Adopt-a-Family program successful in C-Sport

Gifts waiting to be delivered to needing families in the Campbellsport area fill a room at St. Matthew Church in Campbellsport. Another room, not photographed was filled with food according to Jane Osypowski, parish secretary. RIGHT: Campbellsport Women's Club President Ruth Defatte, is shown in another room with gifts. The Women's Club and the Campbellsport Lions Club purchased and shopped for Christmas items for some of the recipients of the program. Another room, which I did not take a photo of, is packed full of food items for the families.

PSC reduces rate request for WE Energies

MADISON- The Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSC) approved an increase in We Energies' electric and natural gas rates. The approved amount was less than that requested by the utility and will help cover costs associated with meeting energy demands, renewable energy requirements outlined in 2005 Wisconsin Act 141, emissions control equipment and other environmental improvements.

In a verbal decision, the Commission set overall 2008 and 2009 electric rates for We Energies to increase by 3.4 percent for each year. This would increase the average residential homeowner's electric bill by about $3.75 per month each year. In addition, the Commission approved a 2.1 percent increase for Wisconsin Gas Company natural gas customers and a 0.7 percent increase for Wisconsin Electric Gas Company customers. This would increase the average residential monthly natural gas bill by about $1.87 for Wisconsin Gas Company and $0.34 for Wisconsin Electric Company. The Commission also approved a 10.75 percent return on equity for We Energies.

German Scholar to speak at MWA on Origins of Wisconsin Art: The Munich Academy

WEST BEND --- German scholar Leon Krempel, PhD, of Germany will speak on the Origins of Wisconsin Art: The Munich Academy at the Museum of Wisconsin Art (MWA) on Saturday, January 26, at 4:00 p.m. Dr. Krempel is the Curator of Munich's Haus der Kunst (as the Academy is now known) and will lecture on the connections and influence between Wisconsin and the Munich Academy.

In the 19th century many of Wisconsin's artists traveled to Germany to study, motivated by ethnic heritage and better, more prestigious art schools. The Academy of Fine Arts Munich was a favorite destination for many, including Carl von Marr, Frank Enders, Alexander Mueller and Gustave Moeller among others. Upon their return they brought their German experiences with them and this greatly influenced the course of Wisconsin art in the early 20th century through teaching and exhibitions.

Dr. Krempel is currently curating a major international exhibition about the Munich Academy and it will include several Wisconsin artists including Carl von Marr. This lecture will mark Dr. Krempel's first visit to the MWA as part of a global curatorial search for paintings to be included in this landmark exhibition; it is likely that he will borrow from their collection. His talk will reveal the legacy of the Haus der Kunst and how it connects Milwaukee to Munich.

The Haus der Kunst (literally "House of Art") in Munich is the city's premier art exhibition venue with its origins in the early 19th century. Dr. Krempel studied history of art, classical archaeology and philosophy in Mainz, Munster and Bonn from 1988 onwards. In 1998 he received his doctorate with a thesis on Nicholas Maes, a pupil of Rembrandt. A highly experienced curator, he has worked on exhibitions such as the 2000 Museumsinsel by Ryuji Miyamoto at the State Museums for Prussian Cultural Collections in Berlin; Camera Elinga. Peter Janssens meets Jeff Wall at the State Art Institute in Frankfurt and The Gods of Ancient Greece at the Glyptothek in Munich.

The Museum of Wisconsin Art (formerly the West Bend Art Museum) is located in downtown West Bend at 300 South 6th Avenue. Public hours are Wednesday - Saturday 10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. and Sunday 1:00 - 4:30 p.m. For more information, call (262) 334-9638 or visit their website at www.wisconsinart.org.

Coping with Winter's Weather program

The "An Evening with Nature Series" at the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit continues with the program "Coping with Winter's Weather." The program will be held on Thursday, January 10, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Are you a person who enjoys such winter activities as snowboarding, skiing, ice fishing, snowshoeing, hiking winter camper, or bird watching? Are you a person who works outdoors all year round? Or are you someone who would like to try some of these winter activities, but just can't beat the challenge of the cold, snow and ice of winter? Join us as we learn about the cold weather health hazards faced by humans and how to prevent and treat them. We will cover such topics as frost bite, dehydration and hypothermia.

As part of the program, we will explore some of the tried and true ways to beat winter's weather. We also discover what new technologies in clothing and gear are available to help you enjoy the wonders of this season.

For further information or directions, contact the staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The center's phone number is (920) 533-8322 and is open Wednesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Plow your way over to the Ice Age Visitor Center for an evening of winter fun.

January is Mentoring Month

Big Brothers Big Sisters is pleased to be a part of National Mentoring Month 2008 (NNM 2008), a month-long campaign dedicated to recruiting caring adult mentors for America's youth.

Research has shown that programs that rely on volunteer mentors can play a powerful role in reducing drug abuse and youth violence, while greatly enhancing a young person's prospects for leading a healthy and productive life.

The Harvard Mentoring Project, MENTOR, and the Corporation for National and Community Service are leading the NMM 2008 effort, which aims to raise awareness of the various forms of mentoring; recruit individuals in the community to mentor; and promote the rapid growth of mentoring in our community and across the nation.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington County is supporting this national effort and encourages all adult community members to do the same.

"Big Brothers Big Sisters - is the resolution you'll want to keep!" according to Heidi Sternig, Community Relations Coordinator for Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington County. "We have 40 plus children living in Washington County, ranging from six -14 years old, who are waiting for a volunteer mentor," Sternig said. "You just might be that caring adult who will make a difference to very special child."

Resolve to make a difference in 2008. Support National Mentoring Month by calling Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington County at (262) 334-7896 for information on becoming a mentor or apply online at www.bbbswashco.org. Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington is dedicated to putting hope in a child's future by putting a friend in a child's life.

KHS students complete Odyssey project

The Kewaskum High School Library has been showcasing the English 9 class' latest project. Instructor Tiffany Kraus explained the project, "We began the project on November 12, discussing Greek Mythology to get a background on ancient Greek customs and beliefs. This helped us when we began to read "The Odyssey" written by Homer. We then moved into "The Odyssey" on the 19th of November and are still working on it." Taking a hands on approach students do some type of re-telling activity instead of reading the story and answering the questions after each section. Each of these projects must convey what they learned in the reading.

All preparation for the retelling activities and the reading is done in class. All reading is done out loud by myself or other students. To receive extra points for their group also referred to as a ship, they can create projects shown above such as a ship, sea chest, ship flag, and memorial of a fallen comrade. These are done outside of class. They can also receive extra points by creating a diorama or picture of each episode read. "I like to do the project this way because it focuses on group work and teaches the kids the importance of teamwork. It also allows the artistic students to show off their talents. Finally, it is a "fun" way of teaching classic literature, and the students really enjoy it," Kraus stated.

DAYS GONE BY

25 Years Ago

December 17, 1982

The Reverend Miss Donna Marie Lee was ordained to the Christian ministry and formally installed as pastor of Salem United Church of Christ in Wayne on December 12, 1982 in a special service at 4 p.m.

Linda Larsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Larsen of Kewaskum, and Amy Vetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vetter of Adell, have been chosen as the Kiwanis students for the month of December.

Kewaskum's wrestlers started strong, recording four straight pins and needed every one of them in recording a 31-21 Parents' Night win over Oostburg here last Tuesday night. Paul Riley at 98 pounds, Wade Jepsen at 105, Dave Kudek at 112 and Bob Callison at 119 all pinned their opponents with only one of the four matches going into the second period, giving the Indians a 24-0 lead. Oostburg came back to win at 126, 132 and 145 and continued to beat the Indians at two of their strengths, Stuart Stautz at 155 and Steve Seitz at 167. Chris Harlow sewed up the match, however, at 185 pounds with an 11-1 major decision. In the last bout undefeated Scott Durian lost 4-2.

On Saturday, Kewaskum placed third out of seven schools in the Horicon Wrestling Invitational. The Indians won two championships. Stuart Stautz at 155 decided Jeff Beine of Slinger and Steve Seitz at 167 decided Chris Jaglin. Kewaskum's second place winners were Bob Callison at 119 and Chris Harlow at 185.

Free throws again made the difference in the outcome of the Kewaskum vs. Chilton girls' basketball game here Tuesday night. The Indians won their fifth straight by the score of 54-42. Senior ace Linda Larsen again led her team with 31 points and pulled down 23 rebounds. Junior Holly Kempf turned in a great performance, chipping in 10 points. Junior center Julie Koepke also had a number of rebounds.

A son was born to Lloyd and Amy Pamperin, Allenton, on December 6.

Schaefer, treasurer, and George Koerble, secretary. The office of chief is not elective. Chief Harry J. Schaefer is appointed by the village board.

December 16, 1932

A community Christmas tree was erected in front of the Kewaskum city hall on Thursday of this week by Bernard Seil and members of the committee appointed by the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce. The tree is sponsored by the local business and professional men. It is planned to have a short program around the tree on December 21. Christmas carols will be sung and Santa Claus will be expected at the tree at 7 p.m. and will distribute bags of candy, fruit and nuts to all children under 14.

Winter took a very strong hold last Sunday when four inches of snow fell and blanketed the entire community. On Monday a heavy gale blew, the weather grew colder as the day advanced and by 8 p.m. the thermometer registered five degrees below zero. The second cold wave of the week from the northwest arrived Wednesday night and Thursday morning when 14 degrees below zero was registered.

A recent syndicated newspaper article pointed out that present and future Congresses must expect to face an army of irate taxpayers. These "rebellious Americans" believe that the increasing cost of government is the greatest menace now facing the country and drastic retrenchments is vital to the work of recovery.

100 Years Ago

Fred Schuler, who had the Nic Mayer shoe store rented for the past two months, left for Hales Corners last Monday where his family is residing. Mr. Mayer has now rented his shop to his son Joseph.

The rain and cloudy weather last Monday turned into a real blizzard in the evening with a slight snowfall. On Tuesday and Wednesday mornings the weather was near the zero point.

The village fire department received a chemical fire extinguishing machine last week.

A.G. Koch was reappointed as postmaster of Kewaskum for a term of four years.

The mill at Boltonville has again changed hands. L. Tillson is the present owner.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. August Kirchner of Kewaskum.

"A Second Chance for Building Materials"

Pistachio-Crusted Beef Rib Roast With Holiday Wine Sauce

Total preparation and cooking time:
2-3/4 to 3-1/2 hours

- 1 beef rib roast (2 to 4 ribs), small end, chine (back) bone removed (6 to 8 pounds)

Seasoning:

- 1/2 cup unsalted shelled pistachios, finely chopped
- 1/4 cup coarsely crushed coriander seeds
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh thyme
- 2 tablespoons Colavita Extra Virgin Olive Oil
- 1 teaspoon coarse grind black pepper

Holiday Wine Sauce:

- 2 tablespoons Colavita Extra Virgin Olive Oil
- 4 ounces cremini or button mushrooms, sliced
- 1/4 cup finely chopped shallots
- 1 cup ready-to-serve beef broth, divided
- 1 cup Sutter Home Cabernet Sauvignon
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 teaspoon fresh thyme leaves
- Salt

- Heat oven to 350°F. Combine seasoning ingredients; press evenly onto all surfaces of beef roast.
- Place roast, fat side up, in shallow roasting pan. Insert ovenproof meat thermometer so tip is centered in thickest part of beef, not resting in fat or touching bone. Do not add water or cover. Roast in 350°F oven 2-1/4 to 2-1/2 hours for medium rare; 2-3/4 to 3 hours for medium doneness.
- Remove roast when meat thermometer registers 135°F for medium rare; 150°F for medium. Transfer roast to carving board; tent loosely with aluminum foil. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes. (Temperature will continue to rise about 10°F to reach 145°F for medium rare; 160°F for medium.)
- Meanwhile prepare Holiday Wine Sauce. Heat olive oil in large nonstick skillet over medium heat until hot. Add mushrooms and shallots; cook and stir 6 to 9 minutes or until mushrooms are tender and browned. Remove from skillet; keep warm. Add 3/4 cup broth and wine to skillet; cook and stir over medium heat 12 to 16 minutes or until reduced to 1 cup. Combine remaining 1/4 cup broth and cornstarch in small bowl. Whisk cornstarch mixture and pepper into wine mixture; bring to a boil. Cook 1 minute or until sauce thickens, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; add thyme and mushroom mixture. Season with salt, as desired.
- Carve roast into slices; season with salt, as desired. Serve with Holiday Wine Sauce.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Wine Pairing: Sutter Home Cabernet Sauvignon, with its toasty oak undertones, is just the complement to the rich, bold flavor of beef.

Roasted Green Bean Casserole

Total preparation and cooking time: 1 to 1-1/4 hours

- 2 pounds fresh green beans, trimmed
- 2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons Colavita Extra Virgin Olive Oil, divided
- 1 large sweet onion, thinly sliced
- 1-1/2 cups boiling water
- 1/2 cup sun-dried tomatoes, not packed in oil
- 1 container (about 5 ounces) garlic and herb cheese spread
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 1/2 cup coarse, fresh Italian bread crumbs

- Heat oven to 350°F. Toss beans with 1 tablespoon olive oil in 13 x 9-inch baking dish. Roast in 350°F oven 30 to 35 minutes or until crisp-tender, stirring once.
- Meanwhile heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in large nonstick skillet over medium-low heat until hot. Add onion; cook 18 to 21 minutes or until very tender and golden, stirring often. Pour boiling water over sun-dried tomatoes in small bowl; let stand 15 minutes or until tomatoes are softened. Drain well. Finely chop tomatoes; set aside.
- Combine cheese spread and milk in small bowl; set aside. Toss bread crumbs with remaining 2 teaspoons olive oil; set aside.
- Remove beans from oven. Increase oven temperature to 400°F. Add cheese mixture and tomatoes to beans; stir until beans are evenly coated. Top with onions; sprinkle with bread crumbs.
- Bake in 400°F oven 15 to 20 minutes or until beans are tender and bread crumbs begin to brown.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

FAMILY FEATURES

The house is decorated,
the wreath is on the door, the table sparkles and the menu dazzles ...

These expert tips will ensure a memorable holiday meal.

- Fourth generation Italian olive oil producer, Giovanni Colavita, says that the superior flavor, aroma and nutrients in extra virgin olive oil make it the optimal choice for dipping and for seasoning rubs. It's also ideal for low to medium heat cooking.
- For perfect beef roasts, always use a thermometer to check the internal temperature and don't skimp on standing time! During standing, the temperature rises and the juices redistribute, resulting in easier carving and juicy beef.
- To get the most enjoyment, serve white wines at 50° to 55°F — colder temperatures minimize the flavors and aromas. Red wines are best at 65° to 68°F. Plan four to five glasses of wine from a standard 750 mL bottle, and if there is any left over, refrigerate the bottle (corked) three to five days.

Poached Pears With Chocolate Sauce and Red Wine Reduction

Total preparation and cooking time:

1-1/4 to 1-1/2 hours

Chilling time: 1 to 2 hours

- 6 Bosc or Anjou pears, peeled, stems intact
- 1 bottle (750 milliliters) Sutter Home Zinfandel
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 2 cinnamon sticks
- 1/4 cup semisweet chocolate pieces
- Lemon peel strips or chopped walnuts (optional)

- Cut small slice from bottom of each pear. Combine wine, sugar, lemon juice and cinnamon sticks in large saucepan; bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low; add pears. (Pears do not need to be upright.) Simmer, covered, 35 to 45 minutes or until fork-tender, turning pears occasionally so they evenly absorb wine color.
- Remove pears to platter with slotted spoon, standing them upright. Refrigerate, covered, 1 to 2 hours or until cold. Reserve wine mixture in saucepan.
- Meanwhile remove and discard cinnamon sticks from wine mixture; bring to a boil. Cook until reduced to about 3/4 cup and mixture coats back of spoon.
- Combine chocolate and 3 tablespoons hot wine sauce in small bowl, stirring until chocolate is melted.
- Evenly divide remaining wine sauce among 6 serving plates. Place 1 pear upright on each plate; drizzle with 2 teaspoons chocolate-wine sauce. Garnish with lemon peel or walnuts, if desired.

Makes 6 servings.

Wine Pairing: Sutter Home Moscato is a sweet wine, making it a perfect pairing for desserts.

Beef Skewers With Garlicky White Bean Dip

Total preparation and cooking time:
25 to 30 minutes

- 1 pound boneless beef top sirloin steak, cut 1 inch thick
- 1 teaspoon garlic-pepper seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon smoked paprika
- Garlicky White Bean Dip:
- 1 can (15-1/2 ounces) great Northern or cannellini beans, rinsed, drained
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 tablespoon sherry or balsamic vinegar
- 1 tablespoon plus 2 teaspoons Colavita Extra Virgin Olive Oil, divided
- 1 clove garlic, chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon smoked paprika

- To prepare Garlicky White Bean Dip, place beans, water, vinegar, 1 tablespoon olive oil, garlic and salt in food processor or blender container. Cover; process until smooth. Spoon 1/2 of bean dip into clear serving bowl; sprinkle with 1/4 teaspoon paprika and drizzle with 1 teaspoon olive oil. Top with remaining bean dip, 1/4 teaspoon paprika and 1 teaspoon olive oil. Cover; set aside.
- Soak sixteen 6-inch bamboo skewers in water 10 minutes; drain. Meanwhile cut beef steak crosswise into 1/4-inch thick strips. Thread each skewer, weaving back and forth, onto each skewer. Combine garlic-pepper seasoning and 1/4 teaspoon paprika; sprinkle evenly over beef.
- Place skewers on rack in broiler pan so surface of beef is 2 to 3 inches from heat. Broil about 4 to 5 minutes for medium rare to medium doneness, turning once. Serve with Garlicky White Bean Dip.

Makes 16 appetizer servings.

Wine Pairing: Sutter Home Merlot, sleek and smooth, stands up to hearty appetizers, without overwhelming.

Mosaic

By Amy Grant

Brilliance Audio, $26.95 4 CDs, approx. 4 hrs.

* Brilliance Audio on Compact Disc Unabridged

Sometimes - particularly this time of year, after the craziness of the holidays - it's good to kick back with an old friend over a cup of cocoa in front of the fire. It's good to talk about nothing and everything, and to tell stories.

That's what it's like when you listen to "Mosaic" by Amy Grant. Grant reads her own words, and hearing them is like spending time with a beloved friend you haven't seen in awhile.

If you're a country-western music fan or if you loved hearing Amy Grant's gospel music, you know how her lyrics can touch all sorts of emotions in you. In this very personal audio biography, Grant goes further than just song lyrics as she talks about this and that, traveling and performing, family and motherhood, happiness and loss.

She talks of family: the sisters who mean so much to her, and parents who raised her and gave her a good foundation, memorable family vacations, and unquestioned support as her career was beginning.

She confesses to the kind of heartbreak that goes with divorce and loss, and she's open about forgiveness and moving forward. She talks about falling in love, marriage, friends who are like family, and the blessings that children bestow on a parent.

Grant talks candidly about her husband, country singer Vince Gill, and how important his fans are to him. She tells the story about an elderly woman who wanted nothing more than to meet her idol on her birthday, and how Grant and Gill made a short drive to meet the woman to fulfill her wish. In doing so, the birthday girl gave Grant and Gill a gift: the gift of wisdom that comes with age and living life.

Grant remembers recording sessions and performances with other singers, and she recalls her friendship with legend Minnie Pearl (after whom one of Grant's daughters is named). She shares funny stories of her children growing up; she shares heartbreak, faith, fellowship, and stories that are wonderfully very un-celebrity-like.

I was pleased to hear author Amy Grant reading her own material on this audio CD. Hearing her words in her own voice makes it that much more personal because, like a piece of art, "Mosaic" is made up of bits and pieces of memory and story. Those tidbits just seem to sound so much better with the author's own inflections.

My only complaint with this audio is that Grant includes the lyrics to many of her songs, but she spoke the poetry and lyrics on this CD, rather than sang them. Repeated refrains sound strange when recited, and although Grant's rendition of those passages are true to the paper-book version of "Mosaic", they lose much in translation, particularly if you're a fan who knows the tune to the poem.

Still, if you love Amy Grant's works, or if you're just looking to spend some gentle time with a gracious hostess who welcomes you into her life, this is an audiobook to find. "Mosaic" is truly a work of biographical art.

Sullivan named Practitioner of Year by Alzheimer's Association of Southeastern Wisconsin

Lawrence Sullivan, MD, board certified Neurologist from SynergyHealth West Bend Clinic, was named Practitioner of the Year by the Alzheimer's Association of Southeastern Wisconsin at its annual meeting in November. The Practitioner of the Year award is presented to an outstanding member of the medical community who is actively involved in helping to eliminate Alzheimer's disease through the advancement of research, healthcare and support for individuals, their families and their caregivers.

The Alzheimer's Association of Southeastern Wisconsin cited Sullivan's extensive work to educate the community and local health care providers about the importance of early diagnosis. Last fall, Sullivan was the keynote speaker at the first Alzheimer's Family Conference in West Bend. He has donated numerous hours of time working closely with the Alzheimer's Association of Southeastern Wisconsin. He also maintains an active connection to the latest research, and is currently participating in the Wisconsin Registry for Alzheimer's Prevention (WRAP Study) conducted by the Wisconsin's Alzheimer's Institute.

Sullivan founded the West Bend Clinic's Memory Assessment Center in 2003. A first of its kind in Washington County, the Memory Assessment Center is a collaborative effort between West Bend Clinic, St. Joseph's Hospital, the Alzheimer's Association of Southeastern Wisconsin and the Wisconsin Alzheimer's Institute.

Sullivan works closely with primary care providers to diagnose, treat and support individuals facing memory loss or dementia, or conditions such as Alzheimer's, strokes and degenerative brain diseases. Through early diagnosis, treatment, and support plans, the Memory Assessment Center follows a holistic approach that can improve the quality of life for patients and their families, allowing patients to maintain independence as long as possible. The Memory Assessment Center also provides comprehensive education, resources and support services for families.

In addition to Sullivan, the Memory Assessment Center staff includes Nancy Laufer, LPN; Debbie Przedpelski, MSW, St. Joseph's Hospital; and Tammy Dickman, Regional Services Coordinator for the Alzheimer's Association of Southeastern Wisconsin.

Boys struggling to finish games

By Nathan Kenworthy

The Kewaskum Indians boy's basketball team would not play another game for 13 days after the two games this past week, so they wanted to make sure that they entered the new year with some momentum and wanted to get their first win. The Indians have played very well quarters at a time, but are still trying to piece them all together to get a victory.

The boys fell to Winnebago Lutheran on December 18 by a score of 58-48. "We fell behind right out of the blocks," said Coach Bobby Bannasch. However, the Indians did play better in the second quarter and closed to within two at halftime, trailing 25-23.

"We traded baskets in the beginning of the third quarter, but then started to take bad shots and we really got tired on defense at the end," added Bannasch.

Senior Dan Parker led the Indians in scoring with 14 points. Junior Brandon Conroy added 12 points.

On Friday, December 21, the Indians took their game to Two Rivers where they found themselves in a deep hole early. Down 12-2 in the first quarter, they battled back to lead 32-28 at halftime, but were unable to maintain the lead and lost 59-49.

"We played solid until the final minutes of the game. Two Rivers made key shots and we missed our opportunities. The game was much closer than the final score showed," said Bannasch. The loss was especially hard to swallow knowing that they worked so hard to get out of the early deficit. The Indians will next play on January 4 at home against New Holstein. In the meantime, Kewaskum will be "working on the fundamentals, and learning how to play with a lead. The game is totally different when its close and you are under pressure late in the games," said Bannasch.

Ice out

Elements make rooster hunt difficult

Cody, Steve Henske's golden retriever, rests with the lone prize of the day on December 15 after deep snow and ice made hunting conditions extremely difficult.

From an elevated deer stand in Rock County, the telephoto lens is focused on the long, slow push of Steve Henske and his golden retriever Cody as they work the heavy grass cover in search of one last rooster and a two-bird bag. A hard snow periodically tries to erase man and dog and all but wipes out the large farm looming in the distance.

Veteran bird hunters know that quiet is a mandatory "tool" for a successful late season hunt. Any roosters left in the field this December 15th afternoon after months of hunting are the true survivors. They're not alive this day without an instinct to either hold to cover and run, or to flush early. Some may have "discovered" that instinct after smelling the hot breath of a good dog over its hiding place on a lazy October morning just before a load of #04 shot is sent to tickle a tail feather of two. And sent too as a reminder in the days ahead that these things with the hot breath and the "bang" sticks are no less dangerous than the coyotes and the birds of prey.

But on this cold winter afternoon, quiet for the hunter is impossible. Two layers of ice separated by three layers of snow make for a deep, white crunch cake. Each step of Henske's trek up the sloping hill of conservation reserve program (CRP) habitat is recorded by the crack of ice before the boot sinks to the shin in snow. To the hunter, the noise is no less painful than fingernails on a blackboard. Even if he holds tight in the hope that Cody can flush a rooster within range of the scattergun, it doesn't happen. These are the "flushers". They flush early. Or these are the runners. They run, and then run some more in habitat that has been established just for these wild birds.

Establishing proper habitat that allows the birds nesting cover and protection from predation remains the essential key to success. State wildlife experts like Brian Buenzow believes that habitat, in fact, is more important than planting wild pheasants.

In 1988 Buenzow helped direct Wisconsin's first attempt at establishing wild birds in Rock County and subsequent efforts in Green and Lafayette Counties. In particular near Monroe, the program is a classic success story.

In Rock County, chosen because of the potential for vast tracts of CRP habitat, only eight to 10 percent of the terrain was ultimately converted to desirable grasslands. With an extraordinary number of landowners near Monroe buying into the idea of establishing wild pheasants, more than one-third of the acreage is currently grassland. The number of birds correlates with the amount of habitat established.

"The more I know, the more I think the wild bird releases are secondary to success," Buenzow said in a recent interview. "Almost without exception, if you put the habitat in, the birds are going to get there. Take the habitat out, they're gone. It may take a number of years, depending on the resident population. In Rock and Green Counties we had very good numbers of pheasants within two years of establishing habitat. The number of birds we're seeing right now near Monroe is extraordinary. But if you build it, they will come. That is, oh, so true."

Buenzow, in fact, headed the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) team that would establish habitat on the Rock County private property where Henske and I hunted. Regardless of successes from the work of man, once again Mother Nature calls the last shots. Although the dogs were light enough to move easily atop the ice and snow, Blue rested in the truck with a bloody foot for Henske's final push after slipping into the jagged ice edges of one of my boot tracks. Henske was soaking wet in sweat after several hours working the deep snow. And my own shirt was already freezing to my body after just a few minutes of rest in my "camera tower."

The view, which I would never have seen from the ground cover, was fascinating, and enlightening. As Henske pushed on in the driving snow behind the veteran work of Cody, street-wise and gunshy birds took flight far ahead. Two other roosters could be seen hanging to cover and running perpendicular and then back from the hunter's path. Four pheasants were seen leaving the cover of a treeline to enter a food plot. They stopped short when they sensed danger 100 yards distant, and watched closely until Henske and Cody had continued on.

At last, a rooster that had held tight to cover erupted in a shower of snow ahead of Henske. The shot only took out the long rudder of a wild Wisconsin pheasant.

"The snow banks were frozen over and the birds weren't able to burrow in," an exhausted Henske said later. "The snow wasn't holding the scent real well, but we did see eight roosters and at least three times that many hens. That's good. But it's also a lot of work to end up shooting behind the bird."

Indian wrestlers maintain focus, topple Oostburg

By Judy Harlow

Statesman Sports Correspondent

Would there be signs of fatigue or a letdown after the rugged Mary Loy Invitational?

Not by members of the Kewaskum High wrestling team who won nine of 14 matches, seven of them by pins, last Tuesday in rolling to a 49-27, non-conference victory over Oostburg.

With the win, the Indians improved to 9-0 overall, and KHS coach Dennis Aupperle was even able to rest Ray Wollner (152 pounds) and Tyler Swanson (285), who were resting minor injuries.

"Ray was out. His shoulder was hurting a little, so we forfeited at one fifty two," Aupperle said, explaining Swanson had a sore ankle. He expected both to be ready in time for Thursday's match against Waupun.

Aupperle inserted junior Eric Turowski into the lineup at 189 and moved Matt Buker from his usual position at 189 to 215 and P.J. Krueger from 215 to 285.

The plan worked to the tune of 18 points for Kewaskum as all three recorded pins, the two by Turowski and Buker in the first period.

Krueger improved to a team-best 12-1 after his pin.

Turowski just happens to be in an are where the Indians are strong, so it was nice to get him into the lineup, according to Aupperle, who said there were some other key wins, especially the three at the beginning of the meet, by Rob Maertz (119), Bo Seibel (125) and Caleb Olla (130).

"That was a nice way to start, with a pin, a pin and a decision," Aupperle said about his team's 15-0 lead, which came because of the efforts of two freshmen and a sophomore.

"They're (Dutchmen) young. They're solid in the middle weights but otherwise, they're young," Aupperle said.

The KHS coach also praised junior Nathan Seitz, who made quick work of Brian Baumgart at 140, pinning him in 1:15. "Nathan wrestled real well ... he had a freshman, but he wrestled well," Aupperle said.

Jared Koffke was also solid, shutting out Cody Klemme.

Kewaskum also got six points on the pin by Cody Seibel at 171. Seibel was one of seven Indians to earn places at the Marty Loy Tournament on Dec. 15.

And did Aupperle anticipate his team would be perfect in dual meets at this point in the season? "I knew these young kids were solid, but you didn't know how they would adapt to this (varsity wrestling). They've just been solid!" he said, admitting the date, January 22 had been popping up in his mind lately. That's the date the Indians take on defending Eastern Wisconsin Conference champion, Sheboygan Falls.

"It has worked out good," Aupperle said about the schedule, noting the Indians were able to gain experience at the beginning of the season and then, "We get Campbellsport (on Jan. 17) and a few days later, we get Falls."

Kewaskum has several days off for Christmas, then gets back in action on Dec. 28-29 at the On the Waters Classic, which is held at the Kolf Field House on the UW-Oshkosh campus.

All Kewaskum wrestlers are listed first.

The Indians may have moved up a place or two in the final standings of the Loy event after a mistake was discovered at 189 pounds where Matt Buker was given sixth place when he should have finished in a tie with the entry from Fond du Lac.

Aupperle explained both wrestlers already had five matches before they were suppose to face each other for fifth, "so neither one of them could have wrestled" because wrestlers are prohibited from being in six matches in a day.

"They split the team points, and they both got fifth," Aupperle said, concluding, "We might have moved up a place or two.

Lady Indians still searching

By Nathan Kenworthy

The Kewaskum Indians girl's basketball team played at Sheboygan Falls on Tuesday, December 18, where they entered the game knowing that they would have their hands full with a good team.

The Indians played straight up with the Falcons in the first quarter, trailing by one point. The girls then lost the game in the second period, where they found themselves down 15 at halftime. Kewaskum did battle back in the third, but it was not nearly enough. Kewaskum lost the game 64-35.

A big factor in the game was that Sheboygan Falls shot 33 free throws to the Indians' 13. Anna Butler led the team in scoring with 12 points, while Jenna Buker added 8.

The Indians played at home Friday, December 21 against Two Rivers. Kewaskum played great in the first quarter. However, they were unable to win and lost 58-34.

They broke the press set by the Raiders and "were very patient running the offense," said Coach Jeff Gosse.

They trailed by only one entering the second quarter, where "we got a little sloppy with the ball," added Gosse. Still, the Indians were only down by five points entering halftime.

However, the rest of the game resembled more of the second quarter than it did the first. Kewaskum got impatient and turned the ball over a lot, resulting in a deficit of 18 going into the fourth period. The Indians did play better in the fourth quarter, but the game had already been decided at that point.

Elissa Miller scored 10 points while Anna Butler added 8 and Jenna Buker contributing 7 points. Kewaskum is now 1-3 in conference and 2-6 overall.

The girls next play January 3 at New Holstein. Over the break and into the new year, Gosse said that the Indians will "work on getting more familiar with the offense and how to adjust to the different defenses."

The first animated movie to receive an Academy Award nomination for Best Picture was Beauty and The Beast in 1991. It lost to The Silence of the Lambs.
