Gas station, car wash and professional building all anxious to proceed

Proposed retail developments given green light to proceed

By Andrew Kuehl

akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- More growth was on the agenda for the Village of Kewaskum Planning Commission Tuesday evening, January 31. Commissioners sent two large retail developments to the village board with favorable recommendations.

Jim Thull, of the Town of Farmington owner of J. Thull LLC appeared before the commissioners and spoke on behalf of a gas station/convenience store with car wash and full service McDonalds restaurant he wishes to build on a two-acre parcel along Highway 45 at the corner of USH 45 and Badger Road. The land is part of the Serwe property that is part of the Tax Incremental District (TID).

The gas station will have six bays and a 3,058 square foot convenience store. The car wash will be 2,823 square feet and be located on the west portion of the property.

The proposed McDonald's Restaurant will be 2,356 square feet and will be owned by Kilian Management Services LLC of West Bend. Owner Steven Kilian operates a number of McDonalds stores locally and throughout the state. The McDonalds Express currently located inside BP of Kewaskum will close when the full service store opens.

Village Engineer Ken Ward stated he was in favor how the structures were situated on the property. Ward encouraged the developer to turn the property 90 degrees to the west so that the gas pumps would be on the west side of the proposed buildings. Ward said he hoped this would have less light impact on the Badger Road USH 45 intersection. A concept plan showed the pumps along Badger Road.

Architect Dennis Barger stated that moving the buildings the way Ward wished would not only cause a marketing concern for the proposed McDonalds restaurant, but also for the convenience store. Barger projected that moving it would decrease business 30-40 percent because of visibility issues. Moving it could also cause McDonalds to remove themselves from the deal. The entire project could then be in jeopardy.

T. Scott continues to be plagued by sanitary district

By Bernadette Mondloch
Statesman Correspondent

DNR threatens with fines of $10,000 per day

TOWN OF SCOTT- A year has passed since the Town of Scott town board has taken over the administration of the Batavia Sanitary District that has been plagued with environmental problems and a cash shortfall. Residents of the sanitary district were invited to attend the January town board meeting to hear what is going on as far as an anticipated update of the system.

Equipment that is getting old and not up to its best performance along with the need to reduce or eliminate the amount of nitrates in the system is what has the DNR hot under the collar according to town officials. Last November the Department of Natural Resources ordered the system to be improved to meet current standards or be faced with a large fine, quoted at $10,000 per day.

A grant has been applied for and if successful it would be used to assist the update. Last year the district applied for grant, but they were not chosen to receive funding, this year, a grant is expected in the amount of $96,000. If this year's grant application is successful the combined amounts would give a major boost to solving the problem. Estimates for completion of the repairs had been estimated to cost between $350,000 to $500,000.

Town Board Chairman

Steve Jung met with DNR officials several months ago. He was told that a written plan indicating what will be done to correct the situation needed to be submitted by the end of 2005. Since that meeting estimates obtained from Donahue and Associates proposed a cost of $600,00, and one from Schwartz Septic proposed $452,000.

Attending the January meeting, a representative from Petersen Products Company of Fredonia explained that his firm has a similar type of system and requested the opportunity to put on a display of what he termed a bio film reactor which would reduce the nitrates. Once installed it would be maintenance free except for upkeep of the pumps.

The $90 quarterly rate charged per household in the district may be increased to $125.00.

Mark LaFever, a resident in the district, told the board that there are a number of town volunteers willing to assist the town board with the leg work involved in getting the project underway.

During the public input portion of the January Town of Scott town board meeting former town supervisor, Ira Weber, inquired about the $4,500 received by the Batavia Fire Department for the sale of an old van. He indicated that $8,000 was received from the town to equip a new van and it was his belief that the $4,500 should have been given to the town. "Do we need an audit of the Batavia Fire Department books?" he asked.

In other town business, the supervisors were informed that a claim for damages was received from Delmar Kempf, for a vehicle he owned that was damaged by the township's road truck. The claim has been referred to the town's attorney. A total of 105 building permits, eight for new homes were issued in 2005. The total value for those permits was $1,813,651.

Library to change circulation policies

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Starting this month The Kewaskum Public Library will see some circulation policies change. The change is due to the library's move to a new, 44-member online database.

The database is nicknamed MIDAS, and takes the place of the current WACCOOL online system. Library director, Steve Baker, says the database merger will not be completed until June, but new policies will be effective in mid-February.

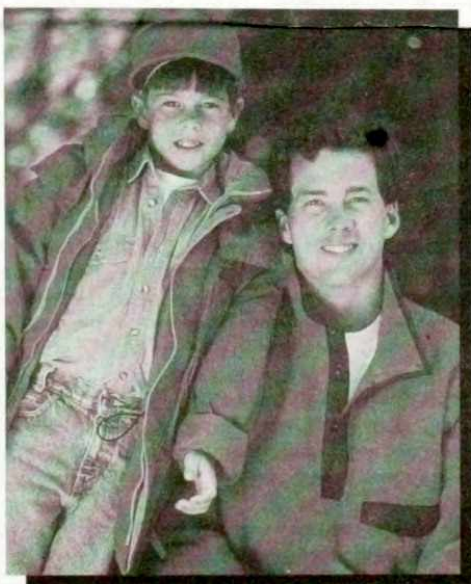

Changes will include longer checkout and renewal times for most items, online renewals, and an increase in overdue fines from 5¢ per day to 10¢ per day.

Baker says these changes will bring the library's circulation policies in-line with those of other libraries participating in the upcoming merger. Instead of searching the holdings of five libraries, patrons will now be able to search, find, and put holds on items from any library in Washington, Dodge, Jefferson, Walworth, and Racine counties.

The decision was made that all of the libraries should have similar or identical circulation policies, thus the changes.

Mark calendars for kindergarten screening in Kewaskum district

KEWASKUM- This year's annual screening and registration of prospective four and five year old kindergarten pupils residing in the Kewaskum School District will be held on Friday, March 24, from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and Saturday, March 25, from 8:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Parents/guardians may call the District Office between 7:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., (262) 626-8427 ext. 8001, before February 17, 2006 to set up an appointment with Ms. Debbie Goodsell. Areas for screening will include speech/language and readiness skills.

In conjunction with this annual screening, the district is required to provide testing for those children ages three to 21 for whom there is reasonable cause to believe a disability exists. For information about testing, please call Nancy Dreher, Pupil Services Secretary, at 626-8427 ext. 1101 between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

To be eligible for enrollment in four-year-old kindergarten, children must have attained their fourth birthday on or before September 1, 2006. To be eligible for enrollment in five-year-old kindergarten, children must have attained their fifth birthday on or before September 1, 2006. A birth certificate must be brought to the school at the time of enrolling.

Parents will register their children for next year's term and will be given the necessary health forms. Please speak with your health care provider to make sure your child has received all of their required immunizations.

"I would like to impress upon you the importance of calling to set up an appointment for screening your child, so that we are able to plan accordingly for next school year. This is also important to ensure your child may attend the school in the area where you live," states Kieth Kriewaldt, Director of Elementary Education.

Parents who fail to call by the February 17th date, may need to have their child assigned to a school that is not their neighborhood school.

Questions can be directed to Kriewaldt at 626-8427 ext. 1104.

Wisconsin newspaper publishers create user friendly public notice web site for readers

To promote better citizen awareness of local government actions, public notices published in The Statesman are now available on a statewide Web site hosted by member newspapers of the Wisconsin Newspaper Association (WNA).

The free site is available at The Statesman's website www.kewaskumstatesman.com. Visitors can click on the public-notice icon there and be directed to the site and select published notices from a drop-down menu of WNA member newspapers.

Public notices will be accessible on the Web site for 90 days after publication date. Visitors are able to select a newspaper to view printable municipal, school district and court notices at no cost. An additional level of service beginning March 1 will allow subscribers to conduct automated searches for a fee. However, the automated search is free to all users through Feb. 28.

Public notices announce day-to-day government activities important to citizens. State law sets out requirements for what information must be shared with citizens and to what degree of detail for cities, counties, villages, towns, school districts and other government entities. Public notices carry information about public budgets, agendas and minutes of meetings, sample ballots, court actions, construction projects from roads to sidewalks, public hearings and other topics.

As is the case now, citizens needing public notices older than 90 days can consult the issuing municipality, school district, government agency or court, or back issues of their local newspaper.

The new service is made possible through new technology adopted by WNA Clipping Bureau, said WNA Executive Director Peter D. Fox. The new method involves digital imaging of member newspapers and sophisticated keyword search ability, Fox said.

"This allows WNA to identify member newspaper pages containing public notices and post those pages to the public-access site," he explained.

WNA is the oldest newspaper press association in the world, dating to 1853, representing 260 daily and weekly newspapers in Wisconsin. The WNA Clipping Bureau has operated since 1933. Public notice laws designate newspapers as the most effective and verifiable method of delivering this information to citizens. Newspapers must meet certain criteria in order to be certified to publish public notices.

Thrivent for Lutherans joins national project to build 300 homes with Habitat for Humanity

Both agencies expect to build 36 new Wisconsin homes in 2006, three in Washington County

Washington County is one of six local Habitat for Humanity affiliates that will join Thrivent Financial for Lutherans, Northeast Wisconsin Region that are building 13 homes as part of a nationwide effort to create additional homeownership opportunities with low-income families. In all, Thrivent Builds with Habitat for Humanity will construct 36 homes throughout Wisconsin in 2006.

Locally, volunteers will be needed to help build three homes in Washington County, four homes in the Greater Fox Cities, three homes in Greater Green Bay, one home in Door County, one home in Fond du Lac County, and one home in Manitowoc County. In addition to the homes in Northeast Wisconsin, Habitat for Humanity in Milwaukee and the Thrivent Financial Southeast Wisconsin Region will also be building an additional 10 Thrivent Builds with Habitat homes in 2006.

"This collaboration between Thrivent Financial and Habitat for Humanity is truly exciting," said Russell Wanta, executive director of the Washington County Habitat for Humanity. "Without the generosity of Thrivent Financial, we would not be able to help provide a safe and decent home for these three additional families in Washington County."

In Fond du Lac County, two homes were originally expected to be built. With the grant an additional home will be built according to Habitat officials there.

Nationally, Habitat for Humanity International and Thrivent Financial for Lutherans are building up to 312 homes in 2006. The homes will be in addition to the more than 5,000 homes Habitat affiliates build annually in the United States and represent a six percent increase in Habitat home production.

The effort is part of a new alliance, Thrivent Builds with Habitat for Humanity. The alliance makes Thrivent Financial Habitat's largest single ally in its mission to eliminate substandard housing and rebuild communities.

The homes will be built in more than 200 communities in 43 states. This represents an estimated $21.7 million investment from Thrivent Financial in 2006 alone. During the four-year alliance, Thrivent Financial intends to invest a total of $105 million to increase annual house production by up to 500 U.S. homes per year and more around the world. Habitat affiliates across the nation were invited to apply for Thrivent Builds with Habitat funding. A total of 265 affiliates are receiving funding based on their ability to increase local building efforts and have been paired with nearly 400 Thrivent volunteer chapters (local volunteer groups of Thrivent Financial members). The homes will be built in large urban areas such as Chicago, Denver, Detroit, Philadelphia, Miami and San Francisco, as well as communities such as Rochester, N.Y., Lima, Ohio, and Brookings, S.D.

In the Northeast Wisconsin Region of Thrivent Financial, 28 Thrivent volunteer chapters will help with fundraising and home building.

Thrivent Builds with Habitat represents a unique alliance between two national nonprofit networks of 1,699 Habitat affiliates and 1,362 Thrivent volunteer chapters. In 2004, Thrivent chapters delivered more than 19 million volunteer hours of community service. The alliance combats the chronic national and worldwide problem of substandard housing. More than 13 million U.S. households use at least half of their income to pay for housing. Millions more live in overcrowded conditions or housing with severe physical deficiencies, such as having no hot water, electricity or toilet.

"We want to reach out and help even more families each year and this can only be done through innovative alliances," said Jonathan Reckford, chief executive officer of Habitat for Humanity International. "Thrivent Financial for Lutherans is bringing not only its generous donation but also engaging its members and communities to volunteer time and raise funds for this effort."

Reaching beyond the U.S., Thrivent Builds will take volunteers around the world to build with families in need, with the goal of eventually building up to 200 homes overseas per year. Additionally, Thrivent Builds will raise awareness about substandard and affordable housing issues through the one-of-a-kind Thrivent Builds Mobile. The mobile exhibit, housed in a 48-foot-long semi trailer truck, is crisscrossing the country to give visitors a powerful experience designed to educate and call communities to action.

For additional information, visit www.thriventbuilds.com to learn how to volunteer or donate.

County receives first electronic real estate transfer return

WEST BEND- Washington County Register of Deeds Sharon Martin is excited to announce receiving the county's first Electronic Real Estate Transfer Return (RETR). Says Martin, "The Wisconsin Department of Revenue (DOR), along with the Wisconsin Register of Deeds Association (WRDA) has moved into the next step of technology." This initiative, spearheaded by the DOR and the WRDA, replaced a very paper intensive practice, promising significant savings for the State and local units of government.

A property owner or agent for an owner is required to complete a RETR whenever a sale of real estate occurs for a property that is not exempt from real estate transaction fees. The new approach for completing this form is completely automated resulting in less data entry, reduced errors, and paperwork. Jean Klahn from Lakeland Title Services in West Bend prepared and submitted the form.

To date, eighteen counties in Wisconsin are currently accepting RETRs, with the rest of the state to follow. This is how it works: First, the filer goes on-line to the DOR web-site at <http://www.dor.state.wi.us/ust/retr.html> and clicks on "Use eRETR"; the filer is then guided through completion of the form in an easy to follow manner; next the filer prints a receipt; and finally the filer submits the receipt along with the transfer fee and deed to the County Register of Deeds for recording.

The shared benefits for the filer are:

- Elimination or reduction of printing costs, paper and storage requirements.

- Available to all filers free of charge - without software licensing, set-up, accounting or maintenance costs.

- Easy to create customized form templates that enable filers to greatly reduce form preparation time and costs.

Fredonia man facing felony damage charges

TOWN OF FARMINGTON- A 41-year-old man from Fredonia is facing felony criminal damage to property and disorderly conduct charges. The charges stem from him allegedly driving his parents' vehicle into their Farmington home.

Steven Huiras stated that he became upset with his parents after he was missing for two days in Milwaukee and they did not attempt to locate him. The home located in the 8800 block of Camp Awana Road received substantial damage.

No one was injured in the destruction or a altercation that also took place on the property.

Huiras posted a $2,500 signature bond and was released after his initial hearing in Washington County Circuit Court on Tuesday, January 24.

Winning Powerball ticket sold in W.B.

WEST BEND- While no one matched all six numbers in the Saturday, January 28 Powerball drawing to win the jackpot, Wisconsin did have one winner of $200,000. The winning ticket was sold at Pick

'n Save's north store in West Bend.

Stolen vehicles found in Ashford

ASHFORD- Three vehicles reported stolen in Fond du Lac County were found near Auburn-Ashford Drive in the Town of Ashford. The three vehicles were apparently found abandoned early Friday, January 26.

One vehicle was found parked in the middle of the road on Auburn-Ashford near Elmore Drive at 4:12 am according to the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department. Upon investigation deputies found the stereo system removed. The vehicle was taken from a nearby residence.

Another vehicle was found in a ditch on Auburn-Ashford Drive near County Road V and a truck, against a tree on Auburn-Ashford near Elmore Drive. Reports say those vehicles were also stolen.

Schmidt child porn trial to stay in county

WEST BEND- A preliminary hearing for Curtis Schmidt will be held February 20 in Washington County Circuit Court with Ozaukee County Judge Paul Malloy who will preside over the hearing and all future proceedings.

Schmidt, 67, was earlier charged with a list of underage pornography incidences.

After all four Washington County judges removed themselves from the proceedings it was thought the trial would move to another jurisdiction.

Schmidt is facing 20 counts of possession of child pornography, one count of exposing a child to harmful material and one count of child exploitation.

Countywide Smart Growth telephone survey to begin

You may have been selected to participate in the countywide telephone survey this February to gather your opinions on various smart growth issues. This survey will take approximately 10 minutes to complete and will ask questions regarding such issues as housing, transportation, land use, economic development, agriculture, natural resources, cultural resources, utilities and community facilities.

The Washington County Planning and Parks Department in partnership with SEWRPC, UW-Extension, the Village of Kewaskum and Towns of Addison, Barton, Erin, Farmington, Germantown, Hartford, Kewaskum, Polk, Trenton and Wayne, developed the survey to gather opinions on various issues regarding the nine elements and fourteen goals of comprehensive planning. Results from the survey will be used to guide the committees in the development of the comprehensive smart growth plan and will be available on the internet later this year.

The random sample telephone survey of 1,200 county residents was developed by the Comprehensive Planning Advisory Committee with the assistance of the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh and the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee. The random sample will constitute a sample population of all county residents with the results being considered statistically significant, meaning that the results are very likely to represent the views of the entire county's population. The survey will be conducted throughout the month of February.

For more information about the survey, the development of the Plan or the public meetings, please contact Debora Sielski, Assistant Administrator for Planning, Washington County Planning and Parks Department at 262-335-4445 or visit the website at www.co.washington.wi.us/smartgrowth.

Boettcher chooses Gastric Bypass Surgery to lose weight and prevent health problems

Pam Boettcher after losing 100 pounds.

Many overweight people have a host of medical conditions such as diabetes, high blood pressure and high cholesterol. For these patients, the decision to have surgery carries with it a sense of urgency. However, not all patients who choose to have gastric bypass surgery have these chronic, life-threatening conditions.

Pam Boettcher of Kewaskum was one of those women. The 44-year old compliance auditor at Cedarburg Pharmaceuticals weighed 320 pounds at her heaviest, yet her blood pressure, cholesterol and blood sugars were in the normal range.

"I've never been diagnosed with the typical chronic illness many overweight people suffer from, but heart disease and high blood pressure run in my family and I've always been insecure about my weight and am concerned about how it may affect my health down the road," said the mother of five children. "Because of all these concerns, Boettcher had undertaken several diets in the past and had lost 70 or 80 pounds on a couple of occasions, but because she always gained it back, she believed she needed to consider surgery as an option.

When she initially raised the prospect of gastric bypass surgery, her family was cautious about supporting her. Because her overall health was good and she had a good track record of losing weight, her loved ones believed she could eventually lose the weight she wanted to without risking surgery.

"My daughters have very high self esteem, yet they are not model thin so they didn't completely understand why I was so insecure about my weight. Friends questioned why, since I was happily married, would I go to all this trouble just to "look better".

My sons were worried about the surgery risks and my oldest son thought I was taking the "easy" way out and should just diet and exercise more to accomplish my goals" she said.

Ultimately, her family history of high blood pressure and heart disease convinced her that having gastric bypass surgery was a smart preventive measure.

"I have also seen my mom, who is not obese, struggle with hip and joint problems. Diabetes is another disease inherent in our family so by changing my lifestyle and permanently removing the extra weight, I am hoping to avoid those types of issues that my obesity would have contributed to," she said.

Boettcher eventually found Dr. Craig Siverhus of The Bariatric Center at Columbia St. Mary's Hospital in Milwaukee and had surgery in March of 2005.

The surgery Dr. Siverhus performed is called Roux-en-Y gastric bypass surgery where by a small stomach pouch is created and the pouch is connected to a shorter length of the small intestine. This helps people lose weight in two ways:

1) The smaller pouch encourages people to eat smaller amounts of food.

2) Because part of the stomach and part of the small intestine are "bypassed" in the digestive process, fewer nutrients and calories are absorbed.

"Post-operatively, patients must eat a nutritious, high protein diet with limited intake of sugar and fats. They must also increase their daily exercise," said Siverhus.

Gastric bypass surgery is not a quick cure, it is an effective tool to be used along with lifestyle changes. For the rest of the patient's life, they must eat a nutritious, high protein diet with limited intake of sugar and fats.

In the 10 months since then, she has dropped 100 pounds and is close to reaching her goal of 150 pounds. She has also dropped clothing sizes, going from a 22/24 dress to a 10/12. Yet, even with all this success, she still viewed herself as the same woman who was more than 300 pounds and never wore a dress to work. That changed one night when she was leaving a CSM support group meeting.

"I was walking by a large window that reflected my image and it finally dawned on me that I am not that fat woman anymore---I'm thin now!" She realized she had not only turned a corner in her progress to lose weight and be more healthy but she also looks more like the woman she had always wanted to be.

Now, the new, more self confident Pam more fully enjoys her weekends, taking off on her Harley Davidson motorcycle with her husband and fellow Harley enthusiast.

"I don't have to worry about my shirt flying up anymore because I can finally tuck it in," she proclaimed.

The Columbia St. Mary's system is comprised of four hospitals: Columbia St. Mary's Milwaukee Campus, Columbia St. Mary's Columbia Campus, Columbia St. Mary's Ozaukee Campus, and Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Institute, as well as 27 primary care clinics, the Columbia College of Nursing, a partnership with the Orthopaedic Hospital of Wisconsin, the new River Woods Outpatient Center in Glendale, and new Urgent Care Center in downtown Milwaukee. The system serves individuals and families in Milwaukee, Ozaukee, and Washington counties, with more than 157 years of service. Columbia St. Mary's and its sponsor organizations, Ascension Health and Columbia Health System, share a mission to make a positive difference in the health status and lives of individuals in the community with a special concern for those who are vulnerable.

Tracey Flasch

Tracey Flasch, daughter of David and Cindy Flasch, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, SC. Tracey successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

She and fellow recruits began their training each day at 5 a.m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, numerous hours were spent in classroom and field assignments, which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training. They performed close order drill and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

Tracey also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values - honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct. The training phase ended with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort and problem solving evolution.

A graduation ceremony was held at Parris Island on January 11. Tracey is stationed at Camp Geiger in North Carolina for combat training at the present time. Afterwards, she will begin technical training in aviation logistics in Mississippi.

Tracey is a 2005 graduate of Kewaskum High School.

Professional skiers from all over the country came to Sunburst Ski Area, Kewaskum, to compete for over $10,000 in prize money on Saturday and Sunday. This is the first time the pro circuit has come to Sunburst as the Great Lakes professional skiers tour the state.

Random Lake High School English teacher Sandra Gruhle was one of two Random Lake teachers awarded Wisconsin Teacher of the Year awards for 1980-81 by Dr. Barbara Thompson, state superintendent of schools. Ms. Gruhle is the daughter of Willard and Ruth Gruhle of New Fane. She graduated from Kewaskum High School.

On Saturday, the Kewaskum High School matmen competed in the Fond du Lac Invitational, together with seven other schools, and placed fifth (highest of the smaller schools in the meet). Fondy won the meet with 228 points. The Indians finished with 79 points and had one lone survivor in the finals, junior Dave Goeden at 145. Goeden faced John Olson of Fondy in the finals and dropped a 5-2 decision to his opponent. Kewaskum had four thirds by Scott Klein at 119, Stuart Stautz at 128, Bob Bastian at 155, and Scott Durian at 185.

A daughter, Bobbie Jo, was born to Mike and Joy Thorn, Campbellsport, on January 4. Sons were born to Gerald and Janis Koch, Kewaskum, on January 2, and to Terry and Janine Buss, Campbellsport, on January 7. A son, Nathaniel Joseph, was born to Dennis and Barbara Smith, Appleton, on January 9. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Les Strobel of Kewaskum.

The large barn and an adjoining machine shed on the Arnold Schmidt farm, located one mile west of Kewaskum on Highway 28, were completely destroyed by fire in a costly blaze last Sunday morning. Lost along with the barn and shed in the flames, were most of the farm machinery, including a tractor, hay loader, drags and other machinery, six or more head of young cattle and 14 sheep. Cause of the fire was not determined, however it is believed to have started with spontaneous combustion.

An Aunt Nellie's semi-trailer of the Bird Trucking Company, Kewaskum, was damaged by fire following a crash near Cicero Avenue in Chicago last week. The truck was driven by Bernard E. Hafemann, 33, of Kewaskum.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. August Bilgo, Jr. of Kewaskum, on January 15. (Could this be little baby Dougie???) A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Theisen, Kewaskum, on January 16.

75 Years Ago

January 16, 1931

William, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mayer, received a bad cut on his head Monday evening while coasting with several of his playmates on East Water Street. The accident happened when he was coasting from the South Side Park down the incline on East Water Street to the intersection of Highway 28. He had reached the bottom of the hill when he lost control of his sled and slid directly underneath Norbert Becker's automobile that was parked in front of John H. Martin's residence.

Fire starting in the attic of the Julius Geidel home near Fillmore last Tuesday afternoon for some time threatened destruction of the building, but the prompt arrival and common sense methods of the Fillmore, Boltonville and Waubeka fire departments confined the blaze to the attic and the damage will run in the neighborhood of only $300.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schaefer of Kewaskum last Saturday.

100 Years Ago

January 20, 1906

At the annual joint meeting of the Kewaskum Fire Department held last Monday evening, the following officers were elected: Chief, N.J. Mertes; assistant chief, Nic. Mayer; secretary, Edw. Miller; treasurer, Mat. Rimmel.

Miss Carl Fleischmann of Lomira sold her 340 acre farm near Wayne Center last week to Gust. Kuhl of the town of Theresa for $20,000.

The Holy Trinity Congregation held their annual meeting last Sunday noon and elected the following officers: President, Rev. Phillip Vogt; secretary, Joseph Schmidt; treasurer, Val Peters; assessment committee, Joseph Schaefer, Simon Stoffel and N.J. Mertes.

WB Clinic to offer parenting class

Becoming a parent can bring many of life's most rewarding moments, but raising a child can also have its challenges. "Parenting with Love and Logic" presents useful methods to help parents deal with these challenges, improve communication and achieve healthy relationships with their children. The class will be offered by SynergyHealth West Bend Clinic and will begin in February.

"I went through this program as a parent myself, and highly recommend this course for any parent. The thought processes and reactions in my children changed dramatically using the simple rephrasing techniques. The Love and Logic approach really works and makes a huge difference," said Dr. Tony Guthrie, SynergyHealth Jackson Clinic Family Practice Physician.

This program focuses on consistent use of four basic concepts in the Love and Logic program that develop relationships between children and parents. These concepts include shared control and appropriate ownership, shared thinking/decision making, empathy and consequences, and maintaining a child's self-concept. Consistent use of these parenting techniques teach children how to solve problems, make decisions and learn from their choices, while developing a sense of self-confidence, respect and responsibility.

Parenting with Love and Logic is a six-week series, and will be held on Thursdays, February 23 through March 30, 2006, from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. at the West Bend Clinic, 1700 Paradise Drive, West Bend. Cost is $25 per person or $35 per couple. Class size is limited and pre-registration is required. To register call 262-306-7888.

Parenting with Love and Logic is for parents with children of any age. Its techniques can benefit numerous parenting situations, such as children that won't listen or take responsibility, lack of interest in school, uncooperative behavior, refusal to complete chores or homework, arguments and more.

Love and Logic is a nationally recognized program founded by Jim Fay, a talented educator with nearly 50 years experience working with children, families and schools, and Foster W. Cline, M.D., an internationally renowned child and adult psychiatrist, lecturer and consultant. The series will be presented by trained Love and Logic parent facilitators.

Gateway Cafe breathes new life in local landmark restaurant

The new interior of The Gateway Cafe boasts a wildlife wall mural to give a rustic feel to the newly remodeled restaurant building.

Gateway Cafe owner, Helen Lauters

KEWASKUM- The doors are open at the Gateway Café in Kewaskum and owner Helen Lauters is swinging high on happiness.

"I am so happy...It's simply unreal," Lauters said on opening day. "This is going to be so great. We've been so busy, just solid, that I haven't even had time to count. At times, it's been standing room only."

It's a dream come true for Lauters who has worked in food service for years. "This is what I wanted for a long time. I had been looking at different places for the past couple of years and when Silver Platter Restaurant owner, Tammy Garbisch passed away, I asked her husband Roy if he would be interested in me managing for him or maybe even selling.... It's just something I have dreamed about for a long time and wanted to do so that I could have my hands in this again."

Lauters said she had a lot of help from family and friends to open the Gateway Café, which is a local landmark in Kewaskum. Everything was removed from the restaurant and power washed by Lauters' godson, Toby Gnaciski on a cold Wisconsin day. In eight days, Lauters had the flooring replaced, painted the walls, hung a custom-made mural, dusted, decorated, made restroom renovations, added a podium.... and on the ninth day she opened for business. No rest for the restaurateur.

"It's just so exciting," she said. "Everyone pitched in. I couldn't have done it without them." She said her children, Dan Jr., and Kate Limberg were at the restaurant every night helping out. "If it wouldn't have been for our friends and family it just would not have come off. We started on a Saturday night at 7 p.m. and we worked sold until 1 p.m. on Saturday the 22."

All the hard work paid off. Sherry West painted the 17-foot by 4-foot wildlife mural for Lauters. "It's breathtaking," she touted. "She did this not knowing what the place even looked like. We had emailed pictures back and forth and she said she tried to imagine the Kettle Moraine and how it looked to create the mural."

The décor at the Gateway Café truly reflects the Gateway to the Kettle Moraine theme. A stuffed turkey from Lauters' son hangs at the Gateway along with deer heads and turkey tail fans from husband Dan and Dan Jr.

"Everything just fell into place," Lauters said. "We were working so hard and every time you walked in the door, you could see it all coming together."

Lauters even skipped her nightly game of sheephead with her husband and son to plan for the restaurant. "It's been so much fun," Lauters said. "One night I sat down at home and made up a month's worth of menu's and all my specials."

The menu at the Gateway Café offers a variety of classic sandwiches, daily specials and entrees Lauters said she especially enjoys making breakfast skillet. Her favorite is the eggs benedict skillet "probably because I like Hollandaise sauce so much," she said.

"We don't eat at home anymore," Lauters joked. "I've always been a morning person, but these days I'm a morning, afternoon and evenings person."

Shown above is a conceptual drawing of a convenience store with a gas station that was brought before the Village of Kewaskum Plan Commission at their meeting Tuesday evening, January 31. Commissioners gave the plan a favorable review allowing the developer to proceed to the next step of development at the Badger Road and USH 45 intersection.

Retail Developments

"I would be comfortable with leaving the layout as situated on the concept plan but I would like to see some trees added to the northwest corner of the layout," stated Village President, Matt Heiser.

Thull hopes to break ground sometime around the first of April 2006. He anticipated the buildings would take 120 days to construct. He hoped to open for business sometime in the beginning of August. He did not anticipate any problems with the DNR.

Thull has not determined the gasoline franchise he will operate under but says he is negotiating with a number of franchises. He owns a Citgo gas station with convenience store on STH 33 at the Dodge/Washington County line.

The commissioners proceeded with a favorable recommendation. A public hearing on the development will be held at the March 6 village board meeting.

Managing members of Kewaskum Green and Gold LLC gave the commissioners a presentation on their plan to renovate the Hydraulic Gear manufacturing building along Fond du Lac Avenue. The group became official owners of the property 10 days ago.

"We are excited about this building, but we need some cooperation from the village," stated Bob Gannon, managing member of Kewaskum Green and Gold LLC. "We're excited too," stated Heiser with much enthusiasm.

Architect Brian Fischer, another one of the managing members of Kewaskum Green and Gold LLC, told the commissioners they are keeping the existing manufacturing structure on the property and renovating it into a professional building with an undetermined number of tenants. They will start at the bottom and remodel up to the top.

Gannon stated they want to move quickly on getting the building remodeled because two potential tenants need to be in by summer or they may remove themselves from the development.

Because the property is an island in the Town of Kewaskum, the developers will need to annex the property into the village. That process has already started according to Gannon. They are working with the township and will start this week on some very minimal environmental issues.

Contrary to public belief, Gannon said the property is somewhat clean environmentally; one load of dirt will be removed off the site because of contamination. "Wheels are already in motion, anything that can be done before annexation will be done. The Town of Kewaskum has been very accommodating," Gannon stated.

The plan commission approved the plans. The next step for Kewaskum Green and Gold LLC is the annexation of the property. That issue is expected to be brought before the village board for a public hearing in March.

Cousin's Subs announced plans to be an occupant of the building earlier in January. Conceptual plans for the building show a daycare play area. Tuttle Creek Learning Center of Kewaskum was rumored to be among the potential occupants of the building, however, they stated they had no comment on the rumor.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of JANET GROSS, who passed away 25 years ago, February 5, 1981:

Her life is a beautiful memory,
Her absence a silent grief,
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
God saw she was getting tired
And a cure was not to be.
So He put His arms around her
And whispered come with me.

Sadly missed by the family.

IN MEMORY

In memory of WALLACE MARTIN, who went to his heavenly home, 10 years ago, Feb. 6, 1996:

There is a road called remembrance
Where thoughts and wishes meet
We take that road in thought today
To one we cannot greet.

You left us beautiful memories
Your love is still our guide
And though we cannot see you.

You are always at our side
Our family chain is broken and Nothing seems the same.
But as God calls us one by one
This chain will link again.

You are sleep in God's beautiful garden of sunshine and perfect peace.

When someone you love becomes a memory that memory becomes a treasure.

Peace Church members build houses over break

Nine young adults and two older adults from Kewaskum spent part of their Christmas break in Palm Coast, Florida, drywalling a house through Habitat for Humanity's Collegiate Challenge program. They worked with Flagler Habitat from January 1, 2006 through January 6, 2006.

In addition to donating their time and energy to help build houses, Peace United Church of Christ donated $500 to Flagler Habitat to build the home they helped construct as well as future homes in the area.

The group consisted of: Bree Boettcher, Erica Christie, Malia Dickman, Natasha Klein, Becky (Ogi) Herrick, Kaitlyn Ogi, Erik Rundquist, Gretchen and Katie Van Ess, Clark Pearson and Karen Kletti.

Collegiate Challenge is a year-round school break program, coordinated through the Collegiate Challenge Team at Habitat for Humanity International in Americus, Georgia. More than 12,000 students from more than 700 colleges, universities and high schools will work at more than 350 sites nationwide for Collegiate Challenge. Collectively, these students have pledged more than $1,000,000 for the affiliates they are working with.

Students are helping themselves and the local community as they help others build new homes, new hope and new lives. The majority of students involved with the Collegiate Challenge program are active members of Peace United Church of Christ. This program allows students the opportunity to bring back skills, experiences and enthusiasm to share with the rest of their community.

THANK YOU

Thank you St. Jude and the Child Jesus for favors answered.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

O holy St. Jude Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance.

Help me in my present urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked, say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and three Glorias. St. Jude pray for us, and all who invoke your aid. Amen.

This Novena has never been known to fail. This Novena must be said for 9 consecutive days, and publication must be promised.

Washington County 4-H Saddle Club Awards

Wayne Crusaders 4-H News

On January 10th, the Wayne Crusaders 4-H Club held a meeting at Wayne Elementary School. To begin the meeting, the members of the Cake Project did a demonstration. They brought in a large sheet cake and each took turns putting a different decoration on it, like a rose or border, using icing. They talked about how much they enjoyed being in the project, and what their favorite things were. Then they saved the cake for the club to eat after the meeting, along with cupcakes.

The fundraising committee decided to sell candles and we are going to vote to sell one of four other programs for a club outing fundraising in April.

For a community service we collected items such as canned foods, cereal bars, hot chocolate packets, soap, lotion, lip balm, and cash donations for the Baskets of Love Donation for giving to people in nursing homes on Valentine's Day.

Our club among others wants us to save McDonald's receipts to redeem for products featured on the McDonald's Neighbors website, www.mc-wisconsin.com. The receipts can be dropped off at the UW-Extension office located at 333 East Washington Street, Suite 1200, PO Box 2003, West Bend, WI 53095.

Do you enjoy art or ice sculpting? If you are in grades 7 and up, there is a contest on Sunday, Feb. 12, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Celebrate Families at the Fair Park along with other activities that go through 4:00. There'll be fun for the whole family including entertainment, Family Resource Fair, the Treasure Chest and hands-on family activities.

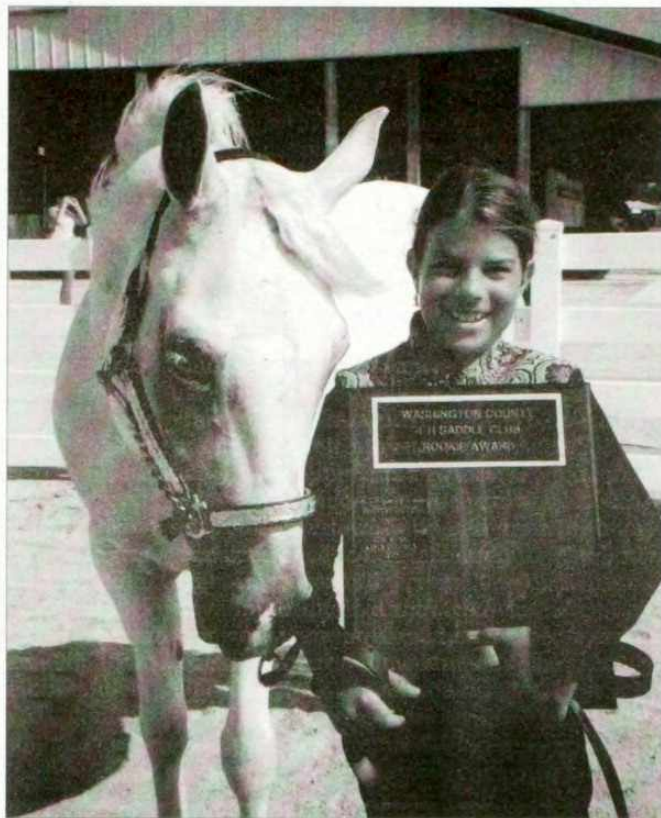

At the end of our meeting, members participated in an activity for this year's 4-H Special Emphasis: "Eating Well... Being Active... Retrofit Yourself." We played Mad Libs about healthy words and other games.

You can join 4-H any time, so don't wait! Our next meeting is February 14, at 6:30 p.m. at Wayne Elementary School, and anyone's welcome to come!

Cell

By Stephen King
Scribner $26.95 353 pages

Driving down the road, and not paying real close attention. In the men's or ladies' room, one stall over. At the check-out line in the grocery store. Standing in the middle of the sidewalk, oblivious to everything but a little voice, held in one hand.

Remember when talking on the telephone meant actually sitting down at a table or desk and staying there? Does it seem like nearly everyone is a slave to the cell phone?

In the new novel, "Cell" by Stephen King, that last question may be more valid than you think.

For once, Clayton Riddell is on top of his game. He's finally landed a dream job: drawing comics for a major client in Boston. It's the kind of work Clay has always wanted, the job he told his ex-wife, Sharon, that he would one day have. Sharon told him she believed in him. Clay can't wait to get back to the hotel, to call her and share his good news.

And then the strangest thing happened. Right in front of his eyes, a well-dressed woman who was chatting on her cell phone suddenly went crazy. A teenaged girl, also on her cell, attacked the well-dressed woman and ripped the woman's throat out. Cars were crashing and mowing down pedestrians, blood was everywhere. People with vacant eyes were slaughtering others on the street.

As Clay and another unaffected man, Tom, hurry to the safety of a small hotel, they see carnage and mayhem everywhere. A young girl they shelter and befriend at the hotel confirms what the men have only barely considered. The cell phones have driven everyone insane.

Beside himself with worry, Clay remembers a certain birthday present that his young son, Johnny, simply had to have: a small red cell phone, which mostly sits gathering dust on the bedside table, the "shine" worn off the gift. Now Clay has to get back home to Kent Pond, Maine. He hasn't checked lately, and he needs to know. Is it possible that the phone still sits, unused, in Johnny's bedroom?

Is it possible that Stephen King has a cell phone? He says not.

And I'm glad mine didn't ring while I was reading this book, because I'm not sure I would have answered it.

The great news is, the Stephen King that early fans came to love is back with an all-too-plausible story line that puts the "EEEE" in "creepy". Like many of his other novels, King lovingly writes of gore and blood and humanity beset with insanity, in a way that will make you squirm. The characters in this book are guy-next-door types, the kind you'd trust with your house key.

And the evil undead? Well, what can I say?

After all, this is a Stephen King book, you know.

If you're ready for some old-fashioned skin-crawling frights, then flip this book open. "Cell" isn't a turn-on-the-lights-and-lock-the-door kind of scary, but you'll never again hear a ringtone in a public place without looking for somewhere to run if you need it.

Ice safety important on County lakes and rivers

Temperatures have been unseasonably warm in January 2006. Think in terms of the thermometer rather than the calendar. The DNR issued press releases warning that the ice is unsafe for fishing, snowmobiling and skating on many lakes in Southeastern Wisconsin. Go to the DNR website, www.dnr.state.wi.us, for the latest information. Check with your local resort or bait shop on ice conditions and any unknown danger spots.

General ice thickness guidelines are for new, clear ice only: two inches or less - stay off; four inches for ice fishing or other activities on foot; five inches for a snowmobile or ATV; eight to 12 inches for a car or small pickup; 12 to 15 inches for a medium truck.

Have a plan of what to do if you do break through the ice. Carry ropes, ice picks and a flotation device.

Survival tips:

Don't remove your winter clothing, they can provide warmth and flotation.

Turn toward the direction you came. That's probably the strongest ice. Place your hands and arms on the unbroken surface, use ice picks a screwdriver or a pair of nails if you have them to provide the extra traction you need to pull yourself up on the ice.

Kick your feet horizontally as you pull yourself onto solid ice.

Lie flat on the ice once you are out and roll away from the hold to keep your weight spread out to prevent you from breaking through again.

Get to a warm, dry sheltered area and seek medical attention.

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources provided this information in their pamphlet "Danger, Thin Ice."

Canadian Scientist, Dr. Gordon Giessbreck, a thermophysiology, from the University of Manitoba studies hypothermia and is an expert on the effects of cold on the human body. He did a five-minute demonstration on survival. "We have a lot more time to survive than we think. Focus on not drowning the first minute you're in the water. Don't panic. If your face is submerged, don't gasp. If you gasp you drown. Our first reaction is to gasp and hyperventilate. This is called the cold shock phenomena and lasts one to three minutes. You will get over it. If you are not able to pull yourself out of the water with the above tips in two to five minutes, rest your arms on the ice, keep as much of your body out of the water as you can, if you can not get out in five to 10 minutes, don't waste heat and energy, keep your arms on the ice and wait to be rescued. Hypothermia is variable. You can live an hour or two. This will widen your window of opportunity to be rescued."

To assist in a rescue, try to talk the person out of the water first, then call for help. Extend a rope with a loop the person can put around their body under their arms or an extension cord or ladder. A non-professional should not go out on the ice to perform a rescue.

To learn more about Washington County lakes and rivers, visit www.geocities.com/fishing_wisconsin/ice_fishing/icefish.html. Visit www.dnr.state.mn.us/boating to download the Minnesota DNR's pamphlet, Thin Ice, a complete guide to ice safety. Donath, Thull named to All-Region team

The rewards of a 12-1 football season included a couple of postseason awards for two Kewaskum High seniors. Garrett Donath, left, and Jeff Thull, right, were named to the District 4 All-Region team. Donath, who became the school's all-time leading rusher, was selected as a running back, while Thull, who opened a lot of gaping holes for the backs, was honored as an offensive linemen. Both are planning on playing collegiate football next fall.

Natural Resources Board approves 2006 deer season rules

MADISON - In a conference call arranged to address modifications to deer season hunting rules requested by the legislature, the state Natural Resources Board voted Tuesday, Jan. 31 to limit a proposed statewide December antlerless deer gun hunt to designated "Herd Control Units" north of Hwy. 8. All deer management units south of Hwy. 8 would remain part of the proposed December antlerless deer only gun hunt.

The board also voted to place the start of the 2006 youth two-day gun deer hunt on the Saturday closest to Oct. 8.

"We went back to the affected user groups last week and discussed all the possibilities. It was a frank, honest and candid discussion with all the groups making their desires known," said Department of Natural Resources Secretary Scott Hassett. "This compromise is the best middle ground possible. It provides at least minimal deer herd control and only impacts those deer management units most in need of herd control hunts north of the Highway 8 line," Hassett said.

"The ball is in the legislature's court now," Hassett said. "If we're going to have new deer season rules for 2006, we must resolve this entire rule matter by Feb. 15 or we go back to the 2005 season rules. We cannot implement any changes for this year after that date and still get licenses on sale in March."

"We value all forms of outdoor recreation," said NRB member, Herb Behnke, "but our number one priority is wise management of our resources."

Deer management units (DMU) can be designated as Herd Control Units when they are at least 20 percent over population goals set in administrative rules, and the normal nine-day November gun deer hunt would not bring the units to within 20 percent of population goals.

With these modifications, the youth deer hunt will fall on the fourth weekend of the archery deer season and the last weekend of the black bear hunting season in 2006. The rule modifications still require legislative concurrence. If the legislature concurs with these modifications by Feb 15, these season dates and changes could be in effect in time for the 2006 hunting season according to DNR wildlife officials.

Pike Lake candlelight ski/hike Feb. 11

The Friends of Pike Lake will be hosting the 17th annual Candlelight Ski/Hike evening on Saturday February 11, 2006 from 6 to 9 p.m. State forest volunteers have assembled several hundred candles out of plastic drinking cups and canning wax. Just prior to the 6 p.m. starting time, forest crews will light and place the candles in one gallon milk jugs at 30 foot intervals along the right side of the trail. Forest rangers and volunteers will then patrol the trails during the evening for problems and blown out candles.

Pike Lake Unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest has a warming shelter that will be staffed by volunteers who will be serving refreshments throughout the evening. The Northern Cross Science Foundation will be on hand with their telescopes to provide an evening of star viewing and telescope instruction (clouds or no clouds).

In the event of no snow, a candlelight hike will be held.

A state parks and forests admission sticker is required for each vehicle entering the park and will be available at the entrance gate.

For further information call the forest at 262-670-3400 during regular business hours of 7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Kewaskum scores just 5 points in the final quarter, loses 46-40

Late scoring drought foils upset bid by Indian boys

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Going into the fourth quarter, coach Glenn Eichstedt was feeling pretty good about the way his Kewaskum boys basketball team was playing against Plymouth last Thursday night.

Eight minutes to go, and the Indians, who had dug out of an early deficit to take a one-point lead, would have had a victory over one of the upper division teams in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference team.

Eichstedt certainly didn't think the Indians would go ice cold on their home court, but they did, scoring just five points in the final quarter and watching their lead disappear and turn into a 46-40 defeat.

Kewaskum only scored a pair of baskets, by Zach Wollner and Matt Parent and a single free throw by Wollner, the final eight minutes.

"We outthrustled the Panthers. We outrebounded the Panthers. We outworked the Panthers. We outplayed the Panthers," the coach said, but, "We didn't outscore the Panthers."

Eichstedt didn't have to look far to find the cause of the most recent loss, which puts the Indians' EWC record at 1-7 and overall mark at -2-11.

"We were one for 15 from 3-point land, and any one of them would have given us the lead in the fourth quarter," Eichstedt said, reporting the team also missed way to many "bunnies" not to mention nine free throws, and, "Had we converted on 50 percent of those, we could have easily won by double digits."

Both of the Indians' big men, Parrent and 6-foot-6 Paul Gaynor, scored well, with 15 and 11 points, respectively, and Wollner was close to his average, with seven. Beyond that, there wasn't much production. The only other Indians to score were Casey Scheel, with four points, and Eric Cain, with Kewaskum's lone 3-pointer of the contest.

On the boards, it was Parrent leading the way with eight, while Gaynor was one back at seven.

The best quarter for the Indians was the third when four players combined for 16 points.

Eichstedt had high praise for the efforts of junior guard Dan Shea, who drew a rare start because of illness and injuries which has as a couple of the Indians not at 100 percent. "He played well, especially defensively," Eichstedt said.

The visiting Panthers were again led by talented forward Jon Iserloth. Iserloth poured in a game-high 21 points, with nine of them coming in the first quarter when Plymouth jumped out front, 18 to 11.

Cody Commerford and Adam Doeberth both chipped in with eight points, and Doeberth was especially effective in the second half, scoring all four of his hoops after intermission.

Tyler Niedfeldt went scoreless for the Panthers but helped out with a team-high seven rebounds.

With the win, Plymouth boosted its EWC record to 7-2. Overall, the Panthers are 11-3.

"That's the second consecutive game against Division 2 ranked teams that we could have just as easily won," Eichstedt said, referring also to the Jan. 17 loss to Campbellsport.

Kewaskum had just one game this week, Tuesday

(Jan. 31) at New Holstein. The postponed game against Roncalli has been rescheduled for Saturday, Feb. 18 at Roncalli.

Last Friday, the Indian varsity was heading to Manitowoc for the game when the team's van went into a ditch.

No one was injured, according to KHS Athletic Director Jason Piittmann, who said, "Everyone's fine."

Piittmann said Roncalli officials were contacted and told the team would not be coming for the game. "We rescheduled that game for the 18th of February (7 p.m.)," Piittmann said.

Lady Indians still struggling on offense

It's slow, but there is progress being made by the young Kewaskum High girls varsity basketball team.

The Indians lost to host Plymouth 65-23 in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference game Friday night, but they did better at slowing down the Panthers this time around.

When asked if this second showing was better than the first, new coach Dave Kraft said, "Defensively better, yes. We set a goal of (trying to hold them to) 60 points. We didn't quite make it, but we're getting closer," Kraft said, pointing out Plymouth scored 87 points when the two teams met back on Dec. 8.

"Offensively, it takes a little longer to learn the skills," the coach went on, reporting he had only three girls score, including two of the upperclassmen on the team.

Junior Sam Droese led Kewaskum with 11 points, while Jennie Wicklund pitched in with seven points and Taylor Long added five.

"If we would have shot free throws better, we would have gone over 30 points," Kraft said, indicating his girls shot just six of 19 from the free throw line.

With the loss, the Indians record in the EWC fell to 0-9. Overall they are 0-15.

Plymouth, now 7-8 overall, got a game-high 16 points from Alicia West. The Panthers are fairly tall, according to Kraft, who said, "They have a lot of girls in the 5-foot-9 to 5-11 range. They always do."

Plymouth's height made it a big more difficult for the Indians to rebound. "We didn't have much (in rebounding)," Kraft said. "Taylor and Tiffany Hedlund both had four."

Kewaskum had a home game Tuesday against Sheboygan Falls, and tomorrow night (Friday) will host New Holstein. Both are conference games, and Kraft feels his Indians will have a chance for a victory against both.

"If we play to our potential, we'll have a shot," Kraft said, recalling how his Indians led Sheboygan Falls on the road 12-4 after the first quarter only to lose when they ran into foul problems and had to finish the game with just three players.

Two local golfers come close to top-50 rankings in state

In the most recent issue of the Wisconsin Golfer Magazine, Kewaskum High's Jason Jahnke was listed among the top 55 Junior Boys in the annual point race for the year 2005, while Kate Korth ended up in a tie for 69th place among the Junior Girls.

Points are kept by officials at the Wisconsin State Golf Association in several categories, including Men's Amateur, Women's Amateur, Seniors, Junior Girls and Junior Boys.

The points are earned on the bases of finishes in various tournaments held in the state throughout the season.

Jahnke, who made the Eastern Wisconsin All-Conference team last spring, earned 180 points to finish 55th.

The Junior Boys champion was Dustin Schwab, who scored 1,156 points, which was over 200 more than runner-up Ben Sieg.

Schwab, who plays out of Lake Wisconsin CC in Prairie du Sac, played at Edgewood College in Madison last fall and later transferred to Marquette University.

Jahnke, who plays out of Hon-E-Kor Country Club, will be starting his senior season at KHS in March.

Korth, who earned second team honors in the Wisconsin Little Ten Conference last fall, earned 71 points in the tournaments she entered.

Kate Korth

The Junior Girls Player of the Year was Lindsey Solberg, a sophomore at Middleton High School. She came up with 1,332 points.

Two other Hon-E-Kor junior players, Jeff Anderson of West Bend and Ethan Geidel of Kewaskum, were among the top 255 players. Anderson had 172 points to finish 60th in the standings, while Geidel, who because of his age could only play in limited competitions, earned 20 points to finish in a tie for 261st. Geidel is a freshman at Kewaskum High.

Craig Anderson, the current men's club champion at Hon-E-Kor and the coach of the West Bend West girls and boys golf teams, came in with 30 points, which put him in 135th place among the Men's Amateur players.

Ogi is one of the defending champs; Rhoads eyes a 2nd title

Indians come in with glossy records for EWC mat finale

Eric Ogi takes down an opponent at a recent meet. Ogi will be heading to the state wrestling tournament this weekend in Madison, along with other members of the Kewaskum High School wrestling team.

It's not often a high school wrestling team has a banner year, then gets to host the conference tournament. That's exactly how the schedule worked out this year for Kewaskum, however, and the Indians are ecstatic about the opportunity to show off Saturday in front of a partisan home crowd.

After finishing up the Eastern Wisconsin Conference dual meet season with a perfect 7-0 mark, Kewaskum will strut into the tournament with two unbeaten wrestlers, Eric Ogi and Scott Rhoads, who are both 7-0.

Ogi, a junior, will be going after his second straight EWC title, while Rhoads, a defending Division 2 state champion, is also out for his second, although they will not be in succession since he lost a tight battle against a Plymouth athlete in the finals a year ago after winning a crown in 2004.

Nick Bartley would have joined Ogi as one of the defending champions, but he was recently declared out for the season with a knee injury that will require surgery in several weeks.

Two other KHS standouts, Dan Shileny and Jake Turowski, are sporting 6-1 marks against conference foes. Shileny is a senior while Turowski is a junior.

A third Indian at 6-1 is 215-pound P.J. Krueger, who is having an outstanding freshman year at a position normally dominated by juniors and seniors.

Quietly posting a 6-1 record and making great strides during the year is freshman Andrew Haugen. KHS coach Dennis Aupperle is delighted with the improvement Haugen has made.

Jon Olla, another of the KHS seniors, comes in at 5-2 at 171 pounds, and Stephan Kattar is 5-2 at 112 pounds. Their efforts could go a long way toward determining whether Kewaskum will get the wrestling "sweep," adding the tournament title to the dual meet championship.

Jake Sabel comes in with a perfect record at 145 but because he only had three matches, Aupperle may have to petition for a seed for him.

The other KHS regulars and their records are as follows: Nathan Seitz, 1-6 at 119, Jon Hawig, 2-5 at 130, Mason Smith, 3-4 at 135, and Bryan Theisen, 3-4 at 275.

Wrestling begins Saturday at 10:30 a.m. The semifinals and first round of consolation matches get under way at 12:30, with the fifth place matches at 2:30 and the championship and third-place matches going on two different mats starting at 3:30 p.m.

All day admission fees are $4 for adults and $3 for students. For the final round only, the cost is $3 and $2.

Now it's official...

KHS mat team is all alone at the top

Dennis Aupperle has now accomplished something no other wrestling coach at Kewaskum High School ... and perhaps no other KHS coach in the last four decades has been able to do.

Winning back-to-back titles in the Eastern Wisconsin is a historic event in boys sports at the school and for Aupperle, who graduated from KHS in 1989 and later wrestled for UW-Stevens Point where he won Division 3 All-American honors.

"It was nice last year, but having it all to yourself, I think, was our goal," Aupperle said over the weekend, referring to the fact the Indians shared the title with Campbellsport and Plymouth in 2005.

The Indians gift-wrapped the EW title last Tuesday with a convincing 58-10 victory over a weak Manitowoc Roncalli team. There were only nine matches, as Roncalli forfeited at four weight classes and there was a double forfeit at 125 pounds.

The win gave the Indians a perfect 7-0 mark against EWC foes. For the year, they were 13-3.

When asked if having a weak opponent right before the conference tournament would hurt his team, Aupperle said, "I don't think it matters. We looked at it as the final step to win the EWC, so it was just another step."

Winning by pin for the Indians were Scott Rhoads at 152, Dan Shileny at 160, Jon Olla at 171 and Jake Turowski at 189.

Also, Tony Kudek, a 145-pound senior who has been out for the sport for several years but was never able to win a varsity spot in the strong middle of the lineup, got a chance to wrestle and pinned Brian Wells in 2:23.

Kudek was subbing for Jake Sabel, who still had a little irritation in his shoulder from the injury he suffered in the On The Waters tournament held during the Christmas vacation. He is expected to be ready to go and make a run at an individual title on Saturday.

With their wins, Rhoads and Turowski improved to 28-1 and 24-5, respectively, while Eric Ogi, who missed a couple matches early in the season while he was cutting weight, improved to 22-4 after receiving a forfeit. Shileny also has a good record, sitting at 21-8.

Rhoads is a defending Division 2 state champion; Ogi placed fourth in the tournament last year, and Turowski has state experience, having appeared in the 2004 competition at the Kohl Center in Madison.

Kewaskum is now chomping at the bit for a chance to claim the EWC Tournament title. The meet is being held in Kewaskum on Saturday, with first-round matches set to get under way at 10:30 a.m.

As far as what his squad will have to do to complete the sweep, Aupperle said, "We have to wrestle well as a team. We have our guys who should win, and I think it will come down to the others coming around for that end-of-the-year run."

Kewaskum 58, Roncalli 10

103 Andrew Haugen won by major decision over Joe Samz, 17-9; 112 Stephan Kattar won by forfeit; 119 Nathan Seitz lost to Jacob Harvey 7-2; 125 double forfeit; 130 Jon Hawig lost by major decision to Matt Gille 12-0; 135 Mason Smith lost to Matt Kiel 9-5; 140 Ogi won by forfeit; 145 Kudek pinned Wells 2:23; 152 Rhoads pinned Adam Ley, 3:25; 160 Shileny pinned Bob Masse, :56; 171 Olla pinned Ryan Russell, 1:00; 189 Turowski pinned Russell Massey, :21; 215 P.J. Krueger won by forfeit; 275 Bryan Theisen won by forfeit.
