Morning fog creates tough Tuesday commute

Morning fog contributed to an early morning crash at STH 144 and CTH H Tuesday, October 11. The crash unfolded as the driver of the above Asplundh truck drove through a stop sign while driving eastbound on CTH H. A complete story can be found on page 5

Weare remains unaffected by recall, says 'business as usual'

By Andrew Kuehl

KEWASKUM- As the deadline draws near for Northern Unit Kettle Moraine Citizens for Responsible Government (NUKM-CRG) to file their recall papers against school board member Neal Weare the group will make a final push and meet in Kewaskum's downtown parking lot on Thursday, October 13 from 4 to 7 pm to collect final signatures.

State law dictates that the recall papers must be turned in after the thirtieth day they are taken out, that would be this coming Sunday. However, school board president Gordie Dickman says the district office will not be open on Sunday and he is working with school district officials to come up with a compromise for the group.

Chairman of NUKM-CRG Bruce Bradigan reported Tuesday that they have collected over 1,500 signatures to attempt to remove stalwart Weare from office. The group needs 1,880 to start the recall election process.

"It's out of my hands, I will continue to do the best I can. Through the FTBG committee I chair, we've saved the taxpayers a lot of money. Recall or not it will be business as usual," stated Weare.

The group hit a roadblock on Friday while they attempted to collect signatures at the homecoming football game. School board clerk, Jean E. Goeden sent an email to Bradigan stating they were not allowed to collect signatures on school grounds.

"Recall or not it will be business as usual."

-Neal Weare
Kewaskum School Board Member

On Friday, after finding out that the group intended on collecting signatures on school grounds, Goeden in an email to Bradigan stated, "Please be advised that under the terms of Section 120.12(1) of the Wisconsin Statutes, the Board of Education has possession, care, control and management of the property of the School District. The Board of Education has not taken any action to designate school premises as an open public forum for unrestricted political activity by members of the public.

Activities of the type apparently intended by the NUKM-CRG, are not authorized on school premises. You are accordingly requested not to conduct literature distribution or solicitation of signatures upon school premises."

The group says they are seeking the advice of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) because the school board does not have a specific policy in place to prohibit this type of political activity. Dickman says the district does not have a specific policy in place but for clarification is working on one. He further stated that the Wisconsin Statute referenced by Goeden was adequate in this situation.

Wilcox gives an update on trip to Louisiana

Submitted Photo

By Amy Swanson
Statesman Correspondent
aswanson@kewaskumstatesman

"Life in Louisiana will never be normal again," said Betsy Wilcox, Executive Director of the Volunteer Center of Washington County who is literally knee deep in helping with hurricane recovery.

"The first impressions are a masking of the unreal situation by normal appearances," Wilcox said. "On the surface, everything is busy and sunny and 'normal'. Kids are celebrating Homecoming in Gonzales, Louisiana at East Ascension High School....But underneath, everyone is exhausted and everything is affected.

Eyes are hollow. People are working seven days a week. Shelves are bare. Pews are full of strangers. Neighborhoods are locking their doors. Traffic is so heavy that you have to double the time it takes you to get anywhere."

Wilcox left on October 5 for her 10-day assignment where she will help staff a call center at the United Way of Acadian Volunteer Center in Lafayette, Louisiana. Wilcox is staying with Audrey Boudreaux, executive director of the Acadiana Volunteer Center. She said everything she sees and hears makes an emotional impact she will never forget.

"Conversations about the most horrific of experiences are shared with the same normal tone as the weather," Wilcox said. "People stop to chat - not about the new baby or the homecoming game, but about where to find shelter, food and medicine. Questions asked are 'Have you gotten through to Red Cross yet?' 'Do you have your FEMA number with you?' 'Do you have anything with your home address on it?' and the most important question asked, 'How are you doing today?'"

"I was somewhat prepared to see homes damaged, people in shelter or maybe waiting in line for much needed supplies. What I was not prepared for was the evacuee priest describing his devastated church from the ninth Ward, joking about looters taking his associate's collar and clothes, and you should look twice at any people in clerical garb in the ninth ward -- how the flood waters ate the gold off the chalices."

"I was not prepared to see the evacuee children looking back with quiet and pain filled eyes, abnormally quiet while their parents describe their utter frustration with systems that are slow or create more roadblocks than help, in tears while they tell you because you care how they are doing."

The dignity is divine. "What I am most moved by is the dignity of the evacuees, and the dignified way that real caring and help is given to them by volunteers. People are taking time to listen to the stories of the evacuees if they can. Everyone has an important story to tell. I have never seen such problem-solvers as the volunteer managers of these programs in Gonzales. They are knowledgeable and connected and compassionate. They look for ways to accelerate relief. Their anger is not with the endless requests for help - but with the slow systems that are supposed to make the intolerable, tolerable."

"I have learned about southern hospitality at the hands of masters, Joey and Audrey Boudreaux and their incredible family. I am welcomed everywhere. I have met parish leaders, church volunteer managers, evacuees, and what seems like thousands of Boudreaux relatives. I am slowly learning, through Audrey's patience, about who has done what, and how things have gotten organized. I have learned about hurricanes, how they form and when to run for cover. I have learned about the sequence of the most incredible 35 days since Hurricane Katrina and then Rita, when they themselves took shelter and packed up the family pictures and office files in case the storm turned and blew out their windows. My speech is softening a little."

"I don't have a drawl yet," Wilcox said. "... The food here is spicy and unforgettable. The family party featured everybody's specialty and some unidentified meat in the big kettle that the most senior Boudreaux said was possum. The laughter never stops. Or the hugs. I have fallen into a soft place."

"Audrey and I have formed a heart-to-heart friendship. She is an indomitable spirit. Here they said that Hurricane Katrina came like Goliath and there stood Audrey with a sling-shot. She transferred the Volunteer Ascension telephone number to her house where she hunkered down with many of her family and relied on generator power. She set up a one-woman call center in her house. She and her Board of Directors worked with the parish (county) government and the Chamber to organize a local fund for hurricane relief. She connected volunteers to the first shelter set up outside of New Orleans.

In addition to volunteers, she handles the fund providing the much-needed supplies to the shelters and distribution center for hurricane relief - everything from bleach to gas

akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Tuesday's morning fog made for a hairy commute for some drivers in Washington and Fond du Lac counties as two serious crashes injured two drivers.

The first crash occurred in Washington County on STH 144 and CTH H at 7:28 am after an Asplundh tree trimming truck drove through a stop sign at that intersection.

Michael Rudie, of Mayville was driving the east-bound truck on CTH H when he missed the stop sign and hit a Ford F-250 pickup truck driven by Michael Kleinhans of Kewaskum. The Asplundh truck then overturned and came to rest on the roadway.

James Rogers, a passenger in the Asplundh truck was injured and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Kewaskum Ambulance.

A third vehicle, driving west-bound on CTH H attempting to avoid the overturned Asplundh truck and went into the ditch.

Boltonville First Responders and Fire Department responded to the scene as well.

In Fond du Lac County, on CTH B east of CTH K near Eden a second crash occurred at 8:03 am forcing the closure of CTH B from CTH V.

In that crash a semi tractor-trailer was stopped for a school bus loading children. While stopped, a car impacted the trailer of the semi and became embedded in the trailer. The driver and one passenger were transported to St. Agnes Hospital in Fond du Lac by Fond du Lac paramedics due to the severity of their injuries.

Power reduction earns environmental award for county department

Shop Superintendent Richard Schmidt, left, with Washington County Highway Commissioner Ken Pesch and the Orion Energy Services Environmental Stewardship Award presented recently to the county's vehicle maintenance department.

By reducing its electric power consumption substantially, the Washington County Vehicle Maintenance Department has earned an environmental Stewardship Award from Orion Energy Services, of Plymouth.

A reduction of some 158,041 kilowatt-hours (kWh) per year came about because of a change from outmoded metal halide lighting to Orion's energy efficient Illuminator TM T8 fluorescent lighting fixtures. All told, the department replaced 234 outmoded 450-watt metal halide lights with a similar number of 224-watt Orion Illuminator TM fixtures in the vehicle shop, wash and storage areas.

It also means cleaner air: over the 20-year expected lifespan of the Orion lighting fixtures, the power reduction will mean some 2,371 tons of carbon dioxide, 646 tons of carbon, 20 tons of nitrogen oxides and nine tons of sulfur dioxide that would have been produced by generating that electric power will not be released into the atmosphere at all. Or, stated another way, the power reduction is the equivalent of saving 287,347 gallons of gasoline or 6,842 barrels of fuel oil over the same 20-year span.

The power reduction has also meant a direct saving of some $13,700 per year for the county department, a lighting power cost reduction of 52%.

"Our electric bill was darned high," said shop superintendent Richard Schmidt, who spearheaded the retrofit project. "We were told to figure out ways to come up with lower power usage."

Despite the verified savings potential, Schmidt said, "it was a tough sell to the County Board. We had built a new shop and then another shop a year before so, understandably, there was quite a bit of resistance to changing lighting in a building that was only a year old. I give them credit for doing that."

"Important as they are, the cards, to medicine to pillows."

Wilcox has been helping Boudreaux electronically translate 88 pages of notes - Audrey's phone log throughout the hurricane relief efforts. "She needs to file reports with nearly every level of government," Wilcox said. "This will permit her to extract just what she needs. At the same time, we are taking all of the contact info for relief of all kinds out of her notes, verifying that they are still active and creating fact sheets for evacuees and to use as the call center resource. We are setting Audrey's Center up so that she won't be the only one able to handle the calls from now on."

In addition to fine-tuning the data collection system and creating the centralized resource, Wilcox will answer calls, tour the distribution center, and make follow-up calls to volunteers.

"Things are in flux now, as immediate hurricane response becomes recovery," Wilcox said. "But the quantity of calls still comes. Today, we didn't go to New Orleans because the violence is much higher there again. Tomorrow, I think I'll have the opportunity to go to one of FEMA's trailer parks for evacuees."

"As Audrey says, it is like moving a mountain one shovel full at a time. Gradually, the mountain is being moved. But the people wielding the shovels are not just tired, they are bone-weary. They can't finish anything and they can't fix it. They are working nonstop on only the highest priority in front of them at any moment. When they rest, they don't sleep."

benefits of this project do not end with cost savings, positive environmental impact and a better quality of light," commented Orion president Neal Verfueth. "Taking 158,041 kWh off the power grid benefits our economy because it tends to lessen the upward pressure on electric power rates by decreasing the demand - and that is an issue we are all facing."

Empty pockets never held anyone back. Only empty heads and empty hearts can do that.

"Points of Light made a remarkable and helpful move when it encouraged and then supported the deployment of Volunteer Center directors to Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi. The Volunteer Center director in Lafayette told Audrey when she fretted about taking a VC director's help, 'That's the beauty of it, Audrey - you don't have to train them to do anything! You just put them on it! They already know the work and how to manage volunteers. Use her to help you in any way you need.'"

"The Ascension Parish will never be the same again. They time mark every reference - was that before or after the hurricane? I am certain, that in my life, I will have the same mark. I am deeply affected by this experience. I see here the essence of volunteerism spirit and dedication and community. People doing this work are certain that their efforts matter to the person they are helping. And that is enough. Stalwart groups of volunteers have been working in a church program 10 hours a day, 7 days a week for 5 weeks straight - no air conditioning and no relief."

"The relief to people in need is in the hands of civilians now," said Dayna Mancuso, a volunteer with the Volunteer Ascension. "Systems are failing evacuees. Each of us has a split second decision - do I act on my impulse to help, or do I turn my back and pretend I don't see the need in front of me."

"Each of the many volunteers I have met, have all agreed on a few things - the systems have failed people...it's the individual volunteer effort that matters."

Looking for a family adventure? Try the Campbellsport Halloween Caper

CAMPBELLSPORT - The Campbellsport Area Chamber of Commerce (CACC) is excited to present the area's best Halloween Family Adventure on Thursday October 27th. The 12th annual Halloween Caper, will be from 5-9pm and will be held on the east end of Campbellsport at Columbus PARC.

It is such a unique event that no matter the age, from toddlers and kids to tweens and teens to parents and grandparents, all will have a spooktacular time. Events vary widely but will all have a Halloween theme. New this year to the event is Mr. Billy, a one man family entertainment act, who has done hundreds of shows all over the Midwest. Mr. Billy is sponsored by Campbellsport Building Supply, Lindsley Construction, and Johnson Bus. He will be having two shows, one at 6pm and one at 7:30pm.

Another new event is the Midway Stunt Team Show. Sponsored by Midway Skate Park, it will be a "box jump bike demo" at 6:45pm. Watch area athletes attempt "X-treme Games" type moves.

The traditional hay rides, courtesy of the Campbellsport FFA alumni, will be from 6-9pm. The haunted gym, one of the area's best haunted houses, will be open for this one night only. Many hours of labor from the Campbellsport FFA go into this great haunted thriller. Don't miss the chance for a good scare this Halloween season.

The Ben Franklin and Tru-Value are sponsoring a craft booth, where children can make Halloween decorations. Campbellsport 4-H also has a craft table. Face painting by NSP graphics will also be available all evening.

Pat Adams, from Auburn Bluffs, coordinates a tasty menu of seasonal good eats. This year is no exception. A wonderful selection of food will be available starting at 5pm.

For those who love to play, National Exchange Bank will be having a tent full of games for all the area's children. The Ben Franklin/Tru-Value is also sponsoring a space walk courtesy of their Rent-It-Center.

Costumes are encouraged for children and adults to add to the Halloween spirit. A children's costume parade led by Mr. Billy, followed by a costume contest, will be at 7pm.

"We can't wait. It is our only fund-raiser of the year," explains Jackie Lindsley, promotions and events committee chairperson and co-owner with her husband Jeff of Lindsley Construction. "If you've never attended or haven't attended for a few years, we think you will be amazed how much we have to offer for the entire family. It's going to be a great night."

All events are covered under one fee of $5 per person. The CACC believes it is not only a great time for family fun, it is also a great bargain. For complete event listings and more information please visit <http://www.campbellsport.org>.

S.S. American arriving soon

Members of the chorus rehearse for Kewaskum High School's upcoming performance of Anything Goes.

As the story continues in Anything Goes, Hope tries to interest her fiancé, Sir Evelyn in the romantic implications of moonlight. Sir Evelyn states that it is "somewhat overdone." Billy joins them and convinces Sir Evelyn that he is uncontrollably seasick and should go back to his state room and rest. You know what? The story line is getting too complicated for this writer, so I'm done, finished, going to bed, but there will be more next week as this writer tries to unravel the story and tell you more.

With what you know about the show and with this cast of so many great students, isn't it evident that you should make sure that Friday or Saturday, November 4 or 5, 2005 is cleared on your calendars? Just remember, you may purchase tickets beginning on October 17 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the music wing of the high school. After that you

And hey - all you senior citizens - don't forget the special performance for you on Thursday afternoon, 4 p.m. on November 3. This showing is free and we sure hope to see you all there at 4 p.m. in Rose Hall at Kewaskum High School.

- In Your Opinion -

Wisconsin must be prepared

By Governor Jim Doyle

It has been more than a month since Hurricane Katrina tore through New Orleans and much of the Gulf Coast. And although much of the mainstream media coverage has subsided, we must keep in the forefront the lessons that can be learned from this catastrophe. And we must make sure we are ready to respond if a disaster of this magnitude were to happen in Wisconsin.

Like many Wisconsin residents, I was deeply troubled by what I saw in Louisiana. We saw local, state, and federal officials arguing about who was in charge, resources being misdirected, supplies being turned away, and utter confusion among victims and responders alike.

That is why three weeks ago - I called on Major General Al Wilkening, Adjutant General of Wisconsin and Wisconsin's Homeland Security Advisor, to conduct a review of Wisconsin's preparedness plans. In light of what we saw happen in New Orleans, I felt it was absolutely necessary to learn as much as possible - as quickly as possible - about what went wrong and what went right, so that if something like Katrina happened here, Wisconsin's response would be swift and organized.

We are already headed in the right direction. In dealing with the recent tornadoes in south-central Wisconsin - and in mobilizing our own response to Hurricane Katrina - Wisconsin Emergency Management has shown remarkable coordination, helping countless people in the aftermath of these disasters, and saving lives.

But we have learned from Katrina that we can never be satisfied with our preparedness plans. Last Friday I was pleased to receive General Wilkening's review - and it's clear he and his team thoroughly examined our readiness plans, including our cities' evacuation plans, communication capability, and how we coordinate volunteers.

On the whole, Wisconsin is far better prepared than the Gulf Region was. But this report identifies some important areas on the state and local levels where we need to improve significantly. I am committed to leading this statewide effort to make those changes.

The report found that while each of Wisconsin's 72 counties has an evacuation plan that would work for the most likely types of emergencies - for our largest cities, those evacuation plans would not be adequate in the event of a large scale catastrophe like Hurricane Katrina.

To better prepare our cities, I have directed Wisconsin

Emergency Management to work with the 11 counties with the largest population centers to ensure that their plans could accommodate a mass evacuation. They will examine a wide range of issues, including how we evacuate vulnerable populations and whether adequate shelters are available.

Another lesson we learned is that our communications systems must be better coordinated between all levels of government and across various jurisdictions. We do not want one level of government arguing with another. And we do not want responders on the ground confused about what their mission is and who is in charge. Wisconsin will study its current communications systems and evaluate what needs to be done to ensure that all levels of government in all parts of the state can effectively communicate.

We are also asking the public to help. Together with the Red Cross, our goal is to recruit and train 1,000 more citizen volunteers statewide by the end of the year. These will be Red Cross certified volunteers - ready and able to deploy anywhere in Wisconsin or the rest of the nation on short notice.

This report is not a one-time review, and it is not something that will sit on a shelf somewhere. We will act on these recommendations, and will continue to evaluate Wisconsin's readiness in the weeks, months, and years ahead. The people of Wisconsin can have confidence that there is a team of incredibly smart, talented people who are constantly evaluating and improving Wisconsin's preparedness plans.

Thank You

Dear Editor:

Certain Members of the Kewaskum School continue their unprofessional, unethical practice in dealing with adversity. In this case, their own personal exposure and expulsion.

I'm referring to a recent incident that occurred at the Kewaskum High School Parking lot, just prior to the Homecoming Football Game, as I and other members of the NUK-CRG, collected signatures for the recall of School Board Member Neal Weare. I was approached by the School Principal and told I could not collect signatures on school property. What took place was a clear violation of our First Amendment Rights, and brought on by none other than Neal Weare's crony Jean E. Goeden, who used the Kewaskum School Principal as their hatchet person.

It seems that Weare, who is worried about the recall, got wind that we would be at the Football Homecoming, gathering signatures. So both he and Goeden put their heads together and used a State Statute (120.12(1)), which basically states that the Board of Education has control of all school property. This is all fine and well, however, there has never been any direct policy set forth by this Board, concerning matters such as this, until now.

So as not to create a disruption or cause a scene, we chose to leave quietly and peacefully. However, that only reinforces the fact that certain members on the School Board will stop at nothing to accomplish what it is they want.

Neal Weare continues to carry water for Jean Goeden, and he must be removed from the Board. We are asking for your support.

In conclusion I say this to the Kewaskum School Board, "We are not going away" we will continue to question and expose your inability to function for the good of our community.

Sincerely,

Bruce Braidigan

Dear Editor:

The weekend of October 1st and 2nd, I took my son to Green Lake County for the 2005 opener of the duck season. Being my 12 year-old son's first duck hunt, the event was long anticipated.

At the noon opening time my shotgun lay silent as my son made every available effort to harvest his first duck.

Historically, I would partake in every opportunity that I would be presented with to harvest waterfowl, but this time it was different. I found myself coaching, guiding and encouraging him. I explained that success is not measured in the numbers of critters in the bag at the end of the day, but rather in the cherished memories that are made through the experience of the hunt.

About 6:20 p.m. a lone blue winged teal turned to check out our decoy spread, my son fired. A perfect 30 yard shot. The overwhelming joy is indescribable. After many misses throughout the day, his determination finally paid off.

The next morning found us at the boat landing at 4:30 a.m., so as to provide us with plenty of time to set-up.

Just as dawn was breaking and the eastern sky had a deep orange glow, the lake came to life. Cormorants, white pelicans, turns, ducks, herons, blackbirds and coots filled the skies by the thousands. The event lasted most of a half an hour.

Our guns were silent as fowl blackened out the sky. My thoughts drifted into the past... into my first years of hunting that I shared with my father.

As the birds continued to appear from the endless skies my thoughts drifted to the present. Thanking God for putting me here at this time and place. I am so thankful for my beautiful wife, three gorgeous daughters and my son. I reaffirmed what I've always known, there is no place I'd rather be.

My son looked at me and said, "Dad, thank you for bringing me here and thank you for believing in me. This is so awesome."

We had not fired a shot. I smiled and he smiled back. We both gazed into the skies at nature's splendor.

Now, I am successful, I thought to myself.

I would like to thank the DNR Wardens and staff, the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service, Conservation Congress Representatives and all the sportsmen that support the protection of both game and non-game species. Without these folks, priceless experiences such as this would not exist. Wildlife management is the key to the future of all wildlife. Thanks to dad for taking his time to show me who I am and thanks to God for making me a part of this beautiful world.

Special thank you to Suzanne Bingen for her input on the doves. Every fall they leave the feeders to hit the grain fields just before migration. They'll be back to her feeder. This is nature. We are all a part of it.

It is time that the dove issue is put to rest.

It is sad that she holds on to a bitter resentment toward hunting. It is to me something that she cannot understand.

I am grateful to be a hunter.

Thank you, God Bless
David T. Ehlers

Dear Editor:

We all watched the tragic loss of life and property throughout the Gulf States last month. For most of us, these events happened to "other" people and we were affected to the extent that our television and newspapers unveiled these tragic natural events. It has been a testament to the American spirits, as hundreds of thousands of people have rallied to help fellow citizens with food, clothing and financial aid.

Today, your help is needed right here at home. The United Way of Washington County is currently conducting its annual fall campaign. Your donation, however large or small it may be, helps us fund 46 individual programs, administered by 22 non-profit United Way agencies. Most of all, your donation will help people right here at home. Did you know that the United Way touches one of every three people in their lifetime? We help your friends, neighbors, relatives and co-workers. And we'll be there for you in your time of need should it arise. The United Way of Washington County works for all of us, 24-hours-a-day, 365-days-a-year. That work is accomplished thanks to donations from people just like you. I am asking for your help.

If your company is running an employee campaign this year, please help out by making a personal donation. If you are self employed, retired or work outside of Washington County, please contact us at 262-338-3821 or at www.unitedwayof-washingtoncounty.org and ask how you can join in and make a difference right here at home. The United Way is you and me, helping both friends and strangers in their time of need. Please give generously to the United Way of Washington County.

Peter Knaup, developer of the Meadow Creek apartment complex, appeared before the Kewaskum Board of Appeals public hearing Thursday evening to ask the Board to approve his request to construct a 25-unit elderly apartment complex rather than a 12-unit "maximum" building as set forth in the zoning ordinance. Zoning Administrator Richard Zarling stated that after reviewing the ordinance and Knaup's request, his recommendation would be to approve the request. The Board told Knaup they had 30 days to act on his request and would notify him of their decision.

Some time during last Sunday night the soft drink parlor of Joe Herriges of St. Michaels was robbed when burglars entered the building by prying one of the doors of the building open. The loot taken amounts to several boxes of candy and two slot machines. The total amount thought to have been in these machines is $40. One of the machines was found lying in the river one mile east of here, but the money had been taken out.

A fire which started in a straw stack near Wolf's lumber yard at Lomira last Sunday morning, caused a loss of over $25,000. The lumberyard, store building and residence of Peter Wolf, Charles Koepenick's Livery, and Mrs. Metke's store was totally destroyed and several other buildings were damaged. It looked for a time as though everything east of the hill would be destroyed.

The film Left Behind: World at War opens this month in churches around the nation. You can view this newest end time political thriller at Campbellsport Alliance Church on Sunday, October 23, 2005 at 7 p.m. The film stars Kirk Cameron and Academy Award winner, Lou Gossett Jr.

Left Behind: World at War is based on the latest part of the best-selling "Tribulation Force" by Tim LaHaye and Jerry Jenkins. It follows the lives and struggles of those left behind on Earth after the rapture of the church as foretold in the Bible.

One of the characters in the Left Behind series is President Gerald Fitzhugh. He lives in a different world, ever since the world was hit with the biggest catastrophe it had ever seen 1 1/2 years ago. Without warning and without explanation, hundreds of millions of people simply vanished off the face of the earth. The world was in chaos like it had never been before.

Yet somehow one man seemed to rise to the challenge. One man had the strength and conviction to unite a shattered world. One man gave the world hope. That man was Nicolae Carpathia. He now rules the entire world.

Fitzhugh, like most of America, whole-heartedly supports Nicolae's new global leadership, but there are those who do not. A dangerous militia movement and an underground group of born-again Christians actively, but separately, work to bring Nicolae down. Their reasons for resistance may be different, but both groups are labeled as dangerous terrorists that Fitzhugh must stop without mercy.

After an attempt on his life, Fitzhugh begins to look closer at Nicolae and his new World Government. He forces Buck Williams, an international journalist who has an inside tract to Nicolae, to help him. Buck is a Christian and believes Nicolae is actually the prophesied Antichrist, but Fitzhugh wants facts - not stories.

With the help of a Militia Spy, Fitzhugh uncovers the government's horrific plans for genocide and quickly he joins the very resistance he had sacrificed so much to destroy. Meanwhile thousands are infected with the government's deadly manufactured virus, including Buck's new wife, Chloe Steele, and his mentor, Pastor Bruce Barnes.

With time running out both Fitzhugh and Buck must take the toughest decisions of their lives. Will Fitzhugh sacrifice the lives of millions to ultimately save America? Can Buck lead Fitzhugh to the real truth about Nicolae before it's too late? And after the smoke clears: who will survive World War III?

Cloud Ten Pictures at no cost. Campbellsport Alliance Church is located at N1876 Hwy. V in Campbellsport. For more information about the October 23 viewing, contact Pastor Doug Birr at 920-533-5123.

from 1650 - 1840 complete with tents, tomahawks and tee-pees.

"It's a way of life," said Henrietta Swift-Schmid of West Bend, who has been a Bucksinner for 21 years. Swift-Schmid said all of her five children grew up with Bucksinnering and even as adults, continue to stay involved - grandchildren too.

"It's a family affair," Swift-Schmid said. "There is work, but these are our homes. Sometimes you are closer to these people here in camp than you are to your own family."

Swaaddled in a flannel chemise, three-month old Kane Beaty and his two-year-old sister, Payton were a couple of the youngest campers this weekend. Their mother, Jennifer Beaty of Richfield has been a Bucksinner for 17 years, starting out as an Explorer Scout. "The people here are so great," she said. "It's like one big family. The kids have so much fun here. They are in everything. Sometimes it's hard for me to get her (Payton) back in the house when we get home."

Bucksinnering or "skinning" as it is often called relives the trading era, where Beaver skins were a hot commodity.

"We have a lot of history buffs," Swift-Schmid said of the campers.

In February there is a large indoor encampment in Oshkosh where campers learn about other encampments throughout the state and even throughout the country. Swift-Schmid said she has camped at a few national encampments and hopes to camp in Colorado next year. "The indoor rendezvous is a way for people to know where events are and buy things that they need for themselves, too."

Each camper sets up their own tent and brings their own equipment. Swift-Schmid said Bucksinnering could be an expensive hobby, but she said the equipment is worth the cost. "The tee-pee at this weekend's rendezvous cost $2,500. All of Swift-Schmid's rendezvous equipment fits into a 2 1/2 Ton trailer...that's 5,200 pounds of history."

Clothes are made or traded for other goods, Swift-Schmid said. Because Bucksinnering is a popular hobby countryside, there are stores where Bucksinnerers can buy clothes. "We get to wear very funny clothes," Swift-Schmid said. "It's like playing dress-up for a week."

At camp, all meals are prepared over the fire, Swift-Schmid said, and in camp, the men cook too.

"In the morning, the men get up to cook breakfast...sausage, eggs

"Iaters go with everything." Although the irresistible smell of kettle corn won't overtake the tastes, this weekend, "the food was really good and I learned a lot," said Katie Jahr of West Bend, who visited the encampment with her cousin Megan Wolf, also of West Bend. "I thought it was very interesting. The tomahawk throwing was very cool," Wolf said.

The Friends of Kewaskum have already started talking about next year. If adequate funding can be arranged, the group is hoping to bring the National Lumber Jack Championships to the event.

Kuehl stated that the event would not have been possible without the financial contributions by The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, The Statesman, Gede's Piggy Wiggy, Regal Ware, The Kewaskum Kiwanis, Little Folks Schoolhouse and Campbellsport Building Supply. She also stated that services provided by Johnson Bus and Serve Implement played an important part of the festival as well as the many businesses that donated raffle prizes.

To make sure the festival's success is continued, and to bring the lumberjack show, sponsorships by businesses are needed. For more

Lennon Revealed

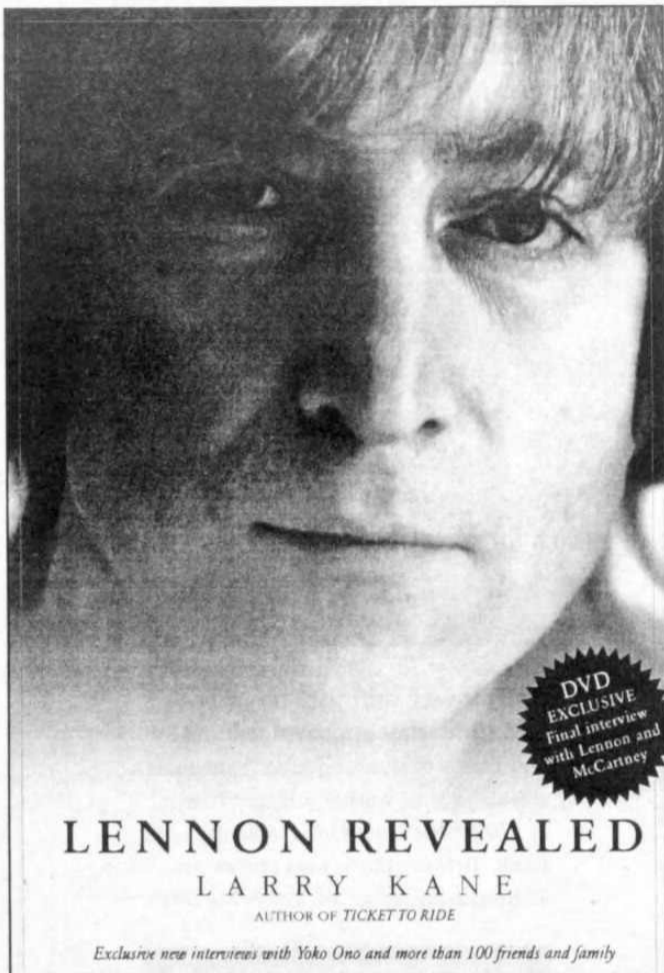

By Larry Kane

Running Press c.2005 $29.92 (includes DVD)

Food for Thought

By Amy Swanson

What were you doing on February 9, 1964?

If you were under the age of 18 on that day, chances are, you were sitting inches away from the TV; so close, in fact, that your dad was hollering about how you were ruining your eyes, watching those darn Mop Tops on The Ed Sullivan Show.

Did you know that John Lennon hated that moniker: "Mop Top"? That's just one juicy little fact in the new memoir "Lennon Revealed" by Larry Kane.

When Larry Kane got the news assignment to cover a bunch of musicians for his radio-station employer, he was not happy. Kane imagined himself a "serious journalist," and these musicians were not serious. Nevertheless, he joined the tour with four young men from Liverpool. It was a trip that would last for decades.

Kane became good friends with John Lennon, and he followed Lennon's career from that day in 1964 until the night Lennon was gunned down outside his apartment building. Over the years, Kane and Lennon had disagreements. Lennon spoke out vehemently against the Vietnam War; Kane joined the US Air Force Reserve and served his country. Kane took a lesser job in order to spend time with his family; Lennon, who was a "stay-at-home dad" at the time, initially became angry over Kane's decision.

While the two remained friends despite their differences, Kane says that Lennon had two women and a man who most influenced his life. Although Beatles fans vilify Yoko Ono, Kane says that she was the driving creative force behind Lennon's genius. Then there was the gentle and loving May Pang, who Kane says was Lennon's nurturer. Beatles fans may not realize it, but Ono pushed Lennon into the affair with Pang, and although many people said that the affair ended in the 1970s, Kane says that it continued until Lennon's death in 1980.

And then there was the man that Kane says was Lennon's best friend and the man he loved most: Stu Sutcliffe, who was considered to be one of the "original" Beatles. Curiously, although friends of the two say that Lennon loved Sutcliffe very much, Lennon once beat Sutcliffe to within an inch of his life. To this day, Sutcliffe's family is angered at Lennon's behavior following the death of his "best friend."

"Lennon Revealed" is one of those books that can be both frustrating and satisfying. Author Larry Kane jumps around a lot in his chapters, bouncing from 1964 to 1980 to 1971 and back again, which means you may need to switch gears quickly while you're reading. On the other hand, Beatles fans won't have any problem following along, and the nuggets of information that Kane metes out are deliciously fun to read.

If you are not a Beatles fan, you'll find this book a hard day's night to read. If you grew up coveting Beatles boots, arguing over who was the cutest Beatle, or trying to sneak long hair past your dad, then this book definitely shines on for you.

Are you ready for some football???

It's that time of year again... pigtails season.

"Can you hear it?" my husband asks me the morning Monday Night Football is set to kick off. "Hear what?" I ask.

"The roaring crowds. The sounds of clashing helmets and pads...the sound of pigtails as it flies through the air."

"I hear nothing," I said and went about my day as a Supermom...able to feed three children in a single bound.

I have not seen him in this good of a mood since he taught our oldest son to throw a spiral. It was an event that brought tears to his eyes, which didn't even happen on our wedding.

"Oh wait," I said. "I can hear it."

He looked so amazed. "You can?"

"Yes, I hear the sounds of two boys wrestling down the stairs and a two year old girl jumping off of her bed. I hear hungry children. I hear backpacks wanting to be packed. I hear permission slips waiting to be signed. Snack bags that need to be filled. Lunch boxes screaming for food...and a mother looking for her sanity and a grown-up husband."

"Do you hear it?" I said.

"I hear nothing," he said as he buttered his toast.

My goodbye kiss was replaced with a high five and the kids all got tackled to the ground as my husband grunted goodbye in the official pigtails language. I was surprised he didn't wear his high school football jersey under his business clothes, but I can't be sure, he didn't have his old cleats on instead of loafers. I know he wasn't wearing a helmet.

Football season is a celebration of life for my husband. Two of our three children were born during football season. Our oldest son was born during pre-season and our middle son was born nine months after the Packers won the Superbowl... absolutely not a coincidence.

In the car the other day my husband very sincerely turned to me and said, "Since football season only lasts five months, I would really appreciate it if I could watch all of the Sunday games...and college games on Saturday...and Monday night games. I don't think that's asking a lot, since it's only five months of the year."

I very sincerely laughed in his face.

"I let you watch your Desperate Housewives show every week," he said.

"Oh, I'm so sorry," I replied.

"Thank you so much for allowing me to take care of all of your children seven days a week, making sure they are fed, their homework is done and they have clothes on, so that I can then watch a one-hour television show one day a week that SO MUCH resembles our own lives. Thank you. I didn't realize how flexible you really are from that sofa where you are watching SUNDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL!"

"Your welcome," he said confidently.

This is a man, who I adore completely....ahem...seven months of the year, who knows more statistics about players and can figure out averages better than the balance in our checkbook.

He is passionate about pigskin and is passing that down to our boys. Our eight-year old son just started football this fall. I thought I saw a tear in his father's eye the first time our son strapped on his flags and marched onto the field with 15 other eight-year olds. Oh, wait; the tear in his father's eye came when our son ducked from catching the ball that was thrown to him.

Oh well, it's only five months of the year.

Two-classroom power saving earns environmental award for MPTC

A lighting retrofit that reduced annual energy consumption by some 48,229 kWh -- the environmental equivalent, according to Federal EPA formulas, of saving 3,981 gallons of gas per year, creating a nine-acre woods or removing eight cars from the road -- has earned Moraine Park Technical College an Environmental Stewardship Award presented by Orion Energy Services of Plymouth.

"We're really excited about the results we're seeing from this project," said Tim Flood, Moraine Park's facilities manager, who spearheaded the project. "Any time we can save money and help the environment, it's a great thing. Getting recognized for our efforts, is just frosting on the cake."

Besides the savings mentioned above, the 48,229 kWh reduction will keep some 47 tons of CO2, thirteen tons of carbon and 400 lbs. of sulfur dioxide out of the air each year.

All told, Moraine Park replaced 55 outmoded 400-watt metal halide and one older fluorescent fixtures in two classrooms with 53 4-lamp illuminator * T-8 fluorescent fixtures made by Orion. The power saving -- some 56 percent -- reduced operating costs from about $7,347 annually to about $3,371.

"We're really seeing the benefits," Flood said. "Not only are we realizing a cost savings, but we're also receiving a ton of compliments from staff and students about how bright this area is and how low maintenance it has been."

"We're always glad to see a chunk of power like MPTC's 48,229 kWh per year come off the state's power grid," said Neal Verfuert, Orion president. "Besides the financial and environmental benefits involved, it means less power is being demanded on the grid -- and stabilization of electric power supplies is an issue we're all facing."

"By presenting MPTC with our Environmental Stewardship Award, Orion wants to highlight the fact that this energy efficient lighting project was good for everyone -- good for the school's bottom line, good for employee and student relations, good for the environment, good for our energy future."

"Best of all, though, MPTC didn't have to 'do without' or give up something to get these benefits because the Orion lights will pay for themselves relatively quickly. That is the way we think things should always work."

Moraine Park Technical College offers more than 80 areas of study at the associate degree and technical diploma level as well as short-term learning opportunities and apprenticeships. With campuses in Beaver Dam, Fond du Lac and West Bend and regional centers in Ripon and Hartford, the College serves an area that includes 26 K-12 school districts and covers all or parts of 10 counties. Located in Plymouth, WI, Orion Energy Systems has been innovating in the energy and lighting business since 1996. Visit the Orion website at <http://www.oriones.com/> for more information.

Village Board Meeting Minute

Village of Kewaskum
Plan Commission Meeting
August 30, 2005
7:00 P.M.

The Plan Commission of the Village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, held their regular meeting in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

Chairperson Mathew Heiser called the meeting to order at 7:00 pm. Andy Pesch asked to be excused and was absent. Chad Cook was absent. The following Commissioners were present: Commissioners Frank Beesten, Theodore Meilahn and Jim Wright. Also in attendance were Village Engineer Ken Ward, Village Zoning and Building Inspector Gordon Hoffmann, Director of Public Works Jerry Gilles, Michael and Kerie Kunkel and Gary Gavin. The audience contained numerous residents from the Old Glory Heights Subdivision.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

Chairperson Heiser opened the meeting and requested approval of the minutes of the July 26, 2005 meeting. Theodore Meilahn asked that they be amended to reflect the presence of Commissioner Chad Cook at the meeting. A motion made by Frank Beesten, seconded by Jim Wright and carried unanimously by voice vote the Plan Commission approved the minutes as amended for July 26, 2005.

Ken Ward of Ruckert & Mielke, Inc. presented the proposed 7,340 square foot conceptual building and site plan for Land O' Lakes Purina Feed to be placed on the NW corner of Badger Road and USH "45". Michael Kunkel explained that his business would be retail only and employ 5-7 people with ground breaking this fall and a tentative occupancy of February 1, 2006. The Commission inquired if there would be a problem using a shared driveway with Badger Packaging and were informed there would not be. They also wanted to make sure the building would fit in architecturally with the adjacent TID Business PUD. On a motion by Jim Wright, seconded by Theodore Meilahn and carried unanimously by voice vote, the Plan Commission approved the conceptual/site/building plan.

Gary Gavin presented his conceptual plat plan for the 109,458-acre parcel known as the Regal Ware property located at 4144 Hwy H, west of Kiwanis Park. He stated it would be a Planned Unit Development with approximately 90 units consisting of single family and duplex placed on 75 x 150 foot pads. The land is environmentally sensitive and contains 5 - 6 ponds and due to the numerous wetland areas, the exact layout of the plat may be subject to adjustment by the DNR. The plan presented showed Kettleview Drive extending north to the approximately 10 acre parcel that he intends to donate to the Village for additional parkland and then going west to the next unplatted parcel. This would be in accordance with the jurisdictional plan and utilize the 80-foot easement that has been dedicated for the purpose of extending Kettleview Drive to Hwy 28. Due to the 800-1,000 feet of swamp to the west of Sunset Estates subdivision and the C-1 and C-2 conditions of the north portion of this parcel, the DNR would not let him extend Kettleview Drive through to Hwy 28 when developing this plat. The Commission inquired where the water and sewer would be connected to the plat. Mr. Gavin stated that water is available at three different connections and the sewer would be provided by access through Reagan Road and the Kiwanis Park.

Frank Beesten commented on the abundance of trees in the plat and Mr. Gavin stated it is his intent to save as many as possible and that the 100 feet of evergreens will stay.

Terry Salamone, on behalf of the residents of Old Glory Heights who abut the proposed development, raised their concerns about the safety of their children with having a road in front of and to the rear of their properties. Frank Beesten noted that not one of these residents had a fence around their property but was quickly informed fences are not allowed in the covenants of the subdivision, even though some have had them erected. Ms. Salamone went on to say that the proposed extension of Kettleview Drive would have a negative effect on their property values, especially two homes which will have streets on three sides and they would lose the privacy and beauty provided by the mature trees that are on the property to their west. Katie Schneider reiterated that the oldest house on their block is 5 years old and there are no mature trees in the subdivision. Again Mr. Gavin assured them he would try to preserve as many as possible.

Many residents were also concerned about traffic to the extension of the Kiwanis Park. The Commission explained that the addition of approximately 250 parking stalls is badly needed at the park, especially in light of the recent ADA accessibility issues raised. It would also alleviate traffic currently experienced by those residents on Edgewood Road and Brooklane Drive.

Lloyd Spaeth of Old Glory Heights presented to the developer and Commission some possible alternatives for road placement through the proposed development. After over an hour of discussion by the residents, Chairperson Mathew Heiser declared it cease, as the extension of Kettleview Drive became the obvious main issue. Ken Ward advised numerous times that this was designed as a collector street into a main arterial street and that if its placement were to be revised, the Village should first check with its long range planning advisor, SEWRPC.

Discussion continued to address the options available, with the homeowners in attendance agreeing that if the road were adjusted to the west without the Village vacating their easement, the placement and maintenance of sidewalks in the 20-foot closest to Old Glory Heights would be acceptable. Mr. Gavin did state that if the collector or Village street were adjusted, more trees would be lost than in the conceptual plan before the Commission.

On a motion by Frank Beesten, seconded by Jim Wright and approved by majority voice vote, the Plan Commission sent the conceptual plan to the Village Board with a favorable recommendation, subject to possible revisions to the jurisdictional street plan, provided that any street entering off of Hwy H be one with a 66-foot ROW. (Theodore Meilahn voted "Nay").

On a motion by Jim Wright, seconded by Theodore Meilahn and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Commission adjourned the meeting. Roll call vote was 4 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 2 "Absent".

Village Board Meeting Minute

Village Board Meeting
September 19, 2005
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Mathew A. Heiser presided. All other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present. Also in attendance were Village Attorney Gerald Kiefer, Village Engineer Ken Ward, all department heads, Developer Gary Gavin, a number of residence from the Old Glory Subdivision and a couple citizens from the TID No. 2 area.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Thomas Piwoni, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch and unanimously carried voice vote, approved the minutes of August 22, 2005 as printed.

Mr. Steve Jung and Mrs. Christine Jung of The Candy Tree, 230 Main Street were present to ask the Village Board to authorize the posting of the one parking stall on Main Street in front of their business, limiting parking time of two hours during normal business hours of 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday thru Saturday. After a brief discussion a motion by Trustee Derek Petersen, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the placement of one such parking restriction sign as requested.

The sealed bids as advertised for and opened on September 15, 2005 for a 10" force main burst TID No. 2 - Hwy 45 - Fond du Lac Avenue Forced Main were reviewed as follows:

Woleske Construction
Green Bay, WI	$208,847.00
Globe Contractors
Pewaukee, WI	$220,182.00
Super Excavators, Inc
Menomonee Fall, WI	$283,950.00

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and carried by majority roll call vote the Board suspended the rules to take up IX. New Business Items A. B. C. D. and E.

President Heiser asked the Administrator to start out the discussion regarding the topic pertaining to the Regal Ware property located at 4144 Hwy H West. It was noted the Plan Commission met on August 30, 2005 and reviewed a concept plan for the noted Regal Ware property. The discussion was lengthy and surrounded the main access road. The action taken by the Commission was not clear and following said meeting two alternative concept plans were brought in for review. The Village Attorney Gerald Kiefer, Village Engineer Ken Ward and Administrator said the proper procedure is to take the matter back to the Plan Commission for further review and discussion. Trustee Kevin Scheunemann insisted that the Village Board should have the ability to accept or reject the current recommendations of the Plan Commission. In the audience about fifteen citizens from the area were present. They had concerns about not taking action at this meeting, but were told that the Board should use proper procedure. Trustee Thomas Piwoni made a motion to refer the matter to the Plan Commission but Attorney Kiefer indicated it was necessary to have a motion to reject the recommendation and to refer the matter back to the Plan Commission. Trustee Thomas Piwoni withdrew his motion. Some continued discussion was held and on a motion by Trustee Harry Roecker, seconded by Trustee Derek Petersen and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board rejected the recommendation and referred the matter back to the Plan Commission. It was noted the next Plan Commission meeting is scheduled for September 27, 2005 at 7:00 p.m.

Ken Ward of Ruekert & Mielke, Inc presented the recommendation of the Engineers on the award of the bid for the TID No. 2, Hwy 45 - Fond du Lac Avenue, Forced Main project as advertised and bid on September 15, 2005 to the low bidder, Woleske Construction, Green Bay, WI at a cost of $208,847.00

Ken Ward of Ruekert & Mielke reviewed with the Board an extra request for TID No. 2 - Phase 1 - Pond Liner. The DNR determination that wetland exists in the location of where the ponds were to be placed and that the soil condition of the ponds within the new location deem it necessary to use a clay liner in the ponds. Alternates had to be looked at as to how and meet those requirements. The most cost affective solution is to bring in and place a 2-foot thick clay liner for both proposed ponds. Clay has been located and the estimated cost is $119,700.00. This would be an increase to the TID cost, but at the same time with the relocation of the ponds the downsizing of the storm sewer infrastructure occurs creating a decrease of an equal amount. On a motion by Trustee Andy Pesch, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board authorized the purchase and placement of the clay liners.

The topic of the Harold Schladweiler and Kurt Schmidt - Well Replacement was reviewed with the Board.

Beginning with the Schladweiler well discussion it was noted that their private hand dug well of 24-foot depth has been impacted by the placement of the new sanitary sewer main for the TID No. 2. A quote for the installation of a new well from Carl Klemme Well Drilling is $6,289.95. The Engineers recommend the work stating that the trench dewatering was the probable cause of the existing well problems. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board approved the installation of the replacement well as recommended.

Following up with the second well discussion for Schmidt it was noted that they have two private hand dug wells, one 13-foot deep and one 16-foot deep. The probability that our operations have affected them is high as to the new sanitary sewer main for the TID No. 2. A quote for the installation of a new well from Carl Klemme Well Drilling to replace both dug wells is $9,290.95. The Engineers recommended the work stating that the trench dewatering was the probable cause of the existing well problems. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board approved the installation of the replacement well as recommended.

A letter was reviewed to affirm purchase of excess Wisconsin Department of Transportation Right-Of-Way and purchase thereof at a cost of $21,000.00 to be traded for additional Badger Road and Prospect Road ROW. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board authorized the ROW purchase and trade.

Ken Ward of Ruekert & Mielke indicated that the TID No. 2 project involving Prospect Drive will be costing additional money because of the soil condition found in the existing road bed. This will need to be covered from the projects contingency fund as will the road ROW acquisition. The estimated cost will be $49,000.00. Village Attorney Gerald Kiefer and Village Engineer reviewed the Rompala Developers Agreement. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board authorized the signing of said Developers Agreement.

Fire Chief Mark Groeschel presented the August 2005 report:

Fire calls	4	Year to date	23

Police Chief Richard Knoebel presented the August 2005 report:

Police Chief Richard Knoebel indicated the High School Principal, Christine Horbas, was to provide a letter regarding the effects of the truancy ordinance. A letter was not received, but it was mentioned that truancy prior to the ordinance was at 4% to 5% and now it is down to 1%.

Director of Public Works, Jerry Gilles reported on the following:

1) Reported that the RHP playground equipment purchase by Gary and Linda Gavin has been installed. The cost of said equipment was $9,297.41. A thank you will be sent. The Village's share for the fall zone along with meeting fall zone updating at existing equipment within the parks was $4,100.00 plus labor. It was further reported the walkway at KKCP has been completed. The alley off of Second Street has also been completed.

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the issuance of Operator's Licenses renewals and new, for 2005/2006 upon proper payment of fees and documentation for the following as recommended by the Police Department:

Bequest, Lisa L.	Jackson, WI

The police had no objections to those listed above.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt reviewed the following with the Board:

- 5) Review of correspondence from Trustee Kevin Scheunemann regarding the use of Eminent Domain Powers. Also correspondence and a copy of said bill from the Mid-Moraine Municipal Association.

Sheriff's Comments

By Brian K. Rahn
Washington County Sheriff

Fire prevention week

Over the next two weeks we will be reminded of the importance of fire safety. Fire departments and fire personnel will remind all of us of the dangers of fire and provide fire safety tips to help all of us.

October 9 - 15 is National Fire Prevention Week. My reason for writing this article is not to lecture on fire safety, as I will leave that to the men and women of the fire departments throughout Washington County. This is my opportunity to be the voice of the men and women of the Washington County Sheriff's Department and thank all of the Washington County Fire Departments and their members for their continued dedication and commitment to the residents of Washington County and the surrounding counties.

Washington County residents have a lot to be proud of. We are fortunate to have dedicated, well trained, full-time and volunteer members of very professional Fire Departments throughout Washington County. At times the services provided by our local fire departments can be taken for granted.

The fire departments of Washington County will be hosting open house events at each of their respective departments beginning on Friday, October 7, 2005, with the Fire Prevention Week kick-off at Richfield Square.

Please watch for the postings and information on the dates and times for the open house in your area. Show your support and appreciation by stopping in during the open house and tell the members of our local fire departments "Thank You".

UW System Chemistry Faculties Meeting at UWWC

The 32nd annual UW System Chemistry Faculties meeting will be held at UW-Washington County (UW-WC) on October 14 and 15, 2005. It is being hosted by the Chemistry Department at UW-WC. The theme is "Teaching and Learning Chemistry: Current Trends and Future Directions." Chemistry faculty from across the state will converge in West Bend for this annual meeting that includes the departments of chemistry, biochemistry and biomolecular chemistry of all 26 UW campuses.

Friday afternoon's agenda begins at 4:00pm and includes posters, exhibits and important networking opportunities. At 7:30pm, Dr. John C. Warner, Professor of Chemistry and Director for the Center for Green Chemistry at the University of Massachusetts will present the keynote address. His lecture is entitled: "Green Chemistry Education: Necessary Steps to a Sustainable Future."

On Saturday, October 15, three additional keynote speeches will be presented as follows:

- "Creating, Using and Testing Software Tools for Students and Instructors" by Dr. William J. Vining, Professor, Chemical Education, Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry, State University of New York (SUNY), College at Oneonta (8:30am)

- "CHEMX: Assessing Cognitive Expectations for Learning Chemistry" by Dr. Stacey Lowery Bretz, Professor of Chemistry, Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry, Miami University, Ohio (9:40am)

- "Challenges for Chemists" by Dr. Charles P. Casey, ACS Immediate Past President, Homer B. Adkins Professor, Department of Chemistry, University of Wisconsin-Madison (10:50am)

Group discussions on a variety of topics including assessment issues, diversity issues in STEM, grant collaboration, laboratory issues, and technology issues will follow the speeches.

According to Dr. Mohamed Ayoub, who is chairing the planning committee for the event, "This is special opportunity for our campus and we are excited to be able to host this important event." In prior years, the event was hosted at UW-Milwaukee (2004), UW-Stevens Point (2002), UW-Madison (2001) and UW-LaCrosse (2000).

For more information about this event, see the meeting website at: <http://www.uwc.edu/dept/chemistry/meeting/index.html> or contact Dr. Mohamed Ayoub, Chemistry Department at UW-WC at (262-335-5234).

Korth hits the jackpot, earns a spot in the Division 2 State Golf Tournament

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

History was made Monday, Oct. 3rd when Katelyn Korth qualified for the WIAA Division 2 State Golf Tournament.

"The varsity girls golf team had a great day because it qualified its No. 1 golfer, Kate Korth, for the State Tournament," coach Carol Martin beamed about her player's accomplishment at the tough Brown Deer Course, where the PGA Tournament makes an annual stop in July.

Korth fired a 49-52-101 for the third and final spot among the individual qualifiers. Korth had gone to play at Brown Deer over the weekend, and the practice round probably helped her to stay away from many of the thousand trees lining the fairways. Still Korth was not able to solve the course's greens.

"Kate hit her tee shots extremely well but continues to struggle with her putter," Martin said, reporting her top player wound up with nine, three-putts. Even eliminating four of them would have meant a 97 instead of 101.

"Her round was still good enough, as many of the athletes struggled with the obstacles that the Brown Deer course provides," Martin said.

The Indians finished sixth out of the eight Division 2 teams that qualified for the sectional at Brown Deer. They finished with 471 strokes for the low four finishers in the 18-hole test.

Fox Valley Lutheran captured the sectional title and earned the right to advance to University Ridge. The Foxes came in with a 403, led by Alexa Arent's fine 92.

The other team which played in the state meet Monday and Tuesday was Appleton Xavier, with 423.

The meet medalist was Xavier's Kim Sippl, who carded an excellent 43-44-87.

Martin said Renee Wetzel, who also played a practice round at Brown Deer, "had a pair of good nines, with a 58 and 57 (for 115)," and senior April Lettow, new to the sport of golf this fall, "conquered the par threes and also carded her first birdie." She finished with a 62-68-130.

Nicole Rimmel was the Indians' other counter but she was far off her average, shooting a 57-68 for a 125.

Two teams from each of the three sectionals are sent to the state tournament, along with the low three individuals who are not from those qualifying teams.

The other individuals, besides Korth, are Nicole Commons, a senior from Bonduel, who carded an 88 and Emma Neuman, a junior from Wrightstown, who shot 97.

Korth, the daughter of "Jonsey" Korth and Jane Korth, has been on the Kewaskum varsity team since her freshman year. As the daughter of the owners of Hon-E-Kor Country Club, she literally grew up with golf.

Kate Korth, Kewaskum High's first-ever female golfer to qualify for the Division 2 State Tournament, fired a 102 Monday in the opening round of the 36-hole even at the University Ridge Golf Course near Verona.

Korth came in with scores of 53 and 49, according to a news release from the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Leading the team standings in the event was Madison Edgewood, which posted a 356 from its low four players. The Edgewood team was holding a five-stroke lead over St. Croix Falls.

In the race for the Division 2 medal, two girls, Kelsie Pasolt of Hayward and Osceola's Lindsay Danielson, were tied with 76s.

The tournament was set to conclude on Tuesday.

Turkey vultures, snakes and scarecrows

What do they all have in common? They will be a part of the eighth annual Halloween Nature Hikes at the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit. This year's hikes will be celebrating nature's unlovable, unhuggable critters. The hikes will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 pm on Friday, October 21, and Saturday, October 22 at the Long Lake Recreation Area. Long Lake is located off of Division Road north of County Hwy F near Dundee.

There is a Scarecrow Contest being held in conjunction with the hikes. People can create their own scarecrows and drop them off at the Ice Age Visitor Center (located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee) by Thursday, October 20. Prizes will be awarded for the best individual and group efforts in the following two categories: "Best Representation of the Nature's Unlovable, Unhuggable Animal Theme" and "Most Creative." For contest rules and entry forms, contact the staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The center's phone number is 920-533-8322.

Join us on October 21 or 22, for an evening of family fun. Meander the dark autumn woods paved trails to meet a variety of unhuggable characters and hear the tales they have to tell. You will encounter such characters as a little brown bat, bumblebee, timber wolf, turkey vulture and even a white-footed mouse. Before and after the hikes, folks may enjoy making a bat mask, a walk-along snake or beaded bracelet or pin. There will also be games including alien strike out bowling, bobbing for apples, an unhuggables obstacle course, pin the tail on the skunk and flies in the web. Around the bonfire sip a hot or cold cider and munch some freshly popped popcorn provided by the Friends of the Kettle Moraine.

All this family entertainment is included with the price of a State Park System Vehicle Admission Sticker. A daily resident sticker is $5.00 per car and an annual sticker is $20.00.

For more information, contact the forest staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center at 920-533-8322. The center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 am to 4:00 pm and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 am to 5:00 pm.

Gridiron teams treat parents to three big wins

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The annual Parents Days was very successful for three of the four Kewaskum Gridiron teams.

The sixth graders overwhelmed a combined fifth and sixth grade team from Ozaukee 31-0, while the seventh graders edged Ozaukee to win 24-20, and the eighth graders got back on track with a 25-6 victory.

Only the fifth graders (3-2) came out on the short end of the final score, 20-6, and they can take solace in the fact they were playing against a team from Thiensville-Mequon that feeds into one of the more successful Division 1 programs (Homestead) in southeastern Wisconsin.

"We went right to town and had a nice lead at half," coach Joe Backhaus said about his sixth graders' big victory.

The coach indicated his top defenders played their usual steady game, but in this one, Jacob Wunder and Dylan Tackes were the standouts. "Tackes had an interception, too," Backhaus said.

Offensively, "We had a lot of big plays," Backhaus said, reporting Eric Perkins scored three times on runs of nine, 51 and 91 yards, while Wunder got a TD on a 40 yard run, and "Austin Goeman got into the act with a 41-yard touchdown."

And Backhaus took time to praise Colton Gruber, who is "getting to be a good little fullback."

With the win, the sixth graders improved to 4-1. They have won four straight after losing their opener.

The seventh graders exhibited a strong aerial attack, with Austin Luedtke finding Ryan Ogi for a pair of touchdowns and Cody Nuernberg hitting Ogi for another TD pass on a halfback option.

Luedtke also got into the act, scoring on a quarterback keeper play.

"We had a couple interceptions on defense," coach Tom Kudek said, reporting "Matt Ballard (line) and Ogi (defensive end) played good defense for us."

Kudek declined to cite any offensive linemen.

Ozaukee had the ball and a chance to go ahead at the end of the game, but Kewaskum ended the threat on an interception around midfield.

"We always manage to make it a little exciting," Kudek said.

The eighth graders were up 25-0 at half and then, "We played everybody," coach "Jonesy" Korth said, reporting Scott Steldt scored a pair of touchdowns, and QB Cody Lemke added another. Lemke's touchdown was designated as a rollout pass, but when he saw everyone covered, he raced into the end zone, according to Korth.

Steldt's "had some very nice runs ... one of his scores came on a counter play and one on a sweep."

The fourth touchdown was scored by Brandon Zolp. "He intercepted a pass and ran it all the way back," Korth said.

Korth was pleased with the play of fullback Tyler Haack in his first start, and he reported Daniel Treptow had an interception, and, "Dillon Engelman played a nice defensive game."

Defensive back Kyle Theisen was cited for some nice coverage on Ozaukee receivers and knocking down one pass.

"It was a spirited effort, but we fell short," coach Mark Walcheske said about his fifth grade team. "Give Thiensville-Mequon credit. They executed well. We didn't execute well."

Using a solid ground game, the T-M Cardinals scored early and built a 20-0 lead by half-time.

Nathan Krupp's 43-yard run around left end put the Indians on the board in the third quarter. Austin Goeden then pounced on an onside kick, giving the Indians some momentum and good field position, but a penalty stalled the ensuing drive.

Brett Scoles came up with several good stops for the littlest Indians, and Walcheske said, "Kyle Bowe had some good tackles."

"What hurt us offensively were injuries to Nathan Krupp and Jarret Sargent," Walcheske said, indicating the team will have to "rise to the challenge" this week against Nicolet.

Indian gridgers maintain perfect record Seven down with two to go

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

In the world of high school football, the terms good, better and best are often used, but the word perfect... well, it really doesn't apply too often.

After Kewaskum's 42-7 shellacking of New Holstein Friday night, Mr. Webster might have to dust off the meaning of that word, however. Perfect — "without faults, flaws or errors" certainly describes the effort turned in by the Indian powerhouse.

First off, the Indians scored on all six, first-half possessions. It was perfect(ly) amazing they were able to pile up 343 yards of offense within a 24-minute time frame. (This was especially true considering the visiting Huskies had their hands on the ball seven times during the first two periods, although many of those possessions lasted just three plays.)

Secondly, the two KHS quarterbacks combined to be perfect in the passing department, combining for seven completions covering 188 yards.

Chad Piwoni was right on target, going six-for-six for 120 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Junior Casey Sheel came in for one play in the first half and launched a 68-yard bomb to Eric Ogi for another aerial strike.

And the most important perfect statistic for Kewaskum's Homecoming night. The Indians are now 7-0, including a 5-0 mark in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, putting them in a tie for the EWC lead with Campbellsport, a team it plays in the season finale.

"We came out of the blocks and got off to a quick start," coach Jason Piittmann understated. "The offense moved very efficiently, and the defense was able to contain New Holstein's passing game."

Kewaskum moved 58 yards in 10 plays on its opening drive, with Piwoni hitting tight end Matt Parrent for a 1-yard pass and the first of the six scores.

New Holstein picked up one first down after the kickoff, but then Eric Mayer threw a backward pass intended for one of his backs on the right flat. Zach Wollner alertly knew the ball was live and pounced on it at the New Holstein 24 yard line.

The Indians weren't about to waste the opportunity and took no time getting to the end zone again. After Donath gained nine yards on a run and Piwoni found Parrent again, this time for a 14-yard pass, Donath blasted into the end zone from the one.

The pattern continued for four more scores: touchdown No. 3 was a 14-yard run by Donath, capping a 41-yard drive; No. 4 took just one play, the bomb from Scheel to Ogi, on the same play Ogi score against Sheboygan Falls a week ago, only this time he broke a couple tackles en route to paydirt. No. 5 came compliments of Mr. Ogi again.

This time it covered 71 yards, with Piwoni pitching a perfect strike, and the last TD was another run by Donath, this one a nifty little burst up the middle when he simply refused to be tackled, punishing a couple Husky defenders before breaking in the clear.

Donath picked up 121 yards in 14 carries, giving him 952 yards rushing for the year and 14 TDs.

Jon Olla was good on all the points after touchdowns, and after six of them plus the kick-offs, one might understand why he might have felt a little soreness in his leg.

In the second half, Piittmann called on the reserves to take over and neither team managed to score.

The one lapse Piittmann found in the effort was a breakdown in coverage on the kickoff following the Indians' second TD. Sophomore Jordan Schneider gathered in Olla's kickoff and after finding a hole in the first wave of KHS defenders, roared down the sideline until he was caught at the KHS 15.

After a five yard loss and a delay penalty, the Huskies picked up 15 yards on a Mayer to Lucas Petri pass and from there, Mayer improvised and scored on a six yard run.

Defensively, Wollner had the one fumble recovery, and Mike Pfothenauer had another. Also Eric Cain picked off a pass to end the first half.

Linebacker Jeff Thull had another big game, while Ross Stockhausen plugged up the New Holstein running plays.

Another major contributor was Matt Rinzel, Olla's holder, a key player on the kickoff teams and a reserve defensive back. He was in on several tackles on kickoffs.

"We were able to get a lot of kids playing time, and we stayed pretty healthy, which is key at this time of the year," Piittmann said.

Kewaskum, currently ranked seventh among the medium sized schools in the state, is at Kiel tomorrow (Friday) night, then the Indians host Campbellsport in what might be the EWC showdown game on Thursday, Oct. 20.

Campbellsport blasted Two Rivers 41-0 last week but has a big game against Sheboygan Falls Friday.

Gibson a top 5 runner again; boys place 4th in Cougars test

This is the time of the cross country season when maintaining good health is extremely important, and that was apparent Thursday when the Kewaskum High boys team had to go without its No. 3 runner, Jon Hawig.

The Indians did all right, finishing fourth out of the 10 full teams, but their score of 118 might have been 15-20 points lower had Hawig been there, and that would have put them in the third spot.

"Cooler temperatures and wind... I think it had an effect on the runners overall as the times seemed to be a little slower," coach Dave Drexler said. "We were running without Jon Hawig, who went home sick today."

Bob Gibson had another solid effort, placing fourth with a time of 17:15, which was close to the pace he held at Slinger a week ago.

The winning time was a 16:59, turned in by Alex Ray of Winneconne, and then came two Sheboygan Falls runners, John Wagner (17:02) and Jake Roelse (17:10), who will be Gibson's rivals again tomorrow in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference test.

Zach Van Wormer nearly cracked the top 10, crossing the finish line 13th overall at 18:07, then there was a little gap until Justin Clayton came in. He was 23rd overall at 18:54, and Tyler McElhatton and Adam Wagner closed out the scoring, placing 34th and 44th, respectively, with times of 19:20 and 19:49.

"The rest of the team pulled together well," Drexler said. "Adam Wagner did a great job in filling in the No. 5 spot. I felt all the runners were on pace. Now we can focus on the conference meet next Friday (Oct. 21 at Roncalli)."

As far as the KHS girls were concerned, they had to settle for 10th place, with 322 points. Plymouth and Sheboygan Falls, both from the EWC, finished 1-2 with 56-60 points. This could have been a preview of the EWC title race, although Two Rivers is usually very strong, too.

The individual winner was Melissa Burghardt, a junior from Winneconne, who covered the 4 kilometers in a sizzling 15:38.

Toyna Janssen led the KHS five. She was 48th in 18:23, and nine places back with Kristin Vogt, 57th in 18:59.

The other three counters were: 70th, Alissa Clapper, 21:07; 71st, Nicole Stern, 21:24; and Crystal Treptow, 76th, 23:23.

The Campbellsport boys ended up with 151 points, led by Sam Gellings and Spenser Rodenkirch, who had identical times of 18:06 to placed 11th and 12th, respectively.

KHS spikers settle a score with Panthers

In the second match, the girls from Kiel had problems getting the ball past Kewaskum's tall front line. Above, Caytin Sprinkman (2), left, and Becky Rodenkirch jump to reject a return by one of the visiting Raiders. The Lady Indians won all three matches, boosting their season record to 11-1 on the year in EWC.

While they lost a chance for a perfect season a couple weeks ago, the Kewaskum High volleyball players knew they still had an opportunity to claim a share of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference title ... if they could beat Plymouth, the only conference team to beat them this year.

The Lady Indians got the job done in a climactic four-game match against the Panthers in the third and final match of the second quad meet of the year hosted by Kewaskum last Thursday.

After the two powerful clubs knocked off the other teams, Campbellsport and Kiel, in the competition, they squared off for bragging rights in the event.

It turned out the Indians may have had a lot more incentive and a little more energy in the fourth game, which they won going away, 25-12, after three nail-biters, 25-21, 25-22 and 23-25.

"This was a big match for us after winning the other two," first-year head coach Renee Butschlick said. "We wanted to beat Plymouth after losing to them at their place."

The key, according to the new coach, was making good blocks and getting good digs.

"The first two games, we did just that," Butschlick said. "The third game was a back-and-forth game. We would score. They would score, and Plymouth scored the last two points when we could not get a side out."

Undaunted, the Kewaskum girls came back strong in the fourth game to secure the outcome they were looking for.

The Indians came up with seven aces against the Panthers, led by Marissa Dehler and Lauren Larson, who each connected on two.

In attacks, Christina DeGroot and Becky Rodenkirch were very strong at the net, evidenced by their 14 and 13 kills, respectively. Bekki Heberer added more front row power with her eight kills.

Uncharacteristically, setter Katie Schroeder made three errors in the match, but considering she sustained a leg injury against Kiel and had to sit out a couple games against the Raiders, she played well.

"First the Indians and Butschlick had to survive an emotional, five-game battle against Campbellsport, a match which started out with the Cougars winning 25-23.

Although the Cougars were determined to knock off their arch rivals, the Indians took care of business, winning three straight by scores of 25-14, 25-10 and 25-20.

"This was such an important match for us to win," Butschlick said. "The first game we just could not get started. We had a hard time passing and on serve receive."

What helped in the ensuing games, according to Butschlick, was, "The girls really stepped it up and played their game. In game three, Lauren Larson had a great run of serves to give us a good lead."

In the match, KHS had five aces, including three by Larson, while there were 52 kills, and DeGroot, Dehler and Rodenkirch were the leaders here, getting credited with 17, 13 and 11, respectively.

Schroeder was perfect on assists, going 29 for 29.

Kewaskum sailed through the match against Kiel, winning three games quite handily. There were some anxious moments in the final game, when the Indians let the Raiders get within several points. With a little pep talk from Butschlick, they reloaded and ended the game.

After this second quad meet, Kewaskum is 11-1 in EWC play, with two matches remaining on the regular schedule.

Tennis season comes to a close

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

With only one senior on the team and three powerhouses in the sub-sectional tournament held last week at the Pleasant Valley Tennis Club, Kewaskum High coach Dan Ross wasn't expecting his team would come up with many wins last week in the Division 2 competition.

Ross was pleasantly surprised, however, the Lady Indians scored two points, finishing fifth in the nine-team event.

"I was glad we didn't have to come home with zero," Ross said, reporting two of his singles players won their first matches, as did his freshman combo of Kelsey Goetsch and Lauren Hughes at No. 3 doubles.

"Unfortunately, the two singles wins came in pigtail matches, just to be among the top four," Ross went on, indicating no points were earned from those wins. Still, it will help Allison Kowalczyk come back to No. 1 singles with more experience against the better players in the area.

Hughes and Goetsch first knocked off the Milwaukee Lutheran pair of Kayla Spinti and Emily Christian. The score was 6-2, 6-2, so the two Lady Indians proved they earned the fourth seed given to them.

In the next match, they had troubles against Melissa Mayfield and Lisa Koenig of University School, who beat them 6-0, 6-2. The University School duo captured first place in the subsectional and also won the sectional, meaning they earned a place in the Division 2 state Tournament.

Kowalczyk's win came over Emily Fond of Dominican by a score of 6-2, 6-0, and in the next match she drew a tough opponent, Lauren Smyczek of Brookfield Academy, who beat her 6-0, 6-1. Smyczek was the top seed, and she also will compete in the state tournament.

At No. 2 singles, Ashley Feucht posted a 7-5, 6-4 victory over Liz Meske of Grafton, and she closed out her high school tennis career falling to Christine McLinn of Shorewood, 0-6, 1-6.

Kewaskum struggled against a powerful lineup of Eastern Wisconsin Conference schools this fall but with nine starters returning, the 2006 season could have a lot better outcome.

Always do right. This will gratify some people and astonish the rest.
