Candidates begin preparations 2004 tax for 2008 Spring Election

By Andrew Kuehl

Statesman Managing Editor andrew@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- The season's first large snowfall happened last week on Saturday, December 1. While many local residents were preparing for a couple of inches of snow, local elected officials began their quest for re-

Gathering signatures for the Spring Election to be held on Tuesday, April 1, 2008, began Friday, De-

The Kewaskum Village Board is not expected to change much. Trust-Kevin Scheunemann, Harry Roecker and Steve Scheunemann are all expected to run for re-election. Kevin Scheunemann has served on the village board since April of 2001. Steve Scheunemann since April of 2003 and Roecker has served continuously since 2003 but also before that time as well.

Trustees receive a $600 annual salary and a $30 per diem per village board meeting and $15 per diem for committee meetings. They serve a two-year term. Anyone wishing to take out nomination papers can get copies at the Village Hall.

Candidates interested in a seat on the village board need to file an EB-1 campaign registration statement, EB-

162 declaration of candidacy and EB-169 nomination papers. If a candidate plans to spend over $1,000 on his or her campaign he or she must also fill out campaign finance paperwork. Questions should be directed to Clerk Stephanie Justmann at 626-8484

The Kewaskum Board of Education has three seats up for re-election. Board President John Kenworthy says he is undecided as to if he will seek a second term.

Former board president Jean Goeden, who is the board's longest serving member, stated Wednesday morning that she too was undecided returns to village in 2008

KEWASKUM- It was a question of raising taxes because they were able or having foresight for the largest road project the village has ever seen. The bottom line, village trustees approved a $5,118,954 budget with a $6.60 tax

Village trustees came into budget hearing on Thursday, November 29 with a budget less $18,000. Village Administrator Jay Shambeau informed the trustees that due to the amount of growth the village experienced they had the opportunity to increase the levy by 5.09% instead of the 3.86% set by the state legislature.

Raising the levy saw an additional $18,000 that could be added to the budget. Due to the significant expense of the upcoming reconstruction project for Main Street (Highway 28) in 2011, Shambeau urged the trustees to consider placing the additional $18,000 into the street maintenance

Shambeau also stated that growth statistics for 2007, would not allow the village to consider an increase in the levy for the 2009 budget.

"I'm not excited to raise taxes just cause we can, I think residents in the community have a lot on their plate already because of the sewer treatment plant," stated Village President Matt Heiser who was less than thrilled with the idea of the increase.

Trustee Kevin Scheunemann agreed, "The problem is this will be perceived we did this because we could and in the middle of a Packer (football) game."

"I think if we don't do this we'll regret it later. I'm not worried about votes. We're doing what is right. I don't want someone coming to me a year from now upset when we knew all these projects were coming and didn't budget appropriately," stated

Gerhartz draws large crowd at Library Lecture Series

Over 50 people attended a presentation at the Kewaskum Public Library on Tuesday, November 20, by local artist Dan Gerhartz. Library Director Steev Baker explained that Gerhartz presented a slide show of some of his paintings and discussed the creative process, how he decides on colors and composition, and displayed some of his original sketches. "He is the only speaker we've ever had bring people in at that capacity," stated Baker. According to his website (www.danielgerhartz.com) biography, he studied at the American Academy of Art in Chicago. Modern masters such as John Singer Sargent, Alphonse Mucha, Nicolai Fechin, Joaquin Sorolla, Carl von Marr as well as a host of other French and American impressionists have inspired him throughout his career.

Letter to the Editor

I would like to address the citizens and residents of the Kewaskum area, the school district, the students and the football program. I want to share two comments with all of you.

1) I am 65 years old and a lifelong resident of Kiel. I work with the chain gang at all of our home football games. I began my involvement with this back in the 1960's and have par-ticipated in a wide number of school activities over the past

It was a pleasure to be close-at-hand with your football team and coaches on Thursday, October 18th. Per-haps the public doesn't realize it, but the coaches and players are certainly aware that the new rules in recent years require the chain gang to move off of the side line after the ball is set. This situation causes much chaos in the area where the team is located. Your coaching staff and players cooperated fully and made our job a pleasure - that has not been the case with most of the other visiting teams.

In addition, it was a pleasure observing your coach gather and rally the team after emotions began to erode their focus and they committed foolish retaliation errors. We compliment and applaud the coaches and the players for doing the right things.

2) We also admire, respect and encourage your position and fortitude to maintain your history, your heritage, your name and your logo. There s no reason to buckle under and change who you are and have always been The rhetoric put forth by the Department of Public Instruction and their need to follow the lead of the American Psychological Association in asking schools to change their team name and logo just goes to show that we are not getting the service we are paying for with our tax dollars. If the government departments have nothing better to do then address school logos, we can see why we have educational difficulties in this state and country

Congratulations, kum Indians, on a fine football season, a great team and a proud community!

Sincerely, Jack Lechler

Winter parking in effect in village

KEWASKUM- As December 1 reared its head so did winter parking restrictions. Residents must now have their vehicles off all village streets by midnight to avoid paying a citation.

However, village trustees have asked Chief of Police Richard Knoebel to investigate raising the cost of the $10 citation. Trustees felt that many village residents were not moving vehicles because the cost of the ticket was not an effective measure in getting drivers to get their vehicles off village streets.

Knoebel reported back to the village board at their meeting on Thursday, November 29 and stated that Kewaskum's citations are on the low end. Trustees discussed the idea of raising the citation after January 1 to $15 or $20. A final decision will be made at the board's meeting later in December

The increase would also accelerate the citation doubling in cost if not paid within?

Chief Knoebel reminded the board that if residents get into a bind, they can get permission from the Police Department for keeping their vehicle on the road.

DEEP VEIN THROMBOSIS

Deep vein thrombosis is a type of thrombophlebitis, which is a combination of thrombo (clot) and phlebitis (inflammation in a vein). When a blood clot forms in a vein, the patient has thrombophlebitis. The condition most often strikes veins in the legs. Patients experience warmth, tenderness, and pain at the clot site and redness and swelling in the area. Clots can occur near the skin surface or deep within a muscle. One potentially fatal complication from deep thrombophlebitis involves a clot traveling to the lungs and blocking an artery. Risk factors for the formation of clots include long periods of inactivity, extended bed rest, certain cancers, stroke, pregnancy, use of oral contraceptives, a family history and varicose veins.

Speeding driver attempts to flee from police

On September 16, at 1:20 a.m. a Kewaskum Police Officer observed a vehicle driving north through the intersection of Highway H west at what appeared to be a high rate of speed. The officer used his radar gun and locked the vehicle in at 56 mph in a 30 mph zone.

The officer observed the vehicle turn into the parking lot of the Mobil gas station. It went around the pumps, slowed down, and then accelerated out of the parking lot, heading west on Clinton Street.

The officer gave chase as the vehicle proceeded onto Roseland Drive but lost the vehicle.

Upon checking the parking lot at the Meadow Creek Apartments the officer spotted the vehicle parked with multiple individuals hunched down in the seats.

Three passengers along with the driver were identified. It did not appear that any of them had been drinking.

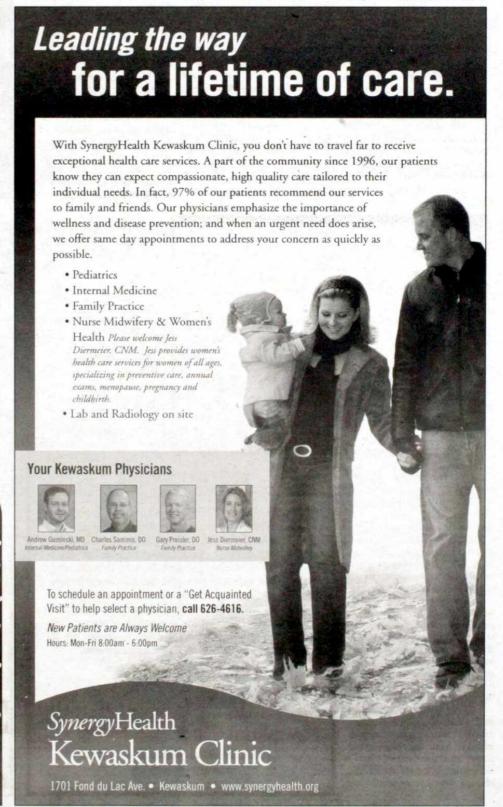

The driver was issued a citation for speeding and arrested for a misdemeanor count of fleeing an officer. He was later booked into the Washington County Jail.

Police reports are compiled and written by staff member Andrew Kuehl with the cooperation of the Kewaskum Police Department. If you have information on any of these incidents please contact the department at (262)626.2323.

Irish concert at UWWC December 7

Dubbed, Irish music's "dynamic duo," all-Ireland fiddle champion, Liz Carroll along with accomplished guitarist and singer/songwriter, John Doyle will perform in UW-Washington County's theatre on Friday, December 7 at 7:30pm. This concert promises to deliver an evening of high-quality folk and traditional Irish music. The UW-WC theatre is located on the second floor of the campus at 400 University Drive in West Bend (just off Hwy. 33 West). Free parking is available in the campus lot.

Born in Chicago to Irish immigrant parents, Liz Carroll picked up the fiddle as a young child. At age 18, she astounded the Celtic music world by winning the Senior All-Ireland Championship. Since then, Liz and her fiddle have been amazing audiences around the globe. While her performances are nothing short of remarkable and entrancing, Liz is also a talented composer. Most of her recordings are her own compositions.

Joining Liz on stage will be the immensely talented, John Doyle. From a musical family in Dublin, John went on the road as a pro at age 16 with the group Chanting House, which he formed with Susan McKeown. Doyle went on to form the highly acclaimed super group, Solas, with Seamus Egan, John Williams, Karan Casey and Winifred Horan, which took the folk and Celtic music worlds by storm. As a member of Solas, John performed to sold-out audiences nationally and internationally as well as appearing on many national TV and radio programs. As part of that critically acclaimed group, he also received three NAIRD awards and a Grammy nomination for the band's self-titled first recording.

KHS's Dymond selected as recipient UWWC English professor of Packers' Junior Quarterback award

Dan Dymond

By Andrew Kuehl

KEWASKUM- Awards just keep happening for players on the 2007 Indians football team. Kewaskum High School senior Dan Dymond has been selected to receive the Green Bay Packers Junior Quarterback Volunteer Award.

Each year, the Green Bay Packers and NFL Charities recognize outstanding volunteers within the state of Wisconsin through the Green Bay Packers Community Quarterback Award. Non-profit (501(c)(3) or 509) organizations are invited to nominate outstanding volunteers who demonstrate leadership, dedication, and a commitment to bettering their communities through volunteerism.

Dymond joins four other students from throughout Wisconsin who will be recognized for their volunteer efforts. A grant of $1,000 will be made to The Council on AODA, on his behalf which will be divided equally between Kewaskum Cares About Kids and STAND (students taking action not drugs), two programs Dymond volunteers for.

Dymond will be recognized at a dinner at Lambeau Field's Legends Club on Wednesday, January 9.

Dr. Chuck Rybak, an Assistant Professor of English at UW-Washington County was named a winner in a popular poetry contest sponsored by Mainstreet Rag. As a finalist, his prize included publication of his collection of 44 poems into a book, entitled Tongue and Groove.

A native of Buffalo, New York, Rybak earned his PhD in Literature and Creative Writing from the University of Cincinnati. His poetry has been published (or is forthcoming) in: The Fourth River, The Ledge, Pebble Lake Review, and Southern Poetry Review. He lives in Oneida with his wife, fiction writer Rebecca Meacham, and their daughter, Gwendolyn. His first chapbook, Nickel and Diming My Way Through, won Wind's Quentin R. Howard prize. His second chapbook, Liketown, was released by Pudding House Publications. He has taught at UW-WC since 2003.

Mainstreet Rag is an independent small press literary magazine that features poetry, short fiction, essays, photography, reviews and interviews Their annual poetry book award contest draws thousands of entries from around the world and utilizes "blind judging" in determining the winning selections. This process ensures that judges have no information about the authors when making their selections.

Rybak's poetry 90-page Tongue and Groove travels through the realms of popular culture, parenthood, war, mythology, and the challenges of everyday life. One of the poems from his book in-cludes the following, entitled

When my daughter yawned on the ultrasound I knew this image was my flesh and blood. my ally against incessant good moods and megaphone martyrs who pound their ills-no sleep, no time, no rest-and sound so proud in the process. Let us be bored. my dear, and let our open mouths exude that we're not interested today. Slow down. I admire the downy plush of yawns, the soft curve they open for reclining— a serviceberry blossom or the pink cup of a drowsy foxglove. NASA rover program at Ice Age Center

The Rovers' Four Years on Mars will be the next program in the Evening with Nature Series of the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit. The presentation will be held on Thursday, December 13, at the Ice Age Visitor Center starting at 7:00 p.m. The center is located a half mile west of Dundee off of Hwy 67. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

NASA's twin robot geologists, Spirit and Opportunity, landed on the opposite sides of Mars in January 2004. They are part of a long-term effort of robotic exploration of the red planet and the primary goal of this particular mission is to search for clues to past water activity on Mars. These twin robots have been working overtime taking amazing panoramic images of the planet's terrain and sampling the contents of Mars' surface.

Kevin Koski, a NASA ambassador, will share a spectacular video of what has been discovered so far by these twin robots about our closet planet neighbor. He will also entertain questions from the audience about the mission and provide further details about this incredible program.

After the inside presentation and if the weather cooperates, Koski will take people outside for some night sky observing. View far-off planets, stars and other night phenomena through powerful tele-

Helen Schoenborn

Helen Schoenborn is the next foreign exchange student we are highlighting. She comes to Kewaskum High School all the way from Germany

Schoenborn says it is very different being here, but it was "okay" adjusting. "The people are very nice here and make it easy for me to feel comfortable, but I still miss Europe," she says.

One difference of being Kewaskum, Schoenborn highlights that Americans are more independent with their transportation, like having cars, whereas in Europe there is greater reliance on public transportation. Villages and towns here are closer together compared to Europe.

Schoenborn says she likes KHS very much because we have such a big selection of classes that are offered to take. She also has enjoyed the German club, and plays on the basketball team. Her favorite thing about being here, she says, "the Wisconsin cheese."

She misses public transportation, riding her bike and horses, her family, the food and many more things about being back home.

Kewaskum School District announces policy for emergency school closings

Superintendent, Michael Krumm, has released for publication the 2007-2008 policy for school closings.

Radio stations WBKV (1470 AM and 92.5 FM West Bend), KFIZ (107 FM and 1450 AM Fond du Lac), WHBL (1330 AM and 97.7 FM Sheboygan), WTMJ/WKTI (620 AM/94 FM Milwaukee) and WISN 1130 AM/Channel 12 will be used to announce school closings. News stations will only announce a closing. If they do not announce Kewaskum, it means schools will be open. The announcement will be on the air as early as possible. The announcement will also be posted on the District Website: www.kewaskumschools. org

When school has opened but weather turns bad, it is recommended that parents listen to one of the above radio stations for a possible school closing announcement. The district is hesitant about closing school during the day but will do so if the safety of the students warrants it. Every effort will be made to announce school closings during the day at least an hour before they dismiss the students.

Also, parochial school students and special education students will not be transported when district schools close. Decisions to delay the opening of schools will be made judiciously. In cases of a late start, early childhood and four year kindergarten programs are automatically cancelled. However, afternoon classes will still operate under their normal schedule.

Be not ashamed of mistakes and thus make them crimes. -Confucius

Sylvan Learning's Helpful Hints for Student Success:

Inspire your child by choosing toys and games that are fun and educational

With toy store shelves overflowing and catalogues filled with the latest gadgets, the search for the perfect toys and games can be a daunting task for parents. While toys and games are fun for children, they also help kids develop valuable skills including imagination, creativity, problem solving and confidence. When selecting educational toys and games, parents are encouraged to consider gifts that are appropriate for their children's ages and skill levels as well as their specific inter-

Encourage your child to engage in a variety of play activities to foster learning, but remember that parents have an important role in play, too. Sylvan recommends that families make regular time for play. For example, a weekly game night teaches that playing is a part of everyone's routine, and instills the basic rules of fair play and teamwork.

Sylvan Learning Center offers the following suggestions to help parents identify toys that encourage active learning and make the most of play this holiday season:

Pre-School Students

Consider puzzles to help build critical thinking and reasoning skills.

Look for toys that encourage skills in recognizing colors, letters, textures and sound.

To develop motor skills, try activity mats, building blocks and Tinker Toys".

To help children learn to match pictures/shapes and practice counting, look for card games.

To spark creativity and imagination, consider and crafts kits and toy musical instruments.

Elementary School Students

Elementary school-aged students are beginning to understand and use strategy and probability skills. To foster these developments, look for board games and computer games.

Science kits, chemistry sets and telescopes help develop critical thinking skills.

Look for games that encourage children to pay close attention and practice listening and concentration skills.

If children struggle with math, parents can encourage math games and activities to further develop their math skills. If science is a challenge, make science fun with a chemistry set.

project-based Consider toys such as model airplanes. ships or jewelry kits to help improve fine motor skills. Not only do these projects reinforce motor skills, children also learn to follow instructions and have a project they can work on for days.

Middle and High School Students

Science kits become more advanced for older children and provide an opportunity for children to experiment, be creative and follow directions.

Encourage a combination of group and individual play team sports like a baseball or soccer team and individual activities like reading, scrap booking or journal writing.

Find board games that help children improve vocabulary skills.

CHRISTMAS WALK HELD IN CAMPBELLSPORT

At CHS, there were several craft stations for kids to make ornaments, picture frames and other fun holiday keepsakes. They could even get them gift wrapped if it was going to be a gift for mom or dad.

Time passes - but the sorrow remains in our hearts. We know you're in a much better place, but we miss you so. They say time heals all - then we question why our hearts ache so much. A Little Fruitcake

By David Valdes Greenwood DaCapo Press, $14.95 182 pages

For eleven months of the year, you barely think about it. But every Christmastime, the memory of it fills your brain with the same kind of feelings you had that holiday way back

Maybe that morning, Santa brought you what you wanted more than anything else. Or maybe you didn't get what you want, and it still stings after all these years. Or perhaps a family member's presence or absence makes you recall that Christmas more than any others you've had in your life.

We all have those unforgettable Christmases, but only the brave put them to paper. Author David Valdes Greenwood is one of those souls, and in the new book "A Little Fruitcake", Valdes Greenwood shares twelve memories of Christmas past and a few that should have just been passed.

Starting with his fifth Christmas, Valdes Greenwood remembers how much he wanted a doll of his very own that year. His newly-divorced mother was prepared to wrap the toy and put it under the tree. Valdes Greenwood's formidable Grammy, a small woman who seems, in this book, to be 10 feet tall, was completely against her youngest grandson's wish. The first chapter in this book "The Powder Keg Under the Tree" speaks to the child in us who captured the gift most wanted, despite adult misgivings.

A little later in a kid's life comes the time when he or she questions the presence of a Santa on every street corner. Has the truth been deduced? In the chapter entitled "Bad to Santa", Valdes Greenwood and his older brother figure it all out, but instead of being nice about it, they're definitely naughty.

And who can forget those old sibling skirmishes at Christmas? Grammy was famous for her fudge, her divinity, and her fruitcake, and in "The War of the Fudges", she finds an unusual (but very practical) way to even out the "he's got more than me"

And then there's the time when a kid realizes he's not a kid any more, and Christmases are changed forever. In the last chapter, Valdes Greenwood remembers the end of his childhood and the sudden realization that his nutty-as-afruitcake family was actually way more than just half-baked.

This time of year, when you're about finished fighting the crowds and listening to the umpteenth rendition of "Jingle Bells", there's an antidote to all that perfunctory cheer: real cheer, in the form of a book like "A Little Fruitcake" will make you laugh out loud at some of the universal, almostfrom-a-movie memories that Valdes Greenwood shares, including messing up at Christmas programs, being the kid most picked-on, and the oh-no feeling you get when you know that precious last crinkly paperwrapped package under the tree contains (ugh) new socks. Later on in the book, the memories sober up a bit but are no less appealing in their everyman feel.

If you cherish any memories of Christmas past, let this book help you remember and laugh. "A Little Fruitcake" is a real peach of a holiday book.

BUSINESS NEWS

New MPTC veterinary technical program achieves accreditation

Moraine Park Technical College's Veterinary Technician program was recently awarded a provisional accreditation by the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA). Accreditation by the AVMA Council on Education and Committee on Veterinary Technician Education and Activities represents the highest standard of achievement for veterinary medical education in the U.S.

One of only two Veterinary Technician programs in Wisconsin, Moraine Park's program is in its second year and off to a very strong start, with a full roster of students both years.

"We were really excited to show the AVMA site team our program," said Laura Lien, BS, CVT, veterinary technician instructor and program director. "We are still working on curriculum development this semester and are constantly reviewing and taking in feedback from students, clinical supervisors and the advisory committee to make revisions and changes. We've used outside content experts for our curriculum to make sure we are on the cutting edge of veterinary medicine."

According to the AVMA Web site, www. avma.org, provisional accreditation is granted to new programs in veterinary technology where students have not completed the entire curriculum and/or the programs have not produced sufficient numbers of graduates to adequately assess outcomes. Programs may remain on provisional accreditation for up to five years. Graduates of a provisionally accredited program are graduates of an AVMA-accredited program.

The College has shown its ability to meet or exceed the standards set by AVMA which include curriculum, physical facilities and equipment, financial, organizational, library facilities, faculty, staff, higher education accreditation, assessment and others," said Lien. For Moraine Park graduates, the accreditation means they are eligible to sit for the national and state board exam in Wisconsin and become certified veterinary technicians if they pass, according to Lien. As AVMA-accredited graduates, they have greater mobility throughout the U.S. and Canada. Since credentialing requirements vary from state to state, the AVMA status gives graduates the best chance of being eligible for credentialing wherever they go

Offered as an online associate degree, Moraine Park's Veterinary Technician program focuses on the basic skills needed to assist veterinarians in the overall health care, handling and restraint, and disease diagnosis and prevention of large and small animals. Students learn practical applications in animal anatomy and physiology, pharmacology and pathology, and how to assist with surgery, instrumentation and office procedures. Clinical sites are used to practice the actual procedures that veterinary technicians perform.

A second instructor, Kelly Mowell, MS, DVM, has joined Lien. Mowell moved to Wisconsin from Kansas to practice in an area that supports both dairy and small animal veterinary medicine. "The variety of cases that Wisconsin offers and the wonderful people in this state have kept me here," she said. Mowell and her family have four dogs and two cats. She enjoys participating in canine sports such as agility, obedience, hunting, tracking and conformation. In 2007, she shifted her focus from practicing veterinary medicine in the large and small animal fields to teaching at Moraine Park. "In my opinion, having a great veterinary technician more than doubles the quality and the quantity of veterinary medicine a doctor can perform," said Mowell.

Prior to becoming a Moraine Park instructor in 2006, Lien worked at the University of Wisconsin Veterinary Medical Teaching Hospital for eight years in Large Animal Internal Medicine, where she earned the Veterinary Technician of the Year Award three times. She is working on a Veterinary Technician Specialty in Internal Medicine with the Academy of Internal Medicine for Veterinary Technicians and serving as their director-at-large for the Large Animal sub-specialization. Other accomplishments include co-authoring several published articles based on research data. developing an ancillary text for a textbook and publishing a case report in the January 2007 issue of Veterinary Technician Journal.

For more information about Moraine Park's Veterinary Technician program, visit www.morainepark.edu and click on Academics, or call 1-800-472-4554. A program video can be viewed on the Web site.

The Kewaskum Indians opened the 1982-83 basketball season at home Friday night in their annual non-conference battle against Slinger. The Owls won by a larger margin than usual, 70-58, over the young, rebuilding Indians but the teams evenly matched until Slinger surged ahead in the final few minutes. The first turning point came early in the second quarter when 6-4 forward Dennis Butz injured an elbow when he crashed to the floor and was through for the night. It was reported that Butz broke a bone in his arm in his fall and will be lost to the team about six weeks. With his loss, the Indians lost much of their rebounding power.

The Kewaskum girls varsity basketball team started where they left off last season, when they were runnerup in the WIAA state tournament in Madison, with a non-conference victory over Slinger there last Thursday night by the score of 51-42. Senior Linda Larsen, the Eastern Wisconsin conference's most valuable player and leading scorer last year, also started where she left off with a game high 29 points. She also pulled down 10 rebounds. Junior center Julie Koepke added 14 points and also pulled down 15 rebounds.

Near miss... Earn-a-buck means trophy walks

The dream and the nightmare stepped into a tiny clearing and stood down the barrel of the muzzleloader at 45 yards. Still an hour before sundown, the big Dunn County deer had begun to work slowly up the dry gully wash toward the cut corn harvested just after the gun season on the field above. Its progress was betrayed only on occasion by a flash of grey through the scrub oaks or the crunch of fallen leaves.

I leaned into the birch for cover where I stood on the portable treestand carried in on my back two hours before, the .50 caliber Knight cradled in my arms. My bare hands felt the sting of cold steel. I peeked around the trunk and strained down through the tight clutter, cursing the breath betraying my hiding place in the bitter cold temperatures. I needed to know what this animal was without giving up my ambush.

The deer wasn't concerned with me, had no clue that I waited above. Finally, I raised the gun in anticipation of its arrival in the clearing, and watched a very big buck step in, stop and turn his head away. White, heavy antlers curled out beyond his ears, up, and forward. He was probably 170 pounds. He was the dream.

Under the close tutelage of my partner, JJ Reich, I could place a two-inch group with the new muzzleloader at 60 yards. I placed the sight on his vitals before allowing the gun to slowly drop again to a cradle.

This was an Earn-A-Buck unit near Colfax. After one day in the field, Reich and I were still without an antlerless deer that would give the green light to harvest a buck. The buck was safe. He was the nightmare. I watched as he stood inside the wood corner at the top of the gully wash for ten minutes before risking a quiet-move into a pine stand.

I thought about Reich and the scenario that had just played out. My friend and host on his wife's family farm in Dunn County is Senior Field test Coordinator for North American Hunter and North American Fisherman magazines and the author of two in a planned series of innovative outdoor children's book that properly introduce kids to the world of hunting.

As Field Test Coordinator for the magazines out of Minnetonka, Minnesota, which at 750,000 and 440,000 circulations collectively surpass Outdoor Life or Field & Stream, he writes reviews of outdoor products based on the opinions of the publication's member/ readers. 88,000 members receive outdoor products to test and evaluate annually. Ready access to those cutting edge products also mean that, for example, while Reich might climb a tree and use a retractor line tool latched to his belt to retrieve equipment left on the ground, this professional reporter climbed a tree Saturday with a camera strap clamped in his teeth. Nobody's perfect.

Reich's new books under Kampp Tales Outdoor Adventures are first-of-a-kind, cartoon style books intended to help sportsmen and women share their love of the outdoors with kids. The two new children's books are written for families who hunt, fish and generally love the outdoors.

"Deer Dad" is the 32 page, hardcover picture book and the first of a series that focus on animal facts, centered on a hunting family who want to learn more about wildlife. Also the first in a series, "Snort, Sneeze, Rattle & Grunt" is a 64-page hardcover chapter book that focuses on what a day of hunting might be like while introducing the young reader to safety, techniques, ethics, animal facts and family fun. Fishing will also be a major part of the book se-

Reich became an author of outdoor books and in fact landed his field test position in the outdoor industry first and foremost because of a pure love for the outdoors. He learned how to write like an editor prefers and learned how to make himself valuable to a magazine because of a passion to hunt and fish. But, like all of us, Reich can run into frustrations in the field.

Six hours before my encounter with the big buck, Reich had lowered his own muzzleloader on a deer in the brush. With just his own doe tag to fill or my Earn-A-Buck antlerless tag, he was "almost" sure he was on a doe. But a little voice of doubt told him he might be looking at spike antlers. When he refrained from squeezing the trigger, the animal turned in a way that took away the probability of a quick kill but allowed him to verify that the deer was indeed antlerless. Had he dropped that deer, I would have been eligible to drop the trophy buck later.

'They've adopted Earn-A-Buck so that we kill more deer," he said. "But I think it can make us paranoid that we're going to break the law. I think maybe we don't kill as many deer because of the regulation. We would have had two deer down this weekend. We don't have any."

JJ Reich also found a parallel between our own experiences over two days in northwest Wisconsin and the messages he tries to convey in his books. Not filling a tag is often part of the hunt. So were conditions that included cold and driving

What we did out here could have been the theme of one of our books," he said. "We tried different techniques. We sat in proven stands and then you decided to choose an area to hunt with your portable climbing stand. We ran into some questions and didn't shoot. That's ethics, even though it's frustrating. Every hunt doesn't go like you hope or plan. That's challenging. That's hunting. And that's good:

Inexperienced boys b-ball team has rough start

By Nathan Kenworthy

Losing Matt Parrent to graduation was going to be tough enough. Playing with many new faces on the varsity team was not going to make it any easier. The Indians will attempt to move forward this season after losing Parrent, the leading scorer and rebounder, from the previous three sea-

Kewaskum coach Bobby Bannasch is starting his second season as head coach. The young Indians team, which lacks quality varsity minutes, will be looking to grow up quickly on the court.

The team traveled to Plymouth Friday night, in search of opening their season and conference schedule with a victory. Plymouth was playing its second game of the season, after losing to Milwaukee. Custer in heartbreak fashion by two points. However, there was not going to be a thrilling finish to the game Friday night. "We really looked inexperienced on the floor," said Bannasch. "Our guards struggled mightily all night with the pressure that was put on by the Panther's defense." That pressure led the Indians into 27 turnovers. It also resulted in the Indians having "no rhythm and not running our offense." The Panthers beat the Indians 74 to 31.

Another reason that the Indians were unsuccessful in Plymouth was because of the slow transition back to defense, which led to many easy points for the Panthers. Junior Brandon Conroy led the Indians in scoring and rebounds, with 9 points and 5 boards. Senior John Holt added 6 points. Jimmy Lukasavitz of Plymouth led all scorers with 14 points.

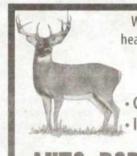

The Panthers of Plymouth will play at home against Sheboygan Falls this week. The Indians will look to rebound as they host Waupun this Thursday night, December 6th at 7:00 pm.

Comeback staged by underclassmen lifts KHS to victory

ABOVE- Bo Seibel won his match against New Holstein's Eric Schmitz at 125. The Indians wrestling team had a great opening to their season at home on Tuesday, November 27. BELOW- P.J. Krueger also had success against Matt Lechler at 215.

What a thrilling way to open the 2007-'08 wrestling season!

Down by 16 points, 28-12, after the heavyweight match, the Kewaskum Indians won five in a row, including two by freshmen and one by a sophomore, to emerge with an exciting 37-28 victory over visiting New Holstein in front of a large and appreciative home crowd.

Coming through in a big way for Kewaskum last Tuesday night were Jared Koffke at 103, Robbie Maertz at 119 and Bo Seibel at 125, all wrestling in their very first varsity meets. Caleb Olla also looked very sharp.

Maertz drew the Indians even with the Huskies (28-28) with his 10-2 major decision over David Alarmo with the final point scored at the final buzzer.

After receiving some encouraging words from his brother, Cody, Bo Seibel roared out onto the match and took control right from the start. He took Eric Schmitz down in a matter of 18 seconds, using a tough single leg for a 2-0 advantage.

Later in the period, Seibel ran an arm bar and slowly moved Schmitz's shoulders nearer to the mat. With 10 seconds remaining in the 'period, it didn't look as if he could be able to finish Schmitz off but mustering every bit of strength he had, Seibel pushed hard to hear the sound he was waiting for.

The slap of the official's hand meant Seibel had a pin and six more points for KHS, and now the Indians had a sixpoint lead.

Olla wasn't about to let the Huskies come back for a tie. He needed just 20 seconds for an opening-period takedown and as things turned out, those were the only points scored.

Olla couldn't get away from Schmitz in the second period, and Olla rode his Husky opponent for the final two minutes to preserve the team win.

"Oh shoot, yeah," KHS coach Dennis Aupperle said, concerning the level of excitement in the season-opener. "Jared at 103 looked good ... and Robbie Maertz and Bo." "Some of these kids, you don't know what to expect," Aupperle said, adding, "Robbie had a pretty decent kid there."

Olla drew plenty of praise from his coach, who said, "That Schmitz kid is pretty solid. Caleb wrestled him pretty good ... looked tough."

While Aupperle was pleased to get the victory, he feels his team needs better conditioning. "We looked tired ... I don't know," Aupperle said, then said perhaps it wasn't fatigue as much as sluggishness.

"They'll be running tomorrow morning at 5:30," Aupperle promised, indicating the team has been practicing early on Wednesdays because of the early release that day. And the veteran coach, starting his eighth season, was considering two practices for Wednesday.

Other KHS winners included: P.J. Krueger at 225 and Nathan Seitz at 140. Seitz looked much improved over last season, dominating senior Kris Warner. Seitz took a 6-2 lead after the first period, then scored an escape and a takedown before pinning Warner right at the second-period buzzer.

In a battle of two extremely strong young men, P.J. Krueger found himself behind Matt Lechler 2-1 at the end of the first period, but after reversing his opponent, he used a power half for his pinning combination in 3:55.

Steve Kudek added six points on a forfeit at 112.

With Matt Buker out for another week because of grades, Aupperle tried a bold move, moving up Ray Wollner, Cody Kerr and Eric Turowski and all three lost decisions, Turowski's just by a single point.

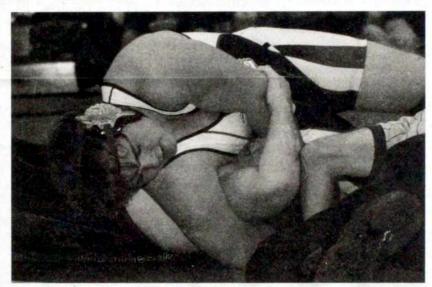

"We lost all of 'em, didn't we?" Aupperle, said, assessing, "It didn't do us any good."

The KHS coach won't have to worry about such moves in the future when Buker and Cody Seibel come back. Seibel is currently out with a broken finger, and Aupperle said, "He goes to the doctor tomorrow. He should be ready in a week and a half," and that's good news for the Indians because Seibel won 26 matches last year, won an Eastern Wisconsin Conference title and advanced to sectionals.

Kewaskum entertained EWC foe Plymouth on Tuesday night.

Wrestlers go 5-0 to claim trophy at Lomira

By Judy Harlow

Statesman Sports Correspondent

Five more teams learned Saturday what New Holstein discovered on Nov. 27 ... the Kewaskum High wrestling team might be young, but it is also very tough.

The Indians came away from the annual Lomira Duals with a perfect 5-0 mark, including a 54-19 decision over Homestead, a 40-30 effort over Sheboygan South, a convincing 43-24 triumph over Berlin and a 54-28 win over Cedar Grove. The host Lions didn't have much luck against the Indians either, falling 51-24.

"The kids all did an outstanding job," KHS coach Dennis Aupperle said Sunday, noting, "As a team, these guys had their goal set to finish first and wrestled as a team." Kewaskum had finished second in the event several times, but Aupperle said, "We haven't' done that (taking first) for a while, at least eight years that I know of."

Leading the way individually for KHS was 215-pound junior P.J. Krueger, who went a perfect 5-0 for the second year in a row and pinned all five of his opponents.

"four of them were firstperiod pins," Aupperle said. "He did an excellent job, got out there and got after kids right away."

Krueger pinned Adam Neihls of Lomira in 1:14, Wayne Paulus of Cedar Grove in 1:39, Travis Heitpas of Berlin in :32, Dan Reinbold of South in :44 and Robert Gunther of Homestead in 1:25.

In case you are wondering, that's a total of only six minutes and 34 seconds, the equivalent of just one regulation match.

It was also good for the Indian fans to see sophomore Cody Seibel go 5-0 on the day at 189. Seibel had a cast on his thumb Tuesday evening when the Indians defeated New Holstein, had it removed the following day, and on Saturday came on like gang busters according to Aupperle.

Seibel pinned Ryan Greve of Homestead in 1:25, posted a major decision over Jorge Godbert of South by a score of 9-1, defeated Berlin's Nate Huck 6-1, picked up a forfeit against Cedar Grove and pinned Steve Knuth of Lomira in a swift 15 seconds.

Aupperle said Seibel was especially aggressive against Huck, adding, "He wrestled with a lot of intensity."

Cody's little brother, Bo, also had a good outing, going

4-1 on the day. He received one forfeit, and posted pins over Lomira's Nick Zehren in 1:34, J.D. Reeves of Berlin in :19 and South's Dustin Griffin in 2:45.

Bo Seibel's only loss was by pin to Geoff Hilt in 3:43, and he was ahead 6-0 at the time.

Aupperle said he had five others who went 4-1 on the day, including Jared Koffke at 103, Rob Maertz at 119, Caleb Olla at 130, Ray Wollner at 152 and Eric Turowski at 171.

"Overall, our lower weights did a great job, freshmen Jared Koffke, Maertz and Seibel and the sophomore Olla," Aupperle said, praising his entire squad.

The Indians, currently 6-0 overall, travel to Kiel on Dec. 13th, then compete in the rugged Marty Loy Classic on Saturday, Dec. 15.

Girls basketball team ends losing streak

By Nathan Kenworthy

Statesman Sports Correspondent

After winning the first game of the season, the expectations are going to be much higher than in previous years for the Kewaskum High School girls basketball team. The Indians victory at Cedar Grove-Belgium ended the 46 game skid that had haunted the previous two seasons.

The Lady Indians went to Random Lake on Tuesday, November 27, trying to make a new streak of a different fashion. However, they came out flat and "played an all-around bad game," according to Coach Jeff Gosse. The team had 37 turnovers, and were unable to ever bring the game close. Stephanie Rinzel led the team with eight points. The Rams beat the Indians 47-30.

On Thursday, November 29, the Indians hosted the Plymouth Panthers in the conference and home opener. "We had a terrible first quarter, where we found ourselves down 12," said Gosse. "We had some opportunities to bring the game close, but couldn't make our free throws." The Indians shot just five for 22 from the line. Anna Butler was the leading scorer for the home team with 11 points. Kewaskum did show improvement by playing the Panthers nearly even over the final three quarters. Once again, turnovers showed to be crucial, with the Indians turning the ball over 30 times. They lost the game with a score of 50-35.

The team played very well on Saturday, December 1, and showed that they were not going to be pushed over this season. They led 38-31 with four minutes left, before Beaver Dam came back to win 49-41, which was especially hard to take after the first three quarters. "We just fell apart down the stretch," said a disappointed Gosse. Sophomore Elissa Miller led Kewaskum with an impressive 18 points.

On Sunday, December 2, the Indians played a "tale of two halves" said Gosse. They fell down 25-8 at halftime, before they stormed back to lead 30-29 in the early fourth quarter. However, Mayville proved to be just too much to handle as they won 40-37. Anna
