A Town of Wayne family is mourning the loss of their son and brother after he became Washington County's seventh traffic fatality of 2005. The two-vehicle accident occurred at 8:07 a.m. on County Highway D at Highland Drive in the town of Barton.

Joshua L. Martin, 16, of Kewaskum, was traveling westbound on County Highway D when his vehicle crossed left of center into the path of an eastbound semi-tractor-trailer unit driven by Gary Martola of Greenville. Martola was carrying building supplies for Walters Buildings of Allenton.

Martin was pronounced dead at the scene by the Washington County Medical Examiner. Martola was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital in the Town of Polk where he was treated and released.

The Kohlsville First Responders and Fire Department and Kewaskum Fire and Rescue responded to the scene.

Martin was wearing his seatbelt at the time of the accident. Alcohol is not believed to be a factor in the accident. At this time it is unknown why the ve-

Martin was entering his junior year at Kewaskum High School this year. Kewaskum High School will be open to students who wish to seek counseling by making an appointment at the school.

Funeral arrangements are being made through Myrhum-Patten Funeral and Cremation Service in West Bend. A complete obituary will be published on The Statesman website as soon as it is made available.

The accident remains under investigation by the Sheriff's Department.

Police Reports

On June 16, 2005 at approximately 6:05 p.m. a Kewaskum resident made a complaint that his vehicle was damaged. An unknown person threw a rock through the back tailgate window of the Dodge Dakota pick-up truck causing the window to shatter.

On June 22, 2005 at approximately 10:22 p.m. the Kewaskum Police Department received a call of a suspected drunk driver traveling through the village in a black Pontiac Grand Prix. The officer located the vehicle at 1265 Brooklane Drive. Upon locating the vehicle four to five individuals ran into the house. One male locked himself inside the vehicle. The officer tried to gain entry to the home but was unsuccessful. The male then let the officer in the vehicle; the officer found two cups with lemonade and what he thought was vodka. The male admitted to having the two cups. He was then taken from the vehicle and refused to tell the officer who was driving the vehicle. The officer then had the vehicle towed to the police impound yard. The male was cited for underage possession of alcohol. He was then taken to his father's home in the village and released to his custody. Upon searching the vehicle further, the officer found marijuana, a glass marijuana smoking pipe, beer and beer tapper. The following day the vehicle owner's son came to the police station to inquire about the vehicle, he admitted to owning the items found in the car but not driving the car. He was cited for possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, open intoxicants and minor transporting intoxicants. The vehicle was later released to its owner.

A new approximately 5,700-square-foot, one-story clinic on Campbellsport's east side will have a positive influence on families living in and around the village, according to Dean Uelmen, DDS, Village of Campbellsport Board president.

Uelman made his comments during a special groundbreaking ceremony on August 18 celebrating the construction of a new Campbellsport Clinic facility at 350 Sheboygan Street for local family medicine physician Thomas Fabricius, MD, and physician assistant Patricia Hayes, PA.

"The availability of healthcare really is critical to the quality of life in any community," says Uelman. "Campbellsport needs this facility. We have families with children. We have a large elderly population. We have a convent filled with residents with special healthcare needs. This project reassures us all that Campbellsport will continue to have easy access to the healthcare services we have come to take for granted."

Uelman says Campbellsport is fortunate for this new commitment by Agnesian HealthCare.

The new facility will be able to accommodate up to three healthcare providers, and will offer on-site routine laboratory and X-ray services. It is expected to open by late 2005. Dr. Fabricius and Hayes currently see patients at the 328 N. Helena Street clinic.

The new facility will feature nine exam rooms, a spacious waiting room with a special kid's area and expanded parking.

"I'm very excited about this new clinic," Dr. Fabricius says. "It will add a lot to Campbellsport, and I'm very pleased to be part of this community. I enjoy my role as physician to the entire family, and accept the responsibilities and rewards that come from this. Patty and I look to the new clinic to reinforce the quality of healthcare experience that you receive locally."

The healthcare professionals at the Campbellsport Clinic are actively involved in the local community.

"I enjoy my community involvement, speaking to youth groups and local organizations with the support of Agnesian HealthCare," Hayes says. "At the clinic, we currently have the privilege of displaying the Campbellsport High School students' artwork. This will be a great facility that reflects Agnesian's commitment to providing quality healthcare in rural communities."

growing, and we believe that healthcare at a very fundamental level is a local service," says Bob Fale, Agnesian HealthCare president and chief executive officer, "so to the extent possible, we try to bring as many services to the local community that can be provided in the community."

In his remarks, Fale says that Agnesian Health-Care wants to be part of the vitality and growth of the Campbellsport community.

"Agnesian HealthCare is committed to Campbellsport," he says. "The completion of this new clinic says that we are here for the long term, and we are here to serve Campbellsport and responding to the community's changing needs."

Police Chief thinks arsonist was burned

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Kewaskum Police Chief Richard Knoebel thinks he has a start to finding the suspect who intentionally started a fire Monday, July 25 in the Prairie Gardens Condo community. He is now asking for individuals to seek out anyone who may have suffered signs of skin burn around the time the fire was discovered.

In a press release, Knoebel stated Friday, "We have reason to believe that whoever set this fire, may have suffered burn injuries at the time."

Knoebel wants the community to know that if anyone knows of an individual who suffered from burn injuries on or about July 25, 2005 to call the Kewaskum Police Department.

Knoebel indicated, "Persons suffering from these types of injuries may claim them to be nothing more than sunburn, yet damage to the hair and eyebrows might be noticeable."

The $10,000 reward is still available for information leading to the arrest or conviction of the person/s who might have set the fire. The reward is being offered by Wisconsin Arson Insurance Council and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF).

The fire that brought out Kewaskum and two other fire departments destroyed two, four unit buildings being constructed in the complex. The complex was owned and being developed by John Laufer. Damage was estimated at over $300,000.

The Kewaskum Police Department can be reached at 262-626-2323. The ATF field officer can be reached at 1-888-ATF-FIRE.

St. Joseph's Hospital launches new program

WEST BEND- SynergyHealth St. Joseph's Hospital announced today that it has introduced a new program to create awareness about the importance of hand hygiene in the prevention of hospital-acquired infections, and that it will encourage patients to ask caregivers to wash or cleanse their hands.

"Hand hygiene is the single most important procedure that is performed in a hospital for preventing the spread of infection," said Pat Pearson, a registered nurse and infection control coordinator for St. Joseph's Hospital. "Patients may be uncomfortable asking physicians and hospital staff to cleanse their hands before they are about to make direct physical contact with the patient or items that are used in the patient's care. The 'It's OK to Ask' campaign was designed to create awareness about the importance of hand hygiene, while providing patients with a simple and effective way to ask caregivers if they have washed their hands."

The new program was launched in conjunction with the August 7 opening of the new hospital located at 3200 Pleasant Valley Road in the Town of Polk. The new St. Joseph's Hospital was built using evidence-based design principles to reduce the potential for errors, improve patient and staff safety, minimize stress and fatigue, increase efficiency, and improve patient outcomes.

Each patient room has an in-room sink that will allow patients to observe caregivers wash their hands. In addition to sink stations, prominently visible sanitizer dispensers are located throughout the hospital and in each patient room. A special logo has been created as a visual reminder to patients and staff that it is okay to ask a caregiver to wash his or her hands. Information about the program is included in the patient's admission packet and in other print materials.

SynergyHealth (www.synergyhealth.org) is a regional health system serving the greater Washington County community. St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend Clinic and SynergyHealth Foundation are members of SynergyHealth.

Kind words can be short and easy to speak, but their echoes are truly endless.

Fr. Charlie Wester named new parish administrator at Shepherd of the Hills

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

EDEN- Members of Shepherd of the Hills Parish in Eden were saddened to learn last week that their faithful friend and pastor, Father Kevin Wester would be leaving the parish family that he helped join together in a new home this past spring. Father Kevin's cousin, Father Charlie Wester, who recently retired has taken over in his stead.

Father Kevin tearfully told parishioners at services, Sunday, August 14. Now while emotions run high, those who belong to Shepherd of the Hills must rise up and put into practice the leadership their beloved pastor instilled in them for almost eight years.

After entering into a four-month period of prayer and personal reflection Father Kevin says, "I made a decision to take a six-month personal leave of absence from the active ministry." His resignation became effective Friday, August 19.

Father Charlie Wester came to live in the parish rectory with Father Kevin and to assist at Shepherd of the Hills in late June of this year after retiring from the combined parishes of St. Mary in Mayville and St. Andrew in LeRoy. Father Charlie served there from 1993 until his retirement.

In his announcement to parishioners Father Kevin stated, "In light of everything going on with priests lately, I need to make it clear to you that I am not having a crisis of faith or morals. I have not done anything wrong nor am I leaving the priesthood."

In a message to parishioners, Father Charlie stated, Yes, we are sad. But, this can become a graced moment, an opportunity for Shepherd of the Hills to let the church of Southeastern Wisconsin know we are alive and well, ready to carry out the gospel and make Christ present in our midst as we wait for another pastor to lead us.

Legislators propose gas tax holiday

MILWAUKEE- Three area Republican legislators held a press conference at a gas station in Milwaukee Wednesday, August 17 to announce their proposal to cut Wisconsin's 29.9¢ gas tax in half. To do that, they must petition Gov. Jim Doyle to call a special session of the legislature.

Representative Pat Strachota, Don Pridemore, and Robin Vos (R-Caledonia) called on Governor Doyle to cut the gas tax in half by enacting a 15-cent temporary reduction in the tax for the rest of the year. They say the loss of state revenue would be offset by using $180.8 million left after Doyle's vetoes of the 2005-2007 state budget, which transferred additional money from the Transportation fund to the General Fund. Ethnie Groves from Gov. Doyle's office says, "The governor is willing to work with anyone on this situation. This specific proposal would actually increase property taxes."

According to Rep. Pridemore, "The current gas prices are simply out of control, even without state-imposed taxes. However, Wisconsin's gas tax soars above the averages of other states, which only magnifies the problem. This, in the end, has a detrimental effect on consumers, businesses, and tourism in Wisconsin."

In 2004, Florida enacted a gas tax cut for the entire month of August saving motorists $59.7 million. The 8 cent per gallon cut returned about one-third of affected state and local gasoline taxes to consumers.

Representative Pridemore believes a measure similar to this will help Wisconsinites who are feeling the pressure in their pocketbooks every time they fill up the tank. "While the Legislature can do little to reduce the price of a gallon of gas, we can at least reduce the on-going tax burden we place on motorists and at the same time take advantage of the governor's vetoes," said Pridemore.

Representatives Vos, Strachota and Pridemore are calling upon Governor Doyle to call the Legislature into special session to approve a "Gas Tax Holiday" to reduce the gas tax by 15 cents per gallon from September 1st to December 31st.

Winners announced in State Firefighters Memorial raffle

On Saturday, August 13th the Wisconsin State Firefighters Memorial held their drawing for Big Prize, Big Raffle Tickets. There were five motor vehicles in the first six prizes, including a Red Special Edition Hummer, and Harley-Davidson Ultra Classic motorcycle. Just under 52,000 tickets were sold for this event throughout the North American continent.

This memorial and park will pay tribute to those who sacrificed their lives in the fire service and honor those who fight the "Red Devil" in local communities. It is the goal of the Memorial Park Project to raise $1.3 million to complete the memorial and the park. In the park this memorial will include a life-size bronze statue of three firefighters. A granite wall containing the names of Wisconsin firefighters who have lost their lives in the line of duty will flank the back of the statue. A flag court, a turn of the century iron cast fire bell and a visitor's center will also be on the site.

On Wednesday afternoon, August 17, the winners of the Ford cars were presented with their keys from the Director of Fund Raising Corey Johnson and Fund Raising Chair Ron Naab. This glorious event occurred at 5 pm at Gordie Boucher Ford in West Bend on STH 33, west of USH 45.

The winner of the Mustang FT Convertible is Gene Huettnier, a firefighter with the Fox Lake Fire Department, Mike Walczak of Allenton won the Taurus and Art Paulmann won the Focus. The Grand Prize was a Red Special Edition Hummer H2 was won by Sheilia Halverson of Cato. She will take possession of her car on Wednesday morning at Pietroske Chevy in Manitowoc.

Local winners included, Darren Taylor of Kewaskum winning a Polaris ATV. Gary Weter of Cascade won an Arenas Snowthrower.

At this point the fund raising committee will need to raise another $4,000,000.00 in order to complete the memorial and park.

Crime victim protection bill signed into law

MADISON - Governor Jim Doyle signed into law Representative Gundrum's Crime Victim Protection Bill. The new law will give judges clear authority to prohibit a convicted criminal from contacting victims of a crime during any part of the offender's sentence.

"Having this option available to the courts is long overdue," Gundrum said. "A judge should be able to issue an order protecting victims of a crime from the person who committed the crime."

The bill was inspired by the tragic 2003 Huebner case in Waukesha County. In that case, Dale Huebner was convicted of strangling his wife Carla to death with the tie she bought him for Christmas. The couple's 15 and 12 year old sons were home at the time and the oldest witnessed his mother's murder. At the time of sentencing, Waukesha County Judge Michael O. Bohren indicated his strong desire to prohibit Dale Huebner from contacting his sons but later concluded that state law did not grant the court the authority to do so. Gundrum's bill would grant judges the authority to prohibit defendants from contacting victims during the defendant's sentence.

"Now judges will be able to protect children and even adults who are traumatized by terrible crimes, so they can get on with their lives," said Senate President Alan Lasee (R-De Pere), who led the effort for this legislation on the Senate side.

"Our courts will now have the authority to prohibit dangerous criminals like Dale Huebner from further tormenting the victims of their crimes," said Gundrum. "This law will have an immediate impact, and I thank the Governor for his support of this legislation."

In addition to prohibiting a convicted offender from contacting victims of a crime, Gundrum's proposal would also grant judges the authority to prohibit offenders from contacting co-actors of a crime. If a defendant violates such an order by a court, he could be sentenced to up to 9 additional months of imprisonment and/or a $10,000 fine.

In addition to Governor Doyle and Representative Gundrum, also present at the bill signing were Judge Michael Bohren and Assistant D.A. Dennis Krueger, who testified at the public hearing for the bill earlier this year.

Fall Festival Weekend coming to Campbellsport

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Take one church's annual fall festival, a farmer's market and a group of enthusiastic Campbellsport Chamber of Commerce members and what do you get? Fall Festival Weekend in Campbellsport on Saturday and Sunday, September 17 and 18.

Chamber members have recently started a weekly Farmer's Market in front of Ben Franklin / True Value store on Main Street Saturdays from 8 to 11 a.m. The Chamber says the market is in its infantile stage so they decided to hold a "grand opening" for Saturday, September 17.

At a meeting held Monday, August 22, they decided to team up with St. Matthew Catholic Parish in Campbellsport who will hold their annual Fall Festival the following day and hold one big community shindig.

Chris Schanen, owner of Ben Franklin-True Value excitedly said "We're calling it the Fall Festival Weekend in Campbellsport!"

Schanen says that Saturday the Farmer's Market will be held as usual from 8 am to 1 pm. The Farmer's Market will include crafters, a bake sale, music and breakfast and lunch. The Chamber will be selling their Chamber Bucks with a twist. The Chamber will offer $25 worth of Bucks for $20 with a limit of $100. The Bucks are good for purchases at any Campbellsport Area Chamber business.

He says the group is working on a few additional things for that day and to watch area newspapers.

On Sunday, St. Matthew Parish will hold their Fall Festival. The festival consists of dinner, games, crafts and much more. Again, more information will be offered in the next few weeks.

As the weekly Farmer's Market continues to gain momentum the Farmer's Market chairman, Steve Vogelmann says he is looking for vendors. Crafters, woodworkers, farmers and area businesses are encouraged to call Vogelmann at (920) 533-3276 to reserve their spot.

Mrs. Johnson, the elementary school math teacher, was having children do problems on the blackboard that day.

"Who would like to do the first problem, addition?" No one raised their hand. She called on Tommy, and with some help he finally got it right.

"Who would like to do the second problem, subtraction?" Students hid their faces. She called on Mark, who got the problem but there was some suspicion his girlfriend Lisa whispered it to him.

"Who would like to do the third problem, division?" Now a low collective groan could be heard as everyone looked at nothing in particular. The teacher called on Suzy, who got it right.

"Who would like to do the last problem, multiplication?" Johnny's hand shot up, surprising everyone in the room. Mrs. Johnson finally gained her composure in the stunned silence. "Why the enthusiasm, Johnny?"

"Because the Bible says to go fourth and multiply."

PERSPECTIVES

Isn't turnabout fair play?

By Phyllis Schlafly

Hypocrisy stands at the pinnacle of the sins that liberals most disdain. So it's fair game to compare the free ride they gave to U.S. Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg with their searching the archives to pillory every word ever written by Supreme Court nominee John Roberts. Liberal commentators and U.S. senators, who are salivating at the upcoming interrogation of Roberts, never asked Ginsburg about her extremist views spelled out in her lengthy paper trail. The senators didn't have to do much research; I made it easy for them by publishing her words in my July 1993 Phyllis Schlafly Report.

I quoted extensively from her 230-page book called "Sex Bias in the U.S. Code," published in 1977 by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights. The purpose of this book was to show how the proposed Equal Rights Amendment (for which she was an aggressive advocate) would change federal laws to make them sex-neutral and "eliminate sex-discriminatory provisions."

Ginsburg called for the sex-integration of prisons and reformatories so that conditions of imprisonment, security and housing could be equal. She explained, "If the grand design of such institutions is to prepare inmates for return to the community as persons equipped to benefit from and contribute to civil society, then perpetuation of single-sex institutions should be rejected." (Page 101)

She called for the sex-integration of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts because they "perpetuate stereotyped sex roles." (Page 145)

She insisted on sex-integrating "college fraternity and sorority chapters" and replacing them with "college social societies." (Page 169) She even cast constitutional doubt on the legality of "Mother's Day and Father's Day as separate holidays." (Page 146)

Ginsburg called for reducing the age of consent for sexual acts to people who are "less than 12 years old." (Page 102) She asserted that laws against "bigamists, persons cohabiting with more than one woman, and women cohabiting with a bigamist" are unconstitutional. (Page 195)

She objected to laws against prostitution because "prostitution, as a consensual act between adults, is arguably within the zone of privacy protected by recent constitutional decisions." (Page 97)

On the other hand, her view of the traditional family was radical feminist. She said that the concept of husband-breadwinner and wife-homemaker "must be eliminated from the code if it is to reflect the equality principle." (Page 206) and she called for "a comprehensive program of government supported child care." (Page 214)

Ginsburg wrote that the Mann Act (which punishes those who engage in interstate sex traffic of women and girls) is "offensive." Such acts should be considered "within the zone of privacy." (Page 98) She demanded that we "firmly reject draft or combat exemption for women," stating "women must be subject to the draft if men are." But, she added, "the need for affirmative action and for transition measures is particularly strong in the uniformed services." (Page 218)

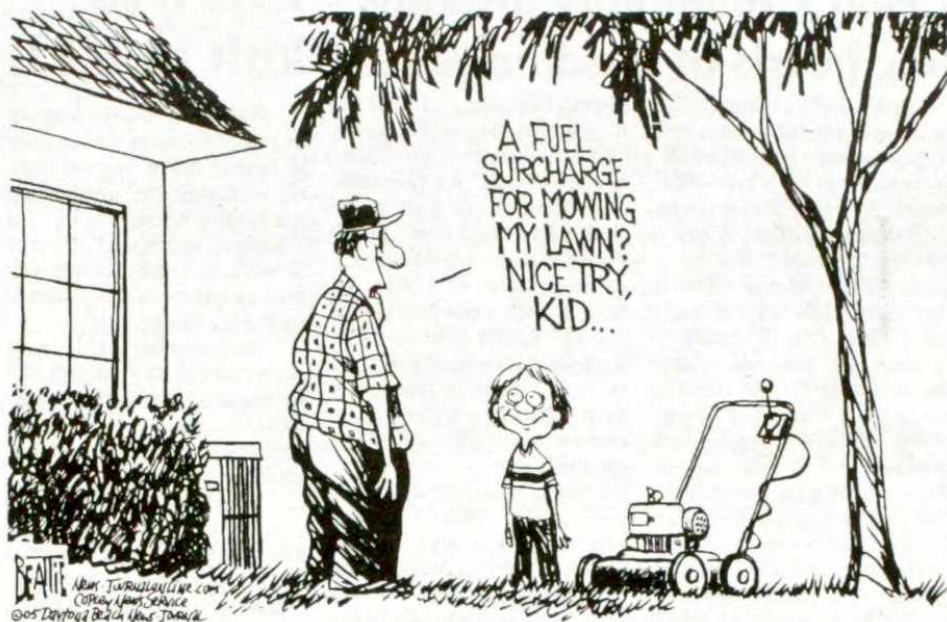

An indefatigable censor, Ginsburg listed hundreds of "sexist" words that must be eliminated from all statutes. Among words she found offensive were: man, woman, manmade, mankind, husband, wife, mother, father, sister, brother, son, daughter, serviceman, longshoreman, postmaster, watchman, seaman, and "to man" (a vessel). (Pages 15-16)

She even wanted he, she, him, her, his, and hers to be dropped down the memory hole. They must be replaced by he/she, her/him, and hers/his, and federal statutes must use the bad grammar of "plural constructions to avoid third person singular pronouns." (Page 52-53)

Not only did Ginsburg pass former President Bill Clinton's litmus test of being pro-abortion, but she was also on record as opposing what was then settled law that the Constitution does not compel taxpayers to pay for abortions. In her chapter in a 1980 book, "Constitutional Government in America," she condemned the Supreme Court's ruling in Harris v. McRae and claimed that taxpayer-funded abortions should be a constitutional right.

In a speech published by Phi Beta Kappa's Key Reporter in 1974, Ginsburg called for affirmative action hiring quotas for career women. Using the police as an example, she wrote, "Affirmative action is called for in this situation."

It's too bad that Americans were denied the enter-

- In Your Opinion -

To the Editor:

Citizens of Kewaskum, are you aware that a proposal to extend Kettleview Drive will be considered by the Village Planning Commission on Tuesday, August 30th at 7 p.m.? This extension will begin at County Hwy. , west of Hwy. 45 and extend north to Kiwanis Park. The fate of a long line of beautiful and mature trees will be affected.

The placement of the road has a direct affect on the homeowners living along the west end of Old Glory Heights. Current plans would result in two property owners having roads on three sides of their property. Additional concerns are a decrease in property values and privacy, additional noise pollution from traffic, safety of our children in our yards and park as well as loss of beauty in our subdivision and village.

Kewaskum is fondly known as the Gateway to the Kettle Moraine for its beautiful scenery and abundant wildlife. Decisions about our town's future are made by the Planning Commission which meets on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. and by the Village Board which meets bi-monthly, the first and third Monday, at 8 p.m., unless noticed accordingly. Both groups meet at the Village Hall. Your attendance is strongly encouraged and sincerely appreciated.

Old Glory Heights,
Norbert Siegel

An initial resolution for the Village of Kewaskum to issue up to $2 million in Industrial Revenue Bonds for an expansion of Regal Ware Inc. has been approved by the village board. James Reigle, President of Regal Ware, explained that the company has been considering construction of a 100' by 156' wide addition facing Second Street. This would be two stories and add some 15,000 square feet in plant space and 5,000 square feet in office space. A truck ramp for loading and unloading would also be constructed near the railroad tracks.

Dairyland Seed Company, Inc. has announced the completion of a new seed warehouse facility. The steel structure building is completely insulated and provides for an additional 22,000 square feet of warehouse space. Dairyland's total warehouse space just south of Kewaskum on Highways 45 and H, now exceeds 54,000 square feet.

The Kewaskum Plan Commission has given its approval for an elderly housing project in Kewaskum. The commission will recommend to the village board that a 2.62 acre lot between Brooklane Drive and Roseland Drive be rezoned from a P-1 Park District to an R-4 multiple family resident district. Peter Kanup, a developer from Beaver Dam, plans to construct three separate buildings. One would have 24 units for the elderly including a two-bedroom unit for the manager. Another would have eight two-bedroom units for handicapped persons. The third would have two two-bedroom units and two three-bedroom units for single parent families.

Regal Ware, Inc. announced that it has purchased the current Minz Store and Lumber Yard site in Kewaskum from the H.J. Lay Lumber Co. Minz will continue to operate from this site until November 1. At that time, the store on the side will be remodeled including a new entrance on the west side of the building. Regal tentatively plans to move their Outlet Store to this location in the spring of 1981.

SCHOOL

Interim Superintendent Scott Peterson is excited for the new school year to get underway.

School District Residents, Parents and Students are encouraged to visit our District Web Site where most school information is available. www.kewaskumschools.org. Athletic schedules, lunch menus, PTO news, School Board information, calendars, alumni information, and much more is online, so please visit us often.

Transportation: Johnson Bus Company will be sending out information soon on bus rules and pick-up times. If you haven't received information by Thursday, August 25th please call them at 626-4414 to make or verify transportation arrangements. Families are encouraged to review the bus riding rules and safe boarding, riding and unloading procedures together. If this is your child's first experience riding a bus, parents may want to take a little extra time and accompany their child or arrange for someone else to accompany them for their first pick-up and drop-off.

Crossing Guards will be present on designated village street corners. Parents and students are urged to use them accordingly. It is extremely important for parents to cooperate with the schools by not sending or dropping their children off at school before school doors open since they will be unsupervised.

Insurance: The District does not carry accident insurance for students. We encourage parents/guardians to review their own insurance policies to be certain that coverage is adequate, especially in the case of athletics.

Free and Reduced Lunch Program: Information was available during registration. Parents with children in several district schools need only fill out one application to cover all children. If you think you are eligible please call or stop in any school office to obtain a form.

Lunch prices this year will be $1.50/day for elementary students and $1.75/day for middle and high school students. School begins with a full day on Thursday, September 1st and hot lunch will be served.

Welcome back! We look forward to the return of our students and are eager to begin a new school year!

Oct. 4, 1931 - Aug. 19, 2002

With child like faith I thought you would always be here
Then my world fell apart, the doctors said less than a year
We didn't talk about goodbyes, we didn't want to bring up the end
Everything was going to be OK if we all just pretend Slowly I watched your life fading, everyday was a little worse than the day before I had to change my prayers to "God, Please don't make him suffer anymore"
Just as the circle of life has a beginning your circle now has an end
Losing you slowly becomes easier but my torn heart will never mend.

We miss you Dad, We miss you Grandpa

Four women were driving across the country. Each one was from a different state: Idaho, Nebraska, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

Shortly after the trip began, the woman from Idaho started pulling potatoes from her bag, and throwing them out of the window. "What the heck are you doing?" demanded the woman from Illinois. "We have so many of these darn things in Idaho, I am just sick of looking at them!"

A moment later, the gal from Nebraska began pulling ears of corn from her bag and tossing them from the window. "What are you doing that for?" asked the woman from Illinois. "We have so many of these things in Nebraska, I am just sick of looking at them!"

Inspired, the gal from Wisconsin opened the car door and pushed the woman from Illinois out.

Eldest

by Christopher Paolini

Knopf c.2005 $21.00

Over the centuries, much ink - and even more paint - has been used in homage of A Boy and His Dog. It's the stuff of poetry and song. You might find the little guy and his pup on magazine covers. Starving Artist's sales always feature portraits of an overall-wearing, barefooted towhead with his yellow mongrel at his side. So what about A Boy and His Dragon?

In "Eldest", the highly-anticipated sequel by Christopher Paolini, fans of "Eragon" can read more about the boy Rider and his dragon, Saphira.

The battle for Tronjheim is over - for now - but King Galbatorix has not been completely defeated. Everyone knows that he could attack again at any time. Eragon, who killed Durza, is now called Shadeslayer, but the name didn't come without a price. Eragon was terribly injured in the battle, and although he has been tended by Angela the healer, his wounds plague him. Still, it is an uneasy time of peace and strategizing. Because of a last-minute Urgal attack, there is a new leader of the Varden, and she sends Eragon and Saphira to Ellesmera. There, the elves will continue training the Shadeslayer in the arts of magic and war.

Back in Carvahall, Roran, Eragon's cousin, is trying to put his life together again. Roran returned from Therinsford to find that his cousin was gone, his father was dead, and his land was ruined. This meant that his plans were ruined as well. Roran no longer had anything to offer Sloan the butcher in exchange for the hand of Katrina, Sloan's beautiful daughter. Roran blames Eragon, but he's not sure why.

When the Ra'zac attack Carvahall in search of Roran and information about Eragon, the people try to defend themselves, but there is no defense against the Ra'zac. Katrina is captured by the monsters and the villagers are threatened with death. Bravely, Roran leads his neighbors from Carvahall to Dauth, and safety.

And along the way, he hears tales of a Dragon Rider who is brave and strong...

Much like his Shadeslayer, Eragon, author Christopher Paolini has grown up a lot since the last book was written. "Eldest" is a little harder to read than was "Eragon"; it's more fantasy and less novel. The dwarves' and elves' languages are included more in this book, there are dozens of new characters to follow, and words that will send readers scrambling for a dictionary. While "Eragon" was for the 11-and-up crowd, I fear that "Eldest" is going to be beyond kids that young.

On the other hand, the story line with Roran is wonderful, the Elven creatures are magical, and the nasty enemies are even nastier. There are some plot twists in "Eldest" that are going to make fans gasp with surprise. Savvy readers are going to find a few in-jokes that will make them laugh.

If it's been awhile since you read "Eragon", read the last chapter again before tackling "Eldest". And then hold on. Book III is coming, but it's going to be hard to wait.

Food for Thought

By Amy Swanson

Summer Isn't Always a Picnic in the Park

My kids have spent most of their summer vacation at one of their favorite spots... my wits end. And, as summer stretches on, it takes less and less time to get there.

They probably have created a four-color brochure promoting Mom's Wits End that is full of ideas; almost like a guide to Walt Disney World, without the happy music and smiling characters.

I was hopeful. When school let out I looked forward to picnic lunches, nature walks and someone to watch my two-year old daughter while I took extended time shopping for shoes - everyone has a weakness. However, my sunshine thoughts of walks in the park were darkened by chasing down my two boys after their water balloon fights in the downstairs bathroom. They had no idea I could run so fast!

It took us a little while to adjust to being together ALL OF THE TIME! My daughter couldn't understand why her brothers were home. I'm sure she thought they had been kicked out of school. Although, she did her best to include them in our ordinary day of tea parties, Barbie dolls and dress-up, I could tell they were really getting on her little pink nerves.

Her brothers were everywhere. They switched her Blue's Clues with the Three Stooges. They turned her playhouse into a secret hideout where they kept all of the neighborhood prisoner friends. Her Barbie shoes became bullets to attack the Ken doll, which had switched to the dark side of the force. Nothing was safe anymore.

The boys did, however, teach her how to swing a light saber. Now they call her Darth Toddler.

On the days that we were not being attacked by Jedi forces, the boys were involved in tennis, baseball and basketball. They have taken tennis for four years, and I'm not sure they are learning anything, but I pay the tuition every year because I will always pay to talk with the other Mom's for two hours a week. It's priceless. I probably wouldn't even know if my boys ducked out and went to the store instead of class. That's how good MOM conversation can get. It's such a racket, sorry.

On the days we weren't at tennis, we were at the Little League diamond watching our seven-year old play baseball. We sat for endless hours perched on the bleachers shoveling in tons of popcorn and cheering on our Muck-dogs!

Cleats and cups filled our summer days until our two-year old started dance class.

Dressed in her pink tutu and tap shoes, she was ready to make her brothers be the spectators for a change. I was so proud. The moment I had been waiting for. After having two boys, my dream of my daughter being a star ballerina was about to start...and then a strange noise came from the crowd.

My 10 year-old son had walked over to his seven-year old brother who was sitting quietly minding his own business, and stuck his posterior in his well-behaved brother's face and said proudly, "Smell this!" The sound that followed could have shattered the glass.

The eight perfect tutu mommies were horrified. I couldn't even react. I tried the Bewitched disappearing cross-over snap thing, but it didn't work, again. I guess I fit in more with the screaming soccer moms, where flatulence is not forbidden.

We've saved the last few weeks of summer for family trips, a high school reunion and lots of therapy.

BUSINESS NEWS

Dairyland Seed announces new corn releases

Dairyland Seed recently announced the release of 21 new corn hybrids for the 2006 planting season. Each of these varieties can be seen at research tours and field days throughout the Midwest this fall. Descriptions of the new products suitable for growing in this area are as follows:

75 Day Stealth-5475: A true 75-day flint/dent combination hybrid that flowers very early. Vigorous plant growth and fast grain establishment. Taller statured plant with semi-erect leaves. Superior test weight. Excellent adaptation to the extreme northern corn market.

84 Day Stealth - 6184: An early hybrid that features a robust plant type. Excellent plant integrity through the fall backed by outstanding roots and stalks enables this medium-tall hybrid to excel. Adapts well to all environmental conditions and soil types. Excellent drydown. Excels at high plant populations. High grain test weight.

85 Day Stealth - 1785: An outstanding early hybrid that flourishes with strong, vigorous emergence. Consistent, high yield performance and strong disease resistance. Grain drydown is outstanding while test weight excels. Take this variety to high plant population where it will deliver excellent performance on most soil types.

85 Day Stealth - 7184: Robust plant type with excellent fall appearance. Superb stalk and root system. Aggressive, early growth gives these genetic a head start. Thrives at high plant populations. Outstanding test weight and superb drydown properties.

88 Day Stealth-1488: From the "get-go" this hybrid accelerates out of the ground quickly and vigorously. This strong early establishment provides a sound foundation for outstanding stalk and root strength as well as excellent disease resistance and staygreen. Excellent yield potential on a wide variety of soil types. Plant this hybrid at a high population.

89 Day Stealth-6189: A tall plant type that features a strong root base and stalk structure. Very good grain quality and excellent test weight result from a plant with excellent late season intactness. Delivers top yields across a number of soil environments. Gets off to a quick, vigorous start, capable of taking advantage of high plant population densities.

94 Day Stealth-7194: New hybrid with top end yields and strong, vigorous emergence. Capable of being planted anywhere on your farm and delivering impressive yields. Girthy-ear tendency with desirable drydown and test weight. Performs well as a corn on corn hybrid. Likes high plant population.

94 Day Stealth - 9194: Vigorous early plant development provides the momentum for a good root system which in turn creates a strong, sturdy stalk. Excellent stay green and disease resistance. High test weight. Very versatile for all soils including corn on corn. Capture its yield strength with high plant populations.

96 Day Stealth - 7196: Excellent yield potential with strong emergence and vigor. Drive this hybrid's ability to bring top yield production to your farm by increasing your plant population. Nice soil versatility.

101/99 Day Stealth - 5201: Terrific grain yield potential develops from a medium-tall plant with moderately upright leaves. Very strong roots along with terrific staygreen capability. A girthy-eared, high yielding hybrid corn variety. Versatile in numerous soil types. Excellent drydown and strong test weights.

101/99 Day Stealth - 7201: Great cold emergence and vigor qualities. Attractive, moderately upright leaf structure provides a desirable pathway for sunlight. Plant staygreen is terrific and drydown properties are superb. Strong test weight.

Very suitable to all geographic regions including the Western Corn Belt. Receptive to high plant population.

101/99 Day Stealth-9201: High yield potential! Excellent staygreen characteristics. Excels across a wide range of soil types and high plant populations. Very suitable hybrid for a all geographic regions including the Western Corn Belt. Girthy ears, high test weight and desirable drydown.

104/102 Day Stealth-5204: A racehorse hybrid with superb yields that take advantage of high plant populations. Quick to emerge after planting, vigorous in its early growth stages. Strong root and stalk strength are the result of genetics with terrific plant health. Staygreen is exceptional.

104/102 Day Stealth-7104: A showy, girthy ear of grain develops from a plant with great root and stalk traits. Excels under a wide range of soil types. This plant has excellent staygreen. Drydown is very good and strong weights are common. Benefit from high plant populations!

106 Day Silage HiD.F.-3007: Experience the high tonnage and excellent digestibility of this silage hybrid. With an overall silage rating of one, this hybrid produces high silage yields. It rates at or near the top of the chart for milk/acre and milk/ton. Performed extremely well in our mini-silo silage trials. High ratings for NDF and whole plant digestibility.

106/104 Day Stealth-1706: Exceptional root and stalk ratings, excellent staygreen and very favorable disease resistance. This plant has a standard leaf configuration on a medium to short plant...its early flowering tendency produces an attractive, girthy ear of grain with a range of 16-20 kernel rows. Delivers yield at high plant populations.

109/106 Day Stealth-9507: Aggressive early growth characteristics and strong disease resistance qualities enable this plant to maintain strong staygreen properties. A healthy, continuously growing plant creates terrific yield potential for this hybrid. Features high test weight with very good drydown. Top yielder for its maturity.

110 Day Stealth-1612: A powerful high yield new product. Excellent early plant development. Great staygreen and disease resistance properties...exceptional root and stalk strength as well. Utilize the high plant population capability of this hybrid to further enhance this hybrid's yield expression. Superb test weight.

110 Day Stealth-5010: Exceptional staygreen, disease resistance and great roots. Semi-erect leaves transform the genetic energy of this new hybrid seed variety into a girthy, 16-20 kernel row ear of grain. Very high rating for test weight. Plant on most any soil type. Excellent choice for high plant population.

PUBLIC NOTICES

2005 - 2006 SCHOOL YEAR NOTIFICATION

As a result of federal legislation (Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act-AHERA), each primary and secondary school in the nation is required to complete a stringent inspection for asbestos and develop a plan of management for all asbestos containing materials. The School District of Kewaskum has a goal to be in full compliance with this and is following the spirit as well as the letter of the law. As a matter of policy, The School District of Kewaskum shall continue to maintain a safe and healthful environment for our community's youth and employees.

In keeping with this legislation, all buildings (including portable and support buildings) owned or leased by the school district were inspected by EPA accredited inspectors and samples were analyzed by an independent laboratory. Based on the inspection, the school prepared and the state approved a comprehensive management plan for handling the asbestos located within its buildings safely and responsibly.

Furthermore, The School District of Kewaskum has completed its 3-Year Re-inspection required by AHERA. The buildings, where asbestos was found, are under repair, removal, and Operations and Maintenance.

Federal law requires a periodic walk-through (called "surveillance") every six months of each area containing asbestos. Also, the law requires all buildings to be re-inspected three years after a management plan is in effect. This will be accomplished under contract with MacNeil Environmental, Inc.

Short-term workers (outside contractors- i.e., telephone repair workers, electricians and exterminators) must be provided information regarding the location of asbestos in which they may come into contact. All short-term workers shall contact the lead maintenance person, before commencing the work, to be given this information.

The School District of Kewaskum has a list of the locations, types of asbestos-containing materials found in each building, and a description and time table for their proper management. A copy of the Asbestos Management Plan is available for review in the school office. Copies are available at 25 cents per page.

Looming Over the Battlefield: The 'War at Home'

By John A. Scocos
Wisconsin Secretary of Veterans Affairs

While the guns sounded in the jungles of Vietnam, a different kind of war was going on in the United States.

As we recall the 30th anniversary of the end of the war in Vietnam, it is almost impossible for Americans to see Vietnam separately from the flames of cultural dissent and political disruption that swept the United States.

The Vietnam War gathered steam amidst a cultural transformation in America. The emergence of the "hippie generation," the new views about sexuality, and the widespread use of recreational drugs-- and these new tenets of youth clashed considerably with the raging maelstrom on the other side of the world. At the same time, and more importantly, the nation had committed itself to a program of achieving Civil Rights for all Americans and anti-discrimination activities generated enormous positive and negative reactions. The very fabric of American society seemed about to rend. Some believed that domestic unrest would revolutionize the country.

The "war at home" affected how America viewed its government, Armed Forces and, ultimately, how America viewed itself.

Forty years ago, Lyndon Johnson ordered a massive bombing of select targets in Vietnam to convince the enemy that it should negotiate for peace. The bombing campaign sparked an opposition, however, as America's youth began to seriously question the involvement in Vietnam. Why was the nation at war, many asked, and why could peace not be achieved?

The draft galvanized anti-war supporters from meager beginnings into mass protests. Organizations like the Students for a Democratic Society began holding marches, the first of which occurred in Washington in April of 1965.

Wisconsin was a hotspot for dissent. Tensions in Madison reached a high in October of 1967, as representatives of Dow Chemical, who manufactured napalm, arrived in Madison to recruit chemistry students. Their presence on campus triggered a massive student-led protest. When authorities tried to remove student obstructers, the situation turned violent. Police turned their clubs on the protesters. 71 people were arrested. 47 students and 14 policemen were injured.

America's leadership didn't help the situation. Neither President Johnson nor President Nixon candidly informed the public about the goals of the war or the level of U.S. involvement. This bred cynicism and mistrust, first among the youth, but eventually, polls showed, in mainstream America.

As media coverage of Vietnam expanded, America saw both the first-hand horrors of war and the torn images of civil unrest. Doubts about the war grew and the Tet Offensive really enflamed the anti-war movement.

Up until that January, the American public was constantly reassured that the United States and South Vietnam were winning the war-- the war was in its last stretch. Tet proved the official version of the war wrong. How, if America was winning, could North Vietnam and the Viet Cong launch such a massive surprise offensive? What exactly was going on over in Vietnam?

President Johnson tired of the war and decided not to run for re-election in 1968. The Democratic National Convention in Chicago witnessed extensive and violent anti war demonstrations and the fracturing of the political party most associated with the conflict. Republican Richard Nixon, the new president, promised an end to the war, while at the same time ensuring America would get out of Vietnam "with honor." Nixon stepped up the bombing campaign against North Vietnam and expanded the war into Cambodia and Laos in the expectation that the escalation would scare North Vietnam to the bargaining table.

Just as the symbolic had failed Johnson, it also failed Nixon. His strategy was perceived as expanding the war, and it sparked a new and even more belligerent wave of protesting. The Kent State protest, the revelation of a massacre of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. troops at My Lai, and the bombing of the University of Wisconsin Army Math Research Center continued to generate more pressure on the U.S. to make peace. The American public had had enough.

American soldiers were caught between a discontented public and a difficult war. After serving overseas, the GIs found themselves as scapegoats for the public protest against the war. No longer heroes, in some places, American veterans were resented.

This is what I'm fighting against. Our troops, no matter where, are our troops and should be honored. With a new program I've created in Wisconsin, "Mission: Welcome Home," I am encouraging all Wisconsinites to be sure to welcome our troops when they return from overseas duty. Our soldiers deserve respect, and I want to make sure that's exactly what they get.

This is the eighth in a series of 15 columns about the Vietnam War that will be published.

John A. Scocos is the Secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs, which serves almost half a million Wisconsin veterans.

Averill takes over lead in HEK golf race

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

By virtue of her first-place finish with Jim Rohlinger in the mixed scramble, Carol Averill has moved into a 2.0 point advantage over Roxanne Volesky and Joe Volesky in the battle for Player of the Year title at Hon-E-Kor Country Club.

The Averill and Rohlinger duo — she played previous events with husband Rick Averill, who has been sidelined by knee surgery — came in with a 2-under-par 68 (63.44 n3t) for the 18 holes on Sunday, Aug. 14.

With the points from the first place, Averill has 5.2 points, while the two Voleskys are next with 7.2, and Tom Larson and Clark Eichstedt, who combined to win the first event and finished second in the bestball, are currently tie for fourth place with 7.8s.

Others in the top ten include: sixth — Dianne and Jim Kleinke, 9.2s; eighth — Carey Wolf, Doug Gonring and Jim Volesky, all tied at 9.4. If any of them stumble in the final event, Mike Matenaer and Ray Roskopf have chances to move up because they currently have 9.7s, and Dan Gibbon and Larry Sterr are tied at 9.8.

There were eight teams in the mixed scramble and 12 in the men-only, which was won by Frank King and Bob Beck, who joined forces for a 8-under-par-62 (59.2 net).

This was the best were finish in by King and Beck, who about the middle of their pack with their 12.8 totals.

Fifty five members have competed in one or more events in the Player of the Year competition, which was initiated by Pro Joe Harlow five years ago.

The last competition figured in the point total is the club championship, which will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 3-4 (Labor Day weekend).

Applications for the club championship — those who are not vying for the Player of the Year title may also compete in this tournament — are currently available in the pro shop at Hon-E-Kor.

Craig Anderson, the current men's club champion at Hon-E-Kor, had a hole-in-one on Thursday, Aug. 18.

Playing with Lou Santini, Dan Gibbon and Ryan Doherty, Anderson launched a perfect 7-iron that found the hole on the fourth hole of the Blue Nine. It measures 152 yards.

When asked if he saw the ball fall in the hole, Anderson said, "no ... (you) can't on that hole, but it looked good all the way."

The ace was Anderson's first.

He recently participated in the annual WSGA's (Wisconsin State Golf Association) Men's State Amateur title. His four 18 hole round scores were 74, 77, 72 and 78 for a 301 total.

"I think I was 41st," Anderson said about his finish in the tournament, which was held at the Brown County Golf Course in Green Bay.

The top 25 players receive automatic exemptions for next year, according to Anderson.

*Dee Dee Roskopf and Ruth Jansen took late starts in the annual Bartelt Cup for women at Hon-E-Kor Country Club, and the two wound up first and second, respectively, in the event.

Playing together, the two women came in 1-2. No net scores were available from two of the officers of the Hon-E-Bees.

The Bartelt Cup took place on Aug. 10th.

*A pair of Hon-E-Kor members, Ethan Geidel of Kewaskum and Jeff Anderson of West Bend, posted identical scores of 74 and finished tied for fifth place in a PGA Junior Golf event held Thursday at Portage Club.

The two friends were competing in the 14-15 age group.

In the 16-18 age group, Jason Jahnke, a senior-to-be at Kewaskum High School, fired a 78 and finished in 10th place.

It may take time for KHS tennis players to start winning

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The decision to elevate Dan Ross to the position of head girls tennis coach at Kewaskum High School was an easy one.

For starters, Ross was the junior varsity girls coach last year so he knows the personnel and the caliber of play in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. Secondly, he did a good job with the Indian boys last spring, helping lead them to a third-place finish in the eight-team EWC (Chilton, Kohler and Kewaunee are in another conference for most sport but compete in the EWC for tennis) league.

Ross gathered a large group of over 30 girls for the initial practices a week ago, and he was already aware the Lady Indians would be very inexperienced this fall.

"We lost 11 of our 13 top players," Ross said in the pre-season questionnaire. Still he likes the girls' potential and feels some good things will happen if they can adjust quickly to the higher level of play.

"Allison Kowalczyk (junior) will play one singles," Ross said, indicating Kowalczyk was at No. 2 and sometimes at No. 3 a year ago. "She is a very strong player. She will be able to hold her own there."

Senior Ashley Feucht has made the switch from No. 3 doubles to No. 2 singles, and Ross said, "She's a good player and a great kid, but that's an extremely tough move. She'll be learning on the job."

"All the other varsity players are juniors, but played JV last year, so obviously they're inexperienced," Ross went on, noting Karissa Dumms and Ashley Corey are at Nos. 3 and 4, with Katie Gaynor and Marie Terlinden at No. 1 doubles, Darcy Dickman and Jade Thelen at No. 2 doubles and Emile Boden and Kerrie Winter at No. 3.

"Our early schedule is brutal ... if we keep the faith through that, we should be OK," Ross said.

About the JVs, who will be coached by Julaine Jacob, Ross said, "We had a huge JV team," and "The freshman class appears very promising and will push the upperclassmen to get better as the season progresses ... lots of athleticism and some players who appear to have played tennis quite a bit."

Ross was not sure how the varsity finished a year ago but said the JVs "it was right around .500, and the middle of the pack in the conference."

The Lady Indians opened at the annual Washington County Tournament on Saturday. They hosted Plymouth on Tuesday and are at Roncalli today (Thursday). Both are Eastern Wisconsin Conference matches. Both those schools are traditionally strong in the EWC.

Spaeth's triple launches A's into the playoffs

Tournament games have painful endings for the A's

They were so very close to winning two tournaments, but the Kewaskum Athletics had to settle for the runner-up spot in both last week, losing a disappointing 9-6 decision in 11 innings to the Cedarburg Mercs on Thursday and a 4-2 extra-inning game to Horicon on Friday.

The battle against Cedarburg was to determine the champions of the Plymouth Tournament, and it started out oh so promising for the A's, who used a three-run homer by Steve Ketter to jump out to a quick lead in the first inning.

Kewaskum added three more runs and held a 6-0 advantage after five innings.

Only three innings to go and the title was theirs.

It was not to be, however, as the Mercs came back with three runs in the ninth to tie the game, and after a scoreless 10th, added three runs on four singles in the 11th for the victory.

"We had nine hits," Jim Ziegler, the spokesperson for the A's, said over the weekend. "Cory Immel had three ... Jake Panzer and Jason Strobel each had two."

In addition to Ketter's three, Adam Sarauer was credited with one RBI, according to Ziegler, who said, "We had a game the next night, so we wanted to save Nick Whitty ... We threw Cory Immel, and he pitched real well for six innings."

Ketter came on and also held the Mercs, but Jake Spaeth gave up the runs in the 11th, meaning he took the loss.

"It got to be a little much" Ziegler said about playing three extra-inning games in three nights (including Wednesday's 6-5 win over Brownsville). On Friday, at Horicon, the A's mustered just four hits in the loss to Horicon. Spaeth, Panzer, Immel and Ty Schill all had singles off Horicon pitcher, Cory Tjaden.

This game matched the survivors of the annual SWABA (Southeastern Wisconsin Amateur Baseball Association) Tournament.

Whitty "pitched real well," according to Ziegler, who said, "He took a no-hitter into the seventh even though he allowed them to score in the first."

The clincher for Horicon was a bases-clearing double in the top of the 10th by Gabe Neitzel. After one out, Horicon used a single, a walk and an error to load the bases for Neitzel, who did not disappoint the home fans but ruined the evening for the Athletics, who wanted badly to win at least one of these two games.

It was a rough week for the Kewaskum Athletics, but as pitcher/spokesperson Jim Ziegler put it, "We got the most important one," referring to Wednesday's much-needed 6-5 victory over host Brownsville to pretty assuredly wrap up a berth in the Rock River League playoffs.

Jake Spaeth was the man of the hour with his clutch triple in the top of the 11, sending Nick Whitty scampering home with the lead run.

The win gave the A's a final record of 11-7 against RR foes and put them in the fourth playoff spot. They could wind up tied with Rubicon or Slinger, pending the outcome of Sunday's games, then the playoff games dates and times will be announced.

"If Rubicon would lose today (Sunday), we are in automatically," Ziegler said. "If they win, we will have a playoff game with them (to determine the fourth team in the playoffs.) If they win and Slinger loses, we have to go against Slinger."

Most likely that game was to be played Tuesday or Wednesday, because the final four playoff will be held this weekend.

Both Kewaskum and Brownsville scored early, then the game settled into a pitchers' duel, with no runs scored from the sixth until the 11th when the A's broke a 5-5 tie.

Ziegler reached base in the top of the 11th when he struck out but got a first on a passed ball. Whitty, a star for the Campbellsport High program this summer, followed with a single, and Ty Schill safely bunted the two to second and third.

"With one out, I got picked off third on a botched suicide squeeze," Ziegler said, but luckily Whitty reached third on the play. Spaeth, who hails from Slinger, was still at the plate and, "He just ripped a triple to right-center," Ziegler said, and the A's went to 6-5.

In Brownsville's last wraps, Ziegler, who came on in relief of starter Jake Panzer in the seventh, gave up a leadoff single to J.J. Raflic, who moved ahead 90 feet on a bunt.

Ziegler got out No. 1 when he got the next hitter on strikes, and he closed Brownsville out with a routine grounder to first.

Ziegler gave up five hits, struck out five and walked two, while Panzer gave up nine hits, fanned eight and walked seven.

The loser was Ty Witkowski, who came on in the fifth inning.

Kewaskum got two runs in the first on a walk to Spaeth, a double by Cory Immel and a couple ground outs.

In the fourth, the A's loaded the bases when Panzer got hit by a pitch, Ziegler walked and Schill singled. Spaeth's infield hit scored Panzer, and the other two raced home on a throwing error.

Brownsville scored single runs in the first, fourth and fifth frames, and two more in the second.

In two other tournament games played Thursday and Friday, the A's came up short and had to settle for second place in both. See separate stories.

The fate of the Kewaskum Athletics in the Rock River League playoff was learned Sunday evening.

When it was announced Rubicon won its final regular season game, the A's knew they had to play Rubicon to determine the fourth and final playoff spot.

The two teams, which finished with identical 11-7 marks this summer, will face off on Wednesday evening in Brownsville. Game time is 7:30 p.m., according to Kewaskum spokesperson Jim Ziegler, who said if his team wins, it will travel to Verona Saturday to play Madison Laura Valley Tavern.

"If we win Wednesday, it guarantees us two weekend games," Ziegler said, reporting the A's would be in Verona Saturday and host a game on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Kiwanis Park.

Kewaskum lost its regular season games to Rubicon, but they were close, 0-4 and 2-3.

The final standings in the Rock River League are as follows: 1. Oakfield, 16-2; 2. Slinger, and Brownsville, 12-6; 4. Kewaskum and Rubicon, 11-7; 6. Hustisford, 10-8; 7. Waupun, 6-12; 8. Hartford and Oshkosh, 5-13; 10. Horicon, 2-16.

Scrimmage produces good results by KHS gridgers

BY JUDY HARLOW

Within the first couple of defensive series in last Friday's scrimmage, Kewaskum High football coach Jason Piittmann knew he had found a replacement for all-conference cornerback Zach Holm.

Holm brought his scrappy wrestling skills to the position, and now another wrestler, Eric Ogi, appears to be taking over with the same aggressiveness.

"I'll tell you what. Eric Ogi did a great job last night," Piittmann said Saturday morning, noting, "There were a few question marks we had going in. We had a few of them answered."

Piittmann admitted defense was not the team's strong suit in the 2004 season when the Indians went 3-4 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference season, but the returnees, plus players like Ogi, could turn that around in a hurry.

Piittmann said the 5-foot-8 Ogi covered one 6-0 Slinger receiver like a blanket and picked off one pass. "He was able to negate the kid's height because he was able to stay into him," Piittmann said, also noting, "Garrett (Donath) made a great play as well," and cornerbacks Jack Breese and Matt Rinzel showed some good skills.

"Our inside linebackers looked strong," according to Piittmann, who said, "Josh Kelly really looked good," on the inside, but "Our outside people still need work."

Overall, Piittmann felt the scrimmage — Kewaskum went up against Slinger and West Bend West — went "pretty well," especially on offense where the coaches saw "a lot of what we expected."

"Garrett ran well ... Ross (Stockhausen, fullback) just obliterated a few people," Piittmann went on, indicating what really pleased him was the fact "We didn't have any dumb penalties. We were very clean. I think we had only one holding call."

Looking at his quarterbacks, the coach said, "Chad (Piwoni, starter) and Casey (Scheel) both looked good," adding, "Ogi and Cain ran well on counters."

Kewaskum is expected to have a good mix of running and passing, and in the latter department, "(Matt) Parrent (tight end) had a couple nice catches. Ogi had one or two, and Jack (Breese) had a touchdown catch."

It wasn't just the first team that performed well, according to Piittmann, who said Dan Shea and Logan Staege ran hard when they got the opportunity. "There's a lot of competition (for positions), which is good," Piittmann said.

While Piittmann wasn't watching his own players, he tried to sneak in some looks at West Bend East, the Indians' opponent in Friday's opener (the game will be played in West Bend, starting at 7 p.m.). When asked how East looked, Piittmann said, "it's hard to tell because Milwaukee Madison was so bad."

Piittmann said the key to beating the Suns will be controlling the run and "slowing down their passing game. (Jon) Hess really throws a nice ball."

For tomorrow's game, the starting lineup on offense will be as follows: center — Robert Weber, guards — Jeff Thull and Jake Turowski, tackles — J.J. Logan and Bryan Daggett; ends — Parrent, Cain and Jeremy Gurholt; backfield — Piwoni, Donath and Stockhausen.

On defense, the following get the nod: ends — Staege and either Alex Waranius or Turowski; linemen — J.J. Logan and Daggett; inside linebackers — Thull, Kelly and Mike Pfothenauer; outside linebackers — a choice of Jon Olla, Stockhausen, Zach Wollner or Shea; and in the defensive backfield — Donath, Ogi, Mitch Paulus or Matt Rinzel.

The Indians came out of the scrimmage with only minor injuries and should be at 100 percent for Friday's game.

Dums, Corey each place fourth in County test

BY JUDY HARLOW

By virtue of a pair of fourth places, the Kewaskum High girls tennis team scored four points in Saturday's annual Washington County Tennis Tournament which was held at three sites in Slinger and Hartford.

Juniors Karissa Dums and Ashley Corey, playing at Nos. 3 and 4 singles, each got one win on the day to earn the fourths. Germantown captured the team title with 30 points, six ahead of perennial power West Bend East (24). Then came West Bend West and Hartford, tied for third at 20, followed by Slinger, 18; and Port Washington, 6. Kewaskum and Milwaukee King were tied for seventh. Each team scored 4 points.

Dums opened the tournament with a 6-1, 7-5 victory over Sam Weinberger of Port Washington, then she lost to West's Tina Nisleit, the eventual runner-up, by scores of 3-6, 0-6.

In the battle for third place, Dums fell to Slinger's Andja Borsch, 1-6, 0-6.

Corey lost her first set of the day, 2-6, then bounced back with some strong play to overtake King's Sameria Overton, 6-4, 6-1. In her next match, she ran into stiff competition from Nicole Thomson of Hartford, losing 1-6, 1-6. Thomson wound up taking second at No. 4 singles.

Then in the consolation finals, she won the first set over East's Caitlyn Burns by a score of 6-3 but could not maintain the advantage and fell 3-6 and 1-6.

"Ashley held her own very well for her first varsity competition," KHS Coach Dan Ross said, indicating he was unable to see any of Dums' matches because she was playing on different courts than where he was.

Ross was pleased with the efforts of Allie Kowalczyk at No. 1 singles. "She was up in her two matches and ended up losing both of them," Ross said, reporting Kowalczyk's serve is usually a strong part of her game but it failed her on Saturday.

Ross said Ashley Feucht played well at No. 2 singles, losing her two matches in three sets, while all the doubles teams fell in straight sets.
