Village president calls retirement "significant event" in village history

KEWASKUM- After serving in village government for 34 years, the Village of Kewaskum's first village administrator, Daniel Schmidt, announced he would retire in April of this year. Village President Matt Heiser publicly announced Schmidt's retirement at the village board meeting, Monday, March 6.

Schmidt started his service to the Village in 1972 when he won a seat on the Village Board. In 1979 he ran for Village President but lost to Robert Danielson. He was later re-appointed to Danielson's seat on the board that same year and served until July of 1979. While a member of the board he served on nearly every committee.

Schmidt stated he felt two of his most memorable achievements occurred while he was a trustee on the village board. He was a key player in financing the remodeling of what is now the municipal building, and while chairing the park and recreation committee, he oversaw the development of what is now known as the Kiwanis Park swimming pool.

The Village of Kewaskum created the position of Village Administrator in July of 1979. The primary function of that position was to assist then village commissioner William Martin with grant-writing, engineering work and to instruct the board on various village issues. All three, continue to be primary functions of Schmidt's job today.

Schmidt was chosen from a pool of 10 applicants and started on July 16, 1979. His starting salary was $15,000.

When asked why he decided to apply for the job, Schmidt stated, "I

"His expertise will be hard to replace. His passion for the village will be impossible to replace."

enjoyed government service while on the village board. I thought the job would be very fulfilling."

He says through his almost 27 years, the job has been very enriching. Even with the roadblocks and pitfalls that were not listed on the job description he applied for,

Schmidt said it was his family who got him through difficult periods on the job.

"Anyone who takes a job like this has to have the support of their family. I did, especially from my wife (Phyllis). She is fantastic," he stated.

Through the years, Schmidt has represented the village on various county and state committees. He was also instrumental in organizing the village's Centennial celebration in 1995.

In a statement to the board read at Monday's village board meeting by Village President Matt Heiser, Schmidt announced, "After much deliberation, and family discussion, I have decided to submit my letter declaring my retirement effective April 14. I am confident this decision is correct for the Village, myself and my family."

He went on to thank past village boards, employees, village businesses and professional associates, now friends, he has worked with. "I believe we have accomplished worthy goals, achieved the unexpected at times, and have improved the Village of Kewaskum's services and quality of life," he stated.

It was obvious both Schmidt, and his wife, who was also in the audience, were physically saddened during the reading.

As the meeting closed, Village President Matt Heiser stated, "His (Schmidt's) expertise will be hard to replace. His passion for the village will be impossible to replace."

Details on finding Schmidt's replacement will be released at the March 20 village board meeting. The village will receive assistance from UW-Oshkosh, according to Heiser.

"Words can not repay the debt that the Village of Kewaskum owes to Dan Schmidt. For decades he has been the constant worker, the stalwart citizen in the midst of the often-chaotic storm that is local politics. I never once saw Dan less than 100% ready for any meeting or any discussion. A humble man, Dan would probably shun public sentiment on his behalf, so I will simply state this, Dan Schmidt has done his job," asserted past village president John Kenworthy.

Schmidt is the village's second longest serving citizen-employee. Bill Martin, his predecessor, served for 33 years before handing the reigns over to Schmidt.

Schmidt stated, he, along with his wife, will continue to operate their art gallery, Art Central in the village and may entertain other business opportunities.

V.B. approves annexation request for Green and Gold LLC, conditional use permit for J-Stop

Spring Clean-Up Day April 22 for village residents

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- The Village of Kewaskum is one step closer to adding a new Citgo convenience store and car wash, as well as the renovation of the former Hydraulic Gear manufacturing facility at Hwy H and Fond du Lac Avenue now in the Village. Board members granted a conditional use permit for Jim Thull of J-Stop and approved an annexation request for Kewaskum Green and Gold LLC.

The Village Board opened their March 6 meeting with two public hearings one for the conditional use permit for Jim Thull and the other, an ordinance to annex an over two acre island of the Town of Kewaskum for Green and Gold LLC.

After the public hearing closed, board members approved a conditional use permit that allows Thull to construct and operate a fuel and automobile service station, a drive through facility attached to a restaurant and car wash. A full service McDonalds restaurant has also been proposed for the site. Construction is anticipated to begin the second week of April. J-Stop will be located along USH 45. Customers will enter the facility off Badger Road in the Village's tax incremental district (TID).

The board approved Ordinance 2006-03, which will annex a little more than two and a half acres of the former Hydraulic Gear factory, located at 1010 Fond du Lac Avenue. The developers say the entire parcel will be divided into two developments. The first of those developments is remodeling the current structure on the property into a professional commercial building. Zoning was approved as B-2.

An easement will be granted for the Village's Department of Public Works (DPW) to gain an additional access to the neighboring sewage treatment plant located in the back of the building.

Department of Public Works Director Jerry Gilles asked the board for permission to host the annual Spring Clean Up program for the village. The board set Saturday, April 22, as the date. The program will run from 9 am to 2 pm. The date was picked because of the Earth Day observance that day.

Gilles stated in 2005 the village spent $2,500 for the program. He added most of the expense is from the cost of the dumpsters that are used.

In other DPW news, the board acted favorably on a proposal to raise the rates charged for jetting sewer lines. The proposal raises the hourly rate to $130 per hour, a $5 per hour increase. That rate includes the machine and two village operators. The holiday rate was set at $180 per hour.

The sewer jetting service is used primarily by other municipalities.

County's Smart Growth kickoff meeting to be held in Kewaskum

Residents in the Town and Village of Kewaskum are invited to attend the Washington County Smart Growth Kickoff. The kickoff will be held at the Kewaskum Municipal Building Annex March 16 from 6:30 to 8:30 pm.

Washington County, in partnership with the Towns of Addison, Barton, Erin, Farmington, Germantown, Hartford, Kewaskum, Polk, Trenton and Wayne and the Village of Kewaskum, have formally agreed to work together in a single planning effort to develop a plan that fulfills the requirements of the Comprehensive Planning Law.

Washington County officials say there will be six public outreach efforts, over the next three years, to obtain comments from residents including a county wide survey, open houses, informational meetings, visioning sessions, focus groups and public hearings. The first public outreach efforts will be one kickoff meeting for the county and one for each partnering community to provide opportunities for citizens to learn about the county wide comprehensive planning process, timeline and state law requirements. In addition, citizens will be able to share their perceptions regarding the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats in their community. Meetings have taken place throughout municipalities in the county since December.

The meeting will start with a 15 minute open house to allow participants to view informational posters and handouts regarding the planning process. A brief presentation of this information will be followed by a strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats workshop where citizens can share their thoughts/feelings/perceptions of their community and Washington County.

The primary content in a comprehensive planning document revolves around "nine elements" outlined in Chapter 66 of the state statutes. The nine elements include issues and opportunities, housing, transportation, utilities and community facilities, agricultural, natural and cultural resources, economic development, intergovernmental cooperation, land use and implementation.

All municipalities and Washington County are required to adopt a comprehensive (Smart Growth) plan by January 1, 2010. The Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (SEWRPC) and the University of Wisconsin Extension will also be involved in the process.

For more information on the development of the plan, contact Debora Sielski, Assistant Administrator for Planning, Washington County Planning and Parks Department at 262-335-4445 or visit www.co.washington.wi.us/smartgrowth.

UWWC presents Bat Boy; The Musical

The University of Wisconsin-Washington County (UW-WC) is pleased to announce the cast for their spring theatre production, Bat Boy: The Musical. The play will be performed at 7:30pm on Friday and Saturday, March 10-11 and 17-18 in the University Theatre. Bat Boy: The Musical is based on the book by Keythe Farley and Brian Flemming. It's the story of a half human/half bat discovered in the caves of West Virginia. Dubbed, "A wacky, whimsical and hip tour-de-force" by USA Today, the play is a story about tolerance, difference and defining what is "normal." It tells the story of the capture, education and persecution of the beloved cult hero, Bat Boy, the West Virginia Bat Child.

The production and design of Bat Boy: The Musical is by UW-WC's Professor Brad Ford who "loves the play, its music and its message." According to Ford, it has been the "sleeper" hit of many college and small professional theatre companies.

Ryan Klug, a former student of Ford's, will be serving as Director and Choreographer. Ryan had a lead in UW-WC's, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, and Ford admired his talent. Klug has since graduated from American Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts in New York City and has moved back to West Bend to start his own theatre company. Ford thought this would be a good chance to expose Ryan's work to the community and also give UW-WC a new directorial perspective.

Cast members include: Jeff Spoo, Slinger as Bat Boy; Leah Rose, West Bend as Ruthie Taylor; Blaine Hechimovich, Horicon as Rick Taylor; Kevin Emmer, Slinger as Ron Taylor; Bruce Towell, Kewaskum as Sheriff Reynolds; Bethanie Roeglin, West Bend as Meredith Parker; Courtney Dodson, Milwaukee as Shelley Parker; Bob Deyo, Fredonia as Roy; Kristofer Holly, West Bend as Bud; Allan Homes, Hartford as Ned; Stephanie Broughton, Fredonia as Mr. Dillon; Sunny McQuiston, Newburg as Maggie; Jane Kosednar, West Bend as Lorraine; Cassandra Mullen, Fredonia as Jackie; Molly Kirschner, Jackson as Daisy; Kathryn Otten, West Bend as Delia; Rick Gilbertson, Slinger as Dr. Thomas Parker; Kelly Crandall, Slinger as Mrs. Tay-

Area receives fraternal assistance thanks to Modern Woodmen efforts

Residents and organizations in Wisconsin received $260,345 in fraternal assistance from Modern Woodmen of America in 2005. These dollars support the fraternal organization's social and volunteer activities for local members and their communities.

Modern Woodmen members in Wisconsin are organized into 47 local chapters called camps and five youth service clubs. Through the organization's various volunteer programs, camp and youth club members conduct service projects to meet the needs of their communities.

Among the many projects conducted in 2005, area members:

- Held a raffle, raising $4,801 to benefit Beaver Dam Senior Center in Beaver Dam.

- Planted trees at Millennium Park in Twin Lakes.

- Purchased and donated food to the Burlington Food Pantry in Burlington.

Additionally, Modern Woodmen representatives donated 407 free youth educational programs to area schools and youth organizations. These programs helped teach 53,315 children about safety, citizenship, creativity and self-confidence.

Founded in 1883 as a fraternal benefit society, Modern Woodman of America offers financial services and fraternal member benefits to individuals and families throughout the United States.

THANK YOU

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my family, relatives, neighbors and friends for remembering me with cards, gifts, food, flowers, and prayers during my surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital and my recovery at home. Your kindnesses were greatly appreciated.

Campbellsport's Theisen Trails subdivision moving ahead

Almost half of lots already sold in phase one of project by local developers

Scott Theisen (on backhoe) and Nick Martiny confer while digging the basement for Martiny's home that will be located in the Theisen Trails subdivision in Campbellsport.

ing to have 25 percent of the lots committed to (by now) and we're at almost 50 percent. That's a nice feeling. We've got four (homes) going right now and another four under construction next month."

The group dealt with positives and negatives over the past year, including the difficulties in hammering out details like developers agreements. One of the positives was getting the asphalt base and curb and gutter in place just in the nick of time before winter settled in. "It's definitely been a learning experience," Chris said, "But, we're happy we did it. We hope to continue to work with the Village" on future phases of Theisen Trails.

Another plus has been the addition of Scott Theisen to the Greene (Chris and Kyle) Brothers Construction business.

Chris said, "Scott joined us about half way into this. We're fortunate to have a good, positive working relationship, and to have an employee of Scott's caliber. And he's happy to have a hand in developing his family farm."

Chris said 4 Seasons has an "overall concept for the entire farm" split into four phases. He said Phase 2 will "maintain the duplex and single family lots, possibly a little larger" than phase 1. The group's original concept was to offer a variety of home options in the various phases, with a possible PUD (Planned Urban Development) in the final phase.

But for now, they're looking forward to weather conditions that will permit final grading so sidewalks can be installed, foundations and basements dug, and work completed on the first phase of Theisen Trails.

CAMPBELLSPORT- With nearly 50 percent of their Theisen Trails Phase one lots sold and a potential developer for the commercial frontage less than a year after the acreage was farm fields, Chris, Mary Jo, and Kyle Greene, and Bart Welsh of 4 Seasons LLC are enthusiastic about the future.

Chris Greene said they expect to bring plans for phase two of Theisen Trails to the Campbellsport Village Board in late 2006 or early 2007. He said they have been "in talks with a gentleman who is interested in building a 10,000 to 15,000 square foot multi-tenant, for-lease building," Chris said. He said in looking at the Theisen Trails development with and the potential of developing the remainder of the 145-acre farm, they envision a need for day care, a hair salon, and fast food businesses, as well as several others. If the plan is finalized, the developer will build according to the needs of potential tenants.

Chris' wife, Mary Jo, who is a broker, said the smaller lots, ranging up 38,762 square feet, are geared to young families and empty nesters who might want a smaller home and lot. With the Campbellsport Elementary School just across Grandview Avenue, a medical clinic, Campbellsport Public Library, churches, dentist office, and grocery store all within walking distance, Mary Jo sees much to attract buyers. She said she is seeing interest from Campbellsport and Kewaskum builders along with one developer offering homes on specified lots as low as $169,900.

Friends of Abused Families receives gift

WEST BEND- The Roundy's Foundation, chartered by Roundy's Supermarkets, Inc., parent company of Pick 'n Save, awarded $5000 to Friends of Abused Families, Inc. Connie Jones, Roundy's Foundation administrator, made the presentation at a donation ceremony at the Pick 'n Save store located at 2380 W. Washington Street in West Bend.

Jones presented the gift to Lisa Krenke, executive director of Friends of Abused Families. The organization has been serving Washington county residents for 28 years, striving to eliminate domestic violence and sexual assault by providing community leadership and expertise in crisis intervention and prevention education.

Specifically, Friends of Abused Families runs an emergency shelter to aid women and children who are experiencing violence in their own homes. It also operates a 24-Hour Crisis Line where trained staff members help callers assess their safety and determine the options available to them.

"Friends of Abused Families, Inc. is doing important and necessary work in the area of domestic abuse, and the Roundy's Foundation is glad to be able to help," said Robert Mariano, chairman and chief executive officer of Roundy's and president of the Roundy's Foundation.

The Roundy's Foundation was chartered in August 2003, the Roundy's Foundation was created to further strengthen the commitment

Their Rainbow Foods stores serve customers in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. The Roundy's Foundation is dedicated to hunger relief, families in crisis and literacy, and since its inception has given more than $850,000 to organizations focused on community service in those areas of need. Major grant recipients include food banks, women and family violence shelters and literacy programs throughout Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Sales tax revenues climb for county

Washington County had a stellar year for sales tax revenues in 2005. The County Finance Committee announced exact figures at their meeting Wednesday, March 8.

Doug Johnson, Administrative Coordinator for the county stated, "Our collections for 2005 were $8,340,805." Johnson says $200,029 was left out of the total figure because the county will need to have to pay that amount to the state due to their processing errors.

In 2004, the county received, $8,310,373.30 in revenue from sales tax. On February 14, the County Board voted to extend the sales tax for five more years, through 2011. The vote was 18-9.

PEOPLE

An energetic worker in Gridiron Club

Communities would like to have hundreds of people like Shaske

One of the most dedicated members of the Gridiron youth football club is Cindy Shaske, a board member since 2000. She is shown here with Jim "Jonesy" Korth, who serves as president of the organization.

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Although she will never call a play or run a practice, Cindy Shaske is every bit as important to the success of the Kewaskum Gridiron football program as the coaches are.

Shaske's title as a board member doesn't begin to describe what she does for the club and will continue to do at least until her younger son, Eric, graduates from Kewaskum High School.

"You can't say enough about Cindy ... She's getting to be the backbone of the club," Jim "Jonesy" Korth said about Shaske's dedication.

Shaske is "a good spearhead for anything new that comes up. Cheerleading is a good example," Korth went on, explaining she didn't have any background in cheerleading, but, "She dove right in, and now we've got a pretty successful little program going."

Shaske got started in Gridiron when she heard in 2000 the club was in need of new board members, and without them, the program might not have been able to continue.

"I knew what it (Gridiron) did for my son," Shaske said, referring to the fact he learned the concept of teamwork, in addition to learning skills associated with football.

There were several openings that year. Three came forward, and Shaske was elected.

This was the beginning of a good association.

"I felt I could bring a few things to the table," Shaske said, specifically the skills she uses daily in her career at Cedar Community in financial services. She's worked at Cedar Community for 30 years and jokes that she is "working toward a private room there when I need one."

"I sort of assumed the clerical tasks (in Gridiron)," Shaske said, indicating she is present at all board meetings and subcommittee meetings to help plan events like the Parents Day and the banquet.

"I'm there just to guide the group," she said, indicating the task is so large it needs the help of many parents, parents to design programs and banners, help in the concession stand, handle crowd control and work on the chains.

Last fall, there were nearly 500 people present for the year-end banquet, nearly double the amount that came to the event in 1999 when the club sponsored just three teams, for sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

Her older son Greg was on the sixth grade team in 1999, and later the club added a fifth grade team and cheerleaders. "The people who started this, I can't thank them enough," Shaske said. "They bring something important to the youth of Kewaskum ... nearly 200 kids."

"It's a club that couldn't exist without a lot of help," Shaske said, noting the people on the board must be able to relate to others.

Working with Gridiron is "a people job. You work with parents ... kids and coaches," Shaske said, indicating she even took the coaches' certification program not because she has designs on coaching but because "I wanted to know what they go through."

As if working, running a home and Gridiron projects don't fill up every waking hour, Shaske occasionally helps with the Booster Club and is active in Kewaskum Cares About Kids, a group that offers alcohol-free alternative socials for teens.

"We've had a couple of teen dances. At the last one, we had about 60 kids," she said, praising Linda Dymond for heading this initiative.

"I just think everyone should be involved in something in their community," Shaske said.

Of course, none of this would be possible without the backing of Shaske's husband, John. "My husband is supportive of my efforts," she said, and she said the coaches have to have the same backing from their spouses.

"No one seems to mention all the time the coaches put in (to Gridiron)," Shaske said, and Korth turned right around and complimented her by saying, "Whether it's the banquet, setting up Parents Day, getting plaques. She gives 110 percent. She makes my job a whole lot easier."

Schreier honored by Achievement Academy

Elizabeth Schreier

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Elizabeth N. Schreier of Kewaskum has been named a United States National Award Winner in English.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Schreier, who attends Kewaskum Middle School, was nominated for this national award by Cori Aronow, a teacher at the school. Schreier will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Founder of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a qualified sponsor.

Elizabeth is the daughter of Robert and Michelle Schreier of Kewaskum and the granddaughter of Joanne Schreier of West Bend.

Youth football club reaches ten year milestone

Gridiron Club announces plans for 2006 season

While many of us may be struggling with cabin fever this time of year, and we anxiously await for the arrival of spring, the Kewaskum Gridiron Club's Board of Directors eagerly awaits the start of their tenth season of youth football as members of the Wisconsin All-American Youth Football League in the fall of 2006. A good part of the planning process has already taken place including an important event which will occur this spring in preparation several months prior to the actual season.

The Gridiron Club has set aside Saturday, April 1st for their annual spring registration which will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Hon-E-Kor Golf & Country Club, located at 1141 Riverview Drive in Kewaskum.

This registration will include both football players and cheerleaders.

Participation in the Gridiron Club is open to Kewaskum School District youth who will be entering the fifth through eighth grades in the fall of 2006. There are very strict residency rules which apply as anyone registering must live in the Kewaskum School District. A parent or guardian must accompany any child when registering and pay the participation cost at that time.

The participation cost is $135 for each player. For any family having two or more players, the cost of the second player is $100, and the cost for any third or additional player is $75. The cheerleading cost is $50 for each child.

In consideration for participation, parents of all participants are required to perform volunteer duties at home games or other activities.

Practices begin in early August on the high school/middle school grounds. Games take place on Saturdays in September and October, with home games held on the high school athletic field and away games taking the teams to several other communities.

The Kewaskum Gridiron Club is a local, non profit, all-volunteer organization dedicated to teaching the fundamentals of full contact tackle football to our area youth to help prepare them for playing at the high school level. From humble beginnings in 1997, the Club has grown steadily to include teams at four grade levels (fifth through eighth), cheerleaders, and an annual scholarship award to a former player.

If you have any questions, need more information, or are unable to register on April 1st, please call: Joe Backhaus at 626-2327 or Jim Korth at 626-2520. Cheerleading questions can be directed to Jenny Harbin at 626-8058.

Letter to the Editor:

Believe it or not, we live in a representative democracy. We regularly elect officials to represent our interests at all levels of government from the grassroots government at town, village, city and county levels, to our representatives in Madison, and Washington, D.C. As voters our responsibility does not end on Election Day. Each of us has the responsibility to keep abreast of what transpires at the various levels of government, and identify areas of concern or misrepresentation to the respective government official.

In the case of the Town of Wayne, the elected officials have for the most part, and almost without fail, neglected the desires of their constituents regarding land divisions and rural residential growth. On more than one occasion residents from the Town of Wayne were surveyed regarding their perceptions on growth and development. Not surprisingly, the consensus indicated that residents desired the slowing of residential growth, and directing such growth in and around the existing hamlets of Wayne and Kohlsville. The same surveys, found Town residents expressing concern and dissatisfaction over the already, numerous and scattered rural residential developments.

In its latest feat and following a public hearing in which a great deal of concern was voiced by the citizens, the Town Planning Commission voted unanimously to recommend to the Town Board, NOT to rezone a 155 acre tract in the SW corner of the Town of Wayne from agricultural to residential. (Why the Planning Commission gave consideration to rezoning and the proposed subdivision remains a mystery as it is in direct contradiction to expressed desires of the residents and adopted growth plan).

In a surprising turn-around, less than 24 hours later, the Town Board disavowed the recommendation of the Planning Commission and voted to rezone the tract to residential again, a direct contradiction of expressed desires of its residents. Interesting to note at this point, is that two of the Planning Commission members are also Town Board members, the same members who had the evening before been part of a unanimous vote to NOT recommend rezoning. This certainly raises questions of ethics among others, and certainly doesn't pass the "smell test".

Moreover it is but one of many examples regarding land division and development where the Town Board has neglected the desires of the residents.

As residents of the Town of Wayne, we need to hold our elected officials accountable. Call them, write them, or show up at their door and state your concerns face-to-face. Let them know that you will not stand by idly as they decimate the town.

Better yet, plan to attend the Plan Commission meeting, March 14, 2006, 7:30pm at the Wayne Elementary School and voice your concern. If our elected local officials continue to fail their constituents, then it is time to make an immediate change and recall these individuals.

Dean Gebhardt

Dear Editor:

Our families have been residents of the town of Wayne for more than 60 years. We have owned land in the area for more than 80 years, so we have strong roots and loyalty to the community. We are concerned to see what is happening to our prime agricultural land. If we continue to subdivide this land at such a rapid pace, what will happen to the future of the land used for food (corn, hay, wheat), for fuel for transportation (corn used in ethanol), etc.

The town of Wayne requested that a land use plan be put together for guidance in land use decisions. The recommendation that came out of this was that an average increase of 12 housing units per year from 1997 to 2020 was the most desirable rate for the growth of the town. We understand that this is only a recommendation, a guideline if you will, but in the last couple of years that recommended number has been far exceeded. So our question is why are the recommendations as put forth in A LAND USE PLAN FOR THE TOWN OF WAYNE: 2020 not being followed?

In closing, what we are trying to say is our concerns are real. We feel we should all have a stake in the future of our community. Hopefully many other town of Wayne residents feel the same way. Please come to the next meeting on March 14, at 7:30 p.m., held at the Wayne Elementary School.

We are concerned for the future of our community and its growth.

CONCERNED CITIZEN IN THE TOWN OF WAYNE

I Thank You for taking the time to read this. I live in the Township of Wayne. I have been here for nine years now and like it very much.

I liked the rural character of the area so I made this my home. From day one I had dreams of what I would do with this place. The dream of a pond was there before I even had a wife to make the family this was to be dug for.

I bought an old machine and made this dream happen for my friends and family. Everything was right on track; two kids and a really nice place to raise them. We already have many great memories and my kids are small. But now our town leaders have been failing to represent the interests of the people they work for.

Growth is a wonderful thing at a controlled rate. But when developers come in it is out of control. Currently we are looking at adding 35 homes to this block in total, 31 in just the subdivision. Everything about this goes against the Towns' own plan!!

This plan has criteria in it that is against this whole subdivision. What will happen to this area with 35 new wells and 35 new septic systems? Will this contaminate all our wells? What about the roads that are already insufficient? 70 more cars a day? What about all of the other services Fire Department Police the list goes on.

What about the farmers already struggling to get by? What about the culture clash between the farmers livelihood and 35 more homes? The survey from just a few years back showed 80% want controlled growth. Not a free for all.

When are the leaders of this town going to start to protect the interests of the people they work for? The people of this township are good hard working people just trying to get by. Some of these people have been here their whole lives. These people are there for each other.

Who should the town be looking out for? The tried and true or the take the money and run developers? Once the money is made they are gone. Today it is my dreams on the chopping block. Will it be yours tomorrow? Please get involved before it is too late on March 14th 2006.

Letter to the Editor:

Residents of the Town of Wayne - do you know what is happening in your township? At the last Planning Commission meeting they turned down a developers request to change the zoning for agricultural to residential. This was because the Land Use Plan is specific and allows subdivisions to be built only around hamlets, not five miles away.

This recommendation was made by the Planning Commission and approved by the Town Board to negate this developer's plan to build 35 homes.

At this meeting, neighbors of this proposed subdivision were in attendance. However, the next night when the Town Board met, they overrode the Planning Commission's recommendation and voted to change the zoning from agricultural to residential. The Land Use agreement was breached.

Because the neighbors of this proposed subdivision had heard there would not be a subdivision as planned, they did not attend the following night's Town Board meeting.

There are many negatives to this plan including fire department protection, emergency protection, and sheriff's protection, all due to the fact that these vehicles would have to cross railroad tracks which sometimes handle 30 trains a day. One household had to wait 20 minute for fire protection because of a passing train. West Bend Road and Nenno Road will have to be rebuilt to handle all of the proposed traffic at the expense of the taxpayer.

Last year the Town of Wayne filled out a survey and the consensus of the majority of the township residents favored a country atmosphere which includes farmland and green space.

The next Planning Commission meeting will be March 14th at 7 p.m. Please come and make your presence known so that the actions of the Town Board will not be a precedent in our beautiful Town of Wayne.

Community workers visit the Little Folks

As a part of the "community workers" theme, the staff from Little Folks School House invited various community workers to come in and speak about their jobs in the community.

Frist to visit was a nurse and doctor team Dr. Cheryl Jean Pierre, who is an emergency room physician at Mt. Sinai in Milwaukee and her husband, a nurse, spoke to the children about the importance of effective hand washing. Dr. Cheryl talked about germs at her job. She gave each child a plastic bug to symbolize a germ. This "bug" was meant to help the children remember to wash their hands to get rid of the germs. Nurse Jim read a story about bath time and spoke on personal hygiene. The children examined a skull and learned about brushing teeth. Before leaving, the doctor and nurse became honorary pre-school teachers as they assisted the children in cutting and pasting a project they brought along.

The next visitor was an annual returnee. Jessica from Dr. Van Ess's office came and did a presentation on dental hygiene. Jessica spoke about healthy food and non healthy food, and the effects they have on teeth.

She also showed a model of a set of teeth and demonstrated the correct way to brush and floss. Jessica showed and explained the tools which are used in a dentist office. The little folks enjoyed a movie called "Dudley's Visit to the Dentist." Before leaving, Jessica left a toothbrush for each child and staff member. Every child is required to brush their teeth after breakfast and after lunch while in care at the Little Folks School House. Jessica's visit also coincided with National Dental Health Month.

A new visitor to the Little Folks School House this year was Monica from the Kewaskum Post Office. Monica came out to present the children with "wonderful winter decorations" awards. These ribbons were given for holiday decorations the children made and sent to the post office to help decorate their walls for the holiday season. Monica also spoke a little bit about her job and the mail.

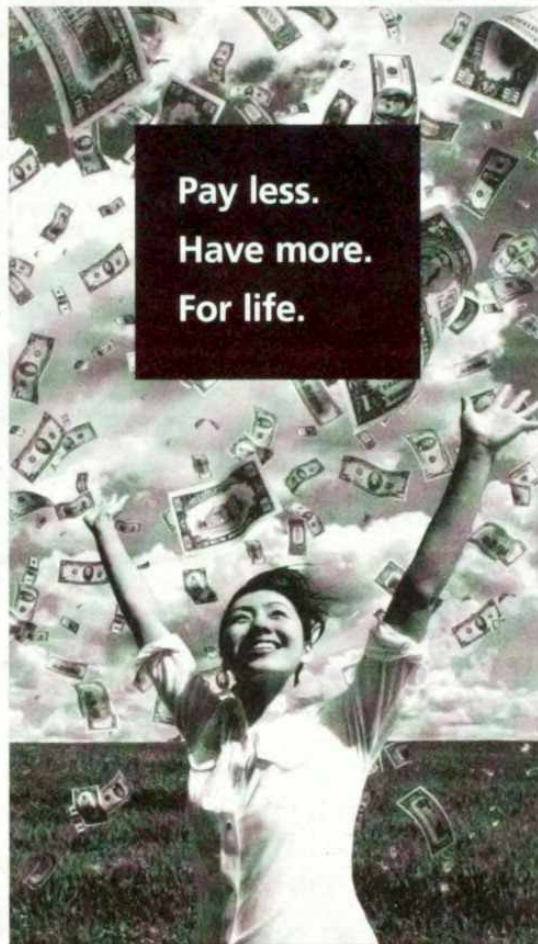

The staff of the Little Folks School House wishes to thank all of the community workers who made the trip out to Wayne to take part in their community workers unit. Soon, the little folks will be located in the Village of Kewaskum and will be able to visit community workers at their jobs.

Torch

By Cheryl Strayed
Houghton Mifflin $24.00 336 pages

Question: When someone you love is faced with a serious and life-threatening illness, how do you cope?

Answer: There is no answer.

There is no answer because, as psychologists and counselors would tell you, there are Five Stages of Grieving. Everyone goes through them, although not in the same order or even at the same time.

In the new novel, "Torch" by Cheryl Strayed, three people learn that grief can tear them apart. Will they ever come together again?

It's snowing on the afternoon that Teresa Rae Wood learns that clusters of malignant tumors are growing up and down her spine. Up until that day, Teresa felt fine; healthy, in fact. Now, she listens to the doctor tell her that she has a few weeks, a month, a year, at most, to live. As Teresa and her husband, Bruce, drive the few miles through the Minnesota woods from Duluth to Midden, they tell one another that it'll be okay. Things have a way of working out. But how are they ever going to explain this to Teresa's children, Claire and Joshua?

Claire is going to college in Minneapolis, and waiting tables to get by. People always told Claire that she was going to go places, be someone, make her mark on the world. The truth is, Claire always knew she wouldn't wait to leave Midden.

When people tell Joshua that they heard his mother on Modern Pioneers, the show she does on the local radio station, it irritates him. She always talks about her family and she uses them as guinea pigs for her home-spun remedies and concoctions. Josh is a private person, quiet but not shy. Doesn't she see that his life isn't for broadcast?

It's a cold evening when Teresa Woods tells her children that she has terminal cancer. Five months later, as she lay dying in the hospital and as Bruce begs her not to leave him, as Claire starts an affair with a man whose wife is also dying, as Joshua takes a job dealing drugs, Teresa Wood's family starts to unravel. How can they ever pick up the threads of their lives again?

Time, as they say, heals all wounds.

As debut novels go, this one is really good. Author Cheryl Strayed has captured the exquisitely sharp, yet totally baffling grief and anguish of watching a loved one die, and you can't help but ache right along with her characters as they watch a year go past. The supporting cast in this book is well-written and completely believable.

My only complaint was that the erotic scenes - and there are plenty of them - just seem wrong to me. Maybe it was the language, which was unnecessarily blunt. Maybe it was their timing, which seemed out of place in the story. Perhaps it was the unexpectedness of harsh words in such a beautiful novel.

My advice is to pick up "Torch" and ignore the erotic parts. If you can do that, there's no question that you'll like this novel.

band, Alexander; three children, Biruta Christian (fiance Greg Lavey) of Fond du Lac, Karl Narbatovics (special friend Dana Hroch) of Fond du Lac and John (Colleen) Narbatovics of Adell; six grandchildren and one great grandson, Deidrea (Warren) Stanke, great-grandson Tynnan Liermann, Kelly Narbatovics (special friend Dana Lueloff), Ryan Narbatovics, Randy (Kim) Narbatovics, Melisa Narbatovics and Lucas Narbatovics (fiancee Misty Kelly); three sisters, Vera Egle of Saukville, Olga Edwards of England and Irene Kolovs of Australia.

She was preceded in death by her parents, one sister and two brothers.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, March 7, at Mach Funeral Chapel, Fond du Lac, with the Rev. Dr. Lauma Zusevics officiating.

Visitation at the funeral home was on Tuesday from 9 a.m. until the time of service.

IN MEMORY

In memory of RICHARD HALFMANN, who passed away 20 years ago, March 7, 1986:

We watched through all your suffering and often had to cry. For we knew that very soon we'd have to say goodbye. When days are sad and lonely and everything goes wrong.

We seem to hear you whisper cheer up and carry on. Every time we see your picture you seem to smile and say don't cry. I'm in God's keeping we'll all meet again someday.

Redwing Photography is dream come true for Backhaus

Janet Backhaus operates Redwing Photography and is a freelance photographer for The Statesman as well as other area newspapers

By Joann Schrauth
 Special to The Statesman

CAMPBELLSPORT - Janet Backhaus combines her camera, computer, and magic to produce one-of-a-kind photos. Backhaus doesn't have a magic wand. Her work is more like an unwritten recipe with a pinch of this, dash of that, and a smidgen of the other until it's perfect.

Bringing a photo onto her computer screen, Backhaus said she couldn't explain the exact details she used to create the chrome effect that highlighted the muscles of an area basketball player, nor is she certain she could recreate it in another photo; she just keeps adding, subtracting and changing techniques until she's satisfied with the result.

Backhaus said the artistic touches are, "my niche, my forte."

Like taking a brush to a canvas, using her computer and a professional software program, Backhaus creates artistic one-of-a-kind original photos that bring out details others might not see. She's at area sporting events, often shooting alongside the athletes' parents; yet the parents buy her unique photos, often after seeing them on her Web site at www.redwingphotography.photorelect.com.

Backhaus is a self-taught photographer who left her day job in computer technology for the hobby she loved.

"My husband (Perry) bought me a Canon SLR (single lens reflex 35 mm) camera as a birthday present," she explained. She had always been taking snapshots and this took her hobby up a notch. Another year, on Sweetest Day, he presented her with a similar camera, but in digital format. Backed by her computer knowledge and lots of research, she opened Redwing Photography.

She laughs that her studio is in a bag and a box, and her studio lights are due to arrive any day now. She commutes to her office a few steps from her kitchen. For now, most of her work is done "on location," like the 300 to 500 shots she takes each week at high school sporting events. She said, "Now I go to games even when my kids aren't there."

Other times she is on location in the Kettle Moraine, shooting the ever-changing nature along the trails. Or she may be doing corporate shots, adding lighting to windows, tweaking the sky color, or taking out distracting details. Backhaus may use her computer to create a photo montage or add text, add a border, or create an abstract look, e-mailing the final result to a West Bend studio for printing.

Now she's booking weddings and senior pictures, family and day care photos, confirmations and First Communions. The equipment in the box and bag provide special effects like backdrops for an off-location choice. She takes those shoeboxes of old family photos, scans and archives them to a DVD format, or creates photo slide shows, complete with music.

"They say, 'Never quit your day job.' I walked away and started this business," Backhaus said, adding she always dreamed of opening her own business, and she has, "Thanks to my husband and his gift."

"Nothing makes me happier than getting a good shot," Backhaus stated, adding that one day she may move her business to a store front studio.

Village Board Meeting Minute

Village Board Meeting
February 6, 2006
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Mathew A. Heiser presided. Trustee Andy Pesch and Trustee Harry Roecker were absent; all other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

Mr. Ken Ward and Ms. Christie Cramer of Ruckert & Mielke, the Village's engineer and consultant, were present to present the Tax Incremental District # 2 First Annual Report. Christie Cramer reviewed the financial status of the TID and reported some of the expenses are slightly higher, but the lower interest rate that the Village received had made up for that and would still leave a modest balance. The growth projections are doing exceptionally well, which would indicate that if all stays on track the district will make the 14 year debt retirement. Mr. Ken Ward reported on the work being accomplished and stated all aspects of the project are on schedule. The road permits for the north-south street were received in the middle of December 2005 and that the water and sewer work should be accomplished by March 15, 2006 to accommodate the Purina Food Stores proposed opening of April 1, 2006. It was noted the wetland issue did cause some delays and added expense. President Mathew Heiser indicated it was a favorable TID report and appreciated everyone's help on putting it together.

The Fire Chief Mark Groeschel presented the 2005 Annual Report for the Fire Department. It was stated a total of 53 fire calls occurred in 2005, 26 of them being ambulance district related, 5 mutual aid type calls, 3 fire calls in the Town of Auburn, 5 fire calls in the Town of Kewaskum and 14 fire calls within the Village of Kewaskum. BY JUDY HARLOW
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

How good is the St. John's Northwestern Military Academy basketball team and its ace, Trevor Hughes, the 6-foot-1 guard who will attend Wisconsin on a basketball scholarship next year?

The Lancers are very strong as they showed in overwhelming Kewaskum 64-27 in a Division 2 regional opener held in Delafield Tuesday. With the win, they improved to an impressive 20-1 mark and definitely have earned their top-five ranking among medium-sized schools in the state.

It was a little more difficult to assess Hughes' talents because the score was 19-6 in the hosts' favor after the first quarter, and his action was limited after that. Hughes, playing in front of his future coach, Bo Ryan, did come up with a sensational dunk in the first quarter, so there is no question he has springs in his legs and he should be able to play with the Big Ten's big boys in a couple years.

KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said the dunk was set up when Hughes took the ball away from Austin Flanders and went to the basket uncontested, giving the Lancers a 9-0 lead. He later added a second dunk, according to Eichstedt.

In his scouting report, Eichstedt told his players Hughes is "strong, quick," loves to penetrate also "will shoot from 30-35 feet," and is a "great passer down the floor."

Hughes wound up with 14 points, and he got plenty of scoring help from Marcus Melvin and Keith Murray, who contributed 14 and 12 points, respectively.

"For the most part, we had executed our half-court defense very effectively," Eichstedt said. "Despite changing defenses from a zone to a matchup to a combination defense, Kewaskum simply did not make plays."

Eichstedt went on, "In other words, the Indians worked hard to position themselves well, but often times did not finish the play aggressively or physically, and that's where St. John's had a huge advantage."

It was difficult to find any bright spots on offense. Kewaskum had just 15 points after three quarters of play, and none of the Indians managed to score more than five points. Not even 6-4 post man Matt Parrent was able to hit in double figures against the Lancers.

Parrent was held to five points, while Zach Wollner and reserve Jack Breese duplicated that mark. Breese was also the team's leading rebounder with five.

The three KHS seniors had hoped to go out on a brighter tone, but Eric Cain, Paul Gaynor and Flanders were limited to four, two and two points, respectively.

"We committed too many turnovers (eight) in the first period, which allowed the Lancers to attack the rack in the open court, which is their forte!" Eichstedt said. "Then we started pressing rather than executing our offense, and the season was over quickly."

The Indians were hampered by some very poor shooting, especially in the second half. They had just a dozen baskets the entire game, including three-pointers by Parrent and Wollner. After converting five of 16 shots (31 percent) in the first 16 minutes of play, the Indians made just seven of 27 (26 percent) after the break.

St. John's, on the other hand, found the range in the final two quarters, hitting 13 of 21 attempts for 62 percent.

The loss ended Kewaskum's season. The Indians finished at 4-17, far off the goals they had set for themselves in the beginning of the season. Point guard Casey Scheel missed the final three games after breaking his wrist.

Even though the Indians struggled, Eichstedt took time to thank all the fans, especially the parents, for their support and attendance at the games.

St. John's moved on to play Slinger, a 51-48 winner over Mayville in another Division 2 opener. St. John's defeated Slinger, and then on Friday, in the regional final, the Lancers topped Campbellsport 64-47 in a game the Cougars were leading 3-0 after the first five minutes.

Lady Cougars have way too much scoring punch for KHS

In a Division 2 regional tournament game played recently, Campbellsport High had more girls score than Kewaskum High fielded on its varsity team.

Led by Alyssa McGray and Ashleigh Galligan, who scored 14 and 12 points, respectively, the Cougars rolled to a convincing 83-25 victory. They advanced to the second round where they lost to Pewaukee.

Ten other Cougars pitched in with points, including junior Bry Timblin, who had six. Timblin transferred from Kewaskum to Campbellsport this season under open enrollment policy.

The three Benike sisters, Kallie, Kassie and Kelsie, combined for 25 points.

The season ended with the young Indians unable to secure a single victory. They wound up 0-21.

Junior Kelsey Goetsch and Sam Droese both scored seven points in the loss. Both had three-point goals among their points.

"They're a team we didn't match up well against," Kewaskum coach Dave Kraft said about the defeat.

Kewaskum managed to score just five points in each of the first three quarters. They did hit in double figures in the final eight minutes.

"Kelsey ... she had a pretty decent game," Kraft said. "She improved quite a bit as the season wore on."

About Droese's effort, Kraft said, "She played OK. She's had better games."

Most of the other Indians struggled, according to the coach, who said, "I think some of the frustration over the course of the season started to show up."

With just seven girls on the varsity team this winter, and several of them freshmen, it was very difficult for Kewaskum to compete with other programs, but Kraft is encouraged the picture will be a lot brighter next year.

"As far as next year goes, the kids are going to have to work in the off-season and continue to improve," Kraft, who was in his first year as head coach after helping out at the lower levels for over a decade, said. He was convinced the girls did improve as a team, citing the scores of first and second meetings between Kewaskum and two other Eastern Wisconsin Conference schools.

"The first time we lost to Kiel by 30. The second time we lost by nine," Kraft said, indicating the Indians also lost to New Holstein by nine late in the season after losing to them by 40 in their first meeting. "Our defense was improved. Offense is what the kids have to work on. We have to consistently score in the 40s (points). We never hit 40 all season."

Pittsburgh is Rhoads' next stop

Scott Rhoad has made a habit of winning during a very successful wrestling career at KHS. His next stop is the Seniors Nationals Tournament in Pittsburgh, PA.

He can put a check mark by one of his 2006 goals, but Scott Rhoads is not content with just winning a second WIAA State Championship. Now he is aiming at All-American status.

Rhoads won't have to wait too long to see how he stacks up against topnotch wrestlers from the other states.

The Senior Nationals Tournament, hosted in Pittsburgh, PA., is coming up the weekend of March 31st and April 1st.

"I'm going down there and trying to place. If I place in the top eight, I'll be an All-American," Rhoads said, indicating he will be leaving on March 29th for the trip and will be accompanied by his parents, Jill and Paul Rhoads, his coach Dennis Aupperle. Joel Dziedzic, who has served as an assistant coach at Kewaskum High this past season and is one of Rhoads' workout partners, is also going along.

Rhoads admitted since winning the Division 2 title at 145 pounds on Feb. 25th, he took a couple days off but adds, "I started working again on Wednesday."

Rhoads needed the short break to soak in all that had happened to him the previous weekend ... after all, he's the only Kewaskum High wrestler ever to win two state championships.

"The Tuesday we came back, they had an assembly (at school)," Rhoads said, reporting he and Eric Ogi, who placed fourth at 140 pounds, were called on to say a few words about their experiences and to receive accolades from their fellow students.

"A lot of kids congratulated me. That was fun," Rhoads said, and so was the eating he indulged in after dieting throughout the season.

Now it's back on the diet and back on track. "I shouldn't have a problem" getting down to 145, he said.

One of the other Kewaskum High seniors has offered to work out with Rhoads. "Tomorrow, Jon Olla's going to help, and I'm going to see if I can get some of the other boys," Rhoads said, adding, Eric Cain, a member of the varsity basketball team has indicated "he wants to come up there (to the wrestling room)."

Several years ago, the top senior wrestlers from Wisconsin and Minnesota squared off in a dual meet held at UW-Rivers Falls, but Rhoads hasn't heard if that competition is being held any more.

He has been contacted by UW-Madison coaches, however. "Barry Davis (the Badgers' head coach) and Cory Wallman (a UW assistant) are actually coming to my house next week," Rhoads said. "I'm kind of looking at Parkside as well. They're Division 3."

If both schools are interested in having him in their programs, Rhoads said he would lean toward UW-Madison, even if there isn't much scholarship money available.

"If I had a chance to go to Madison, I probably would go there," he said. "That's really exciting for [me]!!"

Former KHS star sets records in 400

Freshman Donath turns eyes in WIAC Indoor Track test

Less a month into the collegiate indoor track season, Amanda Donath has already established herself as an up-and-coming star on the UW-Oshkosh women's track and field team.

Donath, a standout the past four seasons for Kewaskum High School, set a new UW-Oshkosh mark for the 400-meter dash this past weekend and helped the Lady Titans claim the title in the Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (WIAC).

In the two-day competition held at the UW-Stevens Point Multi-Activity Center, UW-Oshkosh dethroned six-time champion UW-La Crosse by piling up 179.5 points, 13 more than La Crosse. This was the 11th indoor title won by the Titans but only the first since 1999.

Donath not only won the 400, but her time of 57 and 36/100ths seconds (57.36) was the record at UW-Oshkosh, a record for the UW-Stevens Point facility, a WIAC conference record, and it was a provisional qualifying time for the upcoming NCAA III Indoor Track and Field Meet.

Donath also added a fourth place in the 200 meter dash.

The Oshkosh team is off to a blazing start in the 2006 track campaign. Prior to Saturday, the Lady Titans have also captured championships in the UW-Stevens Points Invitational (on Feb. 25) and the nine-team UW-Oshkosh Invitational (Feb. 18).

In the meet in Oshkosh, Donath was clocked in 26.49 to take second place, and at UW-Stevens Point, when the Lady Titans piled up 218 points, Donath was third in the 200 (26.44), and she helped the 4x400 relay team to a second place. The relay team's time of 3:57.00 was also fast enough to be a provisional qualifying time.

The NCAA III Indoor Meet will be held in Northfield, MN this coming Friday and Saturday.

The coach of UW-Oshkosh is veteran Deb Vercoouteren. She was named as the WIAA coach of the year for the indoor season, and the Lady Titans are currently ranked first in the NCAA III power listing.

Amanda is the daughter of Debbie Donath and Mike Donath.

Last year, Donath finished second in the 400 meter finals of the WIAA Division 2 State Track and Field Meet, running a time of 58.08. In the preliminaries, she was clocked in a school-record 57.75.

Donath also helped the 4x200 relay team to a seventh place with a 1:47.20 after setting a school record of 1:47.01 in the preliminaries.
