Hefter family moves into village's first Habitat home

Janice Hefter receives the keys to her family's new home at 703 Glacial Lane in the Village of Kewaskum from Habitat for Humanity of Washington County Board President Mike Bound. A celebration was held at the home on Sunday where Hefter was given a number of gifts from Habitat volunteers.

KEWASKUM- All Janice Hefter wanted to do is give her family a place to call home. With the help of Habitat for Humanity of Washington County and the Northern Washington County Chapter of Thrivent Financial for Lutherans, Janice, her boyfriend Mark and her two kids Patricia, 22, and Derrick, 8, have a spacious place to call home.

"It was a lot of work, a lot a lot of work," Hefter said. "I love the room here compared to where we were."

The space is well needed for the Hefter's because Patricia has cerebral palsy.

"The bathroom is my favorite room here because it's huge. It's open so we can get her in and out for a bath," Hefter said. "[Patricia's] room is big, where you can take the wheelchair in there and move the wheelchair around."

"It's all handicap accessible. The doors are wide enough where we can bring her in and we don't have to worry about banging anything."

Hefter said Patricia's old room had space for only her bed and dresser.

With an extra room in this house, compared to the two-bedroom house they were renting, Derrick has his own room. Before Derrick's bed was the hideaway couch in the living room.

The house was a seven-month project. Habitat for Humanity make recipients of a house work 500 hours of what they call "sweat equity." Recipients must work 500 hours on their house or someone else's before they can move in. Hefter and Mark put in over 700 hours on their house. Hefter said she did a lot of the clean up and some landscaping and dry-wall.

"It's something that I can afford. You always think about your kids, and you think what can I afford. I will go back to the old days of my dad and he said to always have a roof over your head," Hefter said.

With the volunteer workers and supplies donated from places like Home Depot, Kohler and Braun, payments for this house are cheaper than what she was renting.

The Hefter house is the 14th home built by Habitat for Humanity in Washington County and the seventh built with the help of Thrivent for Lutherans. Thrivent for Lutherans have helped build homes across America and this house is one of 320 homes built by them.

"Thank you," Hefter wanted to say to all her volunteers. "If it wasn't for them, it probably never would have been built, to tell you the truth. Without the volunteers what would you do?"

On Sunday, October 19 Habitat for Humanity representatives, Thrivent Financial representatives, Pastor Pam Marolla, and, of course, the excited partner family gathered at 703 Glacial Lane, Kewaskum to celebrate the hard work, the generous financial backing and the community support that made this home possible.

Homebuyers, Janice Hefter and her family completed over 500 hours of "sweat equity" helping to build the home, a basic tenet of Habitat for Humanity. They will repay the no-profit, no interest mortgage over a period of 25 years, illustrating Habitat for Humanity's objective to give families a

Hwy 28 project delayed

By Andrew Kuehl

KEWASKUM- Once again Kewaskum was placed on the back burner as the state's Department of Transportation gave official word that they need to delay their plans to reconstruct Highway 28/Main Street in the village and township of Kewaskum.

Village Administrator Matt Heiser informed the Village Board on Monday at their meeting that the project will now start in February of 2012 instead of 2011. In correspondence with the D.O.T. they stated they were over budget.

The village had sought two proposals for engineering work for the project. Village Engineering firm Ruekert Mielke stated they were unsure if they would be able to honor the quote given so it was decided to forego any engineering work and rebid the project.

The village will now wait for another time line from the D.O.T. Village officials stated that the project as they remember was to start in 2006, then got placed on the back burner to 2008. Most recently, the DOT had the project planned for May 1, 2009 and then moved it to May 1, 2010.

Woman injured when struck by SUV

Kewaskum Police and Fire Departments were called to the intersection of Fond du Lac Avenue and Main Street in the village after a pedestrian, Heidi Guzewski, 50, of Kewaskum, was struck by a sport utility vehicle (SUV) driven by Cole Leech, 28 of Kewaskum, on Wednesday evening, October 15 at 6:12 p.m. Guzewski was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend for injuries to the left side of her body after being struck. The driver of the SUV struck the pedestrian with enough force to cause damage to the SUV. Chief of Police Richard Knoebel stated charges were requested for knowingly operating while suspended, causing an injury, operating after revocation for operating while intoxicated (OWI) and failure to yield right of way to a pedestrian. Police said Leech was making a right hand turn onto Fond du Lac Avenue from Main Street, striking Guzewski as she was in the crosswalk.

Police chief gives Trick or Treat safety recommendations

With Halloween Trick or Treat on Sunday, October 26 in the Village of Kewaskum from 5 to 7 p.m. The Kewaskum Police Department would like to offer the following Safety Tips to make this a safe and enjoyable trick-or-treat for everyone:

lay.

- Have children stay within the neighborhood; only visit homes you know.

- Do not follow your children in your vehicle. Children are excited and may run out in front of a vehicle without thinking.

The Kewaskum Police

Auxiliary members will be on foot patrol along with 3 squad cars during the trick-or-treat hours of 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Children and parents should contact an officer if they see anything suspicious, if they suspect candy that has been tampered with or for any other problems or questions.

Costume Safety:

- Use make-up or face paint instead of masks, but if masks are used, make sure that they fit properly and have holes large enough for mouth and eyes.

- Chose costumes that are marked flame retardant.

- Wear light-colored clothing at night, short enough to prevent tripping. Add reflective tape or reflectors to dark colored costumes

- Make props such as magic wands and swords out of cardboard, rather than metal or wood.

Trick-or-Treat Safety:

- Give and accept wrapped or packaged candy only.

- Have children bring treats home for adult inspection before they are eaten.

- Accompany small and elementary school age children when they are trick-or-treating and send older children in groups.

- Go out in daylight and carry a flashlight in case of de-

School District policy for closing

The district will be using School Messenger, an automated calling system, to inform families of school closings. The system is set to call the primary phone number listed in our student information system. Watch for more information in school newsletters and notes home.

Additionally, as in the past, radio stations WBKV (1470 AM and 92.5 FM West Bend), KFIZ (107 FM and 1450 AM Fond du Lac), WHBL (1330 AM and 97.7 FM Sheboygan), WTMJ/WKTI (620 AM/94 FM Milwaukee) and WISN 1130 AM/Channel 12 will be used to announce school closings. News stations will only announce a closing. If they do not announce Kewaskum, it means schools will be open. The announcement will be on the air as early as possible. The announcement will also be posted on the District Website: www.kewaskumschools.org.

When school has opened but weather turns bad, it is recommended that parents be near their primary phone or listen to one of the above radio stations for a possible school closing announcement. The district is hesitant about closing school during the day but will do so if the safety of the students warrants it. Every effort will be made to announce school closings during the day at least an hour before we dismiss the students.

Also, parochial school students and special education students will not be transported when district schools close. Decisions to delay the opening of schools will be made judiciously. In cases of a late start, early childhood and four year kindergarten programs are automatically cancelled. However, afternoon classes will still operate under their normal schedule.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

My husband and I are parents of a Kewaskum High School student and also committee members of The Fitness Center.

I would like to inform our district that the new Fitness Center is open for the students at no charge 22 hours a week. The center is available every weekday morning from 5 to 7 am as well as from 3 to 5 pm (1 to 5 pm on Wednesdays). The old weight room was open 11 hours maximum a week for student use.

There is a segment of the population that prefers to exercise with adults. Hence we have membership fees which protect a block of time for these folks.

The Fitness Center was one component of the district remodeling. A fund raising committee was formed so the financial burden of purchasing equipment was not placed on the taxpayers. We continue to accept donations to offset the operating costs of the Fitness Center and for future purchases and maintenance.

Information regarding memberships can be obtained by contacting The Kewaskum Fitness Center during open hours or by contacting KHS Athletic Director, Jason Piittmann.

Cindy and John Shaske

Dear Editor:

Staring us in the face is an upcoming election which could, flat out, overturn the free society the country's founders attempted to guarantee us. Beginning in the 1930's, under control, or influence, of the Democrat party, the country has slowly, but steadily, abandoned the Free Market principles which made us the envy of the world.

Whichever side you take, you must admit, even to yourself, that one of our protections is the odds, the hope, that one party will not gain control of both houses of Congress, and the Executive, and thus the Judicial. This is just as true in the individual states, where power over people's lives is divided between the parties.

The frightening thing today, is that left-wing extremists have taken over control of the Democratic Party. Their philosophy bears little resemblance to that of the Democratic Party of John Kennedy's time. The values, the goals, of Obama himself are scary enough, when one remembers that he is a direct product of the corrupt Chicago political machine. Worse, beyond that is a look at his associates, his advisors, and fellow Socialists. There can be very little doubt that if they gain control of the House, the Senate, and the presidency, the result will border on Totalitarianism.

We dare not continue to ignore the fact that the bulk of Obama's support comes from those elitist groups who feel that only they can make decisions for us "peasants." Specifically, educators, especially at the college level, labor unions, and unelected bureaucrats. They cynically gear their appeal to the looters, the moochers, and the irresponsible. AND, are you comfortable with the FACT that all of our enemies want Obama elected?

Finally, don't buy this crap that a vote against him is racism; we have many highly educated, highly regarded black men, such as Clarence Thomas, Thomas Sowell, Walter Williams, etc. who are hated by Liberals, both white and black, because they dare to be conservative.

Steve Chantelois

Dear Editor:

I guess we all know that Christian churches have a pro-life position when it comes to abortion. Yet some people that attend church have Obama signs on their lawns and bumper stickers on their cars.

Public records show Obama to be the most pro-abortion candidate ever. At a recent pro-abortion group rally "Planned Parenthood," Obama stated his first order of business as President would be to get the Partial Birth Abortion Ban repealed and would not yield on this issue. Also as Senator, Obama voted against the "Botched Abortion Bill," this is when the baby is accidentally born before the doctor has a chance to stab a scissors in the back of the babies head and sever the brain stem. Obama's position on this is "it was the women's intent to have the baby aborted so the doctor should continue to do what he has to do anyway."

God has very special feelings for defenseless little children as He states in the Bible and it's no wonder He is starting to withhold His blessings from a once great "Christian Nation" when one and a half million babies are killed every year in the US.

Those who vote for any politicians in either party who make it legal for this "infanticide" will be talking to God one day about the reason they are willing accomplices to this barbaric action. Instead of sitting in church they may as well be home working on excuses for their actions.

So before marking that ballot for Barack Hussein Obama, think about what you are doing, and not voting at all is just as bad.

Sincerely,
Tommy Thompson

Members of the West Bend Modern Woodmen of America camp recently helped raise money for Jack Zalewski and Cory Watzig by matching funds from the Grand Larsony Classic Custom Car Show.

The event, held on September 21, raised $10,384.75. This includes the $2,500 matched by Modern Woodmen's home office through the organization's Matching Funds program. The money will be used by both for medical bills.

The Matching Funds program offers Modern Woodmen camp members nationwide the chance to show their support of a community cause, oration or individual inneed by partnering with community organizations and holding fund-raisers. Modern Woodmen matches money raised up to $2,500. These fund-raising projects contribute more than $6 million to community needs nationwide each year.

Founded in 1883 as a fraternal benefit society, today Modern Woodmen of America offers financial services and fraternal member benefits to individuals and families throughout the United States. The organization's West Bend camp provides a number of volunteer service and social activities for local members.

Thee-alarm shed fire in Eden

On Saturday, October 18, 2008 at 10:30 a.m., the Fond du Lac 911 Center received a call of a shed fire at N4334 Pine Rd. in the Township of Eden. The original call indicated that the farm shed was totally engulfed in fire.

Responding to the scene with the Fond du Lac Sheriff's Office were the Eden, Mt. Calvary, and Campbellsport Fire Departments. It is believed the fire started when the owner had been in the shed cutting a pipe when that sparked and ignited material inside the shed.

No one was injured in the fire but several pieces of farm machinery and tractors along with the shed itself were destroyed.

The fire is being investigated by Eden Fire Department. The shed is owned by Richard Runge. The Fond du Lac County Sheriff's office directed traffic around the scene.

Thank You

I would like to thank everyone for all the cards, prayers and offerings of help given to Diane and myself during my recent diagnosis of cancer. It is thru the support of our families, friends, neighbors, co-workers, and everyone in this community that have made this stressful and difficult time easier to deal with.

We would especially like to thank Kissy and Deb, owners of Grand Larsony, and all their crew for putting together such a great car show benefit including the selling of tickets and enjoyment of food and music for Cory Watzig and myself.

Thanks also to the various car clubs for coming and to everyone who took time to bring their special car to this benefit and thanks to everyone who came to enjoy it and supported this benefit.

A special thanks to everyone who donated items for the raffle and to those who bought the tickets.

Thanks also to The American Legion and their helpers for setting up, for cooking and serving the food and refreshments and cleaning up after.

Thanks to Modern Woodmen of America Camp 2216 and Jeff Jaeger, secretary, for sponsoring a matching fund for this benefit for Cory Watzig and myself.

Thank you to anyone else who helped make this event possible.

Words cannot express our gratitude. Please remember to pray for my recovery as I continue treatments and surgery.

PEOPLE

Tales from a Korean Kindergarten

Anasayo Everyone,

I have been in Korea for over five months now, and thought it was about time to send a little correspondence home. Let it be known that you are all missed and I am doing well.

When I moved to Korea at the end of March to teach kindergarten, I had no idea as to what to expect. I didn't speak the language, I was unfamiliar with the culture, and I had never taught English to a six-year-old Asian before. But I was ready for a challenge. I wanted to head to unfamiliar surroundings, in the direction of new adventures. I was ready to relocate to explore the mystical Orient and to begin a new occupation. Perhaps the Far East would reveal to me the secrets to which I have long been searching.

I walked home from work the other day fighting my way through an incredibly busy subway station by my apartment. Just me and my 23 million neighbors. Ever since I left school that day, every stranger that I passed, couldn't help but stare at the giant grape juice stain that adorned the front of my pants. I decided to make a mental note to myself, "Only give juice to Lynn if she is sitting down." That wit of wisdom was added to the important and ever growing list of things to know about teaching kindergarten in Korea:

-Never show the class how to "properly shoot" a rubber band.

-When Jana says she is going to be sick, let her get to the bathroom. Do not carry her.

-You have complete control over the class when playing "Simon Says". Use this time to have them do your bidding.

-Don't forget that no one knows how to tell time except you.

And of course, hide the finger paint.

Despite all the hard work and constant challenges that come from teaching kindergarten, it turns out that I really love to do it. Sure there are days, when no one will sit down, people are crying, glue is being swallowed, shoes are being thrown, and for some reason there is egg on the ceiling.

But then there are days when I realize what an amazing job I have. Like the other day when we played with clay all afternoon, only to take a break so we could eat some cookies. I never got paid to do that before! And the day when we had an open debate about which is the coolest dinosaur: This eventually led to a discussion about who would win in a fight, Godzilla or King Kong. As some of you know, these are topics that I happen to be very well versed in, and as a result I make a great mediator.

Plus six-year-olds, being at that tender age, are amazingly easy to impress. They will ooh and ahh over anything I color, or draw. They will laugh heartily at the oldest and goofiest of jokes, even the ones I just make up. It's kinda like playing for the easiest audience in the world. Sometimes I don't even have to say anything at all a few strums on the guitar, a little slapstick dance, and I have them rolling in the aisles. Literally.

A few weeks ago, each class put on a play for the entire school. Being new to the school, I felt added pressure on me and my students to perform well. I wanted to show everyone that we were actually accomplishing something in class. I worked on the play every day with my students; practicing lines, choreography, emotions, and how to behave on stage.

The day of the big event, I felt that my class and I were ready. They all took their places perfectly with the school, the faculty and their mothers all watching expectantly. Everything started wonderfully. We were really working as a team. Scene Two was delayed a bit though, as we had to wait for the narrator to finish picking her nose. As the play progressed, things started to go badly, and I watched all of my students casually forming a circle in the center of the stage. Their booming stage voices turned into mere whispers. Lines were left out. Entire scenes skipped over. The play had lost all direction and meaning. The final scene was one of 11 children standing around in a circle, quietly arguing about whose turn it was to speak.

My school is about a half an hour walk from my apartment which is in the downtown business district of Seoul. I live on the seventh floor of a high rise apartment building, which offers a great view of the seventh floor of the high rise apartment building a few feet from my window. My apartment is small, but perfect. There is a bed, a roof and a bathroom, everything I need. It's actually quite nice; a clean and modern apartment in the middle of the second largest city in the world. (A slight change of pace, from sleeping alone in the woods every night, but I am getting accustomed to it.)

I work with 10 other Western teachers here, which is a lot for Korean hagwon, but the school I work for has a considerable enrollment. We also teach grade school children for a few hours in the afternoon after kindergarten.

All the teachers are about my age, and most of them happen to be from Canada, and they are all quite friendly and unassuming. We each have our own classroom and each our own distinct teaching style.

My style? I like to lift the students up and spin them around really fast. Very effective! Each teacher is assigned a 'classroom manager' who in the U.S. would be called a teacher's assistant. The "managers" are bilingual Korean women who help in the classroom and assist in translating progress/problems to the students' parents. My Kindergarten students have better English than my manager, Vicky. But what she lacks in language skills, she makes up for in reinforcing classroom order, and helping to clean up the inevitable classroom mess. (i.e. wiping a bloody nose, scraping the rice off the window, mopping up the vomit, etc.)

Korea is a wonderfully bizarre place. The customs. The mannerisms. The food. It took me awhile to become comfortable here, because everything is just so incredibly weird. But I am really beginning to settle in nicely. Everyone is very friendly to foreigners here and when asked, are happily willing to help. If only the same could be said about America.

Love,
Karl Teacher

EDITOR'S NOTE- The above letter was received by Karl's mother, Kathleen. She states, "Karl has lived a full life since he graduated KHS in 1996. He graduated from LaCrosse with a political science major and then moved to Phoenix, and later to St. Thomas, V.I. He met two friends on St. Thomas, and the three of them sailed in a 40 foot sloop from St. Thomas, through the Panama Canal to the Galapagos Islands, on to the French Marquises; and after sailing for six months they reached Hawaii. A year ago July he left from Maine and walked the Appalachian Trail (2,300 miles) ending up in Georgia at the end of December. In March, Karl moved to Seoul, South Korea where he is presently teaching kindergarten."

The Statesman and our readers enjoys hearing from KHS graduates and where they are now. If you have a story to tell, please email Andrew at akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

Paranormal will lead ghost tours

As part of the Washington County Historical Society's "Ghosts of Washington County" event, the Kettle Moraine Paranormal Investigation will lead tours through the "Haunted" Old Sheriff's Residence and Jail Friday, October 24, and Saturday, October 25.

In 2007, the Kettle Moraine Paranormal Investigation examined the Old Sheriff's Residence and Jail looking for paranormal activity. No ghosts were actually seen, but the team did experience some unusual noises and activities. The upcoming tours will guarantee some eerie and unusual sites that are sure to tingle the spine.

The Friday, October 24 tours begin at 6:30p.m., and are the scarier "haunt" of the two nights. Saturday, October 25 is the family friendly "Ghosts of Washington County" and will include haunted jail tours, "real" Washington county ghost stories, a dramatization of Edgar Allen Poe's "The Masque of the Red Death," and a costume contest for kids 12 and under. Treats, prizes, and lots of spooky fun are included.

The price of admission for both evenings is $5 per adult and $2 per child 12 and under. This event will take place at the Old Courthouse Museum complex located at 320 S. 5th Avenue, West Bend. For more information or questions, please contact the Washington County Historical Society at 262-335-4678.

Both of these special evenings are sponsored by Lori's Costume Shop located in West Bend. Come if you dare!

Kohlsville Kruisers to celebrate 35th Anniversary Oct. 25

Plan to show your support of the Kohlsville Kruisers Snowmobile Club on Saturday, October 25th at Jug's Hitching Post - this celebratory event will be held to recognize 35 years as a snowmobile club and their recent purchase of a 1998 Tucker Sno-Cat with the completed Drag Advertising Sign. The evening will start by recognizing many landowners, past honorary members and advertisers. The event will continue with a presentation at 7 pm and the cash raffle drawing at 9:30 pm. Copper Box will play for public admission from 8:30-12:30 am.

Copper Box, who features Kewaskum native, Michelle (Thull) Jerabek, performs music that crosses boundaries as effortlessly as a supersonic jet. The talented group draws inspiration from rock, polka, blues and Zydeco, resulting in a fusion of sound that captivates listeners and creates a musical melting pot of American rhythms.

Since the recent purchase of a 1998 Tucker Sno-Cat used to groom trails, the club has been busy with fundraising. We recently completed a "Drag Advertising Sign" billboard. They would like to thank all area advertisers for making this such a tremendous success. They also added their 35th Anniversary Cash Raffle which is in full swing - limited tickets available for $20 each with a maximum of 600 tickets sold. Grand Prize is $2000. Please call Heather Oelhafen 262-626-4274 or a club member to get your tickets.

DAYS GONE BY

50 Years Ago

August 29, 1958

At a meeting held Monday evening in the municipal building which was attended by approximately 20 businessmen of the village, a Kewaskum Businessmen's Association was organized. The purpose of the organization is to promote business in this village, create more unity among the businessmen, and as a whole, further Kewaskum. Officers of the new organization were elected, as follows: Jack Koehn, president; Kilian Honeck, secretary, and Wayland Tessar, treasurer.

Classes will be resumed at Holy Trinity Catholic School on September 3, with an expected enrollment of 240 pupils, just four fewer than last term when 244 were registered on opening day.

The Rev. Arthur Haupt of Arlington, Wisconsin, a June graduate of Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Illinois, was installed as pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church at New Fane on August 17.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alois Bremser, Kewaskum, on August 23.

September 5, 1958

A new promotion will be sponsored by the businessmen of Kewaskum beginning Friday night, September 12, whereby you can win from $25 to $100 cash simply by being present in one of the cooperating businesses or professional places. That night and every Friday night thereafter will be Kewaskum Bonus Night and between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30 pm the businessmen's association will give away $25 to $100 cash bonus. It should be clearly understood that either a man or his wife must be present in person inside or on the property of any of the sponsors in order to be eligible to win. If you are not present when your name is called off the bonus is increased from $25 to $50 the next week, and so on, up to $100.

Vernon Butz of St. Cloud, Wisconsin recently purchased the distributorship interests of Leo Rohlinger in the Sinclair Refining Company in Kewaskum. Rohlinger found it necessary to give up the distributorship due to ill health. Butz has been with the Sinclair Refining Company at St. Cloud for the past 23 years. Gregor Rohlinger, who was employed in the business with his father, will continue to work for Butz as a tank-wagon salesman.

Miss Rosalyn A. Emmer, daughter of Mrs. Adela Emmer of Campbellsport, and Lloyd C. Westerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westerman, Kewaskum, were married during a 9:30 am ceremony performed in St. Martin's Church, Ashford on August 30.

Twin daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. George Lang, Kewaskum, on August 28. Daughters were also born to Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Stern, Kewaskum, on August 28, and to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Krem-pasky, Kewaskum, on August 29.

John Staehler, Jr., 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Staehler, Sr., of the Town of Kewaskum, was instantly killed on August 25, near Princeton, Illinois, when the large freight truck he was driving went down an embankment and overturned, pinning Mr. Staehler below the wreckage. It is believed Mr. Staehler was forced off the road to avoid a collision. Mr. Staehler was in the employ of a large Western Freight Co., hauling freight between Chicago and points in Iowa. His home was at Wyanet, Illinois, five miles from Princeton.

"Mixey" Marx, star hurler and batter for the Campbellsport Belles of the Fon Do League says that last Sunday he had an easy day pitching the game against Oakfield. He struck out only 14 men, allowed the large sum of two hits, made only four hits out of six trips officially to the plate and scored only four runs.

Holy Trinity students get a Taste of Fall

Mrs. Breuer's first grade class at Holy Trinity School explored and learned a lot about the "Fruits of Fall" on their field trip to Riveredge Nature Center in Newburg. Students searched and found numerous seeds and then categorized them according to the ways the seeds travel to a new location to begin growing a new plant. Students were surprised to meet "Jenna" Applesseed, descendant of the famous Johnny Applesseed. The trip ended with the students placing apples in an apple press, turning the lever, and seeing the apple cider drip out from underneath the press! Of course, the students enjoyed a drink of delicious apple cider before leaving Riveredge.

Kewaskum Middle School
Eighth grade math/language arts

Education: Bachelor's Degree from UW-Stevens Point and currently enrolled in a master's program through Viterbo University.

Favorite hobbies/sports: Geocaching, basketball, volleyball, softball, crafts, reading and shopping.

Why did you choose to teach in Kewaskum: Kewaskum is a small community that puts an emphasis on good character and virtues in the schools and in the community. Knowing that the community backs the school makes this district a good place to be.

What do you enjoy about teaching? I enjoy seeing students grow and learn. I enjoy knowing that I am making a difference in someone's life day after day.

What is your favorite memory from when you were a student? When I was four years old, my sister told me about all the wonderful things that happened at school. She told me she wanted to bring me to school with her for Show-n-tell; however, I didn't ask my parents. I got all ready to go with her one morning but told me last minute she was joking. I was so sad and my sister ended up missing the bus so my dad had to take her to school. To say it nicely, my dad wasn't thrilled by the events that morning. Luckily, I only had to wait one more year before I started.

FES students learn fire safety

The week of October 5-11 was Fire Prevention Week. In honor of this important week, Farmington Elementary School (FES) was fortunate enough to have two local volunteer fire departments interact and educate students at all grade levels.

The Boltonville Fire Department kicked things off with an open house at the station. Later in the week they supervised a fire drill at FES, and the FES library had volunteer firefighter Dennis Fechter stop in to read to the 4-year-old kindergarteners about fire safety.

Joining in the fire prevention week education was Fillmore Fire Department volunteer member Heather May who visited each classroom at FES to talk about fire prevention in the home. And the department hosted a fire prevention week poster contest for FES students.

The Fillmore Fire Department then ended the week with an open house at the station for area families to tour the trucks used by the department, watch demonstrations, learn more about their local fire department, ask questions, and be entered to win various door prizes.

McCain: The Essential Guide to the Republican Nominee
by Mark Silva

Obama: The Essential Guide to the Democratic Nominee
by Naftali Bendavid

Both by Triumph Books $14.95 127 pages each

Got change?
If you're undecided this November, you'll need it. Heads, you vote for this duo. Tails, you vote for that one. Both candidates have talked about "change" at one point or another, and you're glad you've got a pocketful of it.

So what does a thinking adult do in an election year like this one? First, you find a copy each of "McCain: The Essential Guide to the Republican Nominee" by Mark Silva and "Obama: The Essential Guide to the Democratic Nominee" by Naftali Bendavid. Then, you settle in and get educated.

As the son and grandson of Navy men, it wasn't hard for John Sidney McCain III to choose a career in the service. Long before his years as a Navy pilot, though, McCain was known as a rebel who would fight with anyone who provoked him. His tenacious personality served him well when he was shot down over Vietnam in 1967 and imprisoned in a POW camp. When beaten for information, he reportedly gave his captors highly important data: the names of the Green Bay Packers line-up.

Released from captivity in 1973, McCain continued with his Navy career. In 1982, a year after his retirement, he ran for Congress for the first time.

McCain maintains a commitment to the War on Terror. He wants to see federal taxes simplified. He hates "pork-barrel spending" and he pledges to fix Social Security and the housing crisis.

When Stanley Ann Dunham (born in Kansas) fell in love with Barack Obama, Sr.

(born in Kenya), everyone was surprised. Stanley Ann never seemed interested in marriage or motherhood, but within a year of meeting Barack, Sr., their son Barack Hussein Obama, Jr. was born in Hawaii.

Raised in different cultures on different continents, Barack Obama started his career as an activist working for Chicago's South Side community. Wanting to do more, he attended Harvard, then returned to Chicago with an eye toward a "dream job" as governor of Illinois. Instead, in 1997, Obama entered the Illinois State Senate.

Obama wants to increase the size of the Army and the Marines, and he calls for a time-table for withdrawal of troops from Iraq. He pledges to create new jobs through cleaner energy. He's promised to crack down on mortgage fraud.

Written by Chicago Tribune staff members, both Essential Guides include biographies of the candidates, their careers and platforms. What's most interesting about these books, though, is that they include scandals and controversies in which the candidates have been embroiled and the struggles they've had. Also interesting are the chapters about the candidates' wives and families. All this information makes both these books comprehensive overviews for any voter who's undecided, confused, or just wants to know more before heading to the polls.

With that in mind, pick up "McCain: The Essential Guide to the Republican Nominee" and "Obama: The Essential Guide to the Democratic Nominee" and leave the coins at home. With these two books in hand, the change you'll need is the one you'll get by voting.

Octoberfest...Deer numbers high on special antlerless hunt

With the sun still high but beginning its drop in the western skies over Rush Lake, the first deer came. A doe and two fawns emerged from an endless sea of cattails, cut the bordering stand of ash and oak and found the crop of 'rape' that had called them so early from the security of the marsh in the first place. Another doe and a lone fawn soon followed, then a spike, a fork and a third mama with offspring.

On stand Friday afternoon 200 yards from this highway heaven of venison on the edge of a woodlot overlooking the crop, I watched them come. A scoped shotgun holding slugs was ready. Binoculars focused in to scrutinize each visitor to the crop and another of red clover to the east, then scanned far reaches of the marsh for a distant glint of sunlight on antler. The camera fitted with telephoto lens hung from my neck.

I was ready on this second day of the special October, antlerless-only deer hunt, first as a reporter and then as a Wisconsin hunter. But a hunter not at all familiar with the kind of show I was being introduced to October 17th in Unit 66 west of Oshkosh. Personal preference sends this bow and rifle hunter annually to hunt the unbroken forests of the far north. Often too, I hunt nearer home in the southeast with bow and arrow on public terrain of the the Kettle Moraine State Forest's northern unit near Adell. Seeing deer in those wonderful haunts is a gift. Fastening a tag is a comparatively rare gift.

Friday, I was a guest on the private property owned by my friend George Curtis. Curtis has spent a lifetime working with federal and state organization like the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS), Wisconsin DNR and the Glacial Habitat Program and the Nature Conservancy in Wisconsin to protect literally more than 1,000 acres of personally owned land in northern and central Wisconsin from future commercial or residential development and to ensure post-sale easement rights and ongoing use of the properties by the outdoor community.

The producer of "It's Your Environment" cable television program, Curtis was named 2008 Conservation Communicator of the Year by the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation for helping to educate the public about diverse issues related to conservation and the environment, including habitat preservation, hunting safety, water quality protection and stewardship of our natural resources.

On the Curtis property Friday, Christmas came early. The 2008 Wisconsin deer population prior to any archery or firearm season harvest reports was estimated between 1.5 and 1.7 million animals. For a little while on stand, I was beginning to think maybe half of those deer were going to congregate on this back-40.

Wisconsin's October antlerless deer only gun hunt October 16 through 19 was designed to reduce deer numbers and gave hunters the opportunity to put a deer in the freezer and prequalify for Earn-a-Buck (EAB) authorization prior to the traditional November 9-day gun deer hunt. My reasons for coming to the Oshkosh area Friday were several-fold. I was more interested in photos than killing a doe but the freezer is empty and I had every intention of squeezing the trigger if given the opportunity. I wanted the new experience offered by central Wisconsin's high deer numbers. And I wanted to simply spend an afternoon in a Wisconsin treestand to take in the sights and sounds of deer fast approaching the peak of rut, or the mating season for whitetails.

In the north country, that means hunting with the bow as late on the calendar as possible prior to the scheduled gun deer hunt. I wasn't sure what I would see or hear in Unit 66 in mid-October in central Wisconsin. Ultimately though, it was the whole show.

When sunset and the end of shooting hours sent me down the tree and initiated a salute of white surrender flags bounding again from the rape to the safety of the Rush Lake marsh, I had watched between 40 and 50 different whitetail deer. Maybe 12 had been bucks. Big bucks, little bucks, sparring bucks, romantic bucks rejected by not-yet-ready lady friends. You can't buy a ticket to that kind of a show.

Fawn bawls carried from the ring of trees across the property to my tree, causing adult does scattered over the field to snap to attention to see what was troubling the little one. A larger buck stayed under the safety of cover in the mature woods behind me, but his "grunting" betrayed him and I was able to find his white antlers with telephoto in the darkening woods and snap his photo.

One forkhorn continuously challenged another to spar in the center of the field, or center ring if you prefer. I would have not had known that they were bucks at all if not for the click-clattering of small antlers. A doe not yet ready for romance rejected the advances of a mature buck. And some biggest boys who have learned to survive a season or two emerged in low light from the marsh, or hung to heavy cover until complete darkness set in.

I refrained from taking any shot throughout the afternoon, hoping instead for sparring activity camera shots near my stand. The lone doe I did elect to tag at 40 yards late in the day ruined my plans a bit when a fawn entered the scene and looked to suckle milk. Now, I know that harvesting a fawn is a good wildlife management tool; fawns will be the least likely to survive a harsh winter. I also know that fawns are old enough to survive now without mother.

But I also know the freezer can go another day or two without venison. I never did pull the trigger. But I did pull out of the Curtis property with more great memories from the Wisconsin fields. And that's one shot I'll always take.

New sport, same old competitive spirit

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Ross Stockhausen and Garrett Donath are teammates again, this time as members of the University of Wisconsin-Madison men's rugby team.

Just this past weekend, the two former Kewaskum High football and baseball standouts helped the Badgers capture the state collegiate title with a 44-21 win over UW-Whitewater, and now they look ahead to earning a spot in the national tournament.

"It's similar to football," Stockhausen, a junior in civil engineering, said, explaining there are two end zones on a rugby field (pitch), and the players are allowed to continually pass the ball, only, like laterals, the passes must go backwards.

Each team is striving to reach the other's end zone, where, according to Stockhausen, a player must place the ball on the ground and with some force.

"That's called a try. It's worth five points," Stockhausen said, indicating both he and Donath scored a try in the win over the Warhawks. Following a try, an additional 2 points can be scored with a successful place kick made from a line perpendicular to the point at which the ball was scored.

"It helps to put it (the ball) down (for a try) between the goal posts," he explained.

"The largest different between rugby and football is I feel rugby is an all-around more athletic game," Donath said. "At any point during a match, the majority of players have to be able to run with the ball, pass, punt and use tactical kicks to advance the ball ... as well as tackle on defense."

There are 15 players on the field at a time, and, "All play offense and defense," Stockhausen said, indicating, "the forwards usually are the bigger guys and they do most of the tackling," while the backs are faster players, who need to handle the ball well and usually do most of the scoring.

"Typically during a game, Ross will play inside center, and I will play outside center," Donath said. "We tend to be more on the outside, but therefore also have to be sure tacklers on defense and have to have good ball-handling skills."

There are no stoppages in the game to set up plays like there are in football. Rugby is constant play," Donath said. "If an offensive player gets tackled, the ball is live, and as a teammate, you have to get over to the ball as fast as possible, ruck over your player to win the ball. Then the scrum half will come in and pass it out to another teammate again, only to have the whole process start over again, resulting in very few breaks."

So how did these ex-football players come to earn spots on the Badger rugby team?

Stockhausen said a former roommate had played rugby since his freshman year, and he suggested they give the rough-and-tumble sport a try. Both are hooked, and both are doing very well, considering they just started last December with indoor workouts and practice in the McClain Center where the football team also practices.

"It's a lot of fun," Stockhausen said. "It's a lot rougher than football ... no pads, no helmets. Some of the guys wear foam hats, but they don't provide much protection."

Rebels have the upper hand

Only 5th grade Indian gridgers come away with a win

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum Gridiron teams ran into some tough sledging Saturday in their crossover playoff games against Saukville.

Even though they had the home field advantage, only the fifth graders (6-1) came away with a victory, and as coach Mark Walcheske put it, "It wasn't pretty" and was far from easy. The final score was 12-6.

The youngest Rebels came in with a 0-5-1 record, yet they led at intermission 6-0.

"We couldn't get anything going offensively," Walcheske said, reporting the bright spot offensively in the first half was a 23-yard pass from Mike Prochnow to Andrew Otto.

After making some half-time adjustments, the Indians finally found a way to move the ball more effectively and drove 49 yards to their first TD, which came on a short run by Josh Baker. The run for PAT failed, so the score stayed even.

In the fourth quarter, the Indians successfully pulled off a 34-yard reverse by Baker for the winning touchdown. "Eric Doll had a nice block to spring Baker," Walcheske said, reporting Doll actually knocked down three opponents.

The defense, led by Brandon Thull, Charlie Witek, Jason Hanson, Cole Rahlf, Mason Rose, Berat Elmazi and Steven Nurkala, were cited for their excellent play in the second half.

UW rugby experience this far," Donath said. "We have a very good team, with a lot of depth."

"The best thing, besides matches on the weekend, are the players on the team," he went on. "There are 15 players on the field at a time, 22 on a team, and we have around 55 guys that make up our A and B teams, and each one of those guys is willing to do whatever it takes to help out their teammates in order to tilt the scoreboard in our favor. It is very similar to football in terms of camaraderie, and each player going out there and doing their job to help the team out."

Stockhausen said the team is 6-2 at this point, having won the state title and finishing fifth in the recent Big Ten Tournament.

"All of the Big Ten schools have teams and Notre Dame was in the tournament (in Indiana," Stockhausen said, reporting Wisconsin first defeated Minnesota, then hooked up with Notre Dame in a 10-10 deadlock that was finally decided in a shootout in the Irish's favor after three overtimes.

The Badgers then lost quite decisively to Ohio State, according to Stockhausen, who said this week's Midwest Sweet 16 will take place in Whitewater, with UW facing the University of Minnesota-Duluth first. Wisconsin must win games on Saturday and Sunday to advance to the nationals.

Win or lose, Donath is glad he is on the team. "School (mechanical engineering) takes up more of my time, but that lack of time was also part of the reason I decided to try rugby out," he said. "Rugby gives my mind a break, and lets me run round, get the blood flowing and actually be more focused when I get back to doing school work again."

When asked if rugby's popularity is growing, Stockhausen said, "In my eyes, it's growing." The NCAA now has tournaments in Division 1 and 2, and there is a World Cup of Rugby, which was shown on ESPN last year.

The seventh graders (5-2) scored two, second-half touchdowns but it wasn't enough to overtake the Rebels, who won the game 20-13.

Down 6-0 at half, the Indians' offense finally put together a drive and got on the board via a 1-yard run by Joey Seitz. The PAT was good on a pass from Alex Johnson to Seitz.

The second TD was provided by Austin Resch, who carried the ball into the end zone from 14 yards out.

When asked if his team threatened again, coach Randy Schlice said, "We scored with 10 seconds left. We had it (a 75-yard run) called back because of a block below the waist."

Schlice said "Matthew Ringwell had an interception and a couple of knockdowns," and, "Brett Boegel also had a good game on defense."

What the coach was especially happy with, however, was, "The kids played hard. They never gave up."

The sixth graders (5-2) scored just once and ended up on the short end of an 18-7 score.

"The only touchdown we got was late in the game by Dylan Thull. Zach Smith got the point after," coach Joe Backhaus said.

Backhaus said his team struggled for the first three quarters, but the Indians came alive near the end, and, "We finally started playing like we should have been playing."

Smith, Kenny Ellis and Hunter Demmon each "had decent runs," according to Backhaus, who said there was no consistency.

Brad Peterson and Smith had some good plays on defense.

Down 12-6 with five minutes to play, it looked like the eighth graders (3-4) might come up with the tying TD, but penalties and quarterback sacks ended the Indians' final drive with less than four minutes to go.

"We played pretty decent in the second half," coach Jim "Jonesy" Korth said. "(Teddy) Wollner did a lot of good running ... broke a draw play up the middle" for the only touchdown.

After the TD, the Indians held and got the ball back, but the opportunity ended without a score.

Korth said one of the problems was his quarterback was "hitting the boys in the hands, and they weren't catching them (passes). If we could have completed fifty percent of our passes, I think we could have won."

About the defense, Korth said in the first half, "Derek Aupperle and Teddy were making ninety percent of the tackles. I think at one point, Wollner had six straight solo tackles."

This season finales are set for Saturday, and the sixth, seventh and eighth grade teams will be playing at West Bend.

Indians lose in close one

By Pat Neumuth

patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Indians head coach Dennis Gutbrod said with the team only having one win in EWC play, this game against Campbellsport was their season. They held the lead for most of the game, but fell short 3-2 Thursday.

The Indians held possession for most of the first half, but they struggled putting shots on goal. Nicholas Gutbrod took a lot of shots outside of the box high. The Indians first shot on goal was by Nate Wendelborn. Wendelborn got a pass inside the box and shot with his left foot, but it was right at Campbellsport's keeper.

Kewaskum struck first late in the first half. Gutbrod dribbled through two Campbellsport defenders facing the goalie to make a diving stop, giving the Indians a corner kick. Gutbrod sent the corner into the box. The ball careened off the goalies finger tips, onto the knee of Caleb Olla to put the biscuit in the basket.

"It was a good cross by Nick. I thought the goalie was going to get it, but you always have to crash the net," Olla said about the goal.

Kewaskum went into halftime with the one goal lead.

Kewaskum's middle defense of goalie Dillon Thelen and fullbacks Harley Bruss and Brad Conroy had great games Dennis Gutbrod said.

"They got nothing up the middle," Gutbrod said. "Those two guys up the middle (Bruss and Conroy) have played a couple of solid games."

Campbellsport got the equalizer early in the second half. Number 4 shot the ball just inside the box. Thelen made a diving stop, but 13 was on the post for the rebound goal.

Nicholas Gutbrod connected once more with Olla to put the Indians back on top. Olla received a nice through pass, giving Olla a one-on-one with Campbellsport's new goalie. Olla said he said an opening and took a quick shot low at the near post for the goal.

"Before the game my dad came down and said 'two goals, you got to score two goals today,'" Olla said. "I did so, I was pretty proud."

Even though he played a good game for the entire match, Thelen gave up two more goals. The Cougars tied it up again midway in the second half as number 4 beat Thelen to a through pass and made him pay. Campbellsport's third goal came off of a corner kick. Previously in goal, goalie put his head on the ball for the goal.

"Outside of the three goals, I thought he was outstanding," said Dennis Gutbrod, "but that's where we are at with Dillon. Just waiting and hoping you don't get a mistake or a ball misplayed or something like that. He had a lot of saves."

Campbellsport's final two goals were put in when Kewaskum's field general Nicholas Gutbrod went down cramping. Dennis Gutbrod saw him leaving the game which was a turning in the game. Nicholas did return to the game.

footed shot that hit the cross bar.

This is the second time this season the Indians lost to the Cougars by one goal. Back on Sept. 18, the Indians lost in overtime to Campbellsport 1-0.

"Everyone wanted that game, it was a tough one to lose. We just got to keep playing soccer until it's done," Olla said.

No CC all-EWC

Head coach Dave Drexler said he was a little disappointed that no runner made all-conference honors.

Zack Herriges had the best shot for the boys, but Herriges cramped up at the two-mile point. Aaron Monte placed 17th for the boys best time and Tonya Janssen finished 21st for the girls.

Overall, the teams finished where Drexler expected them to be at.

KYB to host coaching clinic

The Kewaskum Youth Basketball in association with the Kewaskum Varsity basketball coaching staffs and the high school Athletic Director are hosting their second annual basketball coach's clinic on Sunday at the high school field house. The first of their two-part clinics will begin at 11 a.m. and will run for just over an hour. Even though the clinic is a mandatory requirement for all KYB coaches, all Kewaskum area basketball coaches are invited and encouraged to attend. The purpose of the clinics is to unify programs so that all are consistent in teaching and philosophy regardless of the age group being worked with.

Sunday's session will be the first of the two part sessions. The first session will feature Jason Piittmann, Athletic Director and Head Varsity Football Coach in Kewaskum. Piittmann will be leading off the discussions with time-proven methods of coaching philosophy, psychology and the Kewaskum School District's expectations of their coaching staffs. Piittmann will also discuss parental guidance in coaching youth sports. The session will then focus on the youth basketball program's goals, philosophies and rules. The varsity coaching staffs from both the girls and boys programs will be there to share their ideas and suggestions.

The next session (TBA) will be lead by the varsity basketball coaching staffs and their players. This session will focus on the specific skills and drills to be used at all levels. Many of these skills will be demonstrated by the players. They will discuss and show us the offense and defensive drills to make our Kewaskum basketball program a success.

Both sessions will be hands-on so please come prepared with the proper gym attire, to take lots of notes and a willingness to share and to learn.

Wagner, Indians win on senior/parent's night

By Pat Neumuth
Statesman Sports Editor

Senior Brandi Wagner won her final match of her career last Tuesday at Kewaskum High School against Plymouth, but it was not the way she expected it to be.

"I don't think we played up to the potential that we could," Wagner said about beating the Panthers 21-25, 25-20, 25-22 and 25-19. "We came into this game thinking we were going to win and it got to our heads and we didn't play as well as we thought we could."

Wagner is the lone senior this year and was recognized along with all of the parents after pre-game warm-ups.

The girls were not sharp all night. There were flashes of good play, but a lot of unforced errors stopped potential runs.

"I think we did play down to the level of there playing, but we did have a lot of mental errors like missed serves, not controlling passes, just simple things like that," Wagner said.

Head coach Renee Altendorf said this game was very stressful, but the team did what they needed to do to get the win. This win puts Kewaskum in position to be second place in the EWC, which means they would not have to see powerhouse Waupun over the weekend's conference tournament until the championship match.

The Indians played catch up to start off the match. They finally tied the game up at 16 with an ace by Wagner. Points went back and forth until the score was 22-21 in favor of Plymouth. The Panthers scored three in a row to close out the game.

Kewaskum jumped out to a lead in the second game. Plymouth fought back and the game was tied at seven after Haylie Hansen committed a foot foul on her serve. Alyssa Miller's offense came alive. She forced a Plymouth timeout after a powerful put back on a weak Plymouth over. The score was 13-9. Later in the game she extended the Indians lead with a kill of a Plymouth block, back-to-back with an ace. This gave the Indians a 16-10 lead.

It looked like the Indians were going to run away with the game when they went on a 6-2 run to make it 24-15. Plymouth went on a 5-0 run to make the game interesting. Wagner finished the game with an overhead shot winner.

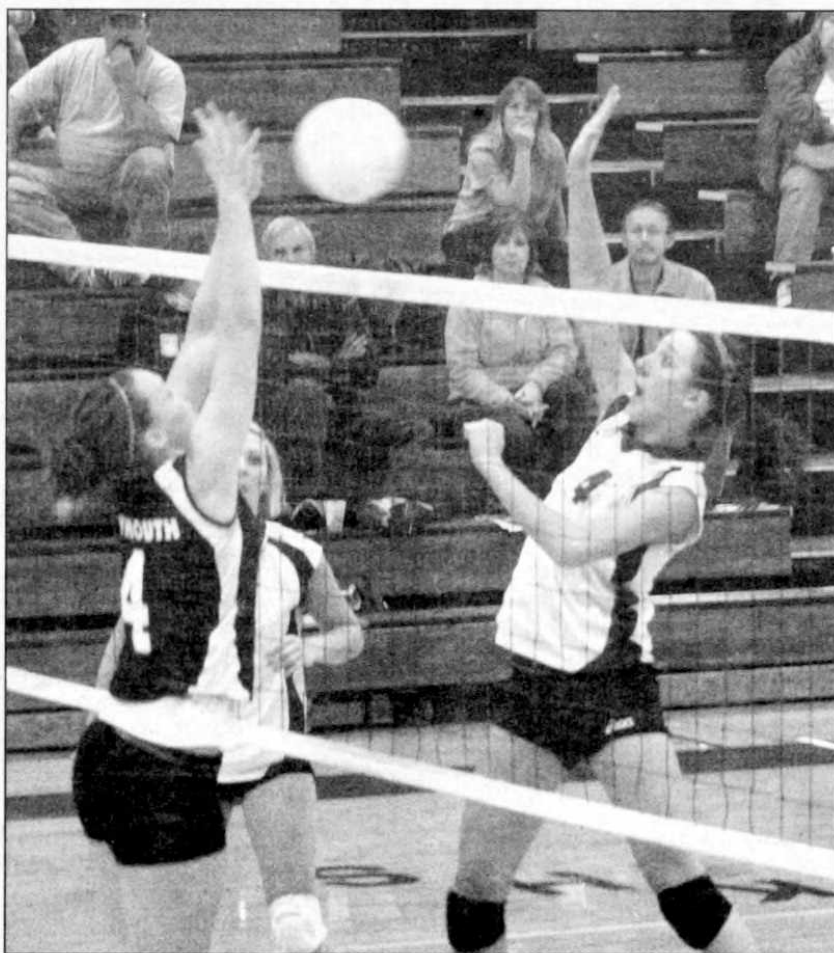

The third game the Indians played a little better, but could not break away from Plymouth. The largest lead Kewaskum could build up was four. Plymouth came back again late in this game. Panther's Britta Dellger aced the Indians to tie the game at 21. Kewaskum lost the lead when freshman Kayla Bastian served into the net. A couple of unforced Plymouth errors allowed the Indians to rattle off four straight points for the game.

The Indians played their best game in the last game. Erika Heberer, who came into this game ill, played her best game as the team's setter. Heberer started a 5-0 run with a tip point. The Kewaskum lead got as much as 11-3 after the run. Once again Plymouth came back in the game. Plymouth won the longest point of the game, when Sarah Potts overhand winner gave Plymouth a 16-15 lead. The following Plymouth serve by Dellger hit the net, which sparked a 9-3 run to finish the match.

"Serving. We had 14 missed serves," Altendorf said on what the team will practice in the days leading up to the EWC tournament. "Play a lot of defense. Really working on our defense."

"We are taking a break, too. Just mentally they need a day of rest, so we are going to take that day and go in and come in hard the next two days going into the conference tournament."

Wagner finished her last home game with 10 kills, 10 digs and one ace.

Indians fourth in EWC tourney

By Pat Neumuth
Statesman Sports Editor
patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum High School volleyball team came into the EWC tournament exactly where they wanted to be, not in Waupun's pool. The Indians were the two seed coming into the tournament, but finished fourth with losing their final three matches.

The girls started off pool play beating Campbellsport 25-19, 25-19 and Kiel 25-20, 25-19. However, the team lost to No. 3 seed New Holstein 25-21, 27-29, 15-9 in the pool play deciding match.

With the loss to New Holstein, the Indians were matched up with host Waupun in the semifinals. Waupun advanced to the finals with a 25-17, 25-9 victory. The Indians played the loser between New Holstein and Sheboygan Falls. New Holstein advanced by beating Falls 11-25, 25-21, 16-14.

Falls edged out the Indians 25-14, 25-27, 17-15 for third place.

Head coach Renee Altendorf said the whole weekend the team struggled with their passing.

"I was hoping we could be first in our pool," Altendorf said the team goals were coming into the conference tournament. "I really thought we could take Sheboygan Falls. Get that victory back. We lost to them in the regular play, I was hoping to get it back as a victory in the conference tournament."

Everyone on the Indians bench played against Campbellsport. Altendorf said she knew Campbellsport was beatable, her team just had to prove it.

"I got my girls who usually don't get in, which was nice to see," Altendorf said. "Everyone got to play in the conference tournament on my team and that doesn't happen usually for conference games."

The Indians ran Kiel off the court. Kiel got done with a battle against New Holstein just before the Raiders had to play Kewaskum. Altendorf said the girls came into this game really wanting it and was pleased her team won in straight games.

The Indians played New Holstein for the pool play championship.

"It seemed like the girls were pumped up to play them, but they just weren't. They just didn't have it in them," Altendorf said. "Service receive wasn't very good, our hitting wasn't very good."

Altendorf said the Indians could not stop New Holstein outside hitter Kelsey Merten. Merten would get kill threw blocks or opposite the defense away from digs.

The Indians showed perseverance in coming back in the second game to win it. In the deciding third game the teams were tied at seven. Altendorf said the team just could not do anything and the Huskies finished the game on an 8-2 run.

Altendorf said the girls really wanted to get after Waupun after the lunch break. And they did in the first game. Kewaskum put up 17 points against the third ranked team in division two. Altendorf said her goal against Waupun was to get 15 points and they did that. Waupun went on an early 13-point run to blow the second game wide open.

Altendorf said she did not know whom the team wanted to play in the third place match. New Holstein has Merten as a good hitter and Sheboygan Falls has a smart setter.

"The first game, the girls just like died," Altendorf said. "They were running into each other on passes, they were yelling at each other. It wasn't my team."

The Indians bore down to take the second game. Altendorf said her team looked right again. Kewaskum had a lead in the final game, but errors squandered the lead and the Falcons won 16-14 in extra play.

"We just couldn't pull it out. Just one error here, one error there and it cost us the game," Altendorf said.

Waupun beat New Holstein in straight games, 25-8, 25-11, for the conference championship.

Senior Brandi Wagner had 28 kills and 40 digs for her final weekend of EWC competition. Elissa Miller led the team with 42 kills.

Four-Peat

Indians EWC champs once again

Kewaskum 32
New Holstein 7

patrick@kewaskumstatesman.com

NEW HOLSTEIN - The Indians football team was singing in the rain after Friday's 32-7 EWC championship clinching victory over New Holstein.

"Oh my gosh, four-peat. Oh, my brother he played two years ago and he got conference championship. You know we just did it for them, we did it for the alumni, for our coaches," the elated Eric Turowski said after the game. "Our coach told us about a guy who coached way back in the day, Walt Bade, we played for him."

"It's been in the back of my mind all week. It probably won't sink in until tomorrow or the day after, but it's special, very special," head coach Jason Piittmann said of the fourth EWC championship in a row.

Kewaskum jumped on the Huskies early and did not let them in the game. The Indians forced a three-and-out and started on offense at their own 38 yard line. Quarterback Nick Olla had to convert on a fourth and inches with a quarterback sneak to keep the drive moving in Husky territory. Running back Cody Seibel pounded the ball into the end zone. Seibel was given three carries inside the 10 yard line and converted from three yards out to score. Kicker Brian Backhaus missed the extra point to give the Indians the early 6-0 lead.

The offense went right back to work, when New Holstein was forced to punt again. This drive, Kewaskum went more to the air. Olla completed a pass to Brandon Zolp for 17 yards on third and 12. The next play, the first play of the second quarter, Olla play action faked the run and threw it deep down the middle to a wide-open Zach Amerling. This 45-yard gain put the Indians to the Huskies 21. Two plays later the Olla-Amerling connection hooked up for a 20-yard touchdown pass.

"We call it a banana route. We fake inside and break outside when the corner turns," Amerling said about the TD. "He went real good on the inside route and I was wide open."

This was easily Olla's best game through the air. He went 10-for-11 with 108 yards and threw for two touchdowns.

Amerling set up the next Indians touchdown with a great defensive play. Amerling jumped in front of the New Holstein receiver's route and picked off the Chris Lefeber pass. Kewaskum went down the field in nine plays and 59 yards, capped off with a Turowski 13-yard touchdown catch. Olla bought time in the pocket and he found Turowski open as he crossed the middle of the field. The Backhaus kick was tipped.

The Indians had an 18-0 halftime lead.

The Indians managed to move down the field on their first possession of the second half, but failed to convert on a fourth and two on the Huskies 32. However, the Kewaskum defense forced New Holstein to punt after three plays.

Amerling had a nice punt return to give the Indians a short field. Turowski made the big play with a 29-yard touchdown up the gut of the Husky defense.

"I said to my linemen before that touchdown, 'Okay boys, touchdown let's go, let's block now,'" Turowski said. "I always rely on my linemen because they are the heart of the team."

Turowski starts as an outside linebacker and now at fullback with Nathan Westerman out with an injury. Turowski said participating in track last year has really helped his conditioning for football.

Seibel scored the Indians final touchdown at the 11:14 mark in the fourth quarter. Seibel took the hand-off on third and goal from the five and bounced outside to score. Seibel ran 18 times for 76 yards and two touchdowns.

The Huskies tacked on their only touchdown with 1:50 left in the game against Kewaskum's No. 2 defense. Lefeber hooked up with Austin Polster for the seven-yard score over the middle.

Kewaskum totaled 392 yards of offense, whereas New Holstein could only accumulate 158 of total offense.

"It's great. To finish off my career like this and win the conference championship, I don't know. I couldn't ask for anything more," Amerling said.

The JV team beat New Holstein 49-14. Kewaskum recovered a fumble on the Huskies first possession and scored two plays later. Tony Crossman also returned a punt for a touchdown. JV is now 7-1. The freshmen team also won against New Holstein, 7-0. The freshmen scoring drive was 15 plays for 75 yards. Sam Olla scrambled for the 15-yard touchdown. Olla scored with six seconds left in the game.

Preview: Kiel

Kiel makes the trip down to Kewaskum for the final regular season game of the year. With conference already sealed, Indians head coach Jason Piittmann said the team still has to get the No. 1 seed for the playoffs.

"An undefeated conference champion means more than just a conference champion," Piittmann said.

The Indians are at the mercy of only having seven teams to play in conference. A conference champion who is 8-0 will get a better seed. Piittmann said the main goal now is to get a first round home game.

Kewaskum cannot look ahead past Kiel because the Raiders still have work to do to become playoff bound.

One aspect of the game Kiel will have to overcome to beat the Indians is their injuries. Kiel's two best players, according to Piittmann, could be out this week. Quarterback Brandon Gries is reportedly out for the rest of the season and top rusher Taylor Lorbecki may be out with a concussion. Lorbecki is responsible for a little over half of the Raiders run offense.

Joey Rabe has taken over for Kiel under center. Piittmann said Rabe is a good athlete, but he is not the runner Gries was. Brandon Matznick is their leader in receiving with 10 catches for 175 yards and two touchdowns on the season. Look for Derek Fitsch and Matt Meunier to get the carries out of the Kiel backfield.

The Raiders offense is a run first style of team that runs their offense out of the I-form or inverted wishbone.

"For the most part, they look similar to us as how they approach the game," Piittmann said.

Kiel's defense is mainly out of the 5-3 formation, but has shown other fronts on tape as well.

Look for more rushes for Cody Seibel this week, as running back Jordan Petrin quit before the New Holstein game.

Piittmann said Nathan Seitz and Ray Wollner will be given a chance to backup Seibel. Seitz has been in the backfield all year working with the second team and Wollner is a converted wide receiver.

"At this point in the season, I'm not as concerned about (conditioning) because the kids are pretty much in game shape. Cody himself is in great shape to begin with, very hard worker. It's going to take a truck to get him off the field," Piittmann said of Seibel getting more touches in the backfield.

Both teams have a short week of preparation with the game being tonight, instead of tomorrow. Piittmann said he combined his usual Monday and Tuesday practices into one on Monday. Other than that, the practice regiment will not change later in the week. The final regular season game is played on Thursday to prepare for the state playoffs that start Tuesday.

Two years ago when Kiel last played in Kewaskum, the Indians beat them 13-7 in overtime. Last year, the Indians won 28-14.

Again, the game is tonight, kickoff is at 7 p.m.
