KHS will implement Distinguished Student Program with class of 2012

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Kewaskum High School is implementing a new program they say will challenge students and better prepare them for work and college and recognize their efforts.

Principal Christine Horbas and Superintendent Michael Krumm presented the School Board on Monday with the Kewaskum Distinguished Student Program.

The program has a list of academic, co-curricular and service requirements above state standards and similar to those of the National Honor Society.

"We're trying to set the standards even higher here in Kewaskum than other area school districts," said Horbas.

Students, starting with the class of 2012 (this year's sophomores), sign up for the program so the school can track their progress.

Next year's incoming freshmen may sign up right away, and the school is working on a pro-rated system for students who move into the district as upperclassmen, Horbas said.

Among the requirements are: earning two additional credits in math, science or social studies (beyond the three each required by the state), two credits in world language, one arts credit, maintaining a 3.4 grade-point average, taking four Advanced Placement or college-articulated credits, attending at least half of monthly scholar activities at school, being in two co-curricular activities, doing 150 hours of community service and doing a senior seminar project and showcase.

KHS's Bertelson will retire after over 30 years

Students may not do anything that triggers an out-of-school suspension or a Group One Athletic/Competitive Club Code violation to maintain participation in the program.

Board president John Kenworthy asked a few National Honor Society students in the audience if they would already fit the criteria. They said yes, aside from having the required hours of community service.

Those hours can be filled through various organizations, like churches or community groups like the Kiwanis, that will be asked to fill out forms proving the students served, Horbas said.

The senior seminar project and showcase essentially is an independent study for high school seniors that Kewaskum has been doing for years, Horbas said. This year 50 students are involved. Students work with a teacher outside of school on a specific topic, like physical therapy or auto mechanics. They pick their own topic, design their own course and submit the plan to Horbas for approval.

The type of work and nature of how the project works is dependent on the topic, Horbas said. Students studying physical therapy work with physical education teacher Jason Piittmann and trainer Emily Mueller at injuries and help assist with auto mechanics are rebuilding a snowmobile and will take it out to ride later.

Teachers meet with students weekly throughout the semester. At the end, students present what they learned to their teacher, Horbas and two other teachers, similar to defending a paper for a Ph.D. The panel ultimately decides on the grade, Horbas said.

County to give radios to DPW

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

WEST BEND- Washington County will pay for radios for municipalities' public works departments as part of the radio communications system project, ending a long and sometimes confusing debate.

The Radio Communications System Committee voted 5-1 to fully fund the radios. Brian Bausch voted against.

The radios' initial cost of $1,013,206 comes to just less than $1 million after a grant worth $19,000 is factored in.

Municipal radios are part of a larger project replacing the county's radio system covering the sheriff's department and highway departments, and municipalities' police and fire departments. The county budgeted $14.6 million for the project.

Seventeen municipalities requested a total of 283 mobile radios and 183 portable ones for their public works departments. The towns of Farmington, Barton and German-ton didn't request any since they don't have public departments.

Eight municipalities participated in the federal grant, administered by the county. Partial matching funds required by the grant are included in the $1 million.

Committee member and County Board Chairman Herb Tennes asked that the motion include that county sales tax dollars are being used for the radios. Tennes said he used the public to know the county is spending some sales tax money on more than just county projects.

"You always hear the word from the municipalities. 'Why don't we get some of that sales tax?'" he said. "We're spending it on them, too."

POLICE REPORTS

Stolen Pills

A Kewaskum man, 29, contacted the Kewaskum Police Department on Jan. 9 alleging his 28-year-old brother had taken his Suboxone and Amphetamine medication without permission. He said the incident occurred after the two got into a verbal argument while out in Kewaskum on Jan. 8. The younger brother, who lives in Waukesha, admitted he flushed the pills down the toilet when he returned home because he thought they were part of the problem. He admitted it was wrong. The officer advised him that his brother now needed a police report in order to refill his prescription.

Suspicious Phone Calls

A Kewaskum woman, 50, contacted authorities in the late evening Jan. 6 and said she had received a number of suspicious calls throughout the day. The calls came up as private so she was unsure who they were from. She played an answering machine message that sounded like two people having sexual intercourse for the officer. The woman said she suspected the calls might be coming from two people she has a restraining order against, one of whom was released from jail on Dec. 30, 2009. The woman thought they were "trying to cause problems again." She said she had safety concerns. Another officer visited and observed the messages had likely been recorded on TV or the Internet.

On Jan. 8, an officer recorded one of the messages and it was saved to a CD. The woman said she contacted Charter, her phone provider, and was informed how she could trace the number if there were more calls.

Kewaskum man killed in Jackson crash

JACKSON- A 59-year-old Town of Kewaskum man was fatally injured after a three-vehicle crash on Highway 60, west of Tillie Lake Drive on Wednesday, February 3. Two other adults also suffered injuries in the crash.

According to a statement from the Washington County Sheriff's Department, they were notified of the collision at 4:29 p.m. Deputies, Jackson Fire Department/EMS and West Bend Rescue responded to the scene.

Lt. Robert Martin of the Sheriff's Office stated Ronald Anas was the only occupant of an eastbound car and not believed to have been wearing his seatbelt. Prior to the crash, his vehicle crossed left of center into the westbound lane of traffic and sideswiped a westbound SUV, being driven by Stephanie A. Albrecht, 28 of Slinger.

After the sideswipe collision, the eastbound car spun sideways and was struck by a second westbound vehicle, operated by James D. Harrison, 68, of Naples FL. He was traveling with his 66 year old wife.

Anas was extricated from his vehicle and transported to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Albrecht who was the only occupant in her vehicle, suffered minor injuries, and was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment. She was wearing a seatbelt.

Harrison suffered minor injuries and declined medical transport. His wife suffered serious injuries and was taken by ambulance to Froedtert Hospital in Milwaukee. Both were wearing seatbelts.

Traffic along Highway 60 was detoured around the scene for approximately 4.5 hours while rescue and clean-up efforts were conducted. The Sheriff's Department crash reconstruction team responded to assist in the investigation.

Wisconsin makes a difference during National FCCLA week

Members of the Wisconsin association of Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) will join more than 219,000 members in celebrating National FCCLA Week February 7-13, 2010. This year's theme is "Grasp Greatness." During National FCCLA Week, members plan and carry out activities to address teen and societal concerns and show how Family and Consumer Sciences education can help them achieve the ultimate leadership experience.

Kewaskum FCCLA members provide free refreshments for the Wednesday afternoon theatre, are holding a flower sale at the high school this week, and are selling Boston Store Community Day coupon books to raise funds for the two scholarships that are offered each year. All middle school and high school students are able to join FCCLA for the 2010 - 2011 school year for just $5.00 - this is half price during this anniversary week only.

FCCLA: The Ultimate Leadership Experience is a dynamic and effective national student organization that helps young men and women become leaders and address important personal, family, work, and societal issues through Family and Consumer Sciences Education. FCCLA has more than 219,000 members and nearly 7,000 chapters from 50 state associations, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. The organization has involved more than ten million youth since its founding in 1945.

DPW Radios

Committee member Don Berchem agreed to amend the motion to fulfill Tennes's request.

Tennes originally suggested the county pay for half of the radios and the municipalities pick up the other half of the costs. Some municipalities budgeted for the radios while others waited for the committee to decide how much would come from the radio system project's $14.6 million budget.

"I think the county's being more than fair in offering to pay half," Tennes said.

Partial funding could, however, cause some municipalities to come onto the system piecemeal, making for a difficult and complicated process, said Sheriff Dale Schmidt.

There's an advantage to having the county all on one radio system, said Robert Cluka, public safety director for General Communications, the company doing the sales, installation and programming of the radios.

"Communication is the heart of getting anything done. If a fire chief needs to talk to somebody, he doesn't need to look up a phone number; he needs to turn a switch," said Cluka, who has 28 years experience in law enforcement.

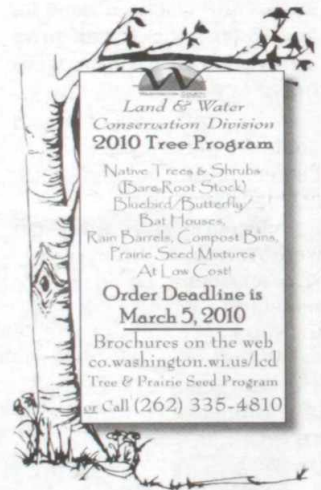

The committee wondered if it had committed to buying radios for the public works departments years ago or not. Nobody had minutes confirming the committee's intentions, but County Administrator Doug Johnson said he remembers the county took the radios out of its project because there may not have been enough money to pay for them. The top priorities were the first responders, emergency medical technicians and law enforcement agencies.

No commitment was made on how much or if any funding would go to radios for public works departments, he said.

Now that the project is further along, paying for the radios puts the project $2.2 million under budget.

The committee seemed to doubt the project would run into any more glitches that would cost $2.2 million, but Stern said "The way this project is going I don't know."

Farmington Pay Attention,

I'm so happy to have read Dick Finch's opinion in the February 4, 2010 edition of the Statesman. Everything he said was so true. As a plan commission member, I have let the Town Board know how betrayed I feel about the way the "Comp Plan" was changed to Mr. Seyfert's liking.

The things going on in our town are unacceptable! It also reinforces the need for a 5 member board.

When you have such an intimidating man and a chairman who is his puppet, a lone supervisor like Mr. Foyse, with common sense, has no effect. We need to change this now! PLEASE PAY ATTENTION!

Students completing the Distinguished Student Program will have it noted on their transcripts, diplomas and graduation, Horbas said. Names may be displayed at school somehow. The school has yet to decide.

The Board of Education also accepted with regret the retirement of David Bertelsen, effective at the end of the school year.

EDWC 'Stepping Up to the Next Level'

By Kyle Zwieg
Statesman Correspondent

WEST BEND- WEST BEND - The startup phase is over at Economic Development/Washington County, and leaders say 2010 will be a bellwether year in the organization's continuing transition into a fully engaged economic developer.

ED/WC Executive Director Christian Tscheschlok, said at the group's annual meeting Feb. 4 that it is undergoing the creation of an ambitious three-year strategy to address core efforts in existing business development, targeted business attraction and qualified startup/small business support.

Tscheschlok said projects this year will include a detailed data gathering during the first quarter; a State of Economic Development & Strategy Summit in April; the unveiling of the three-year strategy in the third quarter; and a fourth-quarter investment campaign.

Titled "Stepping Up to the Next Level," the meeting was attended by about 130 business and civic officials at West Bend Mutual Insurance Co.'s Prairie Center.

Tscheschlok, who started at ED/WC on Dec. 7, said 2010 will be a year of difficult choices as the organization hones in on bringing jobs to Washington County.

"When you start up ... you have to build those foundations, get as many people on board and pull those pieces together," he told the audience. "That takes a lot of your energy. As an organization matures and has some of the pieces in place, there's different ways that you can engage. You have to make some choices.

Among the initiatives being discussed are services to expand ED/WC's business consulting and advisement resources.

"The board has given some very specific direction that they feel the startup phase is over," Tscheschlok continued. "It's time to move to the next level. What you will be seeing going forward is not just an organization that is serving, but an organization that is entrepreneurial. That's what economic development is all about, working with our businesses as a business."

ED/WC President Doreen Buntrock said the organization has come a long way since its formation about four years ago. She served as president for the past two years.

"I said this was the year of accountability, and it really was," said Buntrock, business development officer at Westbury Bank.

The organization's original executive director, John Caldwell, resigned last summer. A search committee headed by Dave Lenz, an executive at Regal Ware Worldwide in Kewaskum, ultimately chose Tscheschlok out of a crowded field of candidates, Buntrock said.

Tony Warren, West Bend Mutual's chairman and retired CEO, filled in as interim director between Caldwell's resignation last summer and Tscheschlok's first day in December.

Looking ahead, Buntrock said ED/WC has tough work ahead. The unemployment rate in Washington County ballooned from 5.4 percent in December 2008 to 8.6 percent in December 2009, she said. "We had to do some changes just like every business in this county did," she said. "We had to make hard decisions. We had to eliminate some things. We had to turn the course a few times. We had to listen to what everyone was telling us out there."

Among ED/WC's initiatives in 2009:

- The organization provided $300,000 in gap funding through its Revolving Loan Fund to Kessler's Diamond Center in Germantown, Matenaer Corp. in West Bend and Pouch Converting Technologies Inc. of Hubertus. The businesses spent $5.4 million in new investment in the county.

- Completed a Business Retention Survey that collected data from 700 county businesses.

- Partnered with EPIC Creative of West Bend on a promotional video entitled "Business Ready, Life Ready" that won two industry awards.

- Sponsored a job fair at Washington County Fair Park with the Waukesha-Ozaukee-Washington (WOW) Workforce Development Center that attracted more than 1,000 job seekers.

- The organization participated in the Discover Wisconsin multimedia campaign, which included a 30-minute TV program broadcast throughout the Midwest, numerous radio spots and print materials to promote the area's tourism potential in 8.1 million homes.

- Continued the ED/WC Seminar Series with events in several communities.

Since joining ED/WC on Dec. 7, Tscheschlok has conducted 79 in-person meetings and outreach events. He has secured $100,000 in gap funding for a Germantown manufacturer, is finalizing a $25,000 training grant for a company in Hubertus and has worked to improve the information technology capabilities of ED/WC.

"Christian has been out there working, which you can see here today because a lot of the people here he's already met with, which is why they're here," Buntrock said.

ED/WC also approved new board tenures at the meeting. Elected to two-year terms on the board were Buntrock, Lenz of Regal Ware, Rollie Pieper of Schuman & Pieper LLP and Jennifer Wnuk of Quad/Graphics.

Elected as officers for 2010 were Warren, president; Lenz, vice president; David Nixon, secretary; Patrick Thomey, treasurer.

Warren served two years as chairman of United Way of Washington County, which exceeded its fundraising goal this year.

"We've been very successful in creating awareness of Washington County, our productive workforce, as well as the unique quality of life that we enjoy in this county," Warren said. "We've been successful in attracting new business as well as assisting existing businesses to grow and expand.

"Expectations and challenges are greater," he continued. "We must develop clearer objectives we can report back to our investors. We must be more accountable to everyone and make it obvious we are becoming successful in building a strong economy. Today we're announcing our intent to step up to the next level."

New 2009 investors include Aurora Medical Center, Jim Bennett, Hartford Savings Bank, the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce and EPIC Creative.

Local couple looks back on over a half century of Valentine's Days

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

When Cupid shot his arrows at George and Elaine Gauvin, he hit the targets dead center. The two were sweethearts in the mid-1930s, and they are still sweethearts today.

That's right, the two have celebrated approximately 75 Valentine's Days together, and as of November 19, 2009 have been married 72 years.

It was love at first sight for George Gauvin, who remembers seeing cute little Elaine singing a song and giving a speech at her eighth grade graduation in Spring Valley, a small town in northern Wisconsin.

George, who will turn 99 on Feb. 21st, said he told his buddy, "Some day, I'm going to marry that girl," to which the buddy replied, "Lots of luck." Then George retorted, "We'll see."

And Elaine's first reactions to seeing George? "I thought he was pretty decent," she said.

"Several years later, we starting going together," George went on, and when asked where they went on their first date, he replied, "Probably to see a movie at the movie house."

Elaine felt George was a real gentleman, opening the door for her, and she said, "He asked me about everything we were going to do."

"I always treated her pretty nice," George said, and even though he can't recall specifically what he gave her on the first Valentine's Day when they were dating, added, "I always gave her a gift, although it was some pretty tough times ... And she appreciated them."

The couple had a long-distance romance for a while since George was working at a plant in Pontiac, MI., and Elaine was back in Downsville, WI, 750 miles away. Many times George traveled back to Wisconsin on the weekend just to see Elaine.

"Then he said, 'We better get married,'" Elaine said. While George didn't go to that popular jewelry store now featured in television commercials, she said, "Yes."

The parents of the couple were delighted with the marriage announcement. "My parents thought the world of him," Elaine said, George's parents, who raised 11 children, felt the same.

The two went back to Spring Valley to make their home, and, "We lived in the same house about 60 years," first renting there and then purchasing the home, which was located on the main street.

"We knew every soul in town, and they knew us. We left a lot of good friends there when we moved here six years ago," George said.

The couple had just one child, Daniel. "He died just before we moved down here," George said, explaining "They (Dan and his wife June) had said, 'You have to come down here by us. We'll take care of you."

And their daughter-in-law, June Gauvin, who retired a couple of years ago from her position as principal of Holy Trinity Catholic School, has done just that. She shops for them, acts as their chauffeur and handles all their finances.

George and Elaine are excited they have two granddaughters, Suzie and Kate, and four great-grandchildren. The two have been excellent role models for the two granddaughters and other young married couples.

And what is their secret to having a good marriage? "Trust," said Elaine, and George said it was taking the marriage vows very seriously.

"The day of our marriage we made a pact, that neither of us would go to bed mad." He went on, "We do pretty well, I think," and "most arguments are foolish anyway."

Elaine also said thoughtfulness is important. "It helps solve a lot of problems," she said.

Both are convinced having strong faith in God is the basis for a good marriage

The two are excited for Valentine's Day to come, saying they will probably take part in the activities offered that day by the staff at Kettle Moraine Gardens where they live.

And they plan to continue the tradition of expressing their love to the other. "(I tell him) not every day, but often," Elaine said, and George said he says

Valentine's Day Deliciousness

(Family Features) On Valentine's Day, there's no better way to express your feelings for a loved one than to bake some delicious treats. Your favorite sweetheart will enjoy sinking his or her teeth into these Glazed Brownie Heart treats that taste just as good as they look.

If you have an entire party of cupid-crazed friends and family members to entertain, this Brownie Heart can serve as the perfect personalized place card that they can devour later. These treats are perfect for customizing and can even occupy the little ones with a Brownie Heart decorating station.

With a recipe that's as easy as it is delicious, you'll have more time to enjoy with your loved ones. All that is needed for this darling recipe is a simple brownie mix, frosting and a heart-shaped cookie cutter. These goodies will definitely score "brownie points" with your holiday honey. For additional ideas, visit BettyCrocker.com.

Glazed Brownie Hearts

Prep Time: 30 minutes
Total Time: 2 hours 25 minutes
Makes: 14 brownie hearts

1 box Betty Crocker® Original Supreme brownie mix (with chocolate syrup pouch) or Betty Crocker fudge brownie mix

Water, vegetable oil and eggs called for on brownie mix box

1 container (1 pound) Betty Crocker Rich & Creamy chocolate frosting

Betty Crocker Decorating Decors multicolored candy sprinkles or colored sugar

1. Heat oven to 350°F. Line bottom and sides of 13x9-inch pan with foil. Grease foil on bottom only of pan with shortening or cooking spray. Make brownie mix as directed on box, using water, oil and eggs. Bake as directed for 13x9-inch pan. Cool completely, about 1 hour.

2. Using foil to lift, remove brownie from pan; remove foil. With deep 2 1/2-inch heart-shaped cookie cutter, cut 14 brownies. Place brownie hearts on a cooling rack or waxed paper.

3. In a microwavable bowl, microwave frosting uncovered on High 10 to 30 seconds. Stir; frosting will be thick and spoonable. DO NOT BOIL. Carefully spoon melted frosting over brownies to glaze, allowing excess to drip down sides. Sprinkle with candy sprinkles before frosting sets.

For added color and texture, mix 1/4 cup Betty Crocker Rich & Creamy vanilla frosting and enough red food color to make pink frosting in a microwavable bowl. Microwave on High 10 seconds. Drizzle over chocolate-glazed hearts.

Wind Energy and Wildlife Interactions

The Evening with Nature Series at the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit continues in February with the program, "Wind Energy and Wildlife Interactions - What We Know and Don't Know." The program will be held on Thursday, February 11, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

As we search for alternatives to fossil fuels, wind power often comes to the forefront as a clean, environmentally friendly, renewable energy source. Wind farms with their towering turbines have cropped up in the fields near Byron, Eden, Allenton and Chilton and still more are in the planning stages. While many people praise wind farms, others have raised concerns about their effects on humans and on wildlife.

Join Noel Cutright, ecologist with We Energies and past president of Wisconsin Society of Ornithology, as he shares some insights on mortality rates of birds and bats near wind turbines. He will also share some other effects wind turbines are having on various wildlife species and what still needs to be studied in regards to wildlife and wind energy interactions. As part of his presentation, Mr. Cutright will cover what goes into the construction of wind farms in Wisconsin.

For further information or directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, please contact the staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. They may be reached at (920) 533-8322, Wednesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., on Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and on Sunday from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

FES students make centerpieces

In a class project learning about Native American pottery, Farmington Elementary School art teacher, Susan Seibel, had students from Mrs. Wenzlaff's and Ms. Peltonen's fifth grade classes make hand-coiled pottery to be used as centerpieces for the Washington County's Old Settler's banquet. Students designed, glazed and decorated each piece and completed them by signing their name to the bottom. This year's banquet will be held on Feb. 21 at the Fillmore Turner Hall. Reservations can be made by calling the Washington County Historical Society at 262-335-4678.

Holy Trinity holds Penny War for Haiti

Mrs. Kowalczyk's kindergarten class shows off its Penny War collection at Holy Trinity Catholic School.

By Kyle Zwieg
kyle@kewaskumstatesman.com

A penny here and a nickel there added up to a whole lot more for students at Holy Trinity Catholic School in Kewaskum.

The students recently gathered buckets full of change in a school-wide fundraiser to benefit victims of last month's devastating earthquake in the Republic of Haiti.

Participants could either drop pennies into their own classroom's bucket that would be totaled in their favor, or drop more lucrative silver change into another class' bucket to count against their collection.

It's called a Penny War, and students ponied up in droves, gathering a total of $2,114, according to Holy Trinity's principal, JoAnn Karpin.

The collection, which ended Jan. 29, is one of many Haitian fundraisers currently winding its way around town.

"The kids are (collecting) and on the weekends we moved the buckets over to the church and had parishioners contribute," Karpin said. "The kids have been kind of going home and talking to grandma and grandpa, asking them to put money in their bucket. They're really excited and were dying to know who had the most. We've been telling them the total after Sunday masses."

The winning class, Mrs. Hubert's sixth graders, won a giant-sized Hershey chocolate bar that had been donated by a parent and put on display near the school's main entrance.

The school has 149 students in grades K4 through 8, for a total of 10 classes. The Penny War is a new fundraising strategy at the school.

The school had set a comparatively modest goal of $600, which is what students had collected during its latest Advent fundraiser. Some students held back on their coins until the very end, hoping to keep tabs on their classmates' collections before deciding where to submit their money.

Paper money could also be donated, and counted the same as pennies in a classroom's favor. "It was amazing," Karpin said. "We didn't really set a goal and there's been a lot of fundraisers going on in school, so I was really happy. We did have one student who withdrew $90 from his own savings account and donated it, so I thought that was pretty amazing. He's in sixth grade. I hoped he got his parents' permission, and he did. His dad and him went to the bank and took the money out."

The money will be given to the Milwaukee Archdiocese's World Mission Ministries fund, which is currently soliciting donations for Haitian relief efforts through the organization's website.

A new record deer kill, far more than double that of last year, had already been achieved in Washington County Wednesday when reports indicated that more than 200 deer had been killed during the first five days of the season in the county with four more days of the season remaining. Monday morning reports indicated that 106 deer were registered at the sheriff's office on the opening weekend and this number increased over the 200 mark by Wednesday. Mostly bucks were bagged with does running close behind and a smaller number of fawns. Washington County has an "any deer" season this year. Bob Lake, conservation warden for this area said that in addition to the legal kill during the present season, he has already recorded 60 deer killed by automobiles in the county this year. Last year 87 deer were shot in the county and 50 were reported killed by cars.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Special Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Andy Pesch called the meeting to order at 7:00 p.m. Board members present were Steve Scheunemann, Harry Roecker, Kevin Scheunemann, Andy Pesch, Norman Kufahl, Tom Piwoni and Jim Hovland. Staff members present were Matt Heiser, Richard Knoebel, Chad Cook and Stephanie Justmann. Also present was Christine Rawson and Neng Yeng from the DOT, Jeff Hansen from McMahon Associates, the news media and concerned citizens.

Notice of the meeting had been posted at the National City Bank, Kewaskum Post Office, and at the Municipal Building on January 22, 2010. Notice was also forwarded to the Village Board, Village Attorney, Village Engineer, and the News Media.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

Options for the Highway 28/ Main Street project were reviewed, discussed, and public input was received. A survey conducted by the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce was also referenced to obtain the business perspectives.

The first item discussed was the sidewalk in front of the cemetery and Johnson Bus to extend down to Kettle Kountry Estates. The details considered were no parking would be allowed along the cemetery, storm sewer would need to be installed by Johnson Bus, an agreement would need to be obtained from the Town of Kewaskum because Johnson Bus is in the Town, and the cost would be 25% of the project cost. Motion by Kevin Scheunemann not to install the sidewalk along the cemetery and in front of Johnson Bus, second by Norman Kufahl and carried by roll call vote. S. Scheunemann-aye, Roecker-aye, K. Scheunemann-aye, Pesch-aye, Kufahl-aye, Piwoni-aye, Hovland-aye. (7-0-0)

The DOT has recommended installing bump outs at two pedestrian crossings and at the intersections of Railroad Street and Parkview Drive. The options discussed were that every bump out doesn't need to be installed, safety, truck traffic, traffic conditions during school hours, parking stalls, street maintenance, and placement of hydrants within the bump outs. Motion by Jim Hovland to install bump outs at the two pedestrian crossings, Railroad Street, and on the west side of the intersection at Parkview Drive and the bump outs should be constructed in a way that is most accommodating for snowplowing, second by Kevin Scheunemann and carried by roll call vote. S. Scheunemann-aye, Roecker-aye, K. Scheunemann-aye, Pesch-aye, Kufahl-aye, Piwoni-aye, Hovland-aye. (7-0-0)

The landscaping and streetscaping will be determined at a later date. Ideas will be displayed by the DOT at an upcoming informational meeting. The Chamber of Commerce will be asked to give their recommendation on the type of lighting, light poles, planters, trash receptacles, benches and landscaping.

Revisions will need to be completed on the DOT project agreement and will be placed on a future Village Board agenda for action.

Motion by Kevin Scheunemann to adjourn at 8:35 p.m., second by Norman Kufahl, and carried by roll call vote. S. Scheunemann-aye, Roecker-aye, K. Scheunemann-aye, Pesch-aye, Kufahl-aye, Piwoni-aye, Hovland-aye. (7-0-0)

Indians have to settle for second in EWC test

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

KEWASKUM - As expected, there was a three-team race for the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC) Tournament title Saturday, with rival Campbellsport taking the upper hand after coming away with five individual titles.

The Cougars amassed 177 points, 15.5 more than defending champion Kewaskum (161.5), which was without Brad Bentz, who was sidelined by an injury. The Indians did have two champions, including Jared Koffke (119), and Cody Seibel (215), who made EWC history by notching his fourth conference championship.

Sheboygan Falls finished third with 154.5 points, then came up-and-coming Two Rivers with 132.5, followed by New Holstein, 89; Plymouth, 75.5; Kiel, 59; and Waupun, 52.

"Second place, what do you do," KHS coach Dennis Aupperle said afterward, generally pleased with the overall efforts of his athletes, but still wondering what might have been with Bentz, who was 6-1 in EWC action and 24-1 overall.

Concerning Seibel, who needed just 1:12 to win his first match (after receiving a bye in the first round) over John Pruitt of Plymouth and pounded Ben TenPas of Sheboygan Falls, winning by disqualification.

TenPas (7-0) moved down from heavyweight for the tournament and might have wished he had not, going up against the KHS senior. Seibel started with a quick takedown and nearfall and never stopped pushing for the pin, so much so that the officials warned TenPas for stalling, awarded two single points to Seibel for Ten Pas' stalling, and a two-pointer before ending the match on the fourth stall.

Seibel said never in his career had he won by disqualification, but it didn't matter to him. He did what he came to do.

"It feels good, especially at the weights I was at," Seibel, who won the title at 152 his freshman year, 171 at a sophomore, 189 as a junior and now at 215, said. "No one has ever done it this high before."

Despite his excellent season, which include a glossy 24-1 record, Seibel feels he still has some unfinished business. "Hopefully this year, I will make it to state and do well there," he said, grateful his shoulder injury is behind him and he is near 100 percent for the regional and sectional series.

"I recovered quickly," he said, adding, "I'm just trying to make the best of the year I can."

"He's a brute!" Aupperle said about the elder Seibel. (At the start of the season,) We didn't know if we would have him at all, and here he is."

Koffke dropped to 119 a week and a half ago and stayed there Saturday. He started off with a pin in 35 seconds, then shutout Justin Schueneman 4-0 in the semis, setting him up to face defending champion Joey Nelson of New Holstein in the finals.

Koffke (23-9) did give up a take-down in the first period, but tied the score on a reversal and rode Nelson for the entire second period, so the match was going to be determined in the final two minutes.

Nelson got a little high in his ride, leading into the final minute and Koffke was able to come out the back door for a reversal with :50 to go and stayed in control for the win and his second EWC crown.

Three other finalists, Brett Scoles at 103, Rob Maertz at 140 and Lance Pinchard at 171, fell short in their bids for titles.

Scoles (26-8) was leading Campbellsport's Ryan Costello 2-0 in the second period when he fell victim to Costello's famous "cow catcher" move and was pinned in 3:15.

Maertz (25-9) and Jared Ertman of Sheboygan Falls were very equally matched, evidenced by the fact the score was 3-3 at the end of regulation. Neither man scored in the first overtime, then Ertman escaped with :06 left in the second, and Maertz was unable to break free in his :30 try to escape, and the Falcon emerged with the slim victory.

Pinchard (2-2) pulled off a big upset in the first round, pinning second-seeded Andrew Van Lanen in a quick 15. Next he won an 11-2 decision over a Plymouth wrestler, putting him in the finals vs. Campbellsport's James Hawley. The score was 0-0 early in the second period when Pinchard got caught, riding too high, and was pinned.

"Lance had a great tournament.

He just got caught there," Aupperle said.

Kewaskum had four third places, from Logan Dreher at 112, Austin Goeden at 130, Caleb Olla at 135 and Bo Seibel at 160.

To help the team, Seibel (26-5) went down to 160 and ended up having to face Falls' Ben Chappa in the semis, instead of the finals. Chappa was in control pretty much from start to finish, winning 9-2, in a match watching by everyone in the New Holstein gym.

"Chappa's tough. He's just a good solid kid," Aupperle said, pleased to see Bo come back with a quick pin in the battle for third over Brady Huenink of Waupun.

"Austin came back nice for third ... Logan came back," Aupperle said about two of his freshmen place winners.

Goeden (15-8) picked up pins over Marc Popp of New Holstein and Tim Edwards of Plymouth around a 12-6 loss in the semis in a match that was 6-7 with two minutes to go.

Dreher (7-8) lost a tough 2-1 decision to Derek Taylor of TR in the semis, then pinned Josh Cypert of Waupun to take third.

Olla (20-8) was the victim of a couple questionable calls in his semifinal match against Tristan Rowley of the host school, losing 4-1 in a match that was tied going into the third period.

Olla took out his frustration in Greg Blatz of Campbellsport, beating him 15-0 for third.

Kewaskum also had Cole Roberts (10-14) take fourth at 189; Derik Muckerheide (14-16) was fifth at 125, and Brandon Ehn won his first varsity match (via pin) to take fifth at 285.

Kewaskum will host a Division 2 regional Saturday, starting at 10 a.m. The top two place winners at each weight advance to the sectionals.

Wrestlers have memorable senior night

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Four Kewaskum High School seniors, plus the team's trusty manager, went out on a high note last Tuesday, as they teamed up with the underclassmen for a 55-15 non-conference victory over Oostburg on Senior Night.

With the victory, the Indians, currently rated No. 9 among Division 2 teams, finished with a 13-5 record.

"With Derik Muckerheide's forfeit, they all went out with a win. Good for them!" KHS coach Dennis Aupperle said after the match.

Caleb Olla won by major decision, 12-0 over Jordan Vanderpuy at 135 pounds; Cody Seibel needed just 1:20 to pin Zack Brill at 215; and Oostburg didn't put a man on the mat to face Muckerheide, so the Indian seniors who wrestled went three for three.

A fourth senior, Steve Kudek, was injured very early in the season, but he continued to come and cheer on his teammates for every dual meet and every tournament.

Manager Joash Olla has been invaluable to the program and is loved by all the wrestlers and their families.

All received special senior boards with pictures of themselves in action, thanks to Jolene Aupperle, and they also received framed photos of themselves wrestling, compliments of parent Sue Goeden.

"It was a good meet," Caleb Olla said. "I'm real excited (about conference)."

Oostburg coach Steve Rogers decided to forfeit at several weights to keep his athletes healthy for the conference meet.

After the meet, Aupperle probably wished he would have kept junior Brad Bentz out of action. Bentz bumped up to 152 pounds and improved to 24-1 with his 3-1 victory over Lucas Copp but in the process sustained an injury. The severity of the injury was not known immediately after the match.

Panthers overtake Indians

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

For one half of basketball the Kewaskum Indians were hanging with powerhouse Plymouth last Friday.

Then the Panthers showed why they're a top-tier Eastern Wisconsin Conference team.

Up 32-20 at the break, Plymouth outscored Kewaskum 13-2 in the third quarter to dash any hopes of an upset on their way to a 58-32 victory. The Panthers improved to 8-2 in the EWC, 13-4 overall. Kewaskum is 1-9 in conference and 3-15 overall.

"That's kind of how it was at their place, too. Hang with 'em for a half and then just come out in the second half we weren't able to keep being successful," said Coach Quinn Heintz.

Down 9-3 entering the second quarter, the Indians countered four Panther three-pointers with free throws. Cody Lemke scored eight of his team-high nine in the quarter, going 6-for-6 from the line and nailing a jumper. Lucas Kopeschka went 4-for-4 at the stripe.

Greg Rhude and Mitch Unger were scoring from a few feet farther back. Each nailed two three-pointers in the quarter, and Jon Criter scored seven of his game-high 14.

Down 12, the Indians were far from out of it.

In the third quarter, turnovers led to easy Panther points and the Indians couldn't catch up.

"Part of that is they're a really talented team. They're well coached and they make great adjustments at halftime and they take away things we were trying to do. We really didn't play awful in the second half. It was just more of them coming out and playing a better second half than they played in the first," Heintz said.

The Indians struggled with ball control much of the night against the Panthers' pressure. It didn't help point guard Eric Perkins was out with a knee injury.

"When he's out it hurts our defense. We're going to ball pressure. He's one of our quickest guards and best guards," Heintz said.

He hopes to ease Perkins back into the lineup this week. Lemke and C.J. Bowe stepped up in place of Perkins.

"Cody's been tough all year. He's worked hard all year," Heintz said.

Bowe worked his way into games.

"Ever since the new year he's been one of the most improved players on the team," Heintz said.

In the season didn't play much early in the season due to a lack of quickness on defense.

"But he's worked on that and that's a credit to him. As a senior he wanted to get minutes and he knew what he needed to work on and he's gotten better at it, and now he's getting minutes to show for it and he's able to contribute quite a bit," Heintz said.

Sophomore Brett Nuernberg, coming off of a 21-point game at Sheboygan Falls Feb. 2, was held to two points. But he was recently brought up to varsity to get some experience for next season.

"Tonight the shots weren't falling for him but to his credit he used to have a tendency to kind of put his head down and kind of not play through it. Tonight the shots weren't falling but he still played through it," Heintz said. "He played hard.

He handled the ball and he tried to create for other people. He's getting some much needed experience. He's a good player. He's going to be a big part of our team for the rest of the year and into the future."

The Indians may face the Panthers again in the playoffs as the teams are in the same regional. Heintz hopes to use the two games as a tool.

"It helps us compete. We have guys who have to step up and play hard in these games. I'd rather play to a good team like this than to play to a team that is not so good and you don't get much out of it. Here we had to learn to deal with pressure, learn to deal with traps," he said.

On Dec. 11, the Indians were down 28-19 at the half before losing 67-40 at Plymouth.

Lady Indians second in conference in over a decade

PLYMOUTH - The learning - and winning - continues for the girls' basketball team this season.

Last Thursday's lesson was playing with a lead on the road in a battle for second place in conference. Kewaskum held on for a 38-25 victory.

After jumping out to a 12-0 advantage and keeping that margin at the half, the Panthers began to chip away. Entering the fourth quarter, Kewaskum held on to a 24-17 lead, one basket from a two-possession game and nerves stiffening.

Enter some clutch play from Haley Rauch and Elissa Miller. Rauch scored seven of her team-high 11 points. Two baskets came on consecutive possessions to start the quarter, one a jumper inside and another on a drive. Miller went 4-for-4 at the line in bonus situations. Rauch went 3-for-4, including 2-for-2 in the bonus, and Anna Butler went 3-for-4 as the lead never got below six.

"We really get ourselves pumped up together. We know how to get it going again," said senior guard Erica Rammer, who started her first game of the season.

The Indians possessed to 7-2 to take sole possession of second place in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. Plymouth slipped to third place at 6-3. Kewaskum is 10-5 overall; Plymouth is 9-7.

The Indians ran a slower offense than normal as Coach Mike Kleinhans often yelled "patience" at his offense. The coach was more animated than usual.

"We had to (be patient) because they sagged so bad. We couldn't run our swing," Kleinhans said. I don't think they thought we'd be patient. I think he (Plymouth coach Brad Shutter) really thought we'd throw it away."

The Indians lost the turnover battle but were patient enough.

"They've got to learn how to win when they have the lead. They did it probably the last three minutes of the game because we didn't have a turnover then," Kleinhans said.

"We've never played winning and in the lead. It was really hard at first for us to slow it down," Rauch said. "Once we were pulling it out they kept trapping. We just hit all the gaps and tried getting it down low."

It didn't help that senior starting center Candace Beine was out with a wrist injury against Plymouth's tall lineup. Rammer, five inches shorter at 5-7, took her place.

"I was really surprised. I was really happy, though, little nervous," she said.

"Got her first start, had a great game. She doesn't show up in your box scores. She had three offensive rebounds and an assist. That girl did a lot tonight for us playing defense," Kleinhans said.

That includes a huge play in the fourth quarter with less than 2:30 to go. A long pass to beat Plymouth's press before Rammer sped over to save it to Rauch, who was fouled. She hit both free throws and made it 32-24.

"It's definitely hard to get used to playing with a lead," Rammer said. "We're used to being down so we take all these shots we don't need. We've got to get used to moving it around." Kewaskum's other inside force, 6-foot-0 Jenna Buker, scored 10 points and grabbed six rebounds.

"She showed up again tonight," Kleinhans said.

Point guard and leading scorer Anna Butler only tallied seven points but more than helped out down low, snagging a team-high nine rebounds.

"She didn't have to (score). She had to run the floor. Did she like getting a little yelled at or talked to a lot tonight? No, but she's got to be the floor leader. But she did a good job," Kleinhans said.

Work has been paying off for the Indians, who are in position to challenge for the conference lead, two games behind Sheboygan Falls.

"We've been practicing really hard ... especially against a 1-3-1," Rauch said. "Since everyone was going hard at practice it really showed at the game tonight."

The process, Kleinhans said, continues.

"We just do some goofy things. You've got a 13-point lead. Why are you trying to push it for down low, and it's all clogged up down there?" he said. "They're learning how to play with a lead. They're learning how to finish a game, step by step. We're not completely there but we're getting there. But it still takes more and more. It's a process."

Can the Indians share the conference title? Sheboygan Falls, 9-0, has five EWC games left. The Falcons host 0-9 New Holstein, play at 6-3 Plymouth, host 2-7 Campbellsport and 5-2 Two Rivers before coming to Kewaskum March 5.

The Indians had a cold shooting night on Jan. 12 and lost to the Falcons, 55-46. Kewaskum hosts Waupun on Friday. The Warriors are 5-4 in the EWC and 9-5 overall. They beat the Indians, 66-46, at home on Dec. 18.

Tuesday's game at Kiel has been rescheduled to this coming Tuesday, Feb. 16, due to school being canceled.
