School board and district 9 county supervisor race only contested races

Small voter turnout forecast for Spring Election here Tuesday

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Municipal clerks are forecasting a very low voter turnout for Tuesday's Spring Election. This year's ballot is filled with unopposed candidates. If it wouldn't be for a little excitement in the school board race, there wouldn't be much reason to head out to the polls on Tuesday except to fulfill your civic obligation.

Three village of Kewaskum trustees will retain their seats on the village board for another two years. Harry Roecker, Kevin Scheunemann and Steve Scheunemann are running unopposed. Village trustees are paid an annual salary of $600 and receive a $35 per diem for village board meetings and a $15 per diem for committee meetings.

Washington County Supervisor Dan Stoffel in District 10 and Supervisor Brian Bausch in District 11 are both guaranteed another two-year term. County board supervisors are paid $550 per month plus mileage and a per diem based on the meetings they attend.

Stoffel, a Town of Kewaskum farmer, was instrumental in creating Wisconsin's first countywide purchase of development rights program. The program that starts in 2007 pays landowners the difference between the price a developer would pay for a property and the current value of the land as farm land. He also serves as treasurer for the town of Kewaskum since 1977. He has served as a county supervisor continuously since 1984.

Bausch was appointed in 2003, and ran unopposed in 2004. He sits on his share of committees such as administrative services, board of adjustment, community response team, courthouse addition, radio communications, Samaritan Home, smart growth advisory committee and UWWC, to name a few. For his second term, he says he will pretty much continue what he is currently doing. "I go to 95% of the town board and planning meetings to see what is going on in my district. I truly have an ambition to be the voice of my constituents," he stated.

He also says his constituents are much different than those in the City of Hartford and West Bend. "Many of the people I represent are farmers. I do a lot of studying to see what their needs are. It's my goal to keep the rural character of the Town of Farmington," he concluded.

Town of Barton chairman, Richard Bertram is running unopposed in District 13. Supervisor Peter Gonerling announced he will retire from county government.

Candidates biographies in contested races can be found on page 5 of this edition. Election notices for various municipalities can be found in the legal notices section of this edition as well as the insert.

The Statesman adds new political columnist

The Statesman has added Matt Pommer to its list of columnists. Pommer is the author of the Wisconsin Newspaper Association's weekly state government newsletter.

The dean of the State Capitol correspondents, Pommer has covered government action in Madison for 35 years, including the actions of seven governors - Warren Knowles, Pat Lucey, Martin Schreiber, Lee Dreyfus, Tony Earl, Tommy Thompson and Scott McCallum. His expertise ranges from gubernatorial politics to the details of the public retirement system. He has written a weekly column for more than three decades.

His honors include a citation from the American Political Science Association for "distinguished reporting of public affairs."

Pommer also writes about the laughs in the Legislature, such as the Democratic legislator who explained he was an expert on the health bill because he had suffered a "fatal heart attack." Or the Republican senator who said his program called for a "better God and country."

Pommer was educated at Northwestern University and the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He and his wife Barbara are the parents of three grown children.

Can spring be far behind?

This week's warmer temperatures brought out many sure harbingers of the current season, house hunting robins! Rain, thunderstorms, crocus and hyacinth peeking through earth, northbound geese, budding trees, lawn raking and the re-opening of golf courses all indicate...Spring has sprung and the best news is winter parking ends at midnight March 31!

KHS graduates join Circle K

Circle K International (CKI) is an amazing service oriented campus organization that is proud to be part of the Kiwanis Family. There are currently 12,288 members on 507 campuses in 13 nations, and the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District (also known as W-UM) is leading the way with enthusiasm, dedication, and service. The W-UM District consists of seven divisions and a total of 27 clubs on college and university campuses. Circle K closely follows Key Club as the next level in the K Family.

It is now true that Kewaskum can boast being a part of this awesome organization as nine college students that have graduated from Kewaskum High School are now active members in their respective Circle K. These students have taken amazing steps in bettering their communities while bettering themselves and forming lasting strong relationships with their club and district. These students have handled the stressful academics that go hand in hand with college life and contributed immensely to their Circle K club, many of them even taking executive positions in their Circle K Club. These students deserve to be recognized for their hard work that goes beyond the classroom and for their dedication to the Kiwanis Family.

From the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh, Sarah Stevenson has taken the position of club President, Erin Rammer is and will continue to be the club Vice President, Paige Thelen is honored to be the club Secretary, and Alyssa Koppelberger was elected to be the club Treasurer. From the University of Wisconsin - La Crosse, Katie Kowalczyk was elected the club President and Bree Boettcher will take the position of club Vice President. From the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee, Margaret Reindl will be the club Treasurer and Mary Reindl will take the position of club Bulletin Editor. Representing Marquette University, Eric Vogt has become a very involved Circle K member, joining the others at many W-UM District events.

Known by most in the W-UM District as being good friends from Kewaskum, these Kewaskum High School graduates have really put Kewaskum on the map in the world of service and volunteering. They have all represented their colleges very well at District events and become role models to many. Kewaskum should be honored to have these young and determined adults out there in the world representing Kewaskum in such wonderful and giving ways.

Kewaskum School Board race offers choice of candidates

By Andrew Kuehl
 Statesman Managing Editor
 akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Four Kewaskum School District residents have placed their names on the ballot for Tuesday's Spring Election. That list includes veteran school board member Neal Weare who lost 3-1 in December's special election and the man who led the charge to recall him, Bruce Braidigan.

Joining Weare and Braidigan are Stephen Jensen and Lisa Parker. Weare and his supporters say that the board needs experience to move forward. Weare has served on the board for a total of 14 years.

Weare adds that his experience on the board is an asset. "A board member must have full knowledge of what district policies are. If my opponents are successful, it will take them six months to learn what I already know," he said.

During his last tenure on the board Weare says he was instrumental in getting new boilers at KHS and bringing the KHS technical education department into the 21st century. He says he is quite proud of this accomplishment and hopes to continue the strides he has made for education.

Both Braidigan and Jensen say they are running because finances are out of control for the district. Jensen takes it a step further and says that the recent request for referendums shows a huge failure on behalf of the board. He asserts that referendums show the district is living beyond their means.

Braidigan presented the buy-out of the former superintendent as his reason for running. "We need to spend our money more wisely," he declared. He also wanted to see the board members being held accountable.

Lisa Parker took out nomination papers but did not return phone calls to The Statesman.

Two seats are open on the board. Gordie Dickmann and Beth Steiner announced their non-candidacy earlier.

Wayne treasurer seeking seat on Washington County Board

By Andrew Kuehl
 Statesman Managing Editor

After serving as treasurer for the Town of Wayne for 22 years Gerald Schulz, 68, has decided to try and move up the political ladder. Schulz will face Allen Blank from Hartford for the district nine seat on the Washington County Board of Supervisors.

District nine covers a portion of Hartford and pieces of the Towns of Wayne, Addison and Hartford. Debra Wilke who filled the seat after the death of Mary Sauer filed for non-candidacy.

Schulz says while he is not a fan of the county sales tax he sees it as a good revenue source for the non-tax payer. He is also not in favor of downsizing the county board as has been proposed. He feels a smaller board would mean less representation. He feels that each supervisor already has a large area to represent.

NO MORE STATUS QUO

Dear resident of the Kewaskum School District-

My name is Bruce Braidigan. My name might be familiar to you because I was one of the people who helped bring accountability back to our Board of Education last December. I am chairman of The Northern Kettle Moraine Citizens for Responsible Government. Our group of hardworking taxpayers helped to recall Neal Weare. He was one of the school board members who decided it was ok to give our former superintendent of schools $113,000 of our tax money to leave the district instead of just letting him finish out his contract. I was, and still am, shocked that our elected officials had such disregard for our hard earned tax dollars.

We as taxpayers have sent a message to this school board, which is why two long standing board members decided not to run in this election. We have an opportunity before us to put two new candidates on YOUR school board. Two people who will listen to the taxpayer and will spend your money wisely and for the betterment of the students in this district.

I am one of those candidates, my wife Kathie, and I have lived in the Town of Farmington for 11 years since my retirement as a lieutenant for the Milwaukee Fire Department.

It is time to end the good old boy system in the Kewaskum School District and to say good bye to the status quo. If elected, I will help to make sure tax dollars go towards giving your children the best education possible.

Together, we can make a difference!

Serwe joins partnership, purchases Weiland's Fun Center

King Pin Lanes owner, Cary Serwe has joined a partnership that bought Weiland's Fun Center in West Bend. Serwe and Carter Smith will transform the bowling center into King Pin Bowl and Ale House. Renovations are expected to start in May.

WEST BEND- After owning and operating the successful King Pin Lanes eight lane bowling alley in Campbellsport since 1985, Cary Serwe decided to leap at a new opportunity. Serwe has joined forces with Carter Smith of Stoughton and the two have purchased Weiland's Fun Center in West Bend. Serwe and Smith have giant plans for King Pin Bowl and Ale House in which the bowling alley will be transformed this summer.

Serwe said the sale of the 24,000 square foot building and property on South Main Street became official Feb 7 after Dave and Nancy Clark sold their family business. Serwe grew up in the bowling business. His father bought King Pin Lanes in Campbellsport in 1962.

Today Serwe and his wife, Lynn operate King Pin Lanes. Through the years they have completely remodeled that facility and given it more of a sports bar and grill theme. They also modernized the popular bowling site in Campbellsport.

Plans for King Pin Bowl and Ale House include a total renovation of the current bar room, moving it to the center of the building. The biggest change is the addition of a smoke free, 150-seat restaurant that is the Ale House. Serwe says they have no plans for adding lanes at this time but that could happen in the future. Renovations are scheduled to start May 15. Serwe added he hopes to hold a grand-reopening July 1. The bowling alley is set to remain open throughout the renovation project.

Smith, who owns 16 other bowling centers in Wisconsin and one in Florida, is no stranger to taking on bowling center renovations. In Green Bay he has partnered up to build a 60,000 square foot state-of-the-art bowling center named Memory Lanes and Green Bay Ale House. The 48-lane center and 300-seat restaurant and 350-seat banquet hall is planned to open in October of 2006.

"This is the fourth offer Carter has made to me in the nine years I have known him. I knew this deal was going to proceed with or without me. I am glad to be a part of this venture," concluded Serwe.

Construction to begin on US 41 to US 151

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) Northeast Regional Office in Green Bay has announced that work is beginning Monday, April 3, on 6.7 miles of US 41 from the south Fond du Lac County line to US 151 in Fond du Lac County.

The project involves reconstruction and resurfacing of the existing road and installation of a median cable guard system. Cost is estimated at $11 million and scheduled for completion by November 2006.

US 41 will be open to traffic during construction with these restrictions:

Single lane closures from 6 a.m. Monday to noon Friday - both north and southbound traffic reduced to one lane.

Two lanes open for north and southbound traffic on weekends from noon Friday to 6 a.m. Monday.

Packers home games scheduled other than Saturday or Sunday:

Both northbound lanes open at noon.

Both southbound lanes open beginning one hour after game begins.

Two lanes open to both north and southbound traffic: Noon Friday, May 26 to 6 a.m. Tuesday, May 30 (Memorial Day)

Noon Friday, June 30 to 6 a.m. Wednesday, July 5 (4th of July)

Noon Friday, July 21 to 6 a.m. Monday, July 31 (EAA)

Noon Friday, September 1 to 6 a.m. Tuesday, September 5 (Labor Day)

Additionally, the off-ramp from southbound US 41 to County B and the on-ramp from County B to US 41 southbound will also be closed from 6 a.m. Tuesday, April 4 to 5 p.m. Thursday, April 6.

Motorists should anticipate back ups and consider alternate routes. Please use caution, maintain a prudent following distance, and remain alert for lane changes when driving through this or any work zone.

Walker's Decision

By Matt Pommer

Milwaukee County Executive Scott Walker has dropped his bid to be the Republican gubernatorial candidate for 2006, saying he was unable to raise enough money.

His decision leaves the nomination to U.S. Rep. Mark Green of Green Bay. It also eliminates any serious Republican primary campaign for the Republican nomination. Some would suggest Green will benefit because he doesn't have to spend campaign funds for a September primary, saving it for the November challenge to Gov. Jim Doyle.

But it also could turn the summer into a political yawner. The one third of Wisconsin voters who decide political campaigns will have other things on their summer agenda --- taking vacations, visiting relatives, golfing, playing tennis, watching baseball from Little League to the Milwaukee Brewers, swimming, fishing and boating. Almost anything but talking politics.

The last two Republicans elected governor --- Lee Dreyfus and Tommy Thompson --- won tough September primaries giving them the momentum to defeat Democratic incumbents. The 1978 and 1986 Republican primary gubernatorial campaigns were exciting events.

At one point Thompson was labeled a "two bit hack from Elroy" by fellow Republican Jonathan Barry. Tough talk stirred interest in the primary. Obviously it didn't hurt Thompson. He would win four gubernatorial elections.

Dreyfus put a youthful band on an old school bus and caught the imagination of voters. In Wisconsin a person may vote in either the Democrat or Republican primary, and voters flocked to Dreyfus in the open primary.

The lack of a GOP gubernatorial primary will make it more difficult for Green to define himself, and more importantly, catch the imagination of the middle third of the electorate that determines Wisconsin elections. This year the only serious statewide primary campaign may be among Democrats where Dane County Executive Kathleen Falk is challenging incumbent Peg Lautenschlager for their party's nomination for attorney general.

Early signs indicate Republicans are hoping that a state travel contract will damage the Doyle administration. The U.S. attorney in eastern Wisconsin, a Republican appointee, has brought charges against a low level administration employee over the contract.

Democrats hope to gain by tying Green to his support of President Bush on issues like the details of the Medicare drug program. U.S. Sen. Herb Kohl, D-Wi., who is seeking re-election, already is running ads criticizing the inability of the federal government to negotiate lower drug prices.

The real challenge for the media is to do more than just report on how much money Doyle and Green have collected. How do the candidates for governor stand on issues like the death penalty, a constitutional amendment to restrict government spending, and allowing citizens to carry concealed weapons?

Matt Pommer's column will run weekly in The Statesman, we hope you enjoy it and will give us your feedback.

Kewaskum School Board election is drawing near

Hey voters from the Kewaskum School District, we have an incredible opportunity in a week to make a positive change on the Kewaskum School Board.

We accomplished a successful recall election and replaced one board member in December, now we can elect two new members to the seats being vacated by the incumbents who have chosen not to run for re-election. I believe our message has been heard "loud and clear".....The School Board is accountable to us, the voters.

Here is our chance to select members who will best represent our students needs and manage the school district's funds in a responsible manner.

Please do not be swayed by the mis-information and "mudslinging" that has already begun, base your vote on what these candidates have to say and what they offer this school district.

We need some fresh ideas, funding options, and accountability from this board, not more of the "...same old stuff". For more than 12 years, I've heard many parents complain that nothing will ever change in our schools, well here's our chance! Your vote counts, please make an informed decision and let's elect board members that will finally give us some positive PR and attract some of our students back to Kewaskum.

Make sure you take the time to VOTE APRIL 4. Your vote does count!

Letter to the Editor-

We would just like to take this opportunity to make the community aware of the Friends of the Kewaskum Public Library group. But maybe we need to start back a few steps. To see the value of a group such as ours, you would have to first see the value of the Library.

While circulation is up about 10% this year, and new library card issuances are up 14%, we know there are some of you out there who still think the library is a place kids go to do homework, and maybe even read a Harry Potter or two. Hey, the library isn't just for breakfast anymore! There are lots of great books adults enjoy too, along with books on tape/CD to make that long business trip fly by, or a good movie for the weekend. Catch up on the newspapers and magazines you don't subscribe to, or use the computers for awhile. Of course, you can still bring your kids. Can't find what you need? Ask! The staff will take good care of you and get what you need from an area library if possible.

Now about those Friends...

An automobile accident, which might have proven serious, occurred at midnight last Sunday when the car in which Roderick Reese and Kleinhans of Campbellsport and Chester Keno of Kewaskum, left the road and rolled over about three times, near what is known as Kohn's curve on Highway 55, about a mile north of here. Kleinhans was driving south on Highway 55, when a rear tire on the automobile blew out, causing the vehicle to swerve into the ditch and roll over. The trio was thrown through the top, with Kleinhans landing on his head on the concrete. They were found in a coma about 80 feet from the wrecked automobile. They were taken to their homes.

In order to receive the promotional interest rate of Prime minus one percent for the life of the loan, you must maintain a minimum drawn balance of $10,000 and maintain an account with MidAmerica Bank from which your loan payments will be electronically debited each month. If the initial loan advance is less than $10,000 or if at any time during the first 180 days from the note date the principal balance is less than $10,000 or if the automatic payment is cancelled during the life of the loan, the interest rate will increase to Prime plus one percent for the remaining term of the loan. MidAmerica Bank's EQUITY Cash Lines have a variable interest rate. The Annual Percentage Rate is based on the Prime Rate published on the Money Rates section of the Wall Street Journal on the last publishing date of each calendar month. For borrowers who qualify for Prime minus 1% pricing, the Annual Percentage Rate as of 1/31/06 is 6.59%. Your rate and corresponding APR may be different than the advertised rate and depend on your approved loan amount, loan-to-value ratio, property type, occupancy and credit qualifications. Rates are subject to change at any time without notice and may be higher or lower than the current advertised rate. During the draw period, the maximum Annual Percentage Rate is 25.34% and the minimum Annual Percentage Rate is 4.06%. During the repayment period, the maximum Annual Percentage Rate is 25.34% and the minimum Annual Percentage Rate is 4.06%. An annual fee of $30 is charged after the first year. The Bank will charge $750 if the Home Equity Line of Credit is closed within six (6) months (180 days) from the date of disbursement. The Bank will charge $350 if the Home Equity Line of Credit is closed between the sixth (6th) month (181st day) and twenty-fourth (24th) month from the date of disbursement. During the draw period, payments of interest only will not reduce the loan balance. Appraisal fees apply to properties outside of our lending areas and may apply for properties with two-to-four units. Property title and/or flood insurance, if applicable, are required. Please consult with a tax advisor about the deductibility of interest.

Indian Mounds of Southeast Wisconsin program April 13

The Evening with Nature Series at the Kettle Moraine State Forest-Northern Unit continues with "Indian Mounds of Southeast Wisconsin." The program will be held on Thursday, April 13, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Wisconsin is home to more Indian mounds than in any other region in North America. It is estimated that these ancient Native American societies created between 15,000 and 20,000 mounds, with at least 4,000 remaining today. The most intriguing are the effigy mounds which are huge earthworks sculpted into the shapes of birds, mammals and other forms. The archaeological record indicates that most ancient societies in the upper Midwest created mounds of various kinds sometime between 800 B.C. and A.D. 1200. The reason why these mounds were created is quite a mystery for modern researchers.

Join in on April 13 as Robert A. Birmingham uses evidence drawn from archaeology, ethnography, ethnohistory, and traditions and beliefs of present-day Midwestern Native Americans to try to solve the mysteries of these ancient mounds and their builders. He will also delve into the mysteries of Aztalan, an ancient Indian town located 50 miles west of Milwaukee on the banks of the Crawfish River.

Mr. Birmingham

served for many years as the Wisconsin State Archaeologist. He is president of the Wisconsin Archaeological Survey and the Friends of Aztalan State Park, and a board member of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society. He has co-authored two books on the subject - Indian Mounds of Wisconsin and Aztalan - Mysteries of an Ancient Indian Town.

Mark your calendars for this fascinating look into Wisconsin's distant past. This program is best for adults and youth over ten years old. For further information or directions, please contact forest staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The staff may be reached at (920) 533-8322, Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

NOTICE OF SPRING ELECTION AND SAMPLE BALLOTS April 4, 2006

OFFICE OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF KEWASKUM TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF KEWASKUM:

Notice is hereby given of a nonpartisan spring election to be held in the several wards in the Counties of Washington, Fond du Lac and Sheboygan on the 4th day of April 2006, at which the officers named below shall be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office, each in its proper column, together with the questions submitted to a vote, for a referendum, if any, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO ELECTORS

Upon entering the polling place, an elector shall give his or her name and address before being permitted to vote. Where ballots are distributed to electors, the initials of two inspectors must appear on the ballot. Upon being permitted to vote, the elector shall retire alone to a voting booth and cast his or her ballot except that an elector who is a parent or guardian may be accompanied by the elector's minor child or minor ward. An election official may inform the elector of the proper manner for casting a vote, but the official may not in any manner advise or indicate a particular voting choice.

At the spring election, where marksense voting is used, the elector shall fill in the oval or connect the arrow next to the name of the candidate of his or her choice for each office for whom he or she intends to vote. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the elector shall write in the name of the person of his or her choice in the space provided and fill in the oval or connect the arrow on the write-in line. On referendum questions, the elector shall fill in the oval or connect the arrow next to "yes" if in favor of the question, or the elector shall fill in the oval or connect the arrow next to "no" if opposed to the question.

The vote should not be cast in any other manner. If the elector spoils a ballot, he or she shall return it to an election official who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. If the ballot has not been initialed by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the elector shall return it to the election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place. Not more than five minutes' time shall be allowed inside a voting booth or machine. Unofficial ballots or a memorandum to assist the elector in casting his or her vote may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

After an official marksense ballot is marked, it shall be inserted in the security sleeve provided so the marks do not show. After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the booth, insert the ballot in the voting device and discard the sleeve, or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit. If a central count system is used, the elector shall insert the ballot in the ballot box and discard the sleeve, or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit. The elector shall leave the polling place promptly.

An elector may select an individual to assist in casting his or her vote if the elector declares to the presiding official that he or she is unable to read, has difficulty reading, writing or understanding English or that due to disability is unable to cast his or her ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the elector's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the elector.

Chamber members welcome new business

Management changes at local branch of West Bend Savings Bank

Kevin Bartelt

Moves involving two people quite familiar to West Bend Savings Bank's Kewaskum customers were recently announced by the bank. Kevin Bartelt has moved into the Business Banking group, and Kristy Vogt has come back to Kewaskum as branch manager.

Kevin Bartelt, an Economics and Political Science graduate of Carroll College, joined West Bend Savings Bank as Kewaskum's Branch Manager in February 2003. He will become an Assistant Vice President in the Business Banking group, with his emphasis being in northern Washington County and over into the Random Lake area. Kevin is from Kohlsville and lives there with his wife and two children.

Kristy Vogt has most recently been the Branch Manager of the bank's Pick N' Save South office in West Bend. Prior to that she was the assistant manager of the bank's Kewaskum and downtown offices, and manager of the office inside Klotz's Piggly Wiggly in West Bend. Kristy started her career with the bank in Kewaskum in 1998 as a teller, under the leadership of long-time Kewaskum branch manager Charleen Barutha. "To be so young and have so much experience moving up through the ranks of an organization the size of West Bend Savings Bank is really quite an accomplishment," stated Linda Kreutzer, vice president for retail sales. "Kristy is an excellent banker and 'people-manager,' with a true understanding of what customer service really means. She's one of our best!"

"These are two of the bank's young 'rising stars,'" according to bank president and CEO Ray Lipman. "Every organization has to identify and promote the young professionals who will provide leadership in the coming years. Both of these people have exhibited an excellent understanding of the banking business, plus they each personify the core value that West Bend Savings Bank wants to bring to every customer: they are truly Here to Help."

As part of the Business Banking group, Bartelt will be working with the businesses in the area providing financial services of all types. "The Business Banking group provides the full spectrum of deposit and lending products and services that are vital to small and mid-size businesses that exist in an area like ours. Being local, knowing area people and area economics, we can provide a much more intimate level of service than our larger competitors. And, because we can attract and groom the best of the young professionals from the area, like Kevin, we know we will be able to provide that service into the future," Lipman continued.

These two promotions are examples of the ongoing program of growth and promotion from within at West Bend Savings Bank. The bank currently has 15 offices in four counties plus the big, new Home Loan Center office which opened last August in downtown West Bend; it employs more than 200 people. "Three new offices are slated to be opened in the coming year. That means more staff and more people moving up the career ladder," said Nancie Heaps, senior vice president for human resources, "it's a very healthy sign for an organization like ours to be able to identify and promote younger people into responsible, vital positions."

Kristy is located at the Kewaskum office of West Bend Savings Bank at 1052 Fond du Lac Avenue, 262-626-2186, while Kevin will have offices in both the Kewaskum and Random Lake branches of the bank.

Emergency rule bans out-of-state firewood from state parks and other DNR properties

MADISON - Out-of-state campers visiting Wisconsin state parks and other state-managed properties this year will have to leave their firewood at home under a new emergency rule that addresses the growing threat of the tree-killing emerald ash borer and other harmful forest pests and diseases.

The emerald ash borer (EAB) is a tiny, green insect native to Asia. It was introduced to the U.S. in the early 1990s in the Detroit, Mich. area and has since spread to Ohio, Indiana and Ontario, Canada killing more than 15 million ash trees in urban and forest settings.

"EAB is on the move and it's moving around on firewood," said Jane Cummings Carlson, forest health coordinator with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. "Since EAB was first identified in Detroit, most of the three dozen or so new infestations found outside that metro area have likely hitchhiked in on firewood."

The state Natural Resources Board approved the emergency rule at its meeting in Madison today. During 2006, the rule prohibits people visiting Wisconsin state parks, forests, and other DNR-managed properties where campfires are permitted from bringing out-of-state firewood onto those properties. DNR will hold public hearings on the rule at a number of locations throughout the state on April 17. The rule will mostly affect out-of-state campers, but could also affect Wisconsin campers who purchase or chop their own wood in other states. Most campers will not be affected by the proposed rule.

The NRB also plans to urge federal agencies such as USDA, APHIS, and USFS to take a stronger position on the movement of firewood across state lines when invasive pests and diseases are involved.

Wisconsin stands to lose a lot if EAB arrives in the state and goes unchecked. Native ash trees number around 717 million in state forests and it's the second most common tree species in communities round the state, accounting for as much as a third of all urban trees.

"An EAB infestation could potentially be more devastating than Dutch elm disease," Cummings Carlson said. "In states where EAB has been detected, containment and eradication efforts are proving to be extremely difficult and expensive. Keeping an area free from infestation could be easier and is certainly more economical in the long run."

Ash is often sold as firewood because it doesn't require curing time before it's ready to use. It will burn easily and produce a good heat whether it's fresh or aged.

"Firewood is the Typhoid Mary of emerald ash borer in the Great Lakes," Cummings Carlson added.

Firewood is available at a reasonable cost at almost every state park, though the hours and locations inside the park may vary. State forests and "flowage" areas where rustic camping can be found typically have firewood available locally - either for sale in nearby communities, or on the property as dead, dry wood.

"We are contacting all out-of-state campers who currently have a state park reservation for this year and letting them know of our plan to restrict firewood movement onto our properties," said Bruce Chevis, state parks concessions program manager. "The automated reservation system will soon alert campers to this new policy, too."

"Our park employees will be spreading the word about infested firewood, handing out materials to campers as they check in," Chevis said. "I think most people will understand that we're trying to help preserve the quality outdoor experience that many campers have come to expect and appreciate."

EAB attacks both weakened and healthy ash trees, laying its eggs in the bark of the tree. When the eggs hatch, the tiny larvae burrow into the layers of the tree just under the bark. It's these layers that move nutrients and water up and down the tree and the larvae wind through them, cutting off the flow of food and water as it eats its way around the tree. An infested tree will die within two to three years.

Public hearings regarding the emergency rule via live videoconference will be held in several locations across the state on Monday, April 17, from 7 to 8 p.m. The locations are:

- Madison, Rm. 227,

The Pyle Center, 702 Langdon St.

- Milwaukee, Rm. S120, MATC Milwaukee, 700 State St.

- La Crosse, 102 Wing Communications, 1725 State St., UW La Crosse.

- Green Bay, Rm. SC207, Northeastern Wis. Technical College, 2740 West Mason St.

- Eau Claire, Rm. 130, Manufacturing Education Center, Chippewa Valley Technical College, 2320 Alpine Road.

Written comments may be sent to: Andrea Diss-Torrance, Division of Forestry, PO Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707. The deadline for submitting written comment is May 5, 2006. Comments may also be E-mailed or faxed to <dnrforestryrules@dnr.state.wi.us> or to (608) 267-8576.

Additional information about the proposed firewood restrictions and the emerald ash borer can be found on the Invasive Species pages of the DNR Web site. Campers may also call the DNR's toll-free Firewood Hotline for information before packing up for a trip. The number is 1-877-303-WOOD (9663) and will be updated frequently with timely information.

American Green

By Ted Steinberg

W.W. Norton $23.95 295 pages

It's quarter-to-seven on a gorgeous Saturday morning.

You could be sleeping in, but... no. You're wide awake. That's because your neighbor seems to think that quarter-to-seven on a gorgeous Saturday morning is simply the perfect time to do a bit of leaf-blowing.

So do you rush out, angry and yelling? Or do you rush out and hand him a copy of the new book "American Green" by Ted Steinberg?

If you're brave, you'll do the latter. If he's smart, he'll read it.

Lawns as we know them, according to Steinberg, didn't really gain in popularity until after the Civil War, even though George Washington and Thomas Jefferson both had them. In the mid-1870s, urban areas and streetcars led to detached housing, which led to detailed landscaping. Inventors, seeing a trend, created lawn mowers; thirty-eight patents for lawn mowers were secured between 1868 and 1873, alone.

When Abe Levitt turned a Long Island potato field into a post-World War II housing development, lawns took another grassy leap in popularity. Suddenly, it was important to pamper a green expanse around the house. Levittown's bylaws eventually had a rule that said lawns had to be mowed weekly from April through November, although Levitt himself was baffled about his neighbor's obsessions with weed eradication. And what about those weeds? Cincinnati landscaper Frank Scott was horrified at the idea of an unmanicured lawn. Dandelions, crabgrass, and clover are words that strike fear into the hearts of lawn lovers even today. Steinberg says that, in the case of the latter "weed," we've lost sight of the fact that our beloved Kentucky bluegrass seeds would be much healthier with a dose of nitrogen-enriching clover, after all.

So you dump herbicides on your lawn and you fertilize religiously. Your lawn is deep green and the envy of the neighborhood. According to Steinberg, you may be over-fertilizing. Those chemicals might be dangerous to yourself, your kids, and your pets. And that deep green may come at the risk of water conservation rules and it might not be healthy for the grass itself anyway.

"American Green" is a surprising little book. It starts with a humorous chapter that led me to believe that I was in for a fun afternoon's reading. There are some juicy bits of trivia (the lawn is America's leading "crop"; if you put all the lawns in the U.S. together, you'd have a lawn roughly the size of the state of Florida), but then author Ted Steinberg turns environmentalist.

While this wasn't terribly off-putting, it wasn't expected, either. The facts are still fascinating, but my fun afternoon's read was suddenly much more serious than I wanted on an afternoon when I could have spent the day outside in my weedy-but-almost-green yard. Still, this is definitely a worthwhile book, particularly for environmentalists, gardeners, and "lawnies."

April, Steinberg says, is National Lawn Care Month in the U.S., so pick up a copy of "American Green." It will show you the real reason why the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence.

Parrent piles up a couple more honors

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

This was the year coach Glenn Eichstedt had hoped would produce the big turnaround.

The Kewaskum High boys basketball team had some height, better quickness, several good shooters, and finally, after two years of a youth movement, the experience it needed to turn the corner after notching just three wins the two previous seasons.

The optimism quickly turned to disappointment, however, after the Indians lost a 41-39 heartbreaker to Slinger in the season opener, which was followed by six straight losses.

There was noticeable improvement as the season went on, to a point where the Indians notched three wins in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and four overall, but it was still light years away from expectations, prompting Eichstedt to tender his resignation.

Eichstedt's last official action was doling out letters and accolades to the players who endured some rough times but stuck together. A total of 10 young men received letters in the recent banquet and awards night.

The seniors who won letters included Paul Gaynor, Luke Herriges, Mitch Paulus, Austin Flanders, Eric Cain and Zach Wollner. Cain, Wollner and Gaynor were all starters and were consistent contributors to the team.

Gaynor scored 146 points for a 7 point per game (7 ppg.) average. He was the team's second leading rebounder, with 38 offensive boards to go with 91 on the defensive side of the court, and he had 36 blocked shots.

Eichstedt said he was more aggressive this year, which showed especially in his games against Big Foot and New Holstein (second meeting) when he scored season-best 14 points.

Cain was one of the long-range bombers for the Indians, scoring 175 points for the year with 29 three-pointers, including five (and 17 points) in the team's first win over New Holstein.

Cain improved his ball-handling this season, according to the coach, who named him as one of the Best Teammates, along with Shea, a top reserve.

Wollner came up with 140 points and was always good for between six and nine points per game and was a very "athletic defender."

Paulus, a forward, got the nod as the team's Most Improved Player. He scored 31 points for the year and came up with 42 rebounds and 33 blocked shots.

Flanders scored 54 points but was more known for his defense. "He had to overcome some health problems," Eichstedt said, indicating the 6-foot 1 guard was a "good anticipator and defender."

For his efforts, Flanders was presented the award for being the Best Defender.

Herriges played sparingly, contributing 14 points.

Senior Nate Kenworthy received a participation certificate. He started the season as the statistician and later came out for the sport and saw limited action.

Juniors cited for their play were Matt Parrent, Casey Scheel, Shea and Jack Breese. This was the third varsity basketball letter for Parrent, who was named to the first all-EWC team last season and the second team this winter.

As expected, Parrent, who scored 293 points and hauled down a total of 178 rebounds, was honored as the team's MVP, and he was voted as a Team Captain.

"He's a strong presence inside," Eichstedt said, adding Parrent has a great work ethic and is a source of confidence for the team.

The No. 2 scorer on the squad was Scheel, who scored 175 points before breaking his wrist in the second to last game of the year. Scheel led the team in assists (44) and steals (22).

Scheel was named as a team Captain and the Best Ballhandler.

Shea was ready to step into any position when called on. He scored 18 points in 51 quarters of action and chipped in with 15 rebounds, 11 assists and nine steals.

Breese, another part-time player, received the Team Hustle Award. "He is a physical player and an aggressive defender," Eichstedt said.

These four underclassmen should form a good nucleus for a better team next winter.

Donath, Herriges lead the way to fifth by KHS boys track team

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Garett Donath had his hand (and feet) in four of Kewaskum's top places, and Luke Herriges contributed 10 points from his victory in the high jump, helping the Indians to a fifth place finish in the annual Bob Buel Memorial Washington County Indoor Meet held in the West Bend High Schools Field House last Tuesday evening.

Kewaskum scored 51.25 points, while perennial powerhouse Germantown was piling up 153 to win by 20 points over an impressive group from Slinger (133). West Bend East finished third with 106.25 and West Bend West finished fourth with 69.5, followed by Kewaskum, then Kettle Moraine Lutheran, 38.75; and Hartford, 28.25.

Donath won the pole vault after clearing 12-feet (12-0) and he also helped the 6-lap relay to a second, behind Germantown. The Indians were clocked in 1 minute, 58.3 seconds (1:58.3), just .4 of a second out of first place. It was too bad the two teams were in different heats. Had they been together, there might have been a very interesting finish, but track fans may be treated to that battle on April 25th, the date of the Washington County Outdoor Meet, which will be held this year on the Slinger High track.

Chad Hackbarth was the leadoff man for the Indians. He ran a nice race, as did Jake Sabel and Jake Turowski, setting the stage for Donath to bring home the second place.

Herriges showed he's determined to having a big year. After clearing 6-0 last year and taking second place, he moved to the top of the victory stand by going 6-3, which is a personal best for him.

The lanky senior said he cleared 6-3 "on my third try," then had a good attempt at 6-4 1/4, which would have been a KHS indoor record. "I was getting tired, but they were not bad attempts," he said.

Donath also placed fourth in the 50-yard dash and the 213-yard dash. His time in the short sprint was 6.05 seconds, just .04 out of third place, and in the 213 he was clocked in 24.5.

"Overall, he had a good meet," Gosa said about Donath, who is just starting to get his vaulting form. "He's a good kid ... dedicated, and he works hard. I think Garett and Luke did what I thought they could."

The mile was a good event for the Indians, who got a fifth from Bob Gibson and a seventh by newcomer Stephan Kattar. They covered the distance in respective times of 5:03.1 and 5:05.7.

The Indians were unable to field a team in the 4x400 relay event, which is normally one of their strong events. "We had Dan Dymond out sick. We had someone else out injured," Gosa said. "We'll have to wait until Friday (Oshkosh Invitational, March 24th) to see how we do."

Other top-eight finishes included: a tie for sixth in the 440 by Zach VanWormer, with a time of 1:00; a seventh by Sabel in the long jump, 17-9; a seventh by Logan Staeger in the shot put with an effort of 41-7.

Next up for the Indians is the State Indoor Meet in Madison on Saturday. Then, weather permitting, the Indians will host an Eastern Wisconsin Conference quadrangular meet on Tuesday, April 4th.

Gosa said he had good news last week when Ross Stockhausen told him he would be ready to begin practice in the weight events. Stockhausen broke his ankle in the Indians' first playoff football game (against Slinger) last fall. He is a returning letterman and should place consistently in the shot put.

Blank wins fishereee

Jordan Blank, 14, is shown above with the 31 1/8" northern he caught to take first place at the Boltonville Fishereee held recently. Jordan, a student at Kewaskum Middle School, is the son of John and Sue Blank. This is the first fishereee Jordan has won.

Brock and Droese shine in County test

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

While the Kewaskum High girls track team definitely does not have the talent and experience of teams like West Bend West and Kettle Moraine Lutheran, it showed Tuesday night there are definitely going to be some bright spots this spring, namely in the shot put and high jump.

The Lady Indians won two events and scored 49.5 points in the annual Bob Buel Washington County Indoor Girls Track and Field Meet held at the West Bend Field House.

The West Spartans successfully defended their title, amassing 118 points, including 24 in the last three events. West could be accused of having a monopoly on the Indoor title, but there is nothing illegal about their activities. The Spartans are skilled and work hard, a combination that is proving hard to beat.

KML finished second with 112 points, then came Slinger at 100.5, followed by West Bend East, 80.5, Germantown, 76.5, the Indians and then Hartford, with 37.

"Considering our youth, I think we did just fine," coach Jerry Gosa said about his team. Upperclassmen Erika Brock and Sam Droese were standouts for the Indians, and Gosa could definitely use a dozen just like them. Brock won the shot put with an excellent toss of 34 feet and 7 1/2 inches (34-7.5)."

"She came very focused," Gosa said about Brock. "She said she wanted to reach 34 feet, and wanted to win the competition," and that's exactly what she did.

Brock was over a foot ahead of the runner-up, East's Sam Nothem, whose best toss measured 33-4.

"That was her personal best," Gosa said of Brock.

Droese captured top honors in the high jump by clearing 5-feet even (5-0). She didn't miss at any of the early heights and just kept going until the winning height.

Droese is one of four who share the current outdoor record at 5-2.

Gosa was also thrilled with the way freshman Amber Struck competed in the mile in the first major meet of her young career. Struck was clocked in 6:15.8 to finish third.

The winner of the event was Katie Wagner from Germantown, who completed the distance in 6:09.2.

Gosa had predicted Struck would be a consistent point-getter in the distance races after she won many races in middle school and was the eighth grade conference champion in the mile last year.

Freshman Nicole Kison contributed five points to the team total by placing fourth in the 400 with a time of 1:12.1. "It's a good place to start. I know she'll run faster as the season goes on," Gosa said.

The 10-lap relay finished fifth with a combined time of 4:30.2, and Gosa said, "Four freshmen ran on the 10-lap relay," including Kison, Struck, Kristin Vogt, and Alissa Klapper.

Other points were scored by: Crystal Treptow, fifth in the pole vault, 8-0; Kison, sixth in the long jump, 14-7/14; 6-lap relay, sixth place, 2:28.7 (tied with Slinger); Vogt, seventh in the 880, 2:54.2; and Crystal Lepp, eighth in the 880, 2:54.6; Kelly Uelmen, 8th in the 50-yard dash, 7.16; and Uelmen, eighth in the 213, 30.4.

Kewaskum was involved in the Division 2 Oshkosh High School Invitation meet at the Kolf Field House on the UW-Oshkosh campus on Tuesday. Results will be in next week's Statesman.

Gibson set 3,200 meter record; Indians garner three seconds at Oshkosh

Up and over, up and over was the pattern followed by Kewaskum High junior Sam Droese in the high school. Droese, above going over 4-8, cleared 5-0 to win the girls competition in the annual County Indoor test, which was won again by West Bend West.

The same cast of characters that led the Kewaskum boys team to a fifth place in last Tuesday's Washington County Indoor Track and Field Meet was responsible for the Indians finishing seventh in Friday's Oshkosh High Invitational.

Kewaskum, paced by Garrett Donath's second in the pole vault, a runner-up spot by the 4x200-meter relay team and a tie for second in the high jump by Luke Herriges, finished in a tie with Kiel, another Eastern Wisconsin Conference school. Both teams scored 29 points.

Ripon won the Division 2 title by amassing 78 points, 50 ahead of New Holstein, which came in with 38. Then came Omro with 35, and Wautoma rounded out the top five with 34 points, ahead of Two Rivers, which had 31.

Donath added another six inches to what he cleared at the County test. He went up and over the bar at 12 feet, 6 inches (12-6). Cody Steinhauer of Two Rivers soared to 13-6, an excellent height for this early in the season.

The foursome of Chad Hackbarth, Dan Dymond, Jake Sabel and Donath was quite formidable. They were clocked Friday in 1 minutes 38.1 seconds (1:38.81), which was fast but quite a ways behind the speedy Ripon foursome, which turned in a 1:36.91.

KHS coach Jerry Gosa said his relay team was in an early heat, and its time held up until Ripon came along.

The top three high jumpers all cleared 6-0, so the final standings had to be determined on misses, and Herriges wound up in a tie for second.

Donath finished off his night with a seventh in the 55-meter dash where he hit the tape in 6.98, which was .05 of a second faster than his preliminary time.

There were three very pleasant surprises in the meet, namely the eighth by Stephan Kattar in the 1,600. This is Kattar's first year out for track, but he came to practice in great shape after being involved in wrestling all winter. Kattar came up with a time of 4:45.06. Gosa said, "I'm very pleased with Bud. The nice surprise about him is he's only been running with the team for about three weeks" and steadily cutting his time.

Bob Gibson is normally the Indians' best miler, but in this meet he had to run the 3,200 first, and he turned in a 10:28.69, which broke the KHS indoor mark. The old record was 10:33.45, which had been held since 1994 by Randy Thull.

Zach VanWormer was the other bright spot ... his 56.44 in the 400 was a big improvement over what he had run Tuesday, and the time was good enough for 10th place.

"He needs to get healthy," Gosa said of VanWormer. "He's capable of doing that and better."

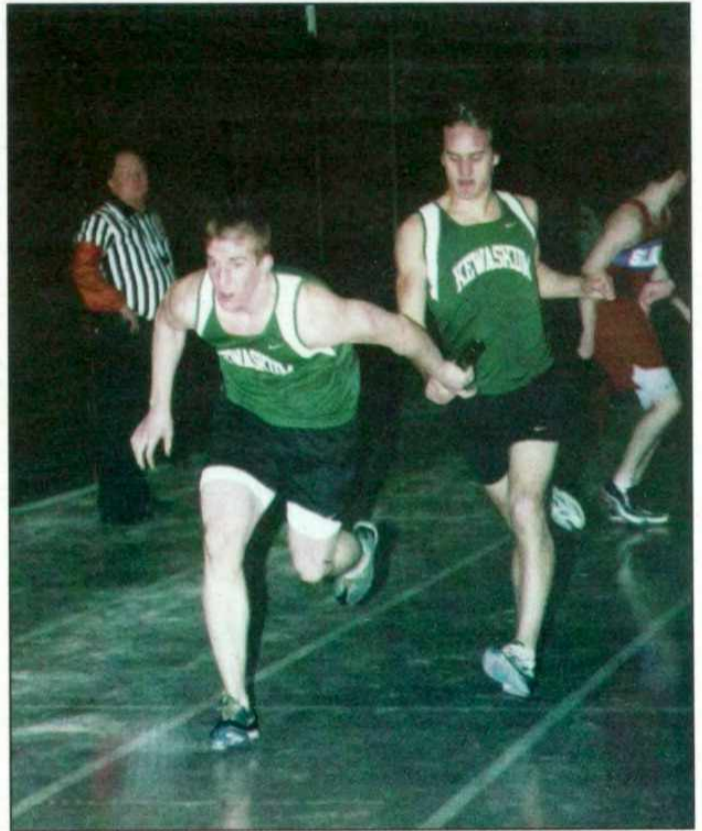

While Sabel did not place in the long jump, he leaped 18-2, which was good enough for 12th, and Logan Staeger's 40-7 in the shot put placed him 19th in a field of 33 weight men.

The Indians had one misfortune when they were disqualified in the 4x400 relay, but Gosa has requested a ruling from the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association (WIAA) on the disqualification, which centered around a "uniform violation."

Gosa said one of his runners was wearing Spandex leggings under his uniform and the contrasting color could be seen while he was running. Still, according to Gosa, the coaches had been told in a preseason clinic, this was not a violation.

It was too bad the team (Donath, Sabel, Dymond and VanWormer) was DQ'ed because it came in a with a fine time of 3:42.31, which would have given the Indians eight more team points and perhaps second in the meet.

Handoffs are normally very important in high school track, and the one between Kewaskum's No. 3 and 4 runners, Jake Sabel (right) and Garrett Donath, was well timed. It helped 6-lap relay to a second place in last Tuesday's Washington County Indoor Meet in the West Bend High Schools' Field House. Overall, the Indian boys placed fifth in the event.

Handle with care

By Ronda Addy

Fine jewelry like engagement and wedding rings is an investment. To maintain it, you need to care for it properly. Here are some tips on how to keep your jewelry looking like new.

Diamonds are popular, and even though they are one of the hardest materials around, they still need regular maintenance. In order for a diamond to shine, the maximum amount of light possible needs to enter the stone and be reflected. Residue from lotions, soaps and powders and natural skin oils can dull the surface of a diamond and reduce its brilliance. To keep your diamonds shiny and looking their best, clean them regularly with a commercial cleaner, a mix of ammonia and water, or a mild detergent. Just dip the piece in the solution and use a soft brush to get rid of any dirt in the setting.

Don't wear your diamonds when doing rough work. You could chip them. Don't expose your diamonds to chlorine or household cleaners. The products could damage the setting. Don't mix your diamonds with other jewelry. The diamonds could scratch it. Store your diamonds in a box with divided compartments or a fabric-lined jewelry box. Have them cleaned and checked once a year by a professional.

Whether a grade or a finish covered with a shiny coat of rhodium, silver can tarnish. To prevent this from happening, clean your silver jewelry regularly and store it in a cloth pouch or a plastic bag. You may use a silver clean cloth available at most jewelry stores or a flannel or cotton t-shirt and some lukewarm, soapy water. Don't use tissue, which can scratch silver, and make sure you dry your silver completely before storing it. Silver is very pliable, so when polishing it, rub against it. Don't pull. If you see any tarnish, use a mild tarnish remover made specifically for silver. Don't expose your silver to chlorine or soak it unless you are using tarnish remover.

Gold is designed to last a long time, but like all other jewelry, it requires proper care. Clean your gold jewelry regularly with an ultrasonic cleaner. Rinse, dry and polish it with a soft cloth. Store your gold in a soft cloth away from dust, makeup, moisture and perspiration, and inspect it often for damage. Take it to a jeweler for repair. Don't expose your gold to chlorine. It can weaken the structure.

More delicate than other gemstones, pearls require special care. Don't clean them with an ultrasonic cleaner. Instead, wipe them off with a soft, damp cloth and wash them occasionally in mild soap. Store pearls in a soft pouch away from other jewelry. Body oils can damage silk or nylon thread easily, so if you have any pearl necklaces, have them restrung once a year with a knot between each pearl so if the string breaks, your pearls won't get lost.

If you do not feel comfortable cleaning your jewelry yourself, take it to a jeweler and have it done by a professional. Remember, fine jewelry is an investment. You want it to last a while, so take care of it properly. With the right care, your diamond wedding ring or strand of pearls could become a family heirloom.

Designing your program

By Ronda Addy

You want your guests to have a keepsake of your wedding day, but you're at loose ends as to what to give them. How about a wedding program? A wedding program, or The Order of Worship as it is sometimes called, serves the same purpose as that of a play program. It shows guests the order of the service and the music and introduces participants.

Your program can be as simple or as complex as you would like. If you want, you can have a program that looks like a small book and includes the lyrics to every piece of music and the names of all participants and vendors. A basic program includes:

- Full names of the bride and groom
- Name of the officiate
- Date, time and location of the wedding
- Order of the ceremony
- Names of any singers or musicians performing
- Titles of any music performed
- Names of the wedding party
- Thank-you to guests and anyone who helped in the ceremony or at the reception

The order of the ceremony in a program typically follows this pattern:

- Prelude music, the music played while the guests are being seated
- Processional, the music played while the bridal party and the bride march down the aisle
- Opening prayer or greeting
- First reading

- Rites of marriage
- Exchange of vows
- Blessing of the rings
- Lighting of the unity candles
- Second reading
- Nuptials
- Closing prayer
- Recessional

You can design the program yourself using a computer, or you can have it done professionally. Check with the company that designed your wedding invitations to see if they do wedding programs. The program should be the same style as your wedding invitations.

If making the program yourself, set up a template to ensure the information will fit on the page. Create a sample program and then buy the supplies you will need. With all of the scrap-booking materials available, you can buy paper, ink and materials that will ensure your program lasts a long time.

Here are a few more tips to consider when making your wedding program:

- Keep your program simple. Don't overdo it.
- Avoid references to gifts or money or paid vendors or service providers.

• Use the right kind of paper. You don't want paper that is too slick or too absorbent. Keep in mind that while nice, handmade paper or vellum may not be acid-free and will deteriorate over the years.

A wedding program is a lot of work, but with attention to detail, it can be one of the best ways to provide guests with a keepsake of your special day. Good luck and have fun!

Memorable and beautiful weddings on a budget

Your big day on a dime

(ARA) - A wedding to treasure doesn't have to break the bank. In fact, with smart planning and a little research, you can have a beautiful and memorable wedding with money left over for the honeymoon.

According to experts at The Art Institutes, the best way to begin planning your wedding is to start with a ballpark budget in mind. Determine your high and low price and then head online to do research. By using the Internet, experts say, you can find prices for everything from wedding gowns to photography to reception halls. This gives you a great starting point.

Once you know what you can spend, Suzanne Morrison-Williams, Academic Department director of interactive media design at The Art Institute of Fort Lauderdale, suggests involving friends and family to help offset costs. For example, she says, you may have friends who are DJs or amateur photographers and are willing to donate their talents for your big day.

"Friends can also help with decorations and flowers," she says. "Flowers can take up a big part of your budget. While roses are beautiful, they can be expensive. Instead, look for flowers that are in season and usually cost less." If your heart is set on expensive blooms, she says, use fewer for more dramatic impact.

Experts all agree, though, the biggest cost of almost any wedding is the reception, including the location and food. But with a little imagination, there are inexpensive and creative alternatives to the traditional reception hall. Alison Paster, academic director of the Fashion Merchandising/Visual Merchandising programs at The Art Institute of Philadelphia, recently attended a lovely and quaint wedding on the beach.

"The venue was free, and it was a stunning backdrop," she says. The bride purchased a dress on sale for $99, and the reception included simple covered dishes and grills for barbecue.

Other ideas to borrow from a simple beach wedding, says Paster, include table centerpieces of beach glass in fish bowls, white M&Ms in netting with a silver bow for favors, and wedding invites and programs done on the computer using decorative paper and hand-made accents. Paster recommends finding inspiration from your setting, and shopping at local craft stores for table setting and wedding favor ideas.

If a beach wedding isn't your style, you can still find a bargain. As the Academic Department director, Culinary & Pastry Arts for The Art Institute of New York City, Robynne Maii wanted a restaurant wedding reception, and with a little negotiation, she got just what she wanted, at a good price. "When we originally started asking about renting a restaurant for our reception, the prices were very high," says Maii. "However, when you speak directly with the owners, prices go down significantly especially if you want a lunch or brunch."

More tips for weddings on a budget from experts at The Art Institutes include:

* If you have your heart set on the $1,200 dress, find a dressmaker and you can get it made for $500.

* For elegant food, simpler is better. Guests do not need a large variety of hors d'oeuvres or entrée choices. It is better to be specific with what the couple wants and have it executed well. Don't try to please everyone. You always have better quality with less quantity.

* For the location, try something offbeat like a park with a ballroom or a school gymnasium. Some apartment or condo complexes have clubhouses that they allow residents to use for a few hundred dollars.

* Consider booking your wedding on a Friday night or Sunday morning or afternoon. Since these are not popular days, you may get a discount for using that non-premium time.

* If you don't have a crowd that drinks a lot of alcohol and you are using a location that includes alcohol in the per head cost, then simply remove premium alcohol and serve only wine and beer. That will lower the cost by about $8 per person. Then reserve about $200 for those few persons who might want mixed cocktails.

* Go to your local college, art or music school to find out about hiring students to play music or take photographs. These schools may be able to refer you to students who are often willing to work for less in exchange for the experience and building their portfolio. Be sure to ask for samples and references, but be flexible. Generally, students are not professionals.

What a site!

By Ronda Addy

Through a little something called the Internet, you can now share your wedding with friends and family all over the world. You can do this by setting up a wedding Web site. Let's take a look at the benefits of such a site and the procedure for making one.

A wedding Web site is a great place to post all of your wedding details in one place and include those far away in the wedding planning without the cost of long-distance bills. Prior to the wedding, you can include an events calendar listing all of your wedding activities, maps and directions for out-of-town guests, gift registry information and links to online shopping. If you need to make changes, you can notify guests right away on the site, as well as provide them with an easy way to RSVP online. After the wedding, you can post wedding pictures and provide a place for others to share their thoughts and pictures.

Having a wedding Web site sounds like fun, but how do you go about setting one up? You have two options. You can either set up your own site or you can hire a professional to do it for you.

If you have the technical know-how to set up your own site, the first thing you need to do is find a host. Most companies that host Web sites do so for a monthly fee. However, there are some that host sites for free. To make money, they rely on pop-ups or banner advertisements, which they place on your site and others'. For those on a budget, this may be the best way to go. Using a template-based Web site service is another option. You choose the style and colors of your site from pre-designed templates, submit your information through an online form and it is posted immediately. Many of these services will even allow you to download digital photos. There is a cost, though. Most services charge a fee after an initial trial period.

For those who want to go all out, they can have their Web site custom designed. If this is the direction you want to take, find a local Web designer whom you can meet in person to work out the details. Otherwise, you will have to fill out a series of questionnaires for a service that will work with you to create your site. With a custom Web site, you can choose the theme, graphics, text and colors you want to use. You can add a guestbook, a photo album, a place to RSVP online, maps and a chat room. Some designers will even create matching Web sites and wedding invitations. Custom Web sites can be expensive, with the average cost of a single-page site running around $50 on up to a full-featured, multiple-page site running just under $1,000.

Once the wedding is over, you can keep the site if you want and use it to stay in touch with friends and family. Some companies will give 12 to 18 months of free hosting after the wedding, while some template and custom services will offer extending hosting after the initial period for a cost. Some companies will also let you buy a CD of your site after the free hosting period is up.

A wedding Web site is all about the happiness of the big day. Creating one will let you share your happiness with friends, family and people all over the world

Candy's Limo opens in Campbellsport

The newest addition to Candy's fleet, a Lincoln stretch tuxedo limo. Don and Candy Ficht opened Candy's Limousine Service in Campbellsport to provide affordable limousine service to customers in the Kettle Moraine area.

Over the past few months, the Ficht's have made some changes in the business. In addition to their six-passenger white Cadillac, Don recently drove a 12-passenger Lincoln tuxedo limousine with a moon roof back to Campbellsport from New Jersey after Candy found it on the Internet. A tuxedo limousine is white with a black vinyl top and is considered by many to be the most luxurious of limousines. The used limo needed Don and Candy's expertise in the spit-and-polish department. A bumper-to-bumper cleaning inside and out, the addition of a second TV, updating the bar, and new tires brought the limo up to the couple's standards.

The stretch limo isn't their only project. They've been giving a bus an extreme make over, removing the 25 seats to create a cozy seating arrangement for 20 people, with "all the goodies," as Don put it - stereo, tables for drinks and snacks, and cabinets for two TVs. He said they wanted to set up the bus with wrap-around seating so the passengers can see one another across tables and not be separated by seats.

"It's metallic silver with graphics . . . all lighted up. You'll see it coming," Don pointed out. He added, "The bus is a nice asset for bigger groups."

CAMPBELLSPORT- "I'll have the cars there and I'm going to take care of it all," Don Ficht reassured a nervous bride-to-be.

Don and Candy Ficht own Candy's Limousine Service LLC, and calming nervous brides is part of their service. Happy couples have passed Don and Candy's name along, and now they're getting calls from friends and wedding party members of last year's brides and grooms.

A year ago, Don had a problem finding a job and medical insurance following a work-related injury that left him with severe first and second-degree burns. He had just undergone another surgery and had been driving a sewage disposal truck and a limousine part time. When he couldn't find a job and a limousine service became available, he and Candy took a chance on the business. They decided to provide an affordable service for wedding parties, teens going to proms and homecomings, and trips to airports in Chicago as well as in Wisconsin. They wanted to make it possible for average families to enjoy a limo ride for eating out or for a group to attend Packers, Brewers, or Bucks games without having to worry about driving home or finding a designated driver.

He and Candy are finding that wedding parties are getting bigger and bigger, and some want to bring along special friends or family members. Rather than splitting the wedding party between a couple of limos, the bus has enough space for everyone.

Trailer hitches allow for towing an enclosed trailer. Don said the trailer is perfect for grills and food for tailgate parties at a sports event. When a group of golfing buddies wants to leave snowy Wisconsin for a sunny golf course, Don can drive them to the airport in grand style, stowing the clubs and bags and any extra luggage in the trailer, leaving the guys with plenty of room to stretch out and relax with TV and drinks in the 12-passenger limo's wraparound seating arrangement.

Will Candy's Limousine Service be expanding beyond the bus and two cars?

Don said that depends on the how the business goes from here. Don and Candy are proud to be the official limousine service for MDA (Muscular Dystrophy Association) Jerry's Kids events, spending 12-hour days doing Jail and Bail pickups throughout the Milwaukee MDA region. And, the phone has been ringing with more and more dates for spring proms and summer weddings, special dinners out, and airport runs.

Candy is a self-employed accountant and is continuing her education in the accounting field. The plus side of the accounting work is that she can arrange her schedule around the kids, her classes, and the limo business.

Don and Candy said they are meeting a lot of very nice people and enjoying all of them. And, they are ready to reassure nervous brides that Candy's Limousine Service will get them to the service on time.

Candy's Limousine Service can be reached at (920) 533-3101 or (mobile) (290) 602-0578.

Great hair for every day - tips from a celebrity stylist

A lister Jennifer Love Hewitt

(ARA) - Hollywood stars including Charlize Theron, Jennifer Love Hewitt and Rene Russo trust their tresses to celebrity hairstylist Lucie Doughty of A.T. Tramp salon in Beverly Hills.

While it's her job to make stars look like stars, she knows that real women want to look great, but probably don't have much time to spend on their hair. "With a good haircut and the right products, beautiful hair can be achieved in a minimal amount of time," says Doughty. Use her "tricks of the trade," and you'll never have a bad hair day again.

* Start with a great haircut. "Find a trusted stylist who takes the time to talk about what you want. The best cut depends on hair's texture and length and should also complement one's face shape. A good stylist should also teach you how to manage your hair style," notes Doughty. "You should be able to duplicate the look you have when you leave the salon."

* Ask the stylist to recommend shampoo and conditioner for your hair type. If you have fine hair, you don't want a heavy conditioner that will weigh it down. "Choose a line that has a broad range of products, so you can pick and choose ones that are right for you," says Doughty.

* This one may surprise you: "Don't wash your hair every day," advises Doughty. This not only saves time, but it's good for the hair. "On the days you don't shampoo, simply use some product to revive your hairstyle," she says. If your hair has gone a bit flat, add a dollop of volumizer like Paul Mitchell Extra-Body Sculpting Foam, style and finish with a light mist of hairspray.

* Use the right tools. Depending on hair type and style, you may need a curling iron, flat iron, blow dryer, wide tooth comb for tangles, and a paddle or round brush for blow drying. "You can't duplicate your salon look if you don't have the same supplies," says Doughty. When selecting a blow dryer, make sure it has both hot and cool settings and is light enough to dry hair without tiring your arms.

* Using the right styling product is also important for good final results. "For blow drying, look for a styling product designed to work with heat that's also light and versatile - I use Paul Mitchell Express Style for straight and curly hair," says Doughty. She recommends that you always finish with a blast of cool air to close the cuticle and set the shape.

* The grand finale - don't forget finishing products. A touch of hairspray or a bit of pomade will hold your style longer. A shine product like The Shine by Paul Mitchell will add a subtle gloss to your hair.

For special occasions, get glam in a few easy steps. "If you're going from work to a party, you may want to pack a blow dryer, flat iron or curling iron for a touch up," says Doughty. Apply a little style product, brush and blow dry, then add shine spray and work it through your hair.

"A classic chignon is a quick and easy option, and is always stylish," says Doughty. To pull this look together, slick back hair into a ponytail at the nape of your neck. Use a styling gel for a sleek look. Wrap the ponytail around the elastic, and add a decorative hair pin to secure it. If your hair is layered and difficult to pin up, consider using a fine hair net to help keep it in place.

right products and these styling secrets, you can have great hair every day," says Doughty.
