Dreher was on the job at Extreme Makeover: Home Edition again

By Patrick Neumuth
Statesman Staff
patrick@kewaskumstatesman

People in this community are no stranger to the ABC series Extreme Makeover: Home Edition. Ty and crew came back to Wisconsin Thursday, July 24 and helped another deserving Wisconsin family. Helping them was Chuck "Chucker" Dreher, known to many in Kewaskum.

This October will mark the second anniversary of the show invading (in a good way) the unincorporated Dundee. Many say the feel good show, which helps out families in need of a livable house showed what happens when a community comes together to help one of their own.

Dreher, a rural West Bend resident, makes custom furniture and cabinetry around the area. Extreme Makeover: Home Edition has called on him for his expertise in three episodes. Dreher's latest home built was in Richland Center. This episode will be aired sometime in October.

"I've been invited to every show, they did since I've done the Dundee one," Dreher said.

Extreme Makeover: Home Edition has always kept his personal cost down by getting him a room to stay in and food during each project Dreher explained after a four-day stint in Richland Center.

The Richland Center project was only going to be a couple of days for Dreher, but he stayed for the entire week because the crew was short handed. Dreher worked four of the six days.

"They didn't have anybody like we did in Dundee. We killed it at Dundee. Dundee was by far one of their best shows ever," said Dreher.

Senior Producer for the show Diane Korman said Dreher is now part of the "Extreme Family."

"His work in Richland Center consisted of 24/7 shifts in the carpentry tent helping Ty with his secret project," Korman said.

The work on the job site is rigorous. Korman said the team completes jobs in six days for what most companies do in six months, by building around the clock.

"Try asking for custom carpentry from a local trade and they'll tell you six to 10 weeks typically," Korman said. "It's the dedication and spirit of volunteers like Chucker that make the impossible happen."

Dreher said for his projects he works with host and head designer Ty Pennington's head and figures out what he wants.

"He kind of tells me what he wants and then I figure out what he's thinking," Dreher said about how he comes up with his designs. "Instead of making him seven or eight samples, I can give him two."

Dreher said about 90 percent of the materials used for the new house was from the original house itself and a big apple tree near by. Dreher said the apple tree was huge. The trunk was 20 inches in diameter and he still has some of the branches that were left over.

The inside of the house could not be discussed in detail. The inside of the house can only be revealed during the airing of the show. However, a unique characteristic was set up of the outside of the home. The Extreme Makeover team set up a silo as a looking room. Korman said the silo was a characteristic of Madison's countryside.

His biggest reason for helping the designers on Extreme Makeover: Home Edition is he enjoys just helping someone out.

"I can do a lot of stuff twice as fast as two volunteers that are on something that they don't know what they're doing. That's why they just give me something and turn me loose," Dreher said.

"Without our builder and our volunteers, we could never build a house in a week," Korman said.

The Richland Center Chamber of Commerce reports that the show is scheduled to air the second Sunday in October which will be the third show of the season. The show can be found locally on local ABC affiliate WISN Channel 12 Sundays at 7 p.m.

Work starts at Village's WWTP

Workers from C.D. Smith of Fond du Lac, General Contractor for the Village of Kewaskum's Wastewater Treatment Plant upgrade work are preparing a crane for the project. C.D. Smith officially began work on the over $9 million project Tuesday.

Kewaskum Schools Asbestos Notification

KEWASKUM- As a result of federal legislation (Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act-AHERA), each primary and secondary school in the nation is required to complete a stringent inspection for asbestos and develop a plan of management for all asbestos containing materials. The School District of Kewaskum has a goal to be in full compliance with this and is following the spirit as well as the letter of the law. As a matter of policy, The School District of Kewaskum shall continue to maintain a safe and healthful environment for our community's youth and employees.

In keeping with this legislation, all buildings (including portable and support buildings) owned or leased by the school district were inspected by EPA accredited inspectors and samples were analyzed by an independent laboratory. Based on the inspection, the school prepared and the state approved a comprehensive management plan for handling the asbestos located within its buildings safely and responsibly.

Furthermore, The School District of Kewaskum has completed its 3-Year Re-inspection required by AHERA. The buildings, where asbestos was found, are under repair, removal, and operations and maintenance.

Federal law requires a periodic walk-through (called "surveillance") every six months of each area containing asbestos. Also, the law requires all buildings to be re-inspected three years after a management plan is in effect. This will be accomplished under contract with Environmental Management Consulting, Inc.

Short-term workers (outside contractors-i.e., telephone repair workers, electricians, and exterminators) must be provided information regarding the location of asbestos in which they may come into contact. All short-term workers shall contact the lead maintenance person, before commencing the work, to be given this information.

The School District of Kewaskum has a list of the locations, types of asbestos-containing materials found in each building, and a description and time table for their proper management. A copy of the Asbestos Management Plan is available for review in the school office. Copies are available at 25 cents per page.

POLICE REPORTS

Damage to vehicle

On June 14, a Kewaskum police officer was flagged down by a complainant who advised him that her vehicle had been damaged while it was parked downtown earlier in the morning. She stated she was parked in the public lot on Main Street.

She told the officer while she was at a downtown tavern a subject was asked to leave. She alleged that he was parked next to her car in the lot and she saw him make an up and down motion towards her car and then walk back around to the driver side of his truck, get in and leave the parking lot.

She left the bar to check her car and observed scratch marks in the paint of her vehicle. The officer looked at the car and did see several visible scratches on the driver side door and took photographs of the damage. The complainant was asked if she saw who had committed the act and she stated, in her opinion, it was the man who was asked to leave the bar.

She filled out paperwork, including the cost of repairs, and was advised if the responsible subject was found, a request for restitution damages would be made.

The officer then proceeded to the residence of the alleged suspect, was advised he was not home and was given his cell phone number, called the same and left a message. Later in the day, the investigating officer met with the man and told him he was a suspect in vehicle damage across from Grand Larysony.

The alleged suspect stated he did not scratch the vehicle, adding that he had not driven his vehicle home that night, but walked home with a friend. A third shift police officer stated he did not see the subject's vehicle parked in the downtown parking lot but did, however, see it at a different location in the village.

The next day the investigating officer met with the subject's friend and during questioning he stated he was with the subject Friday night into Saturday morning and that they had been at the tavern and were asked to leave. They went outside and talked for a bit. The friend stated he thought the subject was too intoxicated to walk home by himself so he walked him home for the evening.

The subject's friend also stated the vehicle belonging to the alleged suspect was parked behind PJ Magoos and Fifth Quarter and did not remember seeing the vehicle parked in the downtown parking lot.

On June 17 the officer spoke to the complainant who said she did not have anyone the officer could talk to in order to back up her version of the events. The officer advised her that unless further information or witnesses arose, the complaint would be considered inactive.

OPINION: What has happened to sportsmanship of adults in youth athletics?

During a weekend baseball tournament in Campbellsport, I had the opportunity, while coaching a group of eight-nine-10 year old players, to witness the worst display of poor sportsmanship I have ever seen in my 30 plus years of involvement in youth athletics.

Two Kewaskum Midget baseball teams went to Campbellsport. The trouble started when my team of boys was warming up along the first base fence and a ball was accidentally thrown on the field while the other Kewaskum team was still playing a game. A parent who was keeping score for the Kewaskum team came over screaming at the top of her lungs to my boys to keep the balls off of the field. I looked at my boys, and all of them stared at this out of control parent in absolute disbelief. It was an accident. The parent, I think somewhat embarrassed, noticed me standing there and came to me to apologize for her screaming, and all I could do is reassure to her that I would try to prevent my boys from ever making a bad throw again. Like that is easy to do with eight, nine, and 10 year olds.

Nearing the end of the above mentioned game, I gathered my team along the fence to cheer on the other Kewaskum team as they finished up a good win. My boys clapped and cheered for their friends, neighbors, classmates on the field. Little did I realize that same good sportsmanship would not be returned to us in our upcoming game.

My team took the field next to play Campbellsport for first place. During this game, several of the parents of the other Kewaskum team and subsequently their children (and I don't blame the kids, they were following their parents example) were seen loudly cheering for the Campbellsport team to win. I can only assume they were cheering for the other guys because they knew if Campbellsport won it would mean a three-way tie/playoff would be forced. But, is there ever a good reason to root against your town, friends, classmates and neighbors? Is the difference between second and first place really that important? In my years of coaching for the youth athletics in Kewaskum I have never allowed my players to root against a fellow Kewaskum team, EVER!

Those parents got their wish. The Campbellsport team we played got the win. I had no idea what was to follow.

After drawing teams from a hat, it was determined the two Kewaskum teams would play for the right to play Campbellsport for first place. In the first inning of this game, our team was about to bat a player out of order. We caught the mistake before it happened, but this wasn't good enough for the other teams' parents. Again, they loudly contended that we should be charged with an out; one parent/grandparent came right up to me waving his finger and shouting at me "that is an out, you guys are trying to cheat". After some conversation with the umpire, who happened to be a credentialed W.I.A.A. official, it was determined we had not broken the rules.

Later in the game, one of my pitchers struck the other team's batter in the head. The ball hit the player in the helmet, and this fine young man shook it off and trotted down to first base. He wasn't the least bit injured, maybe a little shook up, but now this kid had to stand on first base and watch his mom and several parents once again loudly complain and insinuate that the pitch to the head was somehow intentional. I have yet to see any 10-year-old that had enough control of his pitches to do such a thing.

During this verbal rampage by the hit player's mother, it was witnessed by my coaches, parents, players, and the W.I.A.A official this mom call my pitcher mean, and how his whole team cheats. She then walks past our bench and calls our coaches a profanity, loud enough that several people heard, including the official and several children.

The game continued without much further interruption. I will not say who won or who lost, because at this point, there would be no winners. I stayed after the tournament had been completed, and there was quite a bit of discussion about Kewaskum parents and players, and how maybe a lesson on sportsmanship and human decency was needed in our community. I tried to defend our town's integrity by saying two or three parents do not make a majority and do not define a town, but I doubt my message got through.

In an effort to hopefully make these parents understand just how hurtful their actions were, here are my final thoughts on this bad day:

There is never a good enough reason to loudly root against another team from Kewaskum. I have always told my children, it is sometimes ok to think something, but maybe it is best to keep those thoughts to yourself. When I heard parents and then their children of the other Kewaskum team saying some of the things they said, I and many of my team and parents came away from that game hurt and upset.

Parents/grandparents who want to take a game of 10-year-olds so seriously that they go to games and loudly argue calls and umpire decisions from the stands, and in one case right up on the field fence, need to re-evaluate their lives. Ask yourself if winning is really so important that you are willing to put aside decent behavior and sportsmanship, just so your 10-year-old gets a larger trophy. I heard some of these people I am calling out purport themselves as good Christians. Well, I know what it means to be a good Christian, and rest assured none of these people displayed that.

It might be ok to question another coach's actions, AFTER THE GAME, but it is never ok to walk up to a 10-year-old child and say "you're mean, and your whole team cheats, and you always cheat." I would think most parents know this, but like I said, if two or three parents break these simple rules (Christian values), then all of Kewaskum looks bad.

Lastly, I wonder just how many children/parents/grandparents went to Campbellsport with a thought and prayer in their hearts for the family who less than two weeks earlier had lost an 18-month-old girl to a tragic accident. I know my family did. I cried when I heard that horrible story, and still to this day feel awful for that family. I know God has his purpose for everyone, and will hopefully shine through and guide that family. Shame on you if you were one who was willing to put aside decent behavior and sportsmanship just so you could be heard. Your actions cast a dark shadow over what should have been a weekend of good baseball, friendship, sportsmanship and values.

Thank You,

Jim Murray

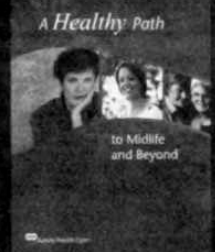

Volunteer Kewaskum/Parent Coach

Opinion: Town of Scott resident complains

The town meeting, long considered the basic form of democracy, is a victim of lies and politics in Scott Township, Sheboygan County, WI.

In 2000, Billi Jo Richter was appointed clerk-treasurer. She came from private industry and was sent to Town Association Clerk School for training.

The campaign style changed from interviews in the newspaper to candidate brochures placed in the paper-boxes of regular voters. I received each of these, and noticed that inexperienced friends, neighbors and family of the clerk replaced former officials.

In 2005, the Clerk changed Plan Commission meetings from the Public Hearings to Open Meetings. She asserted that the public could not speak; only the applicant for a conditional use or zoning change could speak. The public could speak only at a Board hearing.

The explanation was "It's the law!" I inquired about the law, but was never shown a specific law. Supervisors Morin and Scholz appeared at subsequent meetings, supporting the Clerk.

I wrote the Attorney-General's office and received a Feb. 11, 2008 reply which said, in part, "the town clerk has no legal authority to prevent participation by citizens from whom the commission to receive input. I presented a copy of the letter to the Town Chairman at the next Board meeting. It has been ignored."

On Jan 19, 2008, I mailed a complaint and supporting evidence to Sheboygan County District Attorney Joe DeCecco, made two follow-up trips to the office, but at no time was permitted past the receptionist. That office is so occupied by crimes of drugs, alcohol, theft, rape and abuse that Democracy has a low priority.

The Clerk has now convinced her supporters that because the applicants pay the costs of the meeting, they are entitled to deny the constitutional rights of other citizens. Applicants for variances pay the costs, but citizens are able to speak at the Board of Zoning Appeals meetings.

In spite of her multiple duties, the Clerk has a job with LaFever Electric. On Sept 4, 2007, when Mark LaFever appeared for a zoning change, the Clerk attended to be sure that the public did not speak. This could be considered a conflict of interest, but not to the Clerk!

The local weekly newspapers prefer "good news" or "progress", so my comments during the Public Comment period go unreported.

The Clerk has shown her disdain for the public by maintaining no office hours; failing to place a notice for an Annual meeting after a motion to do so carried the previous year. She misinformed a newspaper that the electors' votes would not count at a meeting considering the sale of real property.

The town is stymied by the lack of basic enforcement of constitutional rights, although all officials have taken an oath to support them. Is there no one with the authority and the courage to apply corrective punishment to restore democracy to the Town of Scott?

LeMahieu named Friend of Grocer

State Assemblyman Dan LeMahieu, who represents the 59th District, was awarded "Friend of Grocers" by Geidel's Piggly Wiggly owner Mike Geidel and President of the Wisconsin Grocers Association Brandon Scholz.

KEWASKUM- The Wisconsin Grocers Association has awarded State Representative Dan LeMahieu with the "Friend of Grocers" award on July 22, at Geidel's Piggly Wiggly.

Legislators must have exemplary performance in the most recent legislative session to earn an "A" on the WGA Legislative Report Card and receive the award. Legislators are graded based on a shopping list of legislative issues and bills.

With the award comes the WGA's official endorsement for the legislator's reelection campaign. LeMahieu has earned the award twice since coming to office in 2002.

"LeMahieu's tenure in office has been marked by a strong belief in the necessity to keep the distinctive Wisconsin quality of life," remarks Brandon Scholz, President and CEO of the WGA. "Dan is one of those very special legislators that has stayed true to his base and clearly has the interests of his district in mind with every decision he makes. We are proud to recognize Dan with this award and hope we have the opportunity to work with him for many more years to come."

The award is a miniature grocery cart with an inscribed plaque.

Correction: Elmore's small engine parade

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article ran July 10 on page 5 and contained numerous errors. The errors were discovered when documents between the writer and pagination editor got mixed up. We apologize for this error.

BAHR TIME in Elmore held their seventh small engine parade for charity on June 28.

This is the second year Kelly Durand has chosen the Kathryn Ribecky scholarship fund as the charity the parade donated to.

Kathryn Ribecky was student at Campbellsport High School before her life was prematurely taken away in a car accident. The Ribecky family started the scholarship fund in memory of Kathryn and goes to students with a dance or music background because Kathryn was on the dance team.

"It's just a way to try and raise some money," Durand said. "We don't advertise this heavily because these three bars can't hold a lot of people. We raised $945 in like four hours."

The course of the parade starts at BAHR TIME and goes to FATTIES and The Sandpiper Inn. Durand said the distance is under a mile.

Each person involved donated $4 to be in the parade. Half of that money goes to into a game where each person gets a poker hand and the winner gets the pot. They also put on a 50/50 raffle for the charity at the two stops.

Durand said the previous year the Kathryn Ribecky scholarship fund gave two $1,000 scholarships.

Durand said the charities they donate to are always a local charity. She likes the Kathryn Ribecky charity because it is local and will most likely stay with this one.

The original parade had riding lawn mowers for the bulk of the vehicles in the parade. Now, Durand said they have supped up lawn mowers, a tractor pulling a wagon, golf carts, a picnic table on wheels and floats pulled by four-wheelers. She said they had 60 to 70 people.

"We had more floats this year than anything," Durand said.

TOWN of FARMINGTON-Joe Waters, 82, has run Lazy Days Campground for many years. Recently he added Stoneridge Golf Course but now says he said he wants to retire. His son currently runs the operations, but Waters says he is looking to sell.

The golf course, located southeast of Kewaskum, is an affordable place to catch a quick nine holes or show a beginner how to play.

Rates are $12 for nine holes and $23 for 18 during the week. The prices are reasonable, but golfers get what they paid for.

"What most golf courses do with 15 maintenance people I do with five," said Waters.

There are distinguished rough, fairway and green areas, just the grass is not in the best condition. The course is on marsh like terrain and there are weeds and sand spots throughout the course. Not all holes have these bad spots, but most do.

The course plays pretty short, but narrow. The longest hole is 18, which plays 424 yards from the white tees. Waters said the fifth is the toughest hole. Golfers have to tee off the ball to clear a little bit of the marsh and must keep the ball straight. The 13th hole is a short par-3. The drive must be shot low and straight because the hole is like a narrow tunnel of trees.

Waters' entire property is 400 acres, including the campground. The course is completely irrigated, using 60-70 thousand gallons of water.

"To me golfing, when you get done you want to talk. You have a beer or sandwich. The guys just want to talk (about the scores)," Waters said. "That's just as much of the game as hitting the ball."

Golfers can spend their time at the 19th hole, Stoney's Bierhaus and Grill. Restaurant/Bar manager Nick Sifnaios said many golfers order their tasty hamburgers. Sifnaios has recently taken over the clubhouse restaurant and bar area within the past couple of months.

"It looked like it had potential. It's a beautiful golf course and the Lazy Days Campground. The place has a huge bar," Sifnaios said. "We cleaned it up a lot. We wanted to make a clean and cozy experience for people to lounge."

Inside, the bar has a clear HDTV with a lounge full of black leather couches. Sifnaios said they often have sporting events on the TV for the golfers who have a beer or glass of wine after a round. There are also pool tables, darts and video game casino machines. They have a fish fry every Friday and plan to start bringing in live music. Sifnaios also has in mind an Oktoberfest party.

Faber earns Eagle Rank

Nic Faber of Kewaskum Boy Scout Troop 744, recently achieved the Rank of Eagle and was honored by Troop 744 and Scout Master Neil Jurs, family, friends, Father Ed Kornath, State Senator Glenn Grothman and State Representative Daniel LeMahieu, along with past eagle scouts and troop leaders.

Nic has been a member of Troop 744 since 2001. During that time, Nic has advanced through the various ranks of Life Scout and Star Scout, earning 27 merit badges, and serving as junior scoutmaster. Nic participated with his troop in many community service projects which included the Turkey Shoot, Kettle Kountry Kolers, annual area food drives and many other activities with the troop.

Nic's Eagle project was completed last summer and consisted of the designing of bookshelves and coat/rack hooks with a shelving unit for the second graders at Holy Trinity School in Kewaskum. Nic worked with past principal June Gauvin and custodian Andy Pesch in determining where and how the items might be the most appropriate. Nic and his dad, Kerry Faber, designed the project. Nic received additional assembly and installation assistance from troop members.

Nic thanked everyone for joining in his celebration and stated, "scouting has allowed me to participate in many community activities while learning with fellow scouts how to build my character and grow as an individual and a leader."

Nic's parents, Kerry and Mary Faber, and his sister, Monica, hosted a reception at the Kewaskum Town Hall for aunts, uncles, cousins, family, friends, troop member and their families to honor Nic's accomplishments. Past Scout Masters Jim Uelmen and Brian Kober, along with former leader, Scott Waranius, were all in attendance. Past Eagle Scouts of the troop, Josh Uelmen, Alex Waranius, Tyler Stamm and Miles Yentner were in attendance, along with Nic's uncle, LaMont Albers, who is an Eagle Scout.

The celebration was held at the Kewaskum Town Hall in March.

Kewaskum's Troop 744 is sponsored by the Kewaskum Kiwanis club and has also received donations from the New Fane Sportsman's Club.

Anyone interested in more information on scouting or Troop 744 is encouraged to call scoutmaster Neil Jurs at 262-675-0986.

"How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying"

"You're cute but not as cute as Finch!" Hedy La Rue (Lora Jo Christie) tells Bud Frump (Tyler Stamm).

The Campbellsport Community Theatre (CCT) will be presenting the ultra hilarious musical, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." The show is under the direction of Rose Brandl with the musical direction of Paul Thompson. "How to Succeed..." was created by Frank Loesser and Abe Burrows of "Guys and Dolls" fame.

This musical takes place in the business world of the 1960's. The main character, J. Pierpont Finch, is "working" hard to get to the top very quickly by reading a "How to" book. The secretaries in the show simply want to find a man to marry especially Rosemary who is after Finch. There are many obstacles that get in the way of every cast member in the show no matter what their motive. Other notable characters include Hedy LeRue, Bud Frump, Smitty, and J.B. Biggley.

The show opened in New York to almost unanimous rave reviews from the critics and ran for 1,417 performances. The show won multiple Tony awards, including Best Musical, Best Book of a Musical, Best Actor in a Musical, Best Supporting Actor in a Musical, and Best Musical Director. It also won the New York Drama Critics Circle Award and a Pulitzer Prize for Drama, only the fourth awarded to a musical.

"How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," will be presented on August 14, 15 and 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lang Auditorium, at Campbellsport High School. Tickets are available at Ben Franklin, Twohig's Furniture, and Sheila's in Campbellsport, National Exchange Bank in Eden, Wegner's in Fond du Lac, or from any cast member. Tickets are $8 for adults in advance, $9 at the door, children (up to grade eight) are $4 and there is a special senior citizen rate of $5 which applies for the Sunday matinee only. The art of nature journaling

The Summer Saturday Evening Events at the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit continues with the program, "The Art of Nature Journaling." The program will be held on Saturday, August 16, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee.

What is nature journaling? It is a personal path into the exploration of the natural world all around you, and into your connections with it. A journal is a way to make regular recordings of observations, perceptions and feelings about the amazing workings of nature. You do not have to be a professional artist, writer or poet to keep a nature journal, just someone who wants a way to remember his/her outdoor experiences.

Alice Cardiel, a forest naturalist, will share some tips on keeping a nature journal and ways to get started. During the last portion of the program, participants will be able to make their own hand-bound journals to help them embark on a hobby that could last a lifetime.

Even though the Friends of the Kettle Moraine sponsor the Summer Saturday Evening Events, your donation to help cover material costs would be greatly appreciated. To ensure plenty of supplies, register by calling the Ice Age Visitor Center by August 15th. To register or for further information and directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, please contact the staff at (920) 533-8322. The Ice Age Visitor Center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

For the kids there will be plenty of fun-packed games and activities to keep them entertained. Free corn on the cob will be available from around noon until it is gone.

At 3 p.m. the band will take the stage with free music that will entertain you for four hours. This year's entertainment will be the "Drivers Rock and Roll Band." The band's play list includes great artists such as the Beatles, ZZ Top, Neil Young, John Mellancamp, the Eagles, Johnny Cash and more.

Raffle items donated by area businesses will be available, along with beer, wine and soda from noon until 8 p.m. With no cover charge and free parking, why not spend a Saturday afternoon at the corn roast? No carry-ins will be allowed.

With your support, the club can continue to fund well-groomed trails in and around Dundee. The club is a member of the Association of Wisconsin Snowmobile Clubs, the Fond du Lac County Association, and the Sheboygan County Association.

The fund's generation will be used to continue with the Snowmobile club's goals such as trail marking, grooming, and other community projects. The club was formed in 1968 and continues to be an active influence in the Dundee area. Ten percent of all funds generated from this event will be donated to local charities.

Dundee Sportsman's park pavilion is located on Highway 67 across from the BP station in Dundee. Just follow the large yellow signs in the area. Since everyone is welcome at this free event, come and enjoy the day while supporting the trails in and around Dundee.

Kohlsville Fire Department to celebrate 100 years during celebration on Saturday

TOWN of WAYNE- A party, 100 years in the making will be celebrated this coming Saturday August 9 as The Kohlsville Volunteer Fire Department marks their 100th anniversary.

The celebration starts at 1 p.m. with local and state guest speakers. The event ends at 7 p.m. There will be food and refreshments and games for kids to play.

To commemorate the anniversary a committee made up of Donald Schulz, Judy Etta, James Gonnering, Brian Oelhafen, Gerald Rosenthal have published a commemorative anniversary booklet. The booklet puts into print the complete history of the department, summaries of the large fires and emergencies fire fighters and emergency medical technicians have responded to, the department's waterfighting successes, events the department has hosted and a history of the department's vehicles.

Shown below is an excerpt from the booklet titled "The Lighter Side"

Firemen face many different challenges. There are times when firemen have to look at things in a different light. The following are some stories shared:

In the beginning when the first training classes were conducted, the instructor passed out while teaching. Was this a trick, or was it for real? It was for real.

Firemen perform many tasks when responding to a fire. In the 1950s firemen responded to a chimney fire. It also happened that a birthday party was in progress for an eleven year old. Firemen were able to control the fire and went home. The party continued and it was time to serve the birthday cake. The cake was missing-where could it be? Suddenly the telephone rang, a firemen had placed the cake in the oven so it would not get ruined.

It does not matter if it is during the day or during the night, when a fire call comes in, firemen hurry to arrive at the scene. It turned out that one such call lasted for some time and a certain fireman needed to go to the bathroom. It was then that he discovered his underwear was on backwards.

Firemen are dedicated and this is displayed in many different ways. Firemen have been known to sleep with their firefighting clothes right by their bed. This can create a problem if they forget to put on their other clothes, and they need to remove their firefighting clothes at the firehouse after the fire.

During one fire a fireman took his helmet off to cool down, when he wanted to put it back on, it had been used by a cat as a litter box.

A call came in for a lady that was in a confused state of mind.

The chief went to comfort her - she was naked.

Former chief Gerry Schulz recalled these interesting memories:

I can remember a call that was on Beechnut Drive at the curve—west of Hwy W. I was driving the first truck and as I turned onto Beechnut Drive the chief, who was behind me in the next truck, asked me where I was going. I said "west on Beechnut Drive". He said "you are going east". Fire drills never included lessons on directions.

My first fire call as chief, was a chimney fire at "the Chief's House". I tried to convince everybody that I did this to see what kind of response I would get. But nobody bought that.

One day, we were assisting Allenton at a barn fire. As Assistant Chief Hug, and I were releasing our trucks, one by one, to go back to the station, we finally realized all trucks were gone. But Larry and I were still there, with no way to go home.

On a snowy, windy, wet, miserable day, Tim Herman and I were returning from a call with the First Responder truck, going south of Wayne on Hwy W, I hit an area of wet snow and it pulled me to the right, as there was no way I could keep the truck on the road. I aimed for the field rather than the ditch. We couldn't stop or we would get stuck. So we kept driving, looking for a way out. We finally found a driveway on Wayne Center Road. I wonder what Mrs. Marks thought when she saw a First Responder truck driving around in the field!

The booklet summarizes the last 100 years:

The Kohlsville Fire Department has experienced many changes in 100 years. Yet, it is interesting to note how similar the Kohlsville Fire Department is today when compared to the department in the early years. Decisions were, and still are, made locally with the best interest of the community in mind.

We look back thinking of those who founded the Kohlsville Fire Department and their contributions to what we have today. We look at the present and appreciate all that we have, and look to the future with confidence.

The Kohlsville Fire Department continues to build relationships by helping people through individual, personal service. It's been that way since 1908, and the Kohlsville Fire Department is committed to continuing this approach now and into the future.

Sheboygan Theatre Company to hold theatre festival and flea market

The Sheboygan Theatre Company is holding a theatre festival and flea market on Saturday, August 9, from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Horace Mann Middle School, 2820 Union Avenue, Sheboygan. This is an excellent start to celebrate their 75th Anniversary Season. This year is a realization of a dream event which now includes entertainment and children's activities in the middle of summer. It is an event where everyone is welcome and everyone can find something to enjoy.

For three years, the Sheboygan Theatre Company has been opening doors for a massive rummage sale. The sale starts at 8:30 a.m. and ends at 2 p.m. The generosity this past year has been so tremendous that they need to continue to sell unused and donated items. These include: theatre items, furniture, carpeting, televisions, costumes, vintage clothing, decorations, crafts, building materials, and many one of a kind oddities from multi-family donations. This is a perfect opportunity to pick up dorm furniture. These items are priced to sell and will be sold at ridiculously low prices of $1 for most items and $5 for furniture. The sale will have special discounts throughout the day. Delivered donations are welcome August, 4, 5, 7 from 6 to 8 p.m., excluding liquids or electronics. Bakery donations are wanted on August 8th from 6 to 8 p.m.

For the second year, they are including a flea market with more vendors than last year. People have been invited to rent a space to sell items for all ages. There is an interesting variety of items which includes both new and used. Some of the items include kitchen items, jewelry, cards, beads, craft, holiday, antiques, collectibles, and resale items. They are holding this in the gym where the space can be expanded to match the need. The event is designed to expand each year as it grows.

The most important addition this year is the free entertainment. Organizers wanted to give people something fun to do when they are done shopping. Finances are tight this year and this is another way to help those finding it difficult to afford entertainment on tight family budgets.

The entertainment lineup includes:

9:30 a.m. - Stilt Walking Demonstration by Chris Fontaine.

10 a.m. - Rey Santana dance lessons.

11 a.m. - Improv Troupe

12 p.m. - Reader's Theatre "Favorite Children's Tales."

1 p.m. - Swing Dance Lessons by Eileen McCormick and Russell Peterson.

1:30 p.m. - Performing Arts Workshop Demonstration.

2 p.m. - Free Bingo.

3 p.m. - Reader's Theatre "Favorite Children's Tales."

4 p.m. - Improv Troupe.

5 p.m. - Sheboygan Theatre Company Singers.

6 p.m. - Live Singers, Amanda King and Mike King.

6:45 p.m. - Raffle Winners Announced.

Entertainment would only be fun if food was available, so food will be served from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. in the cafeteria. There will be a brat fry which will also include hamburgers, cheeseburgers, popcorn, soda and bottled water. The food is

The year's annual Kewaskum firemen and American Legion picnic in the village park is all set for July 12 and 13. Highlighting Saturday night's entertainment will be an amateur show with over 10 groups or individuals entered in the contest. The big parade at 12:30 pm will begin Sunday's activities. At the budget hearing of the Kewaskum High School District on June 30, it was moved by James Reigle and seconded by Walter Wesenberg, to present the proposed budget for operating expenses in the amount of $179,515 to the electors at the annual meeting.

Margie, 2-1/2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Belger, Kewaskum, had a narrow escape from drowning on July 11, when she accidentally fell or possibly may have been pushed by the family dog into a private pool of water owned by the Belgers on their rural property located just south of the village. Margie and her brother Monty were playing in the sand next to the pool. With them was their large dog, which loved to play with the children and jump on them. Suddenly Monty noticed his little sister struggling in the water. He immediately ran into the house and told his mother who found the child floating and sinking in the water. Mrs. Belger waded into the pool and plucked the tot out, immediately applying artificial respiration. Members of the Kewaskum Rescue Squad were called and sped to the scene and by the time they arrived Mrs. Belger had succeeded in getting her daughter to regain consciousness. The rescue squad administered oxygen to the little girl. Later the girl remarked that the dog had pushed her into the pool.

A transaction has been made whereby Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kirchner and family, who operated the New Fane Grocery, have made a trade with Mr. and Mrs. William Staszak for their tavern in Nenno. The Kirchner family has already moved to Nenno to take over the tavern while Mr. and Mrs. Staszak and daughter are now at home in New Fane where they have taken over their grocery store.

Kober, whose wife, the former Beverly Ramtun of Kewaskum has been living with him at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, recently completed the 12-week guided missile electrical equipment repair course at the Army Engineer School, Fort Belvoir. The 22-year-old soldier is a 1953 graduate of Kewaskum High School. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Kober Jr. live on Route 1, Kewaskum.

Henry Paschke of Milwaukee this week leased the former Otto Stark blacksmith shop near the Main Street bridge, from Albert Stark, administrator of the estate. Mr. Paschke is an experienced blacksmith and comes to this village highly recommended in his profession. He expects to be ready for business about July 1.

Mrs. S.E. Witzig, Mrs. Nic Zeimet and son, Ray, attended the graduation exercises at the St. Mary's Hospital, Milwaukee, last week Friday. Mrs. Zeimet's daughter, Frances, was one of the 49 that graduated as a trained nurse.

Joseph Weitzer of the Town of Auburn on Monday captured a live chicken hawk in the woods on the Norbert Gatzke farm. The spread of the bird's wings measured 36 inches.

A nine pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Math Mondloch of St. Michaels on Sunday morning.

July 7, 1933

Michael Pesch last week officially made an announcement that he will pay a reward ranging from $500 to $1,200 for the recovery of cash and liberty bonds stolen from his home in the Town of Auburn, two miles north of Kewaskum, by four bandits on April 24.

The Village Board let the contract for furnishing iron stringers and another foot bridge for the Main Street Bridge and Iron Company for $1,080.

While enroute to West Bend to get a load of cement Tuesday, S. Row and N. Weingartner of Boltonville met with quite an accident. While going down the hill between Barton and West Bend, the clevis pin which was worn came out frightening the horses to a run. They were finally run into the bank throwing both men from the wagon. Mr. Row had one rib broken and an arm and limb badly bruised. Mr. Weingartner was pretty well bruised and scratched but for his presence of mind in catching the horses, Mr. Row would probably have met his death as he was lodged between horses and wagon in such a way that he could not free himself. Both horses were also injured.

The Reilly farm near Boltonville was sold last Monday to Joseph M. Rodenkirch for $9,000 and Mr. Rodenkirch's livery property at West Bend.

June 13, 1908

Henry Stark held a "bee" last Thursday to raise the frame for his new barn.

The village stone crusher was in operation in the Otto Habeck gravel pit the past week.

Opgenorth and Sons commenced building cement sidewalks for the village yesterday.

Mat. Rodenkirch opened his cigar factory in the Quandt building formerly owned by Joseph Schnaezner.

Last Monday warrants were served upon all saloon keepers in the village of Lomira, commanding them to appear in a justice court at Watertown. The complaint was made against the saloon keepers on account of keeping slot machines in their respective places of business. The saloon keepers appeared in court on Monday afternoon and each one pleaded guilty. A fine of $1.00 and costs was imposed on each one and they then returned to their homes.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fritz of St. Kilian on Wednesday.

Many things to do and see at Wisconsin State Fair

Nothing says Wisconsin State Fair more than the famous cream puffs.

By Amber Donath
Special to The Statesman

The Wisconsin State Fair is in full swing as it heads into its last weekend. There is still plenty of action to check out, as it truly is "The Grand Champion of Summer".

With so many things to see and do, it may be difficult to decide where to begin. Before beginning your adventure, be sure to look into specials for the day of your visit. This includes making note of who the fair sponsors are on any given day. These companies often have special offerings, contests, reduced prices or freebies. And remember to get your Wisconsin State Fair coupon book free at any fair information booth.

Food...what would a fair be without food? With so many options from which to choose it is not a day to start a diet. Famous for the food-on-a-stick variety to the all-famous cream puffs the abundance of choices will suit any craving possible. And if you are not quite sure what you want right away, the sensory overload of yummy smells will make the decision even more difficult.

Highlights for the young at heart are: WE Energies Energy Park, DNR Woodland Preserve, Saz's & Old Wisconsin Sausage Racing Pigs, Discovery Barnyard, the Giant Slide and the Sports Zone lest we not forget the Midway and all the rides just to name a select few.

For a more relaxed day at the fair, there are dozens of stages with music and performers throughout the fairgrounds to say nothing of the daily judging activities. On any given day there is a variety of animal judging, project demonstrations and open-to-the-public contests for entertainment to say nothing of the favorite past time of people watching.

New to the fair this year include but are not limited to: DTV Road Show ready to answer questions and educate the public regarding the switch to digital television, the brand new Fiesta Village, Golden Dragon Acrobats and the Youth Foundation "Grand Champion" Patio.

Think the fair is wrapping up by the last weekend? Think again. On Saturday, August 9, there are more than a dozen contests open to the public including the Bench Press Competition with registration at 9:30am and the competition at Noon, the Hog Calling Contest in the Racing Pigs Arena with registration at 1pm and the contest at 2pm and the Moola-palooza Mooing Contest in the Cousins Subs Amphitheater with registration at 3pm and the contest at 4pm.

All weekend you can see the National Diving Dog Tour in the Ag Village at 11am, 2pm and 5pm daily. And on Sunday you can see the Milwaukee Wave Soccer Demonstration at 3:30pm in the Sports Zone and the Mr. & Mrs. State Fair Physique Competition Finals on the Cousins Subs Amphitheater at 6pm.

Whatever your interests may be you will find something fun to do at the Wisconsin State Fair...but only if you go. To get there, you always have the option to drive, but why when the Washington County Express has buses leaving from the Sears Grand parking lot every half hour (at the top and bottom of the hour) every day of the fair for $6.50 for riders 13 to 64 and $3.25 for kids 7 to 12 and seniors 65 or older. What a savings considering parking alone can cost the same amount or more.

The Wisconsin State Fair has also issued a warning to all fair goers. Only purchase your fair tickets at reputable ticket sales booths. Thousands of fair attendees have purchased tickets from people on the street only to be deeply saddened to find out they were sold tickets that were no longer valid. When entering the fair, all tickets are now scanned making that ticket null-and-void after scanning, however, you cannot tell just by looking at the ticket. Be smart, be safe, have fun.

And don't forget...you can always check out the Pettit National Ice Center for free skate during the fair. Free skate is 10am to 9pm every day and available to those who show a fair ticket and rent skates for $4 a pair. So much to do, so little time. Enjoy!

Tan Lines

By J.J. Salem

St. Martin's Press $24.95 306 pages

"A really great beach read. I loved it!"
—Jackie Collins

a novel by
J. J. SALEM

What's your idea of the perfect vacation?

Is it being pampered on a cruise, with everything at your fingertips? Or maybe a week with a zero-balance credit card, preferably someone else's? A leisure appointment with a tent? Or how about quiet time on a hammock with a cold one nearby and a book on your lap? In the new novel "Tan Lines" by J.J. Salem, three women rent a house in the Hamptons for a little summertime girl-bonding. But their three-month vacation blow-out is about to blow up.

Fay Hudson loved being in Paris. The fifty thousand dollars she got for leasing out her East Hamptons house always gave her plenty for a summer away. She usually didn't remember renters from year to year, but this time was different...

When rock star Billie Shelton's first CD was released, her concerts sold out and fans couldn't get enough. But it'd been awhile since the last hit and Billie needed a new song, because her money was running out and so was her agent's patience. When Billie's friend, Liza, suggested a summer away, Billie thought a vacation might help her write. Besides, a girl could find trouble just as easily on the beach as anywhere, right?

Liza Pike prided herself on being a fashionista feminist. Liza was beautiful, smart, and her regular stint on CNBC's The Roundtable made her famous. It didn't hurt that her co-star, March Donaldson, and host Tom Shapiro were fun to be around.

But being at home was no fun at all. Six years ago, Liza married a man she barely knew and she suspected Justin was now cheating on her. It didn't matter, though. She didn't love him anymore anyhow.

Alabama stunner Kellyanne Downey figured a summer in the Hamptons was a perfect way to get some relief from Walter, the sugar daddy who was paying her way through life. Walter funded everything from her car to her career, but Kellyanne was sick of him. Leaping at a chance at stardom, she signed up to be on a reality show but the reality was that she was taken advantage of - again.

Fay Hudson rarely remembers the renters who move in and out of her East Hamptons house each summer, but she can't forget these three. They're as stained in her mind as the floors in her house are stained with blood.

According to his website, author J.J. Salem has been a big Jackie Collins fan since he was a teen. With this book, he's inevitably going to be compared to his idol.

That's too bad. He's actually better.

"Tan Lines" is trashy, raucous, and way too much fun. Salem's characters are a little over-the-top but not so much that you can't imagine their names screeching from the tabloids if they were real. I especially liked the way he wrapped up the ending of this book, and I can't wait for his next one.

Grab a beach towel, slather on the sunscreen, and grab "Tan Lines". Miss this novel, and you'll burn for weeks.

Farmer to farmer website links buyers and sellers

Livestock producers may find themselves with extra corn, corn silage, or hay for sale; while others may be looking to purchase additional feed. To facilitate the local marketing of feed commodities, UW-Extension has developed a website where growers facing shortages can find growers who have excess feed to sell. The website is <http://farmertofarmer.uwex.edu>.

The Farmer to Farmer Corn and Forage List is free of charge for both buyers and sellers. Users can search for high moisture corn, corn grain, corn silage, haylage or hay. Buyers and sellers can search in just one county or in any number of counties at once.

"This site has been an excellent way for buyers and sellers to get in-touch locally," says Mike Ballweg, UW-Extension Crops & Soils Agent in Sheboygan County. Neighbors often within short distances have been able to buy and sell as a result of the website. Buyers can locate feed for their animals quickly. Sellers can find buyers and save money in grain drying costs if they sell their crop as high moisture corn or corn silage.

New in 2008 is a separate link for horse owners looking to buy and sell hay. Click on the "Want Horse Feed" link. This site provides a market for hay producers that grow hay for horses. Horse hay buyers and sellers can search for hay in small squares, big round bales, or big square bales. They can also search for alfalfa/grass mix, all grass, or all alfalfa, depending on the needs of the buyer. Hay marketed at this site is for horse owners wishing to emphasize quality, color, and bale type.

Buyers and sellers can access the website immediately by going to: <http://farmertofarmer.uwex.edu>. People who wish to use this service but do not have access to the Internet can get access and assistance at their county UW-Extension office. For more information please contact: Mike Ballweg, Sheboygan County UW-Extension Crops and Soils Agent at (920) 459-5904.

Samuelson Sez America gets COOL

Just in case you have forgotten, September 30th is the date that America gets COOL. That's right! COOL...as in Country of Origin Labeling mandated in both the 2002 and 2008 Farm Bills. It is finally here, and a few days ago, the Department of Agriculture issued an interim final rule for the mandatory Country of Origin Labeling program.

Some of the highlights of the rule; it covers muscle cuts and ground beef, including veal, lamb, goat, chicken and pork meat; perishable agricultural commodities, fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables; macadamia nuts, pecans, ginseng and peanuts, as required in the original legislation. Commodities covered under mandatory COOL must be labeled at retail, to indicate their country of origin. However, they are excluded from the program if they are an ingredient in a processed food item.

Food service establishments such as restaurants, lunchrooms, cafeterias, bars, lounges and similar enterprises are exempt from the mandatory country of origin labeling requirements. Generally, reaction has been positive; as a matter of fact, it brought together some strange bed-fellows in support. The National Cattlemen's Beef Association said in its statement, "We are pleased to have an interim final rule in place. It incorporates provisions that make mandatory labeling more feasible for producers." Then R-CALE, which seldom agrees with NCBA on anything said it was "pleased to see the new interim final rule; for the most part a simplified and workable rule for independent U.S. cattle producers."

That's all well and good, but for me it begs the question... How do we trace these foods to their very beginning without a national and workable traceability program? I think it comes back to something I've said before (and a lot of people disagree with me); we need a National Animal ID Program. Now I know

COOL and the National Animal ID program are two separate pieces of legislation, supposedly not related, but how can we have one without the other? How could we trace a food problem to its origin if we don't have better traceability than we have now?

I come back to the recent tomato salmonella scare. An entire segment of agriculture, tomato production, was brought to its knees and growers lost millions of dollars because we had no quick way to find the source. Adding insult to injury for tomato producers was the final determination that the source was jalapeno chiles from Mexico.

My point is until we can quickly find the source of contamination, the entire industry and all of its producers will pay the price. Until we have a real traceability program in place, I doubt that we can really be COOL!

My thoughts on Samuelson Sez.

SPORTS

Eichstedt looking forward to two big challenges

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

While school children aren't all that excited to see August roll around, Kewaskum golfer Clark Eichstedt was eager to see the page on the calendar turn because he has two major events coming up, including the State Open and the State Senior Open.

Eichstedt won the latter event (Hosted by Merrill Hills CC in Waukesha) in 2007, pocketing $1,000 in the process, and his competitive juices have him pumped up for the Sept. 2-3 event, which will be played at Racine Country Club.

Two weeks earlier, on Aug. 18-20, Eichstedt will get a chance to hone his competitive skills when he plays in the annual State Open, which will be held at Eau Claire CC.

"Obviously I would like to do well in both those events," Eichstedt said Monday, noting the State Senior event was held at Eau Claire CC two years ago when he wound up second, so he has a little playing experience on the course.

"It's an old-style course ... short, but you have to hit it straight," Eichstedt said, adding, "It's going to take a real low score to win."

His goal in the State Open is simple — make the top 40. "It used to be if you made the cut you would be exempt the following year," Eichstedt said, explaining that format lowered the number that could advance in the qualifying tournaments, so now it's the top 40.

Even though Eichstedt works some long weeks at the Washington County Jail, he said preparation won't be a problem. "I'll have some time off of work, so there's not a problem with preparation," he said. "There's plenty of birdie holes out there," so it's a matter of keeping drives in the fairway and getting "good, solid shorter shots to the greens."

The field includes 140-150 golfers, including Tim Murphy of the host club, who finished second to Eichstedt in the State Senior Open last year. "It will be interesting to see how he does," the Kewaskum native said.

Concerning the competition in Racine, Eichstedt would be more than happy to duplicate last year's effort, a 2-under 142 (69-73) and first place. He likes his chances of doing well, especially if he has a good score at Eau Claire.

Earlier this summer, Eichstedt attempted to compete in the U.S. Senior Open and missed qualifying by just three strokes. This event was held at Strawberry Creek in Kenosha.

"I had a poor start there," Eichstedt said, reporting he buried a shot on the second hole, wound up with a double bogey and had to work hard to recover.

"I was four-over after five holes," he said. "I played three-under after that" for a 73.

Only two spots were open at the Strawberry Creek qualifying. The medalist came in with a 67, then there were two 69s, and after the tie was broken, the loser became the first alternate. The second alternate came in with a 70, then came his 73, followed by "a ton of high scores."

Eichstedt is also the defending Hon-E-Kor champion, and right now he plans to defend his title.

More information on the format for the event is forthcoming.

 Ethan Geidel, who will be a senior at Kewaskum High this fall, has had some successful outings in recent weeks, the best a tie for sixth place in the State PGA Junior Tour event held at the House on the Rocks Course on July 16th where he shot a 73.

On July 18th, Geidel, who captured the Eastern Wisconsin Conference medal the last two years, fired a 76-76—150, good for a tie for 14th in the Players Tour event at the Dretzka Golf Course in Milwaukee, and that same week, he finished in a tie for 22nd place in the annual Journal-Sentinel Tournament at Milwaukee's Currie Park.

Playing at Northern Bay Golf Resort on July 10, Geidel finished in a tie for 11th with a 2-over-par 74. On the front nine, he had two birdies, two bogeys and one double bogey for a 38, and on the back, seven pars, one birdie and one bogey led to a solid 36.

Huffman's mound effort propels A's to title game

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

After Wednesday's 12-0 shutout win over Rubicon, the Kewaskum Athletics home talent baseball team is a perfect 3-for-3 in tournament this season.

The A's qualified for the finals of the Plymouth Tournament (and are still waiting to play Brownsville for the title after two postponements because of rain). They reached the finals of the NBC Tournament before losing to Verona 16-7, and now they will be in the final game of the SWABA (Southeastern Wisconsin Amateur Baseball Association) Tournament.

Once again, Mitch Huffman was the man-of-the-hour for the A's, throwing his second straight complete game win, limiting the Red Sox to just six hits.

Kewaskum opened the flood gates with a 6-run second, then put three more runs on the board in the top of the fourth and another three in the sixth.

"Mitch continues his dominance on the mound," Jim Ziegler, A's player/spokesperson, said about Huffman, who struck out six and walked just one opponent. Ziegler noted Huffman has not given up an earned run over his last 31 innings.

Kewaskum had an even dozen hits in the victory, its 29th of the year against eight losses.

"We took control of the game early," Ziegler said, reporting Nick Whitty started the first rally with a double down the third base line. Adam Sarauer followed with a walk, then Ziegler bloomed a single to load the bases.

It looked as if the Red Sox would get the first out when Jake Panzer hit a fly ball to center, but the outfielder dropped the ball to plate the first run.

Ty Schill followed with a single to drive in run No. 2, then after two wild pitches boosted the run total to four, Austin Sarauer came through with an RBI single, and Jason Strobel concluded the scoring with a sac fly to center to score the sixth run of the inning.

Adam Martz's two-out double was the big blow in the fourth-inning rally, and the A's used three consecutive doubles, by Austin Sarauer, Strobel and Whitty to boost their lead to 11-0, then Panzer concluded the scoring with a single that drove in the 12th run.

Austin Sarauer, Whitty, Ziegler and Panzer were all 2-for-4 for the winners, who got hits from all but two starters.

With the victory, Kewaskum will take on Muskego for the SWABA championship. The game is slated to be played Friday night in Mayville.

A's come up short vs. Brownsville, 1st place tie

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

No doubt about it, Brownsville had the upper hand over the Kewaskum Athletics in Rock River League play this summer.

The 49ers completed the 2-0 sweep over the host A's on July 27, making the best out of seven hits and three A's errors to post a 3-1 victory in a game played at Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park.

With the loss, Kewaskum dropped into a first-place tie with Brownsville. Both have 13-3 marks.

There is good news, however, and that is the Kewaskum club, currently 28-7, did clinch a berth in the RR playoffs after Slinger defeated Rubicon in league play.

Jim Ziegler certainly pitched well enough to win the game, scattering seven hits and giving up just two earned runs, while striking out seven and walking two.

The first 49er run came after two outs in the top of the third when an error and wild pitch put a runner in scoring position for former A's player, Ryan Hall, who promptly delivered an RBI single up the middle for a 1-0 lead.

A home run by E.J. Dornfeldt produced two more runs for the 49ers in the fifth, and the A's answered with a single run in their half of the frame. Ziegler led off with a single, and Jake Panzer followed with a base hit, putting runners at first and second with no outs.

Jon Olla followed with a base hit off the third baseman's glove, loading the bases for Austin Sarauer, who ripped a single to right, but only one run scored on the hit. The rally was quickly halted when the next two batters popped out and grounded out to second base, respectively.

As it turned out, this was the only run Kewaskum would score off Brownsville starter, Tyler Witkowski, who pitched the complete-game win.

Offensively, the A's came up with 10 hits, including three by Olla, who went 3-for-5. Austin and Adam Sarauer and Panzer all contributed two hits.

PAT'S PERSPECTIVE

By: Pat Neumuth
Statesman Sports Editor

Fantasy football: 101

The NFL season is inching closer with each day, which means more importantly, fantasy football is inching closer too.

I used to fall asleep watching Packer games every Sunday afternoon before I entered the marvelous world of fantasy football. Now, I'm glued to the TV with my laptop computer next to me as I check stat tracker all day long. I think I'm addicted to fantasy football.

August is when most fantasy drafts begin. I have my ten-person league draft at my apartment Aug. 17.

All of my pick suggestions are for a 10 person, one quarterback, two running back and three wide receiver league. I am in this type of league and I like it the best. I have been in a two-quarterback league and I didn't really like it.

Many say the consensus overall top pick is LaDainion Tomlinson. Tomlinson is a great back and if he were on my team I would not mind. But I like Adrian Peterson for my No. 1 pick. I guess I have some biases living in Minnesota last year and had to watch Vikings games every week.

AP is something special. I have a feeling if he can stay healthy, he will break many rushing records including most yards in a career. He is that good. I was laughing at what AP did to the San Diego team last year. I mean 296 yards against one of the top three defenses in the league is unheard of.

In a perfect world I would like to take AP as the third pick. I feel the third pick is the best in the draft. You can't go wrong with taking AP, LT or Brian Westbrook. I had Westbrook on my team last year. He's the Eagles entire offense.

Strategy is very important when picking your players. I feel the days of drafting running backs in the first two rounds are over. Backup running backs are getting more touches than ever before. This is why ideally I would go running back and then wide receiver.

Obviously, Tom Brady is a good first round pick, along with teammate Randy Moss.

I really like Marion Barber. He is used a lot on the goal line and during passing situations. Barber is now the No.1 running back with Julius Jones now in Seattle. Speaking of Jones, he has great value as a backup runner on your roster. I would try and nab him mid to early seventh round.

I think the best second round picks are Terrell Owens, Reggie Wayne or Braylon Edwards. All three of these guys are their team's top wide out and score a lot of touchdowns.

Quarterbacks are usually the top scorers, but are all around the same in ability. Besides Brady, Peyton Manning and Tony Romo, I would grab a QB in the fourth, fifth or sixth round. Personally I'd like to take Matt Hasselbeck or Derek Anderson. Manning usually goes early second round and Romo middle of third.

I think there are a lot of late round gems.

If I have AP, I always try and pick Chester Taylor as well. I know AP has the injury bug and Taylor will be the starter if AP goes down. Taylor has the ability to run for 100 yards if he is the full time back. Wide receiver Roddy White for the Falcons would be a great third receiver. White usually goes late sixth, early seventh round. The Falcons aren't good, but he is their only threat. I would take a team's No. 1 wide out as my team's third any day. Dwayne Bowe and Marvin Harrison also go the same time as White. Bowe is the deep ball threat and best wide out for Kansas City and we all know how good Harrison is.

I really like what Deuce McAllister can do for a fantasy team. I like him as my third or fourth running back. McAllister starts over Reggie Bush in straight up carries. Bush might see more plays and get more touches. McAllister will be in on the goal line and that is what counts in fantasy.

I think tight ends are a tricky pick. There are some good ones and then the rest don't score that much. I'm not convinced, though, taking an Antonio Gates, Jason Witten, Tony Gonzalez or Kellen Winslow, are worth it at where you can get them. Dallas Clark worked good for me, but I would only take him in the eighth round if he was available. I wait until the tenth round or so for my tight end. I like three here. Jeremy Shockey moved up for me on the list after the trade to the Saints. But also don't forget Alge Crumpler and his new team, the Titans, or Vernon Davis. Solid backup tight ends are Ben Utecht now with Cinncy or Kevin Boss with the Giants.

Defenses should not go before the tenth round. Many people have taken the Chargers defense first. I like the Vikings defense the best. Let's face it, the NFC North turns the ball over a lot, especially with interceptions. The Vikings defense scored eight defensive touchdowns. If your league has special teams included with defensive points than the Devin Hester effect must be factored in.

Kickers should be everyone's last pick. They are the most inconsistent pick and all score about the same amount of points. I think Cowboys' Nick Folk and the Chargers' Nate Kaeding are the best available. If the kicker plays indoors, he will probably do well, too.

I really enjoy fantasy football. Everyone should try it, it keeps you interested the entire year.

Six Indians make All-EWC

By Pat Neumuth
Statesman Sports Editor
patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum baseball team has six players on the All-EWC team. John Holt, Nick Olla and Jordan Petrin each made first team and Nick Ebert, Cody Seibel and Cody Nuernberg made second team.

Senior Holt made first team as a pitcher. Holt was the ace for the Indians with pitching 82.1 innings. He had an 8-4 record with one save. He had an ERA of 2.47 with 102 strikeouts on the year. Holt was also named first team all-district and second team all-state for his pitching.

Juniors Olla and Petrin were among the top ten in votes for all position players in the EWC. Olla played catcher all year for the Indians. Olla batted .316 with 12 RBIs and three homeruns. When Olla wasn't catching for the Indians he was on the hill, mainly in relief situations. Petrin played outfield, first base and pitcher. Petrin batted a team best .333 this season.

Senior Ebert made the second team squad as a pitcher. Ebert was the No. 2 for the Indians on the hill. Ebert pitched in 39.1 innings with 31 strikeouts. Ebert had a 5-4 record this season. He played in right field when he was not pitching for the Indians.

Sophomore Cody Seibel played at third base for the Indians. Seibel batted .319 with eight doubles, two homers and 15 RBIs. Freshman Nuernberg was the Indians left fielder for the majority of the season. Nuernberg batted .273 with 14 RBIs and one homerun.

Ebert and Holt were second team all-EWC pitchers last season as well. Much of the Indians offense will be around for the 2009 season. It's the pitching the Indians must replace.

Whitty just misses no-hitter

A's post 9-0 win over Hartford

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It would be difficult to choose an MVP on the Kewaskum Athletics home talent baseball team this year--there are so many good players who have stepped up and contributed to its success.

One of those key individuals would have to be pitcher Nick Whitty, who, on Sunday, carried a no-hitter into the eighth inning against host Hartford and wound up with a 9-0 shutout win in Rock River League action.

Hartford broke up Whitty's no-hit bid with a two-out single to right, according to player/spokesperson Jim Ziegler, who reported Whitty actually had a perfect game going until the seventh when he walked two of the Hawks.

"Oddly enough, our last no-hitter came over Hartford just two years ago, with that no-hitter thrown by Kevin Olsen," Ziegler said.

Whitty struck out 10 and walked four in the victory, which saw the A's come up with a dozen hits. Kewaskum scored two runs in the first and third, added a single run in the fourth and put that game on ice with a four-run eighth.

Kewaskum got rolling offensively in the first inning when Ty Schill and Austin Sarauer, two of the A's hitting leaders, started off the game with singles, but Schill was gunned down at the plate trying to score on a fly ball by Adam Sarauer.

Jason Strobel kept things alive with an infield single, then Whitty had a 12-pitch at bat that ended with him reaching on an error, and the first Kewaskum run scoring on the play.

Ziegler followed with a double to right-center, giving the A's a 2-0 lead.

In the third Strobel doubled to deep center, Whitty walked and Ziegler hit an infield single to load the bases for Cory Tjader. Tjader hit a fielder's choice to score one, and Nick Olla dropped a single for an RBI and a 4-0 A's lead.

In the big rally in the eighth, Hartford's pitcher walked three to load the bases for Whitty, who drove in two with his clutch single back up the middle, and Ziegler followed with his second RBI double of the day. Olla's fielder's choice accounted for Kewaskum's final run.

Ziegler had an excellent outing, going 3-for-5 with two runs batted in, while Sarauer, Strobel and Olla each chipped in with two hits.

The win gave the A's a 14-3 record in RR action, and they are currently 31-7 overall. The A's are scheduled to play tonight at 7:30 p.m. vs. Brownsville for the championship of the Plymouth Tournament. On Friday night, they play Muskego at Mayville at 8:30 p.m. for the SWABA (Southeastern Wisconsin Amateur Baseball Association). Then on Saturday, the A's finish up the regular RR season with a game against Rubicon.

The playoff is set for the RR Northern Division. Kewaskum, Brownsville, Slinger and Oakfield are the qualifiers, and the matchups for the playoffs will become clearer after the last weekend of action.

A's reach major milestone after topping Clyman

Wisconsin Off Road Series at Sunburst

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

With a 4-1 decision over Tri-County Nite League opponent Clyman this past Saturday, the Kewaskum Athletics notched their 30th victory of the 2008 season.

What a turnaround from a year ago when the A's struggled just to win eight games, and once again clutch hitting a solid pitching were the keys to the victory.

Former West Bend West High pitcher Jake Lathers went 7.1 innings to pick up the win. Lathers didn't start out all that well, giving up four hits and a run in the first inning, but he battled back and just kept shutting the door on the Canners the rest of the way.

In his seven plus innings, Lathers gave up 10 hits, struck out six and walked four.

What really helped Lathers get through the first without any more damage was a defensive gem by center fielder Jason Strobel.

On a perfect throw, Strobel gunned down a Clyman runner at the plate to limit the rally to one run, then Lathers helped his own cause in the second when he picked a runner off second base to stop a threat.

After the second inning, Lathers only allowed three more hits to notch his fourth win of the season.

Cory Tjader tossed the final two-thirds of an inning to pick up his fourth save.

The A's scored a pair of runs in the second to erase the Clyman lead. Strobel doubled to lead off the winning, and then Nick Whitty walked. Adam Sarauer's ground out advanced both men, to second and third, then Jim Ziegler blooped a single down the right field line to score one run, and Jake Panzer's fielder's choice pushed another run across the plate.

Kewaskum tacked on another run in the fifth when, with two outs, Ty Schill reached on a bunt single, stole second and came around when Austin Sarauer singled.

The A's final run was scored via a Whitty double -- the ball one-hopped the fence in left-center -- and an RBI ground out by Ziegler.

Clyman had two runners aboard with one out in the top of the seventh, then Tjader induced back-to-back popouts to end the game.

For the A's, Whitty went 2-for-3 and Sarauer was 2-for-4.

Kewaskum, now 30-7 overall, finished its Tri-County schedule with an 8-2 mark and now awaits word on who it will play in the first round of the playoffs.

The Wisconsin Off Road Series is coming back for their ninth annual Sunburst Showdown on Sunday at the Sunburst Ski and Recreational Area.

Racers will have to deal with much of the ski hill, as it is the track of the race. The track has a range of open speed lanes to tight twisting sections in wooded areas on rocky terrain.

Unlike skiing, these riders must ride not just down the hill, but up it and across it. The central starting area is in an open part of the hill and can view much of the track from this area.

There are 14 different levels for racers to sign up for. One lap of the track is five miles. The citizen youth and first timer are one lap contest. The expert male and Elite male are five laps. There was a pre-registration, but riders can still sign up for an event. Sign up can still be done Saturday from 3 p.m.-6 p.m. and Sunday from 8 a.m. to a half hour before the races start. Registration can be done at the site at Sunburst.

There will be a pre-race ride from noon to seven at night on Saturday.

Rams hold training camp at Concordia University

By Pat Neumuth
Statesman Sports Editor
patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

With the football season lurking in the shadows, the St. Louis Rams have provided a more local solution to catch NFL action.

The Rams have called Concordia University in Mequon their home for a little over a week and will be in town until the conclusion of training camp Thursday, Aug. 14.

The Packers are kings when it comes to football in Wisconsin, but Green Bay is a little more than 97 miles away from Kewaskum for the Packers training camp, compared to the 28 miles to Mequon.

Training camps are the first practices before the pre-season. Many teams travel

Rams quarterback Brock Berlin, 13, gathers his team in a huddle during the practice held at Concordia University this past Saturday. This is the beginning of his second year in the NFL.

Cornerback Darius Vinnit, 31, and linebacker Tim McGarigle, 59 outside of their home city to start off training camps. The Kansas City Chiefs have been frequent travelers to River Falls for their camp.

Training camps are a great football fan friendly event. It is a chance to see professional football up close. It was standing room only during Saturday's inter-squad scrimmage. The Rams played offense versus defense in a live scrimmage. The quarterbacks are the only players not to get hit.

The Rams are not the greatest show on turf anymore, but they still have many superstar players on the team, some with the Super Bowl XXXIV team. Wide receiver Torry Holt and lineman Orlando Pace are the most well known players with Super Bowl rings. Quarterback Trent Green is back with the team and he looks to fight with Bruce Gradkowski for the backup role to Marc Bulger. They have other big names on the roster such as, Corey Chavous, Dante Hall, Randy McMichael, Leonard Little and La'Roi Glover. High profile running back Steven Jackson is not a camp due to a contract dispute.

The Rams' 2008 second overall draft pick Chris Long is working hard at his first training camp. Long worked with the first string defensive line. He was fast on the field and looks like he will be an impact to the team this year.

The Rams have two former Badgers on their roster, wide receiver Brandon Williams and center Donovan Raiola.

Former UW-Whitewater wide receiver Derek Stanley is in his second year with the Rams. Stanley was a seventh round draft pick in 2007 for the Rams.

"It's not to bad. Weather is a lot better here than in St. Louis, it's blazing down there," Stanley said about coming back to Wisconsin for camp. "It's good for family and friends to be able to come and get quicker access to you and see you more often."

The Rams recognized Stanley after an exceptional career at Whitewater. Stanley holds school records for 35 touchdown receptions and 2,648 receiving yards.

Stanley said alongside the family and friends to come out to camp to see him play, former teammates and players from other WIAC schools came out as well.

"Right now I'm just trying make this team, every year it's going to be a battle, unless you're a big time guy," Stanley said on his role on the team. "Me, I just want to come in and bring a little juice to the team. Try and make plays out here and get guys a little more energetic."

After every practice the players walk off the field and through a walkway for autograph signings. The Rams left Wisconsin for Nashville, Tenn. on Tuesday to train with the Tennessee Titans. They will be there until their first preseason game against the Titans on Saturday. The Rams will be back at Concordia University Monday, Aug. 11 to finish up a week of practices. Visit the Rams website at www.stlouisrams.com for the rest of the practice information.

Golfers reflect on special '88 season

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Both from a team aspect and individually, the year 1988 was very special for the Kewaskum High varsity golf team.

* The team went a perfect 6-0 vs. Eastern Wisconsin Conference matches.

* Within a three-day period, one of its members, senior Eric Pearson, captured medalist honors in two major invitationals, the West Bend Invitational and the Brown Port Invitational.

* Another senior, Gregg Dean, was honored as team MVP for a record third straight year, a mark that still stands.

* The team won the Division 2 regional title at Sheboygan Falls, finished second in the sectional held at Mystery Hills Golf Course near team and in the process earned a berth in the first-ever WIAA Division 2 State Golf Tournament.

* Despite scoring above their season averages, the Indians placed sixth in the 36-hole event held at Lake Arrowhead near Nekoosa.

All these events were touched on this past Saturday as the team was honored during the 9th annual Kewaskum Scramble held to raise money for KHS athletics.

Two team members, Gregg Dean and Dean "D.J." Slaughenhou, played in the event and were delighted to relive some of their glory days on the links.

Dean, 38, currently lives in Wauwatosa and says he gets to play golf once a week, at Brown Deer of Naga-Waukee.

"I'm busy being a father and working," Dean said, indicating he and his girlfriend have a year-old daughter, Sienna.

When he left high school, Dean went to UW-Stout where he played on the golf team for four years.

"I played in the (NAIA) nationals three years," Dean said, indicating he planned to go into the golf business and did spend nearly 15 years working in golf.

"For thirteen years, I was with the John Jacobs Golf School" in Florida, Dean said, indicating he finally decided it was time to move on and perhaps get back closer to home in Wisconsin.

As far as his top memory of the '88 season, Dean quickly answered, "Shooting a 74 in sectionals," and added going to state is "something I'll remember forever."

Dean wound up winning MVP honors over Pearson by .4 of a stroke, with a 40.1 average to the 40.5 Pearson had.

Dean is amazed how far high school players hit the ball and how well they currently score but was quick to point out, "You have to remember the equipment back then," and the amount of competitive summer tournaments that are offered to junior players today. "What did we have ... the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel Tournament?"

Slaughenhou, 35, credits his grandfather, the late Tom Slaughenhou, with getting him interested in the game. "Grandpa and my dad (Mark), but I played so much with grandpa (at Hon-E-Kor)," he said.

Slaughenhou, who is married to Kim and has two children,

Brody and Sophia, lives in the Kewaskum School District.

Concerning his first varsity season, Slaughenhou said, "I was the one who got picked on in the van ... teased. I was the only freshman ... It was actually kind of fun."

Because son Brody is so active in soccer in West Bend, Slaughenhou said he doesn't play much golf these days, wanting Brody to savor the opportunity to enjoy his youth. "I wanted to grow up too fast. I didn't know what I had when I was young," he said.

It wasn't hard for Slaughenhou to point his finger on his favorite memory from '88. "My claim to fame. I think I shot 79 in the regional," he said. That 79 tied him with Pearson and was just three shots behind Dean, who won the medal that day.

And was he excited to be honored Saturday? Absolutely, I thought it was awesome they wanted to honor the eighty-eight team."

With just the two of them playing and without any mulligans, Dean and Slaughenhou finished in a tie for first place at 11-under-par and lost in a tie-breaker on the card to the team of Ty and Dick Wietor and Jim and Michael Korth.

Pearson was unable to attend the event because of a prior commitment.

Pearson was the ideal prep student athlete, excelling in the classroom and in sports, including football, basketball, golf and baseball.

His talent on the gridiron prompted Pearson to enroll at UW-Rivers Falls, which ran a wishbone offense like Kewaskum ran in those days. Pearson was the Falcons' starting quarterback as a senior, and then just days before graduating with a business degree, he was involved in a mountain bike accident which nearly took his life.

Two of Pearson's vertebrae were badly damaged, confining him to a wheelchair but never affecting his competitive spirit. Today, he loves to compete with his Hummer H-1 vehicle in 4x4 off-road racing.

About his senior season, Pearson said, "I guess what I remember is winning a couple of invitationals individually." At West Bend, he shot a 1-over-par 38 to defeat 59 other players and end up in a tie with Tom Weichardt of Menomonee Falls. Pearson won the playoff to capture the medal. In the Brown-Port meet at Hawthorne Hills, he shot an even par 72.

"As a team, I remember us expecting to every dual meet. I

Pearson had his "A" game early and midway through the season, but didn't play well at state. "I wasn't hitting the ball as well then, and that was disappointing," he said.

Pearson acquired his love of golf from his dad, who still plays and once was a successful golf coach at Greendale High.

The two other starters were Joel Fleury, who currently lives in North Carolina with his family, and Joel Miller, who lives in Hartford.

The team's coach, Joe Harlow, said from the first day of practice in '88, "We knew what our goals were ... it was the first year of three classes in golf. We felt we had a better chance to get to state than to win conference because we had to play three times at Quit Qui Oc, and the conference tournament was there."

"It was a very special year. I was happy to be part of it," he said.
