Shambeau accepts position with Calumet County

KEWASKUM- The Village Board will discuss what they will do after the resignation of Village Administrator Jay Shambeau at their meeting Monday, April 21. Shambeau announced his resignation late in the day, Tuesday, April 15.

In a letter to Village President Matt Heiser Shambeau announced his last day of employment with the village would be Friday, June 6. Shambeau began his career with the village on August 1, 2007.

Shambeau was chosen from among three people presented by a firm hired to assist the village in seeking their next administrator after Dan Schmidt, who served the village for over 34 years.

Shambeau reported Wednesday morning that he was offered a position in Calumet County as their county administrator.

Calumet County has a population of over 45,000 residents and 19 local governments including; nine towns, four villages and six cities. The annual budget for Calumet County is over $40 million, supporting 25 major departments.

As County Administrator, Shambeau will be the chief administrative officer of the County and as such, directs, administers, and coordinates the activities of the County in support of policies, goals and objectives established by the County Board. He will be responsible for appointing members of Boards and Commissions, subject to the confirmation of the County Board. He will also be responsible for submitting the annual budget to the County Board.

"I was very sad to learn that Jay was moving on to another position. I think he has done a tremendous job in the village and I have enjoyed working with him immensely. I will miss him. But I realize this is a rare and exciting opportunity and I am genuinely happy for both Jay and his family. I wish them only the best," stated Village President Matt Heiser.

During his tenure in Kewaskum Shambeau was responsible for hiring a full-time village clerk who also serves as deputy treasurer and a full-time building administrator who also serves as the village's zoning administrator.

Klemme is new Wayne Chairman

By Lisa Rogers
Statesman Correspondent

TOWN of WAYNE- Attendance was thin at the April 12 town meeting held to find a replacement for former Town Board Chairman Scott Weiss. Weiss' sudden resignation was announced at the April 8 annual meeting. Supervisor Carl Klemme has taken over the position.

In an earlier statement given to The Statesman Weiss stated in an email, "I have submitted my resignation and am stepping down as Chairman of the town of Wayne. The effective date was to be upon appointment of a new Chairman at the Town Board meeting April 16, 2008, however due to the actions of a few spineless weasels I have made my decision to step down immediately. I want to thank the people of the town of Wayne for the opportunity and trust they put in me by allowing me to hold this position. I will always look back at this experience as not only educational but also as an honor to represent the great people of the town of Wayne."

Clerk Chris Kuehn answered a question about the voting procedure. He explained that in the absence of a chairman the town supervisors and clerk cast a vote electing a replacement. The decision would be made between town supervisors Klemme and Kieth Kriewaldt.

Both Klemme and Kriewaldt were asked if either were interested in the position. Kriewaldt expressed he did

School District to hold special meeting to gain approval for Regal Ware lease

By Andrew Kuehl
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- The Board of Education gave approval to the concept of an Alternative School for high school students at their meeting Monday, April 14. The approval led to another important component, the seeking of approval of a lease agreement for a new district administration headquarters.

Anne Ignatowski, associate principal at KHS presented additional information regarding the alternative school, being named Kewaskum Career Academy.

The Academy will operate Monday through Friday in two daily sessions the first from 9 a.m. until noon, the second from 1-3 p.m. Outside of that they must hold a job or do community service.

Alternative school gets board approval

Just like at KHS, students will still need 28 credits to graduate. Instead of electives, they will attain those through job and service opportunities. Each student will have an individualized learning plan, after consulting with the student's parents and past teachers.

Some will do individualized work. Students will have 45 minutes of a life skills class and 30 minutes of focus groups with discussions with a guidance counselor on real life problems. Daily instruction time will amount to 105 minutes.

After the approval, Business Manager Paul Reichert requested the authority to lease space at Regal Ware's world headquarters on Reigle Drive, across from KHS. The district wished to lease 6,000 square feet for $60,000 annually.

After two years the rent would be increased four percent. Utilities are included in the terms of the lease. There are assurances that Regal Ware will not sell the building and language is being added to the lease to allow the district to stay even if Regal Ware sells the property.

Reichert stated that the electors will need to approve the lease at a special meeting the district will hold Monday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Administration building.

Rollover accident in Wayne

On April 13, 2008 at approximately 6:50 pm, a 71-year-old Oshkosh woman was fatally injured in a one-vehicle rollover crash on US 41 near Beaver Dam Road, in the Town of Wayne. This is Washington County's 4th traffic related fatality for 2008.

The victim, Audrey Wyrembeck of Oshkosh, was the operator of a vehicle traveling northbound on US 41. This vehicle entered the grass median, slid down the embankment, overturned several times, and ended up on its roof in the southbound lanes of travel. Wyrembeck was trapped inside the overturned car and had to be extricated using the Jaws of Life. She was pronounced dead at the scene by the Washington County Medical Examiner's Office.

The victim's 35 year-old daughter, Dana Wyrembeck, and two year old grandson were passengers in the car at the time. They received relatively minor injuries and were able to escape the wreckage prior to the arrival of emergency personnel. They were treated on scene and then transported to St. Joseph's Hospital in the Town of Polk by Allenton EMS. Allenton was assisted by Kohlsville Fire Department and West Bend Intercept.

Washington County was assisted by units from the Wisconsin State Patrol and the Dodge County Sheriff's Department. Both southbound lanes of US 41 were shut down for approximately 90 minutes while rescue and clean-up efforts were conducted.

Investigation into the cause indicated that for unknown reasons prior to entering the median, the auto began sliding sideways on the gravel shoulder of the roadway. The two adults were wearing seatbelts and the child was in a child safety set. Alcohol use and speed did not appear to have been contributing factors.

The crash remains under investigation.

Medicine collection day April 19

NEVER flush or pour unused medicine down the drain! Wastewater treatment plants are not designed to remove pharmaceuticals from wastewater. Help - protect Lake Michigan, prevent childhood poisonings and reduce substance abuse.

Bring unused medicines to a special "Medicine Collection Day" on April 19, 2008 at one of six locations throughout Southeastern Wisconsin. Please ONLY visit the collection in your county.

In honor of Earth Day 2008, April 22, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is challenging residents in the Great Lakes area to bring one million unused or expired pills to a special collection for proper disposal. For more information, visit www.epa.gov/greatlakes/earthday2008.

According to the EPA, "More than half of people surveyed throw their unused medicines in the trash, while a third flush them down the drain. In both cases, the medicines have the potential to be released into our rivers and lakes."

From anti-depressants to birth control, trace amounts of medicine are showing up in rivers and lakes around the world. With little research available on all the impacts these drugs may have, there is growing concern about potential side effect on the environment, aquatic life, and the development of drug resistant germs.

All medicine collected will be destroyed by law enforcement or a federally licensed incinerator owned by Veolia Environmental Services, Inc.

How will the collections work? Residents in the counties involved simply drive or walk up to one of the collection areas and hand over unused medicine to a worker. Volunteer pharmacists from Aurora Pharmacy, Columbia St. Mary's and Costco will sort it into one of two categories. Federal Law requires that we immediately hand over controlled substances to law enforcement. PLEASE keep medicine in the original package or prescription bottle. You CAN cross off your name and address, but do NOT cover up the name of the medication.

You CAN bring: Prescription or over-the-counter medication, ointments, sprays, inhalers, creams, vials and pet medications.

You CANNOT bring: Illegal drugs, needles or sharps, biohazardous material, personal care products (shampoo, soaps, lotions, sunscreen, etc.), household hazardous waste (paint, pesticides, oil, gas).

The Washington County collection will be taking place on Saturday, April 29, 2008 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Washington County Fair Park, 3000 Pleasant Valley Rd., West Bend.

For more information and collection site maps, visit www.mmsd.com.

Farmington holds annual meeting

TOWN of FARMINGTON- About 20 town residents turned out for the townships annual meeting on Tuesday, April 8. Residents approved the town's annual report.

Items discussed were the town's employment of a water patrolman for Green Lake. Brian Bausch asked if it was cost effective for employing the patrolman for what the town receives in citations. It was decided it will be reviewed and more information will be given at a future meeting.

Richard Finch addressed the board regarding garbage collection, advocating curb side collection. "I think many people in Farmington burn their garbage because they don't want to pay for weekly pickup. If we had a low cost alternative it would eliminate garbage burning," he stated.

Requesting proposals was mentioned. Dennis Fechter town resident and representative for Veolia proposed using a single stream cart recycling program with his company. Pick up would be every other week. He thought his company would ask for a three to five year contract.

A number of residents voiced opposition to the idea. It was decided a citizen's committee would be formed and the idea would be investigated further with the results presented at a town meeting.

Klemme who co-owns Klemme Brothers Well Drilling located in the township will serve as town chairman until the elections in April 2009.

Klemme's acceptance of town chairman means he will not be able to fulfill his role as town supervisor. Appointment of a new town supervisor will most likely be on the agenda for the April 17 board meeting. The town normally

The appointment of a su-

Kuehn explained that either one of the members of the planning commission could step forward or nominations from the floor at the April 17 could be considered. It was noted that resident Scott McLellan expressed interest in being a nominee.

Kriewaldt explained that the WIFI project being planned will be discussed beginning at 7:00 p.m. This is an opportunity for residents to learn more about the possibility of WIFI service in the area.

Wisconsin Tornado and Severe Weather Awareness Week April 21-25

Gov. Jim Doyle has proclaimed April 21-25, 2008 as Tornado and Severe Weather Awareness Week in Wisconsin. This awareness campaign is launched every year in April to remind people of the dangers associated with tornadoes, thunderstorms, flooding and hail and to encourage citizens to educate themselves regarding protective safety measures.

The Washington County Office of Emergency Management, along with Wisconsin Emergency Management (WEM) and the National Weather Service (NWS), are once again promoting Wisconsin's Tornado and Severe Weather Awareness Week. WEM has sent out a press packets containing background information. In addition, the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction is sending all state schools tornado and severe weather information and safety tips. Additional information can be found on the WEM website: <http://emergencymanagement.wi.gov>

On Thursday, April 24, Washington County will participate in the statewide tornado drill. The drill tests the notification procedures that take place during a severe weather event. Various types of watches/warnings are issued by the NWS and disseminated to local dispatch agencies and key personnel. These are the same watches/warnings available to the public through the media or over the NOAA weather radio system.

Weather warning sirens in Washington County are owned and operated locally by the various cities, villages and townships. Due to this fact, the sirens in your area may or may not sound on April 24th, depending on participation by the local jurisdiction in the drill, or the fact that a particular system may choose not to deviate from its normal testing schedule.

If actual severe weather occurs anywhere in the state on April 24, the drill will be postponed until Friday, April 25.

All residents of Washington County are encouraged to become familiar with the designated shelter areas and weather procedures needed to be safe if you are at home, school, work, shopping or on the road. The best way to stay informed about severe weather conditions is to purchase a weather radio.

Additional information can be obtained from your local or state Emergency Management Agency, the National Weather Service or your local chapter of the American Red Cross.

NOTE: The village of Kewaskum does not have a designated spot for residents who do not have basements, police chief Richard Knoebel advised, "People need to get to a protected area as quickly as possible. If they do not have a basement they can go to an inside bathroom and lay in their tub. This would give them protection in the event that the walls or roof would collapse."

KM State Forest needs volunteers

The Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit covers almost 30,000 acres and has approximately 900,000 visitors annually. With all this land to cover and with all those visitors, the forest staff needs some extra help with a variety of tasks.

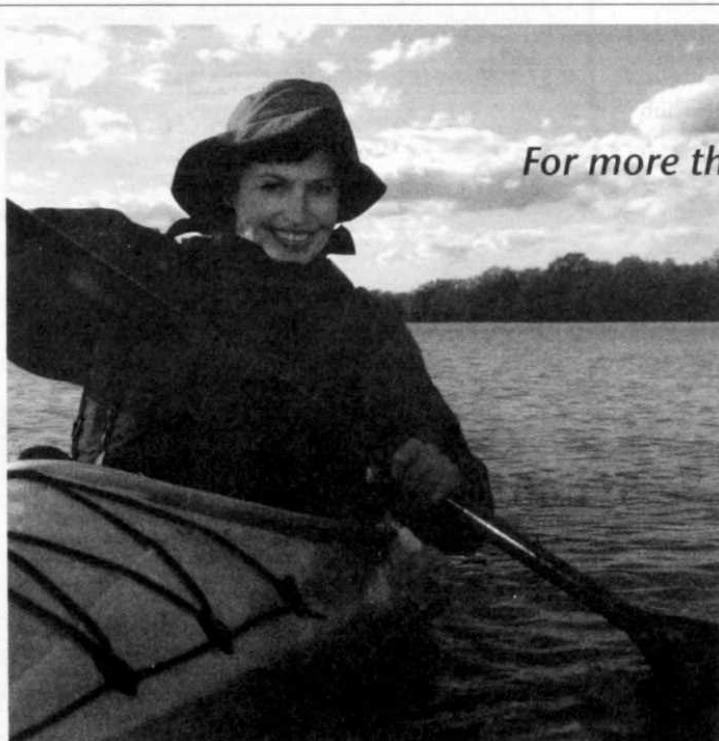

Are you a people person? If you answered yes, they are looking for you to help staff the front desk at the Ice Age Visitor Center, which is located half mile west of Dundee. Volunteers are needed that would be willing to give four to five hours on Saturdays and Sundays from May through October, from 11:00 am until 3:00 or 4:00 pm. Volunteers greet forest visitors, help them get orientated to the forest and assist with selling Friends of the Kettle Moraine merchandise. Training will be offered on Wednesday, May 7, at 6:30 p.m. and volunteers will work side-by-side with a forest employee.

Do you have a favorite trail that you enjoy walking? They could use you as one of their Trail Watchers who help them keep alert to the maintenance needs and unique natural happenings on "their trails." Volunteers would sign up for trail or specific trail loop/section on which to be a Trail Watcher. They would inform the forest staff of any maintenance needs like downed trees or vandalized signs. They would inform the staff of what flowers are blooming, what birds/animals were sighted and what other unique finds were found. This information would then be posted at the Ice Age Visitor Center.

Extra volunteers are always needed with special programs offered by the naturalist staff. Help is needed to help lead activities, engage people to participate, and set up before and clean up after the event. They are looking for people to help with their Summer Sun Celebration on Saturday, June 28, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. at Long Lake, and on Sunday, June 29, from 12:00 to 3:00 p.m. at Mauthe Lake. Volunteers will assist with sun experiments and solar crafts. On Sunday, July 27, from 12:00 to 4:00 p.m., help is needed with their Old-time Nature Skills, Games and Crafts at Mauthe Lake leading old-time games, helping with the crafts and assisting with the nature skills.

For more information about volunteer opportunities in the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit, please contact Jackie Scharfenberg, Forest Naturalist. She may be reached at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The center's phone number is 920-533-8322.

Dhein to hold book signing at Fireside Books in West Bend

Diane Dhein, a local author, pattern designer, and home economist, has written a project-based book to offer fun and festive choices to those who love sewing, crafting, and cooking. Her book, Sip 'n Sew, was published by Krause Publications in March.

Come in to Fireside Books in West Bend on Saturday April 19, 10:30 a.m.—11:30 a.m., for a book signing and to see some of the projects first hand from Diane's new book. Diane attributes her sewing and cooking talents to her mom and the local 4-H club in Montello, but her main inspiration came from her working association with public television host, Nancy Zieman.

Sip 'n Sew is brimming with tips and techniques for 22 unique projects and 20 tasty beverage recipes to help you create gifts and accessories for your home. Diane teaches basic sewing, quilting, felting, crafting, embroidering, and serging skills throughout the book, and offers timesaving methods to handcraft gifts. The projects span a wealth of topics, adding a unique and always complementary touch to accompanying sassy "sippers." Entertaining for family and friends takes on a fresh and upscale look and taste when you turn to Sip 'n Sew for ideas and inspiration!

Diane joins Nancy Zieman of Sewing With Nancy in the Sip 'n Sew program that is currently airing on PBS. Five of the simple-to-sew projects from the book are featured on the TV show. They include Scarlett's Floral Tea Cozy, Tortilla Warmer, Wake-up Wash Mitts, Island Star Wall Hanging, and Asian Tea Party Mats. More information on the program, book, and DVD is available at www.nancysnotions.com. Diane will do a book signing and demonstration at Nancy's Notions Retail Store in Beaver Dam on Thursday evening, May 22.

The book is available locally from Fireside Books in West Bend, as well as from Nancy's Notions (www.nancysnotions.com), specialty shops, major bookstores, and the publisher (www.krause-books.com).

Vintage baseball opener April 19

If you missed the Brewers home opener don't worry! Everyone is welcome to attend a one of a kind opener April 19, at Sandy Knoll County Park, 2064 Wallace Lake Road. The Vintage Base Ball team from the Old Wade House, the Dead Citys, will be pitted against the Washington County Historical Society's Junior History Explorers.

Wearing vintage uniforms, the Dead Citys is a group of Base Ball enthusiasts who play "America's pastime" using rules from the 1860's. No, Base Ball isn't a typo; rather it is how the game was known in its infancy. Vintage Base Ball is played and looks very different than the game as we know it today.

Modern Woodman program April 21

Local Modern Woodmen of America families will meet on April 21 at 4 p.m. to learn about floral decorating and gardening. The program will be held at Gateway Cafe in Kewaskum and will feature Julie Bartoli-Schrauth from Bartoli's.

The presentation is one of many Family Life Programs Modern Woodmen camps present nationwide, which provide the organization's members with information about health, safety, parenting and other family-related issues.

"American families face many issues today," says Jeff Jaeger, local Modern Woodmen camp secretary. "The Family Life Program is one way Modern Woodmen helps its member families tackle these issues, while promoting strong family relationships."

Players are known as "ballists," and play without a mitt or other protective gear. Uniforms varied according to the period and even included lace shirts with knickers. Games were played in open fields, and over the years the rules evolved into the game that we all know and love today. The Dead Citys take their name from a local team that existed as far back as the 1870's. At that time, the railroad was slated to go through Greenbush, Wis. The town was very excited about the project, but ultimately disappointed when the tracks were diverted to Glenbulah. Because of this change, residents decided their city was "dead," and the name of the team was born.

Game day begins at 9 a.m. with special Junior History Explorer activities that include choosing a player nickname. The Dead Citys will arrive at 9:30AM to present the history of baseball and explain the rules of the game. The game itself will begin at 11a.m. Junior History Explorers is a special club for children in third through fifth grade. There is still time to be a part of this unique event. Call the Washington County Historical Society to sign up at 335-4678. Everyone is welcome to come and experience baseball from the past.

Habitat for Humanity to host concert featuring 'Eternity'

Habitat for Humanity of Washington County just announced that they were building for the first time in Kewaskum this spring. In anticipation of the great support from the community, Habitat is hosting a FREE Benefit Concert featuring the popular Gospel quartet, Eternity at the Kewaskum Theater on Saturday, April 19th at 7 pm. Eternity delivers a fun, energetic stage show and powerful four-part harmonies in the style of the Oak Ridge Boys, Statler Brothers, Gaither Vocal Band and Signature Sound Quartet. The concert is FREE with all goodwill donations going to the Habitat home in Kewaskum.

Habitat has not selected the family for the home in Kewaskum and is taking applications. Habitat homeowners, or Partner Families, are selected if they: demonstrate need for better housing; are willing to partner with Habitat through the process, and are able to afford the home. Homes are sold to the Partner Families at no profit to Habitat. Interest is not charged to the Partner Family either.

The length of the mortgage is determined by the family's ability to pay. Partner Families invests not only money in their homes, they invest time and energy. Each family is required to volunteer hundreds of hours on a Habitat home construction site and/or other Habitat projects.

Habitat builds homes for - and with—hard working, deserving families throughout the Washington County area. To date, Habitat has provided 13 hardworking families with simple, decent homes. It's a start, but not enough. Not nearly enough to help the 5,000 families that earn between 30% & 55% of the median household income and would qualify to be partner families in Washington County!

Come out and support the new Habitat project and your neighbors in need on Saturday, April 19th at 7 pm at the Kewaskum Theater. Contact the Habitat Office at 262-626-4625 for more information.

'Into the Wild' at C-sport library

Area residents are invited to the Campbellsport Public Library on Monday, April 28 at 5:30 pm to watch Into the Wild. The film is based on a true story; Christopher McCandless leaves a college education, material wealth and a seemingly bright future to head into the Alaskan wilderness. No one truly knows why he did this but this film traces his steps across the country, meeting and befriending dozens and his eventual death due to lack of preparation and knowledge of the harsh life in the wild. The movie stars Emile Hirsch, Catherine Keener and Vince Vaughn.

The movie will be projected onto a large screen with surround sound. Free popcorn will be served. This film is rated "R" so children age 17 and under must be accompanied by a parent.

If you would like more information about this program, please call the Library at (920) 533-8534, or stop in at 220 Helena Street. They are open Monday and Tuesday from 12 to 8 pm, Wednesday from 10 to 6 pm, Thursday from 12 to 5 pm, Friday from 12 to 5 pm and Saturday from 9 to Noon.

Sylvan Learning's Helpful Hints for Student Success:

Sylvan Learning Center suggests 10 ways to help your child become a reading success

By: Barbara Hampton, Center Director

Many research studies have found that children who are read to or read on their own at home do better in school. The National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) 2004 national reading assessment of fourth-grade students found that reading for fun had a positive relationship to performance on NAEP reading scores. The 87% of students who reported reading for fun on their own time once a month or more performed at the Proficient level, while students who never or hardly ever read for fun performed at the Basic level. Students who read for fun every day scored the highest.

Sylvan offers the following reading tips for parents searching for ways to engage and interest their child in the wonderful world of reading.

Read with your child. You can't start too early. You can't read too much. Reading to young children nurtures an interest in language, words and communication. For older kids, reading together can be fun and interesting. Consider reading one book together every month aloud. Take turns reading pages, chapters or major sections of the book.

Read together regularly. Sylvan Learning Center recommends that parents spend an average of an hour a week -- or 10 to 15 minutes a day -- reading with young readers. It establishes reading as a regular, daily habit.

Encourage your child to build his or her own library. By encouraging book collecting and the creation of a personal library, you introduce your child to a world of resources. Help your child start his or her own library by including a visit to a local bookstore in your weekly or monthly shopping outings.

Provide different kinds of general interest magazines for your child. Introduce your child to weekly and monthly general interest magazines. These publications explore news events in much greater detail through words and vivid photographs. Read an article together, and help your child with difficult words or abstract concepts.

Visit your local library and introduce your child to the children's librarian. Almost every library has at least one librarian who is very knowledgeable about children's literature. He or she can suggest book titles, guide your child through research projects and keep you informed regarding any special reading events that may be planned at the library or elsewhere in the community.

Get a riddle book at the library or bookstore. Children enjoy riddles and jokes that rely on wordplay. Laughing together at clever jokes and riddles can make a Saturday trip to soccer or hockey practice more enjoyable and memorable.

Learn new words on the road. Use every new experience to introduce new words to your child. Every journey, trip or vacation, regardless of the distance, introduces new ideas and objectives to your child and can enlarge his or her vocabulary.

Area students have art displayed in Madison

Elementary art teacher Susan Seibel celebrates with Farmington Elementary School 1st grader Logan Degnitz who received a 2008 W. T. Graham Youth Art Award and a $50 U.S. Savings Bond for his self-portrait in honor of Youth Art Month at the Wisconsin State Capitol in Madison.

By Amber Donath
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum Community Schools art students showed off their talents in honor of Youth Art Month.

During the month of March, several pieces of student artwork were on display at area businesses to highlight the hard work and talent of local youth.

Another facet of Youth Art

Kewaskum Middle School student Robin Schmitt had her artwork "Three Views" on display in the State Capitol and attended the awards ceremony honoring all featured student artists.

Month was a special exhibit of artwork from Wisconsin students on display at the State Capitol in Madison. Kewaskum area student artists recognized were:

Kewaskum High School: "In My Eyes" by Nicole Hallstead

Kewaskum Middle School: "Three Views" by Robin Schmitt and "Fractured Sky" by Joel Turk

Kewaskum Elementary School: "Sad Dad" by Quinn Faretta and "The Morning Glory" by Natalie Gulczynski

Farmington Elementary School: "Self Portrait" Logan Degnitz

Wayne Elementary School: "Sunflower" by Kelly Steger

Each of the students who had artwork displayed at the Capitol will receive a certificate congratulating them on their accomplishments. All young artists representing Youth Art Month were also invited to attend an awards ceremony at the Capitol in March.

Farmington Elementary School first grader Logan Degnitz's self-portrait also received extra recognition by winning a 2008 W. T. Graham Youth Art Award and a $50 U.S. Savings Bond. This summer, Degnitz will have his artwork included in a traveling Young People's Art Exhibition around the state, including a stop at the Wisconsin State Fair in West Allis this August.

"All of the students whose artwork was chosen to represent Kewaskum put in a lot of effort and hard work," said elementary art teacher Susan Seibel. "We have a lot of talented students in our schools making the selection very difficult because we are limited to only a few entries at each school level."

JUNEVA L. SCHMIDT

Juneva L. Schmidt of West Bend died on Friday, April 11, 2008 at the Cedar Lake Health and Rehabilitation Center at the age of 83 years.

She was born on May 30, 1924 in the Town of Auburn to the late Erwin and Lila (nee Kibble) Schmidt. As a child, her family moved from the family farm to Kewaskum and later settled in West Bend.

After graduating from West Bend High School, Juneva entered the United States Navy, serving for two years with the WAVES (Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Services), and was stationed in the Washington, D.C. area. After her Naval service and discharge, she returned to West Bend and eventually entered into the hotel business with her very dear friends, Mary and Frank Reichert.

Their partnership resulted in several business ventures of running hotels in Plymouth and Kalamazoo, MI, and eventually taking them to Miami, FL where they ran a Dairy Quick and The Art Mart (art and framing studio).

While in Florida, Juneva earned her realtors license and her LPN nursing license. After many years of working and living in Florida and sharing the special friendship and life events with the Reichert family, Juneva returned to West Bend to care for her mother and to be close to family and friends.

Juneva continued to be an aid and companion to elderly aunts, friends and many others in West Bend, who she cared for with tenderness and compassion.

Her many talents included being an avid geneologist, a good cook/baker, a reliable worker and talented crafter. She enjoyed traveling and polka dancing and it was rare to see her without a camera in her hand (the family have the pictures to show for it, but without those pictures, they would have forgotten some of the special moments in their lives).

Juneva was a long-time member of Immanuel United Church of Christ and was very active in the Ladies Aid Group. The Election Night Supper was where she showed her talent with the best glazed carrots you ever tasted.

She was also a proud lifetime member of the Navy WAVES Badgers #39 Wisconsin Division. She accumulated many special friends who kept in touch with her to the very end.

Juneva was willing to give of her time and talents; she was a devoted sister, aunt, great-aunt, great-great-aunt and a very special friend to many. We will all deeply miss her.

Survivors include her brother Delbert Schmidt of West Bend; nieces and nephews Tom (Marylee) Melius of Chugiak, AK, Pat (Al) Schnepf of Ogema, WI, Kathy (Ken) Staehler of West Bend, Darryl Schmidt (financee Jean Schwichtenberg) of Allenton; her special Florida family, the Ricky Reichert family of Chicago, IL and the Daniel Reichert family of Charlotte, NC; grand-nieces-and-nephews, great-grand-niece-and-nephews; many other relatives and friends.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of JAMES DONATH, who passed away five years ago, April 15, 2003.

Little did we know that morning that God would take you to your eternal home.

In life we all loved you dearly, in death we do the same.

It broke our hearts to lose you, you did not go alone, for part of us went with you the day God called you home.

We have all your wonderful memories, your love is still our guide and will always be with us. Though we cannot see you, you are always at our side.

We miss you & love you always Kerry, Alissa & Adam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JANINE ALVAREZ

Hi Neen,

None of us can believe it has been an entire year since you passed, April 22, 2007. We all think of you often. Of course Mom and Dad mostly. It has been hard on them but Lou-E makes it a little easier. At Christmas time we all thought Mom was going to lose it in church, but it was me who when we started to sing Away in a Manger, thought back to when we were kids and put on our Christmas program. I thought of you instantly and started crying in church. I didn't care though. I miss you and talk to you all the time. I know Mom does too. We had planned to go out to eat for your B-day, just like you would have wanted to, but Mom and Dad had everyone to their house for supper instead. Of course it was a snowstorm as always. Well Neen until we all see each other again, love and miss you much.

Always,
Nell

*Loved and missed very much
by your whole family,

And last your beloved

Son of Scarface

By Chris W. Knight

New Era Publishing, $18.95 291 pages

Ah, dear old Dad...

He taught you all about fishing and football. He introduced you to your first engine, and he showed you how to fix it. He was Master of the Grill and he passed the legacy to you. He took you to his favorite hang-out and introduced you to his friends.

He kept secrets from you.

In the new book "Son of Scarface" by Chris W. Knight, a man digs into his father's background to answer a question that haunts him: who was his father, really? *

When Chris Knight was 13 years old, his beloved father died. Knight's mother appeared to hate her husband and, as soon as she could after the funeral, she flew through the house, gathering all Bill Knight's belongings. She put them in trash bags, preparing to wipe him from her memory.

But Chris took one item from the trash: an address book, in which his father had scrawled contacts and phone numbers. Young Chris called someone whose name seemed somehow familiar.

What he heard shocked him.

"Your father was Al Capone's son."

Six words Chris Knight never forgot.

Following his father's death, Knight's mother more-or-less abandoned her children, leaving them in the care of a mysterious woman who lived hours from the Knight home in New Jersey, but who "knew" when Knight and his sister needed help. Life for the siblings was easier without their mother's brutality, but Knight was forever haunted by the words of his father's friend.

If the sight of the blue skies fills you with joy, if a blade of grass springing up in the fields has power to move you, if the simple things of nature have a message that you understand, rejoice, for your soul is alive. -Eleonora Duse

AG / BUSINESS NEWS

Samuelson Sez Good times, Bad times

Indeed, this is an interesting time in the world of agriculture, the most interesting I have seen in my 52 years of covering this industry. Over the past several months, at every agricultural meeting I have attended and covered, it took only a matter of minutes before the subject of prices and market volatility worked its way into the conversation.

Depending on where you are in the agricultural food chain, these are either the "best of times" or the "worst of times". For corn, soybean and wheat producers, record high prices that we couldn't even think about a couple of years ago, say the "best of times." If you are a livestock or poultry producer, the higher cost of your feed says these could be the "worst of times". There is no question that volatility is part of our lives everyday, and if you are a trader in the marketplace, one day you are limit up, the next day you are limit down and if you are on the wrong side, you are in trouble.

There are many reasons for the volatility, but to me the underlying basic reason is a law that has been part of marketing forever...the law of supply and demand. Supply of food and feed grains lower than we have seen in several decades; in the case of wheat 60 years, and demand increasing rapidly for corn and soybeans to produce alternative fuels. Remembering that change is with us constantly, it is interesting to note, however, that USDA in its last three monthly supply-demand reports has lowered the use of corn for ethanol by a total of 300-million bushels.

Then there is the challenge for country elevators. Several producers have told me recently they wanted to forward-price some of their corn and soybeans for 2010 to take advantage of what they feel are good prices two years down the road. But when they make the request to the elevator manager, the response is brief and to the point... "We can't do that anymore." I talked to several large and small country elevator managers at the National Grain & Feed Association convention in Arizona recently and they told me that market volatility has pushed their line-of-credit needs to cover margin calls beyond the lending capacity of their local bank and they can no longer forward-price contracts two years into the future. A North Dakota manager told me his line-of-credit requirement two years ago was $2-million; today it is $18-million and his banker said he can't go any higher.

Add to all of this the increased cost of inputs like fertilizer, energy and transportation and the financial landscape of rural America has been dramatically changed. But there are some basic rules we need to remember... "The cure for high prices is higher prices and the cure for low prices is lower prices" and "Prices never go the same direction forever". Whatever side of the market you find yourself, just know that this period in agriculture will be discussed and debated in agricultural economics classes for decades!

PASSING THE HERITAGE....Best laid hunting plans take new course

Soon to be planted in new crops, beautiful Grant County in spring dwarfs new turkey hunter Austin Estrada during the statewide youth turkey hunt April 12 and 13.

In hindsight, I should have stayed in bed.

But that's not how it felt at all April 13th when the alarm clock woke me in the wee hours of a new Sunday for yet another outdoor journey; one last crack at the statewide youth turkey hunt with my nephew, Austin Estrada. All bad Karma was certainly behind me after the blinking dashboard light on my old Chevy truck and a grinding noise that sounded uncannily like my goose calling ended our Saturday hunt before it ever started.

"Oh, it's going to be in the shop until Monday," the mechanic said through a wicked, gap-toothed smile, wafting cigarette smoke and the music of the "ching" "ching" key machine ringing up the estimate. "Your problem is this...that... and the other thing. It'll be about $1300. You understand that's provided your thing-a-ma-jig isn't shot when we get in there."

"I am a writer," I said. "Of course I don't understand. What's that language you're speaking? You sure you didn't would surely pass on a hunting heritage for a lifetime.

The Youth Spring Turkey Hunt is designed to give hunters age 12 to 15 who have successfully completed a hunter education program an opportunity to hunt turkeys and gain valuable hunting experience. Youth hunters must also be accompanied by an adult 18 years of age or older. Austin, that meant, would rely on his old uncle to show him the ropes, a plan in peril with the 200,000 mile truck needing an unexpected massage. Lori, my beautiful wife of 21 years and first grade teacher in Oconomowoc School District, came to our rescue.

"Take my car Sunday," Lori said. "I'm going to be home all day doing report cards."

Which put Austin and me southwest bound early the next morning in the new car of the family, the 160,000 mile Camry. Now, what happens when a Camry's CV axle contraption and necessary doo-higgies break loose from the wheel discombobulator housing just east of Madison is that the steering wheel shakes uncontrollably, replicates my duck calling, and ultimately attempts to throw you in the ditch.

This culminates two hours later with a tow truck ride (how fun), and a sign that greets you in the only fix-it shop open in town that reads, "Our hourly rate for work rendered on weekends will be $90.00 per hour instead of $75.00."

This also culminates with a mechanic talking that same language through a wicked, gap-toothed smile, wafting cigarette smoke and the music of the "ching" "ching" key machine ringing up the estimate. "Your problem is this...that... and the other thing," he said. That'll be $350. You understand that's provided we can get parts on a Sunday."

"You don't have a twin brother in New Berlin do you?" I ask in response. "Oh never mind. Just do it. It doesn't cost anything anyway. I'm using a credit card."

It's at this time when I call on my ace in the hole; the rich sister in Madison who is also the most generous person on the face of the earth. Get one of these. Joanie not only picks us up, she offers her Lincoln Aviator, without 200,000 miles mind you and with buttons that do things like give you a head massage while you're driving, to continue the hunt. She also is not a hunter and shows up with two garbage bags. "You don't mind if you don't leave feathers and blood in my car do you?" Joanie asks.

We do not mind, and eventually safely arrive in Fennimore. After readying our gear, we need to cross a small creek. I safely negotiate the trap, but turn to find that quicksand had gobbled up Austin in the thighs and won't let go. I pull him out after a long struggle but spend the next 15 minutes negotiating with the babbling brook to give me back my nephew's boot. It eventually agrees, but not without slurping out some kind of insidious laughter in parting. I back off slowly, but the .870 is ready in case the creek tries anything else.

Because the home-made targets I made for Austin simulating the head and neck of turkeys to sharpen his shooting skills prior to hitting the field have been forgotten in the trunk of the Camry, we improvise again. I place a cow pie on a stick and place the stick at 30 yards. Although he has shot before, and well, Austin, all 95 pounds of him, expresses some reservation at the impending kick of the gun. With a reminder that holding the scattergun snug to the shoulder will take care of any punch, Austin launches a full-choke load of number-5 shot that destroys the cow pie.

"See you feel fine but what do you think that cow pie feels like about now?" I ask in celebration. "It's a cow pie," Austin deadpans. "It probably feels like poop."

We hustle to bluff country. We walk, sit and call, walk, sit and call. There are no answering gobbles. There are no turkeys. There are none of the special things that a mentor hopes will greet a young hunter, despite the knowledge that paying dues prior to success is a big part of this game we play. The afternoon is literally fleeting. Austin is muddy. He's cold, hungry and thirsty and his hands are ripped up from the greetings of thorn bushes. His clothes now are adorned with burrs. We head for the truck.

It's better than a one mile walk out. The distance between us grows greater as I move quickly with duffle bag, decoys and camera. Austin struggles on with a gun as large as he is that somehow gains weight with each step. I wonder if the youth hunt despite our roadblocks, has served its purpose of recruiting a new hunter, hopefully for life. I don't ask, but Austin answers the question during the flight home in the Aviator.

"How long were we out there?" he asks. "Oh, maybe two hours of actually hunting," I say. "You're kidding me, Austin asks in dismay. "Two hours? It felt like forever."

Area athletes playing key roles in Falcons' success

Dan Shea

Jon Olla

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

When Doug Gonring was hired as the assistant head coach for the Concordia University baseball team, he didn't have to look far to find talented players to help the Falcon program.

Gonring immediately began recruiting some of the top talent he has seen play on the Campbellsport, West Bend West and Kewaskum High baseball teams, including Campbellsport's Ty Schill; Jon Olla and Dan Shea of Kewaskum and Matt Schilter, who played his prep ball at West. Another area player is Josh Heisdorf, a member of one of West Bend East's state championship team.

These five are now among the Falcon leaders both offensively and defensively.

"All of them are doing quite well. We're 12-6," Gonring said last week, a night after the Falcons split in a doubleheader with Madison Edgewood (L 6-16 and W 7-4) on a night when the weather was hardly conducive for baseball.

"I think Johnny is leading the conference (in hitting)," Gonring said about Olla, a sophomore, and the team's starting center fielder. Against Edgewood on April 9, Olla went 3x3 in the opener but could not muster a hit in two trips to the plate in the second game.

Not including the results from the Madison games, Olla is hitting at a .466 clip, with 27 hits in 58 trips to the plates. His conference statistics include nine hits in 17 at bats (.529), with a conference-high 12 RBIs (runs batted in), four doubles, a triple and one home run. This puts him in the No. 7 spot in hitting with several of the players ahead of him having played in only two games thus far this spring.

Olla's slugging percentage is an impressive 1.059.

Concordia plays in the Northern Athletic Conference along with the following Wisconsin teams, Maranatha in Watertown, Edgewood, Marian College, Milwaukee School of Engineering and Lakeland College. Other NA members are Rockford (IL.) College, Chicago Concordia (IL.), Dominican (IL.), Benedictine (IL.), and Aurora (IL.).

Currently the Falcons are 5-1 in league play.

Shea has made the transition from high school to collegiate baseball rather quickly. "Danny has been starting at third base and d-hing," Gonring said, noting, "Danny's red hot right now (at the plate)." In the nightcap against Edgewood, he had three hits.

Going into the double header, his batting average was .297, with 11 hits in 37 trips to the plate.

Schilter, a freshman infielder, is the same clutch hitter he was in high school and is sporting a hefty .383 average, going 23x60 in the team's first 16 games.

Schill, the Falcon's senior shortstop, "is turning in some nice defensive plays," according to Gonring, who said, "We turned three double plays last night in the two games ... That's critical!"

Schill is also batting fairly well as evidenced by his .255

(12x47) average.

Heisdorf, who has played some at first base and some at second, has been struggling a bit at the plate, "but his defense has made him an asset," Gonring said.

Gonring, who has resumed the head coaching duties at Kewaskum High starting this spring, said he and head coach Val Kelper have been pleased with the offensive. "We've been hitting the ball very well," he said, adding the pitching still has to come around, and they expect with better weather conditions the defensive efforts will improve.

Gonring's duties include handling batting practice and coaching third base during the games. "We're all involved in the recruiting, trying to get the local guys. It's a credit to what Dave (Donath, former KHS head coach) and Billy Albrecht (West) have done and the success of the East program and Mr. (Jerry) Raether (at Campbellsport)," Gonring said.

Concordia is hosting Rockford College in a doubleheader on Saturday, starting at noon. The games are played on the Concordia campus in Mequon.

Indian track teams still waiting for warm days

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The rainy and cold weather forced the cancellation of not one, but two Kewaskum High track meets this past week.

The Indians were slated to host Plymouth, Sheboygan Falls and Two Rivers in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference coed meet on Tuesday, and the rains wiped that one out. A mix of rain and snow took care of Saturday's Catholic Memorial Crusader Invitational for girls.

Coach Jerry Gosa said he was on his way to practice Friday afternoon when word came on the cancellation of the Crusader meet and because most of the teams have their schedules set for the rest of the spring, these two competitions will not be made up.

"With a little bit of luck, we'll get in our outdoor meet this week (Tuesday at Plymouth), and we need an outdoor meet!" Gosa said emphatically, looking at the fact the Indians have not had a single outdoor competition this spring.

The last meet Kewaskum athletes were involved in was the WTFa State Indoor Meet, held April 5 on the UW-White-water campus.

Unlike the Oshkosh Indoor Invitational, which is split into large and small school divisions, all teams are lumped in one big meet, which runs from early in the morning until late at night.

Knowing it is difficult for the Indians to earn any places at the WTFa, Gosa still likes to take selected individuals and the relay teams there because it is a good opportunity to run on a very fine track and against some excellent competition.

The best effort by any of the girls came from junior Alissa Clapper, who cleared 9 feet, 6 inches (9-6) for sixth place. The effort also helped Clapper share the KHS indoor record for the event.

"That will help the team," Gosa said about Clapper's continual improvement in the event.

While the others were unable to place among the top seven, there were some good performances, starting with Lacy Taylor's distance in the shot.

Taylor's best effort was 31-6.5. "She p-red (got her personal best) by a foot and a half... very nice!" Gosa said.

Liz Potter turned in a time of 10 and .06 seconds (10.06) in the 55-meter high hurdles, which put her "right in the middle of the pack," according to Gosa, who said Jessi Forbes was clocked, with automatic timing, in 8.22 in the 55-m dash, good for 58th out of 78.

Kelly Uelmen, Kewaskum's senior sprinter, ran a 7.88, good for 31st out of 78.

"Not bad," Gosa said, pointing out Uelmen's time was .3 of a second faster than what she ran at Oshkosh.

The Lady Indians' 4x200 quartet of Forbes, Jessie Liniewski, Nichole Kison and Uelmen, had a very exciting outing, running a 1:53.22, good for 19th out of 55 teams. This time was faster than the winning time at Oshkosh.

Kison also ran the open 800, finishing 46th out of 88 runners with a time of 2:37.89.

Other efforts by Lady Indians included: 1,600 — Helen Schoenborn, 6:08.24, 65th out of 76 and Tonya Janssen, 67th in 6:11.92; 800 — Kison, 2:37.89, good for 46th out of 88; and 4x400 relay - Heather Schmitt, Rachel Yocum, Megan Thornton and Ashley Roeske, combining for a 4:37.1, 39th out of 43 teams.

Kewaskum had no high, long or triple jumpers. "They have minimums," Gosa said, indicating the Indians are not yet in the class with some of the premier jumpers in the state.

Leading the boys was Jake Dickmann, who went 12-6 in the pole vault. "Jake had a good day," Gosa said, pointing out this was a foot higher than he has ever gone, and it gave him ninth place out of 17 very talented vaulters, including three who cleared 15 feet.

In the high jump, Dick-mann wasn't quite as good, clearing 5-10, which is two inches under his season best. Still, Gosa is very encouraged the versatile junior will do good things this spring.

Tyler Swanson tossed the shot 47-3.75, which is one-quarter inch from his best. He was 17th in the shot put field.

"Ben (Boettcher) had a bad day. He was 27th" at 44-7.5, according to Gosa, who said Boettcher also finished 53rd out of 86 sprinters in the 55-m dash.

The 4x200 relay, comprised of Jon Komp, Scott Steldt, Dan Dymond and Boettcher, finished 40th with a time of 1:40.78, while the 4x400 relay, made up of Dymond, Zach Herriges, Brandon Zolp and Steldt, was 25th of 41 teams after crossing the finish line in 3:41.62.

Tim Hall, new to KHS track, was clocking in 2:18.06 in the 800.

Zach Herriges, making his first appearance of the season, was disqualified in the 1,600 for running on one of the lines.

Kewaskum will host the 6th annual Indians Invitational on Friday against athletes from four other teams. Originally seven teams had committed to compete, but Gosa said, "We had two schools back out in the last week or so."

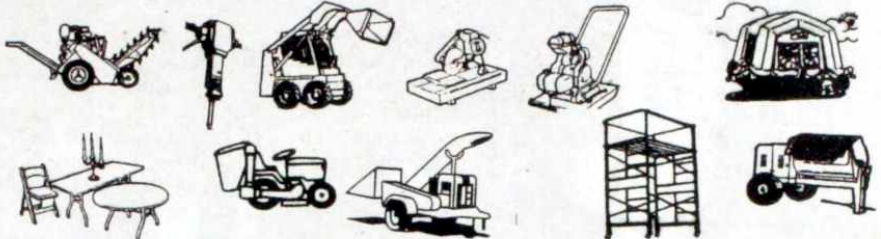

The meet will begin at 4 p.m.
