Tessar was right at home in Kewaskum

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

In a way, much of his life paralleled the lead role in the classic movie, It's A Wonderful Life.

Like George Bailey, Wayland Tessar, who passed away last Saturday, March 22, at the age of 83, was well liked, intelligent and had dreams of finding a life in a bigger city.

The magnetism of his home town drew him back, however, and here, in Kewaskum, he settled down to raise a family and in the process helped to make the community a better place for everyone.

Perhaps the person that knows Tessar best is his brother, John, the last of the four Tessar boys. When asked if he looked up to Wayland, six years his elder, John Tessar emphatically stated, "Oh, yes, definitely," and what he liked best about his brother were his temperament and willingness to help others.

"He was the type of guy who would do anything for you," John Tessar said.

"He was just a generous individual."

As far as his disposition, John Tessar said, "In all those years, we never had an argument. We just got along. Wayland was one of those people who didn't believe in it (arguing)."

Athletics played a major role in the two brothers' youth and early adulthood, but John said it wasn't until after high school when the two of them got to play on the same basketball team.

"When I was younger ... in grade school, he was in the Navy," John Tessar said, but later, "We played basketball together for six or seven years in Land O' Lakes."

The two also spent a lot of time riding in one or the other's car, while traveling to and from basketball games they refereed together. "He and I refereed together for 20 years ... high school games, Land O'Lakes, junior colleges, plus Lakeland College, ... we did Milwaukee Conference games, the Suburban Conference, we went all over."

That time together provided the two the opportunity to do a lot of talking and, "(We had) a lot of different weather to go through," John Tessar recalls.

When Wayland came back from the service, he headed off to UW-Milwaukee, which was then called State Teachers College. "I think he started out in teaching, but after two years he quit, came home to get married (to his first wife, Adeline) and took a job at the post office (under the late Frank Heppe)," John Tessar said.

From the post office, Wayland Tessar went to the then Bank of Kewaskum and moved up the ladder until he became its president.

Wayland began his banking career in 1949 and his duties included posting, teller and bookkeeping. He was promoted to Assistant Cashier in 1954, Cashier in 1960, Vice President/Cashier in 1966, was elected to the Board of Directors in 1967, Executive Vice President/Cashier in 1969, President in 1972 (one year after the bank became Valley Bank) and became

St. Lucas welcomes new associate pastor

St. Lucas Lutheran Church, a member of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod (WELS), has been part of the Kewaskum community for more than 130 years. Since being incorporated on August 20, 1877, eight pastors have served the congregation. In a few weeks Pastor Troy Swenson will become the ninth as he is installed as an associate pastor in a special service on Sunday, April 6 at 2 p.m. A reception will take place immediately following the service in Hoenecke Hall. All are welcome to attend. Swenson was born and raised in Neenah, Wisconsin. He graduated from Fox Valley Lutheran High School, Appleton, Wis., in 1993. He attended Northwestern College, Watertown, Wisconsin, then Martin Luther College, New Ulm, Minnesota, graduating in 1999. From there Swenson finished his pastoral studies at Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary, Mequon, Wisconsin earning a master's of divinity.

As part of Swenson's ministry training, he spent one year as a vicar in Zumbrota, Minnesota. He entered the full-time ministry in 2003, serving two congregations: Zion, Fort Morgan, Colorado and Trinity, Hillrose, Colorado. While in Colorado, Swenson served as the WELS Nebraska District Coordinator for Youth Ministry.

In addition to other pastoral duties at St. Lucas, Swenson's area of emphasis will be in outreach, communication and youth ministry. "It is a privilege and honor to be part of the St. Lucas family and a shepherd of this fine community," says Swenson. "It is my prayer that the Lord will continue to bless St. Lucas and the community in which the Lord has called me to serve."

Swenson credits his parents, grade school teachers and pastor, along with his Christian education, for encouraging him to enter the ministry. In his free time he enjoys being with his family, playing golf, reading and of course, the Green Bay Packers. Swenson is married to Monica (nee Reyna) and they have three children: Olivia (6), Maya (4) and Isaiah (2).

Chief Executive Officer/Chairman of the Board in 1985. Wayland retired from Valley Bank in 1986 after 37 years of service.

As far as community involvement, Tessar was a long-time member of the Kewaskum Kiwanis and the Kiwanis Foundation.

Tessar was a member of the Peace United Church of Christ in Kewaskum and was very active in local politics, having served on the Kewaskum Village Board for 14 years, including six as village president from April, 1963 to April, 1969.

His love of Country was evident in his three-year stint in World War II in the U.S. Navy, and his 62-year membership in the Robert G. Romaine American Legion Post 384. There was rarely a year when Tessar didn't participate in the annual Memorial Day Parade.

Along with his career and community involvement, there was still time for social life, and Tessar and his wife spent a lot of time with Chuck and Donna Ogi.

"He was a real gentleman, a true friend," Chuck Ogi said. "True friends like Wayland you can count on one hand."

Ogi recalls coming to Kewaskum in 1954 fresh out of Ohio State and meeting Tessar "the first Sunday we went to (Peace United) church. After church, Wayland came up and introduced himself," and later invited the couple to be his guests at a picnic the church was conducting that day.

"I always enjoyed his company. We were together quite a bit," Ogi said playing golf, walking and cross country skiing with his second wife, Darlene. He was often seen in a warm-up suit, walking the streets of the village, and he still took time to wave at those going by or stopped to offer a pleasant hello.

Yes, Kewaskum has definitely lost one of its favorite sons.

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

I found the article "Alternative School Gets Approval"... interesting. The questions I have are: Are the teachers fully qualified at the alternative school to handle the special needs of students? Are ongoing classes required for all teachers to hone their skills? Hope school was shut down when one teacher left. Was there no one qualified to replace this teacher? Or, was it lack of interest? What effect does job placement have on an individual when an employer asks for a high school diploma or GED certificate and now a third choice alternative diploma? Would employers still require a GED? Was this looked into and surveyed?

Next, don't count your additional money from the state until it is in hand. The state, thanks to our good Governor, is decreasing education money as he talks it up. The UW-Madison system has been getting less as a percentage each year. We were just informed by Mr. Reichert that our tax rate went up $0.52 for the school district because the State decreased their State aid by $0.50. As I read on I see dollar signs of $6,100 per student as you run them through the turnstill. A profit to the district.

However, the question would be, since these students would not be forced into the Alternative School and only be there because they want to be, have you surveyed all these students along with their guardians including other districts to see how many students would be interested? But before that happens they have to know "the special terms of their agreement they need to adhere to" as you put it, and you haven't even outlined those terms. You have approval for the school and are going ahead with building changes to RegalWare for administrators and seem excited about this concept but put everything into place before you enter into a $60,000 per year contract with RegalWare. Be responsible. This new found money that is being used for different projects is nothing more than shifted money. Our referendum is paying for textbooks and staff training.

Approximately $60,000 per year is being shifted in the budget for other expenses instead of staying in the fund for textbook replacement because you have money coming in from the referendum. In the 2010-2011 budget, money is to be shifted back into the textbook fund. I take this to mean the approximately $60,000 that is normally budgeted each year times the five years of the referendum ($300,000) will be put back into the textbook fund. Or, am I being deceived by slight of hand and the people will forget theory.

You look for our high school students to stay in our district rather than transfer to other schools. The reasoning - more money. Have you ever surveyed the students who choose other schools over Kewaskum? What is their reason? My daughter left her last semester of KHS because the school dropped all of her advanced courses. The reason: it was not worth holding a class for seven to ten kids. Education of our children and young adults in high school should be a top priority. Students should be given the proper tools to meet their individual needs. Our high school students are young adults and should be treated as such. They should be able to make their own decisions. However, the decisions that they make should have the guidance of individuals within the system who are qualified to help them.

Respectfully submitted,
Guy E. Harris

The above letter to the editor ran in last week's edition, however, the statement in bold type was accidentally omitted from the letter.

To the Editor:

It is hard to believe that after many successful decades in the newspaper business both as the West Bend Daily News and their forerunners that not only they but other significant newspapers like the Waukesha Freeman, The Madison Capitol Times, and others would even consider the option of mail delivery and web options to deliver news that affects so many in their respective reading areas.

Both local and rural newspaper carriers give the local papers the character, attitude, personality, friendliness, and intimacy that would be lost forever if mail delivery and web options are the choice.

Having been a reader of local West Bend papers for over half a century, I will definitely feel the void that no computer or automated system in existence could replace. It is not even close to the same thing.

For example, mail delivery forces a paper like the West Bend Daily News to go to press at least three hours earlier and having the papers at the post office by 6: A:M thus denying the opportunity to publish more late-breaking news that would occur if they published during their current schedule of publication.

A recent case in point is the Brett Favre retirement that would not have appeared in the Daily News until the next day. A few years earlier, how about the story of 9-11 that affected everyone's lives in America directly or indirectly. There are many other examples too numerous to be mentioned in the letter.

Would like to hear what other readers in the area feel about the issue. Their opinions do make a difference.

Police issue drug related citations during sweep at high school

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Students at Kewaskum High School got a surprise on Thursday, March 20, and it wasn't the Easter Bunny. School officials joined the Kewaskum Police Department and the Washington County Multi-Jurisdictional Drug unit along with K-9 units from area police departments, to search the school grounds for drugs fifteen minutes after students arrived.

The surprise search comes after an earlier police investigation where police investigated a student thought to be distributing Oxycodone pills to her friends. Police Chief Richard Knoebel stated that the surprise search was not a result of that case and that his department has assisted in drug searches at KHS before.

KHS Principal Christine Horbas reported shortly after the search, that drugs were not found to be on school property. However, later police investigated two students who told fellow students that the dogs did not find drugs in their vehicles.

The first student whose vehicle was searched was a 16-year-old male. The teen admitted to police there was something in his car that was illegal, but it did not belong to him. Police found a wood pipe that they believe would have been used to smoke marijuana. A test revealed the pipe tested positive for residue from marijuana.

Cigarettes were also found in the vehicle. A citation for possession of drug paraphernalia and another for underage possession of tobacco were given to the student.

The second search revealed an 18-year-old student who had two grams of marijuana and a glass pipe found inside his vehicle. He also received citations for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of marijuana.

Knoebel stated that a total of four dogs were used from Mayville, Lomira, Jackson and Germantown police departments. Kewaskum Police Department School Resource Officer Barry Granath coordinated the search.

Police investigate Oxycodone distribution at KHS

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Police investigated an anonymous tip that a Kewaskum High School student was distributing Oxycodone pills in school. The investigation that started March 7 could not produce physical evidence of distribution at KHS.

A police report revealed that a 14-year-old student stated she was pressured by a group of her friends to share a prescription belonging to her father. She stated her friends allegedly threatened to end their friendship if they were not supplied with pills.

The report states that on eight occasions the girl gave pills to three of the friends aged 15-17.

The report revealed that two of the girls who allegedly received pills crushed one and snorted the drug on a table in a classroom during the school day.

Police questioned one of the teens accused of receiving pills who stated the 14-year-old offered the pill and she accepted it but threw the pill in a park after school. A second teen stated that she did not ingest the Oxycodone on school grounds and that she gave the pills away after getting them from the 14-year-old. Searches of their lockers also did not reveal the drug.

During one of the searches tobacco was found and a municipal citation for underage tobacco was issued.

One of the teens that was accused of receiving and snorting the drug received a three-day suspension. Charges were not requested due to not being able to produce any physical evidence of the drug or it being distributed on school grounds.

What is Oxycodone?

According to WebMD, a nationally recognized internet site dealing with all things medical. Oxycodone is a narcotic sometimes combined with acetaminophen or aspirin.

Narcotic painkillers ease pain and reduce your emotional response to pain. They are used to ease pain caused by surgery, accident or injury, or chronic illness such as cancer.

Narcotic painkillers cause many side effects, including: Drowsiness, light-headedness, fatigue, feelings of elation, dry mouth, difficulty urinating, difficulty breathing and constipation.

Spring Election: Scott Township has four for three seats

TOWN of SCOTT- Over 16 residents came out to listen to four of their fellow town residents answer questions about the direction they hope to take the town in if they are elected to a two-year term as supervisor of their township. Town residents will vote on Tuesday, April 1 at the town hall to elect two supervisors to their town board.

Supervisor Bruce Birenbaum is not seeking re-election, which means the town board could see some new faces or could bring back an incumbent and a former supervisor.

After completing her freshman stint as a supervisor Incumbent Cheryl Scholz, who is an international medical sales administrator explained to the constituency that she wants to see the township have all the ordinances updated, complete and codified. "Our ordinances are in terrible shape, they are missing sections, out of date," she explained.

She also stated she wants to see the zoning administrator appointed by the town board as opposed to the current situation where the building inspector is self-appointed.

"I think we need to be consistent in how we make decisions. We need more people getting involved to make sure things are run right," she explained.

Political newcomer Brian Zettler, 36, has been a resident of the township for five years, is self-employed in the construction/remodeling industry. He stated he would take a common sense approach when dealing with town business and research issues until finding an answer.

"If I am elected, I will vote by using the resources in front of me. Decisions based on town ordinances, common sense, hope that will portray it self. I don't think there is a lot of common sense on the board right now. I am not promising anything, if I get elected, I will use my head and my heart to vote what I think is right and best for the people," he announced.

Randy Narbatovics, 32, is looking to get back on the board after serving a term that ended in 2007. He says he would bring common sense back to the town board. "I voted the way of the people, I tried not to go back on my word. The Michael's pit was a prime example, I maybe thought it was a good idea, but the community did not," he stated at the forum.

Narbatovics stated he would like to see the town maintain control of road maintenance in its current form. He says he is also not in favor of combining the Beechwood and Batavia Fire Departments of which he is a member as a firefighter for Beechwood and a First Responder for Batavia.

The last of the four and the eldest, Dennis Janz, has been a resident for 34 years. "There are issues I thought were being left go and I want to be part of it," he explained. He added, "because of the time I spent here and invested in the community. Being a businessman in the area, I hope to think people would think I am a fair shooter."

The topic of combining the Beechwood and Batavia Fire Departments has been a hot topic for a number of decades. Candidates did not seem to think splitting the two was a good idea however, possibly combining them might be a tax savings to the township.

Combine fire departments?

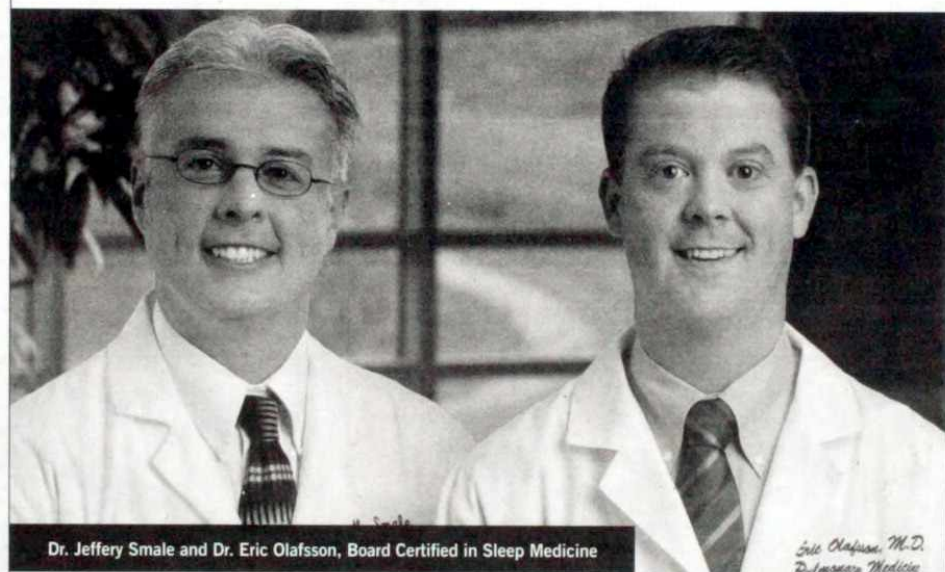

Janz stated it would be nice to have one, centrally located but, "it's not that easy to do, it would turn these two communities against each other. Practically, would be easier, I don't think it's a good thing to do in our community," he stated.

Scholz thought it would be better if they worked together instead of forced together.

Narbatovics said he experienced lots of complaining on both sides. He explained that both departments have purchased equipment by fundraising costing taxpayers nothing. He also noting that closing one would result in higher ISO numbers in the closed community.

Zettler didn't like the idea of closing one but thought

42nd Street April 3-5 in Campbellsport

St. Matthew's CYO is a group comprised of high school students from the Campbellsport School district. They are putting on the musical, 42nd Street on April 3rd, 4th and 5th at 7:30 and Sunday April 6th at 1:00 at the Lang Auditorium, Campbellsport High School.

The story of 42nd Street, based on the classic Busby Berkeley movie about a star-tracked chorus girl, Peggy Sawyer (played by Steph Ninemann) taking over for the leading lady, Dorothy Brock (Noel Fricke) is a corny story, but it still works like a charm. It is a clever story about preparing for a Broadway musical and the pitfalls that happen to this cast as they sing and dance their way through the preparations for the show, and then finally, opening night.

The producer of the show is Julian Marsh (Mason Salm) who is a seasoned veteran and demanding of his cast. The writers, Bert (Tyson Baughman) and Maggie (Katie Galligan) are fun-loving, but anxious for their show to be a hit.

Billy Lawlor (Kevin Flood) is the romantic lead in the new show and always romancing the ladies. Mix these together and you get the makings for a great, funny show with colorful costumes and lively dances.

A marvelous cast with strong singers in the leading parts should make this an excellent show, while you will be amazed at the dancing. Three of the leads were featured singers at Maximillan's this past summer. The cast does a wonderful job of bringing to life such songs as: "We're

In the Money", "Lullaby of Broadway", "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" and "I Only Have Eyes for You".

Tickets for this show will be available soon from Ben Franklin, Twohig Furniture and Sheila's in Campbellsport, or from any cast member, or by calling 533-4375. Again, the show is April 3rd, 4th and 5th at 7:30 and on April 6th at 1:00 at the Lang Auditorium. Tickets are $5 in advance and $6 at the door. Come see this magical musical.

How to be a mean parent April 8

The Kewaskum Cares About Kids group believes that parents are the most powerful influence on their children. To influence children's behavior in a positive way, parents need to be informed, and know what is going on with their kids and the kids they associate with.

To help with this, Kewaskum Cares About Kids is offering a free workshop for parents titled, "How to be a Mean Parent," on Tuesday, April 8 at the Kewaskum Elementary School cafeteria. The evening will begin with a free dinner from 6 to 6:30 p.m. and continue with the workshop being held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Free information and child care will also be provided. To register for this free parent program call or email

Linda Dymond at 335-6898 or ldymond@council.on.aoda.org

Wouldn't it be great if our own kids thought we as parents were cool, they followed all of parents' rules and never questioned parental authority? Odds are that won't happen, but by using family meetings, setting family rules and working together as a family unit, arguments can be reduced, communication can be improved and behaviors can be modified.

While adolescents may occasionally think parents are mean, and may never think of parents as cool, parents can show them that they care enough to set limits, expectations and boundaries. Come to the workshop and meet with other parents of teens and share your frustrations and successes as well as brush up on a few tricks to help you navigate the teen years.

Another date to remember includes Saturday, April 12, for that is when a Teen Night at the YMCA will be held from 7 to 11 p.m. The fun is open to all Washington County eighth through twelfth grade students and is sponsored by Students Taking Action Not Drugs (STAND).

Activities will include basketball, racquetball, swimming, colony ball, obstacle course, board games, guitar hero, free food, door prizes and more. Admission is $3 but you can receive $1 off admission with your donation of shampoo, conditioner, soap, toothpaste, toothbrushes or deodorant.

'Clue, the Musical' opens March 28

The Sheboygan Theatre Company will continue the 74th season, which is funded in part by the Stefanie H. Weill Charitable Fund and Acuity for the Arts, with the opening on Friday, March 28, of "Clue, the Musical," which is being sponsored by Pemco Inc.

With a book by Peter DePietro, lyrics by Tom Chiodo and music by Galen Blum, Wayne Barker and Vinnie Martucci, "Clue, the Musical" is based upon the classic Parker Brothers board game. All of the famous characters - Miss Scarlet, Mrs. Peacock, Mrs. White, Professor Plum, Col. Mustard, and Mr. Green - are joined by the victim and your host for the event, Mr. Boddy, and by the detective attempting to solve the crime. For an hour and a half the suspects sing and dance their way through the mansion's kitchen, lounge, ballroom, conservatory, billiard room and study.

But just as families have done in their own living rooms for more than a century, the audience gets to play along. At the beginning of the performance volunteers choose the three important cards, which are then placed on stage in the confidential envelope. With appropriate clues presented along the way, spectators are challenged to guess who did it in what room and whether he or she wielded the wrench, candlestick, pipe, knife, revolver or rope.

Given six suspects, six weapons, and six rooms, there are 216 possible conclusions and the actors must know them all. Since lines must be changed and dialogue added or deleted at each performance the show is potentially different each time. But no matter who commits the heinous act the audience can delight in watching a board game while simultaneously playing it.

"This is audience participation at its best," said director of theatre, Ralp Maffongelli. "Instead of just sitting back and watching the musical, spectators can actively play along."

"Clue, the Musical" will open Friday, March 28, and be performed each evening through Saturday, April 5, with the exceptions of Sunday and Monday. There is also a matinee on Sunday, March 30. The production will be presented at the Leslie W. Johnson Theatre, 2820 Union Ave., Sheboygan, with evening shows at 7:30 p.m. and the matinee at 2 p.m.

Admission is $20 for adults, $16 for seniors 60 and over and $10 for youngsters through high school and college students. Tickets are available at the Theatre Company office in the Community Recreation Department, 607 S. Water Street, or at the theatre box office 45 minutes before curtain of each performance. To learn more, visit www.sheboygantheatercompany.com or call 920-459-3779 to reserve tickets.

a 5-star attraction for our fine feathered friends? Join Mariette Nowak, author of Birdscaping in the Midwest, as she shares several different means to increase the number and variety of birds to your yard. She will cover the benefits of growing native plants and creating natural habitats that will offer a year-long smorgasbord of berries, nuts, seeds and insects for the birds. She will stress the importance of using native Wisconsin plants versus cultivated plants for luring in birds. She will also discuss the problems of invasive, non-native plant species in our Wisconsin landscapes.

The old frame building formerly occupied as a pocket-book factory, under the supervision of Herman Gilbert, located on East Main Street, next to Dr. Henry Driessel's residence, was razed this week. The building which was one of the oldest frame buildings in the Village of Kewaskum, stood on the late Otto Stark property.

The honor roll for the intermediate room of Kewaskum High School consists of Curtis Romaine, Kathleen Schaefer, Violet Eberle, Harriet Backus, and Patti Brauchle. Honorable mention includes Belinda Backus and Shirley Manthei.

On account of the heavy wind of Wednesday night, damage was done to St. Bridget Church making it impossible to hold services there on Sunday.

In the primary room of the Kewaskum school these people were neither absent nor tardy the past six weeks: Robert Brauchle,

Homer Schaub, Erhardt Schultz, Beatrice Hafeman and Beatrice Vorpahl. These people have had a perfect attendance all year, namely: Robert Brauchle, Erhardt Schultz, Beatrice Vorpahl and Homer Schaub. The following were the leaders in the "Good Conduct Race": Wilmer Bunkelmann, Beatrice Hafeman, Donald Mertes, William Schmidt, Robert Brauchle and Homer Schaub. Governor Doyle commends UW Colleges and Extensions for increasing degree opportunities

Governor Jim Doyle today praised the University of Wisconsin Colleges and University of Wisconsin-Extension for the pivotal role they are playing in preparing Wisconsin residents of all ages to participate in and benefit from the global economy. UW-Washington County (UW-WC) is the fourth largest of the 13 campuses that make up the UW Colleges.

The governor joined UW System President Kevin Reilly and UW Colleges and UW-Extension Chancellor David Wilson at UW-Fox Valley in Menasha to recognize UW Colleges' and UW-Extension's efforts to increase the number of college graduates in the state and to announce the next steps in the Adult Student Initiative (ASI). The goal of ASI, which will receive $2.5 million in state funding on July 1, is to build on the current work of the UW Colleges and UW-Extension to further connect adult learners to UW associate and baccalaureate degrees.

At UW-WC, there are numerous opportunities for adults to start, continue or complete a degree including:

Evening Classes
Accelerated courses that can be completed in less than 16 weeks, enabling busy adults to complete coursework and degrees more quickly

Bachelor's degree completion programs in Communications, Information Systems, Nursing, Organizational Administration and Liberal Studies (Engineering to begin in fall 2008)

According to UW-WC Dean, Dr. David Nixon, "Creating more opportunities to obtain a four-year college degree is a high priority at our campus as we continue to expand our baccalaureate offerings."

"We thank the governor and the legislature for their trust in UW Colleges and UW-Extension as we strive to provide maximum access to educational opportunities," Chancellor Wilson said. "Looking towards the future, we intend to reach into every nook and cranny of the state to ensure all Wisconsin residents have the chance to go to college and get a degree no matter what their life circumstances are."

The new funds for the Adult Student Initiative will enable UW Colleges and UW-Extension to make even more bachelor's degrees available online, support giving credit for prior learning activities, create more accelerated courses online, and provide even more services to help students succeed.

UW Colleges and UW-Extension have a history of providing access and support to students of all ages and from all backgrounds. Through UW Colleges' UW-WC campus, the foundation of the bachelor's degree is provided through the associate degree in arts and science. The associate degree is also offered online.

UW-Extension is increasing access to degrees by providing incentives and instructional technology assistance for the UW four-year campuses to put upper-division courses online. This enables adults to continue or complete work on their bachelor's degrees where they live and work. Bachelor's degrees that UW-Extension is helping to develop online now include:

Bachelor's degree in Organizational Administration (UW-Oshkosh degree)

Bachelor's in Criminal Justice (UW-Platteville degree)

Bachelor's in Information Systems and Project Management (UW-Parkside degree)

Bachelor's in Human Services (UW-Oshkosh degree)

Bachelor's in Fire Science & Emergency Response Management (UW-Oshkosh degree)

Bachelor's in Community Education with an emphasis in Childcare (UW-Milwaukee degree)

Extension has also developed a one-stop UWin website (www.uwin.wisconsin.edu) where anyone can contact an advisor to find out the most convenient way to start, continue or complete a degree.

At UW-WC, Chris Beloin is the advisor dedicated to working with potential and current students to find the most efficient and effective ways to attain their University of Wisconsin degree credentials.

Through the Wisconsin Covenant, new opportunities are available for more young people to get a college education. With the groundbreaking work of the UW Colleges and UW-Extension, more opportunities are being created for people of all ages, no matter where they live and work, to get the University of Wisconsin education that can improve lives, communities and Wisconsin's competitive advantage in the global economy.

To learn more about opportunities for starting, continuing, or completing an associate or bachelor's degree, at UW-WC, contact Chris Beloin, phone 262-335-5204 or email chris.beloin@uwc.edu.

It is not work that kills men; it is worry. Work is healthy; you can hardly put more upon a man than he can bear. Worry is rust upon the blade. It is not the revolution that destroys the machinery, but the friction. Fear secretes acids; but love and trust are sweet juices.

School employees engage in learning live-saving techniques

Twelve staff members of the Kewaskum School District have been trained in Standard First Aid, Adult CPR/AED and or Child CPR through the West Bend Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The American Red Cross health and safety training provides everyday people with the skills and confidence to respond to an injured person quickly and effectively.

The American Red Cross training programs are designed to be taught to meet the needs of the schools, from Standard First Aid to CPR for adults, children and/or infants, to specialized training in Automated External Defibrillators, Bloodborne Pathogens, Epinephrine Auto-Injectors, Asthma Training and Sports Safety Training.

The American Red Cross offers a cost saving alternative for providing First Aid and CPR training to businesses and schools by training their employees to become instructors (Authorized Providers). This saves money for the company or school district, and allows them to set training times that are more conducive to the employee's work schedule. If you would like more information on the American Red Cross Authorized Provider program, call Leann Fischer, Health and Safety Director at the West Bend Red Cross at 262-334-5687.

The Kewaskum School District is looking at the possibility of having one or more of their staff trained to teach Standard First Aid, and CPR classes in the future as a cost saving measure. Having a trained instructor on site would also add flexibility as to when the classes could be held.

The West Bend Red Cross plans to start working closely with all school districts in Washington County in the near future to get them to participate in their Authorized Provider Program. The West Bend Chapter acknowledges that training staff can be costly for some school districts in which money is tight, or budgets have been cut. The West Bend Chapter of the American Red Cross sees a real need in the local schools to have qualified people teaching life saving skills in case of an emergency.

Parents can plant magic in a child's mind through certain words spoken with some thrilling quality of voice, some uplift of the heart and spirit.

OBITUARIES

JESUS CHRIST

Jesus Christ, 33, of Nazareth, died Friday on Mount Calvary, also known as Golgotha, the place of the skull. Betrayed by the apostle, Judas, Jesus was crucified by the Romans, by order of the Ruler Pontius Pilate.

The causes of death were crucifixion, extreme exhaustion, severe torture and loss of blood.

Jesus Christ, a descendent of Abraham, was a member of the house of David. He was the Son of the late Joseph, a carpenter on Nazareth, and Mary, His devoted Mother. Jesus was born in a stable in the city of Bethlehem, Judea. He is survived by His mother, Mary, His faithful Apostles, numerous disciples and many other followers.

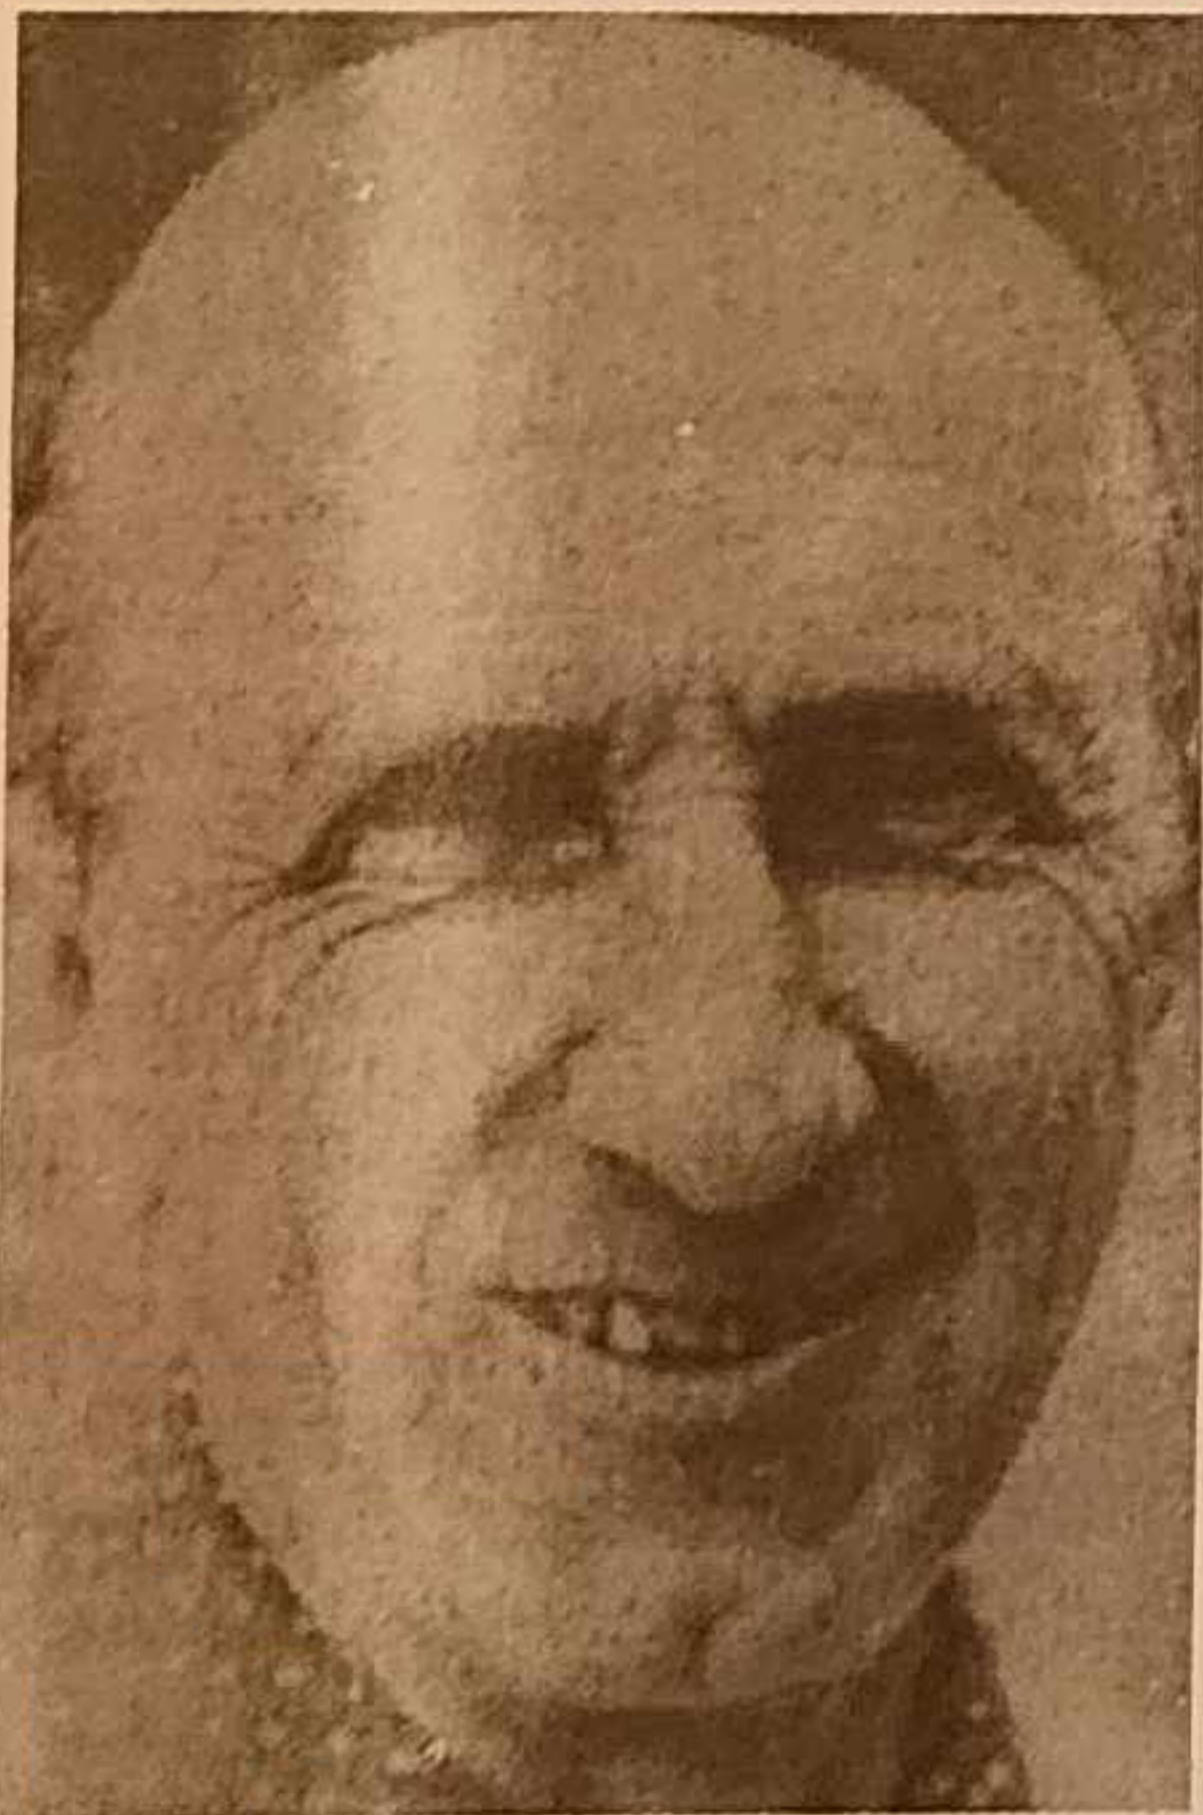

Jesus was self-educated and spent most of his adult life working as a Teacher. Jesus also occasionally worked as a Medical Doctor and it is reported that he healed many patients. Up until the time of His death, Jesus was teaching and sharing the Good News, healing the sick, touching the lonely, feeding the hungry and helping the poor.

Jesus was most noted for telling parables about His Father's Kingdom and performing miracles, such as feeding over 5,000 people with only five loaves of bread and two fish, and healing a man who was born blind. On the day before His death, He held a Last Supper celebrating the Passover Feast, at which He foretold His death.

The body was quickly buried in a stone grave, which was donated by Joseph of Arimathea, a loyal friend of the family. By order of Pontius Pilate, a boulder was rolled in front of the tomb. Roman soldiers were put on guard.

In lieu of flowers, the family has requested that everyone try to live as Jesus did. Donations may be sent to anyone in need.

The writer's strike this winter didn't bother you much.

Cold and snow? No big deal.

Gas prices? Staying home was just fine. It gave you a chance to dream about what was beneath that white stuff outside your door.

For months, you've been planning, imagining what your garden would look like in full bloom and all during harvest. But what will it look like next winter when the snow comes back? Before you put those seed catalogs down, check out "The Garden in Winter" by Suzy Bales. A few new ideas might sprout first.

When most people think "garden," what comes to mind are green plants, sunny days, bright flowers, and fresh vegetables. In other words, spring and summer.

Now imagine waking up next February to pink or yellow flowers covered with a drizzle of snow. Bales says that can happen, if you plan now and get those plants in the ground before fall frost.

First, make a drawing of your garden and assess what you want. Would a hedge define a favorite bench over there? Is there room for a few fruit trees, or would conifers add color where there is none? Visualize your garden in the growing season and plan for what it will look like when leaves fall and snow etches the outlines of your plants like a pen-and-ink drawing.

Bales says to take into consideration the kind of house you live in and the size of your garden. Climbing roses are perfect for Victorian houses or cottages. More modern homes look dazzling with copper or fencing. If there's no real space for a complete garden, a variety of interesting, huge containers work fine. And if you have more winter than you have growing season, take a page from a fire-and-ice "gardener" in Alaska, and use what you have at hand.

So what if you don't have a green thumb? Bales says you should pass the blame on the weather, the economy, the soil, whatever. Then, dig up what didn't work and move it around. Gardening is supposed to be fun and even professional gardeners rarely "get it right." Get your hands dirty and enjoy your new hobby.

Author Suzy Bales has got to be the Martha Stewart of the gardening world. Her style is off-handed, breezy (discussing berried pyracantha, she says, "I know some gardeners feel the color is rather garish, but I say go for it."), funny, and sage.

Bales has a growing list of credentials and many gardeners know her name, but this picture-filled book is enjoyable for an old hand and perfect for a neophyte homeowner or apartment-dweller to learn from.

Reading it gives one a sense that gardening is like playing, and for gardeners at all stages of experience, that's just the ticket when spring can't come fast enough.

When the seed catalogs are tattered and you think you've decided on what's going in your garden this year, pick up this book and think again. "The Garden in Winter" will plant a few new ideas in your head.

Education is the ability to listen to almost anything without losing your temper or your self-confidence.

Aurora physicians receive national recognition for quality diabetes care

Aurora Health Care physicians Dr. Mark Fitzsimmons, Dr. Kirk Hutjens, Dr. David Misorski, Dr. Marc Caine and Dr. Barbara Graza-Gracz have been named in the Diabetes Physician Recognition Program for providing quality care to patients with diabetes. The recognition comes from the National Committee for Quality Assurance and the American Diabetes Association.

Dr. Fitzsimmons cares for patients in Port Washington, Dr. David Misorski in Waukesha, Dr. Hutjens in Oconomowoc, and Dr. Caine and Dr. Graza-Gracz in Milwaukee.

"The National Committee for Quality Assurance recognition demonstrates these physicians' willingness to take the steps needed to ensure excellent care that includes identifying appropriate patients, collecting and recording the right data, and following a system of care to assure that the best care is performed each and every time," said Bruce Van Cleave, MD, Aurora chief medical officer. "It is a way to help ensure that our diabetes patients receive better access, better service and better results than they can get anywhere else," he added.

To receive the recognition, which is valid for three years, the physicians submitted data that demonstrates performance meeting key diabetes care measures.

These measures include careful control of blood sugar, cholesterol, and blood pressure, and regular performance of diabetic eye and feet exams. When people with diabetes receive quality care as outlined by these measures, they are less likely to suffer complications such as heart attacks, stroke, blindness, kidney disease and amputations.

"For a person with diabetes, the right physician can make the difference between living with diabetes as opposed to suffering from diabetes," said Larry C. Deeb, MD, President of medicine and science at the American Diabetes Association.

About the National Committee for Quality Assurance - The National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to improving health care quality. NCQA accredits and certifies a wide range of health care organizations and recognizes physicians in key clinical areas. NCQA's Healthcare Effectiveness Data and Information Set is the most widely used performance measurement tool in health care. NCQA is committed to providing health care quality information through the Web, media and data licensing agreements in order to help consumers, employers and others make more informed health care choices.

About the American Diabetes Association - The American Diabetes Association is the nation's leading voluntary health organization supporting diabetes research, information and advocacy. Founded in 1940, the Association has offices in every region of the country, providing services to more than 800 communities.

About Aurora Health Care - Aurora Health Care is a not-for-profit Wisconsin health care provider and a nationally recognized leader in efforts to improve the quality of health care. Aurora offers services at sites in more than 90 communities throughout eastern Wisconsin.

Samuelson Sez

Let's stop blaming ethanol

Frankly, I'm getting very tired of the big city newspaper headlines that basically read like this "Blame ethanol for sharply higher food prices". And the stories go on to say that because of ethanol and it's demand for corn, taking corn away from livestock feeders and pushing corn to record high prices, is the reason why food prices are soaring higher week after week.

Well, there are a lot more ingredients in food than just the cost of the raw commodity. Former Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz said many times "There's not enough food in food to affect the price". A few days ago, a package arrived in our office that proves that point. It was sent to us by the Wisconsin Corn Growers Association and it contained a large box of corn flakes with some additional labeling on the box, words that had been added by the Corn Growers. The altered label said "This $3.69 box of corn flakes contains 10-cents worth of corn". The rest of the price goes to processing, transportation, processing, advertising, wholesaling and retailing.

We have a good friend who is an owner/operator of a semi-trailer and tractor who hauls agricultural products to market. We asked him to keep track for a week of what his costs are to operate that 18-wheeler and deliver those agricultural products. He informed us that the first week of March he drove 3,500 miles; he averaged 5.3 miles per gallon; bought 660 gallons of diesel fuel at an average price of $3.87 a gallon (diesel has since moved above $4.00); his fuel cost per miles was 73-cents and for the entire week, his bill for fuel alone was $2,555.00. You have to figure that into the price of food and he is just the first of several trucks that take raw food from the farm to the dinner tables of America.

If, as food processors and retailers like to say, the raw commodity price is the only reason food prices go higher, then we should see them moving sharply lower right now. For example, at the Chicago Board of Trade, May wheat went from a record $13.49 a bushel February 27th down to $9.83 a bushel going into the Easter weekend. Have you seen a similar percentage drop in the price of a loaf of bread?...I don't think so!

So stop giving ethanol and higher farm prices as the only reasons for the higher food prices; to again quote Secretary Butz "there just isn't enough food in food to affect the price".

My thoughts on Samuelson Sez.

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM ELECTION APRIL 1, 2008

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at an election to be held in the several towns, villages, wards, and election districts of the State of Wisconsin, on Tuesday, April 1, 2008, the following question will be submitted to a vote of the people pursuant to law:

2007 ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION 26

To amend section 10 (1) (c) of article V of the constitution; relating to: prohibiting partial vetoes from creating new sentences (second consideration).

Whereas, the 2005 legislature in regular session considered a proposed amendment to the constitution in 2005 Senate Joint Resolution 33, which became 2005 Enrolled Joint Resolution 46, and agreed to it by a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses, which proposed amendment reads as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 10 (1) (c) of article V of the constitution is amended to read:

[Article V] Section 10 (1) (c) In approving an appropriation bill in part, the governor may not create a new word by rejecting individual letters in the words of the enrolled bill, and may not create a new sentence by combining parts of 2 or more sentences of the enrolled bill.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution is agreed to by the 2007 legislature; and, be it further

Resolved, That the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution be submitted to a vote of the people at the election to be held on the first Tuesday of April, 2008; and, be it further

Resolved, That the question concerning ratification of the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution be stated on the ballot as follows:

QUESTION 1: "Partial veto. Shall section 10 (1) (c) of article V of the constitution be amended to prohibit the governor, in exercising his or her partial veto authority, from creating a new sentence by combining parts of two or more sentences of the enrolled bill?"

EXPLANATION

The Governor currently has broad authority to veto any part of a bill passed by the Legislature that contains an appropriation of money, including, but not limited to, the state budget bill. At the present time, this partial veto power is limited in the text of the Constitution only to the extent of prohibiting the Governor from creating new words by eliminating individual letters in the words of the bill passed by the Legislature. Thus, this partial veto power allows the Governor to take parts of sentences in the bill passed by the Legislature and combine them to form new sentences that were not contained in the original bill.

A "yes" vote would place an additional limit on the Governor's power to veto parts of an appropriation bill by prohibiting the Governor from creating a new and different sentence by combining parts of two or more sentences as they are written in the bill passed by the Legislature.

A "no" vote would leave the Governor's partial veto power as it is, and continue to permit the Governor to create a new sentence by combining parts of several sentences in the bill passed by the legislature.

DONE in the County of Washington, this 14th day of March, 2008.

NEGOTIATIONS... Writer bargains with daughter for field time

Taylor prepares to release a smallie in the days when getting his daughter to fish wasn't like pulling teeth for the writer.

"So Taylor Rae...how about a nice poison ivy sandwich?" I ask in our almost-private, daddy-daughter bonding booth at the Chinese Buffet.

Actually, the question as posed is, "So Taylor Rae, how about going river walleye fishing with your old Dad?"

The facial contortions on my just turned 14 year, however, might be mixed or matched to wear casually with either question. It's basically the same face I wore 14 years earlier when she filled her diapers and I was on the job...so to speak.

After some threatening that her face might stay like that, a threat handed down across the ages, the contortions settle down and she resembles my 8th grader again, complete with sarcastically raised eyebrows. I pursue my agenda.

"Tay, the walleyes and steelhead are starting to run from the Mississippi to the Fox and from Washburn to Kenosha. Come on. Don't be a girl."

"Emily and I are going to work on a 13 Colonies project for Social Studies," Taylor says.

"When did this happen?" I ask. "You didn't have homework an hour ago."

"They assigned it right after you asked if I would go fishing," she says.

"It's not that bad," I say. "Outdoor writers bond with their daughters and sons."

"Bond with your son," she says.

"You're an only child," I say. "Except for Blue. I'd take him but you still net better. The paw thing..."

"Dad, I'm still not over the spring turkey hunt."

"You should be...that was the spring of 2002"

These "bonding" daddy-daughter outings to the local Chinese restaurant seem to have only one-way adhesive. Taylor hasn't stuck to anything outdoors yet that I've suggested right here over the pork Egg-Fu-Yung.

The dinners out started when Lori began to embark on her annual two-day get-a-ways with "The Girls." Our trips out also began the first time I wrecked the supper Lori, probably guilty for leaving us no doubt and rightfully so, had prepared for us with easy instructions. You know the note boys, taped to the refrigerator: One...place in middle rack for one hour on 350 degrees. Two...wreck. That's what it feels like anyway, because I wreck everything, no instructions required...meals...white laundry.

Anyway, total recall envelopes me during the great dinner of 2008. Tay was a five year old in this same booth during our inaugural trip in 1999 nine years before.

"Daddy, take off your hunting hat," my kindergarten had whispered.

"No, it's all right," I had replied. "Look... seven other daddies are wearing baseball hats right in this room."

"Daddy," T-Rae continued with urgency, just an octave below the "P" is for panic note. "Mommy says we don't wear a hat in restaurants."

Uh-oh, the old "two girls against the boy manners trick" I think, removing my hat.

"Daddy! Daddy!" Taylor's still-whispered but all-out kindergarten anxiety growing as she locked on my apparently flawed and shall we say...rimmed... hair with a horrified look. "Put your hat on! Put your hat on!"

(That story, readers on this Easter weekend, is the Gospel truth.)

Back again, to the present. I feel an inner panic myself. I'm standing at a crossroads. Taylor needs to recognize just who the man of the household is...at least for these 48 hours when mom is gone. She WILL, I decide, go fishing with me.

An understanding is indeed reached and the meal continues on in an awkward kind of childish silence; handling disappointment comes only with maturity.

"Do your homework with Emily then..." I manage finally. "I'll just fish alone. See if I care."

Guilt works on the Ellis girls. I hear Taylor's exasperated sigh. I feel the skinny arms cross. I see the eyebrows rise sarcastically. For a second I think maybe my wife didn't leave after all. Mini-Hurricane Lori or something looking just like it is building nicely just across the table.

"Okay, I'll fish," Taylor says. "But I hope we get a wall-eye this year. I hope it doesn't rain again. I hope the motor works..."

"We will," I say. "It won't," I promise. "It will," I hope.

We don't. It does. It doesn't.

Actually, it snows like the dickens. Again. As in, 15 inches of dickens. And the Fox River assault throwing fire-tiger crankbaits with Taylor Rae Ellis for 10-pound walleyes is put on hold. Even a back-up plan, ice fishing pannies, goes out the window with a stern warning from two guides about deteriorating conditions.

The home-made fish fry planned for Day Two of the Mom-away trip goes out the window too, due to a lack of one ingredient. We end up Saturday night back in another familiar booth, different restaurant.

"That's quite a young lady you have there," our waitress says when Taylor excuses herself to use the restroom. "It's nice to see fathers and daughters spending time together."

"Communication is the key," I say. "We understand each other...and we love to do the same stuff."

Champs at last! Dickmann, Boettcher near the top in their specialties

Three cheers for the Kewaskum High girls' track team!!!

The Lady Indians, placing in all but three events, piled up 100.5 points to capture the title in the annual Washington County Indoor Track and Field Meet held in West Bend on March 18th.

A second-place finish in the final event, the 10-lap relay, secured the victory for the Indians. Slinger won the race but had to settle for third place with 90 points, one point behind Germantown.

Three other teams also made the meet very competitive. Hartford placed fourth with 87.5, while Kettle Moraine Lutheran, the smallest school in the competition, was next with 80.5. The hosts, West Bend East and West, finished sixth and seventh with 78 and 45 points, respectively.

"We thought we were ahead, but we didn't know quite where we were," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said, reporting his quartet of Megan Thornton, Megan Stuck, Rachel Yocum and Heather Schmitt certainly came through for the team.

"They didn't place anywhere last year," Gosa said of this unit, quick to add he complimented the two returnees, Thornton and Schmitt, for persevering. (The other two members of the unit didn't come out for track this season.)

Slinger posted a time of 4 minutes, 21.1 seconds (4:21.1), while the Indians hit the tape in 4:24.3.

Gosa said he hadn't had much of a chance to see the freshmen in action and picked Stuck and Yocum on their performances in practice and what they did as eighth graders.

"This will be good motivation for them," the veteran coach said.

What also helped the Lady Indians was their "double scoring." "In seven events, we had two people score," Gosa said.

Two of those events were the pole vault and the 50-yard high hurdles, and Alissa Clapper was involved in both. Clapper finished second in the pole vault by clearing 9-feet (9-0) and second in the hurdles with a time of 8.74.

There were some anxious moments in both, according to Gosa, who said Clapper decided to open the pole vault at eight feet and had two misses when she was called to run the hurdle trials.

She won her heat, Gosa said, then went back to the pole vault and on her final try, "She cleared eight feet by more than a foot" and later cleared 9-0 but had to settle for second on misses.

"She's too good an athlete to be in just one event," Gosa said.

Amanda Kleppin made 6-6 to tie for seventh in the pole vault, and senior Liz Potter ran an 8.84 for fourth in the hurdles.

Another "double" came in the long jump where Schmitt and Nichole Kison jumped 13-9.25 and 13-7.75, respectively, to place sixth and seventh.

"We did it without any practices," Gosa said because the indoor long jump pit is gone and the Indians had only one outdoor practice and weren't able to use the jumping pits.

The high jumpers, Candace Beine and Jessie Liniewski, contributed 14 points with their second and third places after both cleared 4-8, and in the mile, it was Helen Schoeborn (6:24.7) and Tonya Janssen (6:29.3) taking third and fourth in the mile.

"Helen is one of our foreign exchange students. She just loves to run," Gosa said, noting this was the first track meet she was ever in ... I'm very pleased."

Janssen came back later to take third in the 880 with a time of 2:52.8.

Haley Gregoriou, a sophomore "showing good potential," placed fourth in the 50-yard low hurdles with a time of 8.82, while Grace Pok was sixth with a 9.19 clocking.

"We don't have a lot of hurdlers, but they did well," the coach said, noting Pok has good form but needs to get a little stronger.

The other event where KHS had two places was the 440 yard dash, with Kison third in 63.2 and Schmitt fifth in 63.7. Gosa said Kison has matured and is emerging as a team leader.

Another good race for the Indians was the 6-lap relay with Jessi Forbes, Liniewski, Kison and senior Kelly Uelmen taking second at 2:21.5. "They finished third in state last year and took a half second off the school record," Gosa said.

Uelmen also placed fifth in the 50-yard dash, sprinting to a time of 7.01.

"It was a nice team victory," Gosa said. "The girls were very happy," despite the fact there was no announcement about the final scores.

The last time Kewaskum won a County Indoor title was back in 1996, and ironically, according to Gosa, that year the Indians also won the EWC title. He's hoping this will give the girls some impetus for future meets, adding, "Now's the time to be working hard, in March and April."

Kewaskum's next meet is Tuesday, April 1, at the Oshkosh Indoor.

The Kewaskum High pole vaulters, high jumpers and those in the shot put accounted for 26 points in the recent Washington County Indoor Track and Field Meet, but unfortunately just 18 and 1/3 points were scored in the other 12 events as the Indians had to settle for sixth place in the event.

West Bend West had a good outing, scoring 118 points to claim the crown, 5.5 points ahead of Kettle Moraine Lutheran (112.5). Then came perennial power Germantown, which dropped a bit off recent years' total with 96.

Slinger was fourth at 87-1/3, then came West Bend East, 79-1/3, Kewaskum, 44-1/3 and Hartford, 39.5.

"We have a couple boys injured, and we don't quite have the numbers (to challenge for a top spot)," KHS Coach Jerry Gosa said, indicating, "The boys will be a work in progress" this spring.

Jake Dickmann cleared 6-feet (6-0) to take second place in the high jump. "It was Jake's personal best. That was the highest we placed," Gosa said, reporting another second came in the shot put.

Dan Dymond placed eighth in the high jump after clearing 5-8.

KHS also had two good places in the shot put with Ben Boettcher just a half inch under 48 feet, and Tyler Swanson in the fifth spot, with a day's best of 45-8.

Those two places were worth 12 points for the Indians, and another five came in the pole vault where Kevin Schellinger cleared 11-0, good for sixth overall, and Dickmann made 10-6 for seventh.

The best finish in a running event came in the 10-lap relay where Dymond, Dylan Kenworthy, Brandon Zolp and Scott Steldt finished fourth at 3:38.1. Dymond and Kenworthy are seniors, while the other two are sophomores.

Steldt is showing good promise in the relay and most likely will move into the open 400 for the outdoor meets.

Dymond placed in the 440. His clocking of 61 and .4 seconds (61.4) was good enough for sixth.

Junior Zach Amerling, who returned to the team this season after not running in 2007, did well in the 213-yard dash. He placed seventh with a time of 25.6, just .1 out of sixth and .5 of a second out of fourth place.

"We can use him like crazy" in the long jump, sprints and relays, Gosa said.

The 6-lap relay placed fifth at 2:00.9.

Gosa is still trying to recruit athletes from other sports to come out for track, noting the benefits they receive with added speed and endurance.

"You look at other schools, and the football and basketball players go out for track," he said, but many at KHS do not want to put in the extra effort the sport demands.

Dickmann's 3rd place highlights Indians' efforts

Oshkosh meet shows strength of EWC boys track teams

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The Eastern Wisconsin Conference boys track teams did very well at the annual Oshkosh Indoor Invitational held at the Kolf Field house on Thursday afternoon.

Kiel, which has blossomed in recent years, won the Division 2 competition with 47 points, a dozen more than runner-up Southern Door and New Holstein, another team from the EWC.

Two other conference representatives, Sheboygan Falls and Two Rivers, wound up seventh and eighth, respectively, with 33.5 and 31 points.

Kewaskum did well in several of the field events but was unable to score in the sprints and distance races, which definitely hurt its cause. The Indians came up with 13 points to place 17th.

"Kiel looks real tough, and obviously New Holstein," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said, adding, "We're not at full strength yet."

Jake Dickmann was the Indians' top point-scorer, garnering a third place in the high jump after clearing the bar at 5-feet, 10-inches (5-10).

"It's nice to see him making some progress," Gosa said, noting, "At the County Indoor, Jake jumped six feet for the first time ever."

Dan Dymond contributed points by finishing sixth overall in the 400-meter dash where he was clocked in 56 and .41 hundredths seconds (56.41).

The Indians' seniorweight tandem of Ben Boettcher and Tyler Swanson also performed well, taking seventh and eighth, respectively. Boettcher launched the iron ball 48-0.5, while Swanson's best effort was a 45-7.5 in a pretty strong field that produced four efforts at 50 feet or better.

"Ben is keeping himself right at 48 feet," Gosa said, reporting none of the other EWC athletes finished ahead of him, so, "He could be one of the leaders (in the shot) in the conference."

Dickmann had hoped to go higher than 10-6 in the pole vault but that effort netted him an eighth place, and his teammate Kevin Schellinger went over 10-0 to take ninth place.

Although they did not score, the quartet of Dymond, Dylan Kenworthy, Scott Steldt and Brandon Zolp raced to a 3:5.25 clocking in the 4x400 relay. Their times was good enough for 10th.

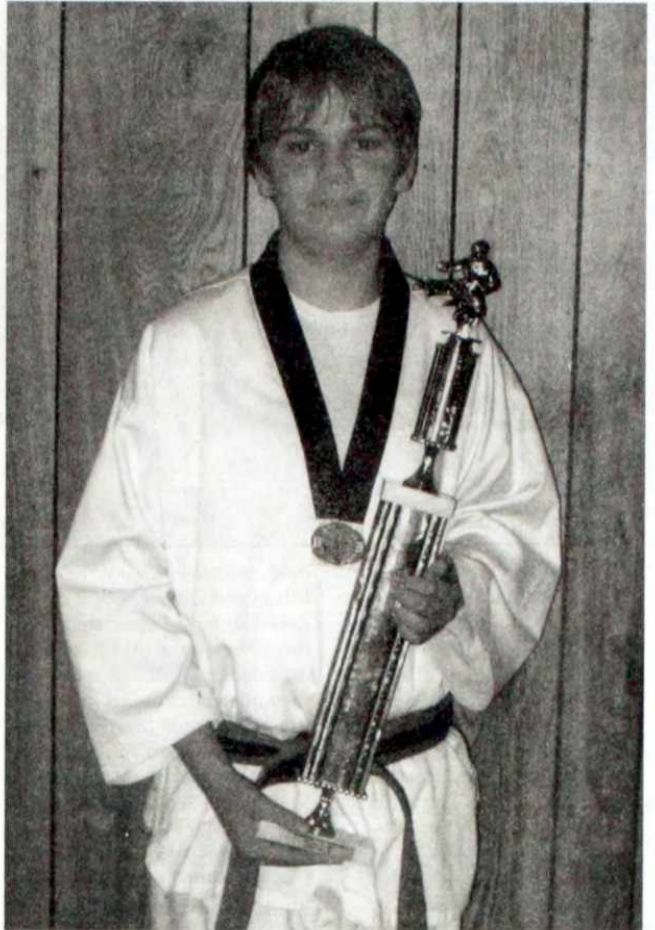

Dymond, Zach Amerling, Boettcher and Steldt finished 14th out of 20-plus teams in the 4x200 relay. Their time in that event was a 1:44.14.

The team should be stronger once Zach Herriges is ready for competition. "The first three weeks of the season he's doing driver's ed," Gosa said.

The Indians have no competitions this week during their Easter break. They resume activity on Saturday, April 5th when selected individuals and relays will test their skills at the WTF A State Indoor Championships which will be held at UW-Whitewater.

The first outdoor meet is scheduled for Tuesday, April 8th when the Indians host a quad meet with Plymouth, Sheboygan Falls and Two Rivers, starting at 4 p.m.

Five KIWC athletes take 1st or 2nd at tough Fondy meet

The competition was plenty tough at the Kids Wrestling Tournament held on March 15 in Fond du Lac.

Only two of the 19 representatives of the Kewaskum Indians Wrestling Club in the meet won titles in full brackets, while one other finished first in a two-person bracket, and two others finished second.

Perfect on the day was mini-mite Eric Bauer, who went 5-0 in the Kindergarten-second grade division. Bauer, who weighs barely 45 pounds, had four pins and a decision and reportedly defeated two state qualifiers in the process.

Joey Seitz rebounded from the disappointing third-place finish in the regional to win a title in the 5-6 division. Seitz went 5-1 with three pins. His lone loss a very tough 4-3 decision.

Three wrestlers had identical 5-1 marks, and Seitz got the nod on a tie-breaking system.

Dakota Peters-Lawrenz

wound up in a two-person bracket, so he wrestled the same wrestlers twice, winning 10-1 and by pin. Then he went into an older division for three exhibition matches, and he went 1-2 in those.

The two runner-ups were Austin Goeden and Lance Pinchard. Pinchard, who will be competing in Madison this weekend, finished 4-1 with three pins, a bye and an 11-1 loss.

Goeden, wrestling in the 7-8 division, started off with a pin and he shut out his next foe by a score of 12-0 before losing to a state qualifier by a score of 7-2.

Those taking third place included: Mike Bier and Max Maertz. Bier, in the 7-8 division, went 3-2 with one pin, while Maertz, in the 5-6 division, wound up with two wins and two losses.

Those finishing fourth included: grades 7-8 — Andy Doll, 2-3 with one pin; Logan Dreher, 2-2; grades 5-6 — L.J. Pinchard, 2-3 with one pin; Kurt Luedtke, 2-3 with one pin; and K-2 — Max DesRosier, who was 2-3 with one pin.

Cody Muckerheide (grades 5-6), Max Vetter (5-6), Eric Doll (3-4), Nathan Peters-Lawrenz (K-2), Jadon Rhoads (K-2), and Trevor Cross (no grade available) all placed fifth.
