Serious injuries result from Highway 28 crash

Celebration of Life for local teens Jan. 27

Kewaskum Fire Department and EMS responded to a one-vehicle crash on Highway 28 west in the Town of Kewaskum Tuesday night, January 16. One person is believed to have suffered serious injuries and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend and airlifted to Froedtert Hospital in Milwaukee. The accident took place around 8 p.m., a quarter-mile east of Townline Road. The driver of the car was headed westbound. From tire marks at the scene it looked as if the vehicle drifted into the eastbound lane and then the eastbound ditch where he or she hit a tree, head-on. Additional information was not available at press time. Check our website for an update.

The phone call every parent has nightmares about.....The call every parent hopes and prays they never receive.... The call, that changes lives forever.

On the morning of October 18, 2006 both the May and Spaeth families received that call. A benefit has been organized to help deal with the overwhelming medical bills both families are incurring.

It is three months later, and we are still all on an emotional rollercoaster ride. Parents watch as their children, Heather and Eric, are trying to overcome and deal with the physical and emotional scars left from that day.

The story is difficult to write without having flashbacks of that awful morning. How do you tell a story without putting everyone involved through the memories of it all over again? A journey we have had to literally take one minute, one hour or one day at a time to get through, and there are yet so many days ahead.

The morning started like any other, Heather and Eric were off to school. However, they never reached their destination. The accident occurred less than two miles from home. Heather's dad, Randy, was the first to receive the call informing him that there had been an accident, and Heather was still trapped inside the vehicle.

Both families arrived at the scene, helplessly watching as their children were tended to. The details cannot be relived and retold, and thankfully neither teenager remembers anything about the accident itself, beside what they may see in their nightmares. Both have struggled to try and remember that day to no avail.

Both youth were taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Eric was thankfully treated and released.

Heather was immediately flown by Flight for Life to Children's Hospital. She arrived in the trauma unit where she was examined and evaluated. It was determined she needed to be placed in Pediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU) and due to her severe head trauma, be placed in an induced coma which she remained in for the next eleven days.

I could go into detail of those excruciating days and nights as we sat at our daughter's bedside with worry,

Town of Scott residents vote to keep Batavia Community Center

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

BATAVIA- Over 140 Scott Township residents gathered to vote on the future of the township's community center formerly known as The Hilltop in Batavia. Looking to justify spending money on upkeep and updates, town supervisors put the fate of the building to a vote of the electorate.

On December 11, 1997, the town of Scott took over ownership of the Hilltop from the Batavia Fire Department. At that time, an asset acquisition agreement stated that the fire department wished to "divest itself from the responsibility of maintaining the property." It was the wish of both the township and fire department that the township would maintain the property for the community's benefit.

It was agreed the fire department would reserve the right to build a fire station on the property in the future, if they so desired, by reacquiring a portion of the property. The township agreed to keep the facility and adjoining recreational facilities for community use. The township also agreed to allow the fire department to use the facility for meetings, training and fundraisers.

Before turning the property over to the township, Batavia Fire Department made property donations and installed gas furnaces totaling $7,800.

In August of 2006, town supervisor, Randy Narbatovics, requested that the town clerk look into the cost associated with a referendum asking for public opinion about the community center. Clerk B.J. Richter informed him, and the rest of the supervisors, the cost, but she stated that if town residents voted to sell the property, a meeting of the electorate would have to take place per state statutes.

Narbatovics then asked that a meeting of the electorate be held in January of 2007. He stated after the meeting that he brought up the idea of selling because it was believed the board might have met the 33 percent of appraised value needed to be spent in operating and maintaining the building.

The asset acquisition agreement states that if the township met that percentage, they had the unrestricted right to sell the property and reclaim what they spent. The rest of the money would be given to the fire department.

Basically Narbatovics stated he wanted the community's input, which is why he introduced the matter. "I was definitely glad to see how many people showed up for it (the meeting). There were almost 140 people there," he announced. On the vote, he seemed pleased to have some direction from the electorate.

Supervisor Cheryl Scholz received a number of favorable mentions on her managing of the community center bookings. She recounted that she

Corrections

In last week's edition a clarification needs to be made in an article about a meeting being held in the town of Scott.

In the article the writer referenced clerk Billie Jo Richter saying that at Monday's meeting, supervisors would decide the fate of the community center. That statement was NOT correct. Electors were to make the decision.

Another mistake was made in the caption with the KIWC photo on the right side of the page. The wrestler in the photo was Zachary Heberer, not Jacob Heberer. Zachary took second place in the grade 3-4 division.

In the Neighbors section, information submitted for the United Way article was incorrect.

United Way officials stated the FEMA award was actually $62,897, not $62,897,000.

Library now part of 45-member consortium

Kewaskum Library employee Kalle Gilles works on checking in new books on an updated computer system now used by the library after joining the 45-member SHARE consortium. Employee Vicki Frederick and Director Steve Baker look on.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an open letter from Library Director Steev Baker.

The year 2006 has come to a close and we look forward to what a new year will bring. I think it's appropriate to let you, the taxpayers, read about some of the things that have happened at your library in 2006 and the people who have made it work.

We began the year with the sad news of the passing of David Stradtman, who was, among many other things, the vice-president of the library board. After a month of searching, Michelle Paul agreed to complete the five-member library board.

The library board was very busy this year as we went through the steps of joining a new consortium of online libraries. This new consortium, SHARE, consists of 45 libraries in five counties. This means access to more items (over 3,000,000!) and has taken the entire year to plan.

The agreement we had with the Washington County libraries (WACCOOL) has since ended.

While this is the biggest change we have had in a decade, even more exciting is the monthly usage the library is seeing.

With over 50,000 items circulated so far this year we have checked out an average of 4,300 items every month! Internet usage is up as well, although more and more people are getting high speed access at home, with 15-20 unique users a day on our two public terminals.

For the past three years, we have been offering community programs every month at the library. In 2006, we had programs on knitting, herbs, the history of the Amish, a family magic show and more.

All of these events were well-attended and we will continue to invite local artisans, storytellers, historians, and community members to present programs in 2007.

Our summer reading program, always a hit with kids, served over 200 people this year. And support from groups such as the Kewaskum Kiwanis, the Lions Club, the Friends of the Kewaskum Public Library, Junior, Woman's Club, Women's Club, Regal Ware, and others continue to make quality summer programs available to the community.

As library usage increased this year, we took on three excellent volunteer pages to help put books away, straighten shelves, and assist the staff. Kate Conerton, Rachel Stoffel, and Violet Arndt have been working hard in the library this fall and winter and without their help our staff would be lost under a pile of books. We have also been assisted by the hard work of the Friends of the Kewaskum Public Library, particularly former president Teresa Meltz, secretary Jane Dean, and treasurer Sandi Radetzky.

Our summer program would not have been as much fun without the volunteer assistance of Danielle Hagen and Tori Hayward. And of course we are always grateful for technology help from the venerable Walter Huf.

Finally, this list of accomplishments and thank-yous would not be complete without acknowledging the hard work of our small staff and the work of one staff member in particular--Shirl Curreri, who has been here for nearly eight years, working behind the scenes and injecting our often stressful lives with a little humor and compassion.

Kewaskum Juniors celebrate 40th anniversary

By Louise Martin
Special to The Statesman

On Sunday, January 14, 52 former and current Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club members gathered at Hon-E-Kor Country Club to reminisce and celebrate the chartering of the club on January 12, 1967 with the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

As the guests arrived, they were asked to give the number of years they were a Junior. After everyone had signed in, the number of years were totaled. Over the past 40 years, nearly 200 women have held membership in the Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club ranging from one year to 20-plus years. Among the 52 members present, 377 years of volunteer service were noted.

Guests were welcomed by the current club president, Kelly Goeden. She explained that as she paged through some of the club's scrapbooks documenting the club's history, she recognized familiar handwriting. The handwriting was her mothers, Ann Enright, who served as club president from 1976-78. Acknowledging they have both served in the club presidential position, Kelly remarked that two clichés came to mind, "like mother, like daughter" and "Oh my gosh, I turned out to be just like my mother!"

Karen Heberer addressed the women sharing interesting tidbits about the club's history and members. Karen was the most popular name, with Kathy a close second. The Miller family had the most members and over the years, the club has won over 250 awards for projects completed, with recognition received on the district, state and national federation level.

Louise Martin shared regards and regrets from former members who were unable to attend and announced that Pat Peterson was making a monetary donation to the L.N. Peterson Scholarship Fund, a scholarship that is awarded to a graduating Kewaskum High School student each year, in recognition and in honor of the club's 40th anniversary. Members of the Kewaskum Women's Club in attendance were also recognized.

David Bertelsen and the Kewaskum High School Swing Choir provided energetic entertainment for the afternoon.

Following the entertainment, Sherry Miller, charter president for the club, addressed the gathering explaining in 1967 membership was comprised mostly of stay-at-home moms and part-time working women. She remembered members undertaking projects with determination "because it just needed to be done". Gayle VanEss, who served as club president from 1984-85 followed, explaining that volunteering cannot only improve the lives on a local level, but can make a difference in the state, nation and even the world.

Scrapbooks covering 40 years of history were available for all to page through and "remember when", as well as a "Guess This Junior" poster board which featured several young ladies who, when they became older, followed in the footsteps of their mothers and became second generation club members.

All had a wonderful afternoon. Sherry Miller summed up the thoughts and feelings of many in attendance as she shared, "Once a Junior, always a Junior".

The Kewaskum Juniors next fundraising event will be their third annual murder mystery, "Murder on the Grill", scheduled for April 21. Watch The Statesman for details.

The Kewaskum Juniors welcome any woman interested in volunteering in the community. You may call Kelly at 626-8893 for more information.

What is a Junior?

A Junior is energy that never stops
From recycling paper to bottle tops.
She thinks about ecology and pollution
Hoping some day there will be a solution.

Juniors are friends when the going gets tough
A shoulder to lean on when one's not enough.
An emergency sitter when no one is around
And you must make a quick trip into town.

A Junior bakes tortes for any old reason
No matter the time, day or the season.
Bake sales, style show, education week
Will find a Junior's kitchen going top peak.

Juniors are involved in their community
Much is accomplished through unity.
Ears are tested and eyes too.
Wherever we look there is much to do.

Visit the rest home and bring some cheer
To those who don't have relatives near.
Story book hour for girls and boys,
Scholarships to bring educational joys.

Juniors have families too, don't forget,
To wash for and cook for and change when they are wet.
But they always find time, when the telephone rings
To say yes to the project - whatever it brings.

As Juniors we are learning every day
The world can be better if we pay.
Our pay is the time that we give,
To make our world a better place to live.

- Sherry Miller

Town of Scott keeps center

Over 140 residents gathered for a meeting of the electorate Monday, January 15 regarding the sale of the town of Scott community center.

had a difficult time acquiring rentals late in the year because there were rumors of selling the center.

"I thought the whole process was an excellent example of how small government should work. People showed up, stated their opinions, and the board acted on those opinions," Scholz declared.

Public comment was almost completely in favor of keeping the facility. Many different ideas were introduced, including developing a community committee to oversee and promote the facility. A number of town residents also volunteered their time to try and bring the facility back to respectable standards.

A handout given to attendees stated that from May 1, 2006 to the end of that year, $935 was paid for rentals. For bookings in 2007, the town will see $900 with many open dates available. From May to December of 2006, the center was used 53 times, according to the handout.

After all discussion ceased, a motion was made to keep the community center as town property. After receiving an immediate second, poll workers collected 134 ballots that were given to electors.

The final vote was returned with 107 yes votes (to keep the community center) and 22 votes against (in favor of selling the community center).

A clear plan for the facility was not discussed at the meeting, but it is believed the town board will go forward with budgeting money to keep the building in good standing. Needed repairs are anticipated to be discussed at another meeting.

The sale of the building can be brought up for debate again at the annual meeting or a special meeting can be called by town supervisors. 10 percent of the total electors in a gubernatorial election can petition to hold a special meeting as well.

Scholz stated that a citizens committee will be formed and will consist of sub-committees for different needs. People interested in volunteering for maintenance, promotion, and special events can contact Scholz. Those interested in rentals can contact her at 262.692.3678.

KEWASKUM- Some polka fans who attended the Heatwave Polka Fest arrived to some cold reality Saturday, January 13. The Washington County Sheriff's Department reported break-ins to a number of vehicle in the Amerahn parking lot.

"Five vehicles (were) broken into with small items stolen," stated Sheriff Dale Schmidt. After windows were broken, Schmidt says, cash, cell phones, credit cards and purses were taken.

Owners of the vehicles were from Allenton, Sussex, Kewaskum, Lomira and Wilton, Iowa.

Total value for stolen and damaged property was $2200.

Schmidt reported that there are no suspects at this time, but his department is working with the Kewaskum Police Department, who has investigated similar cases recently.

The official dedication and opening of the new 52,000 square foot, $14 million Washington County Government and Justice Center took place Sunday, January 14. Attendees were pleased with the historical mural that hangs in the new Justice Center foyer. Upon entering the Justice Center you can't miss the mural. Artist Ted Conde and a number of volunteer helpers painted a scene of a fall day in West Bend from the 1950's era.

Featured speaker at the dedication was Wisconsin Supreme Court Chief Justice Shirley Abrahamson. She spoke of the history of Washington County and the early make-up of the court system here. She also spoke about the purpose of the court system throughout the years. Circuit Court Judge David Resheske welcomed a packed crowd to the dedication and stated he has heard many times that Washington County is home of one of the state's finest courthouses. He also stated he was pleased how construction involved all county departments.

Artist Ted Conde spoke at the unveiling of the mural in the lobby of the Justice Center. Former County Board Chairman Ken Miller, who helped on the painting, introduced Conde.

Trailer home catches fire

TOWN OF AUBURN- The Campbellsport Fire Department was dispatched to the scene of a trailer home partially engulfed in flames Tuesday morning, January 16. Firefighters quickly extinguished the flames shortly after arriving on the scene.

Campbellsport Fire Chief Jeff Lindsley stated his department was dispatched to the scene at 8:00 a.m. to a house-trailer with flames showing at N1776 Hwy 45, in the town of Auburn. The home is owned by Henry Haack.

Lindsley stated that the fire was partially extinguished by the home owner with fire extinguishers; the balance of the fire was put out by CFD firefighters. The fire was contained to the rear bedroom of the trailer.

The fire was apparently started by a kerosene heater that had been placed below the trailer to keep water lines from freezing. Firefighters helped the home owner with closing up the trailer so that water lines would not freeze.

The Kewaskum Fire Department was dispatched for water and arrived on the scene, but was cancelled before mutual aid was provided.

There were no injuries reported.

'Celebration of Life' to be held for area teens

anticipation and the fear of the unknown. Praying she would make it through to the next day, and waiting for her to be able to come out of the coma. Explain the many procedures, surgeries and methods they did to keep her alive, but in the end, no matter how it is written; will the ends really justify the means?

Many times along this journey, I have heard a parent say, "I can only imagine." The reality of it is that I wouldn't want any parent to even try and imagine this nightmare we have gone through. I've seen parents shutter, and close their eyes when the details told became too overbearing.

For these two teenagers, Heather and Eric, as well as all the other family members, no matter how overbearing it was or becomes, they can't turn it off. The facts, the hurt and the pain are there every day.

Heather had sustained extensive injuries which included; a compressed skull fracture; multiple head fractures (15 was the initial count they gave us); a crushed eye socket; complex face fractures; an obscured carotid artery (the main artery in your neck going up to your head was completely closed); clavicle fracture (collar bone); femur fracture (the leg bone from your hip to your knee) hand fracture and had to also have a splenectomy (spleen removed) and repair rips on her intestines. She required several surgeries; in fact by the second day, she was headed into the operating room for her fourth surgery.

It's only natural for people to want to know it all and to hear all about it whether they can relate to it or not. So what gets told and what does not? How do you tell the story without increasing the risk for more emotional scaring?

The hospital staff told us about a website www.caring-bridge.org. It was a great way to help keep family and friends updated and limited the phone calls. The site includes a journal, which tells more about our daily experiences. There you can find more of the details of our journey. (The password is heathermay)

In the meantime we still had a life outside of the hospital that needed tending to, including our son Dylan. At eight-years-old most of what was happening was too hard for him to understand, but he was a trooper through it all.

Since we couldn't be in two places at one time, the Spaeth family "adopted" a son, and Eric became the big brother. Between my parents and family, they all took turns making sure Dylan was taken care of. That he got to school and homework was done, at least we knew he was in good hands. And that we will always be thankful for.

Heather remained in the PICU for 13 days. She was then stable enough to be transferred to the rehabilitation floor, where she immediately began her therapy. Finally on November 10, after 23 days of being in the hospital, Heather came home.

Now, we were embarking into a whole new journey. It's weird how when something like this happens you can't think about anything outside those hospital walls. Your focus and attention is only on what is happening there, and nothing else matters. Not work, your household duties, other appointments, nothing. Then when you return home, it feels like it all comes crashing down.

Once home, Heather could not be left alone, so I still remained home from work. Randy had gone back to work a few times while Heather was in the hospital, so we could have some sort of income.

After Thanksgiving, Heather was a bit more independent with transferring from the couch to the wheelchair. My mom was then able to stay with her, while Randy and I returned to work. However, there were eight different doctors for follow-up visits, and the calendar filled in fast, which again required both of us to take additional time off of work. Let me just say, and end with, financially it has become very stressful.

We are thankful to have our daughter alive and getting better each day, she has truly shown that miracles do happen. We are thankful that Eric was not seriously injured, and pray that with time he can overcome the emotional scaring. There is no magic wand to make this easier on any of us. Nothing to take away the stress, the physical injuries, or the emotional scaring, but hopefully with time it will get easier.

Both teenagers just want to go back to the way things were, and put this awful journey behind them. As parents we can only sit by and pray for that day to come.

The May and Spaeth family are eternally grateful to all of the EMS teams (Boltonville Fire Dept, Kewaskum Rescue & West Bend Intercept), the Flight For Life team, and all the doctors and nurses both at West Bend & Children's Hospital. As well as Gary Moser and Katherine Powers for being there for our children and getting them the immediate help they needed. God Bless you all.

Editor's Note: This account was written by Heather's mother, Karen May who regularly contributed items to this newspaper. We are thankful that she was able to recount the events that changed her and her family's lives forever. We encourage everyone in the community to attend a benefit being held to celebrate the lives of both Heather and Eric. The "Celebration of Life" is being held on Saturday, January 27 at 7 p.m. inside the Turner Hall on Highway H in Fillmore. Entertainment by K.C. Williams along with raffles and food will be had by all who attend.

Women's retreat at St. Lucas

All area women are invited to experience God's "Amazing Love" for themselves February 10, 2007 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. This retreat is sponsored by Hearts of Joy women's ministry. Four dynamic speakers will address portions of 1 Corinthians 13:4-7, known as the love chapter of the Bible.

The morning will begin with singing and devotion offered by Connie Jones. Those who attended last year's retreat will recall Connie's great presentation on seeing life through God's eyes. Connie has had a rich life working in the field of television. Currently, her time is occupied at Cedar Community in West Bend as a Stephen Minister listening, teaching and praying with persons going through life crises. She is also the head of "Caring Hearts" at St. Lucas in Kewaskum, a group which reaches out to home bound, lonely, grieving and ill members of the church.

Following the opening devotion, Bev Hansen will show attendees how "Love Always Protects and Trusts." Bev coordinates the WINGS (Women Instilling New Growth and Synergy) mentoring program at St. Lucas. She is also a Stephen Minister and works with hospice at Cedar Community in West Bend, in addition to returning to school as a full-time student after 30 years.

A buffet style luncheon will be served at noon for all attending the retreat. During this time there will also be singing and demonstration of personal prayer by the prayer team. Prayer for personal needs will be offered at the retreat, both in the form of written prayer requests and individual prayer at the close of the afternoon service.

After lunch, Jackie Bauer will be speaking on "Love is Patient in Relationships." Jackie, from Oconomowoc, is well known as a retreat and conference speaker. She brings vibrant presentations filled with humor and insight about the Lord and life. Her ability to turn every negative situation into an opportunity for good restores joy and hope to those who need encouragement.

Keynote speaker for the Amazing Love retreat is Christian musician, Wendysue, from Menomonee Falls. Her faith experience about how "Love Always Preserves" will include singing, scripture and sharing. Wendysue writes and performs her own music and has recorded three original contemporary music CDs, as well as a CD of traditional hymns. She has performed for more than 200 churches, organizations, and schools in 20 states.

The retreat will close with a demonstration of amazing love using the tool of prayer. Prayer will be offered to the Lord corporately for written prayer requests collected throughout the day. In addition, the prayer team will be available at this time to address issues anyone attending the retreat may desire prayer for.

Throughout the retreat there will be a book table with resources available for purchase provided by Lighthouse Christian Books of Green Bay. Wendysue's CDs will also be on hand at the book table for purchase.

This Valentine's women's retreat will be held February 10, 2007 at St. Lucas Lutheran Elementary School's Hoenecke Hall, 1410 Parkview Drive in Kewaskum. Registration is $15 per person and covers the speakers, lunch and refreshments. Payment for registration is due by January 27 to Lynn Garvey, 809 Pleasantwood Drive, Kewaskum, WI 53040. Please make checks payable to St. Lucas Women's Ministry. Call Lynn with any questions at 262-626-4749.

Hearts of Joy is excited about offering the women of the community an opportunity for fellowship and learning more about God's Amazing Love.

The fourth and fifth grade students at Wayne Elementary school collected items for the Washington County Humane Society. In their social studies curriculum, students learned about volunteering in their community and what it means to be a good citizen. This was a fun way for the students to help in their community and try to make a difference.

He took incredible pride in caring for his lawn and gardens. He also enjoyed sharing fruits and vegetables from his garden with family and neighbors.

During his retirement Joe enjoyed remodeling his home- stead and helping his children remodel their homes. He also enjoyed wood-working, making crafts, and his favorite beverage, Old Timer's Beer.

Dad's greatest example to us was his love of work and enjoyment of life. He would often say, "I enjoy every day!"

He is survived by three children, Sheila (Eddie) Cherwink of Cedarburg, Linda (James) Twelmeyer of Wauwatosa, and Terry (Wendy) Herriges of Newburg; seven grandchildren, Wendy (David) Siedlecki of Glendale, Robert (Stacy) Bast of Shorewood, Joseph Twelmeyer of Toledo, Ohio, Joshua Twelmeyer of Provo, Utah, Julia (Joshua) Lynch of Palm Springs, California, Spencer Twelmeyer of Provo, Utah, and Melissa Herriges of Newburg; and three great-grandchildren, Kaylee, Zoe and Zack Siedlecki of Glendale.

He is further survived by three sisters, Rita Spaeth, Kit-tie (Bill) Muldoon and Evelyn Herriges; six brothers, Frank (Eleanor) Herriges, Clemence (Edith) Herriges, Gerald (Fran) Herriges, Donald (Joyce) Her-riges, Albert (Sandy) Herriges and Andrew (Joyce) Herriges; a sister-in-law, Rosalie Herriges, 52 nieces and nephews, other relatives and friends.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Ethel, on July 4, 2006, and a sister, Lucina Kalb, and three brothers, Jerome, Syl-vester and Raymond.

the time of service. Burial was on Monday at 11:30 am in Holy Trinity Cemetery in Newburg.

Myrhum-Patten Funeral and Cremation Service of West Bend assisted the family.

REV. LOUIS C. RIESCH

The Rev. Louis C. Riesch, 81 of West Bend died Monday, Jan. 8, 2007 at the Congregational Home in Brookfield.

He was born Aug. 15, 1925 in a maternity home in West Bend to the late Louis J. and Amelia (Dexheimer) Riesch of Slinger.

He resided in Slinger dur-ing his youth and graduated from Mission House College in Plymouth. He then became a student of divinity at Eden Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

The following year he re-turned to Mission House semi-nary to complete theological education.

After his graduation from the seminary, Rev. Riesch be-came pastor of the First Re-formed Church in Watertown.

Soon thereafter, the South East Wisconsin Church Asso-ciation challenged him to help establish a home for the aged in the association. At that time he also answered a call from St. John's Evangelical and Re-formed Church in Kohlsville, where he served as pastor for many years.

During his pastorate, Rev. Riesch's close friend, William Koehl of Big Cedar Lake, re-quested that Rev. Riesch offer the Koehl farm bordering Big Cedar Lake to the South East Wisconsin Church Association whereupon they could estab-lish a home for the aged plus an educational retreat center.

The Koehl family were the first pioneers to the lovely land.

As Rev. Riesch explained many times over, it took thou-sands of dedicated Christians from a myriad of denomina-tions and faithful staff mem-bers to organize and build the Koehl gift into the Cedar Lake

Home Campus with its health care center, retreat-education center plus four independent living villages for the elderly.

And, later on, the Cedar Ridge Retirement residential complex in the city of West Bend, plus through superb pro-fessionalism of physical thera-pists, the excellent therapeutic rehab centers throughout the greater community includ-ing the city of Horicon and surrounding communities of Dodge County.

Through his community interest, Riesch donated eight acres of land for the town of West Bend's town hall site and ample acreage to the Kohlsville Volunteer Fire Department to build and expand its facilities in the town of Wayne.

He also donated the former Herman Dunst 100-acre farm to the Benevolent Corporation for the establishment of a retreat-art nature center in the town of Wayne.

Rev. Riesch was an avid horseman all of his life and spent many years teaching horsemanship every Monday and Thursday evening as a com-munity service.

Likewise he had a great love for the arts and nature and was responsible for the establish-ing of a drive-through sculpture garden in the town of Wayne, plus acres of formal and natural forested carriage-art trails.

In 1997 he had constructed two nondenominational chap-els for the community to use. One was a replica of the small log chapel St. John's church members had erected in 1860, and the other, a futuristic chap-el at the west end of a moraine esker ever open to the public for meditation and prayer.

Riesch's love for trees, wild flowers and Wisconsin prairies now is witnessed by the forest, wild flowers and prairie areas he planted and which are avail-able to the public under the su-pervision of the charitable non-profit Faith Haven Benevolent Corporation.

His love for Washington County and people from all walks of life is evident in and through his 45 years of service as executive-administrator of the Benevolent Corporation's health care and retreat services to men, women and children from all over the world.

Riesch's musical talent was shared with hundreds of people through his original music and many staged presentations with the casts numbering up to 500 persons, including children and the elderly.

Rev. Riesch will be long re-membered for his loyalty, as a friend, and his deep and abid-ing love for quietly glorifying the Lord, God as a simple ser-vant to all of humanity and the animal kingdom.

He is survived by his sis-ter, Anna Lou Owen of Boulder, Colo., his brother, Dr. John Ri-esch of Germantown, plus a host of friends.

In following Rev. Riesch's wishes, there will be no funeral services. Private burial will take place.

The Schmidt Funeral Home of West Bend served the family.

In 1981, Marilyn passed away.

During his free time, Calvin enjoyed gardening, playing cards with his coworkers at the dairy plant and was a devoted Cubs and Packers fan.

DAYS GONE BY

25 Years Ago

January 15, 1982

Following last week's severe snowstorm, biting, gnawing Arctic air from Canada reached this area last weekend, causing the temperature to plunge to a record-tying cold, which was accompanied by brutal winds and wind chill readings, along with blinding, drifting snow. A low of 27 degrees below zero was recorded Saturday night and early Sunday with winds in excess of 50 miles per hour and gusts of 83 miles per hour. The wind chill factor early Sunday morning was 82 below. The unbearable cold tied a record set way back on January 9, 1875 and came close to setting a new record. The record snowfall of the week before received a fresh layer and county and municipal crews struggled to re-open roads and streets that were drifted shut again by the driving wind. Late Sunday afternoon crews were shut down because of fighting a losing battle due to the extreme wind, tightly packed drifts, cold, damaged and stalled equipment and poor visibility. Highway 45 south of West Bend was barricaded and closed entirely to traffic. Plumbers were kept busy Sunday and working overtime repairing frozen water pipes in homes and business places. The weather caused health problems and burst water mains. Electric power outages were reported throughout the county and state over the weekend, but not in Kewaskum.

A two-story stone and wood frame home just north of St. Kilian, owned by the Neil Strassman family, was destroyed by fire on Sunday, but the barn and other buildings were saved. The subzero temperatures, high winds, mechanical problems and frozen equipment hampered water pumping in saving the home. The alarm was received around 9 a.m. by the Campbellsport Fire Department. Firefighters from the Kewaskum, Lomira, Kohlsville and Knowles departments joined the Campbellsport crew in battling the blaze in 20 degree below zero temperatures and high wind velocity. Some firefighters suffered minor frostbite. The Strassmans have three children, ages 19 months, 5 and 11. The children were in the house and their parents were working in the barn. The children ran out to the barn to notify their parents when they discovered the fire. Campbellsport was hampered in fighting the home blaze because of a second fire call on Cloverland Drive. Snowplows from Fond du Lac County and the Town of Ashford were called to clear snow to enable firemen to reach the scene and haul water from Campbellsport.

Frank Felix, 240 Main Street, Kewaskum, was the lucky winner of the Simplicity 220 snowblower which was given away by Sentry Foods of Kewaskum.

The Kewaskum girls' varsity basketball team picked up where they left off last year by easily downing the Kiel Raiders at home Tuesday night, 66-41. The Indians were led by Jill Yearling with 26 points. Jill is the leading scorer in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. Linda Larsen also contributed 18 points. Linda is the conference's leading rebounder. All of the Indians got into the act. Cheryl Jaeger sparked the team in the second quarter when she chipped in six points in about a three minute span. The JVs also won and were led by Julie Kopke with 14 points.

Charles F. Dreher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Dreher, Kewaskum, has joined the Air Force. Airman Dreher was flown by commercial airliner from Milwaukee to San Antonio, Texas where he will begin basic training at Lackland Air Force Base. "Chuck" is a 1955 graduate of Kewaskum High School and had been employed at Vincent Motors.

Pvts. Lloyd C. Westerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westerman, Kewaskum, and Raymond F. Ruplinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ruplinger, Sr., Kewaskum, recently participated with the 8th Infantry Division in "War Hawk," a field training exercise in Germany. Westerman, a driver, and Ruplinger, a cannoneer in Battery B of the division's 43rd Field Artillery Battalion, both entered the army in February of 1956.

Pvt. Jules K. Dreher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl "Pat" Dreher, Kewaskum, has been promoted to specialist third class in Germany where he is serving with the army.

A/2c Harold C. Klein, who had a 30-day furlough, has returned to Abilene Air Force Base in Texas, after having the pleasure of spending both Christmas and the New Year holidays with his mother, Mrs. Rosie Klein of Kewaskum, and relatives and friends.

Barry Murre, a 1956 graduate of Kewaskum High School, was recently promoted to airman third class at Amarillo, Texas, where he is training to become a jet mechanic.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mertes, Route 2, West Bend, on January 14. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Clarence Mertes, Kewaskum. Sons were also born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flynn, Kewaskum, on January 11, and to Mr. and Mrs. Karl Huebner, Route 1, Kewaskum, on January 9. Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ebert, Route 2, Kewaskum, on January 11, and to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Route 3, Kewaskum, on January 13.

75 Years Ago

January 15, 1932

The Statesman suffered greatly when death on January 9 claimed Arthur W. Schaefer, co-publisher and managing editor. He was born in Brothertown in 1886. He graduated from Kewaskum High School, taught school for three years and spent one year in Milwaukee. In 1913 he accepted a position in the Statesman office, spending the remainder of his life in said office. On November 25, 1916, together with Don J. Harbeck, present co-publisher, they purchased the Statesman from George H. Schmidt.

At the annual meeting of the local fire department the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Foreman, Arnold Martin; Assistant Foreman, Henry Weddig; Treasurer, Val Peters; Secretary, John H. Martin; Inspection Committee, Norton Koerble and Allen Zahn.

On January 6, Rev. J.C. Frohne, pastor of the Evangelical Peace Church, tendered his resignation to the officers, same to take effect May 31, 1932. The Reverend was pastor for over two years coming to Kewaskum during October, 1929.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Quass of Boltonville are the happy parents of a baby girl born to them Monday.

Last week the A.L. Rosenheimer Real Estate Agency consummated a deal where they sold the former George Meilinger 80 acres north of St. Michaels, together with all personal property to Andrew Roden, son of John Roden.

100 Years Ago

January 12, 1907

The ideal weather last Saturday and Sunday came as a surprise for the forepart of January and everyone showed their appreciation of it by being out of doors. On Monday evening we were treated to real thunder and lightning, but on Tuesday a decided change was manifest and in the evening the thermometer dropped to five below zero.

The following two hundred scores have been rolled on Eberle's alleys the past few weeks: D. Harbeck, 204, 207, 204, 209; G. Schmidt, 213, 203, 206; J. Eberle Sr., 207; A. Groth, 211; Albert Schaefer, 201.

Frank Runte has his ice house nearly completed and the work of cutting ice will be commenced soon.

While skating on Dricken's Lake near St. Michaels Sunday afternoon, Miss Ida Schiller skated into an opening in the ice and sank into the deep mud. Ida is none the worse for the cold bath and took it quite cool until the arrival of some young men who had quite a time pulling her out.

He's at 100 and going strong

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum High senior Eric Ogi gained membership in an elite group last week.

With a pin in 1:07 over Tristan Clark of Two Rivers, Ogi reached the 100-victory mark in his career, joining other KHS standouts such as Scott Rhoads, the school's only two-tie state champion, Joel Dziejcz, the Middle School wrestling coach and volunteer KHS assistant coach, who placed four times in the state tournament, the late Mike Farchione and perhaps Josh Kurtz, a state champion from the 1990's.

Was this a major goal of Ogi's when he entered high school? "To be honest, I never really thought about it until recently," Ogi said Monday, indicating when he reached the 90s, "Then you realize it's kind of here."

More important to Ogi four years ago when he started wrestling was "making it to state and just being a successful wrestler," but added after his freshman year, "I knew I could win 30 matches a year," so it was a possibility.

About the coveted 100th win, Ogi said, "It was a pretty easy match," but he still reminded himself about "keeping my focus like I should."

Ogi said he got two quick takedowns, but let Clark go a couple times, then when Clark got hold of his leg, he used a move called a "Ritchie," tossing Clark over his body and right to his back. "It was a pretty cool win to pin him."

Like many other successful wrestlers, Ogi started in the sport before reaching middle school. "I started in the fifth grade," the 145-pounder standout said, reporting his first coach was "Mooch" Melstrand, one of the leaders of the West Bend Wrestling Club.

"Mr. (Mike) Bauer was my Middle School coach and he helped me at a lot of the (club) tournaments," Ogi went on, knowing how important these formative years were because they gave him an opportunity to start on the varsity his freshman year.

When asked if he recalls his first match, Ogi said, "I don't remember the first one, but I do remember a couple matches from my freshman year."

The first one he singled out, and the only win out of the three that stand out in his mind from that year, came at the On The Waters Tournament in Oshkosh. "It was my second match, and I wrestled Kurt Wondra from Lomira. I beat him 5-4," Ogi said.

Next, going down memory lane, was his match against a wrestler from Chilton named Lisowe. "I think my brother (Bobby) wrestled his older brother," Ogi said, reporting during the match he tore some cartilage in his knee. "I tried to finish the match," but couldn't stand, and, "I ended up getting pinned."

After rehabbing the knee for several weeks, Ogi returned to action, then in the regional, he went up against Lee Mueller of Lomira. "I think I was beating him 7-1 after the first period," but the lack of conditioning caught up with him. "I can't remember. I either got pinned or lost by tech fall, and he ended up taking fifth at state."

Since then, the story has changed. Ogi's knee has been strong, and he is always in tip-top shape. This year his record stands at 19-2 and a perfect

5-0 in Eastern Wisconsin Conference action.

"My focus has been more this year ... I guess my confidence is also up," Ogi said, explaining in the past he would look at a rated opponent and psyche himself out a little but now, "I realize I'm a pretty good wrestler myself."

The two fourth places in Division 2 state are impressive, but Ogi said he is thinking "This is my last year," so I'm pushing myself hard every day to be the best."

Ogi said his biggest fans are his parents, Greg and Julie. "They're always there, which is a big thing for me. Their support is important."

While Ogi, an honor roll student, has enjoyed wrestling and football, his goal in life is becoming a veterinarian like his dad. Next year he plans to attend UW-Wisconsin to pursue that goal.

"When I was little I always went with him and sometimes my grandpa" on farm visits," Ogi said, adding he has also been able to help out in the surgery room in the last couple of years.

When it was suggested he was lucky to have this opportunity, Ogi said, "I've been very blessed, I guess ... in a lot of things."

Back to wrestling, Ogi said he has some unfinished business on the mat. "(There are) a couple of big ones (matches) left. Hopefully I can help our team win another championship. That would be a nice way to go out," he said.

Note: KHS Coach Dennis Aupperle provided information on the 100-match winners. If there are others, the Statesman would be interested to know who they are.

Good start goes for naught

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

On a scale of one to ten, coach Bobby Bannasch hit about a nine in disappointment Friday night after his Kewaskum High boys basketball team lost a 43-34 Eastern Wisconsin Conference decision to host Campbellsport.

"I'm not going to sugarcoat this. We made too many mistakes," Bannasch said after about the contest in which his team scored the first 11 points and then managed just 23 the rest of the way. "We took a huge step backward. I feel this is a game we should have won ... I'm not happy with our performance tonight. We didn't learn from our mistakes tonight."

Campbellsport came into the game without a single victory in the EWC but played much better than that record showed, especially the final 24 minutes and 30 seconds.

Down 11-zip, Campbellsport finally got on the scoreboard with a basket by Mike Hepp with 30 seconds to go.

Remember that name Hepp, because he plays a key role in the Cougars' comeback effort, he and Shea Stahl, who carried their team offensively as the Indians were successful in putting the defensive clamps on Austin Sarauer.

Stahl, a guard caught fire in the second quarter, scoring a pair of 3-point goals to go with one regular basket and a pair of free throws for a 10-point barrage.

"They scored 16 to our nine, so we were up two points at half time," Bannasch said, reporting it was Hepp taking over the scoring load in the third period. The hefty post player poured in three baskets and was 4x4 at the free throw line for 10 of the Cougars' 15 points during the first eight minutes after the break.

"Give them (Hepp and Stahl) credit. They stepped up and played well," the Kewaskum coach said, reporting the plan was to slow down the high-scoring Sarauer. "We knew if we could stop Sarauer, we would give ourselves a good chance to win."

That statement presumed the Indians would take care of the ball and would be able to score more than 14 points in the second half.

"We obviously didn't keep our spacing (offensively)," Bannasch said, adding, "We made too many sloppy passes."

Two other problems were not getting the ball in the post against the Cougars' 2-3 defense, and it didn't help to shoot a little over 25 percent from the floor.

Matt Parrent and John Holt were the only Indians in double figures, scoring 14 and 11 points, respectively. They nearly matched the 15 by Hepp and 14 by Stahl, but none of the other KHS players had more than three points.

Senior guard Casey Scheel, coming off a 21-point performance at Slinger, was limited to just three points, on a long bomb in the first quarter.

"Casey got a three-pointer wiped away because they said there was a three-second violation," Bannasch said, reporting the call came midway in the fourth quarter when three points could have helped the Indians get back in the game.

"That was a big swing right there," the coach went on, although it was his team's poor play more than the one call that worried him. "This was a big game. There was a very big crowd. They had great fan support," but the team did not respond with a stellar effort.

What was especially discouraging is the fact the Indians' next two opponents are Roncalli (at KHS Friday night) and at Plymouth (Jan. 26). Roncalli is currently 6-0 in the EWC and 11-0 overall, while the Indians are 2-4 and 2-7.

"We've got to digest this one for a full week," Bannasch concluded about going up against unbeaten Roncalli (7-0) tomorrow night.

One good half and one bad one

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Like a page out of the old nursery rhyme, when they were good Thursday night against Campbellsport, the Kewaskum High varsity basketball players were very good. When they were bad, however, they were ... well, not able to stay close to the powerful Cougars.

At intermission, visiting Campbellsport, 6-1 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 9-4 overall, led the winless Indians by just nine points, 25-16, then the roof caved in, and the final was 72-25.

"We played very well in the first half," KHS coach Jeff Gosse said. "We just ran out of energy. That's all it was."

Fundamentally the Indians, now 0-7 in the EWC and 0-12 overall, looked pretty sound the first 16 minutes of the contest. "They (his girls) rebounded very well. They handled the press real well, and they drove well down the lane," the coach said, but all the good things they managed to do early, they weren't able to sustain.

Once again, using full court pressure, and this time more successful, Campbellsport ran off six straight points before Kelsey Goetsch managed to hit the target on a long 3-point try with 6:40 left in the third quarter, putting the score at 31-19.

Then Bry Timblin, who played at Kewaskum for two seasons then transferred to Campbellsport, scored back-to-back baskets, and Kelsey Benike successfully completed a 3-point play, giving the Cougars an 18-point, 38-19 advantage.

Campbellsport scored 24 points, one fewer than the entire first half, in the third period, and it put the Lady Cougars in the driver's seat.

Little Alyssa McGray started off the final period with a rainbow three from the left baseline, and now the lead was at 31, 52-21.

Campbellsport coach Tom Wilkens pulled his starters fairly early, and Gosse followed suit for the final four minutes and even gave a couple freshmen a chance to see what varsity ball is like.

"We had a couple of freshmen come up tonight ... Alyssa Miller helped out a lot," Gosse said. Miller saw action in the second quarter after Goetsch and Nicole Kison had to sit because of foul trouble.

"They had two (fouls) each, and they came early," Gosse said. "Miller came in and stuffed the middle."

The other freshman who got playing time was Erika Kofke, who scored Kewaskum's final basket and a short jumper in the lane.

"I wanted to see what they can do," Gosse said, explaining the two could only play one quarter because they had played in the JV game earlier, but, "I wanted to give them a little taste of varsity ball."

The Indians were led by senior Sam Droese, who scored 11 points, including seven in the second quarter. Next high were Lauren Hughes and Jenny Wicklund with four each.

Gosse said his girls learned a valuable lesson in the game. "You have to learn not to be satisfied" with one good half, the coach said, "and you have to learn to deal with disappointment."

Kallie Benike, one of three Benikes on the Campbellsport team, poured in a game-high 22 points. Benike was just about perfect from the free throw line, hitting an impressive ten of 11 tries.

Next came with Timblin with 13, and she could have had even more if she hadn't missed four other shots from short range. Kelsie Benike chipped in with nine points and 11 rebounds.

"I've got some nice kids," Wilkens said. "We just stubbed our toe a little (last week). Roncalli got us by three points."

Kewaskum is at Roncalli Friday night.

Scheel leads way with 21 points

Getting close to the Owls was a big step forward for KHS boys

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Just how far has the Kewaskum High boys basketball team come since the season started in mid-November?

Looking at the results from Tuesday's game against a solid Slinger team, one would have to say the Indians have covered a lot of ground toward respectability.

No, the Indians didn't get the win against the host Owls, but losing 51-48 in overtime and holding Austin Kearns to just 13 points when he has been averaging in the low 20s are two impressive accomplishments.

Coach Bobby Bannasch knew his team played well ... and the Indians were also happy with their efforts.

"We played a very nice game against Slinger," Bannasch said. "We fell behind a little bit but battled back ... and we played excellent team defense."

After scouting Slinger, Bannasch and his staff decided to go with a 2-3 zone against the Owls, and it worked.

"We played zone the entire game. We knew coming in Kearns likes to penetrate and he is very quick," Bannasch said, explaining by going to a 2-3, the plan was to keep him from being able to slide through to the basket, and, "I think we did a nice job of that."

The Indians were especially tough in the fourth quarter when they held Slinger to just two points, allowing them to draw even with the hosts at 44.

While the defense was holding down Kearns, senior guard Casey Scheel was sparking the KHS offense, to the tune of a season-high 21 points.

"Casey had a tremendous scoring night," the first-year head coach said, noting Scheel made four 3-point goals to get over the 20-point mark. Scheel shot four for ten from beyond the arc, and Bannasch said, "He shot a nice clip for us."

In the overtime, Slinger stayed pretty tight on Scheel, too tight if you ask Bannasch.

At the end, with Slinger up by three points, Scheel had the ball in his hands, but, "He never got it off," Bannasch said. "There was a lot of contact ... we felt he was fouled but ..." No call was made and Slinger escaped with the win.

In the extra period, the Owls scored seven points, including three by Jake Henning, two by Ricky Hanke and a pair by Gus Gehring, who scored two free throws at the end to give the Owls a 3-point advantage.

The versatile 6-foot-4 senior post player, Matt Parrent, scored all four of the Indians points in overtime on his way to an eight-point effort. John Holt also chipped in with eight points, while Dan Parker, a junior reserve who is seeing plenty of playing time, contributed seven points in a solid reserve effort.

Ogi reaches 100; Indians overwhelm Raiders but lose to Oostburg

Eric Ogi, shown above in a recent match, earned his 100th victory last Tuesday in a match against Tristan Clark of Two Rivers.

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum High wrestling had no problem last Tuesday notching its fifth straight victory in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, but when the Indians faced a tough Division 3 team from the Central Lakeshore League two nights later, they met their match.

Host Oostburg, currently ranked fourth among Division 3 teams in the state, defeated the Indians by a score of 38 to 24.

With the split, Kewaskum is a perfect 5-0 in the EWC and 9-2 overall.

"Oostburg has a nice team," KHS coach Dennis Aupperle said. "It was a good dual for us. We really were in it the whole time."

The Indians won six matches, including two by pin, lost seven and had to forfeit at 125 pounds.

Freshman Calob Olla, who has really wrestled well in recent weeks, pinned Cody Klemme in 3:59 in the match at 112, and the next match had a similar outcome, but it only took Stephan Kattar 1:58 to take care of Ian Tripp.

"Their 103 (J.J. Froelich) and 171 (A.J. Kissel) are ranked number one in the state right now," Aupperle said, explaining the Oostburg coach moved Kissel up to face Jacob Turowski in what had to be the headliner of the event.

Turowski battled hard but was out pointed by Kissel 6-3.

At 103, Froelich made quick work of Andrew Haugen, who is having a successful campaign for the Indians. The pin time was 1:7.

Eric Ogi was a comfortable 6-2 winner over Pat Kissel at 145 pounds. Ogi's big night came on Tuesday when he pinned Tristan Clark of Two Rivers in 1:07 for his 100th victory.

Mason Smith looked real solid at 140, turning in an 8-2 decision.

Sophomore P.J. Krueger contributed three points to the KHS total with his 4-0 shutout win, and freshman Cody Seibel won a 3-2 thriller in his match at 160 pounds.

Krueger's record is now an impressive 20-3, while Ogi moved to 19-2 and Turowski's split puts him at 18-4.

Oostburg 38, Kewaskum 24
103 Haugen was pinned by Froelich, 1:07. 112 Olla pinned

Klemme, 3:59; 119 Kattar pinned Tripp, 1:58; 125 KHS forfeits to Jake Copp; 130 Nathan Seitz was pinned by Tony Montgomery, 1:09; 135 Jeremy Parker lost by tech fall to Lahai Josiah, 3-19; 140 Smith defeated Alex Mulliken, 8-2; 145 Ogi defeated

Kissel, 6-2; 152 Mike Pfothenauer was pinned by Jesse Korhals, 2:45; 160 Seibel defeated Austin Summers, 3-2; 171 Matt Buker lost to Shawn Brill 4-9; 189 Turowski lost to Kissel, 3-6; 215 Krueger defeated Kyle Summers, 4-0; 285 Tyler Swanson lost to Jerred Trimmerger, 2-6

On Tuesday, the Indians treated their home fans to a gigantic 60-9 victory over Two Rivers, setting up a situation where just two EWC opponents, Campbellsport and Sheboygan Falls, stand between them and another conference dual meet title.

The Indians had seven pins and one technical fall in the match. Winning via pin were Andrew Haugen at 103, Calob Olla at 112, Mason Smith at 140, Eric Ogi at 145, Cody Seibel at 160, Jacob Turowski at 189, P.J. Krueger at 215.

Mike Pfothenauer, making his debut as a varsity wrestler, was a 16-1 winner by technical fall. Aupperle had been working on getting Pfothenauer, the middle linebacker on the football team, out for the sport earlier this season. Finally Aupperle succeeded in getting him to try wrestling again after competing as a sophomore.

Another nice effort came at 285. Despite the fact he was outweighed by his opponent by 40 or more pounds, junior Tyler Swanson got a win by decision.

Aupperle was thrilled to see Ogi hit the century mark and now Turowski is a step closer to 100, as the pin over Brad LeClair was win No. 94 in his four-year varsity career.

Kewaskum wrestled at Campbellsport on Tuesday (Jan. 16) and will host Sheboygan Falls next Tuesday (Jan. 23) in what will likely determine the EWC title.

Kewaskum 60,
Two Rivers 9

103 Haugen pinned Autumn Wimberly, :51; 112 Olla pinned Dennis Van, 1:01; 119 Kattar won by forfeit; 125 double forfeit; 130 Nathan Seitz won by forfeit; 135 Jeremy Parker was pinned by Jason Linzemeier, 1:02; 140 Smith pinned Derrick Blake, 4:30; 145 Ogi pinned Clark, 1:07; 152 Pfothenauer won by tech fall over Devin Yauch, 16-1; 160 Seibel pinned Bob Wanrdie, 1:17; 171 Matt Buker lost to Travis DeBauche, 2-7; 189 Turowski pinned LeClair, 2:43; 215 Krueger pinned Kyle Schultz, 1:08; Swanson defeated Alex Hansen, 6-5.
