Board will look at hiring new village building inspector/zoning administrator, clerk

Big changes planned for village

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- The Kewaskum Village Board met for a strategic planning meeting on Saturday morning, March 3, to voice potential staffing and procedural changes for the future needs of the village and its residents. The meeting ended with the board agreeing to place an action item on the agenda for Monday, March 19 to hire a new village building inspector/zoning administrator and village clerk.

Village Administrator Jay Shambeau made a presentation regarding how each arm of the village operates and what their strengths and weaknesses are. In his presentation it could be seen that the arm of the village operating the most inefficiently was the village office.

Shambeau pointed out deficiencies in licensing procedures, the election process, permit application process, ordinance enforcement, policy development, technology updates, fee collections, ordinance updates, working with the village's engineers, planning, grant application, utility management, impact fee management, and budget reporting.

Shambeau particularly saw the processes used by the building inspector/zoning administrator as a critical item that needs to be addressed. The village currently employs the independent services of Gordon Hoffmann located in Jackson. Hoffmann is the building inspector/zoning administrator for a number of municipalities in Washington County.

Shambeau stated he did not think the process of outsourcing a crucial person like the building inspector/zoning administrator was an efficient way to continue to operate into the future.

"What we have is a building inspector in Jackson who is available to the public by phone two hours a day. It's a process where we handle some of the paper work. We receive all the permit applications. As they come in, we fax them to Jackson. We don't know what is going on with the application until it comes back approved. So if there is a question, we have to call down to Jackson. Zoning answers vary by whom you get when you call the village hall. Each person has a different interpretation of the zoning code. If there is any questions, Gordie redirects the call back to us and then frustration begins to escalate."

Another area Shambeau addressed was the process in which the village collects fees. Most notably, is in cases of a failed development where a developer comes in, proposes a development requiring engineering studies, and then the village does not allow the development to go through or the developer decides not to proceed. To avoid the whole process of collecting fees, Shambeau would like to require a deposit on items needing engineering studies in the future.

It was a wake-up call for many village board members as to the daily operations of the village hall. "I wanted to show you folks, just how broke things are," stated Village Administrator Jay Shambeau.

In a bit of refreshing news, Shambeau stated that he thought he was doing a better job of tracking what and how much the village's engineering firm is used. He stated that engineering services grew as their services became more needed, especially during the transition period when former administrator Dan Schmidt retired and Shambeau took the reigns.

Shambeau stated that he would continue to work on establishing a central contact point for the engineers to find out exactly what is being done and if it is entirely necessary.

In his review of village departments, Shambeau told the board they should start planning on how to transition a replacement for current Police Chief Dick Knoebel, as he nears retirement age. "I don't want to alarm you and tell you he is thinking about retiring this year or even next year, but he is nearing that

KHS drug bust ends in expulsion

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- School officials have held expulsion hearings after the arrests of two students in connection with possessing and selling drugs at Kewaskum High School (KHS). Authorities have accused an 18-year-old Kewaskum man of distribution of a controlled substance on school grounds. Another 16-year-old student is also facing charges for obstructing an officer and possession/distribution of a controlled substance on school grounds. A third 17-year-old student has been cited for possession of marijuana.

School officials confirmed the closed session expulsion hearings, but are not able to confirm the names of the students who were expelled because of state and federal law.

A Kewaskum Police Department report revealed that a 17-year-old female student was discovered to have marijuana in her locker. The drugs were discovered on February 21 after the vice principal conducted a locker search.

The student was questioned and revealed that she bought the marijuana for $10 from another student on February 19. She told the school's police liaison officer that she intended on selling it to another student for $5-$10.

The police officer questioned an 18-year-old Kewaskum man who allegedly sold the marijuana to the student. He stated he received the drugs from another student who found it and wanted to get rid of it. He would not reveal who that student was.

On February 26, a 16-year-old student came to the vice-principal and confessed that she was involved in the incident. She told the vice-principal and police officer that she came across the drugs in the school parking lot in an envelope. She said she picked up the envelope and placed it in her pocket. Once finding out the envelope contained marijuana she says she gave it to her boyfriend. She explained she and her boyfriend later sold the drugs to the student who had the drugs in her locker.

The police officer then went to the original student asking her to further explain the situation. She told officers that her original story was correct and that she paid the 18-year-old male. Upon further questioning, the 18-year-old male told police that the original story was correct.

The teen's girlfriend later told police that she was trying to protect her boyfriend and that she received the drugs unbeknownst to her at a party in Madison. She gave the drugs to her boyfriend and thought he would give it to someone.

Alumni return to KHS for awards

George Martin, shown above, was one of three former graduates who were honored at Kewaskum High School on Monday, March 12. The alumni spoke to current students in an assembly and later addressed individual classes about their careers and achievements, offering a positive message students could relate to. They were later honored by the Board of Education at a special reception held before their monthly meeting. Please see page 7 for photos of the alumni receiving their awards.

age where he could retire," he stated. Shambeau suggested the board possibly look at promoting a current officer in the department to a sergeant position in the future.

In his review of the Fire Department, Shambeau alerted the board to the consistent issue of Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) and firefighter staffing that is critically low. The state of the department is completely dependent on EMTs moving in and out of the community. The possibility always exists that the village may need to hire EMTs as the volunteer labor pool decreases.

"I find this issue very frustrating, I feel like we are the victim of circumstance. The village is growing but yet our pool of volunteer labor is dwindling. It's a sign of our times. If you talk to people in the church, scouting, or any type of community group, they will tell you volunteerism is down. With dual income households, leisure time is at an absolute premium. It's affecting everyone," stated Village President Matt Heiser.

The Department of Public Works has possibly the fewest deficiencies in their department. Those include snowplow times, street and utility maintenance and the lack of secretarial support. Shambeau stated he did not think it was necessary to consider adding to the staff at this time.

A physical space problem plagues the Kewaskum Public Library. In addition to the space issue, the current practice of closing the library early on Thursday evening is another item Shambeau would like to see changed. With usage skyrocketing in 2006, future staffing and space are all areas that Shambeau considered deficiencies.

Shambeau stated that the village holds a right of first refusal on a house east of the village hall. He stated in the event that the board wished to expand the library, by adding on to the village hall, the board has that option, however, this is not an item for consideration in 2007. He concluded by announcing that the library board will be addressing space needs in the very near future.

After his presentation to the Trustees, Shambeau asked for direction from the group in attendance for the future. Trustee Kevin Scheunemann wanted to see the village consolidate the public works, public services and protection and public services into to one committee. He also wished to have all village outsourced staff, including the village engineer, be re-evaluated every four years.

A constant critic of the library, Scheunemann wanted to proceed with the expansion of the library very cautiously. "I think libraries in the future may possibly be obsolete long term. I think we need to look if technology is going to delete space needs, as an issue in the future," he concluded.

Trustee Derek Peterson thought Scheunemann's idea about making all outsourced services go through a review process was good, but thought it would be better to have it every two years to coincide with the terms of the trustees. He believed the same should occur with members of various committees and commissions. "These people need to represent the current board," he remarked. He liked what has been started with a relevant capital improvement plan for various village departments.

Peterson also wanted to see an expansion of the park and recreation programs. He thought that donation boxes for library and parks might raise some money to offset these programs.

Heiser ended the open discussion by stating he wanted to hold an annual meeting much like the visioning session to discuss village needs and future needs.

Shambeau told the board that he wanted permission to advertise and hire a village building inspector/zoning administrator. This new position would give residents improved office hours, making the individual more accessible to the residents. He believed having someone on staff, in the village hall would provide better consistency in the village.

This person would provide services that Shambeau thought the village is currently lacking. The position would be funded entirely by permit and building inspection fees. Shambeau announced that a study he conducted revealed the village collected $112,320 annually on average. These numbers were based on an average of four-year's time.

If granted permission to advertise the position, it would be advertised with an annual salary of $43,630 to $50,152. The individual would be a grade 10 on the village's pay scale.

Shambeau also told the trustees that he would like to hire a full-time village clerk. He believed this would alleviate time-consuming duties and allow him to focus more on engineering and planning of which he has a background in.

He noted that in the 2007 budget, the village board provided for the hiring of an engineering liaison. He would like to take over those duties and pass on some of the clerking duties he was hired for to a new individual.

The clerk would then take over statutory duties that include licensing, overseeing elections and public records management among many other items. Shambeau stated the annual salary would be between $36,003-$41,383. On the village's pay scale the position would start at grade eight.

Both positions would move forward without a budget increase, taking the money for the clerk from the money budgeted for engineering liaison. Each position would be a non-union position with all village fringe benefits.

If approved at the Monday, March 19 village board meeting, the positions would be advertised by the end of April with screening and interviews completed in June. Shambeau stated that he would conduct the interviews and work with other communities who have these positions, to get job descriptions and possibly include them on the interview team.

Shambeau ended the meeting by asking those in attendance to think about addressing the possibility of promoting a member of the police department to sergeant, looking into a park and recreation director, increasing the library's hours and always be realizing the need for part-time EMS employees. He would like to bring these items up at next year's visioning meeting.

"I was impressed by the entire process. Jay did a great job in preparation to analyze and explain information. The board members had a lot of thoughtful feedback in response. I am excited by all the opportunities to improve and I feel like we were really serving the people. The challenge will be to follow up on them," concluded Heiser.

Robins are back

They are back according to a caller who alerted The Statesman staff on Monday, March 12. A second visitor confirmed the report.

Tom Librera stated that he spotted the area's first robins in Germantown. He said he saw the robins heading north with signs on their tail feathers that read "Kewaskum or BUST".

Later in the morning Anatasia Thull confirmed seeing the robins after arriving in Kewaskum. In the excitement of seeing the feathered brethren Thull rushed out of our office taking her news to the streets.

In 2006 The Statesman reported the first robins of the season in Boltonville. That sighting took place on March 8.

POLICE REPORTS

Theft of property

On February 17 a Kewaskum Police Officer was dispatched to Engelhardt and Sons on Fond du Lac Avenue in the village in reference to some damage.

The officer met with the complainant who stated when he got to work; he found the back of his trailer was somewhat opened.

On one pallet, it appeared a case of milk might be missing. Two other cases were stacked and suspended half way to the bottom in an area where a case of milk should have been.

The case continues to be investigated.

Littering

On February 23, a Kewaskum Police Officer was flagged down by the manager of an Elm Street apartment complex.

The complainant showed the officer approximately 50-60 piles of dog droppings. They were located on the south side of the building. The complainant stated a tenant in the building had complained.

He stated she has observed a German shepherd and German shorthair type dog being let out and defecating in the area. He went on to say that sometimes there is a male subject who stands behind a garage at 118 Fond du Lac Avenue.

The officer could not locate the man at the Fond du Lac Avenue address, but left a message on his voicemail advising him he needed to clean up the dog piles or he would be cited for littering.

Kewaskum resident Roger Strack who grew up in West Bend submitted these photos of the former West Bend Theater that was a downtown West Bend mainstay for many years. The theater closed abruptly in November after competitor Nova Cinema bought the property and business. Strack's uncle Elmer Albright, managed the West Bend Theater for over thirty years, starting in the 1930's. He then went on serve his country in the Air Force. Strack says he worked at the theater during his senior year in high school. One of his job duties was putting up the letters on the marquee. ## Changes to W. B. Veterans Ave plans made

WEST BEND- Plans for Veterans Avenue along the east side of downtown have changed. City planner Julie Cayo says the redevelopment authority has decided to re-route. In addition to reconstructing the street, so that it runs closer to the river, between the riverwalk and three new, three-story, mixed use buildings the Ansay Development Company wishes to erect where the old Fields Store is now. In so doing, some flood-plain problems would be solved.

PDR rally held at West Bend Mutual Insurance office

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

WEST BEND- Hundreds of volunteers were joined by a handful of picketers at a kick-off event held Thursday, March 8, to garner up "yes" votes on a spring referendum to decide if Washington County should begin a government funded program to save prime farm land.

Sue Millin who has led the charge for a PDR (property development rights) program in the county said that more than 600 people have signed up to persuade people to vote in favor of the measure.

A "yes" vote would require the county board to spend a minimum of $800,000 annually buying development rights from land owners who have deeds to some of the county's prime agricultural land.

Washington County Board Supervisor, Dan Stoffel, also a town of Kewaskum farmer, stated that there are a number of ways to finance such a program. It is hoped that sales tax revenue will help finance the program. Secondly, the county could issue municipal bonds and of course the most un-wanted option is through property taxes, but that could be the case if other funding measures are not able to be utilized.

Among the organizations providing volunteers are the Washington County chapter of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau, the West Bend and Washington County Economic Development Corporations, sports clubs, some environmental organizations, major employers inside and outside of agriculture and the student governments of UW Washington County and local high schools.

The referendum question is on the April 3 ballot.

Indoor flowering and green plants presentation March 20

Indoor flowering and green plants have been good companions this winter while we wait to get out-of-doors. This is a good time to take stock of their condition. Many of these plants will vacation outside this summer and you will want to know how well your plants are doing. Are they having pest problems? Too little/too much light? Too little/too much water? Are they ready for an outdoor adventure? Brian Karthaus of Karthaus & Sons in Germantown will be on hand to show you actual plants in his discussion of growing and keeping indoor plants healthy and happy and answer your questions. Whether you are a novice or an expert, you're sure to pick up some tips or maybe even save the life of a favorite plant.

Karthaus & Sons is a wholesale florist in Germantown with 150,000 square feet of greenhouse. The business was started by Brian Karthaus's grandfather, father and uncle in 1957. They grow holiday plants such as Easter lilies, Poinsettias, spring plants and many other green plants. Brian started with his family in 1986. He has served on the Society of American Florists, Commercial Flower Growers of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin Upper Michigan Florist Association. He has appeared on Melinda Meyers TV shows and also has been on Fox 6 numerous times with "Gus."

Don't miss Brian Karthaus's presentation to learn more about your indoor plants on Tuesday, March 20 at the West Bend Community Memorial Library at 7:00 p.m. The seminar is sponsored by the West Bend Beautification Committee and is free and open to the public. Pre-registration is requested - please call the WBBC office 262-335-5083 to register.

For more information on the West Bend Beautification Committee and how you can help the committee and its work call 262-335-5083, email us at wbbc@ci.west-bend.wi.us or see us on the web at www.ci.west-bend.wi.us/wbbc%20inc/wbbc.htm.

Lifeline screenings March 26

Residents living in and around Kewaskum community can be screened to reduce their risk of having a stroke. Life Line Screening will be at the Kewaskum Municipal Building Annex on March 26th. The site is located at 1308 Fond du Lac Ave., in Kewaskum. Appointments will begin at 9:00 a.m.

A stroke, also known as a "brain attack," is ranked as the third leading killer in the world, and the second among women. Through preventive screenings, the risk of having a stroke can be greatly reduced.

Screenings are fast, painless and low cost. They involve the use of ultrasound technology, and scan for potential health problems related to: blocked arteries which can lead to a stroke, aortic aneurysms which can lead to a ruptured aorta, and hardening of the arteries in the legs, which are a strong predictor of heart disease. Also offered for men and women, is a bone density screening to assess their risk for osteoporosis.

"You told me to see a doctor immediately. I just wanted to thank you Life Line Screening, your screening saved my life." Ginger Blodgett - Elk Mound, WI.

All four screenings take less than an hour to complete. A complete vascular screening package, including the Stroke/Carotid Artery, Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm and Ankle Brachial Index (hardening of the arteries) screenings is $109. Sign-up for a complete vascular package; include the osteoporosis screening and pay only $139.

Life Line Screening was established in 1993, and has since become the nation's leading provider of vascular screenings. Over 85 ultrasound teams are on staff to travel to your local community, bringing the screenings to you. These non-invasive, inexpensive and painless, ultrasound tests help people identify their risk for stroke, vascular diseases or osteoporosis early enough for their physician to begin preventive procedures.

For more information regarding the screenings or to schedule an appointment, call 1-877-1287 or visit on the web at www.lifelinescreening.com. Pre-registration is required.

Lomira Community Theatre presents spring musical

When in Rome, do as the Romans do ... slip on a toga and charge like a lion into this dazzling musical! Left the checkbook in the chariot, your Caesar Card at home? Don't worry, we've got lay-away! You will love the tongue-in-cheek humor that Bill Francoeur delightfully weaves into the songs in this side-splitting musical comedy.

Slip into the royal palace with the peasant thieves disguised as handmaidens, watch while one of them is smitten with the beautiful Princess, and try not to roll in the aisles from laughter as you observe him training to become a gladiator so that he can save the Princess from having to marry Brudis, the brainless brute favored to win the Gladiator games.

When in Rome will be presented in the Lomira Middle School Auditorium on Friday and Saturday, March 16th and 17th, at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday, March 18th, at a 2:30 p.m. matinee. Tickets, $6 for bleacher seats and $8 for floor seats, are available at Brasch's Piggly Wiggly, 325 East Avenue, in Lomira.

This is a show guaranteed to make you laugh all the way to the forum!

When in Rome is produced by special arrangement with Pioneer Drama Service, Englewood, CO. Book by Martin A. Follose; Music and lyrics by Bill Francoeur.

Koch attends Family and Consumer Sciences Spring Conference

Mary Koch won a collection of teacher resource materials on Service Learning and Classroom Strategies from Jist Publishing of Indianapolis, Indiana. Her name was drawn as one of over 30 door prize recipients at the close of the conference.

Mary Koch, KHS Family and Consumer Education teacher, attended the Wisconsin Association of Family and Consumer Sciences Annual Spring Conference held March 1-3 at the Radisson Hotel, Madison. The theme of the conference, "Solutions for Thriving in Challenging Times" addressed issues related to individual and family finances with a focus on changing demographics, limited resources, and making responsible decisions.

A keynote presentation entitled "Get a Handle on Your 'Habitudes'" by Syble Solomon, President, Life Wise. The participants learned how to identify those "habitudes" to feel proactive and in a good grip of one's money. Participants discovered ways their personal habits can be changed to improve both their finances and to make responsible decisions in the management of limited resources.

Consecutive sessions featured everything from stabilizing people's lives with short-term assistance - food to adolescent decision-making; school gardens; changing demographics of American families; safe computer practices; parents and the law; identity theft protection; public policies and taken-for-granted belief systems; student to the world of work; presentation enhancement; and ecological and economic impact of food purchasing. In addition, the conference goers had the option of participating in tours of the Madison area.

The Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board and the Dairy Council, in part responsible for the increased awareness of dairy products for better health and nutrition, received the Friends of WAFCS Award. Dottie Winger who teaches at East High School in Madison received the Teacher of the Year Award, and Arlene Welcher of McFarland High School received the New Achiever Award. The Leader award was presented to Karen Dickrell, Family Living Educator and Department Chair for UW-Extension, Outagamie Co., Appleton. A delegation of undergraduate students from UW-Stevens Point, UW-Madison, and UW-Stout attended the conference. The Friday evening presentation by Leslie Belais, Curator of Costume and Textiles, Wisconsin Historical Museum was entitled, "Hoops & Bustles: A History of Victorian Fashion & Women's Evolving Roles."

Attending members were asked to donate and purchase items to support the annual Silent Auction. Approximately $1,100.00 was raised, with the proceeds going to the WAFCS Foundation to financially assist award recipients and students with travel-ships to the state and national conventions. Student recipients of this money included: Kalle Tiboris UW-Madison; Kelsey Wolff UW-Madison; Sarah Collentine UW-Madison; Amy Turner UW-Stout; Kayla Stalboerger UW-Stout; and Crystal Bradwell UW-Stout. The next WAFCS conference will be held in WAFCS June 2008 in Milwaukee in conjunction with the national American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences' annual national conference. WAFCS is the state affiliate of American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences, and the only national forum where K-12 teachers, university educators, and corporate executives collaborate to improve the quality of individuals and family life. The 10,000 professional members are committed to educating, and influencing generations of American consumers in classrooms, companies, and communities across the nation. ## Darmody spends winterim in Mississippi

The University of Wisconsin - Platteville School of Education regularly offers a class called Ethnic Gender Equity in Education. While providing a traditional classroom setting and instruction in the fall and spring semesters for this class, the winterim version of the course takes students to Mississippi Valley State University (MVSU) in Itta Bena, Miss. This year's trip took place in early January.

Kyle Darmody of Kewaskum was one of the 15 students who went to Mississippi.

"The class is part of an exchange program allowing two rural universities, one historically black and the other white, to provide new and firsthand opportunities for students to experience other cultures," said Tom Lo Guidice, an education professor and one instructor for the course. UWP and MVSU have been engaged in this partnership since early 2003.

Specifically, the course aims to help students develop an appreciation and understanding of sociological and historical perspectives of ethnic and gender issues in education and society; detail the effect of gender and ethnic bias in education and society; recognize and evaluate gender and ethnic bias in language and communication; and demonstrate an ability to reflect upon, relate and integrate concepts from the course in working with individuals from various cultures, ethnicities, economic strata, both genders and various sexual orientations at various developmental levels in a socially responsible manner. The course meets the Wisconsin Department of Instruction's mandates for teacher training in diversity.

Rich Bockhop, an agriculture education professor and other instructor for the course said, "Students taking this class not only experience ethnic diversity; they interact with diverse political and social-economic cultures. The trip itinerary is organized and coordinated by students, which adds field-trip planning experience to the list of learning outcomes. Many of the students have asked to participate again and have offered suggestions to improve an already great learning opportunity."

Education students on the trip visited local schools to observe in the classrooms. Agriculture students on the trip took tours of local industries and farms. All students and instructors explored such sites as the Delta Research Center, the Kermit the Frog Museum, the Civil Rights Museum, downtown Memphis (the home of the blues and the birthplace of rock 'n roll), the Chucalissa Archaeological Museum, the Elvis Mansion and the courthouse in which the Dread Scott decision was made. On January 15, the students and instructors volunteered to work on a Habitat for Humanity home in Tutwiler, Miss.

"The most important lesson I brought back with me from the trip is that no matter what size, shape or color, we will all have similarities and differences with one another. Instead of hating each other for our difference, we should learn as much as we can while celebrating our similarities," Darmody stated.

Anyone interested in this course may contact Bockhop at 608-342-1890 or bockhopr@uwplatt.edu. Anyone interested in MVSU opportunities or the MVSU/UWP partnership in general may contact Laura Anderson, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Education at 608-342-1092 or andersla@uwplatt.edu.

Reservations were requested but not mandatory for a one-night extravaganza at Farmington Elementary School (FES). It was their annual Reading & Math Café, Thursday, March 1, 2007, from 6:00 pm-7:30 pm for all students and their families.

On the Café menu were fifteen appealing menu options from which to choose including the Fitness Café, the Creepy Crawly Café and the Café of Hearts.

Families were welcome to stroll from room to room and play fun math games, read some great books and enjoy a few tasty snacks.

As an added feature, the hallways were a "showcase" of student work. Tables were filled with original projects created by each and every student at FES.

Finally, everyone was invited to stop by the FES PTO sponsored Book Fair and purchase some more great books to take home and enjoy.

The weather outside may have been wet and chilly, but inside FES families were enjoying the warmth and hospitality of a four-star café.

KES students learn about healthy teeth

Dr. Dennis Connor attended Kewaskum Elementary School recently to give his annual "National Children's Dental Health Month" lessons to twelve of the kindergarten through third grade classes. The children learned proper brushing, flossing and other techniques for the care of their teeth. They were shown what happens on a trip to the dentist's office to have their teeth cleaned, how to care for their teeth at home and the best kinds of snacks to eat. Dr. Connor sees how the kids learn more every year that he gives his talks and hopes it stays with them when they go home. He gives them all a package with toothbrushes, mirrors, bibs and other things so they can go home and play dentist with their family.

KHS freshmen get creative with The Odyssey

KEWASKUM- Students in Tiffany Kraus' English class at Kewaskum High School have turned a typical reading of The Odyssey into an exciting adventure. Students have recently finished up working on class projects involving acting, drawing cartoons, singing songs and constructing items from the reading itself.

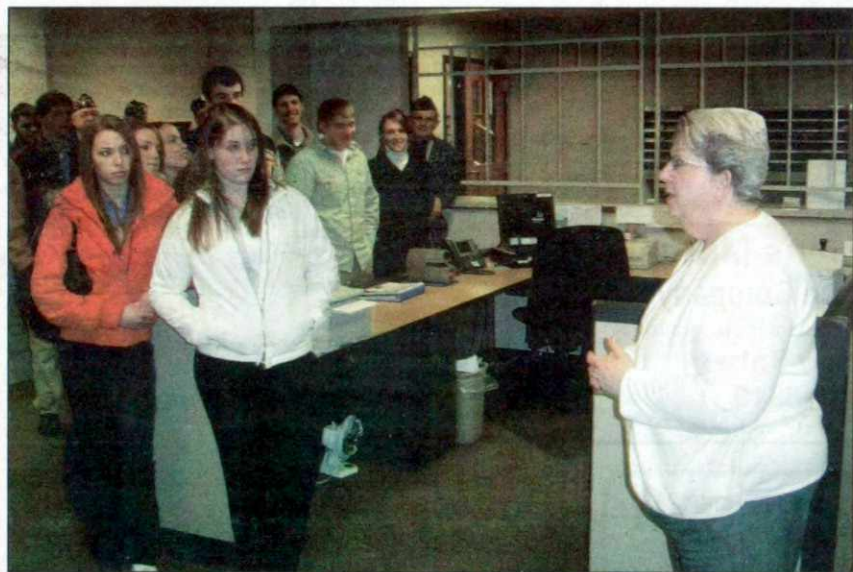

The students are working in groups called "ships" says Kraus. She says she makes the reading into a whole unit for students. All projects are done outside of class. Each member of the ship uses their talents to work on one of the many projects while reading.

The Odyssey is one of the two major ancient Greek epic poems attributed to the poet Homer. The poem is commonly dated circa 800 to 600 BC.

Class projects from a treasure chest, a grave marker and ship flags adorn the KHS main office

Nothing but memories as we journey on,
Longing for a smile from a loved one gone.
No one knows the depth of our deep regret,
But we remember when others forget.

From The Kudek & The Morgan families

To My Dearest Family:

Some things I'd like to say,
But first of all to let you know that I arrived okay.
I'm writing this from Heaven. Where I dwell with God above. Where there's no more tears or sadness; there is just eternal love.
Please do not be unhappy just because I'm out of sight. Remember that I'm with you every morning, noon and night. That day I had to leave you when my life on Earth was through, God picked me up and hugged me and He said, "I welcome you."

It's good to have you back again, You were missed while you were gone.

As for your dearest family, they'll be here later on. I need you here so badly, as part of My big plan.

There's so much that we have to do,

To help our mortal man. Then God gave me a list of things, He wished for me to do. And foremost on that list of mine, Is to watch and care for you. And I will be beside you, Every day, and week, and year. And when you're sad, I'm standing there, To wipe away the tear. And when you lie in bed at night,

The days chores put to flight. God and I are closest to you... In the middle of the night. When you think of my life on Earth

And all those loving years, Because you're only human, They are bound to bring you tears. But do not be afraid to cry: It does relieve the pain. Remember there would be no flowers,

Unless there was some rain. I wish that I could tell you of all that God has planned. But if I were to tell you, You wouldn't understand. But one thing is for certain, though my life on Earth is over. I am closer to you now, Than I ever was before.

And to my very many friends, Trust God knows what is best. I'm still not far away from you, I'm just beyond the crest.

There are rocky roads ahead of you,

And many hills to climb. But together we can do it, Taking one day at a time.

It was always my philosophy And I'd like it for you too; That as you give unto the World, So the World will give to you.

If you can help somebody Who is in sorrow or in pain; Then you can say to God at night... "My day was not in vain." And now I am contented That my life it was worthwhile, Knowing as I passed along the way

I made somebody smile. So, if you meet somebody who is down and feeling low; Just lend a hand to pick him up, As on your way you go. When you are walking down the street

And you've got me on your mind; I'm walking in your footsteps Only half a step behind. And when you feel the gentle breeze,

Or the wind upon your face. That's me giving you a great big hug,

Or just a soft embrace. And when it's time for you to go... From that body to be free.

Remember you're not going... You are coming here to me.

And I will always love you; From that land way up above.

Will be in touch again soon.

P.S. God sends His Love

Pursuant to Section 174.052, Wisconsin Statutes, notice is hereby given to all owners of dogs in Washington County that dog licenses and rabies vaccinations are required.

Vaccination by a licensed veterinarian against rabies is required of all dogs (Section 95.21(2)) within 30 days after the dog reaches 4 months of age and revaccinated within one year after the initial vaccination. The owner of a dog shall have the dog revaccinated against rabies by a veterinarian when the certificate expires or within three (3) years of previous vaccination. The certificate of rabies vaccination must be presented to the collecting official before a dog license may be issued.

All dogs five (5) months of age or older require a license. The minimum license fee for neutered males or spayed females is $3.00, upon presentation of evidence attesting to the same, and $8.00 for the unneutered male or unsplayed female dog or one-half of these amounts if the dog became five (5) months of age after July 1, of the license year. The governing body of any town, village, or city may raise the minimum dog license tax. Any person who keeps multiple dogs or operates a kennel may apply for a multiple dog license. The fee is $35.00 for twelve (12) dogs or less and additional $3.00 for each dog in excess of twelve (12).

Dog licenses may be obtained from your local town, village or city treasurer or designee during the course of any given year. Dog owners should notify their treasurer if their dog is given away or has died, so that you will not be considered delinquent. An affidavit of death is available.

PENALTY

Every owner of a dog 5 months of age or older who fails to obtain a license by April 1, will be assessed a late fee of $5.00.

It's on to the state tournament in Madison for the Kewaskum High School girls' varsity basketball team! After a very successful season, the girls reached their goal -- a trip to the Class B State Tournament. This will be the girls' second trip to the state tourney. The Indians made it to Madison five years ago, in 1977, when they were defeated by the state champions, Cuba City. The old clock in the tower of Holy Trinity Church is silent. After 47 years of constant service to the community, it perhaps deserves a rest. For more than a year now, it could not be depended upon for correct time. The parts had become hopelessly worn and since clocks of this type are no longer manufactured, they cannot be replaced. Besides this there was increasing danger that the tremendous weights which worked the pendulum might at any time come crashing down the building. Realizing the danger and at the same time remembering that the clock was originally purchased with contributions given by the villagers, it was with real regrets that the congregation voted recently to stop the clock.

Judge August C. Backus, 75, who was born and raised in Kewaskum, one of Wisconsin's most distinguished lawyers and jurists and a former publisher of the Milwaukee Sentinel, died March 6 at his home in Milwaukee. The achievement for which Judge Backus perhaps was best known was the fathering of the adult probation system, which has been the means of saving many thousands of first offenders from prison. Nearly all the states have followed his original idea. Judge Backus had many relatives in Kewaskum and vicinity and occasionally he returned to his old hometown to call on them as well as his numerous friends here.

Four youths from this area enlisted Friday for service with the United States Air Force. They include Norman Koepke, 19, of Route 1, Kewaskum and Wayne Sramek, 18, Charles Miske, 19, and Ferdinand Buchel Jr., 18, all of Adell.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marx, Kewaskum, on March 5; to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schoofs, Route 2, Kewaskum, on March 4, and to Mr. and Mrs. John Thull, Route 2, Kewaskum, on February 27. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gremminger, Kewaskum, on March 4.

District No. 7, Town of Farmington, formerly known as the Swamp School District, recently held a special school district meeting for the purpose of authorizing the school board to erect a new building to replace the old school that was abandoned 15 years ago. This well known landmark has been torn down to make room for the new brick structure which will take shape this spring.

Alvin Brandt of Milwaukee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brandt of the Town of Wayne was instantly killed Wednesday afternoon in an automobile accident on Highway 33, one and one-half miles west of Allenton.

Kilian Honeck and Fred Prillman on Wednesday shipped a carload of cattle, consisting of 12 Guernseys and 19 Holstein cows, to Downingtown, PA. The average price paid per cow was $75.

March 11, 1932

The worst March cold wave this community has experienced in a good many years, arrived last week Saturday and lasted throughout the week. Approximately four inches of snow fell on Saturday, but the strong northwest winds, which prevailed for several days, piled up the snow in drifts several feet deep. Roads in the rural sections were blockaded. County snow plows were kept busy day and night during the storm trying to keep the main highway open. The mercury on Sunday dropped to eight degrees below zero.

The former George Metzger cheese factory located three miles southwest of the village, and operated the past year by Fred Van Tatenhave, recently changed hands, the new owner being Clarence Rehm of Beaver Dam.

If legislation is passed to consolidate nearly 80 county and sectional fairs in Wisconsin into a dozen district exhibits, Washington County has a good chance of losing its annual county fair. A movement for the consolidation of these fairs and exhibits was started recently on account of the depression among farmers.

Robert Backhaus, this week, opened a barber shop in the Ervin Degner residence at Boltonville.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Norton Koerble of Kewaskum on Tuesday. A baby girl was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weiland of St. Kilian last Wednesday. A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bonlender of St. Kilian.

Otto Bartelt and Miss Margaret Kippenhan were quietly married at the bride's home in Wayne Wednesday evening. The newlyweds will make their home in New Prospect where the groom will take charge of the Van Blarcom cheese factory.

It was a gala day for New Fane Sunday when the Rev. Charles Gutekunst of Washburn was installed at the St. John's Lutheran Church by the Revs. Greve of Kewaskum and H. Ohldag of Chicago, The Lutheran church choir and brass band from Kewaskum also turned out for the occasion with two splendid renditions by the Kewaskum choir and two selections by the New Fane choir, the service was transformed into a grand church concert.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Quandt of N.J. Mertes' Central Hotel came near being destroyed by fire early last Monday morning. The fire started from an overheated stove pipe running through the ceiling in the barroom. When Mr. Mertes noticed it, the carpet, window curtain and bed in a room on the second floor were in flames. Mr. Mertes extinguished the fire promptly so that the damage will only amount to about $40.

Groeschel and Haessly opened their bottling works last Thursday and are now ready to manufacture all kinds of soft drinks such as soda water, cream beer, ginger ale, lemon sour, root beer, pear champagne, orange cider, raspberry and blackberry wine and seltzer water. They will also bottle Weiss beer shortly.

Joseph Ryan, for many years marshal of West Bend, was instantly killed by passenger train no. 3 at a crossing one mile south of West Bend last Saturday forenoon.

Strobel and Runte have formed a partnership and will build a cold storage house here and deal in keg and bottle beer.

After July 1, rural carriers who travel 24 miles or more, will receive $900 per year.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Butzlaff, Kewaskum, last Saturday. A bright baby boy made his appearance at the home of H. Stahl of Boltonville recently.

Maxed Out

By James D. Scurlock

Scribner $28.99 248 pages

JAMES D. SCURLOCK

"Scurlock is as fiendishly clever as the banks and credit card companies he goes after."

—Barbara Ehrenreich

MAXED OUT

HARD TIMES, EASY CREDIT, AND THE ERA OF PREDATORY LENDERS

Retail therapy is a wonderful thing.

One trip to the store, one peek at saws and suits, diamonds and dresses, and you go home with lots of new possessions, some of which you didn't even know you needed. And what do you do when there's only dust in the wallet and pockets full of lint? You rely on that age-old rallying cry: "CHARGE!!"

Hold on, though. Before you whip out the plastic, read "Maxed Out" by James D. Scurlock. This book will save you a whole lot more than 10% on your purchases. It might save your house, your family, and your life.

When an offer for a six-months-no-interest credit card comes in the mail, it's awfully tempting, almost like free money. You fill out the form, drop it in the mail and the credit card comes right to your door. You start to use it and maybe you miss a payment or two. Or three. Soon, you're up to your forehead in fees.

Then another credit card offer comes in the mail....

Because of a reluctantly-admitted youthful bout with scary debt, James Scurlock decided to make a documentary about Americans and debt. This book is the companion to that film, and it's sobering.

According to Scurlock, incomes have risen about 1 percent "real terms" in the past generation, while household debt increased over 1,000 percent. Scurlock cites the Federal Reserve in saying that 12 percent of young families were more than two months behind on their debts in 2004. With new bankruptcy laws, that figure has undoubtedly gone up.

Scurlock interviewed people in the industry and found, to his shock, that credit card companies and big banks encourage debt-to-the-extreme. Fees and "extras" such as unneeded insurance are the ways that banks make their money. For instance, although Scurlock says they take little-to-no time to process, there's a reason that "bounced checks" come with a $25 or higher bank fee.

On the other side of the teller's window, Scurlock interviewed people who were deeply in debt, a man imprisoned for murdering his family over a $5,000 credit card bill, a handicapped woman whose house is in imminent danger of foreclosure because of bad advice, and the family of a woman who drove off a pier because her gambling debts got out of hand.

I've read an abundance of horror novels and thrillers this year, but "Maxed Out" chilled me like no other book. Author James D. Scurlock burrows deep into the financial industry and credit card businesses, and what he finds will make you want to take scissors to everything in your wallet.

Through on- and off-camera interviews, Scurlock exposes collections agents, financial experts, government agencies and others who make money off of your money, and he's compassionate when he writes about "victims" who are swimming in credit but drowning in debt.

If you own a credit card, leave it at home, get to a bookstore and pay cash for "Maxed Out". You'll long be indebted to Scurlock for the things you'll learn by reading it.

UWWC's student government supports PDR

Members of UW-Washington County's Student Government Association (SGA) recently passed a resolution in support of the upcoming Land Preservation Referendum. SGA officers, who act as the official voice of the student population, plan to put up posters around the West Bend campus encouraging other students to vote in favor of the referendum on April 3. The resolution reads:

Whereas, the Washington County Land Preservation Referendum will support economic and environmental balance in the county, and

Friend or Foe?

Away

I knew that he would be coming
He was expected any day
An escort for her journey
He was taking her away

I feel like I could
Just ride away
Off into the sunset
Out towards the bay

He is rarely ever welcome
Once he is in your home
You know that when he leaves
He never leaves alone

Two wheels spin
In constant motion
It's my grand escape
To the wild wide ocean

With a stranger on a journey
Destination we don't know
He comes and takes the ones we love
Is he friend or foe?

To the sun-baked beaches
Beside the blue sea
I could be in charge
I could be free

He came and took my mother
Right before my eyes
He seemed to bring her comfort
I could see it in her eyes

Soaking up the sun
Letting down my hair
And dancing in the moonlight
For once without a care

She didn't want to leave us
She told us with a tear
But with him there to guide her
It seemed to ease her fear.

The sand would be like silk
The water a cool embrace
I could float forever
The wind caressing my face

As she finally surrendered
She let him guide the way
And left me with a memory
Of that lonely day

And though I sit here waiting
It's calling out for me
Who am I to resist
The calling of the sea

It hurt to see her suffer
Even more to see her leave
He took her to a better place
That's what I believe.

Hunters and anglers have been swapping tips and giving each other advice since humans first learned to communicate. One of the earliest questions in human language, asked when the first caveman met the second coming back with the day's catch, was undoubtedly "how did you get them?" Hunters and anglers still ask that question of each other today. Indeed, some of the fondest memories many of us have are of sitting around a campfire after a day's fishing or hunting and swapping tips and stories.

Outdoor Tips and Tricks is a new weekly column that is designed to serve the same function on a larger scale. Each week I put together three or four tips and tricks about hunting, fishing, camping, dog training, and other outdoor skills that will help make your time afield easier and more productive. More than that, it is a forum in which sportsmen from all over the country can write in and share their tips and tricks with their fellow anglers and hunters. Think of it as a great big campfire (only without the camp or the fire).

I know that over the last 35 years I have benefited more than most from the wisdom and advice of expert hunters and anglers on three continents. My varied outdoor experience as a fly fishing guide and professional fly tier; a bird hunting guide and amateur dog trainer; a gamekeeper on a Scottish Estate and the head of two sportsmen oriented conservation organizations has brought me into touch with some incredibly knowledgeable and skilled hunters and anglers over the years. Outdoor Tips and Tricks enables me to pass on some of the wisdom that they passed on to me and to honor the memory of some wonderful hunters and anglers who are no longer with us.

I hope you enjoy the tips and tricks you'll find in this column each week and more importantly, that you get plenty of time to put them into practice. I also hope you'll decide to share some of your favorite tips and tricks with us. To do so, simply e-mail the tip to me at the address below. It would be wonderful if you would take advantage of this opportunity to share your knowledge and skills with the rest of us.

If you have a tip to do with hunting, fishing or outdoor skills that you would like to see printed in this column, e-mail the tip to davegowdey@fastmail.fm. Credit will be given in the column to those whose tips are selected for publication.

And now, on with this week's first column.

Some retrievers, especially young dogs, can be reluctant to turn over the game they have retrieved. Trying to tug the game out of the dog's mouth can result in significant damage to the game, potential damage to the hunter and provide encouragement to the dog to continue this undesirable behavior.

On the other hand, punishment during a retrieve could make the dog reluctant to retrieve game at all. In such situations, one easy solution is to grab firm hold of the dog's collar and then blow a gentle puff of air in the dog's nose. This will result in the dog opening its mouth, allowing the game to be safely and easily recovered without conflict. Be careful not to blow too hard to avoid potential damage to the sensitive linings of the dog's nose.

One of the most valuable things an outdoorsman can carry in his pocket is a red cotton bandana. Not only does a bandana have an infinite number of everyday uses—from cleaning glasses to blowing your nose—it is also a valuable survival tool. It can be used in an emergency as a bandage, a signal flag, and pieces can be shredded and used as tinder to start a fire.

Most fishermen know spots where streams enter and exit a lake attract fish and can provide for some excellent fishing. Fewer fishermen pay attention to the underground springs that can also provide excellent fishing at times particularly when outside temperatures are extreme.

The water from such springs generally remains within a fairly small and stable temperature range—which means that such areas provide cool spots in hot summer weather and warm spots in icy winter weather, and those stable temperatures attract fish. The location of such springs can often be found on hydrographic maps, older topographical maps of areas flooded by reservoirs and through local knowledge. In arid regions, shoreline concentrations of water-loving vegetation such as cottonwoods and willows where no surface water is visible can also indicate where shallow springs may enter a lake.

Indians absent on 1st team; Parrent is 2nd team All-EWC pick

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Experience and potent scoring were definite characteristics of the boys selected to the first team of the all-Eastern Wisconsin Conference basketball team, and while the coaches were certain about several of their selectees, extra balloting was needed to determine the final spots on the conference's dream squad.

That extra vote prevented Kewaskum from having a representative on the first team. Matt Parrent wound up at the top of the second unit, while fellow senior, Casey Scheel, and junior John Holt, received a vote or two, meaning they earned honorable mention status.

As expected, Greg Schrimpf of Roncalli was a unanimous pick. Schrimpf has been a fixture on or near the top of the EWC's scoring charts the past three seasons.

This year, the 5-foot-11 senior guard, averaged 19.5 points per game in leading the Jets to an undefeated season and a third straight conference title in their final season in the EWC. Next year, Roncalli moves on to the smaller Olympian Conference, while Waupun takes its place.

Schrimpf shared the spotlight with his coach, Joe Rux. Schrimpf was named the Player of the Year, while Rux was given the nod as the league's best coach.

All of the other five players on the first team are seniors, including Campbellsport's Austin Sarauer, who was the No. 2 scorer in the league, according to KHS coach Bobby Bannasch, who said, "He was right behind Schrimpf."

Sarauer, who stands 6-1 and plays guard, was also a unanimous pick.

The third unanimous pick was John Cookle of Two Rivers, a 6-1 sharp-shooter.

The others on the first teams included: Ben Miller, Kiel, a 6-4 forward; Adam Doebert, Plymouth, 6-7 center; and Chris Wettstein, a 6-1 guard from Roncalli.

"There were three tied (for the final spot). It went to the other two," Bannasch said about the procedure, which meant his 6-4 standout had to settle for making the second team.

"I feel bad for Matt," Bannasch said, certain Parrent's talent was as good as the top six. This year, the "Big Daddy," as he is referred to by KHS announcer Dave Rockhill, averaged 13 points per game and six rebounds per game in the conference. "That was about fifth or sixth in the conference," Bannasch said about the rebounding average.

Parrent could have probably scored more but when the Indians got on their winning roll near the end of the season, it was teamwork that got them there, not individual play.

"We were spreading it out," Bannasch said, praising Parrent for being the team's catalyst and one of the team leaders.

"Every day he was a hard worker and a leader," Bannasch said about Parrent, who finished his career with a school record 1,075 points, "He motivated the other kids to push harder ... he also got others, including myself, to be better people."

Parrent had also been selected to the second team in the 2005-'06 balloting.

Others named to the second unit were: Jordan Schneider, New Holstein, Jr., guard; Logan Dellger, Plymouth, Jr., guard; Cody Lassila, Roncalli, Jr., guard; Jacob Juedes, Sheboygan Falls, Sr., guard; and Noah Timm, Two Rivers, Jr., guard.

Scheel averaged 9.5 points in conference games, according to Bannasch, who said, "Obviously, he's one of those kids who had a tremendous attitude toward the game."

The coach went on to say Scheel, the team's point guard, was the Indians' main outside threat and a good penetrator.

Talking about Scheel and Parrent, Bannasch said, "Right from the day the football season ended, they were ready to go to work."

Holt nearly didn't go out for basketball this season, and oh how happy Bannasch was that he did, helping the team with 10 points and six rebounds per contest.

"A funny story about John, I have coached him every year," Bannasch said, indicating Holt was elevated to the JV team as a freshman, and was with Bannasch again a second season on the JV squad as a sophomore.

"I knew he had the capability of becoming this kind of a player," Bannasch said, predicting Holt can be one of the top players in the EWC next season.

Writer's note: Port Washington, the team that ended Kewaskum's season in the second round of the WIAA Division 2 regional, is state bound. The Pirates defeated Pewaukee 66-64 in overtime Saturday in the sectional final.

Reportedly, Port Washington has not been to state in 70 years.
