Got 'R Done 181 Grads leave KHS armed with education

Kewaskum High School's Class of 2010 tosses their mortarboards in celebration after commencement Saturday.

Kewaskum's class of 2010 totaling 181 made their way out of the steamy gym into the scary and exciting yet refreshingly cool real world on Saturday, time for one last memory together, the traditional photo on the bleachers and dangerous hat toss.

Two student speakers told graduates to focus on just that: each other.

"We have spend our high school careers as a group, as a team as a family," said Kyle Wenger, who considers at least one memory from every classmate "a gift."

"I know that I personally will never forget any of you," he said.

Especially the offensive lineman and astrophysicist who "writes gangsta rap on the side."

Wenger reminded his now former classmates it is time to move on but not forget their roots.

"We must embrace our lives as adults," he said. "When you're all rich and famous ... do not forget where you came from and do not forget forever you are a Kewaskum Indian."

Class President Monica Dehler compared life to pin the tail on the donkey, or the game she played, pin the nose on the clown, and referenced the book, "All I Really Need to Know I Learned in Kindergarten."

In both life and the game, it's easy to fall down and go in the wrong direction; support from others is important.

"The game is so much easier when you have somebody behind you," she said.

Since it's human to make mistakes, laughter along the way doesn't hurt, either.

"We are going to put the nose in the wrong place plenty of more times than we put it in the right place," she said.

And Dehler had to mention the beloved Jason Last.

"Mr. Last is not yelling. He just talks louder," she said.

But back to life.

"We make a living by what we get but we make a life by what we give," Dehler said. "You can get all A's and still flunk life."

Her closing advice came from the book.

"It is best to watch out for traffic, hold hands and sit together," she said.

Saturday was the last time choir director and music teacher Dave Bertelsen sat together with his students. After 33 years, Bertelsen is retiring. The Concert Choir sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" and Journey's "Don't Stop Believin'."

High school teacher Tiffany Zarling referenced another book, "Oh the Places You'll Go," by Dr.

Wellness program to be taught at KHS, KMS

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Middle and high school students next year will be taught health and physical education in a blended technique after the School Board this week approved the different format.

Farmington and Wayne elementary schools Principal Janet Molebash said the format uses a "comprehensive type model where you're dealing with the whole body."

"We're already teaching it. We're just putting it in a different format," she said.

Elements of the new format include "awareness of major health components and issues" that provide the ability to "make rational and educated choices," according to the proposal.

Other elements include health resources, preventative care, consumer services and various physical activities.

"A major part of this holistic approach is to have the student assess and interpret their personal health/fitness status. The student will assess their nutritional level and their fitness level and design a personal fitness plan based on this assessment. The student will then implement this plan and periodically assess its effectiveness," the proposal said.

Freshmen will take 18 weeks (one credit) of wellness class instead of nine weeks of physical education and nine of health. Sophomores will have nine weeks of wellness and nine of nutrition. Instead of the elective foods class, students will learn "more about food in general and how it ties into the body and affects you physically," Molebash said.

Juniors will take half a credit of wellness. Seniors may take an elective advanced wellness/senior wellness course.

Kewaskum Middle School is switching to the blended format as well.

The School Board unanimously approved the program.

Milwaukee teen drowns in Mauthe Lake during school trip

A 12-year-old Milwaukee boy is dead after drowning in Mauthe Lake located in the Town of Auburn on Monday, June 14. The young man was swimming with a group of his fellow students who were on an end of the year field trip.

Members of the Kewaskum Fire Department who are part of the Washington County Dive Team responded to the scene shortly after 1 p.m. and located the boy within a few minutes of entering the lake. The diver located the student about 25 yards from shore in 10-feet of water.

Flight for Life Helicopter responded from Fond du Lac just as a diver removed the boy from the water and emergency personnel started resuscitation efforts. The student was then airlifted to Theda Clark Medical Center in Neenah.

At 2:36 p.m., doctors at Theda Clark pronounced the victim dead. He was identified as Kamonie Slade.

Approximately 80 students from Roosevelt Middle School, which is part of the Milwaukee Public School system, were at Mauthe Lake Recreation Area with eight teachers and staff. They were on a class trip for their last day of school.

A group of six students were swimming in the posted swimming area when they realized Slade was missing. Staff cleared the water of students and entered the water themselves to begin a search.

Deputies from the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Office responded along with Forest Rangers, Kewaskum Fire Department, Campbellsport Police Department, Wisconsin State Patrol and the Washington County Dive Team.

Mom who threw booze party pleads guilty

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

A Kewaskum woman has changed her mind and pleaded guilty to providing alcohol to several pre-teens at a birthday party for her 12-year-old last year.

Sarah Shay, 36, now has to pay eight municipal citations totaling $4,881. She had faced 10 but two were dropped and two more amended to a lower fine given the guilty plea.

A Mid-Moraine Municipal Court trial set for July 16 has since been canceled.

Shay served the minors champagne and Mike's Hard Lemonade on the way to and at a party held Dec. 18 at West Bend's Hampton Inn & Suites, according to the West Bend

Police Department. Police began investigating after parents of party attendees contacted authorities.

Shay was issued a $681 citation for each child, the department said. The parents had been unaware their children would be given alcohol, according to Police Chief Ken Meuler.

"The children include one 11-year-old, three 12-year-olds, four 13-year-olds, and two 14-year-olds. None of these children's parents had any prior knowledge that alcohol would be served to their children," a police department statement says.

Shay has until Oct. 10 to pay the fines or face a warrant for her arrest. She would serve one day in jail for every $25 due.

Breakfast on the Farm goes organic in St. Michaels

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

TOWN OF KEWASKUM-The rain, heat and humidity held off at last Saturday's Breakfast on the Farm at KT Organic Farms.

The crowd, as a result, did not.

A total of 4,884 people were served in five hours, not a record but above average, said Mike Strupp, co-chair of the event and treasurer of the Washington County Dairy Promotion Committee.

The event came off without a hitch.

"Outstanding. Everything just moved right along," said Kevin Thull, owner of KT Organic Farms.

"It hums right along," Strupp said. "It's amazing how that group can do five hours of serving that amount of food. You're moving a lot of stuff in a short period of time. Nine hundred people in an hour."

Jeff and Candy McChain and their two children of Boltonville beat most of the crowd as they sat down to breakfast around 7:30 a.m. They had never been to Breakfast on the Farm and came because it was close and they know Thull.

"That's why we came early. I knew there'd be a lot of people," said Jeff.

Jared and Melissa Polzin and their two children from Kewaskum were surprised at the crowd.

"I really didn't expect it to be this big," Jared said.

Perhaps it was the sausage. Both Jared and Melissa said the sausage was the most tasty part of the breakfast.

Wagon rides from the parking lot in the adjacent field sometimes were cut short.

"Some people got on the wagon and got off 150 yards farther. That's where the food line started," Thull said.

At one point, the food line went all the way down the driveway, up the road to the west and 100 to 200 feet to the north. Going through the entire line only took an hour, Thull said.

Thull did get a chance to stop and eat during his busy morning.

"Everything was very tasty, very good," he said.

Beyond breakfast, several tents offered information organic farm education and agriculture, one sold sundaes and another had a petting zoo with chicks, ducks, goats, kittens, dogs, horses, rabbits and chickens.

This was the first time a Washington County Breakfast on the Farm was held on an organic farm. The eggs, cheese, milk, butter used in cooking and on the tables were all organic, Strupp said. Organic Valley Co-op of LaFarge made a large donation toward the event, he said.

The farm has about 250 dairy cattle and pigs and chickens. KT is primarily a dairy farm with male cattle used for beef, Thull said.

KT's crops include corn, oats and pasture. Cows rotated to different pastures every 12 to 24 hours, Thull said. Including rented land, KT has 425 acres.

Thull runs the operation with his wife, Lynn, and her 12-year-old son, Brent, and some part-time employees.

His family farm has been certified organic since 1992 but was organic decades earlier - "organic before organic was cool," Thull has been told.

Thull's father who grew corn for Lakeside Foods had developed boils in the late 1960s whenever he sprayed his crops. He thought there was a connection.

"When he quit spraying, he didn't get boils," Thull said.

The family never sprayed again.

"It's just very simple. A simple approach," Thull said. "Nothing artificial on crops or injected into animals. Plenty of people are interested in our products because of that."

During barn tours, patrons learned that how newborn calves are instantly separated from their mothers and isolated in a 17-pen calf barn because they are born with no natural immunities. Any illness or virus the mothers are carrying could kill their young.

For six weeks, calves are given fresh grain and water daily, then moved to a group area and fed hay and a different grain formula.

Thull agreed to host the event in January 2009. He completed a few building projects like a calf barn, landscaping around the house and some other small jobs in preparation.

"It's a good promotional thing. I thought it would be a good way to introduce people to organic products," he said.

Production didn't slow before or during the event.

"It was just extra work. We had a lot of family and friends that helped out, Thull said. Thirty to 40 family members chipped in.

"It would be great to get back to just working 16 hours a day," Thull said with a laugh.

He praised Strupp and Washington County Dairy Promotion Committee President Bernie Wolf, who co-chaired the event for overseeing everything.

"Just such a well-oiled machine, from beginning to end from setup to cleanup. Tents were cleaned up, tables cleaned up, everything falls in line," he said.

A horse and carriage makes its way through the crowd.

Strupp was happy with how the organic farm pulled off the event.

"It was kind of unique. I thought it was neat to have it done out there. Little different real well. I was very pleased."

Strupp said the event used

6,500 half pints of milk, 290 pounds of strawberries, 75 gallons of ice cream, 825 pounds of sausage, 594 dozen eggs and 15,000 pancakes.

Next year's location is yet to be determined. Organizers have it narrowed down to a few farms.

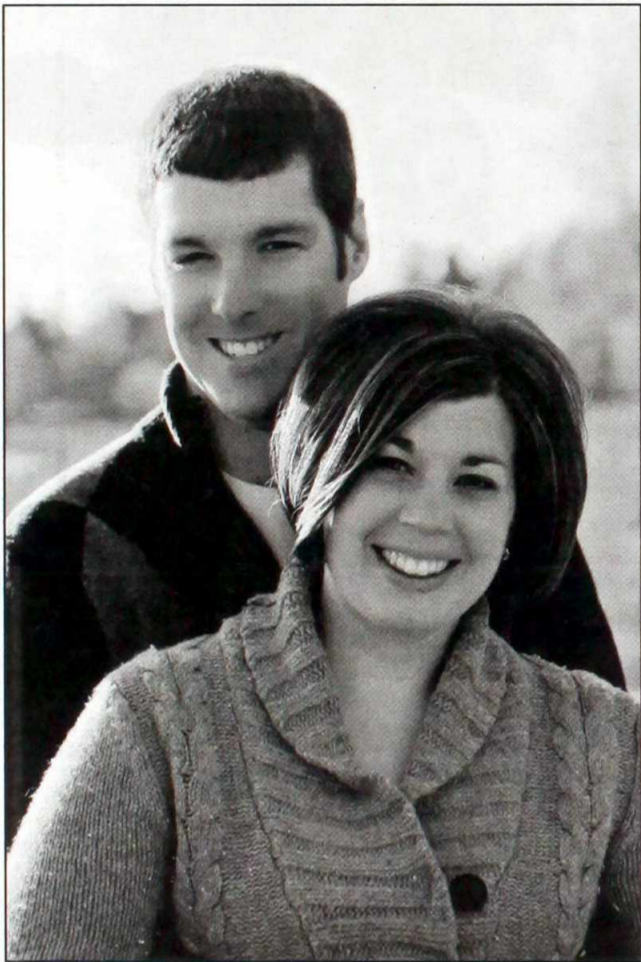

Leticia Schwan, 4, of Milwaukee holds a chick to feel how soft it is.

Bill Hinckley of West Bend drives around children in his mini-train led by a riding lawnmower.

Modern Woodmen fundraiser for Best a success

Members of the Kewaskum Modern Woodmen of America camp (chapter) recently helped raise money for Rachel Best with a card party and raffle.

The event held on April 28, 2010 raised $7,000. This includes $2,500 matched by Modern Woodmen's home office through the organization's matching funds program. The money raised was used for medical bills.

The Matching Fund program offers Modern Woodmen camp members nationwide the chance to show their support of a community cause, organization or individual in need by partnering with community organizations holding fundraisers. Modern Woodmen matches money raised up to $2,500. These fundraising projects contribute more than $6 million to community needs nationwide each year.

Founded in 1883 as a fraternal benefit society, Modern Woodmen of America offers financial services and fraternal member benefits to individuals and families throughout the United States. The organization's Kewaskum camp provides a number of volunteer service and social activities for local members.

KEWASKUM - The Hon-E-Kor Scholarship Committee will be conducting a four-person scramble with the Kewaskum High School Boys and Girls Golf Teams for the goal of funding an annual golf scholarship. The scholarship is to be awarded in honor of all Hon-E-Kor Golf & Country Club family members, deceased and current.

Therefore, past and present members of Hon-E-Kor and the KHS golf teams are encouraged to support this cause by participating in the annual competition. The 18-hole scramble will be held on Saturday, June 26th at 2 p.m. at Hon-E-Kor.

The event will feature a select drive along with a modified stableford scoring system to make it fair for all genders and divisions. This should prove to make the event highly enjoyable as well as competitive due to the format and the many alumni members of Hon-E-Kor and the Kewaskum golf teams.

The entry fee includes 18 holes of golf, power cart, hole events, blind bogey, raffle prizes and a delicious buffet style dinner. Mulligans and skins game may be available.

Winners in each division will be recognized with prizes after dinner.

Entry forms are available at Hon-E-Kor, Kewaskum High School or any current member of the boys and girls golf teams. Participants can then submit their forms and fees to Hon-E-Kor, Kewaskum High School or any of the K.H.S. Golf coach (specifically Glenn Eichstedt, Amy Piwoni, Scott Rohlinger or James Westphal).

Non-golfers are encouraged to sponsor holes or hole events, attend the dinner or donate prizes. Monetary donations are also being accepted by the committee.

The fundraiser will not only benefit the scholarship recipient, but the local high school golf programs as well. Call Hon-E-Kor at (262) 626-2520, for more information.

Holy Trinity Social Fest 16 years and going strong

Holy Trinity School in Kewaskum will be holding their annual Social Fest Aug. 28th at River Hill Park in Kewaskum from 4 pm to 11:00 pm.

This event is in its 16th year and continues to surprise with new ideas and avenues to support the church and school. What started out as a few parents brainstorming some ideas to raise funds, has turned into something much more, a community event that incorporates parents, teachers, students, and the community as a whole.

Social Fest has received tremendous support from a plethora of people and organizations, which enables it to offer not only great food and drink, but top notch prizes as well. That's not to mention a great opportunity for the adults to get an evening out to socialize with friends and with any luck make some new ones from our neighboring communities.

One of the attractions of the event is the ever changing raffle prizes from year to year. If you feel like you're in desperate need of a vacation, you can purchase a chance to win a $2,750.00 travel voucher donated by Shooting Star Travel of West Bend. Maybe you're prone to just relaxing at home with movies or your favorite sports game. You can purchase a chance to win a home theatre system provided by Silica Appliance and Electronics of Fond du Lac and Beaver Dam. These raffle tickets can be purchased 1/$5.00 or 3/$10.00 at area bars, restaurants, gas stations, the gas station in Dundee, and King Pin Lanes in Cambellsport.

Other prizes include $500.00 cash, $300.00 Piggly Wiggly gift card, Hitachi DVD Camcorder all donated in memory of Al Rohlinger, $300.00 gas card donated by Amoco/BP of Kewaskum, and a $300.00 shopping spree donated by Salon Studio 227. These tickets can be purchased for $3.00 or 4/$10.00.

In addition, Catholic Knights/Catholic Family Branch 113 & 115 have generously offered to donate $1,000.00 through their match program.

Over the last several years Social Fest has hosted a live auction that has proven to be the highlight of the evening. Some of the auction items include a diamond necklace, 1,000 square ft. of pavers, Packer tickets, Mass at St. John's Cathedral with Bishop Calahan and Brunch for 5 (who wouldn't want that right?), four day conversion van rental, and much more.

Tickets for this event are $30.00 and this includes a wonderful steak and roast pork dinner, beer, soda, and wine coolers in addition to an entry to win cash prizes with the top prize being $5,000.00 based on the sale of 800 tickets. These tickets can be purchased at Piggly Wiggly, Herriges Oil, Holy Trinity School and Parish Offices. It is a great evening filled with fun, food, and a chance to win a multitude of fantastic prizes! Come join us, you won't be disappointed! Thank you again to all those who have donated in any way, this event could not continue to grow without your help.

Eleven Kewaskum teachers were honored this week with Outstanding Educator Awards presented by the top of Kewaskum's class of 2010.

High School Principal Christine Horbas had the top 11 students in class choose teachers who exhibited professionalism, high standards and compassion. Horbas implemented the program last year and allowed students to choose teachers they've had from any district and from parochial schools. For the second straight year, all teachers came from the Kewaskum School District.

First-time teachers received plaques; second-time winners received desk clocks. Students presented the teachers with their awards and what they wrote about them at a dinner at Victoria's Monday night.

"It means a lot to me, too," Horbas said. "I'm sitting here almost crying at every one."

They are:

High School Social Studies Teacher Jeff Steers, selected by Rachel Rieden and Roxanne Etta

A "genuine teacher that cares about his students," Etta said Steers' favorite saying is "Go big or go home." Steers goes big in everything he does, whether it be prom or everyday problems, she said.

His World War II museum that was open to the public stands out because "he was trying so hard to get our work noticed that we did our best."

Rieden called Steers "one of the most dedicated" teachers in the school and he taught her that "what is important is the effort you put in."

High School Art Teacher Rachel Hassler, selected by Samantha Aycock

With an initial "down to business attitude," Aycock soon realized Hassler is a "big softie at heart." She helped her develop artistically and while she laughs, yells and cries for her students, it's because of her passion and caring for them. Hassler helped Aycock make her first ceramic pot, sell her first piece of art and "ignited a passion for art she never knew she had."

Farmington Fifth-grade Teacher Julie Wenzlaff, selected by Elissa Miller

"I was not interested in science but she made it interesting," Miller said. During fifth grade, a difficult year as the last at elementary school with the same friends, she remembers Wenzlaff's smile and that she took time to make each student a scrapbook. Miller still pages through it today to walk down memory lane.

High School Science Teacher Carla Schmitt, selected by Kyle Wegner

Schmitt has made a great impact on Wegner's "entire life," he said. Her incredible commitment for students and passion for what she teaches makes lessons "exciting and entertaining." The prairie outside her home enhances her teaching, he said. Because of Schmitt, Wegner will major in biology at the same university Schmitt attended.

High School Science Teacher Charles Komp, selected by Daniel Laska

Komp has a "smile reminiscent of a mad genius," Laska said. "It's scary sometimes." But Komp is "always jubilant" and "makes class enjoyable." He provides help and gives every opportunity to succeed. Laska said he wouldn't ask Komp and English question but he would bring him an engineering question.

Music Teachers Eric and Terry Christie, selected by Karla Stoffel

Terry, an elementary school music teacher, let Stoffel play piano accompaniment in second grade for "Send in the Clowns." In fifth grade, recognizing her musical ability, the husband and wife team started the school's first gifted and talented music program, bringing Stoffel to middle school once a week to learn the instrument of her choice under middle school band director Eric. Stoffel played French horn with the sixth-grade band as a fifth-grader and will be studying music in college, working to become a music teacher like her two role models.

Wayne Third-grade Teacher Mary Ann Wagner, selected by Sadie Hennig

Wagner taught Hennig "never to give up and never to be discouraged," always encouraging her to wnter an annual book writing contest since the third grade. Hennig continued to enter each year and in eighth grade won the contest's highest award. She also completed a 3-D puzzle and was so proud she brought it to class. Wagner encouraged her and Hennig soon filled the entire back table of her classroom with 3-D puzzles.

Retired Wayne Fifth-grade Teacher Daniel Beske, selected by Heather Schmitt

Seven years later, Schmitt still remembers Beske teaching her about "responsibility and respect." A fun teacher, Beske maintained a sense of authority that earned him respect, she said. She still remembers two of his key phrases, "It's nice to be nice" and "Mary had a little lamb," the latter he would whisper and all students in class could hear it as a way to discouraging yelling.

Kewaskum Elementary Third-grade Teacher Curt Casetta, selected by Brooke Waala

Waala always looked forward to gifted and talented class. They would play charades, do mysteries, write poems and learn astronomy. She later realized she wasn't just having fun; Casetta used these as tools to build character and encourage creativity. He encourages thinking outside the box and brings optimism to the group, allowing Waala to be more positive and build her confidence.

High School Art Teacher Mary Forstner, selected by Elizabeth Shreier

Shreier had Forstner for art in elementary school and painting as a junior, despite not being sure if she wanted to take another art class. Forstner pointed out Shreier's good work in painting even when Shreier herself didn't see it. "I nominated her for inspiring me in a different way," she said. Shreier also has fondly her lemur from a rain forest project in elementary school.

Relay for Life a success

Last weekend's inaugural American Cancer Society's Relay for Life in Kewaskum raised nearly $12,000 to fight cancer and drew more than 200 people.

Kewaskum High School senior Sadie Hennig led the committee organizing the event. Her great-grandparents died from cancer, grandparents had it, mom beat it and cancer even took her dog.

"Quite a bit of people showed up. It definitely turned out a lot better than predicted," she said. "I was happy with the results."

Relay for Life, the society's signature fundraiser, consists of teams that walk around a track, ideally at least one member from the team walking the entire time, a survivor lap of cancer survivors to kick off the event, a luminaria ceremony to honor those who have been lost to and are still fighting cancer. Food and entertainment of various kinds are often included.

Kewaskum's was held on the high school track and football field, and featured a few unique events, including a Miss Relay contest in which six guys put on dresses and sought donations to store in their purses. Social studies teacher Jeff Steers, gladly participated and said he raised more than $150.

Kevin Flasch, however, topped that total and won the event.

Committee member Karla Stoffel won the cheese puff contest in which cheese puffs were thrown at whipped cream-covered faces. Stoffel got the most to stick.

Hennig's mom served as the deejay and was one of seven people to walk the survivor lap. Mike Cho, youth initiative coordinator for the American Cancer Society, said Kewaskum students worked harder in organizing the event than those at the other eight high schools that started relays this year.

The hope is to make Relay for Life an annual event.

"I really hope they build it up so it's like the KEYS run/walk, just something that everyone does," Stoffel said.

UW-WC Tuition Frozen for 2010-11

The University of Wisconsin System Board of Regents approved tuition rates for the 2010-11 academic year on Thursday that will freeze tuition at the UW Colleges freshman-sophomore campuses, including UW-Washington County (UW-WC), for the fourth consecutive year. Tuition will increase by 5.5 percent at the four-year UW System universities.

"This is encouraging news for students and the Washington County community," said Dr. David Nixon, campus executive officer and dean of UW-WC. "UW-WC offers a solid University of Wisconsin education, with highly qualified faculty and small classes for the lowest cost in the UW System."

"The UW Colleges are the gateway to the UW System for thousands of students and families in Wisconsin who might not otherwise be able to afford college," said Chancellor David Wilson, chancellor of the UW Colleges and University of Wisconsin-Extension. "This tuition freeze means the UW Colleges will continue to be the most affordable access point for anyone who wants to start, continue or complete a degree within the UW System."

The tuition for one academic year (two semesters) at the UW Colleges will remain at $4,268 for 2010-11. That is $3,665 less than UW-Madison, $3,001 less than UW-Milwaukee and $1,391-$2,541 less than the 11 other four-year comprehensive UW universities. Students and families can realize even more savings if students live at home during their first two years of college at UW-WC.

UW-WC is one of the University of Wisconsin Colleges. The 13 freshman-sophomore campuses of the UW System offer an associate degree in arts and science and prepare students of all ages and backgrounds for baccalaureate and professional programs. Approximately 1,081 students were enrolled at UW-WC in the 2009-2010 academic year.

Exchange students ready to head home

Andres Rodriguez

Lilo Ritter

Anton Kirner

By Mitch Maersch
For the Statesman

Kewaskum had five foreign exchange students this year from three different continents and none of them are leaving without the memory of the J-Stack.

The local legendary sandwich, taking apart a McDonald's double cheeseburger, inserting a McChicken sandwich in the middle and reassembling, is just one of their American favorites, at least for most of them.

Four of the exchange students - Andres Rodriguez from Venezuela, Lilo Ritter from Germany, Manuel Urrere from Argentina and Anton Kirner from Germany - sat down to discuss cultural differences and similarities. A fifth from Russia left for home early at the request of his mother.

Kewaskum High School apparently invented the J-Stack, according to Kirner. He said it was the snowmobilers and it has a Facebook group.

Ritter is the lone J-Stack vegetarian. She is a vegetarian.

Who they stayed with:

Andres Rodriguez (AR): Tom and Jean Wulff

Lilo Ritter (LR): George Wendt and Melissa Kreuzer and their daughter, Greta, 10

Manuel Urrere (MU): Greg and Cheri Toles and their sons, Matt, a senior, and Bryce, a junior

Anton Kirner (AK): Tom and Jean Wulff

What they miss from home:

AR: Mom's food. Home-made stuff.

LR: Friends.

MU: Meat. We have better meat.

AK: Parties. America has amateur parties.

MU: We can drink.

What they'll miss from America (besides friends and family)

AK: Here you don't have to study.

AR: That the homework isn't graded.

LR/MU - That if you fail a test, you can retake it.

LR: The teachers actually care if you fail or not. In Germany if I would fail the teacher would not care.

Favorite American TV show:

AR: "South Park"

LR: "Scrubs"

MU: "Family Guy"

AK: "South Park"

Biggest difference to back home:

AR: Kewaskum is definitely a smaller town.

LR: My city in Germany feels so squished together compared to this.

MU: Grass everywhere.

AK: More space (here).

Director of Public Works Jerry Gilles:

1. Reported the construction timetable for the Hwy 28/Main Street project has been rescheduled to begin in 2013.

2. Reviewed the new water regulations concerning well abandonments and the DNR requirement for Water Utilities within the Great Lake Compact to register, report, and pay a fee.

3. Announced DPW week is May 16th to May 22nd

4. Provided an update on the sewer SCADA system ability to monitor pump starts at the lift stations.

Zoning Administrator Chad Cook reported twenty-one building permits were issued in April and one hundred sump pump inspections have been completed.

Administrator Matt Heiser discussed the current fireworks ordinance in the Village. Consensus of the Board was to draft an ordinance to restrict the use and sale of fireworks within Village limits.

Jim Hovland, representative for the Plan Commission, announced the next meeting is scheduled for May 20, 2010.

Norman Kufahl, Chairperson of the Park and Recreation Committee, reported Hugo Straub has announced his resignation. Jerry Gilles commended Hugo Straub on his years of service with the Village. Norman Kufahl also reported on the activities scheduled in the park for this summer and fall.

Norman Kufahl, representative for the Library Board, reported on the May 10, 2010 meeting. The circulation for April 2010 was 5,770 compared to 5,836 in 2009. Administrator Heiser also attended the Library Board meeting and reported the Library Board has decided to invest the Library donated money in a separate investment account. Heiser reported the Library Board or Library Director would submit bank documentation of the investment to the Village Treasurer to ensure the investment would be included in the annual audit.

Matt Heiser, representative for Mid-Moraine, reported on the May 12, 2010 Legislative Sub-Committee meeting. The topic for the meeting was the July 5, 2010 Smoking Ban. The next Dinner meeting is scheduled for May 26, 2010 at the Village of Thiensville.

John Knepel from Baker Tilly Virchow Krause, LLP presented the 2009 audit and reported on the Financial Statements, Tax Incremental District, internal controls, and current year activities along with reserved and unreserved fund balances. John Knepel reported that the Village received an unqualified opinion and commented on the fact that most of the money in the general fund was reserved in loan to the sewer utility. Knepel also commented that, while it was difficult to project the state of the sewer utility for 2010 because the rate increases were staggered, it looked probable that the utility would be healthy if there were no additional debts placed on it.

Motion by Harry Roecker to accept the audit for the Village of Kewaskum for the year ended December 31, 2009, second by Jim Hovland. Voice vote, motion carried.

Motion by Norman Kufahl to adopt the Red Flag Rules Policy for the Kewaskum Utilities to develop an Identity Theft Prevention Program (ITPP), second by Tom Piwoni. Voice vote, motion carried.

Motion by Harry Roecker, second by Craig Garbisch to approve the issuance of an operator's license for 2009/2010 as listed. Voice vote, motion carried. No objections were noted by the police department.

Renard, Alexandra D.
West Bend, WI

Lady Indians add two shutout wins, fall in Grafton regional Kewaskum's Elissa Miller (15) attempts to gain control over the ball during a regional game against Port Washington. The Indians won the game 2-0.

The Indians' girls soccer team ended their season with a crushing regional loss in Grafton. All this, after ending the regular season with a shut out against rival Campbellsport and a first-round regional win over Port Washington.

The Indians hosted their foe to the north on Tuesday,

June 1. Kewaskum did all their work in the first half and produced a 3-0 shut out that would fuel the girls determination in post season play.

The Indians came out very strong and determined. After not finding the net on her first try, Christine Bohn made the first score of the game from the top of the 18 just before the 12 minute mark.

Just a few minutes later an "aggressive" Kelsey Phillips allowed her to capitalize when the Cougar keeper stepped out of the box as a shot hit the pole and bounced in.

Campbellsport tried to answer those goals but could not get past Paige Lightner, the Indians' star goalie.

Before the half ended, Shannon Miller got nothin' but net after a run up the middle with Sam Smallish.

This would be the game. Lightner was noted for her fifth shutout of the season and credited for blocking nine Cougar shots.

The Indians took 12 shots during the game.

Coach Amy Piwoni called the game, "A great way to finish out the regular season." The team finished the with a 7-6-1 conference record.

The Indians added another shut-out to their season in the first round of regionals at Port Washington on Thursday, June 3. The ladies scored a goal in each half, that saw a 2-0 end result.

The first goal of the game came from senior Indian stand-out Elissa Miller, (unassisted) her last goal of her high school career.

The rookie Phillips found the net unassisted on a break-away in the second half.

Lightner provided nine saves during the game. "She fought off some good shots from Port and got the shutout. She was everywhere," stated Piwoni.

The ladies then advanced to Grafton and the tables turned as the Northshore Conference's soccer standouts quickly took control of the game that ended 7-0 on Saturday, June 5.

The Black Hawks did most of their work in the first half during this soggy game. Piwoni reported, "They are by far the best team we have ever faced."

This year's team had an overall 7-6-1 record. Piwoni will lose six of her seniors, Elissa Miller, Sara Weyer, Anna Larson, Vanessa Schellinger, Lilo Ritter and Karissa Uelmen.

Piwoni went on to say Miller will be tough to replace. "She has been the staple of our program gaining momentum over the past 4 years," she remarked.

If they return, Piwoni will have underclassmen who have been assets to the team, namely, Jess and Sam Smallish, Christine Bohn, Kelsey Phillips, Shannon Miller and her star goal keeper Paige Lightner.

47,539 turkeys registered in 2010 spring turkey season

MADISON - Wisconsin hunters registered 47,539 turkeys during the 2010 spring turkey season. The registration total was a 9.6 percent decrease from the 2009 harvest of 52,581 birds.

Zone 1 produced the highest overall turkey harvest at 15,120 birds, followed by Zone 3 with 10,953 turkeys. The best hunter success rate appears to be in Zone 2 with a preliminary success rate of 28.5 percent, followed by Zone 4 at 22.4 percent success.

A total of 217,444 permits were issued for the spring hunt, according to licensing officials. This was a decrease of 689 permits compared to the 2009 spring hunt.

"Despite a slight decline in harvest totals from 2008 and 2009, Wisconsin's statewide turkey population remains stable and resilient. The wet spring in 2008 and the cool summer in 2009 meant below-average brood production for turkeys during the past two years. When combined with more normal winter conditions, the slight decrease in the number of turkeys harvested was expected," said Sharon Fandel, acting upland wildlife ecologist for the state Department of Natural Resources.

Hunter success rates also fell slightly to 22 percent in 2010 versus 24 percent in 2009, but were still quite good. As in past years, success rates were generally highest during the early and middle hunting periods.

"Hunters recorded a 31 percent success rate during the first period," says Krista McGinley, DNR assistant upland wildlife ecologist. "Success was 23 percent and 21 percent for the second and third periods, respectively. A decrease over the periods is expected but is still telling of good hunting conditions."

The preliminary results show that adult toms comprised 80.7 percent of the total harvest, which is higher than the long-term average of 74 percent but less than the 86 percent recorded last year. An increased proportion of adults in the harvest can be a sign of lower brood success from the previous year, although hunter selection can also play a role.

Indians remain undefeated in EWC

Riding abnormal power numbers from a sophomore and solid pitching, Kewaskum's baseball team remains undefeated in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference with no signs of slowing down.

Sophomore Brad Boegel (pronounced beagle) has been hitting the ball more like a rabid Rottweiler. On Monday, he clobbered his eighth home run in 13 games this season and the Indians beat Sheboygan Falls, 6-0, for their first shutout. Kewaskum is 5-0 in the EWC and 10-3 overall as it rides a three-game winning streak to Kiel on Thursday.

Cody Nuernberg pitched six innings and allowed six hits and two walks while fanning eight. Lucas Kopeschka pitched the seventh and allowed one hit. The Falcons got a runner to third base in the fifth inning and loaded the bases in the sixth with two outs before Nuernberg got the No. 9 hitter to ground out to first.

"Cody threw the ball well," Gonring said.

The Indians took a 1-0 lead in the second inning after three singles and a sacrifice fly by Brett Nuernberg. In the third, Bo Seibel reached on an error and his older brother, Cody, hit a two-run homer for a 3-0 lead. In the sixth, Bo Seibel and Cody Nuernberg singled, and Boegel launched a three-run blast to dead center on a 2-0 count.

"We were in control. I never felt that we weren't in control of the game," Gonring said. "They played well. We did not commit an error. They committed one. The way baseball should be played."

As far as Boegel goes, Gonring has run out of explanations.

"Hitters go through streaks like this and hopefully he can stay on it for 15 years," he said. "Big strong kid, does not try to do too much and make good hard contact. He has a very good upside."

The Falcons' Cole Heili struck out seven in six innings of work.

"I was very impressed with him," Gonring said.

Against conference rival New Holstein last Friday at home, the Indians fell behind 4-0 as rain began to fall before a 17-pitch at-bat changed the tone of the game and a one-pitch at-bat changed the scoreboard.

Brett Nuernberg in the second inning walked on 17 pitches after fouling off several. A runner was tagged out at home to end the inning without scoring, but Gonring said the at-bat altered the entire game.

A wild pitch and two-run error cut the lead to 4-3 in the third inning. By the fifth, the rain picked up and the Indians were in danger of losing a one-run game called early. It didn't happen.

In the fifth, Cody Seibel reached on an error, and Cody Nuernberg followed with a two-run bomb to left field for a 5-4 lead. Michael Schladweiler and Brett Nuernberg later hit back-to-back doubles for another run and an error brought in one more.

"I put a hit and run on just to see if we couldn't get something moving. That's the second time I've had a hit and run and people were moving and we had a home run so this isn't really a hit-and-run home run deal," Gonring said. The Indians were up, 7-4, a solid lead but not against the team they shared the conference title with last season that beat them three times.

Boegel put the game away in the sixth. A Bo Seibel single, a walk and hit batter loaded the bases. New Holstein brought in a new pitcher.

Boegel didn't even take one pitch to check out the new arm. He smashed a first-pitch fastball down the left field line, a towering bomb that cleared the first fence, the second fence and stayed in the air long enough for Gonring to yell "Get in the pond!"

Splooosh!

The grand slam gave the Indians an 11-4 lead that would end up as the final score. It was Boegel's first homer that reached the Kiwanis Park pool.

"I talked to Brad prior to the at bat. I said you've got to start timing these pitchers in the batter's box. If you get a fastball, you're capable enough, you're big enough, you're strong enough. Just keep your head on it and put it in play," Gonring said.

He added some perspective.

"Made lily pads out there. That family's going to cost me money by the end of the year," he said. "I'm going to lose more money with balls out there in the pond."

"It was right down the middle. I just took advantage of it," Boegel said. "I actually thought it was foul at first and everyone started cheering. I looked and looked but I couldn't find the ball and then I seen the splash."

Gonring said it was the long at-bat, not the homers, that led to this comeback.

"The thing that turned the whole game around was Brett Nuernberg's at-bat. I think that definitely put a strain on the pitching staff over there and that wore them out. That had a positive for our side right there. That really turned. He wasn't the same pitcher after that," he said.

Besides hitting, Boegel pitched the final five innings of the game, moving to 2-1 on the year. He allowed one run on one hit, walked two and whiffed nine, including seven in a nine-batter stretch.

"I've been struggling on the mound early in the season. I couldn't find my curve ball and they were hitting my fastball. I was looking for a game where I could find it and it just showed up today," he said.

At home against nearby rival Campbellsport last Thursday, the Indians won 11-1 in six innings.

Boegel hit one homer and two doubles and four RBIs, and Cody Seibel had two doubles and three RBIs. Steve Kudek was 3-for-3.

Cody Nuernberg pitched five innings and allowed one run and three hits and two walks while striking out three. The Cougars loaded the bases in the fourth inning but Nuernberg got leadoff hitter Tim Whitty to line to first for the third out.

Catcher Kevin Gonring hit a solo homer in the third for Campbellsport's offense.

The Indians scored six runs in the second, two in the fourth and three in the sixth. Two bases-loaded walks ended the game.

"My main thing is I get a first pitch strike and I was having a little trouble doing that tonight. I had a few walks and hit a batter," Cody Nuernberg said. "Defense played real well tonight. It feels good when you've got the defense behind you."

"If you're ahead in the count, good things happen," Gonring said. "You've got to pound the strike zone, not hit batters. When you've got the lead, you've got to just let 'em hit the ball and hope your defense makes plays."

The Indians made only one error in the field.

"We hit our cutoffs, we hit our relays, we communicated. When you do that, good things happen," Gonring said.

Kewaskum heads to Kiel 1-5 EWC, 6-5 overall on Thursday before hosting second-place Plymouth (3-1, 6-2) on Friday. A rematch at Campbellsport (2-2, 7-5) looms Tuesday.
