SB approves KHS branch office for West Bend Savings Bank

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Publisher

KEWASKUM- High School students won't be far from their finances in the coming year. Local banking institution, West Bend Savings Bank has announced plans to open a student-run bank in a former copy room at the High School at the beginning of the 2008-'09 school year.

The plan was presented by business education instructor Tim Rohlinger, who has been working on the project for a number of years. It received unanimous approval at the board's June meeting held Monday, June 9.

Rohlinger explained a survey was done a number of years ago with high response rate to have such a project in the school. The bank is believed to give real world experience to students wanting to enter a career in the world of finance.

The bank will be staffed by a student and a bank employee. The bank

Community encouraged to use school bank that will open for new school year will be open two or three days a week during lunch periods at first and then possibly increasing as the response rate grows.

The school district will paint and carpet the area and add lighting. Data lines, equipment furniture, signage, and security will be the responsibility of West Bend Savings Bank who will not pay any rent for area.

Right now one student who has applied for school to work program is ready to begin at the student bank. Her training will begin this summer. In the future the operation would be open for anyone who would want to take part.

West Bend Savings Bank will offer full service banking, that includes savings and checking accounts and possibly auto financing. "We want this to be a really great cooperative with the high school. The co-op program has given us a lot of employees over the years. We're very excited about this opportunity," stated Sue Garman, Senior Vice President of Operations for the bank. "Our bank has a rather large market share in this area. A lot of people in Kewaskum bank with us."

Residents in the immediate community will be encouraged to use the bank as well.

This is the first high school banking venture that West Bend Savings Bank has undertaken. The bank has branches in Washington, Sheboygan and Dodge Counties.

Glacier Hills Credit Union currently operates a student-run credit union at West Bend High School.

McCarty to Challenge LeMahieu

CAMPBELLSPORT- Karl McCarty has announced his Republican candidacy for the 59th State Assembly District. He will attempt to defeat Dan LeMatheui who has served in the Assembly since 2002 and has been re-elected since 2004.

McCarty is an economics and US history teacher at Oakfield High School. He also works on his family's dairy farm, McCarty Farms, in the town of Ashford.

McCarty was elected to the Campbellsport School Board in 2004, and currently serves on the Board's Policy Committee and chairs the Curriculum and Technology Committee. He graduated summa cum laude from UW Oshkosh in June 2006 and wrote two books on the 2008 campaign.

On fiscal responsibility McCarty calls for complete online transparency of the state budget and spending in detail and the elimination of earmarks, which cost Wisconsin tens of millions of dollars in the budget passed by the Assembly in October 2007.

On ethics McCarty says he will fight corruption in Madison and despises the lack of leadership on the issue. He calls for a reformed Wisconsin Supreme Court selection process through the formation of a merit system.

McCarty demands full transparency on lobbying activities and meetings with legislators. And feels fundraising should not occur when the Legislature is working on the state budget.

On Economic Development McCarty wants a comprehensive energy policy to promote economic development in his District and Wisconsin. This includes a balanced initiative of all energy sources. Furthermore, having been raised on a dairy farm, he says he will fight to retain agriculture's prominence in Wisconsin.

McCarty also calls for an independent DNR secretary and supports the bill allowing younger individuals to hunt with a trusted mentor. He also demands that hunting and fishing regulations never be passed in a state budget, which occurred in October 2007 and appalled conservationists.

More will be released on his campaign throughout the summer.

Breakfast, lunch prices going up at district's schools

KEWASKUM- The Board of Education has approved an increase in the amount users will pay for meals at schools throughout the district. The price hike was approved at their June meeting.

The last increase was instituted in 2003. The increase comes after rising food costs and labor costs for the district. In the past, the food service budget has produced surpluses for the district but had the change not been approved Business Manager Paul Reichert stated food service would have been operating at a deficit.

The board voted in favor of Reichert's plan to raise the cost of lunch at all schools 10 cents. Lunch at KMS and KHS will be $1.85 while at KES, FES and WES lunch will be $1.60.

Breakfast at KMS will increase by 15 cents to $1.15 and at KHS a 10 cent raise will bring the total to $1.35.

Reichert stated his research showed the average lunch in Southeastern Wisconsin for elementary schools was $1.75 and $2.07 at high schools.

POLICE REPORTS

Vehicle Vandalism

On May 3, a resident met with a Kewaskum Police Officer and explained his truck had manure thrown on it while it was parked on the south side of his house. There were also scratches on the hood and roof of the vehicle. The complainant stated his son had been driving the vehicle and he believed some of his friends might have done this. He added it would cost approximately $500 to repaint the hood and roof of the truck.

The complainant was given paperwork to fill out and was asked to return it to the police department. He was advised that if he or his son heard anything more about the matter they should let the department know of it. Until that time or in the event new information should arise, the complaint was closed.

Vehicle Vandalism

On May 4, a Kewaskum police officer was contacted by a resident who stated his Dodge truck had been egged overnight. Proceeding to the residence, the officer was shown the truck which was parked across the street from the residence. There was egg residue on the driver side door and window. The owner had no idea who might have done it and did not give anyone permission to egg the vehicle.

Paperwork was filled out and the owner estimated the cost of the repair could be as much as $1000 if a new paint job was necessary. The officer asked if the complainant had any idea who might have done it and he stated he did not. He did add that his daughter heard someone walking past their residence around 1 a.m. and they were a bit loud. She later heard the same people walk past the residence again.

Complainant stated he would find out what type of repairs would be needed. The complaint was closed unless new information should arise.

Driver cited for inattentive driving after crash

On May 27, a Kewaskum police officer traveling west on Main Street, observed a vehicle that appeared to have struck a truck parked in front of it. The vehicle had substantial front-end damage. Upon checking both vehicles and doing a record check on the car, the officer proceeded into John's On Main, to seek out the owner. The owner was located inside the bar and when asked what had happened to his vehicle, he stated he hit the truck while trying to park his car.

The officer asked how fast he had been going and was told "only 25 miles an hour." The officer advised him that his speed was probably higher due to the extent of the damage. The officer also asked if the driver of the vehicle had been drinking and he stated he had had a few beers before the accident. The officer asked the owner if he had spoken to the owner of the other vehicle and he said yes he had. The other owner of the truck was in the bar and they had made arrangements and did not plan on reporting the accident to the police. The owner of the car was advised he would have to make out a report due to the extent of the damages.

The officer then spoke to the owner of the truck on May 29 who stated the owner of the car told him that he had rear-ended his truck. The truck's owner then went outside and pulled the truck away from the front end of the car and stated the hitch on his truck took most of the damage, so therefore he didn't think he needed to do an accident report. He was also advised that a report would have to be made due to the extent of the damage. The truck owner also stated that he and the owner of the car were going to resolve the matter on their own.

The owner of the car was issued a citation for inattentive driving.

Vehicle Theft

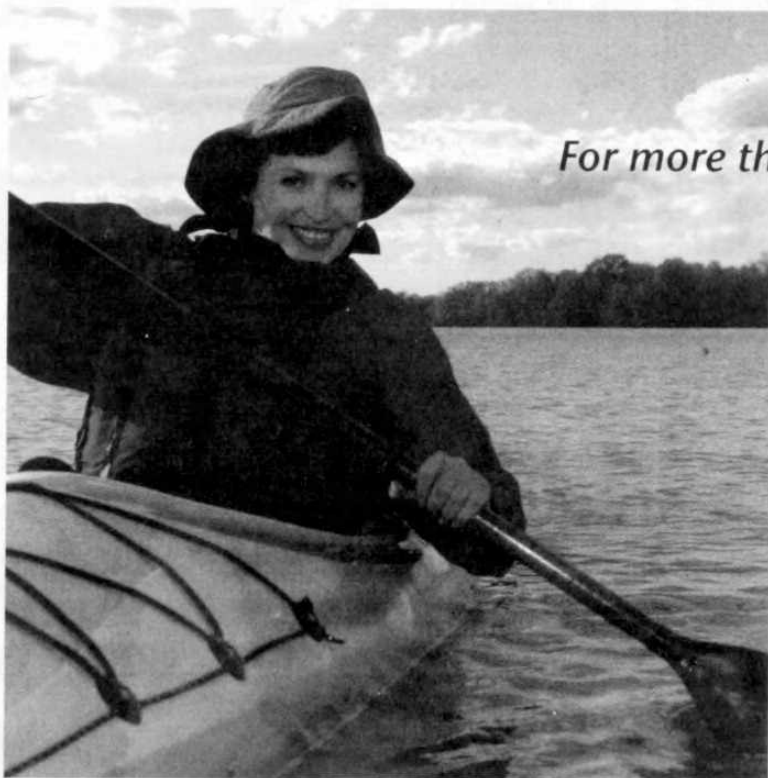

On June 2, a Kewaskum police officer was approached by a man in the BP gas station parking lot and advised that he and his brother park their semi trucks behind the gas station. He went on to explain to the officer that sometime over the last couple of weeks, unknown actor(s) have taken two 30x30 foot tarps and two 24x16 foot tarps from the back of the semi trailers while they were parked overnight. He added one of their trailer tires had also been slashed. He requested some extra patrol in that area during the third police shift.

The officer advised the complainant that they do patrol the area often at night but he would tell the other officers about the matter. The complaint is closed unless new information should arise. The officer added if the truck drivers saw anyone suspicious around the trailers, they should contact the police department immediately and they would respond.

Police reports are compiled and written by Statesman Staff Member Lana Kuehl with the cooperation of the Kewaskum Police Department. If you have information on any of these incidents please contact the department at (262) 626-2323.

State of the art Rx testing

Members of the West Bend Area Chamber of Commerce recently welcomed company executives at a reception on the Spaulding Clinical Campus, the former St. Joseph's Community Hospital. Spaulding Clinical CEO Randy Spaulding smiles as he cuts the ribbon to his new facility.

WEST BEND- Imagine yourself in one of the most terrible places to be in, the bed of a hospital to receive news on why you have been so sick. The doctor coming into your room doesn't need to use words, the look on his or her face does the talking. The doctor says, "It's not looking so good, you have (insert your most feared disease)."

But then with a smile, the doctor says there is a new drug that just got tested and approved that cures your disease.

Spaulding Clinical Research LLC in West Bend is a phase one drug testing facility that could some day provide the test of the miracle drug that could save lives.

CEO Randy Spaulding said there are many factors to this new facility that makes it unique and will give them an advantage for testing prescription drugs.

First, is the size of the facility. Spaulding Clinical recently bought the 200,000-square-foot former St. Joseph's Community Hospital building.

"The size of the facility allows us to do very large studies for the pharmaceutical companies," Spaulding said. "That translates to a shorter amount of time to test, which is a real value to them."

The unique size gives the patients conducting in the study amenities that are not usually associated in clinical research testing. The rooms from the original hospital have not changed much.

"Compared to other phase ones (facilities), the rooms have phenomenal space and comfort," said Joe Erato, who does patient recruitment and clinical operations for the clinic. "With a room this size, other clinics would have 12 people in bunk beds all sharing one bathroom."

The patients will also have a private bathroom, social living room, with a big screen TV, pool table and quiet room for reading, and a large dining room.

The clinic has a major focus on each patient's cardiac safety. Spaulding said this is where the industry of drug research has been lacking. The FDA in the last two years has developed stricter rules for cardiac safety tests. Spaulding said other clinics focus on cardiac safety has been terrible. His remedy for this is the hiring of a world-renowned cardiologist Dr. Jay Mason, who actually helped set the new rules in testing for the FDA.

"Our technology is second to none," Spaulding said. "We are instituting an electronic medical record and that is the first time the clinic trial industry is doing it."

Spaulding said this is similar to electronic medical records used by doctors and hospitals. This takes away the human error of recording research by hand. Human error has caused many problems in the clinical research industry, whether it has barred good drugs from getting to the public to letting some unsafe drugs get to the public.

"Patients get a wristband with a bar code on it that tells you who they are with a picture. Anytime we take their blood pressure, we scan the ID bracelet and it automatically takes your blood pressure and puts it in the patient's electronic record. This way is done for all tests."

Their main goal is safety. Erato said the patients are given very low doses of the drug being tested and are not given the drug every day they are at the facility.

"A lot of studies are drugs you see in phase one aren't necessarily new to humans. A lot of times drug companies change their formulation of the capsule or delivery mechanism of the pill and it has to go another round of phase one clinical trial," said Senior Manager Larry Redner.

Patients make about $200-$250 per day.

Spaulding plans to start clinical testing by the end of July, which will be a 12-day study. This first study is sort of a trial running for the Institutional Review Board (IRB). Once they pass this, they are set to run tests on specific dates.

"Our quality for patients makes for better results," Spaulding said. "(The patients) are here to advance science, so that we all have safer drugs."

Anniversary of crash brings bus survivors together

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Had others been involved in a similar experience, they might have asked, "Where was God, and why did He let this happen to us?"

But the survivors of the June 11, 2007 crash in Bosnia, including Ann Enright of Boltonville, choose rather to thank God for their lives, for each other and for the spiritual growth they have experienced since their bus slid off a rain-slicked road and down an embankment as they were driving to a Catholic Marian shrine in Medjugorje.

One member of the pilgrimage, Andy Meier of Hartland, is now a paraplegic as a result of the crash, which severed his spine. Three other women suffered broken necks; the flying glass resulted in cuts and a variety of other injuries.

None harbor any bitterness, however. In fact, the majority of them gathered to give thanks at Holy Angels Catholic Church in West Bend last Wednesday, the first anniversary of the accident.

"We had about 30 (people). The O'Briens brought their children and some of the husbands came," along with their tour guide, Enright said earlier this week, explaining the idea for a reunion was initially hers but was expanded to include two Masses, an all-day exposition of the Eucharist and an evening gathering for food and sharing.

The day began with a Mass celebrated by Rev. Rick Wendell, the associate pastor at Holy Angels and one of the passengers in the bus.

"Father gave a real good talk," Enright said. "In his sermon, Fr. Rick said my tombstone could have been up a year already," adding, "When people go through something like this, they realize each day is such a gift."

Wendell also touched on the love God has for each person. Enright recall his words, "If you knew how much God loves you and how merciful He is, you would be overwhelmed."

Minutes after the crash, the people were overwhelmed by a number of things that occurred. Still, despite flying glass and bodies being tossed from one side of the bus to the other, Enright recalls how calm everyone remained and how quickly they went into action to help one another.

There was no real panic, she said, even though water was coming into the bus, adding to the danger that surrounded them.

Enright also recalls her trip to triage, before going to the hospital. She was being transported along with Sammy Meier, Andy's son, and said all of a sudden, the clouds seemed to separate, then sun came through and then a beautiful rainbow.

She remembers saying to the young boy, "Sammy, That's God telling you, you're dad's going to be okay."

"Everyone had their own special story," said went on, indicating Andy Meier was in and out of consciousness for several days in the hospital, and he told his wife about the beautiful alabaster crucifix that was on the wall ... only there was no cross physically on the wall.

Meier is now able to walk a few steps with a walker, but it is mostly because of his own determination. "He can make those legs move, but it's like he standing on stumps," she said about Meier's legs.

Still, he has accepted his fate, indicating "He believes in redemptive suffering," which means he offers his pain and suffering for the sins of the world.

The happy ending for Kevin and Leslie O'Brien is baby Michael, who is now several months old. "He wasn't born yet, but he was with us (on the trip)," Enright said.

There were little angels sent to the group, like a nurse named Mary Ryan, who is an American and now lives in Medjugorje. "She was the one who helped us get the medication we needed," Enright said.

There was a man who drove a couple of the injured women to Vienna so they could fly back to the United States and get better medical attention.

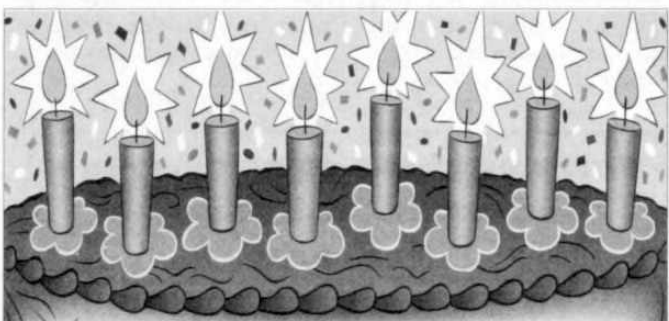

The graciousness of Ryan didn't go unnoticed. In fact, Enright bought a suitcase, filled it with children's clothes, sweat-shirts, gauze bandages, pain relievers, tooth paste and other items and sent it along with another JMJ Tour group that went to Medjugorje several months ago. Enright said the group has also contributed money to a fund to help needy people in the area.

Enright keeps in touch with several of the others who were on the pilgrimage and truly believes the group was blessed with a beautiful spiritual strength. "Each one of us, because we went to Medjugorje, we were given a mission," she said, explaining the mission includes prayer, fasting, saying the rosary, reading the Bible and the sacrament of Reconciliation.

When asked if they are taking this mission seriously, Enright said, "I think everybody is."

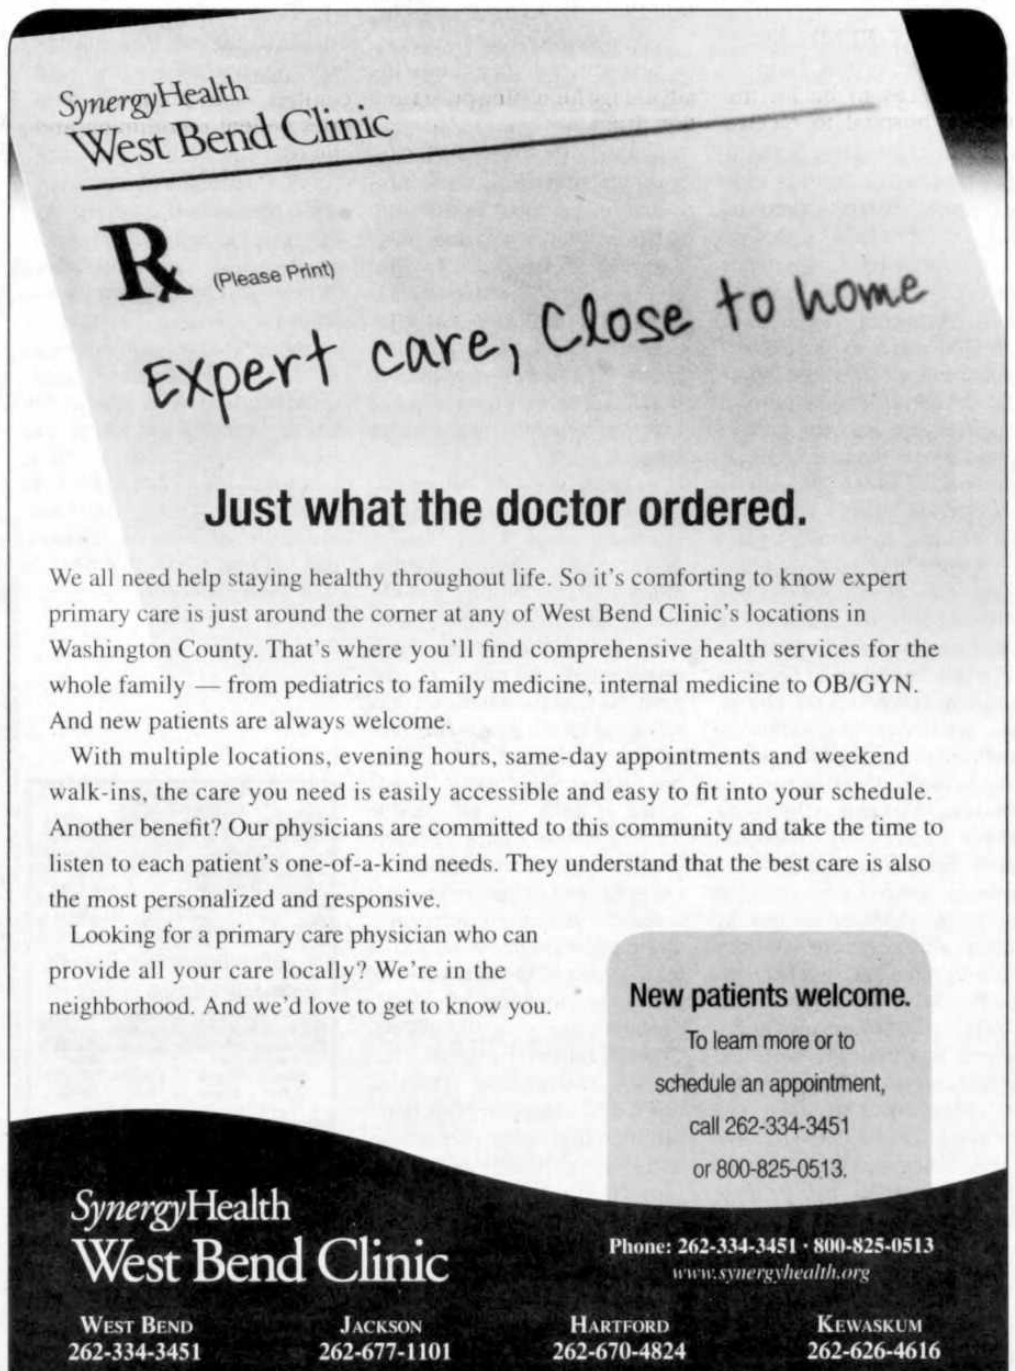

And would the people consider going to Medjugorje again? "Everybody would," Enright said, indicating plans are in process for a pilgrimage there next year, and "Some of us are thinking of going."

Events

An evening with Wisconsin's frogs and salamanders

Frogs and Salamanders is the next program in the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit's Summer Saturday Evening Events. The program will be held on Saturday, June 28, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Mauthe Lake Recreation Area Picnic Shelter. Mauthe Lake is located off of Hwy GGG south of Hwy SS near New Prospect. The program is free, but a Wisconsin State Park System vehicle admission sticker is required.

Wisconsin is home to a wide variety of frogs and salamanders including one toad, eleven different kinds of frogs and seven species of salamanders. Most of these amazing animals split their lives between being born in a watery world to being adults that breathe air and spend time on dry land. Today, some species are near extinction, but all amphibians are suffering from loss of their homes or habitats, pollution, climate change and people's misconceptions. Currently, research is being conducted to learn why so many species world-wide are declining in numbers including Wisconsin's frog survey which is the longest running in the nation.

People of all ages will have an opportunity to meet our local amphibians with Randy Korb, a Wisconsin naturalist. Randy now lives in St. Croix Falls after living in the Green Bay/Appleton area for 30 years. He enjoys giving talks on frogs and butterflies to schools and libraries in Wisconsin and Illinois. He has authored two books on Wisconsin frogs.

Currently, Randy is the president of the Wisconsin Audubon Council, a coalition of the state's 17 Audubon chapters and centers.

Randy will be bringing live frogs, toads and salamanders for participants to hold and feed. He will share his wealth of information before heading out to Mauthe Lake to look and listen for frogs. Please bring a flashlight and wear appropriate footwear for wading into shallow water. If you are not careful, Randy may just turn you into a frog lover.

For further information or directions, please contact forest staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The staff may be reached at (920) 533-8322, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The American Cancer Society Relay For Life of West Bend is just around the corner, and in case you missed registration night, register your team today at the second American Cancer Society Relay For Life of West Bend registration night, June 24th, at 6:30 pm at the West Bend Clinic located on Paradise.

Relay For Life is a "celebration of life" that brings the West Bend community together in a unified effort to "fight back" against cancer. Cancer survivors, families, businesses, civic organizations, and the general public are invited to take part in this exciting event. The American Cancer Society Relay For Life of West Bend takes place on August 1st with opening ceremonies at 6:00pm through 10:00 am, Saturday, August 2nd at Badger Middle School.

Relay For Life, the Society's signature event, is a life-changing experience that helps us celebrate the lives of those who have battled cancer, remember loved ones lost and to fight back against a disease that takes too much. This unforgettable event raises awareness and funds to save lives, help those touched by cancer, and empower communities to fight back against this disease. With the funds raised at Relay, your American Cancer Society is working toward an important goal -- a future without cancer. In 2007 Relay For Life funds raised helped: 6,473 WI residence receive patient related information, 900 patients participated in Look Good Feel Better session, 775 patients received gift items, such as wigs and turbans and helped support 14 Wisconsin researchers, while investing over $7.6 Million to research in Wisconsin.

At this family-oriented event, participants enjoy the camaraderie of a team and also raise funds to support the activities of the American Cancer Society. Participants can camp out around the track, and when they are not taking their turn walking, they take part in fun activities and enjoy local entertainment. Relay For Life, with an Olympic theme this year, has planned a Nintendo Wii tournament, music from the University of Wisconsin Marching Band, and various theme laps to keep participants going all night long!

"Relay For Life brings the progress against cancer to the forefront," said Larry Koziol, event chair. "Many participants are our family, friends, and neighbors who have dealt with cancer themselves. Their involvement is proof of the progress that has been not only reducing death rates, but also in the quality of life following cancer treatment. Funds raised at Relay For Life enable the American Cancer Society to continue our investment in the fight against cancer through research, education, advocacy, and patient services," said Koziol. "Thanks to the generosity of corporate sponsors:

Anthem BlueCross BlueShield, Charter Communications, The Booster Advertising Publications, RR Donnelley, West Bend Mutual Insurance Company, and SynergyHealth Alyce and Elmore Kraemer Cancer Care Center, the funds raised by participants, directly benefits the American Cancer Society's life-saving programs."

The events are held across the country with experts on hand to teach in a noncompetitive manner. The combination of sponsorship and local chapter support allows the NWTF to offer these programs at a low cost to participants. The cost of attending each event includes a membership in Women in the Outdoors program and a subscription to Women in the Outdoors magazine, the Federation's full-color, quarterly publication with articles and information on a variety of outdoor adventures and activities.

Can you chew gum and march at same time?

Members of Mrs. Hanscke's first grade class sorted the gum on Friday, June 6. Clockwise from bottom left, Courtney Butzlaff, Tyler Jacob-Fry, Chaz Dreher, Jack Paul, Ryan Hansen and Bethany Tracy.

Mrs. Hanscke's class sorts the gum while she and art teacher Mrs. Henke look on.

By Pat Neumuth
Statesman Staff
patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

We Americans can take the simple things for granted that our troops overseas would love to have, but who would have thought about chewing gum.

The kids at Kewaskum and Farmington Elementary schools recognized the need for chewing gum and collected packs of gum for three weeks to be sent overseas.

"Gum is one thing they don't get over there very easy," said Peggy Henke art teacher at Kewaskum elementary. "They can just slip it in their pocket and use it when they are out and about."

Henke said the troops have a store to buy goods from, but gum is very hard to come by.

The whole idea for collecting gum came from Sanja Hansmann. Her son is serving in Iraq. She also has a Kindergartner at Kewaskum Elementary and that is how the school got involved.

Kewaskum Elementary collected 6,231 packs and Farmington collected 1,706 packs. The second grade class at Farmington wrote a letter to Wrigley's, and they donated a case of gum, which are 600 packs for the collection.

"They participated really, really a lot," Henke said. "Some kids donated every day. Some would buy the ten packs and bring it in, others brought in big tubes of bubble gum."

The classroom teachers did a lot of the work, Henke said. She said the teachers would remind the students every day about the collection, and she attributes the large number of gum donated to these reminders. To go along with the gum, the kids made thank-you cards for the soldiers overseas.

"The cards mainly say thanks, with words of encouragement. They would write them about some things they would miss like green grass, flowers and trees. A lot of them said thanks for supporting our country and freedom," Henke said.

The schools were looking to gather around 650 packs of gum so each soldier would receive one pack, however, each soldier in Hansmann's battalion will receive ten packs of gum and a thank-you card.

WES students decorate school

TOP: The finished banners were held up for the students to admire before permanently being put up on the WES lunchroom ceiling for all to enjoy. LEFT: Adding background color was the final step. Professional artist Marina Lee sprinkled water on the areas students had added a dye. The final step is blotting the water to create a washed effect. By Amber Donath
Statesman Community Journalist

Wayne Elementary School (WES) students recently participated in an exciting all-school project. WES art teachers Peggy Henke and Susan Seibel had professional artist Marina Lee bring her educational art to the school for a three-day hands-on creative learning project.

Day 1: Lee introduced herself and explained what would be happening during the course of the next three days. She had all students create fanciful artwork on paper. It could be realistic or imaginary. One theme was bugs and flowers, and the other was ocean life. The students went to work.

Overnight, Lee took the original artwork created on paper and transferred it to four large cloth banners: two underwater; two garden themes, thus creating the basic template for students to design and detail.

Day 2: Lee had the students add patterns and detail to the banners as well as adding color via permanent markers for cloth. Every student at WES had the opportunity to give the masterpiece a little personality of their own.

Day 3: The final step was adding a background of color via a dye process. Students added the color. Lee added the water. They blotted the background and...the finished banners are amazing. They are vibrant, beautiful, and best of all stunning one-of-a-kind masterpieces created through teamwork and cooperation.

"When Lee arrived and explained the project, I thought, WOW, how will we get all of this done in three days," said Henke. "But it was amazing watching this work in progress grow. And the kids really got into it and were so creative. It is truly an art project to remember for all involved."

The finished banners are now proudly displayed on the ceiling of the WES lunchroom.

She married Joseph A. Schwai on October 27, 1951 at St. Killian Catholic Church in Hartford, and moved to the Schwai family residence in Cedar Creek, where the family operated the Schwai restaurant, store, tavern and dance hall. She left teaching to assist Joe in managing the family business and started their own family.

While tending bar 40 plus year, at Schwai's Country Tavern, Store and Hall, LuAnn greeted customer with her legendary greeting "Hello Sunshine".

Lu Ann, Joe, and son Tom started a catering business at the request of the Gehl Company of West Bend in July of 1976. The catering business added much excitement and work for the Schwai family and their employees, over the years. The many recipes used by Lu Ann have been continued as the business continues to thrive.

LuAnn was active in many charitable organizations. She was on the board of directors for the Threshold, Inc. of Washington County, founder of the annual St. Patrick's Day "Green Pig" celebration held at Schwai's Tavern and Hall, which raised over $100,000 during 19 years of parties for that organization. She also founded Inner Wheel for Wives of Slinger Rotarians in 1985, and received the Paul Harris Award. She was a member of Christian Mothers of St. Peter's Catholic Church of Slinger, a member of the Jackson American Legion Auxiliary and the Slinger Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

The Broken Chain

We little knew that morning, that God was going to call your name.
In life we loved you dearly, in death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose
you, you did not go alone.
For part of us went with you,
the day God called you home.
You left us peaceful memories, your love is still our guide;
And though we can not see you, you are always at our side.
Our family chain is broken and nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one, the chain will link again.

Traceability is Your Protection

During the past several days we have had yet another lesson on how vulnerable agriculture and agricultural producers are to situations that are beyond their control. I am talking about the salmonella outbreak that hit the tomato industry.

Tomato growers in Florida and other tomato-producing states went to bed in the evening knowing that tomorrow would bring another day of harvesting and shipping tomatoes. They woke up the next morning to suddenly discover that people were not going to eat what they were producing...because of a salmonella outbreak affecting people in over two dozen states, and causing at least one death. Health officials said tomatoes were the source.

Reaction was immediate...consumers turned away from tomatoes at the produce counter; restaurants, McDonald's and other fast food chains said "we'll take tomatoes off all items on our menu" because consumers were concerned, something we can all understand. So once again we get another hard lesson on how an agricultural industry can be turned upside down overnight.

But that takes me back to a point you've heard me make before. In agriculture, we need to improve "traceability" because while it took days to finally trace down the source of the salmonella, the tomato industry came to a halt. Tomatoes that were ripe and ready for picking stayed in the fields and rotted. We need "traceability" because as consumers demand better food inspection and control, we probably will find more situations that will have the impact of the tomato salmonella outbreak on agricultural producers. You perhaps heard the comment from one official that we need to have a health inspector in every field of produce; we all know consumers would never pay the bill for that.

Whether it's tomatoes, livestock or any other agricultural commodity, we must do a better job of finding the source quickly so the problem can be corrected without shutting down the entire industry for days. I have strongly supported the National Animal ID program and many of you have let me know (in strong language) that I am wrong. I understand your reasons for resisting the program, but I think this latest incident overrides those objections.

Agricultural producers simply can't afford the cost of bringing an entire industry to a halt while we frantically search to find the source of the outbreak. It is a lesson already learned by spinach, and now, tomato producers. If your commodity is the next one to face a health threat, wouldn't you want to find the source quickly so consumers could be reassured and your industry spared a financial melt-down? I think I know your answer and that's why we must move quickly to improve traceability for the benefit of both consumers and producers.

My thoughts on Samuelson Sez.

Kewaskum just keeps piling up runs, wins

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The defense wasn't quite efficient as it has been in its previous 13 games, but the Kewaskum Athletics were able to overcome three errors Sunday to post an 8-4 victory over Hartford in a Rock River League game played at Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park.

With the win, the A's improved to a perfect 6-0 in the RR, and they are 13-1 overall.

Player/team spokesperson Jim Ziegler said the A's "grinded out" this win, coming up with 11 hits to score three runs in the second, single runs in the third, fifth and sixth and a pair in the eighth to finally put the game away.

Kewaskum jumped out to the three-run lead thanks to two hits, a walk, a Hawk error and a fielder's choice.

Dan Shea started off with the long double, and then Adam Sarauer drew a walk. Ziegler drove Shea in with his fly ball to center that landed just over the center fielder's head.

The next man up, Jake Panzer, followed with a hit right back to the pitcher, but an errant throw allowed him to reach and Sarauer to score. Ziegler later scampered home on a fielder's choice.

Zach Christopherson's long double staked Hartford to a pair of runs in the third. There were two other singles in the inning, the last one by Tom Kluck, and the first runner reached on a Kewaskum error, but Ziegler wriggled out of the jam without any further damage.

The teams traded runs in their next innings. In the bottom of the third, it was Jason Strobel reaching base on a hustle double to short left and scoring on Nick Whitty's base hit.

Hartford came right back in the top of the fourth with a single run, and again it was Christopherson, who ended up 4x4, driving in the run with a single.

Strobel would score on a bizarre play in the bottom of the fifth when he singled and came all the way around on Dan Shea's pop fly which found a hole behind second base. Because there were two outs, Strobel was running on the play, and he scored when the Hartford right fielder, second baseman and first baseman were unable to make a play on the ball.

Both teams added single runs in the seventh, with Christopherson coming through with another RBI single, and the A's answering with an RBI single by Shea, who gave his team a 6-4 lead.

Kewaskum gained some breathing room in the eighth, scoring two more runs. With the bases loaded, Austin Sarauer got hit by a pitch to score one, and a sacrifice fly by Steve Ketter brought in the second run, then Ziegler put the Hawks down in order in the ninth.

Ziegler gave up eight hits, struck out four and walked only one in picking up the complete game victory.

Shea and Ziegler were both 3x4, while Strobel came up with two hits.

On Saturday, the A's are hosting a very special first annual Miller Lite Day against the Rubicon Red Sox in a 1:30 p.m. game. Rubicon is currently sitting right behind the A's in the RR standings.

The Miller Lite Girls will be in attendance for this game.

On Sunday, Kewaskum will be home again to host Germantown in a RR game.

A perfect night for Shea

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

In what had to be his best game as a member of the Kewaskum Athletics home talent baseball team, infielder Dan Shea went 4x4 with a triple and three runs batted in (RBI) to lead the A's to a convincing 10-0 win last Tuesday night over host Johnson Creek.

While Shea was helping the offense batter the Pioneer's pitching, Mitch Huffman had slapped the handcuffs on the Johnson Creek hitters and there was no escaping his good mound effort, which included a 5-hit effort in five innings. Huffman looked "extremely sharp," according to player/spokesperson Jim Ziegler, who reported the shutout win was his third victory of the year.

Huffman struck out 10 and didn't walk a single Pioneer.

Ironically, Huffman was the only Athletic to go without getting a hit. The A's came up with a total of a dozen, including a double by Austin Sarauer, the triple by Shea and a "dinger" by Steve Ketter, who has been wielding a hot bat in recent games.

Ketter's blast, his third of the 2008 campaign, came in the fifth inning with two outs and a teammate on board.

This put the score at 10-0 and was all Huffman and the A's would need to pick up win No. 11 for the year against just one loss.

The A's have started the majority of their games with runs in the first inning, and they got on the board vs. the hosts right away as Jon Olla, who just finished his second year as a member of the Concordia College team, led off with a single to center.

Ketter reached on an error by the Pioneer first baseman, then Jason Strobel drew a walk to load the bases for Shea, who ripped a single up the middle to score two runs.

Shea got in on the scoring action again in the third. With one out, he singled, stole second and came home via a Nick Whitty single.

Another Athletic tendency this year has been coming up with an inning which produces four or more runs, and in the fifth, the A's exploded with a "five spot," which began with a Pioneer error, enabling Jake Panzer to reach base. Olla was hit by a pitch, putting runners at first and second, then Sarauer came with his double to left-center to score one, and Strobel and Shea followed with RBI hits.

The scoring concluded when Whitty hit a sacrifice fly.

The win puts Kewaskum's record in the Tri-County Nite League at 5-1, good for second place.

PAT'S PERSPECTIVE

Back to .500 Team getting better

This season baseball season for the Indians has been interesting. With their blow out victory over non-conference opponent Elkhart Lake Glenbeulah, the team gets back to .500.

I thought maybe I was the curse of the team as the new sports reporter for the paper that led to the 0-5 start of the season. But this team is pretty young and I could tell they weren't going to be the bottom dwellers all season.

Conference play has definitely got the team off of life support. The guys are 5-1 in the EWC.

The major factor for the team resurgence is hustle. Head coach Doug Gonring sounded like a broken record after the first few games saying the team was not hustling on the bases or in the field.

I would say the spark started with junior catcher Nick Olla. No matter what, the kid is going 100 miles an hour. Even when he drops a warm up pitch between innings, he runs for it. Olla is batting .367 for the year and .421 in conference. He told me that he tries to lead by example and I would say it has rubbed off.

Ben Butler started off a little slow defensively in the beginning of the year, but lately he has been stellar at short. The combination of Butler and Bo Seibel up the middle has been great. Seibel is so fundamentally sound at second and he's only a freshman.

John Holt has been a workhorse on the mound. He has pitched 22.2 innings of the 42.0 innings played in conference with a 1.24 ERA. Holt's entire season ERA is at 4.16. That is still a respectable ERA, since he did have the bad outing against West Bend West when the team got mercy ruled (I would like to see how the team matches up against West now).

The team has plenty of other good hurlers to put on the mound. Petrin in 11.0 innings this season has a 2.55 ERA and Nick Ebert has 16.1 innings of work with a 3.86 ERA.

Mike Gutjahr has had the hottest bat in the EWC. He is 9-for-20 with five doubles and five RBIs. Gutjahr is the usual DH, but makes an appearance at first for some games.

The combination of sophomore Cody Siebel and freshman Cody Nuernberg hitting in the six and seven spot respectively has made the bottom of the order no slouch for opposing pitchers to get out. Siebel is batting .400 in conference with three doubles. Nuernberg is at .417 in conference with two doubles and a homerun.

The team still lacks in the communication department. There is no chatter, in the field or in the dugout. Gonring said a while back, if he gave the kids cell phones they would communicate better texting on the field. It usually takes a mistake on the field and a talk by Gonring to get the team to communicate, but it only lasts for that game.

I feel the Indians have a real good shot to win conference. Their only EWC loss to Sheboygan Falls was up and down and easily could have went the Indians way. Their non-conference schedule looks rough, however. They play Marquette University High School and Nicolet at home and travel to West Bend East and Wisconsin Lutheran (for a little pay back).

The team is exciting to watch and I have had a good time covering the team.

I would also like to inform you about my new sports blog. There is a link on the Kewaskum Statesman website, or go directly to neumuthsnotes.blogspot.com. I will post game stats after it happens and add more commentary on current sports issues.

Home sweep of Campbellsport

By Pat Neumuth
Statesman Sports Editor
patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum baseball team with gained confidence completes a home sweep of rival Campbellsport Friday with a 5-2 victory.

"Their confidence level is up. They're playing catch better, but I think it is because of repetition and practicing," said head coach Doug Gonring.

Indians pitcher John Holt and Cougars pitcher Barry Braatz were in an old-fashioned pitcher's duel from first pitch.

"This is the best I've pitched so far this year, I thought I felt good all day," said Holt.

With the win, it puts Holt's record to 3-1. This is his second appearance in a row where he got the complete game victory. Holt gave up two runs, one earned, off of three hits, four walks, one hit batsman and seven strikeouts.

The Indians struck first on the scoreboard. Mike Gutjahr knocked a double with one out in the fourth inning. Gonring decided his team needed to strike first and brought in Brandon Zolp to run for Gutjahr. Next up, Cody Seibel singled, but it was not deep enough to score Zolp from second. Zolp was aggressive on the base path and took home as the ball got past the catcher. Cody Nuernberg singled to put runners on first and second, but Josh Harbin and Holt struck out to end the inning.

Kewaskum extended the lead in the fifth. Nick Ebert crushed a two-run homerun that would have landed into the Kiwanis Park pool if there weren't a jumbo fence blocking it.

"For the first time all season it felt solid off the bat," Ebert said. "It just makes you feel good at the plate."

Ebert's homer was off a hanging change-up. Gonring said his team was taking too many of his hanging breaking balls and was glad to see someone put it over the fence.

After Ebert's homerun, Gutjahr re-entered back into the lineup and singled. Back-to-back Siebel and Nuernberg singles scored the new pinch runner for Gutjahr, Justin Krueger. The score after five was 4-0.

It wouldn't be an Indians baseball game without drama. Campbellsport leadoff hitter Neil Scannell started the sixth with a homer to left. Holt said it was his one mistake of the game.

"I left a fastball up, he was sitting on it. It was a good swing," Holt said about this pitch.

The Cougars put up another run in the sixth. Campbellsport's Chris Weiland was on second and a Braatz single got away from left fielder Nuernberg to score Weiland. The Cougars got within two runs of Kewaskum.

Jordan Petrin added one more insurance run with a long ball to left off of reliever Scannell.

Holt finished the game 1-2-3, sitting down the final two Cougar batters looking at strike three.

"It's important," said Ebert about completing the home sweep, "you never want them to come here and take one from you. You got to win at home, especially."

First non-conference win Indians mercy rule

By Pat Neumuth
Statesman Sports Editor
patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum high school baseball team gets their first non-conference win by mercy rule against Elkhart Lake Glenbeulah 12-2 in five innings Monday.

The Indians were obviously the better team on the diamond, but head coach Doug Gonring said the kids still had to play the game.

"It's not over until it's over," said Gonring about playing weaker teams. "Early in the season people might have said that we were weak."

The Indians scored in every inning.

Jordan Petrin led off the first reaching on an error by ELG left fielder Myles Galloway. Next up, Ben Butler singled. After Nick Olla flew out to right, Nick Ebert laced a double in the gap, scoring Petrin. Mike Gutjahr drove in Butler by way of a sacrifice fly, but Ebert was tagged out on the base path to end the inning.

Justin Krueger drove in the only Indian run in the second, driving in Cody Nuernberg from second.

The Indians piled on three more in the third. Gutjahr drove in Olla for the first run with a single, scoring Olla from second. Cody Seibel drove in two more on the next at-bat driving in Ebert, who was already on base at third, and Gutjahr from second.

Freshman second basemen Bo Seibel got his first at-bat of the season in the fourth and used it to his advantage. Seibel was first pitch swinging and he drove a groundball back through the middle for an RBI. Seibel walked on his second at-bat in the fifth. A total of three Indians crossed the plate making the score 9-0 after four innings.

ELG got on the scoreboard in the fifth against reliever Krueger. With the bases loaded and one out, ELG's Dane Blake drove in two with a single. Krueger walked the bases loaded again with the next batter. Krueger got out of the jam with a dropped third strike, which turned into a double play when Alex Brown on first was run down in a pickle because he thought he had to advance on the dropped third strike.

The Indians ended the game in the fifth scoring three runs without recording an out. John Holt and Cody Seibel each drove in a run with a single. The final run to end the game came when Holt took home on a passed ball.

Olla started the game on the mound and went two innings with no hit, no run and two strikeouts. Ebert relieved Olla and got the win (because to get the win as a pitcher they have to be in the fourth inning) with two innings pitched and gave up only one hit. Krueger pitched one inning, giving up two earned runs off of four hits, a walk and a strikeout.

"It's hard to motivate yourself," Olla said about a game like this. "You just have to look at the little things. You kind of set mini goals for yourself and it teaches us to set back when there is a slower pitcher."

The Indians got to .500 overall for the first time this year.

"We should have been there earlier," Gonring said about being at .500. "It's fun. Now we can get on the right side of the win column."

Athletics clear first hurdle at Plymouth

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

With Steve Ketter homering for the third game in a row, and Cory Tjader taking a shutout into the seventh inning, the Kewaskum Athletics were successful in their first-round game of the Plymouth Tournament.

On Friday, June 13, the A's topped the Cedarburg Merc 5-2 (in a seven inning game) and moved into second-round action Wednesday, June 18, vs. Cole Oil.

A four-run third broke a 0-0 tie and lifted the A's to a lead they would not relinquish. Austin Sarauer reached base via a walk to start the rally, then Ketter crushed a home run to right field for a 2-0 advantage. The home run was Ketter's fourth of the season.

The A's weren't finished scoring as Nick Whitty kept the inning alive with a two-out single and stole second on the next pitch. He would come around to score on Adam Sarauer's RBI double, which landed just fair, deep down the right-field line.

Jim Ziegler followed with an RBI double down the third baseline, and the A's were in business with a 4-zip lead.

Kewaskum's other run was scored in the sixth when Dan Shea ripped a double up the middle, scoring Jake Panzer, who reached on a walk to start the inning.

Tjader was humming along with the shutout until he tired in the seventh inning and, with the bases loaded and two outs, he gave up back-to-back walks.

Ziegler came in to record the last out, ending the game with no further damage.

Tjader ended up with a four-hitter, which included five walks and five "punchouts." He pitched "exceptionally well," according to player/team spokesperson, Ziegler.

Kewaskum wound up with 10 hits. Whitty and Adam Sarauer both had two hits, and everyone else in the lineup, except for Panzer, had one. Ketter finished up 1x2, drawing two walks in the contest.
