KEWASKUM- Residents in the Kewaskum School District can do a little extra Christmas shopping this year. That's after they see a bit of savings on the school tax portion of their dreaded December gift from their village or township of residency. A savings of about 84 cents per $1,000 of equalized value from last year's tax rate has been approved.

On Monday evening, October 30, District Business Manager Paul Reichert presented his best budget to date, one even better than some of his predecessors. The Board of Education approved the District's lowest tax rate in 26 years with gusto.

Reichert informed the board the good news came after the school district realized changes in their revenue limit, equalized property valuation, and state aid estimates.

The school district will appreciate a $435,000 increase in state aid combined with a 12.41 percent increase in the equalized property values within the district. This resulted in a drop in the tax rate to $7.56. The tax rate for 2007-08 school year decreased by about 84 cents from last year's tax rate of $8.40.

The district's operating budget for 2007-08 will be $18,101,423, up 4.03 percent from the previous year. State aid increased by 4.71 percent to $9,678,000 while the property tax levy for the operating budget increased 3.10 percent to $7,387,000.

Reichert stated that property values in the district increased by $130,236,000, the largest single-year increase in the district's history. The district's property valuation is now over $1.1 billion.

Fall General Election to be held Tuesday

KEWASKUM- The Village of Kewaskum along with many municipalities in the surrounding area continue to wade through the new requirements of the "Help American Vote Act of 2002" that was mandated at the beginning of 2003. The village has been registering voters since the Spring election of 2005.

Village administrator Jay Shambeau estimates only about half of the village's eligible voters are registered. Residents, in any voting municipality can register at the clerk's office before 5 p.m. the day before voting, Monday, November 6. Shambeau states that this will definitely speed up time spent at the polls for those hoping for an easy-in-easy-out.

For those wishing to register the day of the election, the voter will need to bring proof of residency stating you have lived for a minimum of 10 days in the municipality you are voting in. Items such as a Wisconsin driver's license, Wisconsin identification card or a utility bill not older than 90 days before the election.

The Statesman has provided in this issue, extensive information on all the elections occurring in our coverage area. Please watch our website for results of the elections as they come in Tuesday evening. A circular from Washington County is also included with a sample ballot.

EDITORIAL NOTE: It is our sincere intention that our readers will take seriously the opportunity they have to vote this coming Tuesday. We encourage our readers to not judge the issues by the mud that is spewing from our television sets, radio and other various forms of media.

It is our hope that we have provided you with the best coverage we can provide in the most unbiased way possible to assist you in making a clear decision when voting. Please do not take for granted what our great Veterans and troops fought and are fighting for.

KHS student needs prayers for recovery

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

MILWAUKEE-- A Kewaskum High School student, injured in a one-vehicle crash remains hospitalized. The crash occurred as two students were on their way to school Wednesday morning, October 18.

Kewaskum EMS transported the two victims to St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend. Driver, Eric Spaeth, 16, was released later in the day from that facility. His passenger, Heather May, 15, was immediately taken to Children's Hospital in Milwaukee via Flight for Life Helicopter due to the extent of her injuries.

Heather's mother, Karen stated that as of Monday, October 30, Heather was still in the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit at Children's Hospital. Through the accident she received several injuries that included a broken leg (which was rumored to be two). She has also undergone several surgeries, all with success.

"She has a long road to recovery and all we can ask for now is that everyone continue their support in prayer," stated Karen May.

May also stated that rumors about the accident have caused many concerns for her and family and friends. "This was an accident, no one is to blame, and the accident was not due to high speed," she explained.

"We would like to send out a big thank you to all who have sent cards, gifts and letters. Words can't express how much the support has meant to our family.

School tax rate

are able to offer our district the lowest tax rate since 1980. While there are many contributing factors - property valuation, positive shared revenue, a more equitable open enrollment situation - I also want to acknowledge the determined efforts of the administrative team, staff and teachers of the district for providing quality education at a fiscally responsible cost. We have had property values increase in the past, we have had state revenues shared before, but by working more efficiently while simultaneously working more effectively, we are now able to confidently consider projects such as remodeling Rose Hall without burdening the taxpayers with additional monies via referendum. That is a win/win situation for our entire district."

However, property owners may not just want to whip out their pocketbooks just yet. In spite of the drop in the school tax rate, property owners are likely to see an increase in their tax bills due to the valuation of their property or other taxing authorities.

The Statesman will be publishing information on the village of Kewaskum and townships in our coverage area in upcoming editions.

Second in command, Schmidt, looking to unseat Rahn

Sheriff's Department leaders face-off Tuesday

Sheriff Brian Rahn

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Washington County Sheriff's Department Captain Dale Schmidt, 42, apparently enjoyed his short lived time as acting Sheriff after the sudden death of then Sheriff Jack Theusch. He's looking to get that office back after an appointment by Governor Doyle brought a new face to lead the department.

Hartford resident, and former common council member

there, Brian Rahn, 41, a Democrat, was appointed by Doyle in June of 2003. Since that time he says he's most proud of the relationships he's established with the county board and how between the board and department he's opened up lines of communication to make the department's operations more known. He also is responsible for initiating the Christmas Shop with a Cop program and working with fellow deputies to make it a success.

Rahn, who is married with two children says if given the opportunity to serve another term, he would like to continue the increase in training he has afforded deputies. "Before I started, we were just another sheriff's department in the State of Wisconsin. We sit at a new level today, we have people wanting to be a part of our organization which gives us quality people working in law enforcement for Washington County citizens," reported Rahn.

He also stated he would like to work towards implementing a chaplain program for the department. "As our need for service increases, so does the need for special programs, this is just one situation where I think we could continue to improve," Rahn declared. He also stated that when deputies must make death calls to family members he thought the presence of a chaplain would not only be helpful for the family, but for deputies as well.

"We have programs we have just started to implement and I would love to see them grow, given the opportunity to serve again," concluded Rahn.

Schmidt, who along with his wife and three children reside in the town of West Bend, hopes that his 17-years of experience in the department will be appealing to voters. He has served in many capacities from patrolman to detective to lieutenant and now captain.

In his first run for public office, he says nothing specific motivated him to run for the position, but he deemed his qualifications would make him a very good candidate. He said he hoped that he could work on making the department more efficient and to improve the investigative abilities of members of the department.

As a Republican, Schmidt has also said he would work for fiscal responsibility in Sheriff's Department Budgets. Along with adding programs that directly benefit citizens.

"My experience has taught me that good law enforcement is based on common sense and the desire to do what is right. As Sheriff I will fulfill my oath of office in the same manner I have served you these past years," he stated.

Kennedy attempts to unseat Sensenbrenner once more

Bryan Kennedy (D)

F. James Sensenbrenner (R)

Bob Levis (WG)

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

Bryan Kennedy will once again make an attempt to unseat F. James Sensenbrenner, Jr., who has been in political service for over 35 years. Also vying for the District 5 Congressional seat are Bob Levis of the Wisconsin Green Party and Robert Raymond, Independent.

Bryan Kennedy's 2006 Campaign theme is "Security, Opportunity, Responsibility." He believes that his moderate viewpoints are a much better fit for the district than the extremist agenda of the current Representative.

Security-He is not afraid to use America's military might if it is necessary, but why sacrifice the lives of our brothers, sisters and children when other means might accomplish our goals?

Opportunity-He said he believes that we should be rewarding hard work and responsibility and opening doors of opportunity for all. He said we need healthcare reform, trade reform, and to fix the projected Social Security deficit to guarantee that opportunities are created for our children and future generations.

Responsibility-Kennedy is committed to reform. He said he will fight for balanced budgets, transparency, strong morals and ethics, and to create competitive legislative districts.

F. James Sensenbrenner has been serving constituents of the fifth district as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives since 1979. He is also a member of the House Committee on Homeland Security. He was elected to the Wisconsin State Assembly in 1968, the same year he graduated from law school until 1975.

Sensenbrenner was most recently in the news for his introduction of a controversial anti-illegal-immigration bill.

Sensenbrenner attended Stanford University and graduated with a B.A. in Political Science in 1965. He received his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 1968.

He and his wife Cheryl live in Menomonee Falls and have two children.

Bob Levis is a co-founder and writer for God's Eye Theatre in San Francisco Haight-Ashbury, and a co-founder of Dome Films, Inc. Levis has also worked for NBC Films in New York and Sports Illustrated Magazine.

Levis was an anti-Vietnam War activist. He attended Duke University and University of Wisconsin-Madison, where he graduated with degrees in history and English.

Levis and his wife Rose have two children.

Information could not be found about Robert Raymond.

T. Wayne residents to decide fate on election of clerk, treasurer

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

TOWN OF WAYNE- Residents in the town of Wayne have the opportunity to tell their town board if they want their town's clerk and treasurer accountable to them or those they elect as chairman and supervisor. Many townships across the state are following a trend to hire individuals to handle the ever-growing duties of a township's clerk and treasurer.

The town of Farmington made their town clerk an appointed position about six years ago according to Joanne Oneska, who currently serves in that capacity. She stated that around that same time they also made the treasurer's post an appointed position.

Since its inception as a township, Wayne has elected their clerk and their treasurer. At their September meeting it was decided to ask the electorate via a referendum. Any changes would take effect at the April 2007 election.

Supervisor Kieth Kriewaldt stated that the town investigated the appointments after a town association meeting where the board saw both advantages and disadvantages. "We decided it should be left up to the electors of the town," he stated.

"Many of the towns are moving this way, there is more and more work being required by these people and elected clerks held as accountable to getting that work done. We aren't having that problem but some community members expressed interest in appointed officials," Kriewaldt continued.

The referendum reads: Shall the persons holding the office of Town Clerk and Town Treasurer in the Town of Wayne be appointed by the Town Board?

A yes vote will give town officials the authority to hire whom they feel is best qualified. It will eliminate an election of those two office holders.

A no vote will require that those office holders be elected by the people residing in the township.

Doyle, Green and Eisman face off in Gubernatorial race

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

Healthcare, ethics in political campaigns and terrorism are issues facing Mark Green, Jim Doyle and Nelson Eisman, candidates hoping to be the next Wisconsin Governor on Tuesday.

Republican Mark Green, has served in Congress since being elected in 1998 to represent northeastern Wisconsin. During his 2002 campaign, Green pledged to use his role in Congress to help defeat terrorism. He has been a strong supporter of the war in Iraq and President Bush's faith-based initiative. He has said he believes Congress and other elected officials should promote family values more aggressively.

Before his time in Congress, Green was a member of the Wisconsin state Assembly, where he served as chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee and was part of the Republican leadership team.

While in the Legislature, he authored the state's lawsuit reform law, which has become a model for the rest of the nation. Green also takes credit for pushing through the largest property tax reduction in Wisconsin history; writing the law requiring life sentences for repeat child sex offenders, and working with Governor Tommy Thompson on welfare and education reforms.

Green earned degrees in Political Science and English at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire before attending Law School. He now lives in the Green Bay area with his wife Susan and their three children.

If elected, Green pledges to restore fiscal discipline, create educational opportunities and promote Wisconsin values.

Incumbent Jim Doyle (D), defeated Republican Governor Scott McCallum in the 2002 election to become the only Democrat in the country to defeat an incumbent Republican governor. He also became the first Democratic governor of Wisconsin in 16 years.

When he took office, Governor Doyle faced substantial challenges - a $3.2 billion budget deficit, a lagging economy and a decline in good paying manufacturing jobs. Governor Doyle takes credit for balancing the budget without raising taxes, cutting wasteful government spending and creating more than 140,000 new jobs.

Before being elected governor, Doyle was attorney general of Wisconsin from 1990 to 2003. As attorney general, Doyle won settlements from Publisher's Clearinghouse for deceptive marketing as well as a multi-billion award from tobacco companies.

A University of Wisconsin graduate (with some time spent at Stanford), Doyle has deep state political ties. His parents, Ruth and James Sr., are credited as founders of Wisconsin's modern Democratic party.

After college Doyle served in the Peace Corps, and his law degree from Harvard was followed with legal services work on a Navajo reservation. He returned to Madison in the 1970s and worked in private practice and served several years as Dane County's district attorney before being elected attorney general in 1990.

Doyle says his multifaceted campaign, including affordable healthcare, paying bills, securing a job and reasonably priced education, focuses on ensuring Wisconsin families can afford to live in the state they love.

Green Party candidate Nelson Eisman has been a public employee since 1978. He served on the Dane County Board of Supervisors, Madison Commission on the Environment, Dane County Regional Planning Commission and the Friends of Lakeview Park.

Eisman is also a Universal Life minister. Until recently he worked in the State Department of Administration, but is currently taking a leave of absence.

He graduated from American University in Washington D.C. before moving to Madison in 1971. He and his wife Annette have three children and three grandchildren.

Eisman pledges to make a "huge difference" in the state of Wisconsin by promoting honest government, universal health care, green energy and economic justice. If elected, he pledges to abolish sales and property tax.

Eisman said he wants to implement a policy of progressive income tax, where only individuals making over $50,000 per year would pay income taxes. Eisman said his first act as governor would be to return executive branch powers to the people of Wisconsin, with citizen-run committees making important decisions on powers and staffing.

After September primary wins, Van Hollen and Falk square off

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

After celebrating their respective wins in the September primary, Democrat Kathleen Falk and Republican J.B. Van Hollen set out for the race to be your Attorney General.

Falk has been a Dane County Executive since 1997. Before that she was Assistant Attorney General (including Public Intervener for 12 Years) and a Co-Director, Legal Counsel for Environmental Decade.

Falk supports increased penalties for sexual exploitation of a child, gang violence and elder abuse. Falk has also been a leader in developing smart on crime solutions to the non-violent drug offenders who are clogging our jails and costing our taxpayers millions of dollars a year.

As Attorney General, Falk wants implement statewide best practices for the investigation and prosecution of child abuse and neglect.

Because Medicaid fraud costs Wisconsin millions of dollars each year, Falk states she will show zero tolerance for scams and fraud that prey on seniors.

"I will take action against any pharmaceutical company, insurance company, nursing home or hospital employing illegal practices," she stated.

She says she will fight any attempt by the legislature or a state agency to deny access to contraception or medical care to women.

Falk acknowledges she will fight to defeat the mean spirited anti-gay amendment proposed by extremist Republicans. She understands that this amendment would seriously endanger existing legal protections for all unmarried couples.

The County Executive has a BA from Stanford and a Law degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She is married with two children.

Falk's opponent, J.B. Van Hollen has been an attorney in Wisconsin since 1991. Before his current occupation, he served as an attorney for the Ashland County District, Bayfield County District and Western District of Wisconsin, and was Assistant U.S. Attorney in 2002.

Van Hollen is in favor of the death penalty. He says he feels heinous murders deserve to face the ultimate punishment. His opinion is that the sentence should only be applied when there is DNA evidence to corroborate the verdict.

His plan involves bringing people together to take a unified, aggressive approach to cracking down on gang, gun and drug violence. As U.S. Attorney he nearly tripled federal firearm prosecutions and was recognized as having one of the toughest sentencing track records in the country, by putting people away for life.

He initiated Project Safe Neighborhoods in Beloit and Janesville and took violent criminals off the streets and made sure they received harsh sentences. He under spent the budget every single year, while the productivity of the office increased. During his final year his office prosecuted 75 percent more criminal cases than the previous US Attorney.

Van Hollen said he does not believe terrorism is merely a federal issue and that it is naive and dangerous to assume terrorists are not in Wisconsin. As Attorney General, he will work every day with federal and local law enforcement on terrorism surveillance and prevention. He said he understands that the risk is real and that, much as we would hope otherwise, Wisconsin is not immune from the reality of terrorism.

Van Hollen obtained a BA from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn. and a Law degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He is married and has two children.

Lorge will try once again in U.S. Senate race

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

After a large defeat in a primary that would choose the opponent for U.S. Senator Russ Feingold, Republican Robert Lorge is throwing his hat in the ring once again. Lorge has a huge undertaking to defeat well known and well financed United States Senator Herb Kohl (D).

In addition to Lorge, Wisconsin Green candidate Rae Vogeler, and Independent, Ben Glatzel, are also running.

Herb Kohl was elected to the Senate in 1988 and re-elected to a third six-year term in 2000. During his time in office, Senator Kohl has been recognized as a strong advocate for children's issues. Kohl was the author of legislation to expand the school breakfast program and a strong supporter of child nutrition programs.

Senator Kohl is the lead Democrat on the Special Committee on Aging, the Senate's principal committee charged with examining the many is-ssues affecting older Americans, like Medicare, retirement security and protection from fraud and abuse. Kohl has led efforts to improve the Medicare Prescription Drug Benefit, urging the Administration to negotiate lower drug prices for seniors and close the "donut hole" in coverage that is leaving many beneficiaries with unexpectedly high drug costs. He has also successfully pushed for increased funding for nursing home inspections, and has introduced legislation to require background checks for long term care employees to ensure that people with abusive and criminal histories do not prey on vulnerable patients.

Additionally, Kohl has received acclaim as a strong defender of Wisconsin's farming tradition. Kohl led the effort to extend the Milk Income Loss Contract (MILC) program, which has provided $414 million to Wisconsin dairy farmers struggling with plummeting milk prices.

Senator Kohl also has focused on anti-crime legislation, especially crimes related to kids. As a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, he has helped fund an array of juvenile crime prevention and after-school programs, including Boys & Girls Clubs and the Families and Schools Together (FAST) program.

Senator Kohl serves on the Senate Appropriations Committee and the Judiciary Committee.

Senator Kohl remains active in Wisconsin charitable activities. In 1990 he established the Herb Kohl Educational Foundation Achievement Award Program, which provides annual grants totaling $100,000 to 100 graduating seniors, 100 teachers and 100 schools throughout Wisconsin.

Kohl obtained a Master's Degree in Business Administration from Harvard University and a Bachelor's Degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He resides in Milwaukee.

Vogeler, a Milwaukee-area native who described herself as a working mom and said that like many Wisconsinites, she knows what it's like to struggle to make ends meet.

"The Senate should include people who understand that," she said. She worked as a technical writer until recently.

She said she advocates national health insurance; publicly funded education, including free college tuition for four years; expanded government support of alternative energy; and an immediate end to American military involvement in Iraq.

She said she supported abortion rights and feels the USA Patriot Act has eroded civil liberties. She criticized Kohl's votes for tax cuts proposed by President Bush and for permitting Bush to start the Iraq war.

Vogeler has a Bachelor's Degree from UW-Milwaukee and an Associate Degree from Milwaukee School of Engineering. She is married with two sons and lives in Oregon, Wis.

Glatzel, a District Manager for the Milwaukee Water

Works, readily described himself as a conservative.

He said he supports the American military effort in Iraq, though there was a large amount of waste in federal spending that should be eliminated, and strongly opposed abortion and gay marriage.

Glatzel has an Associate Degree in Industrial Engineering from Milwaukee Area Technical College. He is married with four children and lives in Milwaukee.

Lorge has a Law degree from Marquette University and a Bachelor's Degree from UW-Madison. Lorge is married and resides in Bear Creek where he is employed as a lawyer and a farmer.

Over the past several months I've met many of you at parades, public events and club meetings. You've told me that the great quality of life in Washington County is important to you. After living most of my life in Washington County, I agree. As your Sheriff my priorities will be to operate a safe and secure jail facility, effective crime prevention and investigation, and active traffic law enforcement. You know I can live up to those priorities because my law enforcement experience is right here, in Washington County, at the Sheriff's Department.

Please vote for me, Dale Schmidt, as your Sheriff on November 7th.

Quiet races for quiet positions at state capitol

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

You probably didn't even know the state's top moneyman is up for re-election. While not as hot as the race for governor and attorney general, Jack Voight, 60, has his share of competition as he embarks on his fourth re-election campaign.

The office of the Wisconsin State Treasurer holds a four-year term of office. The person entrusted with that office will be paid $64,000 at the beginning of the new term in January of 2007. While stripped of much of its power during the Thompson administration, the state treasurer is responsible for overseeing the EdVest college savings plan, all state check writing and distribution of unclaimed property to its rightful owners.

Voight, an Appleton Republican, has maintained held the position since 1994. On his website, he touts that he has a record of "Doing More With Less."

To date he states that he has returned over $100 million worth of unclaimed assets to Wisconsin citizens. Reduced or maintained spending by making his office programs self-supporting and has not hired any additional permanent staff during his tenure.

Even though his firm of choice for managing the state's EdVest college savings program, Strong Funds became extinct, because of a problem with federal regulators, the program has grown to over 215,000 investment accounts with an asset value of over $1.7 billion. Wells Fargo Fund Management now manages the fund.

If given another term, Voight says he would like to increase outreach efforts to try and return more unclaimed property to its rightful owners. As of this writing, over $300 million sits in the coffers waiting to be retrieved. In addition, he would also like to implement a Certificate of Deposit investment option for EdVest participants.

Dawn Marie Sass, 47, a Milwaukee Democrat, has unsuccessfully challenged Voight before. She has long been employed as a Milwaukee County juvenile placement officer. She says she hopes to terson, 47. He is running on a Libertarian platform and resides in Oconomowoc. This is Peterson's first attempt at political office.

"In Wisconsin we don't hear much from our state treasurer. In fact in most states that is the case. If we were not among the top six highest taxed states in the nation, I don't suppose that would be an issue. Unfortunately we are one of the very highest taxed states in the nation. In the case of our overzealous state government, I intend to make it an issue," states Peterson.

He further states he feels there should be term limits for the treasurer position. "Jack Voight has been in the same office since January of 1995. Eleven years is too long for the same State Treasurer," he contends.

Peterson also states he would work hard to return the state back to a Zero Base Budgeting Process. "Every year, each and every department would have to justify every dollar they request," he says.

The Wisconsin Green Party has put their faith in Winston Sephus, 37, of Milwaukee as their candidate of choice for the treasurer's office. Sephus has also never ran for office and says that he is "not a politician, I didn't even register to vote until the year 2000."

Sephus states that he has gained knowledge through his four years of work as treasurer for his Green Party chapter. He also states that he is disheartened by the recent corruption, including no-bid contracts to large campaign donors and campaigning through use of tax dollars.

"When elected, I will expose corruption at the State Capitol. I will also make sure that the Wisconsinites know where their tax dollars are going on a regular basis," he concluded.

A pumpkin tale In the Service

Do you know that being a Christian is a lot like being a pumpkin?

That's because God picks each of us out of the patch like we picked the pumpkin. He chooses us to be His very own. Next, He cleans us from the inside out. He scoops all the yucky stuff out of our hearts just as we clean out the inside of the pumpkin. He cleans out the sin, the bad things we say and do. He puts a great big smile on our faces. His light shines in our hearts as the candle lights up the inside of the pumpkin head. Then everyone can see His love in us.

I'm sure you want God's light to shine in your heart. But you know the Bible says that our sin separates us from God. It keeps His light from shining in us. So God sent His son Jesus to take away our sins by dying on the cross. Three days later, he rose again, and now He lives in Heaven. If we ask Him to, He will come and live in our hearts. Then His Light will shine in us.

Hartman book signing at Kewaskum Library Nov. 8

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

Local author Karen Hartman, of Campbellsport, is having a book signing at the Kewaskum Library Nov. 8 starting at 6 p.m. and at West Bend Library Nov. 9.

Her writings, which she says "are from the heart," were accidental. Hartman professed she never planned on writing the four books, it just happened. She has been doing school presentations on Native American culture for 25 years and received requests for her to write what she told through stories. Her books are about finding beauty within oneself.

"They're very much me," she expressed.

Her first book, Dream Catcher: The Legend and the Lady was published in 1992. She worked on the book many years, thinking she couldn't do it. Upon hiring an illustrator, it was completed in five months. Her subsequent books, Dream Catcher: The Legend, the Lady and Woman (1994) and Gift from the Eagle (1997) were much easier to complete because she says it had all been laid out for her. The Dream Catcher books are an adaptation of an Ojibwa Indian legend where a dream catcher entangles bad dreams in webbing and allows good dreams to come through. The working on her most recent book, The Robin's Squash: Legend and Cookbook (2007). This new book, which features Hartman's granddaughter as Morning Star, is about how the pumpkin came to be and it includes facts about pumpkins and over 75 recipes. Hartman described her inspiration for the book came after hearing news of a young boy who died in a car accident. The news reported that his mother was driving and their car slid across black ice and a semi smashed into their vehicle. Hartman said it made her so angry, so she wanted to write a book explaining death to children in a comforting way.

Because most publishing companies attempt to change a writer's book or style of writing so much, it no longer becomes their own work, Hartman decided to start her own company, Weeping Heart Trading Company.

This enables her to keep her own style. What inspired the name of her company was, of course, her last name and also dealing with her cancer.

"My heart has wept many times, in joy and sorrow," she reckoned.

She stipulated that it is not easy self-publishing, she has been lucky because word-of-mouth has helped her sell about 10,000 copies of the two Dream Catcher books and an estimated 3,000 copies of Gift from the Eagle. She also confessed that it is not easy to find affordable illustrators. She had a share of problems with her first pick, and sought a replacement.

Hartman, who belongs to the Society for Writers and Illustrators, made 500 dream catchers for the opening of the Native American exhibit at the Milwaukee Public Museum. She presents at Breast Cancer events and one of her poems will be read at Relay for Life. She said by sharing her stories with children, she hopes they become legends. She hopes the children will remember the tales when they get older and tell their children.

Hartman's grandson, who is disabled, is writing a book called Baby Eagle. A high school student is doing the illustrations for the small press book.

"It's a way to show that children with special needs can achieve their dreams," she said.

Hartman was born and raised in San Gabriel, Calif. While attending college in Pasadena, she met her now husband David. They are the parents of three children, Kadee and twin boys, David and Ted and the proud grandparents of five grandchildren.

In 1972 she moved with her family to Wisconsin, and they now live on Auburn Lake in rural Campbellsport. It was here that she began to research Native American art, crafts and legends. She became the teacher she always wanted to be by accident.

A young friend asked her to be his "show and tell" about Indians at his kindergarten class in Campbellsport. Talking to these children and adults made her realize that there was so much they didn't know about the Native Americans and how they lived off the land. Through these special presentations, she has been able to share her Chinese and Cherokee ancestry. She told how the lives of the Native Americans are similar to the Nomadic hunters in China.

She does many old, Native American crafts such as basketry, dream catchers, birch bark biting, quilting, beadwork and working with leather rawhide. She is also a swing manager at McDonald's in Kewaskum.

"The first thing you should do when you get up in the morning is believe in yourself," she says in her books.

Hartman's friend started a web site for her. To learn more about her books and her Native American hobbies, visit <http://www.karenhartman.net/>.

WOW! What started way back on September 5, 2006 will so be a memory, and you need to make sure that you are a part of that memory. The scenario goes like this: first day of school, high school choir room, many nervous students, a head director and three assistants, all three with one purpose, to produce another Broadway musical.

Now, eight weeks and some days later, the fruit of everyone's labor is ready to be displayed. It's here, it's ready, so don't forget to come and see a great performance of 42nd Street, either Friday night, November 3rd or Saturday night, November 4th. The show starts at 7:30 p.m. both evenings, and the free performance for all area senior citizens will begin at 4 p.m. on Thursday, November 2.

These fine young people involved with this show are hoping for a full house at all performances, so please help out and arrange to come and watch them do their stuff on stage. And remember, this production could be a history making one with the hopes that there will be a theater/lecture hall ready for the start of the 2007-08 school year with the renovation of Rose Hall. The cast and crew of Kewaskum High School's production of 42nd Street sincerely hope to see you at one of the three performances.

KHS hosts German students

By Amber Donath

Kewaskum High School (KHS) was recently part of an exciting partnership - a special exchange program coordinated by Kewaskum's German teacher, trip chaperone and close friend of Frau Rosenthal since they met several years ago via the sister school partnership.

Earlier in the year, KHS students learning German were given names and emails of students from Kewaskum's partner school, Kaethe Kollwitz Gesamtschule, in Langenselbold, Germany, which is near Frankfurt and has a population of approximately 13,000. Emails were sent, friendships were formed and plans were made for the German students to visit Wisconsin.

September 27, 2006, nine German students arrived in Kewaskum to a warm welcome of hellos and hugs from excited KHS students and host families for a three-week adventure.

During their time here, the visiting German students lived with their KHS email pal and his or her family, attended school and did some sightseeing. Trips organized by Frau Rosenthal were taken to Wisconsin Dells, Madison and Milwaukee. The students also spent a day in Chicago before returning back to Germany.

When asked if they enjoyed their visit, the German students' eyes lit up. It was easy to see this had been a wonderful trip for them. They were making memories to last a lifetime.

The comment all visiting students shared excitedly was how happy they were to meet each of their email friends from Kewaskum and they can't wait to come back to visit some day. Each took the time to say how nice everyone was and how great their host families had been. It was obvious how genuinely happy and appreciative each German student was to have had such a memorable experience.

One of the biggest differences mentioned included how far apart everyone lives in Wisconsin. "In Germany, it is very crowded. Even in small towns everyone lives close together," German teacher, trip chaperone and close friend of Frau Rosenthal since they met several years ago via the sister school partnership.

Food was another big difference. Janis Kaltschnee, one of the visiting students, said, "The food is okay, but three weeks was long enough." The others laughed and agreed. The visiting students were also quite jealous of their American counterparts' privilege to drive at age 16. In Germany, everyone must be 18 before they can drive. They were also quite envious of the American shopping experience and amusement parks.

The biggest difference, however, was in the schooling.

Kaethe Kollwitz Gesamtschule is a unique school in Germany. There, most students are tracked and after 4th grade attend one of three types of schools based on their abilities whereas KHS and other American schools separate by grade levels. Also, every German student is required to take English as a second language. After 10th grade, German students must pass a test to either go on to college prep level courses for two years or be trained in a profession for 2-3 years. If a student wants to go to a university after 13th grade, he or she must pass a series of written and oral tests. The government also helps fund schooling so those attending universities do not need to pay pricey school fees or tuitions like in the United States.

Before leaving, the visiting German students were able to participate in the KHS Homecoming experience. That in itself seems to have etched a happy place in all their hearts.

The Kewaskum students and their parents who made the trip possible for the visiting German students were:

Kasey Bandy and her parents Steve Bandy and Patti Gardner
Sara Helland and her parents Tracy and Bob Helland parents Mike and Kris Hodorff
Crystal Lepp and her parents Melvin and Cindy Lepp
Tiffany Mueller and her parents Keith and Brenda Mueller
Andrea Norem and her parents Heidi and Eric Norem
Heather Rieder and her parents James and Debra Rieder
Kurt Wetzel and his parents Ray and Audra Wetzel
Rachel Zimdars and her parents Gene and Sandy Zimdars

The summer of 2007 is when the Kewaskum area students are hoping to travel to Germany to visit their German friends and share in their lives and culture.

This special kind of exchange program has been offered for about 15 years through Wisconsin's Department of Public Instruction (DPI). And Frau Rosenthal has been involved the whole time.

In 1972, Wisconsin had an economic partnership with the German state of Hessen. In the early 90's, German teachers were offered sister school's to partner with through Hessen and the DPI. Frau Rosenthal started to correspond with KHS partner school Kaethe Kollwitz Gesamtschule in 1991 and went to visit that fall.

The first German students visited KHS in 1992 and KHS students visited Germany in the summer of 1993. There was an exchange like that for about 12 years, however, the summer trips were becoming very expensive for the small group of KHS students. Changes were made.

KHS now does the exchange every other year and has also joined forces with Slinger High School to share costs.

ACT registration deadline Nov. 3

College-bound high school students can take the ACT college admission exam on December 9, 2006, the next national test date. The deadline for postmark or online registration is November 3. The late registration deadline is November 16 (an additional $19 fee is required for late registration). Students can get registration materials from their high school counselor or they can register online on ACT's student website - www.actstudent.org.

ACT scores are accepted by virtually all colleges and universities across the nation, including the Ivy League. The basic ACT exam includes four parts: English, reading, mathematics and science. An optional writing test is also available. Some colleges require or recommend a writing score, but many do not.

The basic exam takes three hours to complete, plus an additional 30 minutes for those who opt to take the writing test.

The basic registration fee for the ACT test is $29. An additional $14 fee is required for students who choose to take the ACT writing test, bringing the total registration fee to $43 for these students. Free sample tests are available from school counselors and on ACT's website, which also offers additional free practice tests.

The ACT has long been popular in the Midwest, but its popularity is growing rapidly on the East and West Coasts as students in those areas become aware that it takes less time to take the ACT, the writing test is optional, and virtually all schools that require admissions test accept ACT scores.

Halloween fun at KES

Kewaskum Elementary School held their annual Halloween costume parade on Wednesday, October 25. The students marched around the gym to show other students, staff and numerous parents their festive attire.

Kindergarten teacher Janna Tinch took advantage of her upcoming arrival with her costume. The children in her class loved her costume!

The kindergarten students and teachers, along with numerous parents, bunched up for a blustery day at The Little Farmer in Malone on Friday, October 20. While visiting, students got a chance to play on a massive hay bale fort, take a hayride to the pumpkin patch where they each got to pick out a pumpkin, learn how apple trees are pollinated and got to pick an apple off a tree.

JOSEPH C. DARIN

Like "The Gladiator," Joseph C. Darin came home to the bliss of heaven's open arms on October 25, 2006 at the age of 77.

Dr. Joe Darin was born on May 8, 1929 to Eugene and Margaret Darin in Hurley, Wisconsin. He graduated from Hurley High School in 1947 and received his undergraduate and graduate medical education at Marquette University in Milwaukee. He completed his surgical training in 1960. His first clinical appointment was Chief of General Surgery at the Wood V.A. Hospital in Milwaukee.

In 1961, he joined the Army and was assigned Chief of the Trauma Study Branch at the Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, Texas. In 1962 he assumed command of the 47th Field Hospital in the Philippines.

After completing his Army service, he returned to Milwaukee and joined the surgical faculty at the Medical College of Wisconsin. His initial clinical and research efforts were in the area of liver disease. He developed an extracorporeal hepatic support system utilizing human cadaver and goat/pit livers. This work led to his development of whole blood exchange transfusion as a mode of therapy for unique conditions with high mortality rates. Exchange transfusion was successful in the treatment of Reyes Syndrome and TTP.

In 1972, Dr. Darin's interests turned to emergency medical services (EMS). He established the Milwaukee County Paramedic Program which brought sophisticated medical treatment directly to patients. He started Flight For Life, the first aeromedical service in our State, and developed the Level 1 Trauma Center at Froedtert Hospital. Under his direction, the only Emergency Medicine Residency Program in the State was established.

From 1972-1993, he was Chairman of the Medical College of Wisconsin's Department of Trauma and Emergency Medicine. In July 1992, a separate academic Department of Emergency Medicine was approved and Dr. Darin served as its first chair. In 1977, Dr. Darin was also elected President of the Medical Society of Milwaukee County.

During his career, he was awarded over $3.5 million in research and development grants. One of these grants allowed Dr. Darin to propose, plan and implement advanced E.M.S. systems in the Polish cities of Warsaw, Poznan, Krakow, Bialystok and Lodz.

Dr. Darin retired from the Medical College of Wisconsin in 1994 as Professor Emeritus of Surgery and Emergency Medicine. Following his retirement, he served the State of Wisconsin for three years as its first EMS Medical Director.

On his long final journey home, he had many "helping hands" from the Froedtert Hospital staff including Dr. Michael Keelan, Dr. James Roth, Dr. Robert Krippendorf, and, his own special angels, nurses Sue Owen and Sue Carter. At home, Roman, of Home Care Services of Kenosha and Horizon Hospice from Froedtert provided his care.

Dr. Darin and his wife, Patty (Edwards), a former Kewaskum resident and daughter of the late Dr. R.G. and Alma Edwards, shared 41 years together. He has two children, Jane (Curtis) Manning and William (Peg), with his first wife, Jerane, who died of a brain tumor while he was in the Service. He and Patty have three additional children, Diana (Gary) Kilponen, Tricia (Kevin) Baier and Joe II. They also have seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Dr. Darin is further survived by one brother, Lu Darin of Hartford, brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law, Richard (Marilyn) Edwards, Campbellsport, Dolly (Eldon) Ramthun, Campbellsport, and Gwendolyn (Jules) Dreher, Kewaskum, and many nieces and nephews.

He enjoyed his hobbies of building model sail ships, stamp collecting and cooking. His motto was "carpe diem"--seize the day-- as long as part of it could wait until tomorrow.

Although his dossier contains many achievement and recognition awards, for Joe, his family was his greatest reward. To his colleagues he was a doctor of stature. To his family, he was just the guy who baked an array of Christmas cookies every year.

Visitation for Dr. Joseph Darin will be held Friday, November 10, at the Becker Ritter Funeral Home, 14075 W. North Avenue, Brookfield. Relatives and friends may also join the family for the Mass of Christian Burial on Saturday, November 11, at 11:00 AM at St. John Vianney Parish, 1755 N. Calhoun Rd., Brookfield. Committal Service will follow at Wisconsin Memorial Park, 13235 W. Capitol Dr., Brookfield.

Memorials may be directed to St. John Vianney Parish or State of Wisconsin Emergency Medical Service (EMS) Division.

Johnny Cash: The Biography

By Michael Steissguth

De Capo Press $26.00 334 Pages

If you're a music lover, you've probably spent lots of time playing the musical version of Fantasy Football.

Which artist would you team up with which other artist? Jagger and Jewel? Urban with Usher? How about The King with the King of Country?

If you'd been at the right place at the right time in the mid-1950s, you might've seen Sun Records two biggest performing artists on the same stage, trading jokes and goofing. That's just one of the gems you'll find in "Johnny Cash: The Biography" by Michael Steissguth.

J.R. Cash showed up during a warm Arkansas winter on the cusp of the Depression, the fourth child of his parents, both sharecroppers. Ray, J.R.'s father, wanted his third son to be Junior, but the boy's mother wanted him to be called "John"; the initials were a concession to both their desires. From the time J.R. could remember, the family moved from shack to hovel to shanty, surviving on his father's odd jobs and the benevolence of his uncle, who was said to have been a cruel man.

In Dyess, Arkansas, a post-Depression "colony" created as relief for out-of-work farmers, the teen-age Cash found a friend who taught him to strum a guitar. Following in the footsteps of his beloved older brother, Jack, who had what could now be called a garage band, J.R. sought out opportunities to sing in front of an audience.

Following a stint in the Air Force, where Cash became a highly-trained radioman, he arrived in Memphis where he teamed up with Luther Perkins and Marshall Grant, two auto mechanics who happened to play guitars. With instruments that cost less than the price of a good stereo today, the three began to play and write music.

Because Elvis Presley had so much success with Sun Records, John Cash (he had changed his name upon enlistment in the Air Force) approached Sam Phillips, founder of the record company, and asked for a chance to audition. Not only did Phillips sign John Cash and the Tennessee Two, but he also introduced the trio to a major radio announcer whose endorsement would mean almost certain stardom.

The rest, as they say, is Country Music History.

While "Johnny Cash: The Biography" won't have much new for die-hard fans or those who've lobbied to have Johnny Cash's likeness etched on Mt. Rushmore, there are a few gems and family interviews that will entertain casual listeners and old-time fans. Author Michael Steissguth writes about Cash's early life, his battle with demons and drugs, his Christianity and his compassion, and the loss of his first wife, his temporary estrangement from his eldest daughter, and the tempestuous relationship he had with his "baby", June Carter Cash, who died just months before Cash himself passed away of peritonitis in September, 2003.

If you love country music and you grew up on "Folsom Prison Blues", "Hey Porter", or "Ring of Fire", then walk the line and get this book. You'll want to read "Johnny Cash: The Biography" carefully, one piece at a time.

square-feet, and is opening just in time for people to bring their exercise regime indoors to beat the Wisconsin elements.

The facility has free weights and a vast array of cardio equipment. A tanning bed is also available to members explains Kewaskum's Snap Fitness Center owner, Julie Brookings, a Campbellsport resident.

Since the center is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, security cameras are set up around the entire building. Using the keyless entry, once a patron enters the building motion sensors activate the lights and prominently display surveillance systems to discourage unneighborly activities.

Brookings stated that every new member is offered instruction on how to use the equipment. Anything that can be moved or adjusted has a yellow lever on it, which means it has safety precautions. If a member wants to work their leg muscles, for example, a machine shows you where to place your knee to work your legs to the fullest, and prevent injury.

Snap Fitness Center competes with larger health and fitness clubs by removing costs, such as group fitness classes, locker rooms, showers, pools or racquetball courts.

"With Snap you can get healthy at your own pace and at your own time," said Brookings.

A unique benefit to Snap Fitness members is the ability to freeze their memberships if they won't be utilizing the gym for a period of time. Pregnant women who will be at home more once they have a baby or older adults who are traveling can just reactivate their membership when they return.

Snap Fitness does not contracts; members may purchase memberships on a month to month basis or buy packages, which will reduce the price.

The first Snap Fitness Center started in Minnesota in 2003. The founder of the company, Peter Taunton, was an employee and previous owner of four health clubs there.

By the end of 2006, the company figures to have 190 stores open in 20 states.

Brookings, a Fond du Lac real estate agent, began plans to start the center this past July.

"It took a lot longer than I expected," said Brookings.

Some gyms are in communities the size of Kewaskum, and are still going strong, so Brookings said she thinks they won't have a problem keeping this facility up and running.

Snap Fitness Center is located at 1010 Fond du Lac Avenue. Brookings says she would like to invite the community to stop in and take a peek. For more information please call (262) 626-4200.

United Way journeys to reach goal

Making a push towards the campaign goal by eating a quarter pound hamburger? That is exactly what the United Way of Washington County did at its Mid-Campaign Event held at local area McDonalds on Friday, October 27.

Joe Calabrese, United Way Executive Director, was first to announce the mid-campaign results at the West Bend Hwy 33 McDonalds at a live broadcast on WBKV-WBWI Radio. "Thanks to the hard work of our campaign volunteers, United Way has raised $648,991, or 59% of the $1,104,900 necessary to meet identified community needs," stated Calabrese. "We are very excited to be able to announce these results at our annual McDonald's Day event."

This was the 15th anniversary of McDonald's Day for United Way that promotes support of the United Way of Washington County's annual campaign fund drive. 50 cents of every quarter pound hamburger and quarter pound cheeseburger purchased on Friday was donated to United Way.

Over 50 volunteers at McDonalds located in West Bend, Hartford, Jackson and Richfield distributed coupons and encouraged patrons to purchase a quarter pound hamburger for $.99. People at McDonalds were able to see community leaders such as West Bend Mayor Doug Bade, Father Jeff Haines-St. Francis Cabrini Church, Dr. Kramer-Hartford Union High School, and Brian Rahn-Sheriff of Washington County assist McDonald's crewmembers during the lunch and dinner hours and help generate support for the United Way. Lucky patrons at the West Bend and Hartford McDonald's also got to meet Ronald McDonald.

At a WTKM hosted live radio remote at the Hartford McDonalds, Scott Lopas, 2006 Campaign Chair and WTKM Radio/WTKM Tours President and General Manager, shared his excitement over the campaign's progress. "I'm excited that we've come this far at the mid-campaign point but that doesn't mean our journey is complete," stated Lopas.

"My sincere appreciation to all who have already given so generously to our appeal. Washington County continues to be recognized for its community-minded companies, concerned employees and big hearted citizens," continued Lopas. "In order to raise $1,104,900, community members must continue to give generously when asked by our volunteers. I know our donors will come through because, in Washington County, we take care of our own."

Funds raised through the 2006 Campaign will support 40 health and human service programs to improve the lives of Washington County residents. Working closely with United Way, 21 member agencies offer community solutions to meet community needs. Members of the Plan Commission were told Tuesday evening that the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Plan Commission had requested the village supply them with a current updated map for Kewaskum. Village Administrator Dan Schmidt informed the commission that several annexations along with zoning revisions in some areas of the village had taken place since the last map was issued in 1977. Some of the major annexations include KEWA Shopping Center, Meadow Creek Apartments, Morane Condominiums and Dr. Simon's Clinic, just to name a few.

It was a very cold, windy night but the Kewaskum Indians heated up as they upset Eastern Wisconsin Conference leader Kiel, in their homecoming game Friday night, 7-0, before a large following of fans from both schools. In the game the only score came on a 62-yard pass play from the Indians' Ric Leitheiser to Dave Donath with just two minutes left before the half. Two running plays gained eight yards and then Tim Heberer gathered in a 10-yard pass from Leitheiser for a first down. Heberer took the ball away from two Kiel defenders to make a difficult catch. On the next play Donath came out of the backfield, was all alone near the sideline for the 25-yard reception and then ran all the way into the end zone. Brian Larsen's kick made it 7-0.

Editor, The Statesman:

Town of Scott residents will soon receive an important survey. Their response will provide the basis for land use policy beginning in 2010. Failure to comply will result in the loss of Scott Township's ability to write and enforce its own land use ordinances.

This Smart Growth survey was developed by University of Wisconsin community Resource Development Agent David Such, and reviewed by the Town Board and volunteer citizens. It will be analyzed by UW Extension, for town approval.

The deadline is near. Don't ignore this survey. Your help is vital to get it right!

To the Statesman:

In next Tuesday's election we will be voting on the marriage referendum to amend our State Constitution. Passing this referendum (by voting "yes") would give Constitutional protection to the definition of legal marriage in this state as the traditional marriage between one man and one woman. Failure to pass this referendum (by voting "no") will open the pathway for special interest groups to take the matter of the definition of legal marriage to the courts where activist judges could force this state to recognize and legalize same sex marriage (as has already happened in the state of Massachusetts).

This could lead to further judicial mandates regarding other factors that define legal marriage and could open the door to court ordered legalization of who knows what kind of marriage combinations. The sanctity of the institution of marriage deserves far more respect than to be subjected to whatever distortions or moral corruptions that the judicial system may wish to inflict upon it. Marriage between one man and one woman is one of the moral and social cornerstones of our civilization. To throw the legal definition of marriage to the mercy of activist judges is simply wrong.

In conclusion, by voting "no" on the marriage amendment, you will be voting to allow the courts to define legal marriage. If this were to happen, it's very probably that it would result in the legalization of gay marriage in this state. I urge you - vote "YES" which is a vote to give State Constitutional protection to the definition of legal marriage in the State of Wisconsin as a marriage exclusively between one man and one woman. This will prevent the legalization of gay marriage because judges cannot change or overrule the Constitution. It will also prevent judicial tampering with the institution of marriage and will protect the traditional marriage. So far, twenty states have passed similar marriage protection amendments. It's time we joined them.

This is in response to an editorial in last week's Statesman regarding Mark Green's position on stem cell research.

The fact is, Green strongly supports the kind of stem cell research (adult) that has been successful and doesn't involve the destruction of human life. Doyle, on the other hand, promotes stem cell research (embryonic) that destroys human life and has shown no success for humans.

Adult stem cells have been successfully used on humans to treat over 70 conditions including brain and many other cancers, multiple sclerosis, rheumatoid arthritis and many more.

Embryonic stem cells have not been used to treat even one person. There have been no human trials because embryonic stem cells grow uncontrollably and would create tumors if put into a human person.

No one has to die to retrieve adult stem cells. Human embryos must be killed to obtain embryonic stem cells.

Governor Doyle not only supports stem cell research, including the kind that kills a living human embryo, but has also vetoed every other major pro-life bill which has been unanimously passed by the legislature.

Mark Green supports only stem cell research that does not kill a living human embryo.

To the Editor:

Concerned about the race for Governor? For our best interests, in terms of individual freedom of choice, minimal government intrusion into our lives, and a reasonable level of taxation, we had better not lose sight of the race for Attorney General. Too bad the way the Democratic primary turned out; Lautenschlager was prime for defeat, by almost any opponent; yet she carried Dane County over Kathleen Falk.

Now, we had better take a good look at Falk's background and priorities. She is currently county executive of Dane County, very likely the poorest in the state, at getting criminals off the street, tried, and locked up. She has never prosecuted a criminal case. On the record, numerous law enforcement professionals, in her area, have little good to say about her performance, and their dealings with her.

Her leftist, socialist philosophy has led her to tireless attacks on businesses and corporations, on charges that have been proven questionable, at best. The latest result of this mindless behavior, by her and the Governor, is the conclusion, by Honda and Menards, to expand in Iowa and Indiana, since they were not welcome here.

If you are able to research her record, you will find that on those occasions when she has been involved in true criminal cases, she has been just as likely to act in favor of the criminal as she is the victim. Is this the attitude we want in our highest law enforcement officer? We will be most fortunate to have Mr. Van Hollen, widely supported by law enforcement professionals from all over the state, restore respect to this office.

Dear Friends in Kewaskum,

Jack Theusch served as your Sheriff for over six years. During his term of office, Jack appointed Dale Schmidt to Captain of Operations. At the time he made this appointment, he expected Dale to succeed him as Sheriff. Jack believed Dale would make a great Sheriff for Washington County.

After Jack died suddenly of a heart attack in April, 2003, Governor Doyle appointed someone from his own political party who had no experience in the Sheriff's Department.

Dale Schmidt is now running for election to the position he is extremely qualified to handle. His seventeen years of experience at the Sheriff's Department include working his way up through the ranks from Special Deputy to Patrol Officer, to Detective, to Lieutenant-Shift Commander and currently the Operations Captain, which is second in command of the department.

Let's elect the person most qualified for the job. Dale is the person that should have succeeded Jack as Sheriff.

Join me in voting for Dale Schmidt for Sheriff of Washington County on November 7th. Cast your vote for Dale Schmidt.

Thank you,

Marcia (Mrs. Jack) Theusch

To the Editor:

We have known Brian Rahn and his family for a long time. We have seen him and his wife actively involved in Washington County as volunteers in several Washington County civic roles. Brian has been active in youth football, baseball, soccer and wrestling; he is active with the West Bend Kiwanis, Moose Lodge, American Legion and Marine Corps League. His wife Becky has served on the board of directors for Child's Place and is co-chair on the Hartford Lincoln School PTO Board. They are both dedicated and committed to our community.

What people need to know about Sheriff Rahn is that he is honest, capable, experienced and a dedicated law enforcement professional.

Brian's work record is a steady progression of his professional skills in law enforcement. In our mind Sheriff Rahn has more than proven himself as Sheriff. As life long residents of Washington County and the Kewaskum area, we can tell you that the people we talk with fully support the Washington County Sheriff's Department and the leadership of Sheriff Rahn.

Sheriff Rahn has brought the Sheriff's Department back to the current times. What is certain is that the sheriff's department has dedicated, hard-working people trying their best to do their jobs. Sheriff Rahn has given them the resources to do their jobs and make Washington County safer for all citizens.

When we vote, we always try to have a sense of a person's character. We advise readers to go talk to Brian, hear him speak or view his Web site www.sheriffrahn.com.

I can tell you that what you see is what you get, a dedicated, professional and competent individual.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to Owen Robinson's article published in the West Bend News published Tuesday October 24, 2006, titled "The party line does matter".

I took Mr. Robinson's suggestion and listened to the sheriff's debate on www.WBKV.com. After I listened to the debate, I wondered if we listened to the same one. He certainly came away with a different outlook than I did. Perhaps that is because he was listening to it on 'the party line'. He references the quote from Schmidt, "I don't necessarily think that more money is the answer". What he failed to tell you was 'the rest of the story'. Schmidt concluded with "Only asking for additional budgeting when it's really needed". One could draw a conclusion from the answer that Dale Schmidt gave, that he indeed will spend money, when he thinks it is really needed.

Sheriff Rahn has a long list of credentials to enable him to continue to be Sheriff. Dale Schmidt's only response was that he worked at the Sheriff's department for 17 years. There are many other Deputies in that department who have been there longer and done as much if not more than Dale Schmidt has done. Working your way up through a department does not make you a sheriff, unless you're in the 'good ole boy' system.

PERSPECTIVES

All through the interview I thought how well spoken Sheriff Rahn was, not only answering the questions asked, but applying what he has done, and will continue to do in the future. Dale Schmidt kept saying "I think" I am a 'pretty good' candidate. Not very sure of himself, and lacking in any depth of answers.

I listened to the debate and it solidified my decision to vote for Brian Rahn to maintain his position of Sheriff of Washington County.

Jane Secord

Letter to the Editor:

I'm neither a Republican or Democrat. I vote for the person. Often times the party that I usually affiliate myself with, tosses in a candidate just because they need someone to run for an office or position. Is this one of those times?

Brian Rahn is well qualified to maintain his position as Washington County Sheriff. Rather than going into his long list of accomplishments, you can get to know Brian better by visiting his website at www.sheriffrahn.com.

Honesty and integrity are the two most important qualities that I look for in a person. Brian possesses both qualities. He is an honorable man and doing a great job as Sheriff. I've been in law enforcement for over 28 years. I have worked and lived in Washington County since 1979. I have worked with several sheriffs during that time. Brian has brought back to the County, a spirit of cooperation between agencies that has been absent since Clarence Schwartz held the position. It's reassuring to know that all of the law enforcement agencies work so well with each other. That was not always the case in the past. When agencies work together, the county is safer.

Brian has the solid moral character to continue to lead the Washington County Sheriff's Department into the future with their heads held high. He listens to all sides of situations and makes the best judgments for the good of the department and the community.

WBKV hosted a debate between Rahn and Schmidt. I would invite readers instead of walking the 'party line,' become an informed voter. Go to www.WBKV.com. Listen to the debate. You will agree with me and realize that Sheriff Brian Rahn is the BEST man for the job. Help him keep Washington County safe by voting for him to remain Sheriff.

To the Editor:

During our careers, we have observed Sheriff Brian Rahn demonstrate a high level of professionalism. It is not an easy task to change the culture and organization of a law enforcement agency.

Such a process means traditional attitudes and behaviors must change, and this creates hostility among those who have been advantaged by the former system. This is why we hear the undeserved criticism some uninformed county residents have chosen to express.

What we have seen, however, is a dedicated professional who exhibits the highest level of integrity, and who makes hard decisions to increase the effectiveness of the Sheriff's Department. This commitment to professionalism has served the citizens of Washington County by providing a Sheriff's Department that efficiently responds to requests for service and protects the public.

Brian has been a person who works tirelessly for the people of our county, but rarely gets the recognition he deserves, as he quietly does his job.

As Sheriff, Brian Rahn has been able to enhance the coordination of law enforcement activities rarely seen at the county level. He has worked hard to bring members of the law enforcement together. He has worked tirelessly on getting safety and educational grants for Washington County, something that was non-existent in the past.

Sheriff Rahn has made significant changes in Washington County's ability to respond to crime. He has increased the professional conduct of the Sheriff's Department and coordinated the effective delivery of law enforcement services. We hope that the citizens of Washington County will demonstrate their appreciation for his hard work by joining us and other members of the Hartford Police Department by supporting Sheriff Rahn on November 7.

To the Editor:

Dale Schmidt has been missing in action.

Brian Rahn has been Sheriff just three years and has an impressive list of accomplishments. Dale Schmidt has been with the Sheriff's department for 17 years and has done what? He has never listed a single accomplishment. I forgot, he has one; he never missed a SWAT call as he stated on the radio debate. I have spoken with a number of former and present employees and found some disturbing facts

- In 2003, 5 years after Deputy John "Spike" Schmitt was killed Sheriff Rahn honored his sacrifice by retiring his badge number. Something that should have been done 4 years earlier. A Large memorial service was held. One person not in attendance - DALE SCHMIDT

- In 2004 Sheriff Rahn began the Shop with A Cop program. Participants from all the law enforcement departments in the county were at the event participating and showing their support. One person not in attendance - DALE SCHMIDT

- In 2005 the 2nd annual Shop with A Cop program was held. Again participants from all the law enforcement departments in the county were at the event. One person not in attendance - DALE SCHMIDT

- May 2006 the annual Washington County Law Enforcement Memorial was held. This memorial pays special tribute to 3 fallen Washington County Law Enforcement Officers, one of which is fallen deputy John Schmitt of the Washington County Sheriff's Department. Law Enforcement Officers, family and friends from Washington County attend this event. One person not in attendance - DALE SCHMIDT

- Since becoming Sheriff, Sheriff Rahn has involved the Washington County Sheriff's Department and the employees in Wisconsin Special Olympics events, Roof Top Challenge, Bagging for Dollars at Shopko and other community events to support the Special Olympics. Sheriff Rahn has been at all these events and stood along side the members of the Washington County Sheriff's Department, Deputies, Corrections Officers and Support Staff. One person not in attendance - DALE SCHMIDT

- Sheriff Rahn has attended funerals for fallen Officers to pay respect for those officers and their families, and to represent Washington County. Sheriff Rahn has made the time to attend those funerals and memorials. One person not in attendance - DALE SCHMIDT

- In 2004 Deputy Ron Rewarts received the Real Heroes Award from the American Red Cross. An awards ceremony was held and attended by more than 150 people from the Washington County community. Sheriff Rahn was there representing the department and supporting Deputy Rewarts. One person not in attendance - DALE SCHMIDT

How did this happen in America?

By: Senator
Glenn Grothman

I am currently the chair of a special committee on Affirmative Action. Affirmative Action includes efforts by the government to give preferences to people based on sex or ethnic group in government hiring, admissions to our university or technical schools, and owners and employees of businesses who contract with government. Today, let's review perhaps the most outrageous law I've come across since dealing with government-Executive Order 11246.

Order 11246 was not even passed by Congress. It was an order given by President Lyndon Johnson in September 1965 - 41 years ago. It requires an Affirmative Action plan for any business that has a contract with the government for $50,000 together with at least 50 employees. A less burdensome program is required for smaller companies.

Businesses are required to give preferences to Blacks, Hispanics, Asians, and Native Americans. People whose ancestors are from India or Pakistan are considered Asian. People from Iran or Iraq are considered White. Employees are allowed to personally label themselves. If you have one great grandparent from Mexico and seven great grandparents from Germany, you can count yourself as Hispanic if you want - really. If your ancestors are from Spain or Portugal, you don't count, but if they first immigrated to Brazil for a few generations and then immigrated to America, you do count.

Employer plans require employees to be separated by job classification. You could have a business owned by all female executives but they could get into trouble if they didn't have enough female engineers. An Affirmative Action consultant may recommend, for example, that your next salesman be Black, your next engineer be a woman and your next technician be Hispanic. A bureaucrat from the Department of Labor recommended hiring minority women because they "count twice."

Your nationality does not count. If you are a legal immigrant but still not a citizen from China, you will still get preference over a person born in America - really. It looks better on the government forms. Since many illegal immigrants are able to obtain phony identification, I suppose, as a practical matter, it is the current policy of the United States government to encourage businesses to hire illegal immigrants.

The government forms are incredibly complicated and take a great deal of time to fill out as every employee is broken down by race, sex, and job classification. The government monitors not only who you hire but who is promoted, who is transferred, and who is fired. The law is so difficult to understand that most businesses wind up hiring outside consultants to manage their Affirmative Action plan. At least this is good for the legal industry.

Almost every sizeable business does some work with the government, so almost everyone is covered. This includes businesses who contract with local governments that receive federal funds - for example, if a county improves a local highway with the federal government paying for 80% of the project - a common occurrence. In this case, the road builder would have to meet these requirements. (There are exceptions if you can prove you tried to hire more women and minorities but were unable to find any qualified applicants.)

This has been around for 41 years!!! With new waves of immigrants arriving daily, we will be at a point in a few years where a majority of people in a few states will be minorities. It's hard enough to find good employees and make a good product without worrying about all of this government regulation. No wonder businesses want to move to China.

This law is an insult to everything on which this country was built. It encourages people to view themselves as hyphenated-Americans (e.g. African-American, Hispanic-American, Asian-American) instead of just plain American. It raises the cost of government. It raises the cost of all American goods as manufacturers must spend money on lawyers and consultants. It results in discrimination against men. It's time for it to end.

Any president, including President Bush, could have repealed this order at any time during the last 41 years. I am told that the business community has been afraid to make repeal an issue for fear of being labeled racist. This is ridiculous. To continue this program in which we are encouraged to label everybody by where their ancestors were born is racist. I will be spending several more columns addressing this issue over the next year. President Bush, repeal Executive Order 11246.

HOLIDAY CLASSICS

FAMILY FEATURES

At the heart of any holiday celebration is food. Certain tastes and aromas instantly conjure up images of the holidays, evoking memories of family, friends and seasons past. Everyone has a favorite dish, so hosts look for new ways to add special touches without snubbing tradition. According to a survey conducted by Equation Research, 81 percent of people say they look for new recipes to help put a fresh twist on holiday classics. And, while the main course tends to remain constant, cooks want simple ideas to bring new flavor and flair to appetizers, side dishes and desserts.

The classic Green Bean Casserole, which gets its unmistakable flavor from cream of mushroom soup, has been a mainstay on holiday menus for more than 50 years. To add a festive touch of color, mix in chopped red pepper. Using chicken broth instead of water adds rich flavor to Moist & Savory Stuffing. Pecans and cranberries lend a flavorful twist.

Of course, no holiday gathering would be complete without scrumptious desserts. Easier Than Apple Pie — a festive interpretation of the all-American favorite — showcases the classic tastes of apples and cinnamon in a simple, rustic tart. Or, trade in traditional pumpkin pie for Spiced Pumpkin Cake, an ultra-moist treat with spiced cream cheese frosting that will win rave reviews.

Running is not his game; Darmody prefers blocking opposing linemen

Young spikers provide plenty of success

When many fathers look at their newborn sons, they are hoping one day the boy will follow in their footsteps in careers, or interest in cars or hunting, or in the sports they enjoyed and had success in.

The same was probably true for Gordon Darmody, who was a pretty fair cross country runner in his days at Kewaskum High School.

His son, Corey, did not follow in his footsteps, however, and it's a good thing because Corey stands 6-foot-2 and weighs right at 250 pounds.

Corey found his niche in football as an offensive lineman, and he's carving a pretty successful career for himself as the starting center for the University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

When the thought of running 5,000 meter races was posed to him, Darmody said with a chuckle, "I probably wouldn't have been real good at it," and added, "I think he (my dad) is glad I played football."

At Kewaskum, Darmody played center his junior year and guard as a senior and also saw plenty of action at defensive end. As a prep player, Darmody weighed about 210, so he is considerably bigger now, thanks to dedication to weight lifting.

His first year at Platteville, Darmody was a red-shirt, then the next he was the sixth lineman, who would see action when one of the others was injured.

The year 2005 was a breakthrough year for him as he landed a starting berth with several others who were also rookie collegiate linemen. With that year of experience, he and the other Pioneer "O" linemen are gaining confidence and helping this year's team pile up good yardage.

"Yes, I am having a really good year," Darmody said, explaining Platteville had been more of a passing team until recently, and now, "We're pretty balanced."

As a sophomore, Darmody's tough blocking earned him the Offensive MVP award at Platteville and also honorable mention honors from the WSUC.

The Pioneers are currently 2-2 in the rugged Wisconsin State University Conference (WSUC) and are sporting a 4-3 mark overall.

Concerning his favorite game from this year, Darmody said, "That would probably have to be Stout because we came from behind down 20-3." In the end, the Pioneers prevailed, 31-27.

That game actually featured two former KHS gridders as Tony Fitts is a starting safety for Stout. "I talked with him after the game," Darmody said.

Darmody also does a lot of talking during the game but not like the trash-talking that goes on constantly during NFL contests. As the center, Darmody has the responsibility of making the line calls.

"I have to call out the defense the other team is using ... what kind of pass protection we have," the junior engineering major said, adding, "For running plays, we have different blocking schemes for different plays. I've got to look up and see what they're doing so I can make the call."

Darmody is very proud he and the other linemen have been able to open some nice holes for their running backs. "Our running back, Mike Genslinger, has more rushing yards this year than any running back had had at Platteville in a long time ... since Mike Emendorfer has been the head coach," he said.

While football is certainly important to Darmody, his studies are more important, and he said learning to balance studies with athletics was his biggest adjustment when he got to college.

"My freshman year was probably the toughest," he said, referring to adding long hours to his practice and weight training schedule and finding out, "You have to actually work outside of class" in the academic field.

With a 3.1 grade point average in industrial engineering and a minor in drafting, it's obvious Darmody is making the grade.

The Pioneers have three conference games left on the schedule, this Saturday against River Falls, Nov. 4 at UW-Stevens Points and Nov. 11 at home against UW-Eau Claire.

"Hopefully we can win them all," Darmody said.

Note: The Pioneers dominated UW-Rivers Falls Saturday, 28-10 as Genslinger set a Platteville single-game rushing record of 285 yards.

With a combination of five veteran sophomores and three talented freshmen carrying the load, the Kewaskum High junior varsity volleyball team enjoyed a successful season this fall.

The young Indians, coached by Kelly Marquardt, finished second in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference by going 10-3, and it also placed third in three tournaments — at Waupun, at Laconia and at Sussex Hamilton.

"We beat Plymouth the last night of conference. That was their only loss," Marquardt said, adding, "We played really good at Waupun without one of our middle hitters," as Nicole Kison was at a wedding that day.

The sophomores on the team included Kison, Brandi Wagner, Amber Struck, Jess Liniewski and Jennie Wicklund. Lauren Gonring, Elissa Miller and Anna Butler made up the freshman trio on the team, and they were all starters, according to Marquardt, who compiled the following capsules on each of the girls:

Wicklund — outside hitter/all around was voted one of the team captains, led the team in kills with 77, was second in digs with 118.

"She was the leader on the court, always trying to get the girls fired up," Marquardt said. "She was the go-to girl when we needed a kill."

Kison — middle hitter, led the team in block kills with 25, 19 of them being solo blocks. Also a very consistent hitter with 41 kills.

"She was my defensive force at the net," Marquardt said.

Wagner — setter and right side hitter, led the team in assists with 111., second in aces with 41 and served at a 92.5 percent efficiency rating.

"She improved a lot by working on putting her sets where she wanted them," Marquardt said.

Struck — setter, second on the team in assists with 99.

"She was a defensive setter, very consistent in passing and getting the ball to our hitters," the veteran coach said.

Liniewski — right side hitter, a very consistent hitter by keeping the ball in play, third in aces with 34 and a very good server at 93 percent.

"(She's) not a tall player, but she got the job done," Marquardt said.

Gonring — outside hitter/all around, voted one of the team captains as a freshman, the team's most aggressive server, led the team in aces with 46 out of 218 attempts.

"She was a strong hitter but struggled with her control a little bit," the coach said. "She was a great passer, probably my most consistent, and was third on the team in digs, with 108."

Miller — middle hitter, second in attack kills with 57 and second in block kills with 18.

"She was one of my most consistent hitters," Marquardt said.

Butler — Libero, led the team in digs with 120.

"Just a great defender, a lot of hustle and never gave up on the ball," Marquardt said. "She was fire out there on the court with her hustle and determination to get to every ball she could."

Other players who contributed to the team's success were Nicole Meyer, Sara Lehnerz, Heather Schaller and Megan Ogi.

Since five seniors will be graduating from this year's varsity teams, the Indians will need help from these players next season.

"It was a real good year," Marquardt said. "I enjoyed the kids a lot. They were a lot of fun."

JV gridgers put up some impressive numbers this fall

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

A magical season. That's the best way to describe the 9-0 run by this year's Kewaskum High junior varsity football team.

The young Indians outscored their opponents 328-36, and, according to head coach Bobby Bannasch, did not give up a single defensive touchdown until the seventh game of the season.

Bannasch said Sunday night his Indians had given up only one touchdown, a kick-off return by Two Rivers, until then. "In seven games, we had shut out everybody," Bannasch said, and offensively, "We scored 40 or more points in the first six games."

Campbellsport had designs on upsetting the unbeaten Indians, and nearly did so, leading by two points with five minutes to play. "We had to drive 80 yards with five minutes left, and we were down at the time 16-14," Bannasch said. "We scored with about a minute to go, and that gave us the victory and the perfect season."

A long pass play, from quarterback Nick Olla to Zack Amerling, set up the winning touchdown by Jordan Petrin.

Bannasch said this was definitely the biggest win of the year, and what made it so enjoyable was the fierce rivalry between the two schools.

"We went with two backs," Ray Wollner and Jordan Petrin," the coach said about his offensive workhorses. "They were neck and neck at the end," and while no statistics were kept, he figured each of these two rushed for 100 yards or more in every contest.

"We threw the ball a lot, too," Bannasch went on. "Nick Olla, threw the ball well and had several 100-yard games." His leading receivers were Amerling, Josh Mueller and Brian Backhaus, along with tight end, Mike Herriges.

Looking at the defense,

Bannasch said Josh Hartman was a force at defensive end, along with his linebackers, Joey Paulus, Petrin and Eric Turowski played well, and "Josh O'Brien was one of our top defensive linemen."

The JVs ended up with approximately 30 players, and, "They all contributed in each game," Bannasch said. "It was definitely a team effort."

Along with Olla, Petrin, Wollner, Amerling, Mueller, Backhaus, Hartman, Paulus, Turowski, Herriges, and O'Brien, others on the team included: Brandon Conroy, Nathan Seitz, Tony Klemme, Matt Wheatley, Brandon Peter, Cody Kerr, Kyle Walcheske, Adam Kleinke, Dan Rabuck, Ryan Riebe, Matt Buker, Eric Shaske, Nate Wiedmeyer, Travis Justman, Fredrick Fellenz, Jeremy Huenfeld, Josh Harbin and Travis Williams.

This is the second year this class of players has gone unbeaten, so the future of football continues to be promising at KHS.

Fumbles are costly for Gridiron teams in finals

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

In all three games played at Slinger last Saturday, the Kewaskum Gridiron teams were unable to outscore their opponents.

Fumbles were a huge problem for the young Indians and especially the eighth graders who coughed up the ball five times in their 12-0 defeat.

"We fought hard but ...," Gil DeLaurier said about his team.

"The defense was on the field three quarters of the time," DeLaurier said, reporting the defense produced three goal line stands or the score would have been a bit higher.

DeLaurier declined to single out any players offensively or defensively. "They're good kids. We ended up with a 4-4 season, which was better than they've ever done before."

"Too many mistakes ... a couple fumbles and two interceptions," was how coach Tom Kudek described his seventh graders' 28-6 loss to Slinger.

The Indians lost Eric Perkins on the second play of the game, and that certainly hurt the Indians' chances, according to Kudek, who said his team drove to the Slinger 10 before fumbling. Slinger then drove 90 yards to its first score.

On Kewaskum's second series, the fumble bug hit again, and this time, a Slinger player picked up the ball and returned it for a TD.

The Indians scored in the fourth quarter on a run by Austin Goeman.

With the win, Slinger, which had two big ends and a very good quarterback, ended up 8-0. Kewaskum's record was 4-4.

The Indians had 41 players, and Kudek said, "There's a lot of talent there," but he tried to give everyone equal playing time which probably cost the team a couple wins.

Once again, the sixth graders (2-6) shot themselves in the foot, turning the ball over in a close game, which ended 12-6 in the hosts' favor.

The running backs fumbled several times, and the Indians fumbled the second half kick-off, leading to Slinger's winning touchdown.

Kewaskum's lone touchdown was scored by Joey Ballard on a short run.

"We had several nice drives going," then there would be fumbles, coach Joe Backhaus said, noting the defense did OK except for a couple tackling lapses and that Derek Aupperle "finished off the season in nice form. He's getting to be a nice running back."

The fifth graders played at West Bend East on Thursday evening and lost their finale, 19-12.

"We held pretty good right to the end," coach Mark Walcheske said, noting the defensive effort was solid, and, "Offensively, we moved the ball pretty good, but crucial mistakes hurt us."

The young Indians scored both their touchdowns in the first half and were only down by a point, 13-12, at intermission.

"Alex Johnson scored both touchdowns on runs. One was a long one, like 65 yards," Walcheske said. "Defensively, Joshua Rahlf stepped up. He put a lot of pressure on the quarterback ... the whole front four did well."

The fifth graders ended up the year at 3-5.

Gibson winds up 52nd in state test

Bobby Gibson

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

In a meet of this magnitude, every second counted.

Kewaskum's Bobby Gibson turned in a good time of 17 minutes and 27 seconds (17:27) in Saturday's Division 2 State Cross Country Meet in Wisconsin Rapids.

Just three seconds faster, and he could have finished in 44th place. With a bunch running tightly together and all of them digging down for every bit of energy they had left, the mad dash to the finish line left him 52nd, however. There were 150 runners in the competition, so he just barely missed making the top third.

"Needless to say ... tough competition," coach Dave Drexler said after returning from the event, which is run on the Ridges Golf Course. "Bobby did a great job. (I was very proud of him. A great way to cap off his CC (cross country) career!"

Yes, it was. Gibson won all-conference honors in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, and he reached another goal of dipping under 17 minutes for 5,000 meters.

Shorewood won the Division 2 boys team competition, coming in with 94 points, two ahead of Monroe (96) and five in front of Waukesha Catholic Memorial (99).

The individual winner was Greendale's Phil Thomas, who set a torrid pace and crossed the finish line in 16:01. Eight seconds behind Thomas was Nick Szczech of Thomas Moore, with a 16:09, a step ahead of Patrick Klein of Monroe (16:10).

Kewaskum overcomes 2nd Pirate opponent

Ogi tips ball away, helping Indians thwart Port

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

PORT WASHINGTON — Fans of the Kewaskum High School football team have become accustomed to seeing Eric Ogi make big plays to help the Indians win big games.

Ogi delivered again ... this time his heroics came on defense with one play left in Saturday's Level 2 playoff game against Port Washington. The Pirates had moved to the Indians' 3-yard line, and Kewaskum was clinging to a 10-6 lead.

Would they pound the ball with senior Cody Binns, who already had gained 158 yards, or would they let Brock Loop try the air in the tricky wind that made passing a difficult, if not impossible task?

Port coach Tim Greisch, decided to go with the latter, and Loop dropped back, trying to find a receiver. No. 84, 6-foot-4 end Chris Prom broke toward the sideline, the ball was delivered, and Prom got his hands on it until ... our man Ogi reacts to the play, comes up hard and disengages the ball from Prom's hands.

Indians win a thriller! Ogi gets mobbed. Coach Jason Piittmann gives him a big hug, after the senior cornerback secured the win and kept Kewaskum's playoff hopes alive.

"When I saw Eric got a hand on it, I knew the kid would have to make a heckuva play on it," an elated Piittmann said after congratulating his players for their determined second-half bid that proved to be enough for the victory. "A big senior making a big play."

Looking at the fact Ogi stands just 5'8", Piittmann clarified the word "big" meaning how Ogi fits into Kewaskum's offensive and defensive schemes.

Piittmann admitted when he got to the school at 6:30 a.m. and heard the wind rattling on the wall of his office door, he was thinking the Pirates' power game would have the advantage, like the Plymouth game when the Panthers started with two grind-em-out drives that led to the Indians' only defeat of the 2006 season.

Port did have the upper hand in the first half, limiting Kewaskum to 23 total yards and just one first down, that coming via a penalty early in the second period.

The Pirates moved close enough to try a 25-yard field goal in the first quarter, but the snap was high, and Logan Staeger converged on the holder who was chasing the ball, and the Indian linebacker wound up with it.

Kewaskum QB Casey Scheel had trouble throwing in the first half, and one of his four passes ended up in the hands of Port's Nate Jakobek, who gathered it in just inches off the turf for an interception on the KHS 39-yard line.

Behind their big line, the Pirates' Binns and Mike Preisler took the ball down to the 8 where they picked up a first down.

Binns gained seven yards on first down but it took until the fourth until he wriggled into the end zone for the TD.

Once again, problems with the kicking game hurt the Pirates. The snap was not very good, thus Ryan Murphy's kick was low and big Mike Bunkelman reached up and knocked it harmlessly to the ground.

The longest run by the Indians in the first half was a 9-yarder by Jack Breese on the second last series, and they didn't have a single pass completion, although there was one interference call that gave KHS its lone first down.

The fortunes turned quickly in the third quarter, when the Pirates chose to take the ball, giving the Indians the win.

Port managed just seven yards in its first three plays, then Jason Race's punt carried just 18 yards to the Port 39, where the Indians started their touchdown drive.

Scheel ripped off ten yards on an option on a big third down play, and a 7-yard pass from Scheel to Jon Wicklund helped secure another.

Scheel managed to draw the Pirates offside with a change in his cadence, and then Dan Shea found a hole in the middle of the line and scored from the three.

No problems with the Indians' kicking game. Scheel took the snap, set the ball down, spun it, and Brian Backhaus sent it sailing through the uprights.

"We challenged the kids at half. You've got to step up, and the offensive line responded," Piittmann said.

The Pirates picked up one first down on its next series before a reverse play backfired, and Wicklund was there to fall on the ball.

So KHS started on the Plymouth 47, picked up three first downs, one on a third down pass from Scheel to Matt Parrent, who was on the ground when he caught it.

It was first and goal from the 9, but the Pirates stuffed two runs and tackled Ogi after a 2-yard gain on a pass play, putting Piittmann in position to go for the TD or try for the field goal. He said the assistants in the booth wanted to go for the kick, and, "I checked with (Dave) Rock(hill)" and he agreed. "I said go for it."

The field goal, Backhaus' first as a varsity player, was up and good.

"Getting that second score was huge," Piittmann said, because now the Pirates needed a touchdown.

They had two chances on their last two possessions, moving once to the KHS 26 before getting penalized for unsportsmanlike conduct, and then at the end of the game when they picked up a first down at the KHS 7 with :36 to go.

Binns gained two tough yards on the first down, then Kewaskum lined up off side, moving the ball to the 2 with :27 remaining. Port returned the favor, however, when Matt Neumyer moved out of his stance early, moving the ball back to the 7. Binns picked up four yards before Loop spiked the ball, setting the stage for Ogi to turn the Pirates' final bid back.

Typically, Ogi was modest about his efforts. He said he did expect Prom would be the target but "I thought they would throw it higher ... I was able to get my hand on it."

Kewaskum wound up with 98 total yards, with Shea picking up 29 yards in 12 carries, and Scheel rushing for 28 yards in 11 carries.

Binns carried 38 times for 158 yards as Port ended up with 197 yards.

"At this point, there are no style points," Piittmann said. "We scratched out what we had to." Only winning counts, and now the Indians, 10-1, advance to play Waupun, which defeated Wisconsin Lutheran on Saturday by a score of 14-12.

Piittmann said Sunday night the game will be played in Kewaskum, and Monday he learned the time was set at 4 p.m.

A straight party vote cannot be cast for Independent candidates. At the general election, if an elector wishes to cast a straight party vote for all candidates nominated by any party, the elector shall select the party of his or her choice and: where a marksense system is used, fill in the oval next to the party designation; where a touch screen voting system is used, select the button next to the party designation.

To vote for individual candidates, the elector shall: where a marksense system is used, fill in the oval next to the candidate's name; where a touch screen voting system is used, select the button next to the candidate's name.

To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the elector shall: where a marksense system is used, write in the name of the candidate of his or her choice in the space provided for a write-in vote; where a touch screen voting system is used, type in the name of the person of his or her choice in the space provided for a write-in vote.

The vote should not be cast in any other manner. If an elector spoils a marksense ballot, he or she shall return it to an election official who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. If the ballot has not been initialed by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the elector shall return it to an election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place. The elector may spoil a touch screen ballot at the voting station, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. Not more than five minutes' time shall be allowed inside a voting booth. Sample ballots or other materials to assist the elector in marking his or her ballot may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked. After an official marksense ballot is marked, it shall be inserted in the security sleeve (if one is provided) so the marks do not show. After casting his or her vote on a marksense ballot, the elector shall leave the voting booth, insert the ballot in the voting device and discard the sleeve, or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit. After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the polling place promptly. After an official touch screen ballot is cast, the elector shall leave the polling place promptly.

An elector may select an individual to assist in casting his or her vote if the elector declares to the presiding official that he or she is unable to read, has difficulty reading, writing, or understanding English, or that due to disability is unable to cast his or her ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the elector's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the elector.

REFERENDUM

STATEWIDE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at an election to be held in the several towns, villages, wards, and election districts of the State of Wisconsin, on Tuesday, November 7, 2006, the following questions will be submitted to a vote of the people pursuant to law:

2005 ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION 30

To create section 13 of article XIII of the constitution; relating to: providing that only a marriage between one man and one woman shall be valid or recognized as a marriage in this state (2nd consideration).

Whereas, the 2003 legislature in regular session considered a proposed amendment to the constitution in 2003 Assembly Joint Resolution 66, which became 2003 Enrolled Joint Resolution 29, and agreed to it by a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses, which proposed amendment reads as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 13 of article XIII of the constitution is created to read: [Article XIII] Section 13. Only a marriage between one man and one woman shall be valid or recognized as a marriage in this state. A legal status identical or substantially similar to that of marriage for unmarried individuals shall not be valid or recognized in this state.

SECTION 2 Numbering of new provision. The new section 13 of article XIII of the constitution created in this joint resolution shall be designated by the next higher open whole section number in that article if, before the ratification by the people of the amendment proposed in this joint resolution, any other ratified amendment has created a section 13 of article XIII of the constitution of this state. If one or more joint resolutions create a section 13 of article XIII simultaneously with the ratification by the people of the amendment proposed in this joint resolution, the sections created shall be numbered and placed in a sequence so that the sections created by the joint resolution having the lowest enrolled joint resolution number have the numbers designated in that joint resolution and the sections created by the other joint resolutions have numbers that are in the same ascending order as are the numbers of the enrolled joint resolutions creating the sections.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution is agreed to by the 2005 legislature; and, be it further

Resolved, That the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution be submitted to a vote of the people at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November 2006; and, be it further Resolved, That the question concerning ratification of the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution be stated on the ballot as follows:

QUESTION 1: "Marriage. Shall section 13 of article XIII of the constitution be created to provide that only a marriage between one man and one woman shall be valid or recognized as a marriage in this state and that a legal status identical or substantially similar to that of marriage for unmarried individuals shall not be valid or recognized in this state?"

EXPLANATION

Under present Wisconsin law, only a marriage between a husband and a wife is recognized as valid in this state. A husband is commonly defined as a man who is married to a woman, and a wife is commonly defined as a woman who is married to a man.

A "yes" vote would make the existing restriction on marriage as a union between a man and a woman part of the state constitution, and would prohibit any recognition of the validity of a marriage between persons other than one man and one woman.

A "yes" vote would also prohibit recognition of any legal status which is identical or substantially similar to marriage for unmarried persons of either the same sex or different sexes. The constitution would not further specify what is, or what is not, a legal status identical or substantially similar to marriage. Whether any particular type of domestic relationship, partnership or agreement between unmarried persons would be prohibited by this amendment would be left to further legislative or judicial determination.

A "no" vote would not change the present law restricting marriage to a union between a man and a woman nor impose restrictions on any particular kind of domestic relationship, partnership or agreement between unmarried persons.

2005 ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION 58

Relating to: providing for an advisory referendum on the question of enacting the death penalty in this state. Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the following question be submitted, for advisory purposes only, to the voters of this state at the November 2006 general election:

QUESTION 2: Death penalty in Wisconsin. "Should the death penalty be enacted in the State of Wisconsin for cases involving a person who is convicted of first-degree intentional homicide, if the conviction is supported by DNA evidence?"

EXPLANATION

This is an advisory referendum only. Neither a "yes" vote nor a "no" vote will directly make any change in the law. The Legislature and the Governor are not legally bound by the results of this advisory referendum.

The present penalty for first-degree intentional homicide is life in prison. The court imposing a life sentence may also prohibit the defendant from ever being released from prison. This is commonly referred to as life without the possibility of parole.

A "yes" vote would advise members of the Legislature that you want them to change the penalty for first-degree intentional homicide so that the penalty would be death when a person is convicted of first-degree intentional homicide, and the conviction is supported by DNA evidence. The referendum question does not suggest what level of DNA evidence would be sufficient.

A "no" vote would advise members of the Legislature that you do not want them to change the present penalty for first-degree intentional homicide at this time.

REFERENDUM

TOWN OF WAYNE

Shall the persons holding the office of Town Clerk and Town Treasurer in the Town of Wayne be appointed by the Town Board?
