contact Harold Schnell after 6 p.m. at 920-773-2702, or call the fair office at 920-929-3168. Email inquiries can be sent to fdlfair@dotnet.com.

Small Animal Auction July 23

By Julie Kottke

Fond du Lac County Fair

The latest special feature at the 2005 Fond du Lac County Fair will be Thelma and Louise. The two Cornish Cross hens will strut their stuff as the featured animals of the Small Animal Auction, being held at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 23, in the Livestock Barn at the Fond du Lac County Fair.

Thelma and Louise's proceeds are donated to the Auction Committee Fund, with the money being used for any needed improvements in the Small Animal project area.

Any junior exhibitor receiving a red or blue ribbon on their animal exhibits in the Small Animal Building are able to enter up to two animals in the auction. An estimated 25-30 animals will sell in this year's sale. The auctioneer will be Rod Drendel.

Ninety percent of the auction proceeds are given back to the small animal seller, with the remaining 10 percent being given to the Auction Committee.

In the past, 30 to 40 buyers showed their support for local youth by purchasing small animals.

For more information about the Small Animal Auction, please contact Patty Percy at 920-477-4091.

KHS Athletics Scramble to feature more divisions, prizes and honorees

On Saturday, August 6th the Sixth Annual Kewaskum High School Athletics Scramble will be conducted at Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club. Coaches and supporters of K.H.S.

Athletic Teams will be hosting a four (4) person scramble with the goal of having a positive community-building festivity that everyone can take part and pride in. The annual athletic fundraiser not only benefits athletic programs but the community as well.

The scramble will begin with a Shotgun Start at 2 p.m. on the Red and White Nines at Hon-E-Kor for the 18 Hole Medal Tournament. The Buffet-Style Dinner and Banquet will follow at 7 p.m. with an Awards/ Prize Presentation and Program to honor our Special Guests, Members and Coaches of the 1973 K.H.S. Boys Golf Team. Registration Forms and/or Banquet Dinner Tickets are available at K.H.S. Office, Smith-Hatch Insurance Agency, Hon-E-Kor Pro Shop and K.H.S. Head Coaches.

The scramble organizing committee will be awarding more participants this year, either by divisions or by placement. Prizes will be presented to the lowest scorers in divisions, such as, Coed, Womens, Senior as long as their are five or more groups within each respective division. Otherwise, prizes will be awarded for first, second, fifth, 10th, 15th and 20th depending upon the number of entries. Besides bragging rights, winners will receive either plaques, athletics shirts or pro shop gift certificates.

Along with many challenging and interesting hole (flag) events, all competitors will be eligible to participate in the blind bogey, skins game and purchase one mulligan per nine. Golfers and non-golfers alike can get involved in the raffles and silent auction by attending the dinner banquet and prize presentation program. Tickets (reservations for dinner) are $ 20 per attendee and are provided to every hole sponsor who would like to attend.

All those in attendance will be able to purchase additional raffle tickets and bid on the donated silent auction items to help raise supplementary funds to support K.H.S. Athletics. The silent auction will include many athletic mementoes and sports souvenirs, such as golf packages, restored K.H.S. football helmets, plaques, athletic clothing and tickets to collegiate and professional sporting events. If you are unable or unavailable to golf, individuals or businesses can get involved by sponsoring a hole, donate raffle or flag event prizes, purchase raffle or dinner tickets. Volunteers are always welcome and needed to help conduct this yearly event. Contact any committee member if you are interested in helping on Saturday, August 6th.

Upon the completion of the prize presentation, members of the 1973 K.H.S. Boys Golf Championship Team will be recognized and acknowledged. The awards program will conclude by honoring Kewaskum High School's record setting golf team from 1973 as well as their Hall-of-Fame Coach, Mr. Joe Harlow. Special recognition will be given to those who traveled the farthest to participate and the alum who graduated the earliest.

To donate, sponsor or participate, please contact Dennis Butz at Smith Insurance (626-2277), Scott Rohlinger (626-2332), Glenn Eichstedt (4251), Jason Piitmann (4136) or Tim Rohlinger (4357) at Kewaskum High School at 262-626-2166. Or join in this festive fundraiser by making reservations at Hon-E-Kor Pro Shop at 626-2520.

Spears, school marms and old-time music

This year marks the 8th anniversary of the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit's Old-fashioned Day in the Park. One of the highlights will be an international atlatl (spear throwing) competition starting at 2:30 p.m. Throughout the day folks will have the opportunity to try this spearing throwing technology used by ancient humans to hunt woolly mammoths. Then at 2:30 everyone is invited to participate in or watch the international competition. There will be categories for youth (16 and under), men and women.

Journey back in time with Kathleen Mohr as she portrays a school marm of a one-room school house. Learn what it was like to attend school back in the "good ol' days" when all ages were taught in one room. The school marm will hold class from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. and then be roaming the grounds until 2:30 p.m. Don't be late when that school bell rings!

Banish Misfortune will get your feet tapping with their lively folk music. The group is made up of wonderful folk musicians from the local area. They play a variety of stringed instruments bringing those favorite tunes from the past alive. The band will take the stage from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and then again from 2:15 to 3:15 p.m.

Old-fashioned Day in the Park will be held on Sunday, July 24, at the Mauthe Lake Recreation Area from 11:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. The only cost of admission is a State Park System Vehicle Admission Sticker. A resident daily sticker is $5.00 or an annual is $20.00. Mauthe Lake is located off of Hwy GGG south of Hwy SS near New Prospect.

Many other activities will be happening throughout the day. Come play old-time games like graces, hoops and sticks, and corn darts. Watch a variety of people demonstrate skills from the past such as tating, wood carving, rope making, and weaving. Try your hand at butter churning, corn shelling or log sawing. Create a personal silhouette, press-flower bookmark or tooled leather zipper pull. There is sure to be something for all ages.

For more information, please contact the forest staff at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center at 920-533-8322. The center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 am to 4:00 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Little Lourdes Day Mass Aug. 4

The Little Lourdes Day Mass (Communal Anointing of the Sick), sponsored by the St. John of God Good Samaritan Guild of Washington County, will be held on Thursday, August 4, 2005 at 10 a.m. at St. Frances Cabrini Church, West Bend. Archbishop Timothy Dolan of the Archdiocese of Milwaukee will be at the Mass.

Breakfast and social will follow in the lower level of the church.

The myths of Vietnam

A helicopter in flight during the Vietnam War.

Submitted Photo

By John A. Scocos
Wisconsin Secretary of Veterans Affairs

It has been 30 years since the end of the Vietnam War. As the war falls farther into the past, facts begin to melt away, and myths, glorified by Hollywood and popular culture, have risen to take their place.

As we reflect on that war and honor the 200,000 Wisconsin veterans who served in it, I believe it is first important to set the record straight.

Today, many view the Vietnam War as one in which soldiers were drafted to fight in a distant land for a cause they didn't understand. They were disproportionately poor and minority. They fought for people who didn't want help - and, in the end, America suffered its first defeat in war.

These are largely myths. Even so, myths left unchallenged become truths. So let's look at the realities of the Vietnam War:

- * The Vietnam War was not fought largely by draftees. Two thirds of the soldiers in Vietnam were volunteers. While minorities played a full role in the fighting, 86 percent of the Americans who died fighting in Vietnam were white, middle-class volunteers.

- * The North Vietnamese Army was not a rag-tag army of black-clad peasant guerillas who fought from the shadows. We know from released Soviet Union records that the North Vietnamese Army comprised 27 divisions that were kept at full strength by a Communist nation supplying 200,000 new 18-year-olds per year. (Famous North Vietnam saying: "Born in the North to die in the South.")

- * Many Viet Cong, the guerilla forces in the South were, in fact, North Vietnamese soldiers who infiltrated in huge numbers to the South.

- * The Soviet Union played a larger role than was known at the time. The archives show the Soviet Union may have poured huge amounts of money and weaponry into North Vietnam. By the end of the war, the North Vietnamese Army had full armored divisions, high-tech weaponry and an extremely sophisticated supply network.

- * U.S. forces were effective. Despite Hollywood portrayals, American soldiers won almost every major battle they fought in Vietnam.

* Ho Chi Minh, who is now idolized in Vietnam as a wise, western-educated, democratic leader of North Vietnam, was, in fact, a ruthless, lifetime Stalinist. Trained in the Soviet Union, he took control of North Vietnam by fear. He assassinated political rivals, and removed competition until he was the only representative of Vietnamese nationalism. Under his leadership, the North Vietnamese Army sustained stunning casualties. The North losses were at least 2 million, and seemed willing to continue taking those losses as long as the war continued.

* Finally, while the United States failed to stop North Vietnam from capturing the South, it wasn't exactly a defeat in battle either. The United States agreed in the Paris Peace talks to withdraw from the South in exchange for a return of all U.S. prisoners of war. When the North Vietnamese Army rolled into Saigon in 1975, U.S. forces had been gone for two years. After Vietnam, Soviet expansionism slowed to a crawl - and, well, the rest is history. There is no longer a Soviet Union.

The realities of the Vietnam War are harsh, however. It was a war with no front lines, fought in difficult terrain. It was a war in which America's political will deeply restricted military strategy - as neither Presidents Johnson or Nixon wanted to risk another World War by attacking the North and its Soviet supporters.

Through it all, our troops fought bravely and with distinction only to have our nation turn their backs on them as they returned. Some were even blamed for the war.

That is the one lesson from Vietnam I don't want Wisconsin to forget. Whatever the cause, whoever the enemy, American soldiers fight for us and they should be treated with honor. That's why I've created in Wisconsin a program called "Mission: Welcome Home."

As we reflect back on the 30th anniversary of the Vietnam War, I want to renew my pledge that when it comes to helping our soldiers return to society, we do what we can to help them adjust back into society and receive the honor they deserve.

John A. Scocos is the Secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs, which serves almost half a million Wisconsin veterans.

Each year the Kewaskum Jaycees honor three area young people with awards for being outstanding in their community, namely the outstanding young man, the outstanding young educator and the outstanding young farmer. The 1980 Jaycee "Outstanding Young Man" award was presented on June 9 to local businessman Richard Thieme, Jr. The "Outstanding Young Educator" award for 1980 was presented at the local school board meeting on June 9 to Kewaskum Elementary School fourth grade teacher, John Stephani. The Jaycees "Outstanding Young Farmer" award was presented at the annual FFA awards banquet on May 7 to Michael Lettow.

A son was born to Vernon and Jacqueline Wiedmeyer, Kewaskum, on June 28. A son, Derek Allen, was born to Owen and Cheryl Berg, Campbellsport, on June 27. A son, Joshua James, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Solberg, Campbellsport, on June 28. A son was also born to Harry and Lori Roecker, Campbellsport, on June 27. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig "Lutz" Roecker, Kewaskum and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alban Nigh, Campbellsport.

A daughter, Terri Ann, was born to Dennis and Catherine Brath, Campbellsport, on June 23.

July 11, 1980

Seventy-five persons attended the Kewaskum Lions Club installation of officers at Hon-E-Kor Country Club on June 21. New officers include: Lion President, Lloyd Teeselink; First Vice President, John Fellenz; Second Vice President, Al Tennes; Third Vice President, Paul Blumer; Tail Twister, Lester Strobel; Lion Tamer, Earl Etta; Treasurer, Karl Fee; Secretary, Ken Leitheiser; Director, Roger Schleif, and Director, Earl Buswell.

Trustee Carl Spoeth has resigned from the Kewaskum Village Board as of the board meeting July 7. Spoeth, age 35, was appointed to the board on July 10, 1979, and was elected to a two-year term in this year's April election. The board granted a liquor license to John Kleinke for an establishment at 1310 River View Drive to be known as John and Dee's (formerly Apollo's Lyre).

All arrangements are completed for the annual Kewaskum Firemen-Legion picnic to be held in the village park on July 12 and 13.

A daughter was born to Daniel and Sandra Hollister, Kewaskum, on July 2. A son was born to Charles and Robin Juers, Kewaskum, on July 3.

50 Years Ago

July 8, 1955

Two large trucks, owned by William H. Heinemann Creameries, Inc. of Kewaskum were extensively damaged in a flash fire which occurred at noon July 7 on First Street next to the dairy plant.

The 4th of July weekend was far from a quiet one in and around Kewaskum. About the quietest thing that happened was the fireworks Saturday night and they were plenty loud and exciting. The weekend's excitement included auto accidents, ambulance calls, a false alarm drowning, lightning strikes, Santa Claus visiting, teenage trouble, arrests, overcrowded lakes and beaches and many other activities of a more minor nature such as headaches.

This is the weekend of the big annual picnic sponsored by the Kewaskum Fire Department and American Legion Post No. 384.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Junk, Route 2, Kewaskum, on June 29, and to Mr. and Mrs. Jorgen Jorgensen, Kewaskum, on June 30.

July 15, 1955

On Sunday, June 26, Anthony A. Schlaefer graduated from Northern Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago and received his Doctor of Optometry degree. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Math Schlaefer of Campbellsport.

The annual Firemen and American Legion picnic in Kewaskum Saturday night and Sunday drew large crowds and was one of the most successful held in years.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Guldan, Kewaskum, on July 10. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marquardt, Route 2, Kewaskum, on July 11. A daughter, Janelle Joy, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Schulz, Route 1, Cascade, on July 2. Mrs. Schulz is the former Byrdel Firks of Route 1, Kewaskum. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Byron Gessner, Route 1, Kewaskum, on July 3.

At the special election held here on July 2, on the referendum vote of paving Main Street from curb to curb, Kewaskum in a decisive way expressed its willingness and determination to forge ahead and keep abreast of the outside world in having our little city dressed up and give the public all the modern conveniences and comforts of life possible by overwhelmingly voting in favor of a $9,000 bond issue to pave the streets by a 5 to 1 victory.

The following pupils received their diplomas from St. Kilian's parochial school: Paula Strachota, Thekla Simon, Viola Lanser, Elvira Bonlender, Paul Flasch and Kilian Felix.

The contract for the erecting of a school and sister's dwelling for St. Kilian's congregation was awarded to the West Bend Construction Company of West Bend. Work was immediately begun on razing the old structure.

A baby girl, Ruth Marie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Volm last Sunday. Mrs. Leonard Volm and Paul Kohler will be the sponsors at the christening.

July 11, 1930

Lester Dreher and John Honeck, who the past several weeks had several crews of men engaged in building a canopy service station and garage at the intersection of East Main Street and East Water Street, have completed construction of the same. The new structure, 30 by 50 foot, is built of brick and block, and modernly equipped. They are in a position to do all kinds of repair work and will handle O'Neil oil and gas.

A deal was consummated here on Wednesday, whereby Kilian Honeck purchased the Arthur Stark 90 acre farm located just southeast of the city limits of Kewaskum.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider entertained a number of little boys and girls at their home last Sunday afternoon in honor of their sons Marlin's 9th and Ray's 2nd birthdays. Those present were Louis Heisler, Jr., Harold Schlosser, Sylvester Terlinden, Frederick Miller, Joseph Miller, Ione Terlinden, Laverna Terlinden, Deloris Fick, Loraine Zuehlke, Cyrilla Schaeffer, Marcella Schleif, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Geidel, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fick and Mrs. Paul Schaeffer.

100 Years Ago

July 8, 1905

Carpenters have started building the new school house at New Fane.

Following are the names of the children who received First Holy Communion at St. Bridget's Church last Sunday: Robert Little, Charlie Westerman, Joseph Pianoski, Helen Mathew, Ella Kudeck, Olina Haug. The candle bearers were Willie Volm, Alvin Haug, George Strohmeyer, Ella Thill, Rosa Muckerheide, and Ella Westerman.

Miss Agnes L. Clark has been engaged to teach the public school in District No. 1, Town of Wayne, for next season at $30 per month.

Mrs. Jennie Brandt sold her Cottage Saloon property last week to Carl Meinecke for $3,500.

The following have been appointed carriers for the new rural mail routes to be established here on August 1: Route No. 3, George E. Schmidt; route No. 4, Oscar Backhaus; route No. 5, John H. Martin.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Straub of St. Kilian June 30.

July 15, 1905

Val. Dreher sold his residence and 10 acres of land situated on the northern limits of the village to Fred Meilahn for $4,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Arno Stautz have moved their household goods to Boltonville where Mr. Stautz will open a blacksmith shop.

A. Dehm of New Fane will hold a dance and also raffle his talking machine on July 16.

William Miller burned his first kiln of brick for the season this week.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandt of Kewaskum on July 9. Vess Wendel and his wife of Boltonville are also the proud parents of a baby boy.

KHS FACE news

Jessica Alexandra, a creative foods student at Kewaskum High School, participated in the Moraine Park Technical College Culinary Olympics. Her plated chicken entrée was a remarkable display of her culinary talent. She will be the featured "guest chef" at the Linden Inn on Tuesday evening July 19. Dinner service begins at 5 p.m. and is open to the public. Reservations are encouraged.

Stacy Wetzel, Aleymi Garcia and Kayla McCormack explore the nince color options for their tie-dye projects.

Mary Koch, KHS family and consumer education teacher, attended a WFCE/DPI Regional Summit in Manitowoc titled "Kitchen Economics." She is pictured with the service learning curriculum she received as a door prize. Mary is a member of WCFE, and serves as the CESA 6 FCE Representative. In this role, she communicates regularly with the over 100 family and consumer educators in CESA 6 from 42 school districts in nine counties. Summits are held in three areas of the state to provide collaborative networking opportunities and updates on current and emerging issues affecting families. ## Tuttle Creek visits Kohler Andre state park

The children that attend Club Cool had a great time on their trip to Kohler Andre for a day of sand, games and a yummy grilled lunch. Here's what they had to say:

Trent enjoyed running in the sand and digging in it.

Nolan loved running and falling in the dunes.

Bryce and Josh had fun playing kickball.

Alyssa liked hiking and rolling down the sand hill.

Haylee loved the swings and slide.

Mikayla was excited to see Lake Michigan. She also liked the swings and monkey bars.

Allyana had fun running down the dunes.

Brianna loved hiking and rolling down the hill.

Alex P. had fun on the bus ride.

Scott thought the playground and the bus were his favorite.

Tristin and Celenna liked running in the dunes.

Leah loved the big playground.

Everett had fun seeing the sand dunes.

Zachary H. thought the whole trip was the best!

Keep reading for more fun adventures as Tuttle Creek explores this summer.

Koch attends AAFCS conference in Minneapolis

Mary Koch, Kewaskum High School FCE teacher, of West Bend, attended the 96th American Association of Family and Consumer Science (AAFCS) Annual Conference, Sizing Up America: Obesity Causes, Effects and Solutions, in Minneapolis, Minnesota, June 23-26, 2005.

Approximately 1,100 professionals and students in family and consumer sciences and allied fields met at the Minneapolis Convention Center to share knowledge on obesity-related topics, learn how others are addressing the obesity crisis in America, and propose solutions to this growing problem. The meeting featured an array of general sessions, panels, lectures, educational sessions, and workshops dedicated to learning more about the obesity crisis in America, as well as special events honoring award, grant and fellowship winners.

AAFCS is the only not-for-profit 501 (c)(3) organization that unites family and consumer sciences professionals in the cause of serving others. AAFCS' 9000 members are elementary, secondary, and post-secondary educators, researchers, and administrators; cooperative extension educators; and other professionals in business and industry, not-for-profit organizations, and government. These professionals develop, integrate, and provide practical knowledge about Life Skills -financial literacy; child care and parenting; conflict resolutions; consumer education; housing and environment; apparel and textiles; and dietetics and nutrition. By combining research-based knowledge, practical approaches, and reflective analysis, members work with others to improve the lives of individuals, family and communities. For more information, visit www.aafcs.org.

Schumaker honored by Marquette University

MILWAUKEE Marquette University recently held the 47th annual Honors Convocation for the Helen Way Klingler College of Arts and Sciences where Kewaskum resident Joseph Schumaker received three awards, including the Walter C. Boden Memorial Award, the Gettel Scholarship Achievement Award and the Gold Medal Award.

Established and endowed by the late Dean Robert Boden in honor of his uncle, Walter C. Boden, the Walter C. Boden award recognizes the senior history major "who, in the judgment of the faculty teaching American History, has made the most excellent academic record in studies in US history." As the recipient of this award, Schumaker received a gift certificate for history books, membership in the Organization of American Historians, and a plaque with his name on display in the department.

The Gettel Scholarship Achievement Award is funded by a scholarship endowment through the generosity of Mrs. Mary Gettel and given to the senior foreign language major with the highest GPA. As the recipient of this award, Schumaker received a $400 cash award.

The Gold Medal Award is awarded exclusively on academic performance to the graduating senior with the highest GPA in at least 60 Marquette University credit hours. As the recipient of this award, Schumaker received a certificate, a $200 cash award and a gold medal.

Schumaker is the son of Richard and Colleen Schumaker of Kewaskum. Schumaker graduated summa cum laude in May with a perfect 4.0 GPA. He majored in history and classical languages. Schumaker was the History Department Intern in 2004-2005. He has also been a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Alpha Sigma Nu, a tutor for the athletic department and president of the history honor society.

Little Folks visit Glacier Rock

The children of the Little Folks School House in Wayne recently visited Glacier Rock petting farm in Ixonia. This "outdoor classroom" is located on a 100 acre farm in the beautiful Kettle Moraine area. This was a very clean country environment where the children, as well as the grown-ups, learned about and interacted with the animals. The very experienced animal handlers geared their presentations to the age level of the group.

The highlights of the day included hand feeding the goats, a pony or horse ride for each child and a tractor drawn hay ride. Each child was also given the opportunity to milk "Susie" the cow the old-fashioned way - by hand and to hold a pet chicken.

Back at the day care the little folks had been learning about farm animals so this fun trip coincided with their unit. The group was able to enjoy lunch together in a giant barn before playing in the hay maze.

The hands-on experiences of this farm were priceless. The many other animals they saw and learned about were peacocks, chinchillas, ostriches, emus, pigs, steer, calves, sheep, llamas, alpacas and many different species of rabbits.

Merlin was preceded in death by his parents, George and Wilhelmina Adelmeyer; his parents-in-law, Isadore and Lorraine Spaeth and a brother-in-law Allen Taylor.

A Mass of Christian Burial was held Thursday, July 7 at 7 p.m. at St. Mary's Immaculate Conception Church in West Bend with Rev. Michael Moran presiding. Burial was on Friday in St. Mary's New Cemetery. Visitation was on Thursday at the church only from 4 p.m. until 6:45 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to St. Mary's Twinning Parish in Honduras, St. Mary's Enowment Fund, American Heart Association, or the American Diabetes Association.

The Schmidt Funeral Home of West Bend served the family.

IN MEMORY

In memory of EUGENE PESCH who passed away nine years ago on July 19, 1996:

If roses grew in heaven Lord,
Please pick a bunch for us.
Place them in my father's arms,
And tell him they're from us.

Tell him that we love & miss him
And when he turns to smile,
Place a kiss upon his cheek and hold him for awhile.

Remembering him is easy,
We do it everyday.
But there is an ache within our hearts
That will never go away.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of DARLENE ROHLINGER, who passed away seven years ago, July 16, 1998:

Those we love remain with us,
for love itself lives on,
And cherished memories never fade because a loved one's gone...
Those we love can never be more than a thought apart.
For as long as there is memory,
she will on in our heart.

West Bend Clinic Opening Rehabilitation Center in WB

WEST BEND, WI - SynergyHealth West Bend Clinic has announced plans to open a new rehabilitation center in West Bend in August. SynergyHealth Rehabilitation Center will provide a comprehensive range of services that will include a physical therapy, hand therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy, with a new sports medicine program offered in the fall.

"We are very excited to open a state of the art rehabilitation center to serve the needs throughout the area," said Sue Knuth, Director of Rehabilitation Services. "The expanded space and updated equipment will be a great benefit, and will allow us to further enhance the services we provide. The off-site location and patient drop-off entrance will also provide easy access to the department for patients coming for multiple appointments."

Additional services will include work conditioning, massage therapy, lymphedema treatment, pelvic floor rehailitation as well as programs for individuals with neurological conditions and those that have had a stroke, cancer or arthritis.

A complete sports medicine program will be offered in the fall, and will emphasize prompt diagnosis and full rehabilitation to help athletes of all levels resume previous activity levels. Athletic training and injury prevention education will also be available for local athletes and schools.

The Rehabilitation Center will be staffed by 15 licensed therapists and certified assistants, an athletic trainer, and various support personnel. The rehabilitation staff from SynergyHealth St. Joseph's Hospital and physical therapists from West Bend Clinic will be relocated to the Rehabilitation Center and continue providing services to patients of all ages.

The 7,200 square foot center will include an enlarged exercise gym with specialized exercise and therapeutic equipment, eight private treatment or procedure rooms, a hand therapy clinic and other updated features.

The Rehabilitation Center will be located at 1190 East Paradise Drive, near the intersection of Hwy G (River Road) and Paradise Drive, in West Bend. Hours will be Monday - Thursday 7:00 am - 7:00 pm and Friday from 7:00 am - 5:00 pm.

SynergyHealth (www.synergyhealth.org) is a regional health system serving the greater Washington County community. St. Joseph's Hospital, the West Bend Clinic, and SynergyHealth Foundation are members of SynergyHealth. West Bend Clinic, a primary care and multi-specialty group with over 50 physicians, has four locations in Washington County (West Bend, Jackson, Kewaskum and Hartford), and provides ambulatory day surgery services at West Bend Surgery Center.

Hospice volunteers wanted

Cedar Community is seeking volunteers to participate in Cedar Community's new Hospice program. Volunteer activities can include meeting with hospice patients and family members as a hospice visitor, helping them participate in activities or outings, and fulfilling bereavement services such as sending letters or making phone calls to loved ones after the patients have passed away. Volunteers with musical talent or background or those interested in becoming Abiders ministers are encouraged to call.

State certification requires that hospice volunteers complete a background check form and participate in a training program. The next training program will be held in September. It will take place in the Volunteer Office at Cedar Community, 5595 County Road Z in West Bend. If interested, please call Bonnie Amerling, Cedar Community volunteer coordinator, at 262-306-4218 for more information and forms. Hospice volunteers make a significant impact on the lives of hospice patients and their loved ones, and volunteer duties can be tailored to fit the volunteer's particular talents and interests.

Cedar Community is a not-for-profit, church-affiliated leader in providing superior health care, education, rehabilitation and senior housing to over 1,000 residents. Its facilities are located on three campuses in West Bend. For more information, visit their website at www.cedarcommunity.org.

THANK YOU!

The Bookworm Sez
by Terri Schlichenmeyer
The Greatest Man in Cedar Hole
by Stephanie Doyon

Think back to your years in grade school. Remember when the worst thing to be called - but the best thing to be - was "Teacher's Pet"? There was always one kid that the teacher liked best, and as much as you wanted to hate the little rat, sometimes, you couldn't. Sometimes, you had to admit that the Teacher's Pet was the nicest darn kid in the classroom.

Francis "Spud" Pinkham knew a kid just like that, and in the new novel "The Greatest Man in Cedar Hole" by Stephanie Doyon, Spud learns that greatness comes in many levels.

Spud Pinkham was the last of ten children, the youngest brother to nine rambunctious, rude, rough-and-tumble sisters. Spud's father had always dreamed of having a son, but even though he was disappointed nine times, he loved each girl just the same. Mr. Pinkham taught his daughters "manly" things, and treated them each like the son he truly wanted. By the time Spud came along, it just didn't seem all that important to have a son any more, and Spud was overshadowed by his aggressive sisters. Everybody around the tiny town of Cedar Hole knew that the Pinkhams were troublemakers, even though Spud was definitely not.

Contrast that with the life of Robert Cutler. Robert was an only child, and while his mother adored him, his father didn't understand him. That's because Robert was just plain good. He was an excellent student, and his teachers sometimes let him take over the lessons because he liked to lecture. He never got ruffled or riled; he was gentle, soft-spoken, helpful, and never caused any trouble. Everybody in town loved Robert, and they all knew that he was the greatest person to ever come out of Cedar Hole.

Years later, the boys grew up while Cedar Hole stayed the same. Spud got married and had two boys. Robert married Bernice, had a daughter, and continued to do good deeds for everyone.

Then Robert is killed in a freak accident and the entire town is stunned. Mourning goes on for years, and Robert's name is lauded. Yes, Robert truly was a great man, but what, exactly, is greatness? Could greatness be defined by forgiveness, or could it be the courage to do what is right?

I like a book that's not predictable, and "The Greatest Man in Cedar Hole" is just that sort of book; you never know what's going to happen next until it happens. One small part of the plot (I won't ruin it by telling you which one) will make you uneasy because you'll think you know what's going to happen, but you won't. Author Stephanie Doyon also never gives lengthy or detailed descriptions of Cedar Hole, its location, or even the townspeople, which gives you a chance to use your imagination while you're reading this fun-to-read book.

If you're looking for something that will keep you guessing til the end, this is the novel for you. "The Greatest Man in Cedar Hole" is a pretty great book.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

Congratulations to the Kewaskum School Board!

You made the front page of the Ozaukee/Washington section in the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel today with an article titled "$100,000 is the Cost of Keeping Secrets". What great publicity for our community! That's the way to attract quality educators, administrators, and more students to our school district.

When are we, as parents and voters, going to hold this school board accountable for its actions? Do we really believe that $100,000 should be spent as "hush money", or would it have been put to better use on our children's educations? It's time to let the Kewaskum School Board and its president know this kind of behavior is unacceptable. We, the parents and voters of the Kewaskum School District, need to attend the school board meetings and demonstrate to the district that we are committed to our children's education. The meetings are scheduled the 2nd Monday evening of every month at 7:00pm. Certainly we can all find an hour or two of time one evening a month to do so. We need to organize and elect officials that represent the needs of our students and know to spend our tax dollars wisely. For too long, many parents in the district have not gotten actively involved because they feel that nothing will change. I, for one, am certain that if we attend the school board meetings and voice our opinions and concerns, someone will eventually have to listen.

Thank you.

Julie Dombrowski
Town of Farmington

***

Letter to the Editor:

I would like to ask the Kewaskum School Board one question; how could you possibly come to the conclusion that instead of spending money to improve our school curriculum and acquire new materials needed for a successful education, you use the $100,000, of our schools money, to keep the reasons of what happened to Wayne Graczyk quiet. Personally, I don't see how you could make that decision, ruining the education for hundreds of students.

I am a student going into the Kewaskum High School. My past years at the Kewaskum Middle School has shown me how much the school board lacks at finding qualified teachers to fill the positions needed. Along with the unqualified teachers, the school does not possess up-to-date textbooks. In some classes we are learning out of books that are nearly six years old. Many are full of rips, tears, and missing pages. They have bindings that are failing to hold the books together any longer.

The $100,000 used as "hush money" could have been used to get up-to-date textbooks for the students and also to hire a competent teaching staff. Since I am not old enough to vote or to make much of a difference, I hope after reading this, parents and Kewaskum district citizens vote and help the Kewaskum schools.

Soybean health field day to focus on aphids and rust

Soybean growers can learn more about identifying and managing soybean aphids and rust at the Soybean Health Field Day planned for July 15, 2005, 1 - 3 p.m. at the Jerome Zimbal farm located two miles east of Waldo on County V.

Bryan Jensen, UW-Madison Entomologist, will discuss aphid life cycles, treatment threshold levels, and efficiency and timing of insecticides.

Dr. Craig Grau will give a Soybean Rust Up-date in light of rust recently being found in a couple of additional counties in Southeastern US. There will also be an opportunity to do hands-on scouting for aphids in the field.

While aphids were not an economic problem in 2004, they made their appearance earlier than ever this year. Aphids are being found in significant numbers in some areas of the state. Treatment threshold is reached when aphid populations reach 250 aphids/plant and populations are increasing.

According to the USDA Soybean Rust Website dated June 30, 2005, rust has now been found on soybeans in Baldwin County in Alabama, Marion County in Florida, and Seminole County in Georgia. Soybean rust has also been found on Kudzu in several counties in Florida.

Pre-registration is not required for the field day. For more information, contact the Sheboygan County UW-Extension Office at 920-467-5742.

Retailers refusing to sell tobacco products to underage youth in county

Washington County has slashed the rate of illegal sales of tobacco products to minors. The 2005 survey showed an 89% compliance rate among retailers licensed to sell tobacco products. In addition, our of eight communities in Washington County checked, only two had retailers willing to sell tobacco products to youth. The percentage of communities complying with the laws has consistently improved from 33% compliant in the first quarter of 2005 to 50% in the second quarter and 75% compliant in the first quarter of 2005.

The Wisconsin Wins program is a research-based approach, which provides the framework for the effort to reduce tobacco sales to youth. Implemented locally by the Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse of Washington County, the program provides positive reinforcement to the retail community by recognizing retail clerks when they refuse to sell tobacco products to minors and reminds them of the law if they would sell. "We applaud the retailers' efforts and encourage them to continue to do all they can to prevent the sale of tobacco to minors. Reducing access does impact on youths' decisions to smoke," said Mary Simon, Executive Director for the Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse.

National Exchange Bank helps Eden schools raise money

National Exchange Bank & Trust hosted a brat fry that earned $775 to split between Eden Elementary and Shepherd of the Hills Schools. Parents and teachers from the schools' PTO organizations helped out at the brat fry and served food.

The brat fry was held Friday, June 24, from 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. at the Eden Office of National Exchange Bank &

Trust, 404 E. Main St.

The funds will be used for the P.T.O. budget at Eden Elementary for yearly expenses. Shepherd of the Hills will use the funds to upgrade desks and computer software.

An avid supporter of educational and youth activities, National Exchange Bank & Trust is an independent bank with six locations in Fond du Lac County.

Johnson Bus acquires Edmunds Bus Service

Water Quality Report 2004

KEWASKUM WATER UTILITY

Kewaskum, WI

Water System Information

This report shows our water quality and what it means.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Jerry Gilles at the Department of Public Works, telephone 262-626-4310, 1002 Fond du Lac Avenue, Kewaskum, WI.

We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. Regularly scheduled Village of Kewaskum Board meetings are held on the first and third Monday of the month at 8:00 PM in the Municipal Building, 204 First Street, Kewaskum, WI. Notices of meetings are normally posted at the Kewaskum Post Office, St. Francis Bank and at the Municipal Building. Notices are also sent to the Kewaskum Statesman, official newspaper for the village, WBKV radio and the West Bend News.

The Kewaskum Water Utility routinely monitors for constituents in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. The following tables show the results of our monitoring for 2004.

Health Information

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (800-426-4791).

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (800-426-4791).

A summary of the source water assessment for KEWASKUM WATERWORKS is available at: http://prodmtex00.dnr.state.wi.us/pls/inter/pk\_swap\_web\_p\_swap\_summary?i\_ro\_seq\_no=138789

Educational Information

The sources of drinking water, both tap water and bottled water, include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems.

Number of Contaminants Required to be Tested

This table displays the number of contaminants that were required to be tested in the last five years. The CCR may contain up to five years worth of water quality results. If a water system tests annually, or more frequently, the results from the most recent year are shown on the CCR. If testing is done less frequently, the results shown on the CCR are from the past five years.

GROSS ALPHA, EXCL. R & U (pCi/l)	15	0	3.9	0-3.9	03/28/2002	NO	Erosion of natural deposits

Additional Health Information

While your drinking water meets USEPA's standard for arsenic, it does contain low levels of arsenic. USEPA's standard balances the current understanding of arsenic's possible health effects against the costs of removing arsenic from drinking water. USEPA continues to research the health effects of low levels of arsenic, which is a mineral known to cause cancer in humans at high concentrations and is linked to other health effects such as skin damage and circulatory problems.

Definition of Terms

Term	Definition
AL	Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
MCL	Maximum Contaminant Level: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
MCLG	Maximum Contaminant Level Goal: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
MFL	million fibers per liter
mrem/year	millirem per year (a measure of radiation absorbed by the body)
NTU	Nephelometric Turbidity Units
pCi/l	picocuries per liter (a measure of radioactivity)
ppm	parts per million, or milligrams per liter (mg/l)
ppb	parts per billion, or micrograms per liter (ug/l)
ppt	parts per trillion, or nanograms per liter
ppq	parts per quadrillion, or picograms per liter
TCR	Total Coliform Rule
TT	Treatment Technique: A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

TOWN OF KEWASKUM PLAN COMMISSION MEETING July 18, 2005

Hey Canda, wanna share a little of that rain? Shown above is a shot of the massive flooding in the Manitoba area. They've received so much rain there are communities that are sandbagging, and farmers are already filing for aid. The big crop is potatoes and if the crop is under water for more than 24 hours it's lost for the year. Many say they're through.

International Falls to Ontario Canada

The past few days in Canada have been very entertaining.

I crossed from International Falls, Minnesota into Ontario, Canada on June 22nd, two weeks after first leaving Wisconsin. The roads are pretty challenging as there is little room for me AND the traffic.

There are also few bike stores, but a lot of friendly people. While fixing a spoke in Baudette, Minnesota a portly gentleman said, "Boy, I wish I could help you but as you can tell from my profile I stay as far away from bikes as possible." And then he proceeded to walk into a nearby store, pushing the door open with his stomach.

My third day in Manitoba I stayed at the Winnipeg Ivey House Hostel. The youth hostel has 11 rooms overall and 42 beds. The rates are $23 a night for a dorm room or $40 for a private room. I'm in a room with seven people. Some would cheer this as a great cultural experience as people from all over the world stay at hostels. How-status' that day. The wind was so severe I felt it was literally cleaning the conversations off the phone lines.

I made it to Portage la Prairie; a small community of about 13,000 located about 40 miles west of Winnipeg. Saturday morning I stopped at the Wright Spot Restaurant. The owner Bernie Wright could have passed as the younger brother of former Washington County Sheriff Jack Theusch. Curley cowlick on his forehead, oval wire rim glasses, and boyish charm.

Bernie had a capable staff of three waitresses, but he scurried around the diner, serving coffee and clearing tables. "I actually like the p.r. part of the job, talking to the customers," he said filling my coffee cup.

Bernie was a good conversationalist. He explained, although his last name was Wright, he wasn't related to the Wright Brother. "But I am related to Charles Lindbergh," he said trying to recall the exact lineage through his great grandmother. "See, when you have a famous person in your family you always want to point that out," he said with a grin and he was off again to seat customers.

Some interesting notes about Canada: The radio stations give the ultra violet or u.v. index and warn people to 'protect against the sun.' I asked one man at the diner if skin cancer was common in Canada and he said, 'you'll notice a lot of farmers have had the tips of their ears cut off because of damage from the sun.'

Once people learn I'm from Wisconsin I get a number of comments. The most common is cheese heads and beer. Quite a few others have mentioned the Wisconsin Dells and the Green Bay Packers. The odd comments have been about Jeffrey Dahmer and the Asian man who 'allegedly' shot the hunters near Rice Lake.

The Winnipeg papers have focused mainly on the flooding. There's also interesting movement by the federal government in Canada as legislation is being introduced to protect the country's drug supply by shutting down the bulk exports of prescription medicines.

The health minister, Ujjal Dosanjh, said the 'crackdown on Internet pharmacists is in response to threats posed by Americans looking to import cheaper Canadian prescriptions.' Dosanjh was quoted in the Winnipeg Sun saying, "Canada cannot be the drugstore for the United States of America, and 280 million people can't expect us to supply drugs to them."

The unpredictable weather has made for several interesting experiences. One evening in Carman, Manitoba I found myself huddled in a stairwell with my emergency cell phone, a flashlight and a transistor radio. There was a tornado warning in effect and scary storms were upon me.

The local AM station was providing great updates; however, the frustrating thing was I was not aware of the surrounding communities so it was difficult to gauge the approaching storm. My map was conveniently upstairs on the third floor.

Although alone, I felt I handled the situation pretty well. I was calm; I had the radio to keep me company, although I had to turn it up when a huge lightning strike dropped the neighborhood into complete darkness and the power out triggered an ear piercing alarm.

Around 11:30 pm things started to calm down. I climbed back upstairs and kept the back door open so I could monitor the storm system. Luckily for me, the excitement wasn't over.

At 2:30 am I heard voices. I was in an empty office, on the third floor of a vacant building. I crawled out of my sleeping bag and went to the back door and came face to face with a teenager sucking a blue lollipop. The kid had climbed up the back fire escape to the catwalk with another one of his homies. "We normally come here to chill," he said looking inside the door like I had something going on.

"What are you doing, having a party," he questioned bobbing his head to try to catch a glimpse of what was inside.

I was finally able to convince Bevis and Butthead that 'little' was going on inside. After I shut the door, the pair spent the next hour chucking rocks at the window.

The next day I wheeled 37 miles into Winkler, Manitoba. I should have continued the 30 miles to the border, but then I would have missed the escort out of town. It appears the congregation at Grace United Church is a bit conflicted when it comes to the 'good will of the parish.'

I received permission to stay at the church, however another parishioner thought I was a trespassing transient and called the cops. After a bunch of questions, providing I.D. and an explanation that my 'reporter status' was not a scam, I was 'cleared' and allowed to stay.

Two hours later, Canada's Calvary showed up again. "Some of the people in the community aren't comfortable with you being here," said Constable Ryan Hunt as the clock struck 6 pm. Another round of questioning and I was promised a hotel. That plan was cancelled and I was locked in the entryway of the church. "You can stay," said one of the church members with a smile.

After spending a half hour on the linoleum floor in my cubby hole by the door, I checked into a hotel. Winkler, I came to find out was a Mennonite community. The group, trace their roots to the 16th century Protestant Reformation in Europe. They have a strong Christian faith, but their strict lifestyles extend into the community.

Mennonites don't watch TV and the stores in the community are closed Sundays, which obeys the teachings of 'keep holy the Sabbath.' Their clothes are very plain, either gray or black, so as not to conform to fashions of the world. Their hair is straight and their voices note a husky Canadian accent. The men are much the same.

Mennonites, I was told, think of themselves as a people separate from the world, avoiding worldly pleasures and worldly sins. That tendency, however for the Mennonites to shut themselves off from the world, has resulted in narrowness and sometimes self-righteousness. To me, the community seemed joyless. I was in several private homes and in family pictures, no one smiled. There was also an unexplainable feeling 'outsiders' weren't welcome.

I expected on my way out of town to see on the sign at the city limits with a drawing of a yellow, winking sun and then the slogan, 'Welcome to Winkler... When are you leaving?'

On a lighter note, the Winnipeg Sun ran a story from Ottawa about the ashes of Frank Clair being spread on the turf of the football stadium bearing his name. As part of the memorial, the managers of the Ottawa Rough Riders created a promotion ala Mardi Gras Madness. Terry Jones from the Winnipeg Sun wrote, 'Ashes to ashes. Dust to dust. Show me your boobs.' The ceremony was obviously a tribute to Clair with a Bob Hope flair, 'Thanks for the Mammaries' read the banner in the Sun's sports section.

The group photo is from Granny's Restaurant in Grafton, North Dakota. It's the regular morning breakfast club. There were about 12 of them by the time I left.

CFL commissioner Tom Wright said the promotion was intended to bring in a young crowd and he thought the game, an Ottawa win of 39 - 36 in overtime against the Montreal Alouettes, was a 'terrific tilt.' (there is an 'L' in there)

Grafton, ND July 7, 2005

Granny's Restaurant in Grafton, North Dakota was the 'place to be' in the morning for breakfast. I initially joined three gentlemen at their table, and more of their breakfast club slowly trickled in.

Gary Moe was the leader of the pack. Moe had been in Grafton his entire life and grilled me about what I had seen.

I liked the old business signs in Grafton, which is about 90 miles south of the Canadian border and about 50 miles northwest of Grand Forks. The downtown business district in Grafton is like a step back to the 1950's.

The Grafton water tower can be seen for miles, as you drive into the community. The lime green water tower is shaped like a garbage can with a cone on top. The word Grafton is spelled out in black capital letters. The tall, boxy grain elevator is the other landmark of Grafton's skyline.

Down the street there was a big lumberjack on a bright yellow sign, holding an axe. The business was Simonson Lumber and hardware. Around the corner was the Grafton Fire Department Station I. The white letters were painted on the red brick building however the G in Grafton looked like the paint had run.

Looking south down the main street, there was a bright red Coca Cola sign painted atop the corner of a red brick building. The Coke script was in white lettering and in the bottom right hand corner was a silhouette of a woman drinking from a soda bottle.

Moe was impressed by how familiar I was with the community. "You probably know more than some of the folks who have lived here their whole lives," he boomed. Gary was pretty loud and a bit of a smart alec.

The other man at the table was Norman Rossum. "Dressed for work today are ya, Norman?" said the boys at the table when Rossum arrived. He was wearing wide blue suspenders, a blue button down shirt, newer blue jeans and white sneakers with Velcro straps. Norman also looked like he was wearing his sister's hair.

"This young lady is riding her bicycle all the way from Wisconsin," said Gary the informer. "And she's got money," he exclaimed. "She's got two Harley motorcycles at home but apparently gas is too expensive for her so she's riding this bike."

The Strand Cinema in downtown Grafton had a yellow marquee with a small sign that hung by the street. It said 'clearance 10 feet 4 inches.' Above that sign you could see the marquee had been damaged by a vehicle, which was obviously too big and parked too close.

Gary continued to be loud and pick on everyone's foibles. "That girl's bicycle probably rides better than a Cadillac," he said, obviously hitting a nerve with Norman who was busy smoothing the brown sugar around the top of his bowl of oatmeal.

"Anything that could go wrong with that car went wrong," laughed Norman. "But it had everything, even sticky mouse traps under the hood," he said about the traps placed inside the car by the mechanic who was trying to catch the mice that kept eating through the wiring.

"Finally sold the car to a good friend I met four years ago," said Norman about unloading the vehicle he bought in the lap of the dealer he bought it from in 2001.

The True Value Hardware store in Grafton was interesting because the hardware sign was by far overshadowed by two signs for Reyleck's. "This used to be an old clothing and shoe store," said clerk Gary Sevigny about the store's change in April 1996.

"White Drug next door used to be S&L Clothing," said hardware clerk Kathy Steenerson who joined the conversation. "Then there was Reylecks and the Dollar Store down the street was Ben Franklin and then there was a J.C. Penny's and now that's a Hallmark Store, which I think is closing," she said looking at her coworkers for confirmation.

"There was always a drug store on the corner and then there was Montgomery Wards and then there used to be a Hallmark store and then Coast to Coast and the Embroidery Plus store used to be a Valley Jewelry," said Steenerson who appeared rather proud of her memory map of the downtown.

Steenerson grew up in Grafton. "Graduated in 1967 from Grafton High School," she laughed. "When I was in high school all these buildings were filled and Thursday night was the big night," she said about bustle on the streets and shopping.

"And then we'd hang out at Dee's Pizza. We'd skate at the arena and then head to Dee's which was right next door," said Steenerson who started to drift further into the 'way back machine.'

"I had really long hair back then," said the now short cropped Steenerson. "I remember we used the soup can rollers, those great big rollers to straighten our hair, because straight hair was the style at the time," remembered Steenerson about all the time they'd take primping for nights at the roller rink.

"And what the kids are wearing now, we wore back then because we had hip huggers and bell bottoms, the Capri pants we called pedal pushers and the peasant tops were also in back then," she said. "We also had go-go boots, but I'm not sure what they're called now," questioned Steenerson. "I call them hooker boots," said 22 year old Cyndi DeMars, another True Value employee who was obviously impressed at Steenerson's taste in clothing.

Gary jumped back to the front of the conversation at the restaurant, talking about an e-mail column he wrote. "I've had it going three years now," he said. "My daughters got me started after my stroke, they said I should type them notes because, at the time, I couldn't even remember their names," said Gary who wore a silver bracelet and a straw hat.

"The hat keeps the sun off my dome," he said lifting the hat and rubbing his bald head. "In other words, it keeps the sun off the solar panel of my sex machine," he joked. "When the wind comes through the wicker in that hat, boy does that breeze feel good," he said with a pleasing grin.

The pride of Grafton is an historic home called Elmwood. It's an elegant Victorian mansion that rests on an island on the northeast end of town. The chamber of commerce says the home was built in 1895 by C.A. M. Spencer. It features fine art glass and birdseye maple and oak woodwork. One of the highlights is a splendid carved stairway.

The problem with the gem of the community is the bridge leading to the home is behind a locked fence. There's no sign with any information about gaining access to tour the home. Word is the area is sealed off to prevent vandalism.

Don Almen then sat down and the initiation torch was passed. "How come you get to sit right next to our honored guest," grilled Gary. "Because I want to ask this girl for her autograph," Don fired back. "And her address and her phone number," he continued leaning over giving me a friendly nudge.

Don was also a retiree and a regular at Granny's. He wore a short sleeved yellow and brown plaid shirt, brown pants and had a hearing aid. Gary gave him the lowdown on my trip. "And I'm not saying she's tight, but I've got a friend who washes his Charmin and she doesn't seem to be too far behind," he said nodding his head and raising his eyebrows like he had my number.

"Well that sounds like a good way to travel," said Don defending my biking habit. "I might just join her," he said with a wink. "Where will you sit," barked Gary. I said he could sit on the seat. "Where will you sit," questioned Gary. "Well I'll sit on his lap," I said smartly. "Then you'd better take a nurse along," Gary said sipping his coffee. "Because Don, you're headed for an adrenalin overload."

"This woman's got the right idea on life fellas," said Gary who changed his busy agenda to celebrate a day of fishing in the sun. "We've gotta do things now, because Lord knows we're just one pant load away from being put in the home."

Norman gave me directions on how to get to Grand Forks, and a couple of the other guys threw in their two cents. "I've given you the best route," stressed the 83-year-old Norman. I said I believed him and I was just making conversation with others at the table. "You're the one who asked for advice and now you're questioning what I say?" he said getting kind of bucky.

That's when Gary leaned over and saved me. "This is what it's like being married," he whispered. After I said my goodbyes I was putting my helmet on outside and ANOTHER older gentleman walks by and questions my destination. We talk for a bit and I asked if he was with the group inside. He nodded and then I leaned over and gave him a big hug, you could hear the roar inside.

Salter homers again, leads C-sport to convincing win over KHS

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Losing by 10 runs was not the way Kewaskum High coach Dave Donath envisioned seeing the Eastern Wisconsin Conference baseball season come to an end, but his Kewaskum Indians were unable to do much against powerful Campbellsport Thursday evening and were outscored by the host Cougars 12-2.

The Indians, who ended up the EWC campaign with an 11-10 mark, got just six hits off Tate Schill, who struck out nine and walked two in the six innings before the game was halted via the 10-run "mercy rule."

Three of the Kewaskum hits came in the two-run fourth inning. Ross Stockhausen's clutch double sent Dan Shea and Matt Parrent home. Shea and Parrent both reached via singles.

Donath reported Jon Olla had one hit, while Casey Scheel went 1x2 with a double, Garrett Donath with 1x2 with a double, and "Those were the six hits."

The winners, who are still involved in a tight battle for the EWC crown, came up with a dozen hits off Josh Meyer, who was rocked for seven runs in the bottom of the fifth inning. Meyer ended the season at 5-6.

He struck out seven but walked three.

In the fifth, the Cougars started out with five straight singles, according to Donath, who reported Meyer struck out the next man before giving up another single and a walk. Kewaskum got out No. 2 on a fielder's choice, then after an error, there was another single, and John Holt, who had come in to relieve Meyer, got the final out on a strikeout.

The inning could have ended earlier, according to Donath, who said, a one-hopper was hit back to Meyer. "It could have been a double play but he just couldn't come up with it."

Before the big inning, the score was 4-2. "It was still a ball game then," Donath said. "We had runners at second and third with one out. There was a passed ball, but it (the ball) hit the umpire. We could have come out of that inning 4-3 or 4-4."

Donath said Meyer struggled a bit in the early going. "He threw a fastball to (Cameron) Salter, and he knew what to do with it again," Donath said, referring to Salter's two-run homer in the first inning and to the fact the Cougars' second baseman hit a home run in their last meeting against each other. Salter was definitely a star for the Cougars, going 3x4 with four RBI. Trevor Schill, who was the designated hitter Thursday, had three hits in three trips to the plate, while Austin Sarauer went 3x4.

Those three had nine of Campbellsport's hits.

Campbellsport, 16-3, "still has two tough teams yet," Donath said, reporting the Cougars were scheduled to play Plymouth on Friday night and New Holstein, which currently has four losses, on Tuesday.

Kewaskum, 15-11 overall, still has one non-conference game on its schedule. The Indians were scheduled to play potent West Bend West at Kiwanis Park on Monday evening.

As of Saturday, West had just two losses on its schedule, so the Indians should come in determined to play well against the Spartans. Donath thinks the Indians can give West a good game "if we get fired up ... They were pretty dead tonight," he said.

"Voting to determine seeding for the upcoming WIAA regional was to have taken place over the weekend, and Donath said, "We should get a bye on Friday (tomorrow). We may pick up another game for Wednesday or Thursday."

Permit applications for fall hunting, trapping due Aug. 1

Deer, fall turkey, sharp-tailed grouse hunters and trappers take note: permit application deadlines have been consolidated to one date, August 1, 2005. Starting this year the dealines have been combined to make it more convenient for hunters and trappers.

"We are working to make hunters and trappers aware of the new deadline date so they do not miss their favorite season," said Susan Cook, Customer Service and Licensing Team Leader for the department's Southeast Region. "Consolidating the deadline will help us keep costs down, is less confusing than multiple deadlines and will help us improve service to our customers."

Now due on August 1, 2005 are applications for Hunters Choice deer, fall turkey, regular Canada Goose season (Collins and Horicon zones), sharp-tailed grouse, bobcat, fisher, and otter permits, as well as Class A bear license purchases and Class A bear license youth transfer applications.

Applications may be submitted via the Internet or sent by mail, but must be post-marked on or before August 1 to be accepted.

For more information about this year's fall hunting visit dnr.wi.gov or contact a Department of Natural Resources Service Center in your area.

Ketter is MVP, but North teams fall; A's win two other games

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

All five of the Kewaskum Athletics baseball players saw action in Saturday's annual Rock River All-Star game but to no avail as the North team lost to the South 6-1.

The North's lone run came on a solo home run in the fourth inning by A's first baseman Steve Ketter.

Ketter had a big day, capturing MVP honors for the North team and winning the home run contest which was held at the conclusion of the game held in Neosho.

Each player selected to the all-star teams was given an opportunity to participate in the home run derby. They were all given 10 swats, and at the end of the first round, Ketter was tied with one other player with two homers.

In the playoff, Ketter launched three bombs and won by one.

Also representing the A's, Cory Immel started at second base for the North team, and Adam Sarauer was behind the plate. Neither man got a hit. The North only had a total of five hits.

Two other Athletics saw action. Jason Strobel played in the outfield and got to bat twice, although he was unable to get a hit, and ace right-hander Jim Ziegler pitched one inning.

According to Strobel, Ziegler only needed nine pitches to get three outs in his inning of work.

This is the first time in 12 years the North has lost the game.

Strobel, the player/manager of the A's, was happy his No. 1 chucker didn't have to work any more, so he would be at 100 percent for Sunday's big game at Hustisford.

The North's pitching wasn't the problem Saturday as much as shoddy defense in the first inning when the South scored four runs on just one hit.

The Athletics continued their good play in tournaments Friday night, tripping up Ashippin 6-3 in the second round of the annual SWABA (Southeastern Wisconsin Amateur Baseball Association) Tournament. The win vaults the A's into the semifinals of the event, with the next games set for Aug. 3rd and 5th.

Jake Panzer went the distance for the A's in this game, giving up just six hits and three earned runs.

Strobel was 2x3, with an RBI double, Ty Schill was 2x3 with an RBI, and Sarauer was 1x3 with three RBI.

Kewaskum finally learned when and where it will play the championship game of the Plymouth Tournament, which started several weeks ago. The A's, who topped Plymouth and Saukville to reach the finals, will face the Cedarburg Mercs on Thursday, July 21st for the title. The game will be played at Plymouth.

On Sunday, the A's dropped Hustisford 5-1 on a great pitching effort by Ziegler, who gave up just four hits, struck out four and walked two.

Kewaskum gathered eight hits, and Ketter was one of the hitting starts, going 2x4, with an RBI double in the fourth inning.

Strobel then drove Ketter home with a single for a 2-0 lead, and Panzer was 2x4, with an RBI.

Jake Spaeth drove in one run, with a double in the top of the seventh, and Cory Immel gave the A's an insurance run in the top of the eighth with his double.

With the win, Kewaskum is 7-5 and tied for fourth place (with Slinger) in Rock River action. The top four teams make the playoffs in the Rock River.

This Saturday is West Bend Elevator Day. The A's, 14-9 overall, will entertain Slinger at 1:30 p.m. in a Tri-County game.

Indians land 5th seed, play Random Lake first

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum High baseball team drew the fifth seed at Saturday's meeting of the coaches with teams assigned to the upcoming West Bend Sectional. With the top six teams drawing byes, Kewaskum will not have to play this Friday night, July 15th.

Coach Dave Donath said Sunday his 16-11 Indians drew Random Lake for their first game. The Rams, the champions of the Central Lakeshore Conference, are now directed by former KHS coach, Mark Heise.

That game will take place Tuesday, July 19th, at Random Lake at 5:30 p.m.

Powerful West Bend West, which was 23-2 after last week, drew the top seed, and Campbellsport, which sewed up another Eastern Wisconsin Conference title Friday, is the No. 2 seed.

No. 3 went to West Bend East, with Random Lake voted as No. 4. Then, after Kewaskum, came: Slinger, Port Washington, Oostburg, Ozaukee and Cedar Grove/Belgium.

In the opening round (Friday), Port Washington will face Cedar Grove/Belgium, while Oostburg plays Ozaukee.

On Tuesday, West will entertain the winner of the Oostburg and Ozaukee game, while Campbellsport gets the winner of Tuesday's other game.

In Friday's sectional, the winner of Kewaskum and Random Lake will take on the winner of West vs. Ozaukee/Oostburg.

Donath said there will be three games on July 22nd, starting with the two semifinal games at 11 a.m. and approximately 1 p.m. The two winners will square off for the right to go to the state tournament at Bukholt Park on Stevens Point.

Last Friday night, the Indians broke a three-game losing streak with an impressive 11-0 shutout (in five innings) victory over host Cedar Grove.

"Abe (Foerster) pitched a good game," Donath said. "He faced one over the minimum ... a one-hitter."

Adam Raurdink's single in the second was the only hit off Foerster.

Kewaskum scored a pair of runs in the first, then sent 13 to the plate in the second in a nine-run explosion. The Indians had six hits in the rally, including a two-run double by Matt Parrent and a double by Ross Stockhausen.

Kewaskum had eight hits, with Josh Meyer going 2x3, with two runs scored, two steals and two RBI. Parrent also went 2x4.

Donath reported Campbellsport topped Plymouth Friday and Kiel helped the Cougars with a win over New Holstein, thus Campbellsport clinches the EWC title.

Missed opportunities are costly for KHS

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The high school teams from New Holstein and Kewaskum provided baseball fans with two thrilling games in Eastern Wisconsin Conference action this season, and unfortunately the Indians lost both of them, including a 3-2 decision last Monday in a game held at Kiwanis Park.

After handing the Huskies their first conference loss of the season back on June 6, Kewaskum lost an 11-inning game to them and now another one-run decision.

Kewaskum had two runners gunned down at the plate, one in the first inning and again in the seventh when New Holstein took the lead on a solo home run by Tyler Gau.

The first inning looked like the two teams would have little trouble piling up runs. New Holstein scored twice on three hits and an error.

KHS Coach Dave Donath said the first two Huskies got hits, then his center fielder made an error, opening the door for two runs to score.

"There was another hit in the inning," Donath said, thus one of the runs was earned.

Kewaskum came right back with a run of its own in the bottom of the first on a leadoff triple by Josh Meyer (to right field) and an RBI single by sophomore Dan Shea. Donath gave Shea the green light to steal second, and then it looked as if the score would be tied after Ross Stockhausen followed with a single.

"But Shea was thrown out at the plate," Donath went on, and the inning ended without any more runs off Tim Muellenbach, the eventual winning pitcher.

Donath said his team threatened again in the fourth, loading up the bases with no outs, but Muellenbach wriggled out of this jam by getting a strikeout, an infield pop up and a fly out.

Zeroes continued to go up on the scoreboard until Gau, the No. 9 hitter in New Holstein's order, smashed his solo homer off Abe Foerster, who wound up giving up nine hits, while striking out three and walking none.

With the score at 3-1, the Indians needed a rally and needed it fast, which is what they did on a Casey Scheel walk, a single by Meyer and a clutch triple by Jon Olla. Scheel was able to scamper home, but Meyer was thrown out at the plate.

"He should have scored standing up," Donath said, indicating Meyer got a slow start on the hit. "If he scored, we would have used a suicide squeeze, and if we put down a good squeeze (bunt), we win," Donath said.

Meyer and Olla both went 2x4. For New Holstein, the leadoff man, Dave Diederich, had three hits, including a double, in four trips to the plate, while Andrew Depies finished up 3x4, with a double.

Muellenbach struck out nine Indians and walked three.

Foerster's record dropped to 5-4 in EW action.

With the loss, Kewaskum was 11-9 in the EW and 15-10 overall. Ne Holstein improved to 15-4 and 15-5.

Local drivers produce great track efforts

Mike Kertscher after winning his first feature of the 2005 Bumper to Bumper IRA Outlaw Sprint Series Sunday, July 3.

While colored rockets decorated the skies in Fourth of July fireworks celebrations across the state, drivers in the IRA (Interstate Racing Association) were focused on black and white checkered flags given to the winners of feature races.

Kewaskum had a monopoly on top finishes in the 40-lap event held at Luxemburg on Sunday night, with Mike Kertscher claiming his first feature win of the 2005 Bumper to Bumper IRA Outlaw Sprint Series, and Donny Goeden looming large in his rear view mirror as the two hit the finish line.

"Everything is starting to fall into place," Kertscher said Tuesday, referring to the fact he has had some hard luck in previous races, his new chassis and motor are starting to click for him. Kertscher's previous best feature effort was a fifth place in Deercreek, Minn. earlier this season.

"We have had a lot of changes this year ... all new equipment," Kertscher said. "It was a struggle to get everything clicking."

Just the night before going to Luxemburg, Kertscher raced at Plymouth in an IRA event, and, "I won my heat and ended up 15th in the feature ... Donny (Goeden) had a good night. He ended up fourth. He started right behind me."

Goeden was seventh in time at Plymouth and fourth in his heat.

The race at Luxemburg turned out a lot better for the Kewaskum pilots, with the first and second places. "We got out front right away. We just took off ... it was good,"

Kertscher said.

Kertscher said he started in the third spot, dropped back to fifth or sixth, then found the right groove and headed to some clean air out front.

"I think I was in the lead on lap three," Kertscher went on, noting Goeden "had to race guys pretty hard to work his way up to second."

Goeden and Scott Young battled for second, with Goeden zooming into that position shortly before the halfway mark of the race.

The track was very dry, according to the two drivers, who said that presented a real challenge.

"It was very, very slick," Kertscher said. "Apparantly it has been very dry up there (northern Wisconsin)."

"It was dry and slick," Goeden said of the track, indicating, "We ran the bottom," finding a good groove for the #78 car owned by Bob Wallden. "We were hooked up. Kertscher and I had a good race. (At the end) We were going through traffic together."

Goeden won his heat race at Luxemburg after finishing eighth in time.

Many of the drivers settled in the high groove, and with a crowd of drivers battling for position there, a crash resulted on the 37th lap when the mounts of Todd Hefner and Mike Reinke came together, resulting in a big spin by Hefner.

When the race was restarted, it came down to Kertscher and Goeden, who had clear sailing out front. Kertscher was able to hold off Goeden with his Osborn and Son Trucking No. 80 car.

Kertscher is driving a Maxim Chassis powered by a Wesmar Motor this year, and his pit crew consists of Ben Maschman and Crystal Savatski. "We've got two dedicated people," Kertscher said, adding Dean Osborn has always provided him with good equipment, which helps him to be competitive against the likes of other IRA teams.

Goeden, who has been racing in most of the Illinois and Wisconsin shows this season, has his twin brother Dave "Dusty" as his crew chief, with area team members Dean Wetzel, Terry Weber, Ralph Stern and Brian Stern helping out, and Bob, Bob Jr. and Lance coming from Wallden's camp. His main sponsor is T.A.W. Construction.

"It's fun being competitive," Goeden said. "Being in the top five is what we are looking for ... being in the top five is good against these guys. There are some good drivers in IRA."

On Saturday, July 8th at Wilmot, Kertscher and Goeden continued their recent trend of top-five finishes. Kertscher wound up as the runner-up in the 30-lap feature, while Goeden, who started 13th, put on a great show and moved all the way up to fourth.

Goeden had finished eighth in time and fifth in the heat race, putting him in the B main where he was second and earned the 13th starting spot.

"We were coming," Goeden said about moving to fourth. "We ran well."

This Saturday, the IRA circuit makes a stop at Powercom Park in Beaver Dam.

Worrying does not empty tomorrow of its troubles, it empties today of its strength.

Timblins take low net title; Eichstedt and Larsen lead POY standings

BY JUDY HARLOW

Shooting an even par 70, which equated to a net 68 with their two handicap, Tom and Josh Timblin combined to win Sunday's two-person bestball men's First Flight as part of the Player of the Year Tournament Series at Hon-E-Kor Country Club.

The alternate shot event winners, Clark Eichstedt and Tom Larsen, finished second in the net competition with a 68.64. Their gross score was a 68.

Larry Sterr and Dan Gibbon combined for a 69 in both their net and gross scores, for third place.

Rounding out the top five were Mike and Paul Herrick, fourth at 71.2 and Dave and Dick Wietor, right behind at 71.8.

In the Second Flight, Mike Matenaer and Ray Roskopf found themselves in familiar territory, winning with a net 64. They finished 2.6 strokes ahead of Doug Gonring and Jim "Jingles" Volesky (66.6).

Manny Alvarado and Dave Carey II wound up in the third spot at 68.23, right ahead of Dave Carey and Cary Wolf, 69.4. "Whitey" Cross and Butch Ritzman came in fourth at 70.4.

In the Mixed Flight, Art and Cathy Lastofka topped seven other teams with their 70.6. Joe and Roxie Volesky came in a close second at 70.68, and Rick and Carol Averill were in the prize money on the strength of their 70.76.

Diane and Jim Kleinke were next at 71, and fifth went to Kathy and Chris Bichler, who combined for a 72.37.

In the point standing, Eichstedt and Larsen are tied for first place. Each man has three points, while the Averills both have scores of 4.2. Dave Carey and Cary Wolf are tied for fifth place, right ahead of Matenaer and Roskopf with their 4.9s.

The next event is a two-person scramble, which will be held on August 14.

Leroy Young, Joe Volesky and Doug Gonring topped the field of 16 teams in the annual Three-Person Scramble held at Hon-E-Kor on Saturday, July 2.

The winning trio came in with a score of 61, edging the team of Tom Bartelt, Dick Wietor and Dan Gibbon by one shot.

Finishing third in the 18-hole competition was the team of Larry Sterr, Dave Smith and Mike Smith. They combined for a 66.

In the low net competition, it was Dale Jung, Rob Blair and Chris Kerry taking first place with a sizzling 59, two shots ahead of two others team which carded 61s.

Going back on the highest handicap holes on the card, Bob Beck, Mike Matenaer and Ray Roskopf finished second, with the team of Mike Pfeiffer, Dave Wietor and John McKay settling in third place.

Ken "Buck" Averill chaired the tournament.
