Three individuals from Kewaskum have been charged each with a felony count of being party to burglary and party to misdemeanor theft after they are alleged to have entered the Kewaskum Kiwanis Park concession stand and removed beer and candy shortly after midnight on Monday, August 14. Kewaskum police caught the individuals as they were removing items from the stand.

Joseph W. Klahn, 20, and Zachary J. Kraus, 18, and Troy Chandler 17, all of Kewaskum were charged Tuesday, August 15 in Washington County Court. They will be back in court on Wednesday, September 13 at 1:15 p.m.

A criminal complaint alleges that the trio with the help of one juvenile broke into the concession stand by gaining access to the stand through a second story window. Through statements from the three, police learned that the juvenile individual pryed open a second story window and then let the others into the building.

Upon gaining entry the three hauled cases of beer out of the building and stashed it on the nature trails to the rear of the stand. They then met up and loaded beer into the vehicle of Klahn just as a Washington County Sheriff's Deputy pulled up to the vehicle.

Police were alerted to the break in after a building alarm went off. Upon the officer's arrival he observed a male subject on the south side of the stand running north. The officer then pursued the subject into the wooded area behind the stand. On his pursuit he came across a pile of full beer cans.

He then came across one of the individuals lying on the ground and when ordered to stay laying, that individual took off towards Braatz Drive.

Once back at the concession stand, the officer noticed that the door leading into the stand looked like someone attempted to pry it open. He also noticed damage was done to a garage door handle on the exterior of the building. He then observed the window where the suspects gained entry.

Klahn later stated in his statement that the three and others were "going after beer". Klahn also told police that they initially attempted to gain access to the building through the door and garage door, but when they were unsuccessful, two of them then climbed on the roof and gained entry through the window.

The three have all been released on signature bonds from the Washington County Jail.

On a check of Wisconsin Circuit Court records Klahn has a number of incidents for disorderly conduct, traffic and criminal damage to property. Kraus and Chandler did not have any records.

Officials and industry leaders prepare for pandemic influenza

An estimated 200 state officials, local government leaders, heads of private industry and other stakeholders from southeastern Wisconsin gathered at the Medical College of Wisconsin for the Southeastern Wisconsin Pandemic Influenza Preparedness Regional Forum on Tuesday, August 1. The goal of the forum was to focus attention on the need for Southeastern Wisconsin leaders to plan, prepare and respond in the event of an influenza pandemic.

Linda Walter, Washington County Health Officer said, "Pandemic planning needs to address how schools, businesses, public agencies, faith-based organizations and others participate in the event of a world-wide outbreak." Others attending from Washington County were Tom Sackett, County Board Chair; Gary Moschea, Human Resources Director; Rob Schmid, Emergency Management Coordinator; Sandra Hoefert, Deputy Director Social Services; Paula Muga, Public Health Nurse; Linda Nutten, Public Health Nurse; Patricia Pearson, Synergy Health/St. Joseph's Hospital; Jeff Puetz, West Bend Mutual Insurance Company and Dr. Michael Mango, emergency medicine.

Unlike fire or earthquake, a pandemic would likely affect most American cities all at once and would have a massive impact on the American workforce and those who rely on it. Plenary presenter Geoffrey R. Swain, MD, MPH, Associate Professor, University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health, and Associate Medical Director, City of Milwaukee Health Department stressed that a flu pandemic was a real possibility.

The forum emphasized the need for regional collaboration between local governments, businesses, and community stakeholders to form partnerships that would effectively support regional pandemic preparedness efforts.

Forum participants discussed strategies for ensuring essential services keep operating without interruption during a possible pandemic, such as communications, transportation and utilities. Small group discussions on planning and preparedness were held throughout the day with representatives from the jurisdictions attending.

For more information regarding pandemic influenza and Wisconsin's preparations and plans, visit www.pandemicflu.gov/plans/states/wisconsin.html.

The August 23rd meeting of the Washington County Health Care Partners will feature a guest speaker, Mary Beth Emmerichs, CEO of UW Manitowoc, who will discuss the 1918 Influenza Pandemic from a local perspective using historical accounts of what happened in Sheboygan County. The presentation is open to the public and will be held at the county PAC building in room 1113A across from the Health Department from 8:15 to 9:30 a.m.

Train fire closes highway for over three hours

ALLENTON- Five fire departments helped extinguish a fire that started in the cargo car of a Canadian National train on Friday, August 11, after several citizens alerted the Washington County Sheriff's Department around 2:22 p.m. That same fire started a secondary grass fire adjacent to the tracks the train was traveling on, causing County Highway DW to be closed for about three and a half hours.

The reports were received while the train was just south of Allenton. The Sheriff's Department was able to notify Canadian National at which time the rail car was stopped at County Highway DW. The secondary grass fire started on the eastside of the tracks approximately a half of a mile north of State Highway 33.

Allenton Fire responded to the scene and was assisted by Kohlsville, St. Lawrence and Slinger Fire Departments. Fire officials were able to contain the fire enough so that the train was able to continue north of Theresa. Several fire units then responded to Theresa to assist Theresa Fire Department once the train reached Theresa. The train was moved to Theresa at approximately 5:45 PM.

Authorities say the fire was isolated to one rail car containing two cargo containers stacked on top of each other. The fire appeared to have started in the top container, which contained wood products. The fire damaged the bottom container, containing heating and air conditioning products. There were no hazardous materials aboard the rail car.

At this time it is unknown what started the fire however it doesn't appear to be suspicious in nature. There is no dollar estimate of damage at this time.

Computer items taken at W.B. School

WEST BEND- Police are investigating the theft of some computer components from Holy Angels School at 230 N. 8th Avenue. Burglars are believed to have broken into the school during Monday evening, August 14.

Police continue to investigate the break-in but are unsure of the value of what was taken.

PEOPLE

Hallo, aus Deutschland

Jacob Cochran will be spending his senior year abroad.

"Hallo, aus Deutschland!" (Hello, from Germany!) My name is Jacob Cochran. I am supposed to be a senior at Kewaskum High School but am studying abroad this year. I am attending Söderblom-Gymnasium in Espelkamp, Germany. It is a short distance from my hometown of Pruessich Oldendorf in the northeastern part of Germany. It wasn't long ago I was at home in Farmington, with my parents Chris and Sally Cochran, my little brother Isaiah and whoever else happened to be living there at the time.

A year ago I never would have thought that I would be in such a place as I am now. It is still very hard to believe. It all started last October, on the way home from the airport. My sister had just left for a missionary training program in Australia. My dad, quite distraught over losing his little girl, thought he would go for the (almost) empty nest by asking me if I was interested in being a Rotary Exchange Student. My brother Kurtis was already gone, attending college in New York City and that just left my four year old brother Isaiah and me. The offer sounded nice and with a little thought and a lot of prayer, I said yes.

After much paperwork and a couple of interviews, I was accepted into the Rotary Exchange Program. Rotary did a great job preparing me for the year abroad by hosting several long weekend conventions at which we learned anything and everything about being a Rotary student.

Then, I waited for my country assignment. My top five choices were Australia, Iceland, Germany, Norway and Spain. Finally, just before Christmas break, I got the news that I was going to Germany. At the time, I was a bit disappointed that I wouldn't be going to Australia, where I knew how to speak the language, now I realize what an opportunity it is to learn a new language. Besides my three years of German studies would finally come in handy! (Thanks Frau!)

It will be interesting when I come home and will be able to talk in German with everyone's grandparents!

I knew I would be missing my senior year of high school so in preparation I tried to make my junior year as fun as possible. It is still hard for me to believe that I am missing the "best year of my life". In reality it is still going to be the best year of my life and actually, quite a unique experience.

Over the summer I hung out with my friends as much as possible and enjoyed every minute of it. We went swimming, watched movies, made movies, had Bible study, drove around and enjoyed miscellaneous other clean fun. Maybe more of that time should have been spent with my family. Anyhow, I would not give up the time with my friends and family for anything in the world.

The time came in early August when I had to leave. I had a couple of going away parties and many farewells but not nearly enough. It was hard, but on the morning of my departure I went to the airport, not fully realizing what I had gotten myself into. I went with my family (minus Kurtis and Krystal) and four friends. We hung out as long as we could, but time did not stop and I had to make the final walk to the gate. It was the hardest thing ever, to say goodbye and walk through the metal detectors and beyond. Every time I turned back I wanted to cry. I did not want to think about it at the time, but it was the last time I would see any of them for almost a year.

The plane trip was uneventful; otherwise I would tell you more about it. I went from Milwaukee to Detroit, Detroit to Amsterdam, and Amsterdam to Hannover, Germany. When I arrived in Germany, I expected the conclusion of my flights to end in the flurry and confusion of a foreign customs procedure. It was not so, I merely got my bags and walked out to meet my waiting host family. I had arrived!

Young Ikes in the news

Zackary Jordan of San Antonio, TX, shown with his mom Kitty, received a plaque for a $1000 donation to the Million Dollar Club of the Endowment of the Izaak Walton League. Zackary is the grandson of Elmer and Betty Halen of Kewaskum.

In July, close to 50 young Ikes from across the country met in Springfield, Missouri, for the Izaak Walton League of America Youth Convention held during the League's annual national convention.

It was three days of education and conservation, starting with two workshops that dealt with people's effects on the economy and the environment. They saw firsthand how their everyday actions affect water quality and wildlife habitat. Later, they had the opportunity to do wildlife surveying in Missouri's famous caves.

The highlight of the Youth Convention was when the kids teamed with the City of Springfield, James River Basin Partnership, and the Watershed Committee for the Ozarks for a two-day community service project that consisted of a stream cleanup at South Creek and storm-drain stenciling around downtown Springfield. The kids removed close to 250 pounds of trash from South Creek. Their efforts attracted the local media, and the kids were featured on KOLR 10 News on Friday, July 21. They were also featured in the Springfield News-Leader.

If you know some enthusiastic, environmentally focused youth who would benefit from engaging, conservation-minded events, bring them to next year's Youth Convention in Big Sky, Montana. If you have any questions about next year's Youth Convention, or if you would like to launch a youth initiative in your own chapter, please contact Debbie Veliz at dveliz@iwla.org or at (301) 548-0150, ext. 236.

For more information on the Izaak Walton League please visit their website at www.iwla.org.

THEATRE:

Two theatrical productions directed by Professor Brad Ford round out the series. The fall production, Fuddy Meers, is an engaging farce written by David Lindsay-Abaire. The title originates from Gertie's "stroke talk" for funny mirrors - those fascinating funhouse attractions. Fuddy Meers will be performed November 3, 4 and 10, 11. Auditions will be held on Wednesday, September 20 at 7pm in the campus theatre. UW-WC students as well as interested community members are welcome to audition or help backstage.

The spring production, Lafferty's Wake includes an optional traditional Irish dinner, catered by Schwai's in the campus cafeteria before the show. You don't have to be Irish to enjoy this humorous story along with Irish songs, jokes, jigs, a little weeping, and even the spirit of Lafferty! Lafferty's Wake will be performed in the campus theatre on March 2, 3, 4 and 9, 10, 11.

Season tickets for the complete series are available now at a savings of 25%. Tickets for seniors (over 62) and youth (under 18) are priced at just $60 for all eight performances (6 performance series, 2 theatre) while adult season tickets are priced at $75.

Chamber will sponsor bingo nights as way to raise funds for school groups

Bingo fun comes to Kewaskum

Get those dobbers ready bingo fans and don't forget your lucky troll too! The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce has announced they will be sponsoring a number of bingo fun nights at the Kewaskum Municipal Building Annex starting Wednesday, September 13.

Without hardly taking a break from their roles in Kewaskum's Movie in the Park, Chris Jung and Jeff Jaeger are organizing the bingo fundraisers. The fundraisers are hoped to raise funds for various school groups at Kewaskum High School. Jung says any group in the high school is welcome to help host the event and will take with them, half the profits for their group.

Jung says that she has eight more spots open for groups to sign up to help host. Groups helping to host will be responsible for setting up the tables and chairs and clean up as well as helping in the concession stand during bingo. High school organizations should contact principal Christine Horbas at 626-2166 to sign up.

Bingo night will be the second Wednesday of each month during the school year. Bingo will start at 6:30 p.m. with doors opening at 4:30 p.m. Jung and Jaeger say they are hoping to see 150 people per time. A $2,000 pay out is expected at each event based on the number of attendees.

The Chamber has taken an active role in making the event successful because members stated that their businesses were being inundated with donation requests. It is hoped that a number of those groups seeking donations will be able to raise funds by co-hosting a Chamber Bingo night.

On Wednesday, August 19, Dr. Stephen Van Ess will begin seeing patients in his office in the Behnke Building at 1053 Fond du Lac Avenue, Kewaskum. Dr. Van Ess is assuming the practice of Dr. Robert Filete, and will provide comprehensive dental care for established patients and new patients. Joseph M. Miller has retired from Miller's Inc., Kewaskum, effective August 1. Joe started to help at Miller's Inc. Funeral Home and Furniture Store in 1932. He graduated from Kewaskum High School in 1934 and attended the Wisconsin Institute of Mortuary Science in Milwaukee where he graduated in 1937. He married Laura Hirsig on October 26, 1938. They had two children, Jolene (Ken) Kenyon of Verona and Ronald, who died January 1, 1950. They also have two grandchildren. Two years ago Bob and Judy Klein decided to move their talents in the food service industry from West Bend to Kewaskum. They purchased the Wigwam from Bill Edwards (on the site of what is now Rain Dance Car Wash), renamed it The Homestead Supper Club, and sought to build a successful business of their own. Then the economy began its downward trend. They were still leasing Timmer's on Big Cedar Lake and found it economically necessary to leave The Homestead to another young couple. But times have changed again, and Bob and Judy Klein are back with fresh ideas and new efforts to make The Homestead a success.

On Sunday, August 16, the Kewaskum Lions Club will hold its eighth annual Kettle 20 + 2 run and Chicken BBQ in River Hill Park.

Planning for next year's event has already begun

Movie in the Park has happy ending

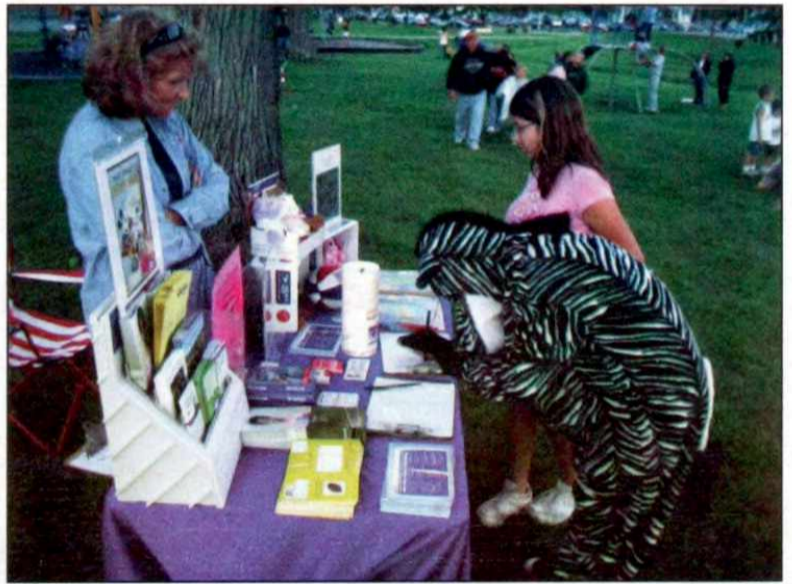

Members of the Kewaskum Police Department were on hand to fingerprint children at the movie in the park last Friday.

The Kewaskum Boy Scouts painted faces for children prior to the movie.

Kewaskum residents Greg Bernau and Scott Konzal entertained children by making balloon animals.

Monica Lepak, postmaster, was on hand to showcase the services provided by the Kewaskum Post Office and the USPS website.

In many movies, you have a happy ending. Such was the case Friday evening, August 11 for Movie in the Park organizers Jeff Jaeger and Chris Jung. Close to 1,000 people attended the event, up from last year's debut.

Jaeger and Jung took last year's movie in the park and made it an event. The event had something for everyone. The pair added a sheephead tournament that was enjoyed by 30 people. Especially for winners of the tournament, Bernice Robers, who ended on top at 57 points, Tom Schneider, with 50 points and Bob Thuror, with 48 points.

Area businesses and organizations also got in on the act and also played a role by showcasing themselves and what they offer the community. JP Insurance provided popcorn for the event while Geidel's Piggly Wiggly held a brat fry. Both businesses com-binated donated over $1000 in proceeds to the Chamber. "We have so many people to thank, this was truly a community event, everyone pitched in and I believe that is why we had such success," stated Jung.

Jung is referring to the over 30 community members, young and old who offered a hand at the event. Those people included the movie characters and children's superstars, Angelica Meyer as Marty the zebra, Earl Meyer III as one of the mischievous penguins, Cindy Koester as Dora the Explorer, Katie Patterson was Sponge Bob Squarepants and Ben Derge as Alex the lion. Derge also assisted in setting up in the park.

Also taking part were other community members such as Greg Bernau and Scott Konzal who made balloon animals for children. Carol Tilman assisted the Girl Scouts with applying temporary tattoos. The Kewaskum Boy Scouts added to the fun with face painting. A photo board of Madagascar movie characters was painted and made by Richard and Christy Dobrogowski.

A favorite was the stuffed zebra, lion and animal tails, donated by The Candy Tree. Jung especially thanks her volunteers Mary DiMotto, Bernice Robers, Cory Ann, Keyndal, Jordon and Andi Hoss, Nathan Jung who stuffed and sold the tails.

Jung also was pleased with the help received from Debbie, Richard and Christy Dobrogowski, Patti and Scott Derge, and Laurie and Katie Melzer who worked the Arts and Crafts area. All supplies were donated by St. Francis Bank and The Candy Tree.

The help didn't stop there, as the movie started, popcorn poppers could not keep up with demanding sales and Kewaskum Athletic Association member Tim Rohlinger fired up the association's popper and helped pop corn for hungry movie goers. Carol Pok joined by her family and the Girl Scouts helped clean up the park after the movie and did playground safety during the day light hours prior to the movie.

In addition to the movie, Jung was able to receive a handful of prizes donated by various sports teams. With those items the Chamber held a raffle that went over very well. Winners included: Ray Weishan who took home an autographed Green Bay Packers football. Sue Rahlf will enjoy four Milwaukee Bucks tickets. John Heintz won four Milwaukee Admirals tickets. Brewers hats and t-shirts were won by Lloyd Spaeth and Jackie Burtard.

Winners of the Tuttle Creek Hula Hoop contest were: Age 5-6 - 1st place - Mikayla Kunkel, 2nd - Grace Merhe. 3rd Kuiana Chivees. Age 7-8 - 1st - Leah Wilde, 2nd - Breanna Kramer, 3rd - Sarah Kosterman. Age 9 - 10 - 1st - Brooke Kramer, 2nd - Emily Ciriacks, 3rd - Brittney Sachen.

Happiness Sold Separately

By Lolly Winston

Warner Books $21.99 304 Pages

Lolly Winston

New York Times Bestselling Author of GOOD GRIEF

If you were to go on a shopping trip to buy ingredients for a perfect marriage, what would you purchase?

You'd probably toss Good Conversation in the shopping cart. You might look for a jar of Respect. A couple of five-pound bags of Kindness and Love, for sure. And you'd pick up a box of Sense of Humor to sweeten the end product.

In the new novel "Happiness Sold Separately" by Lolly Winston, you'll see that the ingredients for a perfect marriage do not come prepackaged with easy directions.

Elinor Mackey was standing in her laundry room when she learned that her husband, Ted, was having an affair. Lately, it seemed as if everything Elinor did, she did in the laundry room. It was dark in there, and she never had to think about her problems.

Infertility could be ignored in the laundry room. Wacky hormones could be swept away. IVF was just a weird configuration of letters there. And now Ted's infidelity could be overlooked.

It's easy to see why Ted would turn to another woman. All those tests Elinor endured, all the shots, all the up-and-down emotions she's feeling couldn't have made Ted happy. But having an affair... with an ex-hippie from the gym?

No. Elinor can't overlook that. She confronts the lovers and leaves Ted.

Ted wonders when everything went wrong. He never meant to sleep with Gina. He wanted to have children with Elinor. Two little girls, maybe three. But embarrassing doctor visits, mortifying tests, and let-downs drove him to find an outlet for his frustration. He joined the gym, Gina was his personal trainer and the next thing Ted knew, he was in love with her.

But he loved Elinor, too. He needed to break this affair off with Gina. Ted needed his wife.

Gina is always in control at the gym, so she wonders why that strength can't transfer into her life. She dates lots of men, but none are as special as Ted. It's clear, though, that he simply can't commit to her. Reluctantly, Gina tells Ted to go back to his wife. She never wanted to be "the other woman," but now she's in love with a man who's torn by a family he never had.

None of them bargained for the love of a 10-year-old boy-genius who badly needed a man in his life as much as the man needed the boy.

Filled with gentle humor, heartbreak, and situations that are real, "Happiness Sold Separately" is a surprising little book with an ending I didn't see coming. Author Lolly Winston is known for the kind of rich characters you can instantly bond with, and Ted and Elinor are no exceptions. I found myself wanting to reach into the pages of this book to pat Elinor on the shoulder during parts of this story.

Yes, it's that kind of book.

If you're looking for a few tears and a few laughs in too-few pages, look for this book. "Happiness Sold Separately" is a book you'll be glad to buy.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of JAMES E. BECKER, "The Kewaskum Snowman," who passed away one year ago on Aug. 18, 2005:

"Do not stand at my grave and weep, I am not there, I do not sleep. I am a thousand winds that blow, I am diamond glints on snow, I am the sunlight on ripened grain, I am the gentle autumn's rain. When you awaken in the morning's hush, I am the swift uplifting rush on quiet birds in circled flight, I am the soft stars that shine at night: Do not stand at my grave and cry, I am not there, I did not die."

Deeply missed and cherished by your Yellow Rose.

Kewaskum will scrimmage at Random Lake on Saturday morning New Indians are ready to take over

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

By the time the 2005 prep football season completed, pretty much everyone in southeastern Wisconsin was aware of what a good team Kewaskum High School had.

Garett Donath, Ross Stockhausen, Jeff Thull, Bryan Daggett, Zach Wollner, Jon Olla ... they had the talent, desire, and leadership to carry the Indians far, first to a perfect 7-0 season in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, and then well into the WIAA playoff series.

Even though Kewaskum didn't make it to state, it was a memorable 12-1 season, which ended in a loss to Wisconsin Lutheran, the eventual Division 3 state champion.

The page is now turned to 2006. How are the new seniors approaching the season? Can Kewaskum make another championship run? Who will take over for last year's stars?

It may take time to answer some of those questions, but coach Jason Piittmann is already certain he has some topnotch players among the 34 seniors and juniors on the team, and they are ready to continue the tradition.

Piittmann said earlier this week the new seniors take satisfaction in what they accomplished last year, "but they want to make their own mark." The coach even went so far as to say, "They have a little bit of a chip on their shoulder because no one is talking about us right now."

Instead, according to one early poll, Plymouth and Sheboygan Falls, are being picked as the top contenders, Falls because of the experience and talent of senior quarterback Jacob Juedes, who led his team to second place in a passing tournament this summer, and Plymouth because of its size and number of returnees.

"They're going to be big, very big," Piittmann said, indicating they could have a line with players going from 240 all the way up to 300 pounds.

The cupboard isn't bare at KHS, either in the size department and at the skilled positions.

Game-breaker Eric Ogi (5-foot-9, 163 pounds) is back at wingback or possibly even getting some carries from the tailback spot.

"He's a talented kid. We are looking for ways to get the ball in his hands," Piittmann said of Ogi, who made at least a half dozen catches of 50 yards or more last fall.

Matt Parrent (6-4, 205) will be back at tight end or maybe even split end once he gets the cast off his hand after breaking his thumb during the baseball sectionals.

"We're going to try to do more things with Matt Parrent because of his height and his athletic ability," Piittmann said.

As far as the backs to replace Donath, the EWC's Player of the Year, and Stockhausen, Piittmann is looking to Dan Shea (6-1, 175) and Logan Staeger (6-2, 175), both talented players, and Mike Pfothner (5-10, 170) will probably see action at fullback.

With Donath being as quick as he was and Stockhausen a crushing lead blocker, the Indians had good success to the outside. The blocking schemes might change a bit for the new personnel, according to Piittmann, "so we can open some creases" for Shea, Ogi and others.

At quarterback, Casey Scheel (6-1, 165) is ready to take over after watching Chad Pivoni perform and lead the last two years.

"Chad was a better quarterback for us, but Casey is a better passer" and learned a lot from watching from the sideline," Piittmann said. "He really picks up things fast."

Junior John Holt (6-3, 180) will be a great backup, according to Piittmann, who said, "With Casey and John, We're looking good ... the sophomore Nic Olla isn't bad either."

In the "O" line, Piittmann is set on Jake Turowski (6-0, 190) and Tony Lewko (6-0, 190) at guards but the others spots might be up in the air. Turowski "is the anchor of the line," Piittmann said, adding, Lewko "came in for (Jeff) Thull (knee injury) and did a great job in the playoffs."

At center, Tyler Swanson (6-1, 215, junior) and Zach Groeschel (6-3, 200, senior) are battling to become the starter, and, "We've got some other kids, Bryan Theisen (5-11, 210 senior) and the Thull twins (Tom, 6-2, 255, junior) and Tim 6-2, 240, junior) vying for the tackle spots.

Piittmann also has a jumbo tackle in J.J. Logan, who tips the scale at 340. "He wants to play both ways, but we'll see where he will benefit the team the most," the coach said.

At split end, Piittmann likes what he sees from Jack Breese (6-1, 195), who "worked really hard in the off-season and added 10 pounds. Dany Dymond (6-3, 185) and Ben Butler (6-0, 145) are two other possibilities.

When asked about the returnees on defense, Piittmann said, "Not many." There are two good linebackers, starting with Pfothner, who is a big hitter, and Staeger, who has moved from his end position..

"In the secondary we have Ogi," Piittmann went on, indicating while there aren't more starters back, plenty of kids got experience because "We played a lot of guys on defense."

Breese and a transfer from Iowa are two other top candidates at linebacker, and in the backfield, Holt and Matt Donath (6-4, 192, junior) have looked good, and Nick Ebert (6-0, 185 junior) and Corey Watzig (6-1, 248 junior) "have impressed me" at linebacker and defensive end.

Turowski will be at one end, and a variety of others will be looked at during the scrimmage Saturday at Random Lake.

The five-team event will begin at 9 a.m., with Kewaskum facing Brown Deer in the first round. At 10:30, the Indians take on Winnebago Lutheran Academy, and at 11:15, the Indians face Random Lake.

Piittmann said he doesn't like to make predictions as far as wins and losses but is confident, "We should be contending up near the top."

The season opens Friday, Aug. 24 when the Indians host West Bend East. Kewaskum has right around 100 players this fall, which is up 20 from last season, according to Piittmann.

A learning year for young Indians

With an inexperienced pitching staff and some younger players in key positions, the Kewaskum Indians Midget Major baseball team needed time to improve, which it did over the course of the season. The Indians finished with a 3-7 record. Team members included: Row one (left to right), Drew Daugherty, Steve Bohn, Alex Johnson, Billie Lehmann; row two, Aaron Legate, Austin Goeden, Logan Dreher, Brian Wilson and Tanner Bowen. The Indian coaches were Kevin Stautz and Roger Wilson. Clayton Reif was missing when the picture was taken.

Low turnout is a concern, but Piwoni feels she has potential on '06 team

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

There was a big difference between signing up and showing up to play on the Kewaskum High girls golf team, but new coach Amy Piwoni isn't giving up on finding more players for 2006 or on being successful.

Just eight girls appeared for the initial practices last week, far short of the 15 who signed up last spring, and even some of those who did come were not ready to play in the first meet of the year which was played at Hartford CC on Aug. 11th.

"Two of my girls were going to be gone," Piwoni said, adding she didn't want to put the freshmen in an 18-hole meet in their first varsity competition, so "we just decided to cancel."

Piwoni is replacing Carol Martin, who retired from her teaching position (in consumer education) and coaching. Currently Piwoni is on the lookout for others interested in joining the team.

"We're keeping it open," the former KHS athlete and now a coach at her school, said, indicating it would be a little tough to have just four players for the varsity and four for the JV competition because there would be no throwaway scores.

As far as who is out, the leader of the pack appears to be senior Renee Wetzel. When asked what Wetzel shoots, Piwoni said, "usually in the low 50s."

Junior Jordan Benicke brings a couple years of experience, and senior Caitlin Van-Wormer played as a sophomore but did not come out for the sport last year, according to Piwoni.

Senior Becky Weber has played golf but never competitively, while Rachel Gavin is out for the first year, and Kasey Bandy is another junior trying to be among the top players.

The two freshmen on the team are Emily Huf and Danielle Donnelly.

What Piwoni likes about her current players is, "They all enjoy it (golf). They're very easy to work with, and they're eager to learn."

It will be nearly impossible to replace Katie Korth, who became Kewaskum's first girl to ever qualify for the WIAA Division 2 State Girls Golf Tournament.

She was solid for the Lady Indians for three years and able to earn second-team all-Wisconsin Little Ten honors last fall.

Piwoni participated in the sectional when she was in high school, and there was just one division for girls golf.

"We'll make do with what we have," Piwoni said. "We don't have any matches this week but the following week, we're at Beaver Dam (Aug. 21st in Wisconsin Little Ten opener).

Piwoni is being assisted this season by Jim Westphal, and Martin will lend a hand early in the season when Piwoni's work at West Bend Mutual prevents her from being at practice.

A's come up short in marathon contest

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

If only the Kewaskum Athletics home talent baseball team could have won half of its extra inning games ... or half of its one-run losses.

In Sunday's road game against Oakfield, it was a case of more of the same for the A's as they dropped a tough 1-0 loss in 15 innings to the Oaks.

The loss gave Kewaskum a 5-11 mark in Rock River play this season with only the Tri-County playoffs and a Rock River makeup game left to play.

"We're 1-4 in extra inning games," A's spokesperson Jim Ziegler said Sunday night. "We're horrible in one-run games, too ... We've lost probably six of them."

Kewaskum mustered just four hits off Oaks' pitcher Chris Morgan who pitched all 15 innings and struck out 13.

In the second inning with one out, Adam Sarauer and Jake Panzer both singled, putting runners at first and second. Then Morgan got Dan Shea to hit into a double play to end the threat.

Sarauer had another single in the seventh, and Ziegler got the fourth hit, a single in the top of the 11th.

Ziegler took the loss. He, too, pitched the entire game and despite the marathon effort, said he felt fine Sunday night. His stats included nine strikeouts and three walks, but Ziegler said two of them were intentional.

The lone run in the game was scored on a 2-out bloop single, according to Ziegler, who said he got the leadoff man to ground out to shortstop, then the No. 2 hole hitter reached on a single.

Next Ziegler faced Josh McDermott, who hit into a 1 to 3 ground out.

The A's didn't want to chance pitching to Scott Stettback, the cleanup man who already had three hits, so they gave him a free pass to first base.

The strategy backfired when Marck (no first name available) hit an 0-and-2 pitch just over second base. Center fielder Jon Olla charged the ball and got a glove on it, according to Ziegler, who said just as Olla touched the ball, he ran into Tate Schill and the ball dropped out of his glove. Game over.

The loss was very disappointing for the A's and Ziegler, whose pitching record dropped to 5-7. "My ERA (earned run average) continues to drop. It's probably like 1.3," Ziegler said.

"On Thursday night, Kewaskum had difficulty holding down Slinger's offense and wound up on the short end of an 11-2 decision in a Rock River game played at Brownsville.

Jake Panzer, who is just coming back off shoulder problems, took the loss. He gave up 11 hits.

The A's lone runs came in the top of the ninth when they strung together two hits and a Slinger error to end Jason Wiedmeyer's shutout bid.

Player/manager Jason Strobel opened the inning with a single and scored on Sarauer's double, then Sarauer moved to third on a ground out and scored on an error by the second baseman.

"No one got past second base until the ninth," Ziegler said about his team's offense.

Concerning the Tri-County playoffs, the A's (7-3 during the regular season) have learned they play Slinger in the first round Saturday morning at Kewaskum Kiwanis Park at 11 a.m.

Following that game, Kewaskum finishes up the RR season with a makeup game against Hartford.

This will be Fan Appreciation Day, so beer will be $1.

Daggett is coaches' choice for Gridiron scholarship

BY JUDY HARLOW

It was no accident Kewaskum High running backs had big holes to run through last fall during their magical run to Level 4 of the WIAA football playoffs.

Bryan Daggett was a bruiser at offensive tackle and was recognized as one of the top linemen in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

He didn't go unnoticed in his home town either, and for his efforts, Daggett is this year's recipient of the annual Gridiron football coaches' scholarship.

The announcement was made recently by Joe Backhaus, one of the Gridiron's board members and Daggett's sixth grade coach.

"That will help out a lot," Daggett said last week about winning the $1,000 award. He will be attending UW-Oshkosh this year and left for the Titans' football camp on Saturday.

When asked what he plans to major in, Daggett said, "I'm kind of undecided right now." He won't have to worry about the work load. In the past, Daggett has worked on a farm, at a restaurant and at Kewaskum Frozen Foods and he still maintained a 3.0 GPA (grade point average).

"I played football for four years, and I was in track for three," Daggett said, reporting he was used both offensively and defensively his senior year, but the Oshkosh coaches have told him he may move to a new position.

"It will probably be defensive end or something like that," Daggett said, indicating he has been working out with weights and running during the summer.

"I ran five miles today," he said. "I was in Europe for 38 days ... that set me back a little, but hopefully, I'll get to play some" as a freshman.

Unofficially, there are only two players from the 2005 football team going on to play football. "I guess Zack Wollner is going to play for St. Norbert's ... he and I are the only ones."

Whatever happens at Oshkosh, Daggett will never forget what the Indians were able to accomplish last fall — the Eastern Wisconsin Conference title and a 12-1 mark.

"That was an awesome time ... a very memorable season," Daggett said, and Backhaus said his high school coaches had a lot to say about him too, concerning his good work ethics, attitude and a willingness to improve on his techniques.

To be eligible to win the Gridiron Coaches Scholarship, a Kewaskum High School athlete must play three years, however now it is four years since fifth grade football has been added. Money for the scholarship is donated by the Gridiron coaches and the Gridiron club.

After long deadlock, A's fall in the ninth

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

In the morning of Aug. 6th, it didn't look like there was much of a chance the Kewaskum Athletics home talent baseball team would get in its Rock River game at Oshkosh, but the skies cleared and the two teams hooked up into a battle that wasn't decided until the bottom of the ninth inning.

With the score deadlocked at 1-1, the hosts scrambled to score a single run off reliever Jim Olson, who was saddled with the loss in the 2-1 decision.

"Our offensive production was low," player/manager Jason Strobel said Wednesday night, reporting the A's only mustered four hits off Cory Koplitz, who chalked up the complete-game victory.

Strobel drove in Kewaskum's only run with a single in the third inning. Dustin Doyle had drawn a walk, then Jim Ziegler singled and Jon Olla beat out an infield single to load the bases for Strobel.

"My hit was an infield single also," Strobel said. "We had three of our hits in the third, and only one other hit the rest of the way ... a single by Doyle in the top of the ninth.

The Oshkosh team didn't get much off A's starter Ziegler, who gave up just a single run in eight full innings on the mound. When Olson came in, he gave up a leadoff walk, then the runner took second on a wild pitch and came home on a single.

The loss gives the A's a 4-8 mark against Rock River opponents, with two games remaining, including one on Aug. 10 vs. Slinger at Brownsville. The A's will close their regulars season on Saturday, Aug. 19, with a makeup game against Hartford. This game will be played at Kiwanis Park in Kewaskum, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Concerning the Tri-County playoffs, which Kewaskum has qualified for, Strobel said, "I haven't heard anything yet. There is still a game to be played yet ... I don't know what's going to happen."

Writer's note: Longtime A's scorekeeper, Ted Miller, is recovering at home after recently having a kidney removed. Kewaskum players offered Ted their good wishes for a quick recovery.
