KEWASKUM- The School District is transitioning to a new grading system that doesn't downgrade for late work, missing class or cheating in an effort to differentiate between classroom performance and behavior.

"What's happening is they're separating performing from discipline," said Superintendent Michael Krumm, to get "an accurate measurement on performing on course content."

"We want to go to an accurate assessment of what we're doing. We're teaching to standards. It's a very important step for us to get at student performance. That's what we're talking about here," he said.

Grades have historically been based on some factors like getting a slip signed by a parent or bringing in a Kleenex box.

"There are a lot of factors that deflate or inflate a grade that have nothing to do with course content," he said. "Grades now mean different things to different teachers - all kinds of things are thrown in."

Krumm instead wants to use a system that measures grasping the material.

"What does a student really know," he said.

"It's no different than the U.S. military," he said, which rates soldiers' performance and has separate disciplinary records.

A summary of the new system from Kewaskum High school Principal Christine Horbas published in a district newsletter is drawing the ire of some parents. A listing of the eight don'ts in grading includes behavior, late work, extra credit, cheating, attendance, group work, comparing students' performances (use pre-determined standards) and averaging grades with zeros (incomplete work).

Parent Dennis Butz takes issue with cheating and handing in work on time.

"Christine's point is that the grade shouldn't reflect these points but my thought is that the school

Boys & Girls Club looking to expand program here to middle school students

By Mitch Maersch
 For The Statesman

KEWASKUM- The Kewaskum Boys and Girls Club on Monday night took a step toward offering middle school programming as the Village Board approved waiving the fee to use the Municipal Building Annex on Fond du Lac Avenue.

Kewaskum Elementary School Principal Tom Fischer said the club would like to expand to maintain programming for many of its 311 members who move on to middle school.

Hours would run from 3-6 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays, and 1-5:30 p.m. on Wednesdays so as not to disrupt the Wednesday evening bingo crowd in the Annex.

Fischer said while elementary school students don't mind using the school for the club, middle school students want to be away from school. The Annex, he said, is a good size and in a good location.

The building is not used during those hours.

The Village Board unanimously approved waiving the $80 per use fee.

Next comes fundraising to make the program happen. Washington County Boys and Girls Club Executive Director Jay Fisher said between $25,000 and $27,000 is needed.

Fischer said he would provide the board a progress update after the program is up and running.

Kewaskum, entering its third year with a Boys and Girls Club chapter, is the club's third location in Washington County, aside from West Bend and Jackson. Fisher said 125 children per day have been attending in summer.

Who's the Fairest of them all? Kewaskum's Zima of course!

By Mitch Maersch
For the Statesman

TOWN of POLK- Kewaskum's own Kate Zima was named the 2009 Washington County Fairest of the Fair Tuesday night.

Zima, the daughter of Rick and Patti Zima, is a 2008 graduate of Kettle Moraine Lutheran High School and sophomore at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. She hopes to someday become a news anchor.

In the final question segment of the event, Zima described a grateful fair experience. She remembered her first cake competition when she was 10. The cake decorating enthusiast made a sandcastle cake - even made a dummy cake at home - and showed up on Wednesday for judging.

Except judging was on Monday.

Zima became a bit distressed, but her mother went and found a foods judge - "the nicest judge" - who went through Zima's cake with her.

In high school, Zima was active in Student Council, National Honor Society, Wind Ensemble, forensics, band and choir.

Zima works at Yahoo Care Center as the lead in information technology providing tech support for employees in all corporate offices.

She has been a fair exhibitor for eight years and has volunteered for 4-H events.

Julie Martin of Rubicon, a 2007 graduate of Hartford Union High School and junior at UW-Madison, was runner-up. Christy Thatcher of Richfield, a Germantown High School graduate and incoming freshman at Colorado State University, was the third candidate.

Judges were Roger Kist, executive director of the Washington County Convention and Visitors Bureau; Cindy Jakusz, 1996 Fairest of the Fair; and Liz Giese, Mrs. Washington County.

Zima was crowned by 2008 Fairest of the Fair Jennifer Bartley, who gave a speech on her experience the past year. 2009 Wisconsin Fairest of Fairs Melissa Ploeckelman was also honored and talked about traveling the state to various events. The Washington County Fair was her 25th of the summer.

Kewaskum's new grading procedure

should be preparing the students for life beyond high school. Just try cheating in college or handing in late work in college or tech school," he said.

"You will be basically thrown off campus for cheating and severely downgraded for the late work if the college teacher even accepts it. My main question to everyone who supports the new system is this: If colleges and tech schools downgrade students for late work and cheating, why should Kewaskum High School not do the same thing?"

On Monday the School District gave a copy of an article Kewaskum High School Principal Christine Horbas wrote for the Kewaskum Community newsletter to The Statesman further explaining her previous article.

In the article Horbas states, "Cheating is typically handled by giving the student no credit for the work and possibly some disciplinary consequences. The problem with this approach is that we don't know how the student would actually perform on the assessment."

She continued, "Under the new approach, students are expected to complete the work or an alternative assessment (if that test has been corrupted) and receive disciplinary consequences for their actions up to and including suspension from school. Students will still be receiving consequences for their inappropriate actions."

Students turning in late work may face staying after school or a Saturday detention.

"The point is that they actually have to complete the work because it is essential for determining their performance on the standard. A student can't simply take a zero and make up the points in other ways or accept a lower grade. Students must actually complete the work so that a determination can be made as to their actual achievement," Horbas wrote.

Krumm said the new system is more challenging than the old, namely with late work and cheating.

"What we're going to say is no, you're going to do it. At the same time, they're going to be disciplined. They're going to get disciplinary consequences and they're going to have to do it. So it's actually tougher," he said.

Responding to why students won't be graded on hitting deadlines, Krumm looked to his own experience.

"In the real world, lots of deadlines aren't met - contractors, etc. say can't meet a certain deadline - we need to treat kids the same way," he said. "There are some hard and fast deadlines. I think we have to be flexible."

For group work, students will be graded individually. One student's poor effort won't bring an entire group's grade.

"People still work together," Krumm said.

As far as training students for the real world, Krumm said individual assessment is key.

"We're trying to figure out if I'm a parent or student - I need to know how I'm doing.

We're responsible for giving the information on how that particular student does."

In grading students on attendance, Krumm said state law doesn't allow it, though some other states allow attendance to be taken into account in grading.

In spring, the district worked with educational consultant and former curriculum coordinator for the Toronto District School Board Ken O'Connor, who wrote a book called "Assess For Success." Krumm said the transition to the new system will be done incrementally and take a couple of years.

"It's a change for (teachers), too - the difference between figuring out this is performance, this is discipline. It's going to take us a little time to work through it all but it will be well worth it in the end," he said.

The district is holding public informational meetings on the new system on Thursday, August 6 in the high school's Rose Library. Meetings begin at noon, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

EDITOR'S NOTE- We attempted to contact teachers in the school district for their perspective. The teachers we spoke with would not go on record speaking about the new procedure fearing their opinions would endanger their jobs.

Man sentenced for sexual assaults of sister

KEWASKUM- A 20-year-old rural Kewaskum man has been sentenced after pleading guilty on May 6 to third-degree sexual assault of his sister. The assaults took place from 2001 until February of 2008 in the family home.

The Town of Farmington man will spend nine months in the Washington County jail for the series of sexual assaults. The jail sentence is a condition of the imposed and stayed sentence of five years.

Washington County

Circuit Court Judge Patrick Faragher also imposed extensive counseling to occur during his five year probation.

The man must also provide a DNA sample, register as a sex offender, maintain absolute sobriety and maintain full-time employment or schooling.

To avoid any additional harm to the victim who is a local resident, The Statesman decided to not publish the name of the convicted man.

Kar Klub holds show

The Kettle Moraine Klassic Kar Klub held their fourth annual car show at Auto Craft just south of Kewaskum on Saturday, June 13. The Klub had 145 entries at the show, 35 of which came from their members. The Klub has existed since 1975 when a group of area car enthusiasts came together to show off their rides and participate in various fundraising opportunities. This year's event raised $550 for the local Relay for Life sponsored by the American Cancer Society. For more information on the Klub, contact president Richard Thiemer, (262) 626-4734.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor-

When you were a student at Kewaskum's schools did you hear the story of Chief Kewaskum? Did it instill pride in you to be a citizen of a community which honored the local Native Americans who became friends of immigrants settling in this area?

Could you identify with the Thanksgiving story of Pilgrims sharing their meal with Native Americans to thank them for helping them through a difficult time in their lives as they settled in a new land? Does it mean anything special to you, your family, and your children to recognize the history of this region?

Have you tried to learn more about the Native Americans as a result of the respect and honor given to Chief Kewaskum by having a community and school named in his honor? I have always admired and respected the man who is the namesake of our community and school.

We name our Parochial schools and churches after Saints and the Trinity out of respect and perhaps to obtain special graces through their divine intervention. Is it not also true that the spirit of Chief Kewaskum lives on in our honoring of him?

These things may be taken from us if AB35 is passed! There are many people who believe using the Native American names & logos is racist! How sad!

When AB-35 becomes law I recommend to our local leaders to change the Village, Township and School name to Kettleville. This will honor area citizens who worked at Regal Ware in our community as well as recognize our area as the Gateway to the Kettle Moraine. And the hills won't complain!

- Opinion - Farmington Roads

Dear Editor-

We all agree that the roads in Farmington are in terrible shape. I think we all agree they need work. What the 'rub' will be is how we pay for it!

If we had a typical tax to fit the roads, everyone would pay the same to get the roads fixed, no matter how much or how little you used them! I do not feel that would be fair.

How about a tax or user fee on use?

Household income=less than $30,000 pay $20 per year per licensed vehicle per year.

Household income=$30k and up pay $50 per licensed vehicle per year.

Businesses that are located in Farmington that use equipment larger than a pick up truck on the town roads=$200 per vehicle used for the business, per year.

Farms: All tractors/front-end loaders/spreaders and other heavy equipment used on the town roads=$200 per year.

Light trailers for ATV's boats, snowmobiles etc.=no tax.

Motorcycles: no tax.

Anyone that a farm would hire to transport waste or farm produce more than one time per month would pay a "user fee" determined by the town board.

Make this "tax" or "user fee", with a sunset date, say five years. If needed in the future, it could be reinstated by a vote at election time on a ballot.

With a schedule something like this, the people and or farms or businesses that abuse the roads the most and cause the most damage would pay for the damage they cause. Whereas the people who do not use the roads the least and do very little damage would pay the least!

WEST BEND WEEKLY

By Mitch Maersch
Statesman Correspondent

County Board needs new voting software in 2014

WEST BEND- The County Board will eventually need a new way to keep score.

Comtec, the vendor that makes its voting system, said it will only support its software through 2014, the same year the operating system that runs the program, Windows XP, will no longer be supported by Microsoft.

County clerk Brenda Jaszewski said she put $150,000 into the county's 5-year capital improvement plan just to put the issue on the radar.

"Who knows, by that time there could be other software programs for cheaper," she said.

The county will need an entirely new system and Jaszewski said Comtec won't be committing any more money to developing electronic voting systems.

Tuition frozen at UW-WC, others

WEST BEND- If you're a returning University of Wisconsin-Washington student, get ready for some good déjà vu.

The University of Wisconsin System Board of Regents this month approved freezing tuition for the third straight year at the state's 13 two-year colleges.

"Maintaining tuition at 2006 rates for the 2009-2010 academic year means that the UW Colleges will continue to be the most affordable access point for anyone who wants to start, continue or complete a degree," said UW Colleges and UW-Extension Chancellor David Wilson, who spearheaded the push to keep the UW Colleges affordable, especially given the economy.

The tuition for two semesters at UW-WC will remain at $4,268 for 2009-10. This is approximately $1,100 less than the four-year comprehensive campuses, $2,600 less than at UW-Milwaukee and $3,000 less than the tuition at UW-Madison.

"UW-Washington County continues to provide a quality and affordable college experience for area students," said UW-WC Dean David Nixon.

"In addition to saving substantially on tuition costs, statistics have shown that students who begin their education at UW-WC (or one of the other two-year UW campuses), have higher graduation rates than those who begin their studies at a four-year campus. The small class sizes and experienced faculty (not teaching assistants) provide the solid foundation needed for students to complete a baccalaureate degree."

UW-WC is still accepting applications for the fall semester. Contact the Student Services Office at 262-335-5201 for more information or apply online at www.washington.uwc.edu.

Land Trust awarded funds

The Greater Milwaukee Foundation Board and the board of its supporting organization, the West Bend Community Foundation, approved $351,600 in grants to Washington County non-profits in the second quarter of 2009.

The largest grant awarded during the quarter, $75,000 over four years from the West Bend Mutual Insurance Company Charitable Fund, went to the Ozaukee Washington Land Trust in support of its Milwaukee River Watershed project. Through the project, the agency hopes to protect additional land within the Milwaukee River Basin, improve water quality and increase public access to the river.

An additional $10,000 grant, from the West Bend Community Foundation, went to support the agency's efforts toward acquiring a 72.5 acre property along the Milwaukee River between West Bend and Newburg in the town of Trenton.

Murray joins Johnsonville as Corporate Chef

SHEBOYGAN FALLS - Johnsonville Sausage, LLC, is pleased to announce the latest addition to its World Class Culinary team. James T. Murray joins Johnsonville as corporate chef.

In his new role, Murray will rely on his nearly 30 years of foodservice experience to devise on-trend culinary ideation for Johnsonville customers—with an emphasis on attracting diners and increasing profit through creative dish development that capitalizes on exciting menu applications featuring Johnsonville products.

Indeed, learning and teaching fuel Murray's passion, whether it's discovering a new flavor or ingredient and its application to a prevailing menu trend or training line cooks at a customer account how to perfectly execute a dish. "I put myself in the operator's shoes and learn as much about the business and system as I can," he says. "I love to research and experiment, discovering how the traditional can be made new again on the plate."

Throughout his career, Murray, who is certified as an executive chef (CEC) by the American Culinary Federation, has been instrumental in bringing innovation to the table to meet needs of customers—from restaurants and clubs to food manufacturers. His keen understanding of how prevailing and emerging menu trends can best satisfy the diverse and evolving demands of diners makes him key to helping Johnsonville deliver more delight on the plate with its portfolio of premium sausage products.

"Chef Murray is an excellent choice to lead our World Class Culinary program as we help more operations realize menu success with the Johnsonville brand," says Gene Rech, Johnsonville's director of foodservice. "His gift for creative, meaningful development combined with a diverse culinary career contributes much to our mission to introduce a new generation of diners to the goodness of Johnsonville Sausage—while continuing to deliver the trust that millions of Americans who enjoy our products count on."

Coulter family holds reunion

The 3rd annual Bill and Kathyne Coulter reunion was held on July 5th at the Winnebago Park Club House hosted by Ed and Ramona Dreher. A turnout of 57 from as far away as Kansas City, Indiana and Chicago were in attendance.

The highlight of the reunion was the talent show. It was lead by the great-grandchildren marching and singing "It's A Grand Old Flag". This was followed by piano and vocal solos, personal faith testimonial, sharing of hobbies that consisted of collections of "Occupied Japan" figurines, J.R Watkins collection, (Bill Coulter was the Watkins Distributor in the Campbellsport and Kewaskum district in the 1950's) and a presentation by several grandchildren about their occupations of equestrian training and quilt manufacturing.

The most emotional portion of the reunion was presented by the daughter-in-law of Ramona (Coulter) Dreher. Teri Dreher, who discussed her latest efforts in working with the poor in the remote area of Nigeria.

At the 2nd annual Bill and Kathyne Coulter reunion, Dan Coulter's wife and Teri formed a new organization named "Hands and Hearts International". Since then, Dan's wife and two of his children, Becky and Sara, along with Teri and her daughter, Emma, have made two trips to Nigeria to assist with those that are in great need of medical assistance. A third trip is planned for 2010. They encouraged fellow family members to go to their website www.handsandheartsintl.org

Many memories were exchanged during the potluck dinner. Plans are in place to hold another reunion in two years with hopes all grandchildren will be able to attend.

Third annual HogWild in downtown Dundee July 25

BY NANCY DURN

The third annual pig wrestling competition is coming soon! Are you ready to watch a display of brain and brawn, skill and strength, mind and might? Here is your chance to be a spectator cheering your favorite team on, even participate, or just enjoy the fun.

July 25, is the day and the fun will be held at the Sportsman's Club on Hwy 67 in Dundee. Not only will there be "Pig Wrestling" at high noon, but raffles, games, musical entertainment and food available throughout the day. It will be a day full of fun activities for the whole family.

Open to the public, this event is sponsored by the Dundee Sportsman's Club and the Dundee Mill & Park. No admission is charged to watch.

During the wrestling, encourage your favorite team of four as they wallow and splash around in the mud pit/arena trying to catch and place the hog on top of a padded barrel. It is obvious that the porkers are definitely in their element and the competitors are not. Safety rules for the pigs must be followed by all wrestlers or they will be disqualified.

There will be prizes awarded for the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place teams according to the fastest times and also a cash prize for the best team costumes. If you have a team that would like to participate, call the following for more information: Jamie: 262-470-5993 or Larry: 920-477-2104.

Games are for all ages, so bring the kids. For a small fee they can jump in the Moonwalk, have their faces painted or participate in fun filled activities. (There is something new this year.)

Closed circuit TV under the pavilion will allow you to watch it all if you aren't able to get up close to the action.

Food and beverages abound throughout the day. Satisfy those taste buds with a brat or burger or roast pork sandwich. Kettle corn and other popcorn will be available. Quench your thirst from a variety of beverages. (This is a fund raiser so Please - No Carry Ins Allowed).

Before or after the wrestling, take a walk over to the Dundee Mill & Park. Stroll around the mill, the ponds, and down the berm to the dam enjoying the beautiful landscaping. The Mill will not be open that day but is open the third Sunday of each summer month. Tours can be arranged by calling any director. (The list is posted by the mill.) This is a working mill and you can learn about the mill's history and how the turbine functions today as a renewable source of energy. Check out our website: www.dundeemill.org.

From 4:30-11 pm, "Relative" will be performing on stage under the pavilion. This four-piece band is out of West Bend and plays a wide variety of music which appeals to all ages. Their overall sound is 80's and 90's rock-n-roll and they have a sound & light show and DJ between sets, so stick around and have some fun.

Come and enjoy the day and support the Sportsman's Club and Mill and Park.

Traveling through Wisconsin's natural habitats

The Friends of the Kettle Moraine is proud to present "Traveling Through Wisconsin's Natural Habitats" with David Stokes as part of the Summer Saturday Evening Events. The program will be held on Saturday, July 25, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Mauthe Lake Recreation Area (located off of Hwy GGG south of Hwy SS near New Prospect) of the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit. If the weather is inclement, the program will be moved to the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center (located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee). The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted. A Wisconsin State Park System vehicle admission sticker is required to enter the Mauthe Lake Recreation Area.

What's a habitat? It is the area where an animal can find all it needs to survive including food, water, shelter and space all in the appropriate arrangements. Join David Stokes as he takes you on a journey through some of Wisconsin's natural habitats with stops at the shores of Lake Michigan, the northern forest, the southern prairie and the freshwater ponds and rivers. Through his infectious enthusiasm, David will cover which animals live in what habitats and why. You may get to touch a wolf's fur coat or maybe a beaver's skull. Watch out, snakes are always hiding somewhere. Just remember that everybody and every living thing needs to have a habitat.

David Stokes, a long-time, award-winning environmental educator/entertainer, uses songs, stories, riddles, hands-on activities, live animals, animal artifacts and humor to educate folks of all ages. His love of nature and his zeal are contagious, so come for a fun-filled evening you are sure not to forget.

By Amber Donath
Statesman Correspondent

Summer fun has officially arrived with the beginning of fair season, and what better way to celebrate than planning a visit to the Washington County Fair which runs until July 26.

There are always new sights to see and old favorites to enjoy with regards to the fair. It truly has "Something for everyone!" which is their slogan for the 2009 season.

Monday, July 20, was already a festive day at the fair with last minute preparations, barn decorating as well as pre-fair judging in the Pavilion Building.

Many area 4-H and youth groups as well as open class participants brought their creations and a year's worth of hard work for face-to-face judging by category.

The food is fantastic, the rides are exciting. The animals are cute, and the entertainment is tops. But don't forget to visit the Pavilion to see the sights. You will be amazed if you really take the time to see some of the wonderful projects our county's youth, old and young, have created.

Remember, it may be a moment of judging, but it is a year of thought, planning and hard work. Just take the time to stop in and appreciate all that has been accomplished by fair participants and judges.

For a complete listing of all judging and fair activities, visit www.wcfairpark.com.

Mikayla Dogs from the Kewaskum 4-Hers Club received a 1st place ribbon and a star for extra merit consideration for her Explorer Project photography entry.

MONTE W. OGLESBY

Monte W. Oglesby, 70, of West Bend died at Cedar Lake Nursing and Rehabilitation Center on July 15, 2009.

Monte's life can best be summed up in the following way: "Life is not a journey to the grave with the intention of arriving safely in a pretty and well preserved body, but rather to skid in broadside, thoroughly used up, totally worn out, and loudly proclaiming...Wow! What a ride!"

He was born in Longview, Washington to Everett and June Oglesby. Monte and his family moved to Garden Grove, California in 1955 and he graduated from Garden Grove High School in 1957.

He married Patricia (Knepp) on March 7, 1974 in Limestone, Maine and they were best friends and companions for 35 years sharing adventures, companionship, and laughter.

He enlisted in the US Air Force in 1960. He served as an Air Policeman and was a member of the High Powered Rifle Team. Later in his military career, he was a small arms instructor. He was stationed around the world including Texas, Japan, Turkey, Guam, New Hampshire, and Alaska. He served two tours in Vietnam. His commendations included a Good Conduct Metal, Small Arms Expert Marksmanship Ribbon, Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, and The Republic of Vietnam Campaign Metal.

Monte retired in 1981 from the Air Force and started his retirement continuing to live life to the fullest. Immediately after retiring, he and Patty staked a gold claim in the Trinity Mountains of California. He went on to school to get his CDL and did long-haul trucking. In 2006, Monte got his real estate license.

Monte started his love for golf as a caddie in Longview, Washington. He learned the game from his uncles. He worked at several courses and most recently helped teach the Junior Golf Program at West Bend Lakes. He studied technical aspects of the game and enjoyed helping others develop their skills. Monday league at Hon E Kor and Wednesday league at West Bend Lakes afforded Monte the opportunity to show his golfing prowess, share stories and entertain those around him.

Monte enjoyed traveling and sharing stories of his travel—from days as a wrangler on a ranch in Wyoming, to visiting ghost towns in Nevada, sight seeing at the most haunted castle in Ireland, or walking the lava flows in Hawaii—it was always an adventure and an opportunity to meet new people and touch their lives.

Monte loved animals, both domestic and wild. He always had at least one cat on his lap during TV time. He was a bird watcher and animal observer and many of his travel adventures were to birding areas or to see elk bugling in Rocky Mt. National Park or grizzly bears in Glacier National Park. Monte appreciates the beauty of flowers and was an active member of the West Bend Beautification Committee.

Monte was a great friend to many, a golfer, a mentor, a communicator, and story teller. He will be greatly missed by his loving wife, many family members, and friends he touched throughout the world.

He is survived by his loving wife of 35 years, Patricia; sisters, Diane Kay Athearn of Hamilton, MT, Mary Lynne Hofhenke of Tehachapi, CA; step-mother, Lois Schrader of West Los Angeles, CA; in-laws, Robert and Maureen Knepp of Londonderry, NH, Chris Sitbon of Anchorage, Alaska, and various nieces, nephews, and cousins. He is also survived by his pets and chair companions, Smokey Joe, Misty, and foster dog, Abbey.

He is preceded in death by his parents; sister, Sandra Joan Siltanen; mother-in-law, Mary Robinson Knepp, aunts, uncles, and longtime family friend, Charlie Schrader.

The Visitation took place Sat., July 18th, 2009 at the Philip Funeral Home, West Bend, from 1:00-3:00 p.m., with a Memorial Service immediately following at 3:00 p.m. with Pastor Mike Moran officiating.

Memorials to the Ronald McDonald House or West Bend Beautification Committee are appreciated.

IN MEMORY

In memory of Allen Dreher, who passed away four years ago, July 25, 2005:

Little did we know

Little did we know that day that God would call your name

In life we loved you dearly, In death we do the same.

It broke our hearts to lose you, You did not go alone, For part of us went with you, The day God called you home.

You left us peaceful memories, Your love is still our guide, And though we cannot see you, You are always at our side.

Our family chain is broken and nothing seems the same, But as God calls us one by one, The chain will link again.

The Bookworm Sez

by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Dogged Pursuit

by Robert Rodi

Hudson Street Press $24.95

Dog lovers are a contradictory bunch.

We bring home an adorable little bundle of fur called a puppy, aiming to make him a shining example of good citizenship. The applause would be deafening! Other dog owners will be envious! Little Pupsie would learn not to jump on people, not to burrow beneath anything embarrassing, and to never, ever climb on furniture.

And then he's taught to jump, burrow, and climb on furniture. It's called "agility," and in the new book "Dogged Pursuit" by Robert Rodi, you'll read about one man's leap into a growing sport, and what it taught him about himself and his dog.

During a dinner party some years ago, Robert Rodi was telling fellow diners woeful tales of "raising a fiendishly intelligent, demonically driven Shetland sheepdog." That was when Rodi learned about agility, a dog-and-human competition consisting of hurdles, tunnels, weaving poles, teeter-totters, and platforms. Rodi started working with his dog, Carmen, and she was quite good at it. Unfortunately, she suffered a career-killing injury and had to be retired.

But agility was in Rodi's blood now.

He needed a new dog.

After applying online for other dogs in his Chicago area, Rodi found Dusty, a scruffy, funny-looking "cryptic blue" Sheltie available from a nearby rescue group. Although Dusty seemed to be almost indifferent to agility training, Rodi set out to make the pooch a pro.

Following agility classes, Rodi entered Dusty into competitions around Chicago, joining the All Fours agility group. The group was friendly enough, but Rodi felt uncomfortable, out of place, like he didn't belong. And although Dusty had won a few ribbons early-on, he started acting as if he didn't know what he was doing anymore and his scores were embarrassing to Rodi.

Agility was turning out to be more irritation than enjoyment.

Willing to try anything for the elusive alphabet soup that follows a champion's name, Rodi consulted his teammates. He hired a "dog whisperer" and tried aromatherapy for the both of them. He tried to keep positive and focused for Dusty's sake.

But anyone who's ever loved a dog knows that you can't teach a dog something the dog doesn't want to learn. When Rodi took a break - literally - everything leaped into place.

"Dogged Pursuit" is funny and sweet, a true dog-lover's tale with one near-caveat: while it initially appears that author Robert Rodi sees Dusty as a means to an end, it quickly becomes obvious that he adores the pup. But while his readers are learning that, Rodi tells a story every dog owner has lived - that of trying to make a dog do something he won't do for you, but is perfectly willing to do for someone else.

As the human Mama to a long line of like-minded canine couch potatoes, I looked very forward to reading this book, and I'm happy to say it's a tail-wagger.

If you've been jumping from book to book, in search of something good to read, get this one. "Dogged Pursuit" is the pick of the litter.

A fire which swept Steve and Mary Rahn's minor bar and lunch room on Highway 45, about three-quarters of a mile north of Kewaskum, early Sunday morning, caused damages estimated at more than $10,000 to the interior and fixtures of the building which was just built last fall and all work on it was not yet completed. The entire interior of the minor bar was damaged by the flames, smoke and heat, as well as the upstairs living quarters. Mr. and Mrs. Rahn and their two daughters, Judy, 17, and Jean, 11, were asleep upstairs when the fire broke out at approximately 2:45 am Sunday. Awakened when her throat was dry, apparently from the smoke which filled the upstairs rooms, Judy noticed the smoke and heat from the blaze and awakened the rest of the family. Steve summoned the Kewaskum Fire Department who extinguished

Kewaskum A's go 3-0 on the weekend

The A's capped off a productive weekend on Sunday by defeating a struggling Germantown team 20-0. Kewaskum scored in every inning but the first and pounded out 23 hits. It was the A's fifth shutout in their last six games. Leading the way for the A's was Austin Sarauer who went 4x4 (3 2B, 5 Runs).

Adam Martz remained hot at the plate going 4x5 (2B, 4 RBI). Jason Strobel 4x6 (2 2B, 2 RBI) and Dan Shea 3x7 (RBI) each had productive days to remain near the top of the league in batting. Mitch Huffman picked up the win tossing five scoreless innings of 2 hit baseball.

Jake Lathers tossed the final two innings in relief. The A's remain in second place in the Rock River North standings and travel to Oakfield next Sunday in another key league game.

On Friday the A's downed the Hustisford Astros 10-0 in a Rock River league game. The A's blew the game open in the 8th scoring six runs off five hits in the inning. Austin Sarauer had a 3 RBI triple and Jim Ziegler had a 2 RBI double in the inning.

Ziegler led the way at the plate on the night going 3x4 (2B, 4 RBI) and also picked up the win tossing eight scoreless innings, while only giving up 2 first inning singles. Adam Sarauer continued to swing a hot bat going 3x4 (2B).

On Thursday Kewaskum traveled to Lebanon for a Tri-County Night League game. With a win the A's would clinch a Night League playoff berth, and that is exactly what they did by a score of 10-0.

Nick Whitty tossed a gem on the mound giving up six hits and Jake Panzer called another terrific game behind the plate giving the duo their third shutout of the year. The Sarauer brothers turned in another productive night at the plate with Adam going 2x4 (2 RBI) and Austin going 2x2 (2B, 3 RBI).
