KHS announces Prom Court

Lease of Regal approved for school district

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Publisher

KEWASKUM- Over 87 voters turned out to hear a plan by the school district to lease 6,000 square feet of office space from Regal Ware, Inc. at a special meeting of the electorate on Monday, April 28. Electors voted 47 to 40 in favor of a $60,000 a year lease, not to exceed 10 years.

School officials sought the lease after approving the start of an alternative school in the district. That school, being named Kewaskum Career Academy was given the green light to begin at the April monthly board meeting held two weeks prior. Kewaskum Career Academy will be located inside the current administration building leaving administrators and clerical staff looking for a new home.

In order to lease office space for the district, a special meeting of the electorate was required. The lease then required approval by residents in the district.

Superintendent of Schools Mike Krumm, greeted the electors and explained why he believed the move was in the best interest of the school district. He first advocated the need for combining all members of the school district's leadership team in the district into a central office. Currently administration is mixed between the current administration building and Kewaskum Elementary School (KES) and Kewaskum High School (KHS).

Krumm stated this would aid in effective communication and the ability to cross train administrators and their assistants. "We look to improve our efficiency," he stated. "We have great offices, a great situation, we don't look at ourselves as going to new plush quarters, our offices are terrific. But we feel we're making this move not for us, this is in the best interest of the kids and the interest of the school district," he concluded.

Associate KHS Principal Anne Ignatowski explained the development and concept of the plan. She stated that she and various educators in the district explored the idea shortly after the end of last year's school session. Their first step was visiting alternative schools around the state and attending various seminars on how to begin a school.

Ignatowski indicated that through their education they learned above all to be successful the school must be placed away from the current high or middle school.

The need for the school came after finding students were not fitting into the traditional high school learning model. This became evident in the increasing numbers of students being sent to other alternative schools and an increase in students going to Moraine Park Technical College (MPTC) to receive their General High School Education Degrees (HSEDG). Lastly, there is a spike in the number of students who are dealing with pregnancy issues as well as students dealing with alcohol, drug or other addictions.

The cost of a student getting that degree at MPTC costs taxpayers about $105.48 weekly. Students attend MPTC anywhere from six to nine months to achieve that degree.

To get a student enrolled, they must be deemed at risk through parameters set by the state of Wisconsin. Teachers, guidance counselors, principals, parents and the student will also be involved. Students are not forcefully placed into the academy. Once accepted, the student will need to sign a contract that he or she will adhere to the rules of the academy.

Academy students will be required to receive 28 credits, the same as those at KHS. Most importantly, they must accumulate the core credits as set by the state must be received, those are: four credits of English, two each of math and science, one and a half of physical education and a half credit of health. Once those are received students will be able to get half of their credits through work or volunteer experience.

Ignatowski stated that an interdisciplinary curriculum joined by group projects would be used. Each student will have his or her individual needs addressed in a class with a student-teacher ratio of 15-1.

The sessions will run from 9 a.m. to noon or 1 p.m. till 4 p.m. While not in class, students will be required to hold a job or do volunteer work.

Once the student meets all requirements they would be given a diploma from KHS and possibly graduate with their class. They will also be allowed to participate in extra curricular activities at KHS.

KHS Special Education Instructor Jeff Gosse, will be the Academy's instructor. Ignatowski stated he is working to get his alternative school license, which the district will pay for.

Ignatowski stated that a graduate of the academy could go on to post high school education opportunities.

"First year will cost district $153,060"

Business Manager Paul Reichert explained the current administration building is ideal because there is rent, has ample space, expandable and is in close proximity to KHS. He explained that three offices would have their walls demolished and made into a single classroom.

One office will be renovated into a conference area. One office will remain that will be used by Gosse and a paraprofessional. A small office by a guidance counselor will also be added. The cost of the remodeling, amounting to $40,825 will come from the maintenance budget.

The move to Regal Ware is expected to cost $52,235. The district will pay $60,000 annually the first two years of the five-year lease. An increase of between three and four percent will be added to the lease cost in the remaining years. Reichert says that money has already been budgeted for the entire project and will not raise the tax levy. The money will come from the 2007-'08 maintenance budget.

This includes the use of 6,000 square feet and more than 30 parking stalls. The district will have a separate front entrance and rear employee entrance. The district is also welcome to use Regal's copy center and their large conference area located directly below the district's new office. A total of 14 people will occupy the new office.

"We're getting a very good deal from Regal Ware," Reichert said.

Schulte asked what happens if Regal Ware sells the building. Reichert explained there is a clause in the lease that requires any new owners of the building to adhere to the terms of the lease. He went on to say the Reigle family is very much set on keeping their headquarters in Kewaskum he has been told.

Neal Weare asked what would happen if in five years the voters decide not to renew a lease. Reichert explained the district would then be forced to split up the various administrators into buildings owned by the district.

Before entertaining the idea of opening up the administration building to the Kewaskum Career Academy, Reichert stated three vacant properties were looked at. The former liquor store next to the post office required extensive remodeling before the district could use it. The former Video Plus store in the Kewaskum Mall was discussed, however the district was told the utilities were very expensive. Lastly, the former Coast to Coast Hardware Store on Fond du Lac Avenue was found to be not conducive to a school setting.

Portable classrooms were also investigated at a cost of $300,000.

Village of Kewaskum Trustee Kevin Scheunemann stated he thought the facilities plan was not acceptable. He asked why the Municipal Building Annex owned by the village of Kewaskum was not considered. Reichert stated he did not know it was available or it would have been investigated.

Irene Gnacinski motioned to allow the district to lease the regal property for a period of five years, not to exceed 10 years. Stephen Jensen seconded her motion and won 47-40.

Reichert stated later that a lease agreement should be completed and ready to be signed by the end of the week. Subject to approval from Regal Ware, the district could start renovating the property as early as May 12. He anticipated a move date the first week in June.

Regal has since vacated that portion of the building.

Reichert is anticipating the current administration building be closed by the end of June and renovations begin shortly thereafter so the Kewaskum Career Academy could be open at the start of the new school year.

SynergyHealth sells former hospital campus

WEST BEND- SynergyHealth has sold the former campus of St. Joseph's Community Hospital on Silverbrook Drive to Spaulding Clinical.

The sale agreement calls for SynergyHealth to lease space in the building where the organization will continue to have administrative offices. The Alyce and Elmore Kraemer Cancer Care Center will also continue to be located in the building.

Founded by long-time West Bend resident Randy Spaulding, Spaulding Clinical will establish a clinical research facility in the former St. Joseph's Hospital. Spaulding Clinical's focus will be on conducting clinical research in a safe and ethical manner on healthy adult volunteers in accordance with U.S. and International regulatory agency requirements. It aims to become the global leader in researching and improving the safety of pharmaceutical products, protecting the health and safety of people around the world.

"The pharmaceutical testing world is badly in need of a drug testing lab that specializes in cardiac technology," said Spaulding. "Many of the complications that have removed existing or kept potential drugs from the marketplace have to do with heart complications. The drug companies need to find out accurately and early about which drugs are safe and which aren't before they're widely distributed."

"This is truly a tremendous opportunity for our community. The Spaulding Clinical facility provides an opportunity for the site to maintain a health care identity, while bringing a wide range of new benefits to the community," said Greg Banaszynski, CEO of SynergyHealth.

A press release distributed by SynergyHealth stated Spaulding Clinical's acquisition and use of the property provides an opportunity for the Silverbrook campus to maintain a health care use, while bringing a wide range of new benefits, including:

- Transforming a largely vacant building into a vibrant new use;
- Bringing prestige to West Bend as the host of one of the nation's leading clinical research sites focusing on cardiac safety;
- Creating 60 new professional jobs in the heart of West Bend;
- Compensating area residents who participate as volunteers;
- Enhancing the city's tax base.

"We're very excited to launch such an exciting and cutting-edge business in the heart of West Bend, and do it in a location with a long history of serving the public's health needs.

We will carry on that legacy through our work at Spaulding Clinical," said Spaulding. The Successful Entrepreneur Investors group and the West Bend business community played a vital role in the birth of the business.

"I couldn't have done it without the angel investors," said Spaulding, "not only looking to them for their investment, but also for their guidance and connections."

Fellow West Bend resident and entrepreneur, Michael Koebel, was also critical to bringing the business to life, as Spaulding's partner in this real estate venture.

Spaulding said that innovation and start-ups need to be part of the Milwaukee seven regional strategy and that angel investing and entrepreneurship are part of any innovation economy.

The Silverbrook Drive Campus closed on August 7, 2005 much to the dismay of the local community and moved operations to their current campus on Highway P in the town of Polk.

Since that time the emergency medical wing of the structure was demolished to make way for a housing development.

Opinion

Guest Editorial

In the 1980s, Wisconsin governors appointed Natural Resources Board members, and those members appointed a Department of Natural Resources Secretary. But since the 1990s, the power to appoint the DNR secretary has been the governor's.

Wisconsin should return to an independent secretary.

An independent DNR chief would bring consistency to the department and foster long-term goals regardless of gubernatorial campaigns. In contrast, there have been three DNR secretaries since 2001, which complicated the direction of the department. Air, water, and wildlife quality should be managed above political interference.

The DNR secretary should also have the correct background. George Meyer served as DNR secretary from 1993 to 2001, and was the first DNR secretary to be replaced by a governor. Meyer is the current Executive Director of the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation and argues DNR Secretaries have been appointed without specific agency or resource management experience. The secretary needs to be trained in natural resources, understand ecosystems, and recognize sustained yields and their benefits. Many critics of the present system point to the qualifications of current DNR Secretary Matt Frank, who replaced Scott Hassett.

The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel reported (2.1.08), "When former corrections chief Matt Frank took over as DNR secretary Sept. 1, he and his top two lieutenants had a sum total of nine months of agency experience." According to the DNR's website, he "served as Secretary of the Department of Corrections for more than four years and 22 years as an Assistant Attorney General for the Wisconsin Department of Justice." Governor Doyle appointed a corrections expert to oversee natural resources.

Scott Gunderson (R-Waterford), head of the Assembly's Natural Resources Committee, concluded Frank had "no background in conservation."

Even worse, it's unclear what entered Doyle's recent decision. When Scott Hassett left his post as DNR Secretary, the Journal Sentinel concluded "there is speculation he was either pushed out or had tired of meddling from Doyle's office." In February, the Leader-Telegram of Eau Claire noted, "The timing was suspicious," as the announcement of the release came on a Friday afternoon so reporters couldn't dig away at it. Hassett has said, "An independent board would provide some insulation" [from friction between the DNR secretary and governor's office, "and probably would have in my case." It was never clear what Hassett's removal had to do with his performance.

In the 1990s, proposals to remove the governor's appointment power began as soon as the governor's appointment power existed. Support for an independent DNR secretary is growing, including support from the Conservation Congress, Wisconsin Wildlife Federation, and Wisconsin League of Conservation Voters.

Furthermore, asking for an independent secretary doesn't obliterate the governor's power: the governor and the legislature still approve the budget, which includes the DNR. The governor also selects members of the DNR Board, and indirectly would still impact the secretary choice.

Rep. Scott Gunderson would have restored a board-appointed secretary immediately (Assembly Bill 504). The Senate Democratic version would have restored the board-appointed secretary after the 2010 gubernatorial election. According to a column in the Green Bay Press Gazette, the Senate's version passed 21-12, "but the Assembly version died in the Rules Committee, never reaching the floor for a vote." That's unfortunate. By March 2008, the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel outdoors editor noted the two bills for the independent DNR secretary seemed "dead in the water," and Assembly Speaker Mike Huebsch was "not willing to bring AB 504 to a vote." Widespread support for an independent DNR secretary in the Legislature got nowhere when push came to shove, an indication of the inability to come together on a simple issue in Madison.

We should return to a time when the natural resources came above politics, such as the 1920s, when conservationist Aldo Leopold envisioned a plan to create a conservation commission to respond to the needs of Wisconsinites and have the authority to name a professional conservation director.

Pursit ends in arrest of WB man

On April 29, a 26 year-old West Bend man was arrested on charges of Eluding an Officer, Possession of Improvised Explosive Devices, Possession of Marijuana and Possession of Drug Paraphernalia stemming from an incident that began at 9:30 a.m. in the Town of Addison.

A Washington County Sheriff's Deputy observed a vehicle traveling at a high rate of speed northbound on County Highway W, south of Allenton. When the deputy attempted to stop the vehicle, the driver increased his speed and a short pursuit ensued. The driver was located and arrested hiding underneath a vehicle in a parking lot of an Allenton factory.

Deputies located two small improvised explosive devices in the vehicle. As a result, a search warrant was obtained for the suspect's residence in the City of West Bend. A 40 millimeter military ordnance was located inside the residence.

The Milwaukee County Sheriff's Department Bomb Squad responded to the scene, took possession of all the explosive devices, and safely detonated them at a local quarry. The search of the suspect's residence also revealed a small amount of marijuana and numerous pieces of drug paraphernalia.

At this time, the suspect remains in custody at the Washington County Jail.

Knoebel honored by DNR

Warden Bill Mitchell, left, presents Dick Knoebel, right, with an award for his 20 years of service to the Hunter Safety program.

Dick Knoebel, of Kewaskum received an award from the Department of Natural Resources for 20 years of service as a hunter safety instructor. The award was presented by Warden Bill Mitchell at a hunter safety class being taught by "The Chief".

Anyone born after 1973 is required to complete a DNR certified hunter safety course before they can hunt in Wisconsin. The state of Colorado requires this for anyone born after 1949.

There are four main rules taught in the hunter safety classes.

T- Treat every gun as if it were loaded.

A- Always point the muzzle in a safe direction.

B - Be sure of your target, and what's beyond it.

K - Keep your finger outside of the trigger guard until ready to shoot.

Warden Mitchell has found that in every hunting incident at least one of the four safety rules has been broken.

As a volunteer hunter safety instructor Chief Knoebel has taught hundreds of people how to be safe and ethical hunters. Dick is an avid sportsman and loves to be in the outdoors. Warden Mitchell and Chief Knoebel both started in law enforcement at the same time. After over 34 years of working together they have hunted and worked together as friends.

KMS goes to the movies with annual Pops concert May 16

HARTFORD - The Kettle Moraine Symphony invites music fans to "A Night at the Movies" Friday, May 16 in Hartford. The concert starts at 7:30 p.m. at the Schauer Arts and Activities Center, 147 Rural Street.

Associate Conductor Paul Thorgaard conducts as the adventure of live orchestra music begins somewhere "Over the Rainbow" from the Wizard of Oz. International intrigue made famous by Bond, James Bond that is, is recalled by musical themes from the "007" films. The symphony marches on with Colonel Bogey from the classic "Bridge on the River Kwai." Then it's off to the hard-knock life and the sun coming out with musical highlights from "Annie." The dramatic power of live instruments resurrects the magical world of "The Lord of the Rings" and uplifts the bittersweet love story of "Titanic."

As a special bonus, the Kettle Moraine Symphony Big Band, under the direction of Principal Conductor Bud Asch, will set toes a-tapping as it gets "In the Mood" and more.

KHS talent show May 9

Many Big Name acts have signed up for the Kewaskum High School Talent Show on Friday, May 9.

The newly formed Kewaskum Community Big Band will make its debut playing some great tunes such as "In the Mood". Also, the Peace Church Churchmen will sing and the ever-popular Sunrays will recreate some rock-and-roll hits. Numerous solos and duets from the high school music department will dot the program as well as the Swing Choir and Jazz Choir from KHS.

But it's not too late to get your group in on the festivities. Please contact Dave Bertelsen at the high school at 626-8427 x4571.

The May 9th Community Talent Show will be held in the Theater at the high school beginning at 7:00 p.m. Admission, payable at the door, is $5 for adults and $1 for students.

As part of an annual tradition, nominations will be taken from the audience to select a "guest conductor" to conduct Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Tickets are $15 for adults, $12 for seniors and students, and $5 for children. For tickets, call the KMS office at 262-334-3469, or purchase tickets by phone by calling the Schauer at 262-670-0560.

Celebrating its 40th anniversary, the Kettle Moraine

Symphony is a regional orchestra whose 60 members come from 20 different communities in the Kettle Moraine area. The orchestra's mission is to enhance music appreciation, provide musicians with opportunities to perform, educate audiences, and build community support for the arts. The KMS is a 501 (c) 3 non-profit organization that relies on community support, grants, donations, and sponsorships.

Life's Lessons from your Mother

BY: BRYAN GOLDEN
Special to the Statesman

Your mother tried to teach you some valuable lessons. Moms have a unique ability to impart essential wisdom. Unfortunately, most of us were too young to really appreciate their value. Mother's Day is a great time to review the following advice you got when you were a kid.

You can be whatever you want to be. You have no limitations. The whole world is open to you. Your future is ahead of you. You can accomplish whatever you set your mind to. It's ok to dream.

Be nice to your friends and they will be nice to you. People respond to the way you treat them. If you are mean and selfish, no one will want to play with you. Share your toys and don't be a bully. Be considerate of the feelings of others.

Do your homework and you will get good grades. Success takes hard work. If you don't put in the effort, you won't reap the rewards. Those who work hard will succeed.

Clean your room now. Get things done today and you won't have to worry about them. If you let things pile up, it will be difficult to catch up.

You can play once your chores are done. Get your work done before you take a break. Then you can relax and have a good time.

Stay in school. If you don't get an education, your opportunities will be limited. Don't drop out of school. The more you learn, the more you benefit.

Sticks and stones will break your bones but names will never hurt you. It doesn't matter what other people say. Don't allow others to upset you. There will always be mean people. Don't pay attention to them.

Don't waste your time. Time goes by very fast. Don't wait to pursue your dreams.

Be thankful for what you have. There are many who are not as fortunate as you. Be grateful for your home and family. It doesn't matter what someone else has.

Don't complain. Whining is annoying. If you have something to say, say it. If you complain all the time, no one will want to listen to you.

RASPBERRY-STUFFED FRENCH TOAST WITH CUSTARD SAUCE

4 oz. (1/2 of 8-oz. pkg.) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
2 eggs plus 2 egg whites
5 cups fat-free milk, divided
1 loaf (1 lb./24 inches) French baguette, ends trimmed, cut into 18 slices, divided
1 pkg. (12 oz.) frozen unsweetened raspberries, divided
1 pkg. (4-serving size) Vanilla instant pudding & pie filling

BEAT Neufchatel cheese, sugar, vanilla and cinnamon with electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs and egg whites, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Gradually add 2 cups of the milk, beating until well blended.

ARRANGE 9 of the bread slices in greased 13x9-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with half of the raspberries; top with remaining bread slices. Pour Neufchatel cheese mixture over bread. Let stand 30 min. Preheat oven to 350°F.

BAKE 40 min. or until golden brown. Meanwhile, bring remaining 3 cups milk just to boil in saucepan; gradually add dry pudding mix, whisking until well blended. Remove from heat; let stand 5 min. Microwave remaining raspberries in small microwavable bowl on HIGH 15 to 20 sec. or until warm. Serve topped with the custard sauce and raspberries.

Got enough underwear honey?

My grandma is one of the funniest people I know. I don't think she means to be sometimes, but she is. One of my funny / embarrassing moments with my grandma took place inside Ben Franklin in Campbellsport.

My grandma has always been generous and wants to make sure we have the necessities. Well on this particular occasion, she wanted to make sure I had enough underwear. The store was busy that day, but through all the talking I heard my grandma. Now mind you I was in my pre-teens and very self-conscious. So when I heard my grandma yell across the store "Rhonda do you have enough underwear", I wanted to disappear. I felt like everyone was staring and snickering (they probably were). At the time I was not too happy with her, but I am sure I have embarrassed her. And she was probably just returning the favor.

So HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY Grandma (Eunice Schaefer)! Thank you for all that you did and still do.

Rhonda Kuge

Tough grandma had huge heart for her family

As a little girl growing up, living next door to my Grandma (Angie Zacho), she was my second mom and best friend that I told everything to. She always loved me no matter what. My Grandmother was one tough woman.

Her husband (my Grandfather Bill Zacho) was in World War II in Germany, she kept up the home all alone and that gave her practice for what was in store for her in later years. She was a widow at a little over 40 years of age. My grandpa died of cancer in (Continued on page 12)

Mom/Grandma Stories

his 40's at home with my grandma taking care of him, not off at some hospital by himself.

She did this while taking care of her elderly mother with Alzheimer's disease and her two young children. When grandpa passed away grandma had to go to work full time in some not so nice factories to support her young family by herself. Grandma's first priority was her children and grandchildren. She would drop her whole life to run to do whatever was needed for anybody without expecting anything in return. Like watching nieces and nephews too or helping her brother in the farm fields.

Grandma baked the best pies but she never thought they were just right, but they always were. Her German potato salad was out of this world!

May 18th will mark four years without my grandma. It seems like a lifetime without her phone calls but I know she is always with me in my heart and boys forever! I miss you so much Grandma, Happy Mother's Day in Heaven!

How To Give a Memorable Gift

(NAPSI)-Whether it's Mother's Day, Father's Day, graduation or a birthday, everyone appreciates a personalized gift.

With today's abundance of available photo gift options, finding a great, personal gift can be as simple as visiting your local drugstore. Many stores have high-quality photo gifts that can be ordered. If you're a last-minute shopper, a hardcover photo book can be quickly and easily created in store at any location with one-hour photo service.

Here are some tips to ensure the photos you use are "gift worthy:"

- Get down to the same level as your subject to make the shot more personal.
- Make sure there aren't any distracting images behind your subject.
- To create more impact, move in close and fill the shot with your subject.

Once you have your great shot, the gift options are limitless.

To learn more about photo gifts, attend a free Digital Saturday workshop at a CVS/pharmacy Photo Center near you.

Giving can be a snap when you present the picture-perfect present of a photo gift.

The best Mom around

We are two of a kind you and me
we are just the best, we are family

You care so much
you love us all a bunch

You run three hours from up-north just to come sit with me on the porch

You care so much for us you do we really appreciate you

You are always there to lend a hand
You really are in hot demand

I miss you a lot when you are gone
But I know it won't be too long

You are my bestest friend
My love for you will never end

So this Mother's Day I want to say you are a special gift from God for me everyday!

I love you Mom (Carol Gaffke)! (Grandma too)

KMS student makes it to state Geographic Bee

Kewaskum Middle School 8th grader Chuck Neuiszer recently participated in the 2008 Wisconsin Geographic Bee.

By Amber Donath
Statesman Community Journalist

Kewaskum Middle School (KMS) 8th grader Chuck Neuiszer recently competed in the 2008 Wisconsin Geographic Bee at St. Norbert College in DePere on April 4.

Earlier this year, Neuiszer had competed in the KMS Geography Bee, which he won. School-level winners then took a qualifying test, which was submitted to the National Geographic Society.

In each of the 50 states and in the territories, the National Geographic Society then invited students with the top 100 scores in each state to compete at the state level.

At state, Neuiszer and other finalists were verbally asked one question each during eight preliminary rounds. He was seven for seven when the eighth and final question stumped him and he was not able to reach the final level.

"It was pretty neat seeing so many other students who are really good at geography," said Neuiszer who has always enjoyed social studies and geography in school. "I remember the looks on some of the other kids faces and thinking how nervous I was, but that some of them looked ten times more nervous."

Neuiszer is grateful to have made it as far as he did and found it to be a great experience.

Think you know your stuff? Try these geography questions area 4th-8th grade students were tested on.

FES 4K'ers study all things that move

As part of their transportation unit at school, Mrs. Bergmann's 4-year-old kindergarten classes at Farmington Elementary School recently visited the National Guard unit based at the West Bend airport. During their visit, the students were able to see the inside of one of the helicopters and were given a demonstration of a take off and landing.

KMS enrichment class

Throughout the school year, KMS students have enrichment classes that are on a three-week rotation. These classes enhance student learning above and beyond standard curriculum. During one of their rotations, KMS 7th grade students have the opportunity to learn the art of basket weaving from Mrs. Uhlman, which incorporates math skills into the creative process.

KHS students practice good citizenship

Since the beginning of the school year students have been practicing a variety of virtues each month. Group of 12-15 students meet weekly and will continue throughout the rest of the year. During the month of April students learned what it took to be good citizens of their community. One group in the junior class stated that a good citizen is one who gives back to their community. They decided to run a food drive for the Washington County Full Shelf Food Pantry. Each homeroom was asked to participate. For each item donated the student received a raffle ticket to enter a drawing for a complimentary couple's ticket to prom donated by the junior class. The top producing homeroom also received XXL chocolate chip cookies. That homeroom was Mrs. Ellen Kuphal's. Junior Jake Dickmann won the couple's ticket to prom. A total of 520 food items were donated.

The Compassionate Carnivore

THE COMPASSIONATE CARNIVORE

OR, HOW TO KEEP ANIMALS HAPPY, SAVE OLD MACDONALD'S FARM, REDUCE YOUR HOOFPRINT, AND STILL EAT MEAT

CATHERINE FRIEND
Author of HIT BY A FARM

This weekend, it's time for a family splurge. There's a restaurant that just opened nearby, and you're dying to sample the cuisine.

Friends who've been there say the prices are just right and the servings aren't skimpy. Most of all, you've heard this place serves a piece of meat that is heaven on a platter, and you can't wait.

But sometimes, although your mouth waters when you get a whiff of supper, you feel a little guilty. That juicy burger once had a face. Your steak was on the hoof not long ago, but what can you do? You like meat. Read "The Compassionate Carnivore" by Catherine Friend, and see what an animal-raising, animal-eating farmer has to say about what's on your plate.

Twelve years ago, Catherine Friend's partner, Melissa, announced that she wanted to farm. So, a la "Green Acres", city-girl Friend found herself on a plot of land, raising sheep, llamas, and chickens.

Over the years, though, she began to look hard at the animals she and Melissa were raising and the meat they were eating, which were often one in the same. "I know it seems odd," she says, "but this is how farming works: We work our butts off keeping animals alive and healthy, then we kill them."

For Friend, it's a conundrum she's struggled with but she's resigned herself to knowing that her animals lived well. She says she's grateful for them and the meals they become. But how can someone who loves animals but loves meat at the same time become more aware, more humane about what he or she puts on a plate?

Friend says a compassionate carnivore understands that most meat we buy in stores is from animals raised in large-scale corporate farms and feedlots. Their deaths might not have been humane.

The trick, she says, to becoming a mindful meat-eater is to know where your meal came from, how it was raised, and how it died. If you can't find out, try replacing factory-raised meat with meat from animals raised humanely, or eat meatless.

Do what you can, she says, and set a goal. Becoming a compassionate carnivore won't be easy; Friend admits that she still blissfully enjoys her pork despite an unsavory mental image that haunts her to this day. Take baby-steps toward changing things and remember to be compassionate to yourself.

Mix some gentle humor, hard facts, hot-button controversy, and a good dose of thoughtful Zen with Upton Sinclair's The Jungle, and you have "The Compassionate Carnivore". Author Catherine Friend examines meat - from hoof to hotplate - without stepping up on too much of a feedbox and without making all kinds of excuses for loving a good pork chop. Since she's willing to use herself and her farm as examples, you won't feel too awfully chastised for drooling over that prime rib special, either.

If you're an unabashed meatlover, this book probably isn't going to change your mind, but read it anyhow. For anyone with a steak in responsible eating, "The Compassionate Carnivore" is worth chicken out.

IN MEMORY

In memory of Eleanor Marx, who passed away 10 years ago, May 1, 1998.

God looked around His garden and He found an empty place.

He then looked down upon this earth and saw your tired face.

He put His arms around you and lifted you to rest.

God's garden must be beautiful, He always takes the best.

He knew that you were suffering, He knew that you were in pain.

He knew that you would never get well on earth again.

He saw that the road was getting rough and hills are hard to climb,

So He closed your weary eyelids and whispered "Peace Be Thine."

It broke our hearts to lose you but you didn't go alone.

For part of us went with you the day God called you home.

EPA gives Menards special recognition

EAU CLAIRE - Menards received the Special Recognition for Best Regional Retailer award earlier this month at the 2008 ENERGY STAR Awards Ceremony in Washington, D.C. Menards was selected for the award from more than 12,000 ENERGY STAR partner organizations for their commitment to energy efficiency.

Menards, an ENERGY STAR partner since 2003, was recognized for its outstanding contributions to reducing greenhouse gas emissions by educating consumers and team members about energy-efficient products. Menards integrated ENERGY STAR into all facets of its marketing strategy—from product selection and in-store signage to Television, Radio, and Print advertising.

Key achievements include participating in national ENERGY STAR campaigns, building a Web page with strong environmental messaging, launching an educational ENERGY STAR e-mail campaign, implementing independent promotions featuring ENERGY STAR and sponsoring grand opening materials that feature ENERGY STAR information.

"We are proud to receive the Special Recognition for Best Regional Retailer award from the ENERGY STAR Program," said Jeff Abbott, Menards Company Spokesperson. "Our close partnership with ENERGY STAR shows our company's commitment to help Menards guests use energy more efficiently. We understand that promoting ENERGY STAR products and practices is an important step in protecting the planet and environment."

The 2008 Special Recognition award recognizes organizations that have made significant contributions towards advancing energy efficiency in specific areas of the marketplace. Across the U.S., top companies and organizations continue to promote energy efficiency through participation in ENERGY STAR. Last year alone, Americans, with the help of ENERGY STAR, saved $16 billion on their energy bills and reduced greenhouse gas emissions equivalent to those of more than 27 million vehicles.

Samuelson Sez Smile, You're on Candid Camera

Most of us are familiar with the TV line "Smile, you're on candid camera". Since I appear on television every week, I am accustomed to looking into a TV camera, but I wonder how often we are watched on a hidden TV camera and are not aware of it. Surveillance TV cameras are becoming a way of life, it seems, with cameras mounted on stoplights, in stores and banks as well as many other places. You never know when you are being watched or recorded on videotape; which brings me to the latest surveillance suggestion.

It came recently from a representative of the American Humane Association testifying before the House Domestic Policy Subcommittee of the Oversight and Government Reform Committee. Dr. John J. McGlone, a professor in Animal and Food Sciences at Texas Tech University, speaking on behalf of the American Humane Association, told the Committee members that TV cameras should be installed in animal-processing plants across the nation to reduce instances of inhumane treatment, improve the state of farm animal welfare and restore consumer confidence.

The hearing was held to deal with the incident earlier this year in a California meat-processing plant where a hidden TV camera recorded inhumane treatment of animals by two employees who now face felony charges. The tape was seen on every TV news channel for a week and was soundly condemned by producers and processors in the livestock industry.

Dr. McGlone went on to say "A single person from a single federal agency observing animals and handlers at any given time, and less than 100% of the time, is not sufficient to prevent a human-induced error or crime". And who does Dr. McGlone think should do the monitoring?... USDA inspectors and a third-party, non-profit organization like the American Humane Association.

I really have mixed feelings on this one...I agree we must restore the image of the industry as well as consumer confidence, but I'm not sure that American Humane Association's definition of humane treatment would be the same as producers. Beyond that, however, what's next?... demands from animal rights groups to place TV cameras in your poultry houses, dairy and swine barns and feedlots? That would be too much of an invasion of your privacy, but don't be surprised if they try it.

My thoughts on Samuelson Sez.

Spring Sign...Crappie helps close door statewide on winter

A small crappie receives a pardon from guide Lynn Nicklasch and is released into Delavan Lake

A very "reel" danger with wetting a line in early spring is that fish might actually intrude on the real motive at hand; slamming the door on a long and hard winter simply by being again in a boat. On the Manitowish Chain in Vilas County, where cabins are being opened and water coaxed again from the well after a winter of slumber, all eyes last week were on the black ice promising open water very soon. And new open water, for thousands of anglers across Wisconsin, means good crappie fishing is sure to follow.

"I don't know John," I said to my brother as we tried to return to our northern waters to coincide with a tenacious crappie bite triggered by water temperatures. "Even if the ice goes out in the next few days it's still going to be a good week or two before the crappie fishing is good."

"I don't care if we hit that," he said. "I want to fire up the motor again, put my feet up, light a cigar, and watch a slip bobber."

You can feel that. Warm sun, little more than a flannel shirt and baseball hat with nothing at all allowed to intrude on the day with the possible exception of a Brewer game. And as a bonus, there's really nothing like hitting the bite perfectly in northern or southern Wisconsin, and watching float after float slide beneath the surface just seconds after another crappie minnow hits the soft, breeze-painted ripple of a new summer.

During three seasons of each year, Vilas County is where we live as often as our southern home in the Milwaukee Suburbs. It allows us to reach Chequamegon Bay with a short drive and the St. Louis River with a bit of a longer drive. But right here in Vilas, we will be tossing those minnows on lakes of the Manitowish Chain very soon. Like you will in your own special places across Wisconsin. And where we did already April 21 on Delavan Lake in the far south. Because we could. Open water said we should.

Ice left us in the south two weeks before, and water temperatures since have been climbing toward the magic trigger. Crappies were cooperating for Guide Lynn Nicklasch on southern lakes in water temperatures over 50 degrees, so he called me. With retired worker and current pan fishing addict Hommy Gregory, a native of Lake Tomahawk transplanted to New Berlin, we would chase old papermouth.

Even if we didn't actually catch them, we would still be in light shirts, in 70 degree temperatures, still chasing away a long, hard winter. And from my camera man's perch in the bow of the boat, I would still smell the wisps of smoke floating up from Hommy's cigar. And still look to the northeast to see a dozen or so tightly camped boats with fishermen doing the exact same thing that we were; doing the exact same thing that other Badgers will do as the ice breaks slowly to the north and allows them to. Crappie fishing is indeed a ritual.

"Like everything else, water temperature is the key with the crappies," Nicklasch said. "Northerns spawn first as soon as the ice is out, usually in March, walleyes spawn in the 42 to 48 degree range, and I've been fishing crappies on the southern lakes in water temperatures from 46 to 54 degrees. At 50 degrees and over the crappie action went way up. But it's a fleeting bite. We're fishing pre-spawn crappies right now but soon they'll be done and heading to deeper water."

Hommy, somewhat disappointed that he couldn't be chasing his first passion, Lake Michigan jumbo perch during the early season due to a lack of fish, had been spending most of April seeking out inland lake panfish. "Water current on Lake Michigan and water temperature apparently is not right to pull the perch in yet," he said. "There's only nine days left of the early season (before season closure through mid-June allows the fish to spawn). I don't understand why the Illinois season remains open."

"So I've been fishing crappies since the ice went out in the channels first. The northern pike are done spawning and they're still in there just blasting those crappies. Water temperature is 54 degrees today and they spawn in 60 degrees."

We started in shallow, weedy water with Hommy using plastic tails and slip bobbers on four-pound test line with fast action rods. "Something you can use to get a hook into the fish but still have fun fighting them," he said. Nicklasch was popping a plastic behind a float that kept it above the vegetation. We had a bucket of crappie minnows but they stayed in the bucket initially.

While crappie fishing, Nicklasch also prefers to use a small gold Aberdeen hook that lays horizontal in shallow water with a regular pencil bobber and no weight set to tap the top of the weeds, where the fish wait. "Crappies suck in the bait and spit it out a lot," he said. "The bobber will tip up and you reel the slack in and set the hook, but not too hard. This hook lays flat in the water and the fish gets hooked up even with a light hit."

Action was slow with just the occasional 10 inch fish cooperating and we continued to move to warmer, shallow water known by my hosts in an effort to find more fish. Hommy also used the "rubbernecking" technique to perfection in an effort to stretch and see if other boats in our neighborhood had struck a mother lode. They had not, and in fact watching a rod lift to set a hook was a rarity.

"When you find them you won't be able to run two rods," Hommy said. "It's just a matter of finding them."

Eventually, after several hours working Delavan starting on the west end, we would. Crappies with a cooperative attitude were in the shallow weeds on the east end. There were no head-turning crappies. But by being selective with the catch, anglers could take home 15 or more crappies in the 10-inch class. Anyway, at this time of year, like we said, being on the water is about more than catching lots of big fish.

On Sunday, April 27, I would find myself back on a New Berlin driveway, hooking up a riding lawnmower to my brother John's old Dodge for the long ride to Vilas County. Calls to friends who live on northern lakes had told us that High Lake near Boulder Junction remains frozen over and Mercer Lake near Minocqua is still half ice just six days before the inland fishing season. John apparently would not have his feet up, smoking a cigar, and watching a slip bobber this week in the north country.

"So I'll put my feet up on the beach and have a cigar," he said.

Saying goodbye to a Wisconsin winter, I guess, is just not that complicated.

Lady strikers finding their groove

Christine Bohn, right, attempts to get past a Waupun player in a match at home on Thursday, April 17.

The Kewaskum Indians girl's soccer coach Amy Piwoni told her team that she wanted her team to be taken seriously in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference this season, and it appears that no team will be looking past the Indians this season.

The team started the season on April 14 with a tough non-conference match up against a powerful and "disciplined" group from Port Washington. Piwoni was impressed with Christine Bohn who "played great at the outside midfield and gave us some offensive opportunities." Port got out to an early lead by "dropping a floater in from the side and Goalkeeper Julie Sargent was unable to locate the ball in the sun." Sargent finished the game with 12 saves while Port had 20 shots on goal compared to Kewaskum's 2.

Kewaskum was not about to let a sour start to the season ruin their conference opener the following day on April 15. With the winds at their backs, the Indians had "many offensive opportunities against Two Rivers. Playing into the wind proved to be much tougher in the second half and our offense dwindled," said Piwoni. However, the Indians had built up a halftime lead of 4-0, and even two quick goals in the second half by Two Rivers would not be enough. Bohn led the team again and scored two goals. Heather Schaller and Nicole Meyer also scored for the Indians. Sargent had 6 saves.

Playing for the third time in four days, you would expect a slow start from the young Indians team against Waupun on April 17. However, that was quite the contrary as Bohn took charge again and scored at the 2 and 18 minute mark. Waupun went on to score three times in the final 20 minutes of the first half, with the last goal "trickling past the reach of Sargent," said Piwoni. Added Piwoni "the game was very physical and the officials were letting the girls duke it out. Chelsea Mengsol had a game-tying shot just go wide in the final moments. The game was very winnable and I do applaud the effort we gave but we need to find a way to get the 'W'. It was a very disappointing loss." Waupun out shot the Indians 18-12.

Weather conditions and big schools make for interesting tournament

By Nathan Kenworthy
Statesman Correspondent

Tennis isn't exactly a team sport, especially as far as the singles players are concerned, but last Saturday's (April 24) tournament left many players all on their own. The tournament was being played at four different locations, so Kewaskum Indians boy's tennis Coach Dan Ross could obviously not be able to support each of his players.

The Indians do not usually participate in this tournament, but were asked to join after a team had dropped out. Historically, the tournament has teams with rich tennis traditions and consists of larger teams from all over the state including Beaver Dam, Madison Memorial, Stevens Point, Burlington, Monroe, Waukegan and Plymouth.

The Indians finished in seventh place, one point ahead of Burlington while Madison Memorial won with conviction. The tournament was "obviously cold and windy.

Fortunately, most of the week was, so I think that helped us deal with the conditions," said Ross.

Ross stayed at the Beaver Dam location, and watched number one singles player Senior Dan Parker. He "played as well as he played all year. He started slowly last year and then rounded into form and hopefully he is doing the same this year," said Ross. Parker beat a player from Monroe in his second set, after dropping the first. In his third set, he was up in the first set but, as Ross said, "could not close it out." He went on to lose the set and the match.

Senior James Wiedmeyer, number four singles, "played as he always does, offensively, intelligently and to the best of his ability," said Ross. He was the highest Kewaskum finisher, taking fourth place. Ross admits "we would have liked to have finished higher and/or had some more individual's win one (match), but realistically, it was good to see where we stacked up against some of the bigger schools with good programs, and in the case of Plymouth, one (team) that is expected to compete for the conference championship."

The Indians play next at home against non-conference foe Port Washington on Thursday, May 1 at 4 pm at the Kewaskum High School and then have the Washington County tournament on Saturday, May 3.

Boettcher's the best in the County

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Just one win, but boy, was it a good one!

In last Tuesday's annual Washington County Outdoor Track and Field Meet, Kewaskum had just one victory from its boys team, but Ben Boettcher's toss of 166 feet even (166-0) was 30 feet better than the second-place finisher and the best discus throw in the state this spring in any division.

The Indian boys struggled in many of the other events against a field that includes four Division 1 schools, and Kettle Moraine Lutheran, which has had strong teams in recent year.

Kewaskum wound up in seventh place with 61.5 points.

Germantown, the powerhouse of the County in the last decade, came out on top with 134.5 points, 6.5 more than Hartford. West Bend West, the winner of the indoor meet in mid-March, placed third at 117, with KML in the fourth spot with 92, one point more than West Bend East. Living Word finished last with three points.

"We don't have the depth to compete against Germantown and the other Division one teams," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said, pleased, however, with the improvement in several of his younger athletes, giving the program optimism for the future.

Gosa and weight coach Matt Gundrum were obviously pleased with Boettcher's performance.

Concerning how close Boettcher is coming to the school record held by Charlie Sparks, who went on to qualify for the NCAA I competitions two years in a row, Gundrum said, "Six feet, eight inches."

Gosa confirmed Sparks' mark of 172-8 is attainable.

"It's encouraging to see him do well in the discus, but disappointing he isn't continuing to do well in the shot," Gosa went on.

Gundrum said Boettcher did not compete in the shot in Tuesday's meet because of a soreness in the hamstring.

Tyler Swanson added a fourth in the discus behind a throw of 131-3 for 14 of Kewaskum's points. In the shot, Swanson was not up to his usual standards, and his throw of 43-10.5 was only good for eighth. After the one first place, the next best finish was a third by Jon Komp in the 100-meter dash. He was clocked in 12 and .13 (12.13) seconds.

Earning points in the other events was pretty tough for the Indians. Jake Dickmann only managed to clear 11-6 in the pole vault, which was good for sixth place. The top three vaulters all went 12-6.

In the high jump, Dickmann made 5-8, which was good for a tie for fourth place.

"He's (Dickmann) in a little bit of a rut right now," Gosa said, certain he will bounce out of it.

Gosa praised members of the 4x400-meter relay, including Dan Dymond, Zach Herriges, Brandon Zolp and Scott Steldt, who combined for a fifth in 3:35.68.

"They dropped three or four seconds," Gosa said, adding both Dymond and Steldt had run the open 400 first, then came back with splits of 53 seconds in the relay. Dymond finished fourth at 53.56 in the open 400, while Steldt was sixth at 54.07. Three of the four on the relays are sophomores and are "making excellent progress," according to Gosa.

Herriges also placed fourth in the 800 (2:09.59), and he came up with a strong final lap in the 1,600 to earn a sixth in that event at 4:58.95.

"I feel he has very good ability," Gosa said of Herriges, who can become an excellent distance runner with hard work.

Writer's Note: In Saturday's Marquette Invitational, Jordan Shull of Menomonee Falls (Division 1) won the discus with a throw of 173 feet, 8 inches, but Boettcher remains high on the track honor roll.

Great start to season for boy's tennis team

By Nathan Kenworthy
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum Indians boy's tennis team traveled to Dominican High School on April 14 for their first match of the year, and did not waste any time in getting their first team victory on the season. The singles players completed a clean sweep of their Dominican opponents, with seniors Dan Parker (2-6, 6-3, 6-3), Chris Larson (6-1, 6-2), James Wiedmeyer (6-0, 6-1) and junior Nathan Bandy (7-5, 4-6 6-2) all posting victories.

On the doubles side, only sophomore Ben Adkins and senior Xiao Li (6-2, 6-4) won their respective matches. The final result was a 5-2. "There will be an adjustment period for the doubles players. All are new to the Varsity level and some are new to tennis completely. It was nice to get a win on that side. Larson was on his 'A' game, and his placement was amazing," said coach Dan Ross.

The following afternoon, they took on conference foe Sheboygan Falls. Falls showed early and often that they are a powerhouse in the conference. "(Ryan) Gibson and (Aaron) Monte showed great improvement. They lost to Dominican (0-6, 0-6), and made it much closer this time, (2-6, 4-6), and it looks like they're beginning to understand a bit how to play doubles. It is a whole different world compared to singles," said Ross. Larson was the only Indian to win his match (6-1 6-2). Wiedmeyer lost a tough match where he just could not finish the first set. Sheboygan Falls won 6-1. Playing on three consecutive nights was tough on the visiting Indians as they took on Chilton. However, due to absences, the doubles lineup had to be changed again for the second straight night.

On the singles side, the teams met halfway with each team taking two wins. Larson continued his dominance as he won (7-5, 7-5), however this victory came in a different fashion. "Chris was losing in both of his sets 3-5 but showed good mental toughness in then ripping off four straight games to win," said Ross. Wiedmeyer also won (6-4, 6-1).

Ross believes "Chilton will be a team to watch in the future. They have a solid program and had no seniors in their lineup against us."

Being close does count, competing vs. Division 1 teams

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Try as they might, the Kewaskum High Lady Indians could not gain the sweep of the Washington County Indoor and Outdoor track meets.

Back on March 18, Kewaskum claimed the title in the Indoor competition in West Bend, but this past Tuesday, the Indians had to settle for fourth place in the Outdoor test they hosted. The Germantown Lady Warhawks were definitely the class of the competition, piling up 136.5 points, then it was very competitive between the next four teams, with Slinger in second at 110; Kettle Moraine Lutheran a point behind (109), Kewaskum next with 104 and then West Bend East at 101.

Hartford followed in the sixth spot with 85.5, with West Bend West and Living Word seventh and eighth at 30 and 18, respectively. Germantown, East, Slinger, Hartford and West are all Division 1 schools.

"Our girls were very competitive," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said, indicating had a few things worked out differently, the Indians might have wound up second.

As usual, the sprint relays were a real bright spot for the Indians. Jessi Forbes, Jessie Liniewski, Nichole Kison and Kelly Uelmen carried the baton in the 4x100-meter race, winning in 52 and .25 seconds (52.25), .06 ahead of West Bend East.

In the 4x200, it was Haley Gregoriou leading off, followed by Liniewski, Kison and Uelmen, and in this race there was no question they were best, winning in 1:51.49, over four seconds ahead of runner-up Slinger.

In the 4x100, "We lost a little ground early in the race," Gosa said, pointing out his second and third runners moved up, and then, "Kelly had her work definitely cut out for her," and in just 100 meters, that's quite a challenge. Uelmen ran hard and overtook the East runner with about 10 meters to go.

The East girls had won the 6-lap relay in the Indoor test, according to Gosa, who said his girls were really fired up to beat the Suns (in the 4x100).

"We went 1-3 in the 200," Gosa said, referring to respective finishes by Liniewski and Kison, who were clocked in 27.50 and 27.73 with East's Qudijn McDade in between the two. "They beat some pretty darn good Division One girls."

Uelmen also chipped in with five points from her fourth (13.61) in the 100, and Heather Schmitt did a nice job in the 400 (1:05.96) to seventh place.

Gregoriou and Liz Potter earned eight points in the 100 hurdles, placing fourth and sixth, respectively, with times of 18.10 and 18.43.

In the 300 hurdles, Potter finished fifth overall at 53.50, while Gregoriou hit an early hurdle, tumbled to the ground, got up and nearly took eighth.

Also helping out were the distance runners, who, although young, managed to place. In the 800, sophs Brooke Waala and Jessica Beaupre took seventh and eighth with time of 2:41.55 and 2:41.58. In the 1,600, Megan Struck, just a freshman, placed sixth with a 6:13.67.

The field events athletes were also productive, with Candace Beine and Liniewski taking second and fourth in the high jump, going 4-10 and 4-8.

Alissa Clapper cleared 9-0 in the pole vault, which was good for second, and Ki-son went over 16 feet again in the long jump, placing third at 16-4.50, while Lacy Taylor added a fourth in the discus. Her 94-11 was her personal best for the season.

Freshman Bryana Keller added two points with her seventh (29-09) in the triple jump. She was the only freshman to place in the event.

Kewaskum's depth was obvious once again and should help the Indians to challenge for the title at the Vander Pan Invitational on Friday.

Indians post 65 in winning scramble crown

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It was a roller coaster week for the Kewaskum High golf team, starting with a second-place finish in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference mini-tour meet before slipping to third place in the playoff of the Oriole/Ledger Invitational, then falling to sixth in the EWC meet at Campbellsport.

The week ended well for the Indians, however, as they vaulted into first place in the Cougar Scramble held Saturday on the Auburn Bluffs Golf Course.

Kewaskum was sitting in a tie for third place after the first nine holes, then the foursome of Ethan Geidel, Nick Gutbrod, John Beiswenger and Jeremy Neuenfeldt put together a fine 5-under par 31 for a 65 total, edging St. Mary's Springs (33-33) by a single shot.

Kewaskum's back nine card included deuce, four threes, three fours and just one five.

Grafton finished with a 32-35—67 for third place, while the host Cougars were fourth at 68 and Oakfield had a 38-32—70.

Both Pius XI and Shorewood withdrew after the first nine holes because of the inclement weather.

"(There were) flurries during the pre-match instructions," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said, but the Indians were happy they survived the cold and wind to claim their second title in the three years the event has been held.

The win "turned kind of a negative week into a positive," Eichstedt said, adding the golf course was in pretty good shape because Campbellsport did not get as much rain as the surrounding area.

In the JV competition, Kewaskum's White Team placed third with a 72. Making up the team were Nick Ebert, Jacob Durian, Beau Backhaus and Russell Oswald.

Indians come so close to capturing title

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

While it is highly unlikely, three of the seven golf teams competing in last week's Division I section of the annual Oriole/Ledger Invitational came in with exactly the same total.

Kewaskum, Campbellsport, and Lomira all posted 353s on the par-72 Rolling Meadows Golf Course near Fond du Lac, prompting a playoff involving all 15 golfers.

Lomira came in with the lowest total on the extra hole to earn the top spot, while Campbellsport finished second and Kewaskum left with the third spot, disappointing when considering the Indians' fine junior, Ethan Geidel, won the medal with a score of 38-42—80 and that they had their hearts set on successfully defending their 2007 title.

On the first extra hole, Lomira came up with 24 strokes to 25 for Campbellsport and 26 for the Indians. "One of our guys hit his first ball out of bounds," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said about the playoff, which certainly had a disappointing outcome for the Indians.

This was "obviously the best weather conditions that teams have competed in this spring," Eichstedt said, going on that it did not result in their best score, and he blamed some of the difficulties on the condition of the course.

Eichstedt said his team had the first (Geidel) and sixth (Nick Gutbrod, 41-45—86) and is trying to improve its overall depth and competition, "Yet, it is difficult to expect better scoring due to putting surfaces that were mostly brown rather than green."

Senior John Holt, a newcomer to the golf program and the varsity, came in with a 47-45—92, and Jeremy Neuenfeldt was the final counter with a 46-49—95. Paul Marchant's 96 was thrown out.

Lomira was led by Brian Steffes' 85, while Taylor Pelot came in with an 84 from his No. 5 spot in the lineup to pace the Campbellsport effort.

The Indians were scheduled to play in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference mini-tour meet at New Holstein on Tuesday, and today (Thursday) they are at the Hawthorne Hills Golf Course for the annual Brown Port Invitational.

Division 1 standings: 1. Lomira, 353, won playoff in sudden death; 2. Campbellsport, 353, took second in playoff; 3. Kewaskum, 353, third in playoff. 4. Milwaukee Rufus King, 373; 5. Ripon, 377; 6. Mayville, 393; 7. Omro, 394.

Division 2 champion — Cambridge, 325; medalist — Sam Jeffrey, Cambridge, 74.

Division 3 champion — Sheboygan Lutheran, 335; medalist — Sander, Sheboygan Lutheran, 79.

Beine hits 5-0 mark; sprinters, relays, hurdlers, jumpers look strong

KHS girls are leading when meet is called

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Normally track meets are completed no matter what the conditions, but Friday afternoon at the Altheimer Invitational in Pewaukee was one of those rare times when the best and safest decision appeared to be calling the meet.

Just after the girls had run the 300-hurdles, officials and coaches got together and decided it was time to get the athletes out of the rainy and stormy elements.

At the time, the Kewaskum High girls team was in the lead, and the Indians were in the lead. Behind solid efforts in the sprints, relays, hurdles and a couple jumping events, they had amassed 119 points with Pewaukee close behind at 115.5.

Mayville was a distant third with 84, followed closely by Elkhorn, which had 80.

"It's anybody's guess what would have happened," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said, indicating Pewaukee is very strong in the distance events, and three of them were cancelled by the rain. Still, the coach said, "It was frustrating we couldn't get it in."

As usual, the Indians dominated the sprint relays. The quarter of Jessie Forbes, Jessica Liniewski, Nichole Kison and senior leader Kelly Uelmen won the 4x100-meter event with a time of 52 and .47 seconds (52.47), nearly a full three seconds ahead of runner-up Greendale.

Haley Gregoriou worked out so well as the leadoff runner in the 4x200 in the Indian Invitational and Washington County Meets that Gosa kept her in the event, and once again this group did well. Along with Liniewski, Kison and Uelmen, the foursome clicked off a 1:51.21.

All four of the latter relay contributed heavily in other individual events. Uelmen won the 100-meter dash in 13.70, a comfortable .33 of a second ahead of the next finisher.

Gregoriou placed in both hurdle races where the Indians had five places. She placed fifth in the 100s (18.51) and came back with another in the 300s, covering the distance in 53.54.

Liniewski was denied a chance to win the 200 as the event was one of those cancelled, but she did place fifth in the high jump by clearing 4 feet, 10 inches (4-10). She lost fourth in a jumpoff and third because of misses as all three girls went the same height.

The high jump was a good event for the Indians as Candace Beine placed second by clearing 5-0 for the first time in her career.

"That was a highlight," Gosa said. She did well in the triple jump, too, going 30-2.5, good for fourth place.

Kison was valuable in the long jump where she finished third, going 15-5.5 on a slippery runway.

Three others played prominent roles in the Indians' victory, its third of the 2008 season. Senior Liz Potter, who has gotten off to a good start, placed fourth (18.31) in the 100 hurdles and added two points with her seventh in the 300 (55.53).

Alissa Clapper, back after suffering a slight injury a week ago, won the pole vault by going 9-0, and she helped out by adding a sixth in the 100 hurdles 18.61.

Gosa is certainly glad to have Clapper and is looking forward to her having a lot of success in both events the rest of the season.

Heather Schmitt was also a double place winner for KHS. Her 1:06.16 was good enough for second in the open 400, and Schmitt also added a tie for sixth in the long jump (14-08.)

Other top four included: Lacy Taylor's third in the discus (91-3), the impressive fifth by Angela Kugler in the shot (30-0), and the sixth in the 1,600 (6:23.97) by Helen Schoenborn.

"About Kugler's effort, She just made a big jump last week," Gosa said. "We need that."

Final Team results: 1. Kewaskum, 119; 2. Pewaukee, 115.50; 3. Mayville, 84; 4. Elkhorn, 80; 5. Greendale, 57; 6. Cedar Grove Belgium, 30; 7. St. Francis, 24.50; 8. Wilmot, 21. 9. Union Grove, 11.

Meet was stopped at wrong time for KHS boys

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

One of the weight events was conducted Friday afternoon, but the other and undoubtedly Kewaskum's strongest, was wiped out by the cold rain as the annual Altheimer Invitational, hosted by Pewaukee High School, was canceled before its conclusion.

The Indians were sitting in third place with 66 points when officials and coaches decided it would be best not to finish. At that point, Greendale was holding a 16-point lead over Mayville, 96 to 80.

The Indians were hopeful they would gain on the two leaders with points from the discus, but it never got underway.

"Ben (Boettcher) was very disappointed he didn't get a chance to throw," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said. Boettcher had already won the shot with a toss of 44 feet, 2 inches (44-2), and Tyler Swanson added a sixth with an effort of 41 feet event.

Considering his recent throw over 166 feet was best in the state until Friday, it was fairly certain Boettcher would win the discus and Swanson would have been among the top four, so 14 points were gone.

Gosa said there wasn't much that could be done, except make sure the athletes were safe. He, too, was disappointed the meet couldn't be completed, still certain there were several very nice efforts by some of his athletes.

"The four hundred meter relay (4x100) did well ... had good handoffs and placed third," according to Gosa, referring to the efforts of Matt Donath, Brad Conroy, Zack Amerling and Eric Turowski, who combined for a time of 47 and

.73 seconds (47.73).

Gosa also cited senior Jon Komp for his continued improvement in the sprint races. The transfer student, who was a major contributor to the success of the football program last fall, finished second in the 100-meter dash with a time of 12.16 seconds.

"That's always nice," Gosa said, indicating Komp is a welcome addition to the team and can be counted on to consistently score in the dashes.

The Indians "double placed" in the 400 where senior Dan Dymond and sophomore Scott Steldt finished fifth and eighth, respectively, with times of 54.36 and 55.43.

Steldt provided another highlight for the KHS team with his fifth place in the long jump. "This was a significant improvement," Gosa said about Steldt's 18-8 in the long jump.

Zach Herriges continues to do well in the 1,600, covering the four laps in 4:55.74, which was good for third place, and senior teammate Tyler McElhatton was next in 5:04.40, giving the Indians 11 points in the event.

"That was the closest he's come to five minutes," Gosa said about McElhatton, who missed several days to participate in the national chess competition.

Another third was chipped in by the junior Turowski in the triple jump (36-4)

Gosa also cited sophomore Brandon Zolp for his performance in the triple jump. Zolp jumped 35-2, which was good for fifth in the field.

Kewaskum also got an eighth place from D.J. Ermer in the 300 hurdles (48.13).

The Indians are at the Vander Pan Invitational in Sheboygan Falls on Friday.

In 2nd mini-meet, KHS golfers move up

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The second Eastern Wisconsin Conference mini-tour meet turned out a lot better for the Kewaskum High golf team than the first one.

Even though all the team scores were understandably higher on the 3,769-yard back nine at the Bull at Pinehurst Farms on April 21st than they were at Quit Qui Oc the week before, the Indians moved up a couple spots to stay close to the defending champion Plymouth squad.

"The Panthers demonstrated more team consistency," KHS Coach Glenn Eichstedt said about Plymouth's win with 178 strokes.

"The margin of victory has given hope to Kewaskum as the Indians trailed by only four strokes," the KHS coach went on about his team's 182.

Kiel was a distant third with 194, one stroke ahead of Wau-pun, then came Campbellsport at 197, the host Falcons with a 203, Two Rivers, 205; and New Holstein, 229.

For the second EWC competition in a row, KHS junior Ethan Geidel had the lowest round of the afternoon, touring the course with a 4-over-par 40, which included three birdies.

Jon Criter of Plymouth was second overall with a 42, then came Brandon Gries of Kiel with a 43, the same score recorded by Zach Hunter of Plymouth.

"Unfortunately, Plymouth tallied three scores (42,43, 44) better than Kewaskum's next score," a 46 by junior Jeremy Neuenfeld, according to Eichstedt, who reported Nick Gutbrod and John Beiswenger were the other two counters with rounds of 47 and 49.

Only five days before, Gutbrod won the medal at the Sheboygan Falls Invitational with a 79, then he ballooned to a 47.

There may be a change in the KHS lineup soon since senior John Holt, playing on the JV team, fired a 44 on the front nine. It was the lowest round of the afternoon by any of the junior varsity players.
