Fire hydrant maintenance arises on public vs private street debate

By Mitch Maersch
For The Statesman

VILLAGE of KEWASKUM- Picture this: The Kewaskum Fire Department responds to a fire on a private drive in the village. Firefighters arrive on scene and hook up to the nearest fire hydrant.

It doesn't work.

That seems to be an apparent possibility after two residents on Monday questioned the Village Board about whose responsibility it is to flush fire hydrants on private streets in the village.

Jerry Stilb, who lives in Nature Havens Estates, a planned unit development (PUD), said a hydrant in his subdivision may not have been flushed in eight to 10 years. Public hydrants in the village are flushed annually to clear out sediment and ensure they're working properly.

In an argument that sounds like the great garbage debate of '08 reincarnated, the question of services on public versus private streets is again on the table.

Stilb said public safety is his main concern.

"You had best keep that in the forefronts of your minds. If I were the fire chief, I'd be dancing on somebody's desk," he told the board.

Fire Chief Mark Groeschel said if a hydrant doesn't work when responding to a fire, the fire department and village are going "to look pretty bad," in addition to the "life safety issue."

"I never knew that private hydrants weren't getting flushed," he said.

Public Works Director Jerry Gilles said the village has never flushed privately owned hydrants. That responsibility falls to the hydrant's owners, which could be a person or association or another entity, like a school district or private company like Regal Ware.

The village code doesn't address flushing fire hydrants, but Gilles found the city of River Falls allows private developments to hire the city to do its hydrants or hire another entity for the work. Penalties ensue if the hydrants are not flushed.

Gilles said when Grafton faced the same issue it flushed all the hydrants in the village, public and private.

According to the state's Public Service Commission, water utilities are not responsible for private hydrants, but they may have ordinances offering to do the work for a charge, Gilles said.

Nature Havens resident Jim Verhalen said hydrant flushing should be covered in the $3,500 he paid in taxes last year.

"It just doesn't seem fair," he told the board.

Even if the village had a similar ordinance to that of River Falls, it would not apply to the Nature Havens issue. According to the developer's agreement, while the water and sanitary sewer are to be dedicated to the village and become a "public" infrastructure, the streets are to remain

VILLAGE of KEWASKUM- Postmaster Monica LePak is under a little stress lately. Why? In less than a month her post office with five carrier routes will double as the United States Postal Service moves carriers out of the current Campbellsport Post Office to Kewaskum where sorting will take place.

"This past year, we have seen an unprecedented decline on mail volume - 9 billions pieces of mail less than the same time last year. We have been aggressively looking at ways to contain costs while keeping the service standards that our customers expect. One of the ways we have found to do this is by an initiative called the Delivery Unit Relocation process," stated Marge Oehlke, Corporate Communications for the USPS.

Post Offices in Theresa and Alenton have gone through similar changes. Theresa mail carriers now sort all their mail in Mayville. Alenton Carriers now call West Bend home.

Campbellsport customers with post office boxes will notice no change as their mail will be delivered there after it's sorted in Kewaskum. Customers will also notice no change in the Campbellsport lobby and counter services.

The Statesman will have more information on the story as the change takes place mid-October.

Village Board Briefs

Open house planned for wastewater treatment plant

As the village's wastewater treatment plant upgrades are nearing completion, the Village Board scheduled an open house for the public to see the new and improved facility.

Get your kicks on Oct. 24 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Library circulation continues record pace

Nearly 7,700 items were circulated at the library in August, Library Board member and Trustee Norman Kufahl told the Village Board on Monday.

The grand total came to 7,694. Last August, the total was 6,019.

McMahon 5, R/M 2

The Village Board on Monday approved hiring McMahon and Associates to do sewer and water engineering work on Main Street/Highway 28 when the state plans to re-surface the road sometime in 2012.

McMahon's bid came in at $102,100 for the work while Ruekert/Mielke's totaled $121,200. The board voted 5-2 to hire McMahon with Village President Andrew Pesch and Trustee Harry Roecker voting against.

Both cited Ruekert/Mielke's long standing relationship with the village - in the range of 30 years.

Pesch said he had no issue with either company but said with built-in reductions the differences in the bids would be closer to $10,000. Roecker said Ruekert/Mielke knows more about the village given its experience.

The village had almost exclusively used Ruekert/Mielke for years before McMahon and Associates was hired for the wastewater treatment plant upgrade since it came in with a cheaper bid and impressive proposal.

Sewer and water pipes on Main Street are among the oldest in the village and could use replacing, said Public Works Director Jerry Gilles. Since the state offered to tear the road up, the village figured it would take the opportunity for the upgrade.

Village's Tin Man will get new hat

The village's iconic water tower at risk of being taken out of commission will get a new roof and paint to keep it in play.

The Village Board on Monday approved advertising for bids to do the work, seen as a short-term fix to extend the life of the 80-year-old beast.

Zoning Administrator and Building Inspector Chad Cook said someone from Lane Tank checked out the tower and said the structural integrity was good. The roof fix could extend the tower's life past 10 years, he said.

Known as the tin man, the tower near Regal Ware has a deteriorating and rusted roof, running the risk of leakage and contamination.

Public Works Director Jerry Gilles wondered if the Department of Natural Resources would let the village open the tank come spring.

A new tank would run in the $1 million range, money the village doesn't have or want to try to find.

Milwaukee Ghosts program Sept. 26 at KPL

On Saturday, September 26, at 6pm, Milwaukee Ghosts.com founder Allison Jorlin will be here talking about library resources you can use to aid haunting investigations. In this presentation, you will hear ghost stories and see photos of haunted locations uncovered by milwaukeeghosts.com. The website was founded two years ago by Ms. Jorlin as a means to use her skills as a researcher, her love of local history and architecture and her desire to share the stories of people who lived and worked in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee Ghosts focuses on walking tours of the historic "Third Ward" and other areas in downtown Milwaukee. This program is free and open to the public.

The Kewaskum library is usually closed on Saturday evenings, but will open at 5:30 for this special event. Please call the library for more details at 626-4312.

Hydrant debate

private which would require easements for the village to legally enter the property to flush the hydrants. Those easements have not been completed, Gilles said.

The village is aware the Kewaskum School District and Regal Ware have been flushing their own hydrants.

Regardless, the argument over public versus private hydrant flushing isn't going away. The board took no action on Monday as this was the first it heard of the issue.

"It will be on a future agenda and we'll have to make a decision at that time," said Village President Andrew Pesch.

Communities mourns the loss of Farmington crash victims

TOWN of FARMINGTON-Two area women were killed Friday evening, September 18, after being involved in a two-vehicle, head-on crash. One of the vehicle's drivers remains in satisfactory condition at Froedtert Hospital.

Washington County Sheriff's Deputies responded to the scene on Highway 144 north of Elm Tree Drive at 9:21 p.m. and were joined by Boltonville First Responders, Firefighters, Kewaskum Firefighters, EMTs, West Bend Intercept and Flight for Life Helicopter.

Upon arrival, it was discovered that a northbound SUV driven by Donald E. Voeks, 58, of Farmington collided in his lane of traffic with a southbound vehicle operated by Rachael M. Olson, 34, of Campbellsport.

Olson suffered fatal injuries and was pronounced deceased at the scene by the Washington County Medical Examiners Office. She was the only occupant in the car and it was believed she had not been wearing a seatbelt.

Voeks' 60-year-old wife, Bette M. Voeks, was in the front passenger's seat of his vehicle. They both were trapped and had to be extricated from the wreckage.

Both were treated at the scene by emergency personnel. Bette Voeks was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital in the Town of Polk by Kewaskum Ambulance. She was later pronounced deceased at the hospital.

Flight For Life transported Donald Voeks to Froedtert Hospital in Milwaukee, due to his injuries. According to hospital staff, he was listed in satisfactory condition Wednesday morning.

The Sheriff's Department stated both were wearing safety belts.

The Sheriff's Department

Accident Reconstruction Team was requested and the cause of the collision is still under investigation. STH 144 was closed to thru traffic while rescue, reconstruction and clean-up efforts were conducted.

Voeks and Olson were Washington County's 11th and 12th traffic related fatalities. The following day a Hartford accident claimed a life making Washington County's traffic death toll at 13 for 2009.

Obituaries for Voeks and Olson can be found on page 10.

Wayne sets deadline for Chapel Highland Roads, buys computer

By Mitch Maersch
For the Statesman

TOWN of WAYNE- A local developer has a new deadline to upgrade his roads before the town can accept them.

The Town Board last week approved a deadline of Oct. 15 for developer Michael Batzler to improve roads in the Chapel Highland Roads before the town takes them over for maintenance.

Floods in June 2008 showed the wrong calculations were used for stormwater treatment as water came over the roads and created ponds in people's yards. Some of the road had to be redone, and culvert work and ditching is required to fix the problem before the town takes over the roads.

"He admitted there was a problem," said Town Chairman Carl Klemme, "and thought the engineer should fix it."

The town has plowed the roads but charged Batzler for the work to the tune of about $5,000.

The town set an original deadline of Sept. 1 but extended it as more time was needed to get the work done.

Supervisors also refused to compensate a resident for ditching work before the job and remains consistent in its stance now that it's done.

Duane Nickel approached the town to request ditching work be paid for on West Bend Road along his land and was turned down. He could do the work, the Town Board said, but he would have to pay for it.

Nickel did the work to prevent his fields from flooding again and requested the town pay the $900 for the job. At last week's board meeting, the town again refused on a vote of 3-0.

"We refused to ditch it because it was low lying the way it was," said Town Chairman Carl Klemme.

The stretch of road covers between a half to three-fourths of a mile and sits on the town of Theresa's jurisdiction. A mutual agreement has Wayne maintaining the road.

Town Treasurer Gerald Schulz is getting a new computer and printer.

Supervisors approved spending up to $2,000 to replace the computer, printer and monitor.

Schulz said the computer has a tendency to go out for a couple of hours at a time and the printer is "iffy."

The town directed Clerk Julie Kriewaldt and former supervisor Kieth, her husband, to pick out the new equipment.

St. Michael Parish Fall Festival Sunday

Grand prize raffle includes tickets to Packers vs. Vikings game

St. Michael Parish in St. Michaels will hold their annual Fall Festival this weekend on Sunday, September 27. Raffles, games, food and a polka mass make up the day of family fun in the beautiful Kettle Moraine.

The day begins at 9 a.m. with a polka mass performed by The Goodtime Dutchmen of Kewaskum. For those who have never attended such a mass, the polka Mass is an unorthodox marriage of traditional liturgical lyrics with familiar polka tunes. Imagine "Holy, Holy" or "Alleluia" set to the toe-tapping beat of "The Beer Barrel Polka" or "The Blue Skirt Waltz" and you're on the mark. The tradition of polka Masses has become a popular one in Catholic churches throughout the state.

Food begins after mass at 10:30 A.M. and served until 2:30 p.m. a menu consisting of turkey and roast beef with all the fixings are sure to delight those looking for a good meal. Hamburgers, brats and fries will also be served outside with beer and soda to wash it down for those wanting to enjoy more polka entertainment.

Don't forget to save room for dessert though! The ladies of the parish have been busy baking and concocting an array of delicious desserts for the annual bake sale held in conjunction with the festival.

For the kids various games including a dice game, fish tank and others will provide hours of amusement.

This year's raffle includes a grand prize every Green Bay

Packer fan won't want to miss, tickets for the Packers versus Vikings game on Sunday, November 1! Over 45 additional prizes are also on the ticket and can be purchased for $2 each or 3 for $5.

This year's silent auction has over 300 items according to organizer Maryann Horner. Items include an autographed Packers football, a "party with the puppies" at Dairyland Greyhound Park in Kenosha, West Bend Elevator $100 gift certificate, two VIP passes to Family Fun Land in Germantown, $100 gift certificate to Bartolotta Restaurant, one delivered, face cord of wood valued at $100, an assortment of 75 gift baskets with various items and sports tickets.

KHS holds Community Open House

Kewaskum High School held an open house for students, parents and members of the community on Monday, September 21. Principal Christine Horbas stated, "I was pleased to see almost 200 families attending our open house and I was also grateful to the five area restaurants who assisted in serving supper (JO's, Dairy Queen, Subway, Gateway Cafe, and Candy Tree). We have great schools in Kewaskum and we as a community need to showcase them. It's our goal to make sure everyone knows the benefits of sending students to Kewaskum Community Schools. As we try to make our open house more public so the worthiness of our schools can be more transparent, we encourage everyone to give us direction as to how we can better meet the needs and desires of our community."

Statesman School Correspondent

This was a very busy week at Kewaskum High School. The seniors had their class picture taken on Friday. They were instructed to wear their senior t-shirts for the photo. This year's senior t-shirt features the slogan "Forever a Kewaskum Indian" on the front.

During advisory on Thursday and Friday, a Junior Class Carnival was held. Students from each advisory competed in games like football toss, bubble gum blowing, and ladder golf.

On Thursday evening, the juniors had their first Prom Committee meeting. Any junior was welcome to attend, and many did. Mr. Steers, a social studies teacher, will be advising the Prom Committee this year. At the meeting the Junior class officers were announced. Georgiana Abfall is class president. Rachel Ogi is vice president. Kyle Philips is treasurer, and Christine Bohn is secretary. Juniors voted for class officers the previous Monday. These officers will have key roles in planning the prom.

Also on Thursday, Spanish Club had its first outing. The club went to Senor Luna's in Grafton. Members from previous years welcomed several newcomers and discussed the 2011 trip to Spain.

On Friday the Lit Club held a meeting for the previous year's members. They discussed when to hold the annual kick-off pizza party to welcome new members, as well as changes and activities for this year.

The Kewaskum Equestrian team had a brat fry on Saturday to raise money for their club. The Kewaskum Equestrian team is a new club at KHS this year.

On Friday, KHS had its first spirit day. The day was sponsored by Pep Club, a school spirit organization.

Pep Club encouraged everybody to dress up in costumes and Kewaskum colors. The goal was to have a 'green out' at school and at the game to show support for the team. Many students and teachers dressed up. Pep Club hosted a tailgate party before the football game against rival Campbelsport. The party featured music and snacks.

Upcoming events at KHS include student-led conferences and Art Night.

Kiwanis Students of the Month

Brooke Waala

Sadie Hennig

Brooke Waala and Sadie Hennig were named Kiwanis Students of the Month for the month of September.

Brooke is the daughter of Diane and Dale Waala. She is currently the editor of the yearbook and an active member of FCCLA, HOPE Club, track and tennis. Brooke has performed with the Jazz band for two years. She has served KHS by being a member of the prom committee and creating homecoming floats for her class. In the fall of 2010 she plans on attending UWWC for two years and then transferring to a four-year college where she'd like to pursue a career in the medical field, possibly to be a pathologist.

Sadie is the daughter of Anissa and Michael Hennig. Throughout her years in high school she has been a member of the HOPE Club, Art Club and yearbook. She has also participated in tennis and bowling. In her junior year Sadie was inducted into the National Honor Society. Sadie's love for animals has helped her know she would like to become a veterinary surgeon, specializing in orthopedics. After graduation, Sadie is planning on attending UWWC and then transferring to UW-Madison.

Students and their parents were honored during a recent meeting of the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club.

'Fiddler on the Roof' to be KHS fall musical Broadway's fourteenth longest-running show in history is coming to Kewaskum. Even as you read this article, students at Kewaskum High School are busy with rehearsal, learning their lines, their songs and dances. The story of "Fiddler On The Roof" centers on Teyve, the father of five daughters, and his attempts to maintain his family and religious traditions while outside influences encroach upon their lives. He must cope with both the strong-willed actions of his three older daughters - each one's choice of husband moves further from the customs of her faith - and with the edict of the Tsar that evicts them from their home.

The original Broadway production of the show, which opened in 1964, was the first run of a musical in history to surpass the 3,000-performance mark. Fiddler held the record for the longest-running Broadway musical for almost 10 years until Grease surpassed its run.

Kewaskum High School will present Fiddler on November 6, 7, and 8 of this year. More information, including the cast list, will be forthcoming.

Rachael M. Olson (nee Bradley), 34, of Campbellsport, passed away Friday, September 18, 2009.

Rachael was born on November 23, 1974 to John and Dorothy (nee Kraemer) Bradley in West Bend.

She graduated from Lakeview High School in Battle Creek, Michigan and went on to graduate cum laude and receive her Bachelor of Arts degree from Olivet College in Michigan and later earned her Masters in Education from National-Lewis University, however, the caring nature she brought into the classroom didn't come from her schooling.

She taught at Badger Middle School for nine years and excelled at language arts and always showed her students how much she cared about them. Rachael's gift was her warm smile and kind heart and she shared it freely with students, friends and family.

Rachael will be deeply missed by her two beautiful children, Blake Christopher and Layne Kendall, who were the strength of her life. She is further survived by her parents, John and Dorothy "Dot" Bradley; brothers, Todd Bradley and John Bradley II; nephews, Casey, Scott and Caiden; former husband, Chris Olson; beloved friend, Ryan Ziarkowski; special friend, Barb Koelbl; other relatives and many friends.

She is preceded in death by her grandparents.

Visitation was on Wednesday, September 23 at the Philip Funeral Home Chapel from 4:00 pm until 8:00 pm.

In lieu of flowers, memori-

Rescue Ink

by Rescue Ink with Denise Flaim

Viking $25.95 244 pages

Remember the day you found your best friend?

Or was it the other way around? Did she find you?

Maybe she was a Pet of the Week picture staring at you from a newspaper or TV screen. Perhaps you spied him in a shelter kennel and he threw himself at the gate to reach you. Or maybe someone handed you a furry bundle and that was it: you weren't looking for a pet, but you weren't looking to go head-over-heels, either.

Loving your best friend as you do, you wonder how anyone can hurt a trusting animal. Ten New York tough-guys (and their "den mother") wonder the same thing. In the new book "Rescue Ink" by Rescue Ink with Denise Flaim, you'll read about them and their dogged work saving abused animals.

When confronted by a six-foot-two tattooed biker-type guy with a gruff voice and biceps the size of a small child, you almost expect to get mashed. At the very least, you hope for a chance to skitter away with your life intact. But if you're an abused animal and the big guy is from Rescue Ink, you have nothing to fear.

If a dog, cat, rabbit or horse is in trouble, it doesn't matter if the animal is in a suburb near Manhattan, a small apartment in Queens, or a brownstone in Brooklyn, the guys from Rescue Ink don't back down from anything.

Rescue Ink prides itself on an "in your face" way of saving animals: confronting uncaring owners is commonplace, and cross-armed stare-downs work wonders. If the situation is more delicate, members are pros at negotiation and can be extremely generous with supplies and information. Although Rotweilers and pit bulls are favorites with these burly guys, there are cat "experts" on the team, as well as a member who lives with a big pack of tiny dogs.

There are stories with happy endings in "Rescue Ink", including that of Rebel, originally called Ribbon because his ears had been torn as such. Spike, once all snarly teeth, is on his way to becoming a trustworthy pet. One "nervous-looking lab" was relinquished after an anti-puppy-mill rally. Formerly abused pets found new leashes on life because of Rescue Ink.

If you're a pet lover (and really - would you be reading this review if you weren't?), when you're done reading this book, you'll thank God there are people like the guys in "Rescue Ink".

Although most of the stories here are cringe-worthy (but with happy endings), I really liked the messages that the rescuers and co-author Denise Flaim offered: take responsibility for your animals; give them training, proper care, and protection; love them like they deserve to be loved; and spay and neuter. Readers wanting more information will find tips at the end of this book and hints of a website that, while not included, is easy to find.

Dog and cat lovers in particular will eat this book up, but any fan of the four-legged will want it, too. "Rescue Ink" is a book to fetch.

A Look at Life

ROCHELLE PENNINGTON

Nutritious and Delicious Shopping a Farmer's Market

I headed to our local farmers market on Saturday because we're having a pickle-making party at my sister's house this week. It's that time of year to can our family's favorite recipe, prepared with a variety of peppers, including the elusive Hungarian pepper.

So, the hunt was on! (Actually, that's a little too aggressive sounding. In truth, my pace at the market is more of a putter than it is a pounce.)

My choice of markets within a 45-minute drive of our home now numbers more than twenty, with options increasing annually as people become more conscientious of wanting to know where their food came from and who grew it. Community gardens are sprouting up as well all over the place, as are rural roadside stands beside family-owned farms, allowing consumers to take advantage of fresh, high-quality produce, locally grown.

Marketgoers today are also given an option for organic produce which is grown in a spirit of stewardship towards the land, in an environmentally-safe manner free of fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides, and chemicals. It is a farm-management concept growing in popularity presently and it applies not only to crops, but also to animals.

Several farmers at the West Bend market, where I ventured on Saturday, specialize in all-natural, pasture-raised meat—pork, beef, ducks, broad-breasted turkeys, and chickens (both roasting and stewing). These farmers utilize back-to-basic principles in raising their animals which are void of hormones, antibiotics, and by-products. Such animals are classified as "free-range" and graze on lush pastures, promoting wellness for the animals, and wellness for those who consume them.

Signs will indicate this. There's usually a variety of hand-lettered advertisements displayed by these small, family-run businesses. "Local. Organic. Delicious." "Grown Without Pesticides." "Fresh from our farm to your table." "The Very Best." "A Healthy Treat."

My favorite sign on Saturday simply read: "My Pride." It was next to heirloom tomatoes. The true definition of an "heirloom" vegetable is a vegetable grown from a seed which has been "nurtured, selected, protected, and handed down from one family member to another for many generations." Heirloom seeds ensure consumers that their food has not been genetically engineered, manipulated, or modified in any way. Planting heirloom seeds is a time-honored tradition used by "seed savers" who are deeply connected to the land. The end result is produce of outstanding quality with an authentic, exceptional flavor. Heirloom seeds also make a wider selection of unique varieties of the plant available. For example, there were more specialty tomato choices than I could have imagined including the Juliet (so flavorful!), the Riesentraube (a small tomato brought from Germany meaning "a bunch of grapes"), the Tiger Tom (striped!), and the Chocolate Cherry (brown!).

I'm delighted most when I stroll the street by what I am not expecting to find, like those tomatoes, and the 200-pound pumpkin I saw on Saturday which was bigger than the farmer who had hauled it into town. Price? Fifty dollars.

Of equal interest to me were the gourmet garlics, the shiitake mushrooms (a Chinese variety), the hubbard squash, the "King Kohlrabi" (bigger than a grown man's head and promised to be "tender and tasty," not woody), the multi-colored corn-on-the-cob (so sweet it was called "candy corn"), the "Packer mix" beans (a bag of half yellow beans and half green which I bought because I was amused by the clever marketing), and the fingerling potatoes which looked like, well, fingers!

I also sampled a few of the melons—musk, honey dew (not to be confused with the list that wives give to their husbands), and a pure yellow watermelon—yes, yellow!—with an intensely-flavored fruit more juicy and delicious than a traditional red.

Samples were ample. The unique flavors of cheese this past week included chili spice, chive bacon, and salsa queso. Curds were also offered, and they squeaked like a mouse in the attic when bitten into. (The squeaking sound determines the curd's freshness.)

Kernels of popcorn, black or yellow, were available to shoppers, as well as jars of homemade jelly, lined up smartly, waiting to be taken home. I chose the "strawberry champagne" because it won the blue-ribbon at the county fair (and also because it sounded kinda yummy).

There were sausages and homemade nacho chips, granola for your cereal and just-made yogurt, produced locally, rich and creamy. Also available were bottles of pure maple sugar, tapped from nearby trees, and loaves of fresh-baked bread—sourdough, pumpernickel, marble rye. And herb plants—basil, thyme, mint, sage, oregano, cilantro, parsley, dill—to plant in your backyard or care for on your kitchen window sill.

And if you were hankering for something to satisfy your sweet tooth, you were able to choose from multiple eat-on-the-spot tasty treats (many prepared in farm kitchens) including cinnamon rolls, coffee cake, apricot scones, lemon poppy seed muffins, blueberry turnovers, butter-cream fudge (in flavors of chocolate amaretto and peanut butter swirl), and slices of chocolate-chip oatmeal banana bread. Some vendors sold made-from-scratch individual pies—including Southern pecan and rhubarb—sized at approximately four big bites.

From leafy lettuces to hearty, wholesome grains, the selection was diverse and novel. Everything you would expect to purchase was there, and a few things that you wouldn't, like hand-knit sweaters. These one-of-a-kind creations were made by a local woman who raises llamas and sheep for their wool back at her farm, and floppy-eared bunnies for their angora. I asked her if she spun her yarn on a spinning wheel. She did.

I ended my visit to the market by stopping at a stand selling fresh-cut bouquets of sunflowers, gladiolas, and lilies. The sign hanging there had a bumble bee on it surrounded by blossoms. There were two words and one simple instruction on the sign: "Bee happy." I smiled, looked around, and thought to myself, "How could I not?"

"To watch the corn grow or the blossoms set; to draw hard breath over the plow or spade; to read, to think, to love, to pray are the things that make men happy."

First half attack kills Indians

KEWASKUM- The first five minutes of this game against Sheboygan Falls ended any chance of a win for Kewaskum as they played host on Monday, September 14. The Indians fell hard, 5-1, because of their slow start.

The Falcons recorded the first score just after a minute of play when Lewis Halverson found the net.

A penalty kick by Mitch Thimmig would be goal number two a minute later. Thimmig was given the kick after a trip in the box.

Just five minutes into the game Halverson got lucky with a header that found the net.

The Falcons were given another opportunity to score after Ryan Gibson was called on a trip. Dillion Thelen took the shot to the gut not allowing the shot.

Team captain Riley Gaynor then made a nice effort but narrowly missed the net.

Minutes 17 of the game saw the Falcons make a unsuccessful sneak attack, but Will Meyer quickly swooped in and capitalized on a second shot at Thelen giving a 4-0 score.

Zach Chimielewski attempted a shot as he hustled from mid-field with a Falcon on his back but narrowly missed the goal.

If he couldn't score, Chimielewski must have thought his opponent shouldn't either as he recovered from his missed goal by thwarting a Falcon kick that fell short.

Falls' speed didn't help Kewaskum who was again playing without Kyle Phillips who is working through a knee injury and Andres Rodriguez who was absent.

The Indians started the second half with a yellow card for Gaynor. Officials claimed unsportsman like conduct after Gaynor complained about a Falcon trip.

The Indians' legs, Caleb Olla and was able to seize a scoring opportunity 17 minutes into the half.

Olla, Harley Bruss and Vladimir Kostenko try three consecutive shots five minutes later that were blocked at the net.

The Indians definitely came back stronger in the half after a pep talk from their coaches. They maintained control of a ball that could not find the net.

Piwoni says the team "came out walking," and could not recover after the early pounding by Falls. Meeting Falls, he stated, "I knew it would be tough."

Piwoni stated the Falcons were able to score in games against Eastern Wisconsin Conference powerhouses like Kiel and Plymouth so he says the team was insured of intense play.

Gaynor thought the problem was the absence of the two starters. "When we have our full team, we have a chemistry," he explained.

"Stringing passes was difficult, people don't move when they pass," he continued.

However, he did see improvement remarkably, "last year we lost 10-0."

As a team, the Indians took a total of five shots.

The Indians lost a close game to Campbellsport Thursday and were set to host Plymouth Tuesday and Kiel Thursday. Those games will be covered next week.

Lady Indians undefeated at Slinger Round Robin

By Mitch Maersch
For the Statesman

Two starters down, Kewaskum's volleyball team entered last Saturday's Slinger Round Robin tournament "with the goals of playing as a team and focusing on passing well and playing solid defense."

Coach Joe Moser and the Indians exited with the championship and an undefeated record of 5-0, and chipped in some points for drama.

The Indians and New Berlin Eisenhower each came into the final match of the day undefeated. Kewaskum started by losing, 21-25.

"We lost the first game to the great play of Eisenhower's two excellent middles. They must be, like, 6 feet tall and they were great," Moser said.

Without starters Elissa Miller and George Abfall for the day, Moser decided to get his bench some playing time and, down or not, stuck with his strategy.

Ashley Kuechler and Monica Dehler "came out with some great blocks on Eisenhower's powerful middles. Both logged two solo blocks each," Moser said.

The Indians won the game, 25-20, and took care of business in the final contest, 15-11.

For the match, Ashley Faber had nine assists, five kills and two aces. Erika Heberer had nine assists and eight kills. Kayla Bastian had seven kills and six digs. Lauren Gonring had seven digs.

The Indians went the distance to beat Elkhorn, 25-20, 20-25, 15-9, and Grafton, 25-23, 21-25, 16-14.

Against Elkhorn, Heberer and Dehler each had nine kills, Faber five and Bastian four. Gonring had seven digs and Haley Rauch five. Heberer set up 14 assists and Faber 13. Rauch and Gonring each served two aces.

Versus Grafton, Heberer had nine kills, Bastian eight and Dehler and Faber five each. Heberer had 16 assists and Faber 13. Gonring had 12 digs, Rauch six and Bastian and Heberer five each. Heberer served five aces. Dehler had four blocks.

The Indians easily disposed of Cudahy, 25-18, 25-10.

Bastian had seven kills, Heberer and Dehler five each and Schulz three. Heberer had 10 assists and Molly Potter five. Gonring had five digs. Rauch served four aces and Heberer and Gonring two each.

"Transfer student Jordan Mikoljczak got to start against her old team, Cudahy, and had two kills," Moser said.

Slinger provided the proper inspiration for the title bout. The Indians won, 25-19, 27-25.

"We had an exciting Game 2 against Slinger that went to 27-25, and that really fired us up for the final match against New Berlin Eisenhower," Moser said.

Dehler had eight kills and Heberer six. Heberer, Faber and Gonring each had eight assists. Heberer had four aces and Dehler, Bastian and Gonring two each. Gonring had four digs.

For the tournament, Heberer had 37 kills, 57 assists and 11 aces. Faber had 18 kills and 43 assists. Gonring had 27 kills. Gonring had 35 digs and eight aces. Rauch had seven aces. Dehler had 10 blocks.

Sixth graders improve to 2-0

There were thrills, and there were heartaches during the second round of Gridiron football games when Kewaskum teams entertained Fredonia.

The sixth graders improved to 2-0 with a 26-0 blowout win.

"We had a couple of touchdown passes from Michael Prochnow to Sam Schlosser and Sean Murray," coach Bob Johnson said, reporting Josh Baker was a spark plug running the ball, scoring two TDs, including an electrifying 65-yard scamper in which he shrugged off several tacklers and finally broke free about the 10-yard line.

The team tried kicking its PATs, and Ben Watzig made one for the other two points.

With the score at 26-0 at half, the coaches continued to rotate defensive players in and out the entire second half. "We probably subbed 30 kids on defense," Johnson said. "You've got to give the whole defense kudos. To use that many kids and not give up a point is outstanding."

The fifth graders (1-1) won a 7-6 nail-biter, with Mike Boettcher's extra point run being the difference in the contest.

Dalton Poole scored the young Indians' lone TD, that coming on a 4-yard run to cap a 66-yard drive after a fumble recovery.

"(We did) much better with penalties this week. We only had 15 yards of penalties," coach Mark Walscheske said, reporting the score was 7-6.

Kewaskum lost its second string quarterback (Kyle Hank, knee) in the third quarter, and, "We had to go with our third string quarterback (Poole)," Walscheske said, noting the No. 1 quarterback, Boettcher, had gone out in the third quarter when he landed on his knee wrong while being tackled.

There was plenty of firepower displayed by the seventh graders (1-1) in their 29-8 victory over the Warriors.

Zach Smith scored a pair of touchdowns, one that covered 65 yard, and the other 40, according to Schlice, who reported Billy Lehmann scored on a quarterback sneak. The last score came via a halfback option pass from Dean Schlice to Hunter Demmon.

Extra points were scored by Smith (pass reception), Lehmann (run) and Dylan Thull (kick).

Schlice said Thull "had a great game" on defense from his middle linebacker position.

The heartaches came in the eighth grade (0-2) game as the Indians lost 35-32 on a late field goal by the Warriors.

Brett Boegel, in his first start at QB, threw three touchdown passes, to Cody Steinman (30 yds.), Kurt Luedtke (6 yds.) and Alex Johnson (20 yds.).

Joey Seitz scored on the ground, via a 10-yard run, and Boegel kicked all four PATs he tried.

"On defense, Joey Seitz stood out," Maul said, reporting Seitz left the game with an injury with a couple minutes to play, and Austin Resch also suffered an injury.

Kewaskum 21, Campbellsport 7 | Indians play dead in first half

KEWASKUM- Another double-digit win over a local rival had the undefeated defending conference champions scratching their heads as they walked off the field last Friday.

21-7 on the scoreboard looks like a solid victory, but Kewaskum was down 7-0 at halftime to Campbellsport, its second straight uninspired start.

"I don't know what we've got to do. It's very frustrating," said Coach Jason Piittmann on his team's flat play out of the gates.

Flat as in less than 40 yards of offense in the entire first half, two turnovers and less than nine minutes of possession out of a possible 24. Campbellsport looked more like the undefeated team rather than the winless one.

Quarterback Cody Nuernberg said it takes a "butt chewing" at half time from the coaches for the Indians to get on track.

"We have such a problem getting going in the beginning," he said.

The Indians moved to 2-0 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 4-0 overall.

The defense bailed out the Indians in holding the Cougars to barely 100 yards for the game and to seven points in a first half that could have been much worse, and ultimately made the game-saving play in the fourth quarter. For much of the night, monster defensive tackle Josh Boettcher and speedy safety turned defensive end Eric Enright chased sophomore quarterback Tim Whitty as if he took their lunch money.

Up 14-7 with less than eight minutes to play, the Cougars drove the Indians' 29. On third and eight, Steven Chapman picked off a pass on the 21 and returned it to the Cougars' 46.

The Indians slammed the door by handing Cody Seibel the ball on seven of the next nine plays for 39 yards, the final a 6-yard score.

"We had a good gut check at halftime. When we're all playing together we're a good football team," Nuernberg said.

Campbellsport played a field position game in the first half; Kewaskum crossed midfield only once and it was by four yards.

"That's tough when you're playing with your back against the wall," Piittmann said.

In the second quarter from Kewaskum's 43, the Cougars went 11 plays in three and a half minutes to draw first blood. A mix of passes and runs led to the three-yard line, where Kevin Gonring finished the drive with a blast up the middle.

A different team walked out of the locker room to start the third quarter. On its first drive, the Indians drove 71 yards on six plays in barely two minutes and seemed to be running downhill, all to a pumped sideline screaming encouragement.

Seibel had runs of nine and four yards, and Chapman runs of six and seven. Nuernberg ripped off 19 on an option right to the Campbellsport 25.

On first and 10, Nuernberg dropped back to pass and fired to his favorite target in the right corner. Defensive Back Sam Braatz tipped the ball and Brandon Zolp picked it out of the air and snuck inside the pylon for Kewaskum's first touchdown.

"We practice that in practice," Zolp said of the tip drill. "We spend a lot of time on it. It definitely pays off."

A penalty and a sack by Cody and Eric Enright forced a punt on the Cougars' first possession of the second half. From their 30, Campbellsport punted to Zolp, already with several huge punt returns on the season and one touchdown.

Zolp made his opponent pay again, dashing and darting his way for 38 yards to the Cougars' 27 for a net punt of minus three.

Why do teams still kick to him?

"I haven't figured that out," the game changer said.

Several plays later, the game changed for good. On third and six, Seibel lunged for a first down and gain of eight, and two plays later Nuernberg hit a wide-open Zolp with a dart on an slant for an 18-yard score.

With 4:32 left in the third quarter, the Indians had a lead they wouldn't relinquish.

"When we play aggressive football, we can be a good football team," Piittmann said.

"Oh man," Zolp said of the slow start. "Second half was definitely us."

Piittmann is thankful for his defense, singling out the Seibel finished with 19 carries for 110 yards and a touchdown and had a handful of solid tackles at linebacker.

Zolp had two catches for 43 yards, both for scores, and added a good pop on a Cougar as he bobbled and dropped a pass.

"He's worked very hard for his opportunity," Piittmann said.

The Indians have now won the last five Kettle Moraine Bowls as the game against Campbellsport is called. Dating to 1940, Kewaskum leads the series 38-30-1, according to Peter Schmitt.

Season is winding down; Indians still in 4th

By Judy Harlow
For the Statesman

It looks clear now that Kewaskum is set on finishing in fourth place in Wisconsin Little Ten Conference.

The regular season concluded last week with the Indians placing fourth at Watertown Country Club on Thursday and Hartford CC on Tuesday.

The conference was scheduled to wind up Monday (Sept. 22) with a 18-hole competition at Beaver Dam CC.

"I think we're pretty much looking at fourth," KHS coach Amy Piwoni said. "I don't see them (Goslings) slipping too much because they have been playing pretty well lately."

On the par 36 Watertown track, Heather Zuehlke and Megan Gavin led the Indians with 51s. This was Gavin's low round in conference action

Which Indians' team shows up for Friday's first half against Waupun remains to be seen.

NOTES

The team's traded turnovers on two consecutive plays early in the second quarter. Kewaskum's T.J. Slice, blanketing a Cougar receiver, caught an overthrow on a bomb as he was hit perfectly in stride inside the Indians' 20. On the ensuing play, Cody Seibel busted a run up the middle but had the ball taken from his arm by a Cougar in the open field, and Campbellsport set up shop on the Indians' 41.

On the final play of the third quarter, Boettcher fired through the line so fast he nearly took the handoff from Whitty. He instead swallowed Gonring and got instantaneous help from Enright.

this fall. Then came Kate Winkler and April Basterash at 56, giving the Indians a 214.

Danielle Donnelly did not play in the match at Watertown as she was out of town.

At Hartford, Donnelly just missed getting into the 40s with her score of 50, while Gavin and Zuehlke carded 52s, and Basterash shot 54.

With the results from the matches at the six different courses, Hartford is first with 8 points, then comes Oconomowoc with 14, and Watertown is close behind with 16. After the Indians' 23 comes Beaver Dam, 29; and the combined West Bend team with 36.

Zuehlke is sitting in seventh place at 255, while Winkler is 12th with a 265 total. Each player is able to throw our her highest score during the season.
