KHS teacher charged with drug possession, paraphenalia

Complaint alleges teacher was also over legal drinking

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor

KEWASKUM- A freshman teacher at Kewaskum High School has been charged with drug possession and drug paraphenalia possession after a Washington County Sheriff's Department Deputy stopped him for erratic driving on March 11.

According to interim superintendent of schools, Scott Peterson, the teacher was not teaching on Wednesday morning and could not say when he would return.

Scott J. Schilz, 23 of Hartford was hired by the Kewaskum School District in April of 2005 and started in August of that year. He was a replacement for longtime teacher Dan Unertl in the technical education department.

The Statesman attempted to make contact with KHS principal Christine Horbas, who led the interview team that hired Schilz but her secretary who fielded the call, stated inquiries regarding the matter needed to be directed to Peterson. He remarked that school district legal counsel advised him not to comment on the situation. Peterson did say that the matter is under administrative review.

Scott Schilz

According to a profile sheet from the school district, the interview team, headed up by Horbas, responded to six applicants for Schilz's position. The committee interviewed him and three other applicants. The group ultimately chose Schilz. That committee stated, "(Schilz is) hard working, willing to take classes if needed, very honest, wants to work with students outside the classroom as well." They further went on to say "Most definitely hire him if they had an opening."

According to School Board President Gordie Dickmann, if correct policy was followed, a background check was done on Schilz, and if something negative came up, that did not affect children, he could still be hired at the discretion of the building principal. He further replied that the board of education as a whole does not interview teachers.

"Once the internal investigation is completed, the board will decide on appropriate action," Dickmann stated.

According to Washington County Sheriff Brian Rahn a deputy initially stopped Schilz at 2:45 am in the town of Richfield for erratic driving. During the traffic stop, the smell of intoxicants from Schilz was noticed and the deputy did a PBT test which came back .10, above the .08 Wisconsin limit.

In realizing the vehicle needed to be moved, another deputy responded to move the vehicle to a safe location, that deputy then came across a box with marijuana and a marijuana pipe.

Rahn stated it was decided to forgo a citation for operating while intoxicated because of the drug possession charges. He concluded that the District Attorney is reviewing the charges.

Neumann explains Project Self Help and Awareness

Why do we exist? How did we begin? Why do so many people in Wisconsin know people in Mississippi?

It began with Jim Bulloch, Mal Gissen, Senora Springfield, Beulah Washington, and John Kinsman. Their names are always mentioned.

University of Wisconsin student, Mal Gissen, was in Columbia, Mississippi working in the black community. He heard of a "red haired" fellow law student who was chased into a field by "rednecks" banishing machine guns. His red hair made him to easily recognize. It was suggested that the red haired student and Mal change places. So Mal went to Grenada, a city 100 miles south of Memphis, Tennessee and 100 miles north of Jackson. Bulloch was there, working with a Christian group and the black community. Springfield, an elementary school teacher and Beulah Washington a native of Grenada, mother of eleven and grandmother of six were there in Grenada. Mal talked long hours with them. They thought how wonderful it would be if black Mississippi children could meet white people who respected them, loved them, and treated them as human beings. The idea germinated. Mal put articles in Madison newspapers asking if families would like to host a black Mississippi child. Twenty families responded. In June 1968 twenty-four black children from Grenada, Mississippi made the long bus trip to Madison, Wisconsin.

The children lived with them for 10 days or longer. They were shy and hesitant, and oh-so skeptical. But they found friends. We thought our idea was a good one and wondered how to carry it further. We needn't have wondered. It carried itself.

We have traveled to Mississippi to meet our children's families. We are always in contact with them and try to help them in whatever way we can. Our contacts with families have led to community projects. Today PSA includes several counties in Mississippi.

This is the history of Project Self Help and Awareness. New chapters are being written everyday. We extend to you the opportunity to be part of this exciting venture in race relations and more importantly human relationships, one person to another.

Project-Self is a program designed to be as people to people program. The children coming to Wisconsin are being exposed to new experiences and a completely different and exiting lifestyle. Most of the children who arrive in Wisconsin have never heard of, let alone been to a YMCA, on a baseball team or any organized sport. After the children see they can be involved and active in our daily lives it opens up a whole new world for them.

Dettwiler resigns from Kewaskum town board

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

TOWN OF KEWASKUM-With less than a year of municipal government under her belt, Town of Kewaskum supervisor Ellen Dettwiler submitted her resignation to the chairman and fellow board member on Friday, March 17.

Dettwiler stated in an email that she did not want her named attached to the town's proposed land use plan. "There should not be fear and competition between the two political units (town and village of Kewaskum)," she added.

Town chairman Ellis Kahn remarked he was shocked by the resignation, "I had no idea, I really was shocked to see it," he said.

At their meeting Monday evening, the town board voted to advertise the position. An advertisement can be found on page 19 of this edition. The town board will choose a candidate in April to finish the remaining year of Dettwiler's term. The appointee, if they desire will then have to run in the 2007 race.

Dettwiler is the second town official to submit their resignation since the first of the year. In February, town clerk Sandra Stern submitted her resignation after serving over two terms.

Keeping Families Safe from Sexual Predators

By Governor Jim Doyle

As a former prosecutor and Attorney General, I am deeply concerned about the threat of sex predators, particularly those that try to evade our sex offender registry and won't tell us where they are. That's why last year I ordered a top to bottom review of our system of tracking and monitoring sex offenders in Wisconsin.

In September, I took the next step, by launching the Sex Offender Apprehension and Felony Enforcement Initiative (SAFE). Under the SAFE Initiative we have cracked down on delinquent sex offenders, provided more information to the public about sex offenders in their communities, and used the most advanced technology to monitor the most dangerous predators.

One of our most innovative programs was to establish teams of retired law enforcement officers that track down sex offenders who are evading the requirements of Wisconsin's sex offender registry. For nearly six months, these teams, which include members from the Department of Corrections and the Office of Justice Assistance, have been working with law enforcement throughout the state to track down delinquent sex offenders and bring them to justice.

Last month, I announced that we have made major progress. And now more good news: to date, our law enforcement teams have tracked down 452 sex offenders who have evaded the state's registry of sex offenders. More than 280 of these sex predators had committed crimes against juveniles.

The compliance rate for the state's registry of sex offenders is now at 88 percent, up from 82 percent just ten months ago, and compared to 76 percent nationally.

In addition, some of the most dangerous sexual predators in Wisconsin, those who have been committed under the state's Chapter 980 law and then placed on supervised release, are now being tracked using state-of-the-art Global Positioning System (GPS) monitoring.

We also expanded Wisconsin's sex offender registry web site so that the public can now find out if a sex offender is living right in their neighborhood. As a result, usage of the sex offender registry web site tripled. There are now 75,000 visits each week to the web site, which contains information about more than 18,000 offenders. Parents, grandparents, teachers, and neighbors can now access the personal addresses of offenders, along with their photographs, physical descriptions, conviction information, compliance status, and the contact information for the agency supervising the sex offender.

Because of the SAFE Initiative, law enforcement agencies at every level of government and across the state are connecting the dots and sharing information so that we tighten the net around sex offenders. But we must remember that keeping our kids safe is a never-ending job. We are now one of the nation's leaders in tracking down and monitoring sex offenders, but we're not done yet.

Recently I announced that we will ask the public to do more to help track down sexual predators. I am directing my SAFE Task Force to develop 'Wisconsin's Most Wanted,' which will be a list of the state's most dangerous sex offenders who are evading the registry and trying to move undetected in our neighborhoods.

"Wisconsin's Most Wanted" will be widely available and highly publicized, making it harder for sex offenders to hide. If people recognize one of the predators on the list, we will ask them to call the SAFE Tip Hotline at 1-877-234-0085.

Wisconsin law enforcement agencies are working around the clock to protect our communities, and we have made great strides through this initiative. But the job isn't done yet...and we must continue working together to make sure our kids are safe.

Latest Habitat blessing to be dedicated Sunday in West Bend

Habitat for Humanity of Washington County board members, Roger Neuman, of Kewaskum and Mike Bown work on drywall at the recently rehabbed Washington Street condo during a workday. The upper and lower condo will be the center of attention during an open house and dedication to be held on Sunday, March 26.

akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

WEST BEND- Habitat for Humanity of Washington County has reason to celebrate this Sunday along with two Washington County families. The group will dedicate their fourth and fifth property and hold an open house celebration at the property.

Gayle Van Ess, with Habitat of Washington County stated that the group is very excited to be holding the open house and dedication at 171/173 E. Washington Street in West Bend. The Christy Fehrenbach and William White family will call the upper and lower condo unit home. Both condominiums have three bedrooms in them.

The 105-year-old building became vacant after a fire in 2000. Habitat of Washington County purchased the property last year and completely began gutting and rebuilding the structure. It is now ready to be a loving home for the Fehrenbach and White families.

The dedication will take place at 1 p.m. The community is invited to the ceremony led by Pastor Michael Moran of Kettlebrook Church of West Bend. Music will be performed by Crossings, an a cappella contemporary Christian group. The open house will be held immediately after the dedication and end at 4 pm. Those driving to the event are asked to park on Forest Avenue.

Van Ess says the group hopes to increase capacity to five to six homes in 2006. Their next project is a four-unit condo building on Miller Street in West Bend. She says excavation on that site will begin as soon as permits are filed with the city there. The city plan commission approved the plan on March 7.

In order for Habitat to make this bold goal, they will need help from May through November, working six days per week.

Maple Sugarin' open houses March 25 and 26

On Saturday and Sunday, March 25 and 26, Riveredge Nature Center will hold its annual Maple Sugarin' Open Houses in Newburg.

This year's open houses promise to offer more memorable experiences than ever. Visitors can participate in live demonstrations along their journey to the Sugar Inn.

Taking you back in time, the demonstration shows how American Indians collected sap and turned it into maple candy, along with storytellers sharing legends passed down for generations about how the sweet sap was discovered by various tribes.

Farther down the trail, participants will find the settler's camp. You will see what the American pioneers learned from the American Indians and how they adapted the process with their knowledge and tools.

Before ending at the Sugar Inn, kids and adults will have the opportunity to partake in various activities. Pioneer games and crafts will be set up, along with an area for everyone to make their very own spiles (spouts placed in the tree to direct sap) out of sumac like the American Indians and pioneers would have made.

The "Food Factory" will also be "up and running," explaining the process of photosynthesis and how this natural phenomenon produces the sap used to make syrup.

Depending on the weather, families may also go out to the Sugar Bush and help bring back buckets of maple sap to the evaporator, where it is boiled into syrup.

To top this experience off, make sure to grab a fresh pancake topped with Riveredge's pure maple syrup.

Cost of the event is $4.25 for adults, $2.25 for children, 12 and under, and free for kids three and under. Programs run from 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. Registration is not required unless you are planning a group of 12 or more. For more information please call Riveredge at 1-800-287-8098 or visit www.riveredge.us.

Murder mystery returns to Kewaskum area

KEWASKUM- Murder Mystery returns to Kewaskum in the form of a "Lethal Luau". The Kewaskum Junior Women are hosting their second annual murder mystery evening on April 1, 2006.

The evening begins with a birthday celebration "Hawaiian style" for Chase Diamond, local private eye and ladies man. The evening takes a deadly turn, someone falls to floor... stone cold dead.

Who is the culprit? Was it Nadia Seymour, the sexy swimsuit model and woman scorned by Chase? Or was it Joey "Bo-Jo" Breakers, the bodacious surfer dude who does all Chase's dirty detective work and gets none of the credit. Or could it be one of the other guests... Chief Honikaua Wiki-Wiki, local tribal chief; Holly Day, wealthy socialite; Sweet Leilani, hula dancer with a "special" dance created just for Chase.

The only way to solve this mystery is to join the Kewaskum Junior Women on April 1, 2006 at the Kewaskum Village Municipal Annex Building (across from Miller's Furniture).

The evening begins at 6:30pm with cocktails, Murder at 7:00pm. Your $25.00 per adult ticket includes a complimentary Mai Tai and a luscious luau buffet offering a variety of Hawaiian delights. Cash bar will also be available.

PERSPECTIVES

CONTACT:
Andrew Kuehl, Managing Editor
(262) 370-0831
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

Dear Editor:

Presently, the Wayne town board has many issues to consider. One issue of major concern is lack of control over sprawling subdivisions. In a recent edition of the Statesman, many Town of Wayne residents expressed some very valid concerns over the number of houses and subdivisions approved by the town board. These are concerns that need to be addressed by town government.

The town board does not have a written plan, in black and white, that it can refer to and follow. Decisions in the town appear to be made as a result of emotion and pressure from the developer, without concern for the town residents' (taxpayers') future. It is hoped that the county 2010 plan will help guide the town's future and meet some of the residents' concerns which include maintaining the rural character.

The Town of Wayne's planning commission seems to be trying to support the town's people by challenging many issues that have been put forth, but for some reason, our town board just isn't listening.

I urge all citizens of the Town of Wayne to please call a board member if you want to maintain the rural character of our town.

Clem Jacak
Concerned Citizen
Town of Wayne

Dear Editor:

Just a reminder: During a Kewaskum School Board forum last year, Steve Jensen stated that he didn't want any tax dollars used for extra curricular activities. NO AFTER SCHOOL PROGRAMS OR SPORTS?

Parents of students in the Kewaskum School District, is this who you want as a member of our school board? Someone who believes school is for only the "educational basics" and nothing else?

I would say that would mean Mr. Jensen would put an end to all football, basketball, tennis, baseball, track and even soccer games. How interesting. Is this what you, as a parent would want? NO! Extra activities are proven to help children with growth, development and character.

Open enrollment here we come. We can enroll our children in Campbellsport, West Bend, Random Lake or Slinger, where they do appreciate the efforts of the sports and extra clubs and activities. And we can take YOUR tax dollars with us.

Mr. Jensen's ideas are not good for this district or any other district.

Keep in mind: He, nor Mr. Braidigan have NO EXPERIENCE on the school board. Will they vote NO to all extra sports and activities? Are you going to take that chance on their NO votes to end your child's after school interests? I'm not!!

With Neal Weare, you know! He has supported all sports and extra school activities. He is for the parents and children of this district. Available anytime for your thoughts, concerns and opinions. If he doesn't know, he will find out for you. He has fought the hard fight for many issues concerning our children. He will continue to fight for you and find ways to say yes without spending extra tax dollars.

Vote NEAL WEARE TUESDAY APRIL 4th.

Kim Kauth

Letter to the Editor-

As a candidate for the Kewaskum School Board, I can not promise you that I will lower your taxes just to get your vote. We all know such a promise would be a lie.

I can promise you that I will continue to hold ALL accountable for our academic programs. That I will continue to be a strong supporter of our athletic and extra curriculum programs that our students need. As well, I will continue to support all programs needed for all OUR students, regardless of what educationally needs OUR students have.

As I have shown in the past, I will continue to look for money to improve on many of the things our students need, WITHOUT GOING TO A REFERENDUM.

With my experience and knowledge, I will continue to serve ALL the residents of the school district, not just the special interests of a few.

Your support and VOTE on Tuesday, April 4th will be greatly appreciated.

Neal D. Weare
Candidate Kewaskum
School Board

Dear Editor,

Steve Loehrke is a realtor in the Weyauwega area, and school board member there. Several years ago that district was ready to collapse, but with hard work, he almost single handedly turned the district around. Steve and his actions and decisions prove that you do not need to be an "experienced" board member to get things done, but you do need an agenda. In fact, having an agenda is imperative. Without it, you are just a seat warmer, and have slipped into a reactive mode. I have a proactive agenda: Academic Excellence and Responsible Stewardship of the Taxpayers' Money.

A school referendum, by its very mention, means the district is in trouble. The board, which has been entrusted with the task of educating our children and wisely spending our tax dollars, has failed to live within its means. Anytime a district schedules a referendum for text books and technology it is in trouble.

Is the Kewaskum district in trouble? Sure, we passed a tax hike for books and technology. What will we do when the referendum runs its course? Are we planning or budgeting for the next round of upgrades? Another example of trouble is Short Term Borrowing to cover the gap until the state kicks in its promised portion. Short term borrowing costs us by increased taxes to cover the interest. Wouldn't the interest be better spent on improving academic excellence, or returning money to the taxpayer by lowering the tax rate?

Recently I attended a board meeting. Someone in the audience brought up applying for grants. The members looked at each other, then the audience and asked if anyone knew how write the applications. Everybody looked around and then shrugged. While perusing the American School Board Journal online, I came across an article about grants and gifting. The author said the best approach to grants and gifting is to have the process spearheaded by the Superintendent and a grant writer. Organizations, foundations, and governments will give money to almost any project. How much? The sky is the limit.

You elect (hire) school board members to come up with ideas like this. Are they?

I ask for your vote on April 4th. Take a moment to visit my internet blog to find out more about my ideas at <http://www.stephenjensen.blogspot.com>

Stephen A. Jensen
Kewaskum School
Board Candidate

Dear Editor,

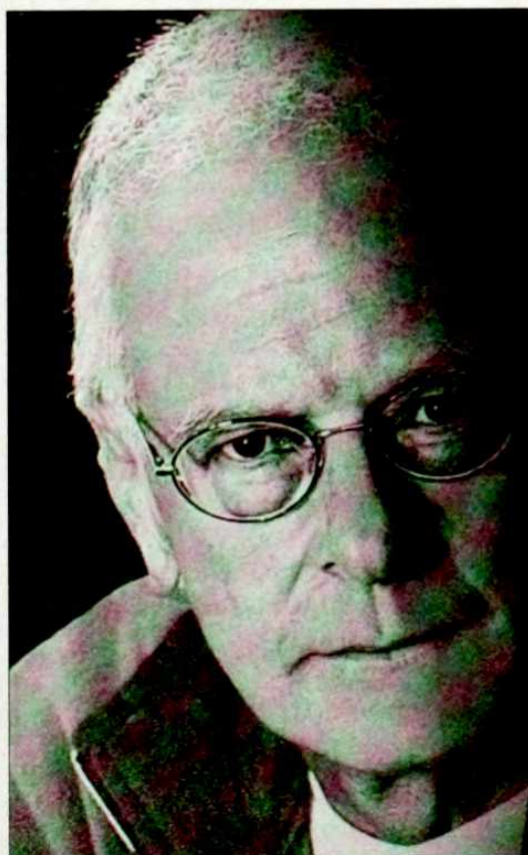

It has become apparent that Neal Weare just doesn't get it. He has once again put his name on the ballot to run for the Kewaskum School board.

HELLO, the Kewaskum School District residents recalled you. Remember then, you lost by a landslide 3-1 margin. To be more specific, 708 votes to 226, (76 percent). The voters sent a very clear message, but apparently Neal still doesn't get it.

I have placed my name on the ballot to run against Neal Weare and bring accountability to the board. There are too many decisions being made behind closed doors and the taxpayers are not being kept informed. Spending our tax dollars is at an all time high and no one is looking for ways to cut the spending.

Two members presently on the board, Gordie Dickman and Beth Steiner, will not be on the ballot and will be replaced by two very qualified candidates, I hope to be one of the two. As Chairman of the Northern Kettle Moraine Citizens for Responsible Government, I have decided to step down and become directly involved with the School Board. I will be asking for your vote come April.

This section of the state was hit by the worst snowstorm of the season last Saturday night and all day Sunday (March 7 and 8), when over a foot of snow fell accompanied by a high wind blockading the public highways.

The new fire truck purchased by the city council and delivered here last week Monday, received its initial test last Monday when the local fire department was called out shortly before the noon hour to extinguish a fire on the roof of the Fred Belger Sr. residence. The fire is believed to have started from sparks from a chimney. On Wednesday morning the fire department was again called out to extinguish a fire on the roof of the Holy Trinity parochial school building. The fire, before it was noticed, had already burned a hole in the roof about ten feet square. School was in session at the time the alarm was given. Last week Saturday, the local department with the small chemical engine, was called to the farm home of Math Bath, 1-1/2 miles east of Kewaskum to put out a fire on the roof of a shed.

The general store of A. Ruplinger and Co. at Allenton came near being wrecked by the explosion of a boiler connected with the steam heating plant last week Friday. Jacob Martin, one of the clerks, was seriously injured. He was found in an unconscious condition and his face and clothes were covered with blood. The force of the explosion shook the large building but did not do much damage.

The excessive use of coffee leads to great muscular irritability, gastritis, recklessness and sleeplessness. It is held by many medical men that the effects of coffee are wholly bad. The mildest results of an overdose of caffeine, the active element of tea and coffee, are a tendency to wakefulness, but there are recorded a number of deaths from heart failure due to its employment in large doses. MORAL: Would it not be better to drink West Bend beer with your meals instead of tea or coffee?

Mat. Bruhly received two cans of trout fish from the state fish hatchery which he deposited in a creek three miles southeast of Kewaskum.

Birthdays are time for celebration

Not a time for tears

But what happens when the birthdays no longer mark the years

Each time I read a birthday card

And the verses bring a tear For the loving words are written

To those who are still here.

They say you're in a better place

And we know it to be true, But... today is your Birthday...

And we are missing you.

NO BULL HERE

The dazed crew of a Japanese Trawler were recovered off the Sea of Japan clinging to the wreckage of their ship. Their rescue, however, was followed by immediate imprisonment once authorities questioned the sailors on their ship's loss. They claimed that a cow, falling out of the clear blue sky, had struck the trawler amidships, shattering it's hull and sinking the vessel within minutes.

They remained in prison for several weeks, until the Russian Air Force reluctantly informed Japanese authorities that the crew of one of its cargo planes had apparently stolen a cow wandering at the edge of a Siberian airfield. They forced the cow into the plane's hold and hastily departed for home. Unprepared for live cargo, the Russian crew was ill-equipped to manage a rampaging cow within its hold. To save the aircraft and themselves, they shoved the animal out of the cargo hold as they crossed the Sea of Japan at an altitude of 30,000 feet.

YMCA welcomes 10,000th member

The Kettle Moraine YMCA is proud to welcome its 10,000th member. Denise Roethle came into the YMCA on March 13 with the intention of signing up for a membership. Little did she know that she was to be the YMCA's 10,000th member. This turned out to be quite the honor for Roethle. Membership manager, Julie Socket, was excited to inform Roethle that as the 10,000th member she and husband Brian and daughter April Poling, will receive a free one-year family membership to the YMCA along with a YMCA duffle bag full of goodies.

"This certainly is a milestone for us and we wanted to do something special for our 10,000th member, or as we like to think of it, the 10,000th addition to our family," said Jon Lange, executive Director of the Kettle Moraine YMCA. "We are proud to offer a wide array of relevant programming and services to the community," added Lange.

The YMCA has been experiencing steady growth for the last decade. It has seen an average growth of 6% over the past five years. The YMCA not only offers programs for all ages, but programs that really meet the needs of the community. For example, the entire design of the River Shores location was focused on adults who have a hard time sticking to a consistent exercise routine and who want to make positive, healthy lifestyle changes. The response to the philosophy of River Shores has been tremendous. "I can't count the number of times I've heard, 'Hey, that's me' after people hear what River Shores is all about. We truly are a community based organization that is driven by community need," commented Lange.

The YMCA is dedicated to putting Christian principles into practice through programs that build healthy spirit, mind and body for all. For more information about the YMCA please call 262-334-3405.

Village Board Meeting Minute

Village of Kewaskum
Plan Commission Meeting
January 31, 2006
7:00 p.m.

The Plan Commission of the Village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, held their regular meeting in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street. Chairperson Mathew Heiser, called the meeting to order at 7:00 p.m. The following Commissioners were present: Commissioners Frank Beesten, Theodore Meilahn, Chad Cook, and Andy Pesch. Commissioner Jim Wright was absent; a quorum was present. Also in attendance were Mr. Ken Ward, Mr. Gordon Hoffmann, Mr. Gary Gavin and representatives for J. Thull LLC. and Green & Gold LLC.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion made by Frank Beesten, seconded by Theodore Meilahn and carried unanimously by voice vote the Plan Commission approved the minutes as amended and printed for December 6, 2005.

The Plan Commission reviewed the Certified Survey Map for Roger and Ann Neumann, 4265 CTH "H" Town of Kewaskum; to divide off a parcel from the farm to allow for the establishment of a business within the Township. This is only for extra territorial approval action by the Plan Commission and the Village Board. Both Mr. Hoffmann and Mr. Ward indicated they would not have an objection to the land division, but indicated a couple of items in need of correction on the CSM. Theodore Meilahn also had several points of clarification on the CSM. On a motion by Theodore Meilahn, seconded by Chad Cook and carried by the majority by voice vote, the Plan Commission recommended the CSM to the Village Board with a favorable recommendation on signing.

It was noted item B. on the agenda was pulled by the requesting party that being Mr. Thomas Timblin.

The Plan Commission held their second review on the site and building plan approval for lot 3 of the Serwe CSM at the intersection of USH "45" and Badger Road for J. Thull LLC. The developer is planning to construct a filling station, c-store, fast food restaurant and car wash. Mr. Ward reviewed the engineer's comments with the developer and Plan Commission. It was noted the signage matter would need to come back to the Commission. It was suggested that the turning of the main structure by 90 degrees would improve the site of vision and that a grease trap and testing manhole would be required for the restaurant and car wash. It was suggested that an exception on the driveway width to Badger Road be granted per the ordinance and that some additional trees be planted on the NE corner of said lot. After input from the developer and engineer it was determined that the turning of the building would not be required. On a motion by Andy Pesch, seconded by Frank Beesten and unanimously carried by voice vote the Plan Commission approved said site and building plans including the planting of additional trees in the NE corner of the lot, granting a 50' driveway. It was by consensus that the grease traps and manholes be included in the CUP. It was further noted that the signage for the site needed to come back to the Plan Commission.

Administrator Daniel Schmidt informed the Plan Commission and Developer that the Conditional Use Permit public hearing was scheduled for the Village Board meeting of March 6, 2006 at 8:00 p.m.

The Plan Commission reviewed the site and building renovation plans for the Hydraulic Gear Building adjacent to the village garage drive known by tax key no. T8-0186-00K, USH "45", Bob Gannon (Kewaskum Green and Gold LLC). Mr. Ward and Mr. Hoffmann reviewed several items from their review of the site and building renovation plans. The topic of parking stalls was discussed. It was noted consideration would be appropriate because of this being an existing building on a specific lot and to work with the new owner as to an easement for the village to have a limited access as well as the owner having access to the village's private drive. This is per ordinance regarding the adjustment of parking stalls. The signage will need to be brought back to the Plan Commission for final approval. The requested zoning of B-2 Community Business District is noted to be as proposed in the Land Use Plan and most appropriate for the area. On a motion by Chad Cook, seconded by Theodore Meilahn and unanimously carried the Plan Commission approved the site and building renovation plans as reviewed and discussed along with noting the need for a grease trap and testing manhole outside of the building.

The Plan Commission reviewed the annexation petition for aforementioned property, that being an island within the village. The Village Attorney reviewed the petition and map of said property and found everything to be in order and recommended the annexation. The proposed zoning per the land Use Plan and as per the request is for B-2 Community Business District. Mr. Ken Ward and Mr. Gordon Hoffmann both acknowledge their review of said plans and recommended the annexation and proposed zoning. On a motion by Andy Pesch, seconded by Frank Beesten and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Plan Commission approved sending a favorable recommendation on the petition for annexation and included the recommended zoning.

Chairperson Mathew Heiser entertained the motion for adjournment. On a motion made by Frank Beesten, seconded by Andy Pesch for adjournment. By a roll call vote 5 "Aye", 0 "Nay", 1 "Absent". Motion passed. Meeting was adjourned.

February 20, 2006
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Mathew A. Heiser presided. Trustee Harry Roecker asked to be excused and was absent; all other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Derek Peterson and carried by the majority voice vote, approved the minutes as amended for February 6, 2006. Trustee Andy Pesch abstained from voting.

President Mathew Heiser opened the Public Hearing on Ordinance No. 2006-02 "An Ordinance To Create Storm water Utility District No. 1" in the Village Of Kewaskum, Wisconsin". The proposed boundaries of the District include the Woodland Creek Subdivision, Woodland Creek Addition No. 1 and related outlots ("Woodland Creek"). The proposed work to be carried out by the District includes the maintenance of "Stormceptors" type traps for the control of pollutants in storm water runoff from lands within Woodland Creek. The notice describes territory in the Village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin. President Heiser asked Ken Ward the Village Engineer to describe said boundaries and process used for the storm water utility. Christy Cramer of Ruckert & Mielke then explained the Report of the Engineers on the Establishment of Utility District No. 1 ("Woodland Creek"). There were eight residents from the area present with questions and concerns regarding the utility. It was noted that several stormceptors were installed rather than ponds. Both options have liability on the owners within the development. It was noted by those in attendance that the developer and realtors should have been more upfront in the explanation of the stormceptor method of treatment and cost. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Derek Peterson and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing on the Woodland Creek - Storm Water Utility. Roll call vote was 6 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 1 "Absent". Trustee Harry Roecker was absent.

leader of his clan. Moses also became smitten with Tzipporah, shepherdess and daughter of Yitro. Although it took some convincing, Tzipporah fell in love with the tall stranger who refused to speak of his past.

When the second part of Miryam's prophecy was coming to pass, Moses led his wife and child to Goshen.

There, he reunited with Miryam and his birth family. But while Miryam was overjoyed to see her brother, she was not happy to see his uncouth wife. Miryam thought Tzipporah was wild, and she was jealous of the younger woman. What could Moses possibly see in this girl who preferred to sleep in the stable?

Tzipporah was confused. Moses loved his sister and valued her opinions. Why was Miryam so hateful?

I liked this book so much, you could have knocked me over with a papyrus reed. Author Rebecca Kohn breathes reality into two relatively minor Biblical women, and offers rich detail in describing the times in which they lived. I particularly liked that Kohn gives Miryam some un-Biblical-like, yet human, emotions. Kohn's Tzipporah could be a role-model for women learning to be strong.

If you are a student of the Bible and want to read a book that brings the Old Testament to life, then pray you don't miss "Seven Days to the Sea".

When you're reading a book about a historical figure, did you ever wonder what he or she was really like?

Did she cry over sentimental words? Did he like to hum a favorite song? What kinds of things made our heroes ordinary?

We may never know, but it's nice to imagine that historical people were just like us. In the new novel "Seven Days to the Sea" by Rebecca Kohn, two women of the Bible fight with the kinds of emotions that we all face.

When she was a girl in Goshen, Miryam loved to go to market and gossip with other women there. She liked to feel important, and she was happy when others asked her opinions.

Because she was in love with a well-respected man in the village, Miryam always thought that she'd be betrothed and have many sons.

That is, until the day that a bright light shone on Miryam, and she saw that a miracle would occur. A boy-child would be born to her mother, and he would lead the Israelites to the Promised Land. Miryam only told her family of the vision, even after the child's birth fulfilled the first of the prophecy.

At that time, a decree from Pharaoh mandated that all male babies of Israel be put to death. Trusting the God of Israel, Miryam conspired to have Pharaoh's daughter find and adopt the baby, whom the princess named "Moses". Miryam, meanwhile, shunned the man she loved in order to devote her life to watching over Moses.

Years later, when he displeased Pharaoh and was forced to wander into the desert, Moses made his home in a small village in Midyan. There, he found favor with Yitro, high priest and

Donath, other veterans expected to have big years

Injury to Bartley dents hopes of KHS boys track teams

BY JUDY HARLOW

jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

When the track season ended last spring, Kewaskum High coach Jerry Gosa was already looking ahead toward June, 2006 and a chance to go back to LaCrosse to the Division 2 state meet with his 4x400-meter relay team.

Sure, it was going to be hard to run to replace Eric Nass, the lone senior on the four-some, but three quality kids were coming back, including Garrett Donath, Nick Bartley and Zach VanWormer.

Unfortunately a knee injury has sidelined one of the remaining three.

"Nick Bartley is out for the year," Gosa said last week, reporting he recently had surgery on the knee he injured in wrestling, and, adding the obvious, "That's a big loss."

Not only was Bartley an important cog on the relay, but he is the school record holder in the 800 meters, after running a time of 2 minutes and .4 seconds (2:00.4) in the regional last year.

"We're trying to find a junior or senior football player or soccer player who can fill in that spot in the relay," Gosa went on. "At this point, it's apparent we don't have anyone."

What the Indians do have is 10 returning lettermen and the possibility an 11th veteran came out for the sport on Monday and will at least be able to compete in the throwing events.

Leading the returnees is senior Garrett Donath, who finished eighth in state in the pole vault last June after clearing 13 feet (13-0), ran the 100 or 200 dashes and helped the 4x400 relay to a sixth in state, despite Bartley's getting knocked to the track by one of the other runners.

Another '05 state qualifier was Luke Herriges, who had a solid season high jumping but was unable to place in state.

"He (Herriges) went 6-2 the other night," Gosa said, referring to the scrimmage against the Slinger Owls. The veteran coach, who became the head boys coach in 1992 and the head coach of both the boys and girls team "about six or seven years ago," is expecting big things from his senior jumper this year.

Bobby Gibson will definitely lead the distance runners, according to Gosa, who said, "This might be the year Bobby takes the next big step up."

Only a junior, Gibson has the capability to place high in two or three events (1,600, 3,200 and distance relay) in a single meet, and Gosa said he was clocked in 5:00 last week, which is very good on such a tiny indoor track as Slinger's.

Athletes like Chad Hackbarth (junior) and Jake Sabel (senior), a pair of lettermen, "are going to have to be strong in the 4x100 and 4x200 relays," Gosa said, indicating junior Jake Turowski, also a letterman, can also help out here.

Three other veterans include junior Justis Clayton, middle distances and 4x800 relay, Dan Dymond, a sophomore 400 runner and Logan Staeger, the throwing events.

Dymond had "a very good freshman season," Gosa said, calling him "an up-and-coming" 400 place winner.

Staeger is "right on the verge of becoming a good discus thrower," according to the coach, who said he is awaiting word on whether veteran Ross Stockhausen was coming out for the sport this week.

Stockhausen broke his ankle in the first football play-off game, an injury which required surgery, but he may be able to compete in the shot put this year.

"We hope we get Ross back," Gosa said, indicating throws of 45 or 46 feet, which he is capable of, could mean consistent points for the team.

As far as underclassmen, Gosa said, "We've got a ninth grader, Joe Paulus. He won the shot put in eighth grade ... set a conference record. He could get over 40 feet in the indoor season, which would be a very good start for a freshman."

Sophomores Sam Schmidt and David Spang have improved in the high jump, giving the Indians some depth there, and newcomer Stephan Kattar, a junior who is a varsity wrestler, could help the teams in the distance events.

When asked if his team will do better than its fifth place finish (92 points) of a year ago in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, Gosa said, "It's so hard to tell. If we had Nick Bartley, I'd say we would move up."

Gosa is assisted this year by Matt Gundrum in the throws, Jason Meinen, jumping events; Randy Backhaus, distances; Craig Maynard and Jessie Graham, pole vault, and Lois Volesky, hurdles. Gosa will take charge of sprints and the 4x100, 4x200 and 4x400 relays.

After the Washington County Indoor Meet, the boys go to UW-Oshkosh (Kolf Field House) tomorrow (Friday) for the big indoor meet there.

Goals are clear for Zimmel and Gust

Andrea Gust, left, and Kelly Zimmel, both of Kewaskum, have been playing basketball together since grade school and now play at Kettle Moraine Lutheran High School.

BY JUDY HARLOW

jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

They have shared ups and downs on the basketball court since their grade school days at St. Lucas Lutheran School in Kewaskum, and now Kelly Zimmel and Andrea Gust share one dream for their Kettle Moraine Lutheran High girls basketball team.

The two, both starting guards, want to bring a state title back to the Jackson-based school.

Coming within one game of earning a Division 3 berth in the big show in early March has only deepened that desire.

When asked what her goal was for her senior season, Gust, the 5-foot, 6-inch (5-6) junior point guard for the Chargers, said without hesitation, "Get to state."

Zimmel, who stands 5-8 and earned honorable mention in the balloting for the Parkland all-conference team this winter, was just as quick and used a few more words in her answer. "To get to state and win it!" was the sophomore's reply.

The two and the rest of the Chargers know they have a bit of work ahead of them to accomplish the goal, but they also know they are on the right road that leads to Madison.

After struggling early, the young KML squad started to gel midway during the season and put on a nice run at the end in the WIAA Tournament, defeating Kenosha Christian Life, University School and Heritage Christian before falling to Ozaukee High (from Fredonia) in the sectional finals.

The win over the Kenosha school in the regional final at Grafton was most memorable in the mind of Zimmel, who averaged 9.2 points per game (ppg.) during this past season.

"It was just a big accomplishment for us," Zimmel said. "They were much better than we were record-wise."

Gust's favorite win came earlier in the year, when the Chargers knocked off Martin Luther in a non-conference battle.

"We started clicking and playing like a team (in that game)," Gust said, indicating she and the Chargers were on a four-game losing streak going into that game, and, "We had a few wins after that."

KML had lost quite a few seniors from the 2004-05 team, and not only that, a new coach was coming on the scene at KML, and it would take him a while to establish his own philosophies into the program.

That new coach, Jason Wald, received good grades from the two young ladies from Kewaskum.

"He pushed us a lot," Zimmel said, and Gust pointed out, "He's much more intense than Mr. (Darwin) Schramm was. He expects a lot out of us. He pushes us."

Both girls had been coached by Andrea's dad, Randy, (and John Kiel) since fourth grade at St. Lucas.

From both of them, they have definitely learned the meaning of the word teamwork.

Gust knows her role as point guard is to "quarterback" the team, be a good passer, produce assists and contribute some scoring. To that effort, she scored about five points per game, with four assists and four steals per game.

In addition to her 9 points per game, Zimmel said she averaged "probably like eight" assists and two or three steals per game.

The pushing by the coach and teamwork that developed produced a 13-11 overall record, which included a fifth place in the Parkland Conference, which includes Division 1 Slinger and Division 2 Pewaukee, two highly-regarded programs.

The situation appears even brighter for next season. "We are only losing two seniors, April Cook and Jenny Dunnington," Zimmel said. "We're probably only going to be taking up a few posts and one or two guards" from the JV team," she said, indicating forward Cathy Marx is back and she scored a dozen points per game this season.

And what do the girls plan to do in the off season to get better? Without question.

"Summer leagues and lifting weights," Gust said, and Zimmel indicated she plans to go to several basketball camps, plus participate in the open gyms at KML.

They don't care about how hard they have to work, Zimmel and Gust definitely want to punch their tickets to Madison in March, 2007.

Season ended on a high for Indian JVs

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Struggles are part of nearly every high school athletic team, and the Kewaskum High boys JV basketball team had its share of them, but the Indians finished well, and that was very satisfying for coach Bobby Bannasch.

"We won three of the last four games and four out of the last six overall," Bannasch said earlier this week in providing information on how the young Indians fared.

Kewaskum's overall record was 8-12 and against Eastern Wisconsin Conference foes, the Indians were 6-8.

"The top team was New Holstein," according to Bannasch, who went on, "I think Roncalli was second." (The reason no definite information is available is because the web site carrying JV results was missing some games at the end of the season.)

For Kewaskum, John Holt was the leading scorer. "He averaged about 11 points a game," Bannasch said. "Our second leading scorer was Cory Watzig. He averaged around eight points. Dan Parker was next with 7.8 (ppg.)."

Watzig and Parker were both guards, while Holt, also the team's leading rebounder, was a power forward.

Bannasch indicated Jeremy Parker and center Jon Wicklund, the team's sixth man, were the top defenders.

"There was quite a bit of balance," Bannasch went on, noting this was important because the players had a limited amount of knowledge when they started practice in November. "This was a team, to be honest, that needed quite a bit of discipline," he said.

The Indians averaged 50 points a contest, up from five points from last year's mark.

"They only won three games last year, so they more than doubled their number of wins ... We flirted with .500 all season, and being .500 in this conference is pretty good at the JV level," Bannasch said, indicating he was well satisfied with the players' progress and added, "The improvement they made will pay off over the course of next year."

While Bannasch, who has taught science in the Kewaskum Middle School the last two years, has not officially applied for the head boys basketball job, he said he is interested in the post, which opened last week when Glenn Eichstedt resigned.

"I have to talk it over with my family ... I'm also coaching football, and it's a big commitment, but something I am definitely interested in," he said.

Lady Indians will need time to develop

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The loss of the 2005 Eastern Wisconsin Conference pole vault champ, a couple of good sprinters and a talented young lady who has already won indoor collegiate All-American honors this winter has left the Kewaskum High girls track team in a rebuilding mode.

Gone are Katie Patterson, who had an excellent senior season which included going 9-feet, 6-inches (9-6) in the pole vault to claim EWC honors, along with sprinters and relay members Lindsay Keller and Jessie Butler.

And then, how do you replace someone as outstanding as Amanda Donath? She finished second in the WIAA Division 2 state track test in the 400, helped the 4x200-meter relay to a seventh and a new school record in LaCrosse and was a consistent scorer in the 200 and the long jump.

Already, Donath is making her mark at UW-Oshkosh. Last weekend, in the NCAA 3 Indoor Nationals, she placed seventh in the 400 (58.42 seconds) and helped the Lady Titans' 4x400 relay to a fifth place.

Get the picture. Coach Jerry Gosa has his work cut out for him ... just to duplicate last year's sixth place (three points behind Campbellsport) in the EWC finale.

"We're going to be very dependent on the freshmen to fill the holes," Gosa said last week, indicating he has just one senior, Erika Brock, and three juniors on his roster of 29 candidates who have been working out the past several weeks and competed in a scrimmage at Slinger on March 14.

Brock is a shot putter, and Gosa said, "She could have a real good year." At Slinger, Brock tossed the iron ball almost 33 feet, according to Gosa, who said that is a good start for the season.

Another letterwinner on the team is sophomore Catherine Stoffel, who improved a great deal in the discus last spring.

"We should fare OK in those events (throws)," Gosa said, reporting his top junior is Sam Droese, who qualified for state in the high jump in 2005 but did not place.

What Droese did do was add her name to the list of KHS athletes who have cleared 5 feet, 2 inches (5-2) in the jump. The four sharing the record are Droese, Jolene Clark, Pam Osterbrink and Jill Yearling.

Droese will be expected to compete in several events, including the 400, the 4x400 relay, and Gosa said, "She should be good again in the long jump."

Three other returning letter winners are junior Crystal Treptow, soph Elizabeth Potter, who can compete in the 100 and 300 hurdles, and sophomore sprinter/relay runner Kelly Uelmen.

Treptow followed in Patterson's footsteps in the pole vault last season, finishing second in the event (9-0) in the conference test, so she could be the top vaulter this spring.

"Potter's coming off of knee surgery," Gosa said of his top hurdler's status, which is up in the air right now.

Gosa is very confident in Uelmen's abilities and work ethics. "Kelly did an excellent job last year. She's probably the one true sprinter we have" and will be called on to run in the 4x100 and 4x200 relays.

As far as the top freshmen on the team, Gosa cited Lacey Taylor, Nicole Kison, Jessie Liniewski, Amber Struck and Tonya Janssen.

"I think Lacey Taylor is going to help us in the throwing events," Gosa said, looking at Kison as a good possibility as a starter in the 400, along with Liniewski.

"Two more I think will do a good job are Amber Struck and Tonya Janssen. Amber is a good distance runner. She turned in a 5:57 in the mile at Slinger," Gosa said. "They went 1-2 in the mile and 800 when they were in eighth grade."

The eighth graders were conference champs a year ago in the fall, and what Gosa would like to see is a similar class come up next fall because good back-to-back classes often produce winning results.

Concerning the prospects for the Lady Indians in this year's EWC meet, Gosa said, "I hope we can finish fifth ... it's a tough conference."

Kewaskum competed in the annual Bob Buel Washington County Indoor Meet on Tuesday evening. They are at the UW-Oshkosh Indoor Invitational in the Kolf Field House on Tuesday, March 28th.
