Holm uses skills for 'New Horizons'

METETI, PANAMA - Deep within one of the most pristine and untouched jungles in the world, where indigenous tribes scrape by with whatever the land around them provides, the son of a Kewaskum couple is making a difference. In an area so remote only naturalists, botanists, and archeologists dare venture within its 10,000 square miles of raw wilderness, he is helping improve a quality of life for people living in conditions that most Americans will never see or experience.

Army Reserve Cadet Zachary J. Holm, son of David C. and Susan C. Holm of Kewaskum, is part of an engineer team with the 372nd Engineer Company based out of Pewaukee. He is one of close to 250 service members in the remote region providing nation-building and humanitarian and medical assistance during an annual exercise called "New Horizons."

Holm is an electrician working to set up new schools in the region.

"During construction projects I assist the project non-commissioned officer in charge. I am also a laborer for certain projects," said Holm, a 2005 graduate of Kewaskum High School.

Road referendums on ballot for two townships

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Two area towns' road repair referendums are set for the fall ballot.

The Town of Farmington is holding a binding vote to raise $200,000 that would continue each year unless it is voted down at an annual meeting.

The Town of Kewaskum is holding a non-binding, advisory vote that would raise $200,000 should the Town Board decide to implement it. Even if the referendum passes, the Town Board may decide whether or not to raise local taxes for the money since the vote is advisory only.

Both municipalities have cited decreasing state aid and increasing costs for road repairs as the impetus for the referendums.

Farmington Supervisor Art Seyfert said regrinding one mile of road and coating it twice with blacktop today costs $150,000 when seven years ago the bill was $65,000. State aid in that same period has gone down.

A close vote at Farmington's last annual meeting forced the board to hold the binding referendum.

With an expected 3 percent levy limit next year, approving the referendum would raise the town's mill rate 48 cents from $1.03 to $1.51. The owner of a $200,000 home would pay an additional $96 in taxes per year and the owner of a $300,000 home would pay $144.

But the Town Board doesn't like how the referendum is worded on the ballot which is done according to the state law. It says taxes would rise by 48.62 percent, an accurate percentage. But the board fears residents will interpret their entire property tax bill will rise by that percentage, not just the town's mill rate.

To help clarify the misconception, the board is holding a meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 19, at Farmington

Village Board holds September meeting

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Boys and Girls Club of Washington County is again asking the Village for money after its three-year, $15,000 commitment expired.

On Monday, Executive Director Jay Fischer asked the Village Board to again consider a $5,000 per year donation for the next three years as the club is looking for a building to call its permanent home and double as a community center, like its Jackson location.

Fischer said Kewaskum's club has grown faster than expected. It has 300 members, averaging 80 per day and 150 on early release days.

"It's been extremely successful," Fischer said.

The club meets at Kewaskum Elementary School after school and just added Wayne and Farmington elementary schools this year. The club has been asked to start a middle school program which would be held at the middle school to serve the older children. The club is open to children 6 to 17.

Parent Cheryl Peterson spoke with Fischer on the value of the club and made the case it is much more than just a day care, a common misconception. Programs like homework help have helped her children, and they have enjoyed activities like kickball tournaments, cooking classes and sign language classes.

"They have a lot of different activities for them to work on," Peterson said.

The board would discuss any possible donation in determining its 2011 budget to be completed this fall.

The Village Board tabled action on Monday on whether or not to connect a residence in the embattled tax incremental finance (TIF) district to village sewer and water, pending investigation into a verbal promise allegedly made years ago.

Tom and Allyne Rodenkirch, 3674 Badger Road, request their residence not be hooked up - and thus they get charged the $5,300 for it - until they sell their house and the nearly six-acre area is developed.

Allyne claims a verbal promise was made to them years ago by then Village Administrator Dan Schmidt, though she has record of the conversation and didn't get the alleged guarantee in writing.

Residences annexed from the Town of Kewaskum to the Village during the formation of the TIF district were required to connect, per village code. Some connected before 2005-06 and didn't pay the impact fees, while others connected after and paid the fees, said Village Administrator Mathew Heiser.

The Village Board unanimously voted to table the issue for a month and investigate before making a decision.

Village Board

While a decision on that residence connecting to village sewer and water and paying impact fees looms, the Village Board decided against waiving the fees for the Kewaskum School District's food pantry.

The school district requested the building permit and sewer and water fees be waived since the pantry isn't serving the schools.

"It's to help everybody who has had hard times," said Jim Palmer, the school district's director of buildings and grounds.

This would be the first time the village has waived an impact fee.

Heiser had checked with area municipalities and said Graffon, Oconomowoc and Pewaukee do not waive impact fees.

Heiser said the purpose of the fee is to have growth pay for itself and it serves as a user fee for connecting to the system. While not growth, the pantry would still connect and use the system.

Heiser said if the village waives the fee for the school district, he worries if a new church coming into the village could make the same case.

Public Works Director Jerry Gilles said the village has the option of collecting the fees and then donating that amount back to the pantry to avoid the legal element of the issue. On the brink of determining next year's budget, the board didn't seem too warm to that idea given another expected decrease in state aid as Wisconsin has a $2.7 billion deficit. The village already raised taxes last year.

Village resident Jerry Stilb, a regular attendee of board meetings since the fire hydrant flushing debate of 2009, asked about the village's impact fee appeal process. The Village Board didn't have an answer and building inspector and zoning administrator Chad Cook said he knows the village has one but couldn't recite it off the top of his head.

The private resident, however, knew. Stilb said he checked the process and said it involves appearing before the Plan Commission.

The school district did not follow that process.

The board voted 6-1 to deny waiving the fees. Tom Piwoni cast the lone dissenting vote.

Fire Chief Mark Groeschel told the Village Board on Monday he is struggling to fill daytime hours with emergency medical technicians.

Groeschel said he recently lost two volunteers, one to a full-time job in West Bend and another called back from a layoff to work second shift. A third is having surgery and won't be available for a while.

"We're getting down so we don't have many around," he said.

Now, Groeschel said he is "doing a lot" with two EMTs and no ambulance driver. Groeschel is the only paid staff of the fire and rescue department.

Village staff will research contracting out the work.

Kewaskum is not alone with this problem. Groeschel said Campbellsport is hiring staff in 2011 for the same reasons.

August circulation at the Kewaskum Library was 6,716, down 978 items from 2009's 7,694, Trustee and Library Board member told the Village Board on Monday.

Twenty new cards were issued in August, down eight from last year's 28 for the same month.

This is the second straight month with declining circulation, Kufahl said. He doesn't know why.

To date, the library has circulated 51,618 items, down 747 from the 52,365 last year at this time.

The Village Board on Monday approved the annual two-hour session when children may pretend they are someone else and thus ask neighbors to give them candy.

Trick or treating will be held Saturday, Oct. 30, from 5-7 p.m.

The village usually holds trick or treating on Sunday, but last year Halloween fell on a Saturday and Village Administrator Mathew Heiser said he received positive feedback that it was not held on a school night.

The annual homecoming bonfire will burn again, says the Village Board, provided the man in charge of putting out fires can actually start one.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel gave his report on last year's bonfire.

"We had no problems last year. What about you, Mark?"

Fire Chief Mark Groeschel said he didn't have any problems, either "other than trying to get the dang thing lit."

The fire is set for the evening of Thursday, Sept. 30. Perhaps several minutes later pending Groeschel's performance.

Referendum

Elementary School.

Voters in the primary election last week received letters explaining the referendum. Those who didn't vote should receive letters in the mail.

"If we don't do this our roads are going to deteriorate," Seyfert said.

"If that doesn't pass, we're going to have about $45,000 for road repairs (in 2011)," said Town Chairman Gary Schreiber.

Town Treasurer Ken Ramthun said that estimate might be high.

If the non-binding referendum passes in Kewaskum and the Town Board decides to go ahead with it, the $200,000 would be borrowed. At 4 percent interest, that would raise taxes $68 per year on a $200,000 home and $100 per year on a $300,000 home.

Town treasurer Daniel Stoffel said last month he thinks the town could do better than 4 percent, but a 3 percent loan would only alter the tax increase by $1 or $2.

The Town Board at a special meeting Aug. 31 agreed the $200,000 would be used on four roads: Highland from Highway H to Highway 28 and Prospect Drive from Badger Road to Ridge Road would both be wedged and seal coated; Kettle Moraine Drive from H to Ridge Road would be seal coated; and Ridge Road from Kettle View to Highland would be wedged and overlaid.

The board had a host of road improvements from which to choose and tried to pick the roads that needed improvement the most. Other road improvements would have to come from its road repair operating budget, which is $31,000 this year.

The Town Board didn't specify what kind of majority vote would trigger it to go ahead with the borrowing, but has said a simple majority would likely not be enough.

Simulation drill at WES

On Tuesday, October 5th at 1:00 p.m., Wayne Elementary School will be doing an emergency simulation fire drill in cooperation with the Kohlsville Fire Department, Kewaskum EMS, Salem United Church of Christ, Town of Wayne, and Washington County Sheriff's Department. Before the planning of this drill, each agency had its own plan on how to handle a fire at Wayne Elementary. Through collaboration, possible conflicting procedures have been eliminated and a plan has been put in place that will work for all those involved.

On the day of the drill, artificial smoke will be released in a pre-determined location of the school which will set off the smoke alarms. 911 will be called and all students and personnel will evacuate. All agencies involved will respond as if it is a real fire. Sirens will sound and emergency vehicles will be using their flashing lights. Access to the school will be blocked and all students and personnel will walk to the Salem United Church of Christ. For this reason, it is important that parents do not try to come to school between the hours of 1:00 and 2:00 p.m. on October 5th.

District personnel will respond to the Salem United Church of Christ and assist with a mock pick-up drill.

Predetermined students will be picked-up by their parents and eventually brought back to school when the drill has been completed. The remaining students will stay at the church, with their teachers, until an all clear is given by the Kohlsville Fire Department. Back at the school, emergency responders will go through their procedures.

For the drill, a few individuals will be declared missing so the fire departments have practice in locating missing individuals. One individual will be treated by EMS and they will transport the individual to the church.

Once all of the emergency responders have completed their procedures and cleared their fire hoses and equipment, their fire will be brought back to school and class meetings will take place. After the class meetings, students will continue with their normal day.

To the Editor:

It's difficult to allow a great movie or novel to fade into history and never be heard from again. So it seems inappropriate that a nagging and self-serving issue like Indian nicknames and mascots, while not in the category of legendary movies and novels, keeps poking its head out of the sand to remind us that it is still around.

Two state politicians (neither of whom are Native Americans) Spencer Coggs of Milwaukee and Jim Soletski of Green Bay, are the latest torch bearers for Wisconsin's Native Americans, who, over the last two decades have somehow come to the conclusion that any symbol even closely suggesting an affinity to Native Americans must be scalped.

Like some politicians who, in their cheap bids for recognition, rally for a single cause at the expense of other more meaningful ones, Coggs and Soletski align themselves with a small but annoying minority who find fault with public schools that wish to maintain their long-time association with a Native American nickname or mascot.

Unless Native Americans have culled these offensive names from their original list, there are 12 nicknames that head the hit list: Apaches, Blackhawks, Braves, Chiefs, Chieftains, Flying Arrows, Indians, Raiders, Red Raiders, Red Hawks, Warhawks and Warriors. A valid argument can be made that Chiefs, Chieftains, Flying Arrows, and Raiders (any color) are not necessarily indigenous to Native Americans, but as the old saying goes, "if it walks like a duck, it must be a duck." These time-honored nicknames account for 64 (12.7%) of the state's 504 public and private schools that are members of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association.

At one time, the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction was the target of Native American Lobbyists, but they graciously said it wasn't their position to critique their schools' nicknames. However, retiring State Superintendent Elizabeth Burmaster took a softer stance last year and said that maybe the DPI should look into the matter.

Now, Coggs and Soletski want a bill that would "create a process for people to complain about race-based logos, nicknames or mascots." Did I read that right? A bill that gives people the right to complain about something? Ladies and gentlemen, we already have that. It's called the First Amendment. Our children learn that in elementary school. Maybe your kids can enlighten you on its purpose.

While attacking the nicknames of these schools, Coggs and Soletski's bill would bring under scrutiny school fight songs and conference names. For example, 40 or so Wisconsin schools use "Illinois Loyalty" as their fight song, thus paying tribute to Illinois Chief Illiniwek who, since 1926, has served as a symbol to thousands of University of Illinois alumni, all of whom are proud to call themselves "Illini." Do we sack this traditional song which has been around for over 75 years?

There are two athletic conferences, Indian Trails and Indian Head, in Wisconsin that feature a Native American name. What's their fate?

It doesn't end there. Countless counties and cities across the country, not to mention more than a few states (Wisconsin included) have Indian-related names. The United States military honors Native Americans by naming helicopters after them, most notably Iroquois, Comanche, Apache, and Blackhawk, all of which are employed with devastating effect in the heroic service of our country.

The irony of the debate is that the DPI can fine schools upwards of a $1,000 a day for failure to sack their nicknames and mascots. Unless I have been in some cocoon too long, there are hundreds of school districts around the state facing serious budget deficits because of declining enrollments and higher operating costs. And yet the DPI would fine them for not adhering to some inane law over nicknames and mascots. What's wrong with this picture?

Whatever debt or reparation Wisconsin Native Americans feel is owed them has been paid back many times over with the proliferation of their various gambling enterprises, as they have turned Wisconsin into the Las Vegas of the Midwest. They got their pound of flesh, and much more. They should leave our high schools to celebrate their school traditions without such shameless interference.

Peter H. Schmitt

Letter to the Editor:

If find it incredible that the Republicans now talk about wasteful government spending and fiscal responsibility.

The Federal debt is currently at 13.3 trillion, about 85% of the GDP. Right after WWII our country had the highest debt/GDP ratio at 120%. Each president paid down that debt until Reagan. Since then every Republican administration has added to the debt. The debt at the beginning of Bush Jr. - 5.7 trillion, and at the end of Bush Jr. - 10.7 trillion. This can be found on treasurydirect.gov. (Punch in any date you want.)

Republicans like Sensenbrenner every year voted for Bush Jr.'s irresponsible annual budget, which after eight years added five trillion to the debt. Now mind you as the debt grows larger the interest on the debt grows comparatively!

Right now there is an annual trade deficit of nearly one trillion that gets added to the debt. The debt is a serious problem, no doubt, but let's look at the facts! Regardless of who entered the executive office in early 2009, they were handed a big pile of doggy doo! Two wars, a collapsed economy caused by greedy private investment banking, because of de-regulation which was started by the repeal of the Glass/Steagall act signed by Clinton but predominately a Republican issue coming from the Gingrich controlled Congress in '98. This was not caused by Fannie and Freddie which corporate talk radio and corporated media would like you to believe! Take five minutes and go to Amazon.com and look at a book called 13 Bankers and read page 145 for yourself. Every economist was telling the government to spend money to stimulate the economy. Either political party would have spent money, the difference would have been how the money got spent. The Republicans would prefer to spend money by giving big business tax breaks for the wealthy.

In our country healthcare accounts for 17% of our GDP, nearly double that of every other country in the OECD. One would think we get much better healthcare, au contraire! Europe has a higher life expectancy and a lower infant mortality and everyone is covered and no one goes bankrupt because of healthcare! Hmmm!

With the Republicans controlling Congress and the executive branch during Bush Jr., why didn't they even address healthcare? Because they're corp-pals pharma and insurers wouldn't let them! The bad thing with what we have right now with this healthcare reform (insurance regulation) is that pharma and insurance are actually going to make out with this, but this is not exactly what many of the Democrats initially wanted. Why? Because a few corporate Democrats (bought and paid for by insurance and pharma) were holding up any legitimate reform (the blue dog dems). If there were 100% (bought and paid for) Republicans and 5% (bought and paid for) Democrats opposed, its pretty hard to accomplish anything that benefits the average Joe!

Barb Knorr, center, and Mikayla Kremer, right, Community Pantry board members accept a check from Salem United Church of Christ pastor Dan Schultz, left. Salem U.C.C. in Wayne recently donated $2,500 to the Community Pantry's building fund. Ground has already been broken on the building at the corner of Reigle Drive and School Street next to the Kewaskum Career Academy. Pastor Dan Schultz of Salem UCC stated the money was raised at their 35th annual Chicken Dinner this past July. In addition to the donation to the Community Pantry, the church donated $2,500 to Hands and Hearts across Africa, a medical mission in Nigeria. The Pantry project was undertaken by the Kewaskum School District with help from local clergy. The pantry is currently located in the Kewaskum Municipal Building Annex but quickly grew out of that space and the School District announced it would donate land for a larger permanent structure that is being built by volunteers and students in the high school's technical education department. The KHS Student Government will be collecting food during the October 1 Homecoming parade and at the gates of the Doc Mitchell Athletic Complex during the football game.

to areas throughout Central and South America as a training platform that also helps provide invaluable infrastructure to impoverished areas.

Holm and his teammates endure extreme heat, austere conditions and monsoon-like rains to help improve quality of life in the area, but feel that it's well worth the effort.

"New Horizons gives us the opportunity to build new facilities that will allow Panamanian children to learn. It also positively impacts society," said Holm.

The experience is also a benefit to the service members involved, giving them a chance to use their skills and training they've received back home in a real-world setting that makes a tangible difference to the local regions they visit.

"I am getting valuable training here while getting to see the impact of our work," said

Holm.

Because many of the selected locations are in some of the most remote and poverty-stricken areas of Latin America, Holm and his teammates often find themselves in locations and conditions unlike anything they've ever experienced.

"The people here are very friendly and hospitable. I am able to interact with the children at the school and practice my Spanish with them," said Holm.

"New Horizons" is an exercise that has brought construction and medical help to impoverished regions throughout Central and South America and the Caribbean for more than a quarter of a century. The exercise has also provided service members like Holm with experience in building schools, digging wells, constructing community centers and medical clinics, as well as providing medical care in a real-world setting that is cementing partnerships with those countries for decades to come.

Yeska family reunion

BY ISABELLE YESKA MUCKERHEIDE

It was back to school for the descendants of Anton and Stella (Paluska) Yeska for their 20th annual family reunion at the homestead in Neshkoro Labor Day weekend. About 90 were in attendance.

It began with a golf outing at Two Oaks near Wautoma. A meeting at 1 p.m. planned the format. A principal was selected, crossing guard, bus drivers, cafeteria workers and chief cook. Some attended the 4 p.m. mass Saturday and others at 9:15 a.m. Sunday. Being a resort area and a holiday weekend, a total of 1,000 people were at the two masses.

A sumptuous meal was served in the cafeteria at 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Many attended in caps and gowns and other with school attire. Pictures were displayed of memorable school days.

In the evening a program was held in the assembly room. The three remaining Lemon Sisters sang: School days, school days
Dear old golden rule days
Reading, writing, 'rithmetic
Taught to the rule of a hickory stick,

You were my queen in calico
I was your bashful barefoot beau

You wrote on my slate
"I love you so"

When we were a couple of kids!
Games were played with members of each family participating against one another. At recess, we enjoyed root beer floats.

Sunday morning a continental breakfast was held in the teacher's lounge with juice, bakery and coffee. There were children's games, a tug of war, archery, and an art class.

In the afternoon was baseball at Stan-o-Gene park, followed by a spelling bee conducted by Professor Michael Kurzlich was won by Patty Celek. As per tradition, eight of us were treated to a dinner at Silvercryst in Wautoma in honor of Patty Celek's birthday.

A short program in the evening summarized the weekend's events. Winners were announced for the "Frog" raffle. Some played Sheephead.

Monday was breakup with tearful goodbyes.

My contribution is as follows:

All the world's a stage, and we are merely players

Those are words of a famous play, that applies to us today.

Such is the family of Anton and Stella

Who assemble here today.

No truer words are spoken, as we go from day to day.

We have a doctor, nurses, musicians, too

Fathers and mothers and tin smith for you

There were carpenters, teachers, and even a cook

You might say we were diversified wherever you look.

But enough of singing our praises

Of everyone we love, we owe it all to someone who reigns-Our God above.

There is always anticipation when Labor Day arrives

The Kurz family will see to it

And bring pleasure to our lives.

So let us greet this precious time,

When we are here together, forming precious memories

That will live with us forever!

'Christmas Night of Lights' is parade theme for 2010

By Andrew Kuehl
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Planning is underway for the annual Kewaskum Christmas Parade sponsored by The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce. Organizers have declared "Christmas Night of Lights" as the theme for the Sunday, December 5th event.

This year's planning committee of Mike Geidel of Geidel's Piggly Wiggly, Scott Sadownikow of Kewaskum Mobil, Kevin Stautz of Hollywood Homes LLC and Gino Giudice of Bonne Bell Motel is looking for area businesses to get involved by entering floats in the parade or helping to sponsor entries with music for the event.

This year's Parade Marshalls are Edward and Sharon Miller, former owners of Miller's Furniture. Both have been active in the community and active with the Chamber. Mr. Miller is one of the founding members of The KACC. Mrs. Miller remains active with Kewaskum Education Youth Scholarships, Inc., (KEYS). The Miller family celebrated 100 years in business this year.

Instead of collecting food for families as was done in the past, the organizers have decided to have a toy collection along the parade route for needy families in Washington County. Toys can also be dropped off prior to the parade at: Geidel's Piggly Wiggly, Kewaskum Mobil and The Scrap Nook.

Those wishing to have floats should contact Mike Geidel at (262) 626-1778 or email mikegeidel@kewaskumpig.com. An entry form can also be downloaded from the Kewaskum Chamber website as well at www.kewaskum.org.

Parade participants are to line up in front of Kewaskum High School starting at 4:15 p.m. and check in with a parade official. Walking groups will meet inside KHS, they should park in the rear of the high school.

There will be the usual float competition, with monetary prizes going to the top five floats selected by the judges. Walking groups will also have a chance to win prizes.

Santa Claus has promised he will send one of his Santa helpers from the North Pole to be in the Kewaskum parade and will be pulled by Regal Ware.

The parade route will proceed from the high school south down Parkview Drive, to Main Street and west on Main until Fond du Lac Avenue, where it will end at the Kewaskum Municipal Annex Building. Floats can park in the alley between Engelhardt Distributing and the Annex Building.

The parade begins at 5 p.m.

Immediately following the parade the Village Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony will begin in front of the Village Annex Building. The Kewaskum High School Swing Choir will perform Christmas carols before the Parade Marshall lights the tree. Winners of the float competitions will also be announced at this time.

The parade is organized by the Kewaskum Chamber who funds it through sponsorships and a donation made by the McCarty family a number of years ago.

St. Michael's Fall Festival Sunday

Grand prize raffle includes tickets to Packers vs. Vikings game

St. Michael Parish in St. Michaels will hold their annual Fall Festival this weekend on Sunday, September 26. Raffles, games, food and a polka mass make up the day of family fun in the beautiful Kettle Moraine.

The day begins at 9 a.m. with a polka mass performed by The Goodtime Dutchmen of Kewaskum. For those who have never attended such a mass, the polka Mass is an unorthodox marriage of traditional liturgical lyrics with familiar polka tunes. Imagine "Holy, Holy" or "Alleluia" set to the toe-tapping beat of "The Beer Barrel Polka" or "The Blue Skirt Waltz" and you're on the mark. The tradition of polka Masses has become a popular one in Catholic churches throughout the state.

Food begins after mass at 10:30 A.M. and served until 2:30 p.m. A menu consisting of Turkey and Roast Beef with all the fixings are sure to delight those looking for a good meal. Hamburgers, brats and fries will also be served outside with beer and soda to wash it down for those wanting to enjoy more entertainment by The Goodtime Dutchmen and Carol & The Keynotes.

Don't forget to save room for dessert though! The ladies of the parish have been busy baking and concocting an array of delicious desserts for the annual bake sale held in conjunction with the festival.

For the kids various games including a dice game, fish tank and others will provide hours of amusement.

This year's raffle includes a grand prize every Green Bay Packer fan won't want to miss, tickets for the Packers versus Vikings game on Sunday, October 24! Over 45 additional prizes are also on the ticket and can be purchased for $2 each or 3 for $5.

He was born on December 20, 1942, in Milwaukee, the son of Thomas S. Zalewski Sr. and Kathryn Schubert. Jack was raised in Slinger by his aunt and uncle, Everett and Leah Schubert, and was a graduate of Slinger High School, where he was known as John "Jack" Schubert. So-so weekend for Gridiron teams

By Judy Harlow

After two weeks of action, the seventh graders are the lone undefeated team in the Kewaskum Gridiron youth football program.

Coach Randy Schlice's charges scored twice in the first quarter and made the 13 points stand up for a 13-6 victory at Germantown.

Josh Baker put the young Indians on the board with a 4-yard run in the first quarter, then, after Kewaskum's defense forced the Warhawks to punt, quickly Baker broke loose for a 20-yard scoring dash.

After the first score, Michael Prochnow successfully passed to Bert Elmazi for the extra point.

"It was a good defensive game for the second and third quarters," Schlice said, reporting his team came up with a big defensive stand near the end of the game. "They got to our 6-yard line, and we stopped them."

"Ryan Tracy had an outstanding game at nose guard," the coach said, indicating Charlie Witek had an interception.

The sixth graders (1-1) rebounded from last week's loss to beat Germantown 20-13.

"They (Kewaskum players) were so happy, and so was I," coach Joel Tietz said. "I couldn't be prouder of them."

Kyle Pamperin, Tyler Schellinger and Brady Hansons, according to Tietz, who said Pamperin's went for 55 yards and Schellinger's for 40.

After the second touchdown, Tyler Oelhafen kicked the extra point, which is worth two points in youth football.

"Our defensive line was in control. Mason Amerling and Mitchell Tietz controlled the line of scrimmage," the coach said.

The fifth graders (1-1) played their hearts out right down to the end of their game at Whitefish Bay and fell one score short, losing 26-20.

This was a battle of long touchdowns, with Kewaskum scoring early in the game on a long run by Cole Surprenant. Gabe Christenson ran in the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

The Blue Dukes came back with a drive and a TD but failed on the PAT try, so they trailed 7-6.

Bay got the ball back a couple minutes later and marched 50 yards, the final ones coming on a sweep for a 12-7 lead. The Blue Dukes threatened once more in the second quarter, but the rookie Indians pushed them back, so the half ended with the score 12-7.

On the first play of the second half, the hosts scored on another sweep for a 20-6 lead, but there was no quit in the Indians, who came back with a 48-yard run by Surprenant for a score with :50 left in the third quarter (13-20).

Whitefish Bay used a fumble recovery to set up its final TD, then Surprenant scored again, this time on a 48-yard run, and Christenson passed to Sirius Richards for the conversion.

It looked like Kewaskum would get the ball back when Brent Goeden pounced on a fumble, but the officials awarded the ball back to the Dukes.

The eighth grade (1-1) team had trouble generating any offense and wound up on the short end of a 22-0 decision at Germantown.

Offensively, we didn't do anything," coach Rollie Maul said Sunday, reporting his team was down 14-0 at half-time.

"The highlight of the game was our special teams, which gave us some pretty good field position, which we did nothing with," Maul went on, noting the Indians had one interception, by Zach Smith.

ings with 9 points, but should have finished in first place in the 18-hole test, it could take the title as it currently has 10 points. Kewaskum is third with 19, followed by Oconomowoc, 26; West Bend, 30; and Beaver Dam, 32.

In an 18-hole test held at the Town and Country Golf Course on Sept. 13, the Indians finished 10th out of 16 teams in the Sheboygan Invitational with a 410 total.

The combined Sheboygan team won easily, posting a 337, which was 31 strokes ahead of Green Bay Preble's 368. Then came Green Bay Notre Dame at 375.

"There are always good teams there," Piwoni said.

Winkler again led the Indians, shooting a 95 which was tied for 20th place. Gavin was among seven players who shot 99, good for 26th place, while Warnecke came in at 106 (46th) and Zuehlke struggled to a 110, putting her in a three-way tie for 51st.

She's (Zuehlke) been having back problems lately," Piwoni said. "It's really been affecting her swing."

Tennis team finds success at Chilton

6-3. At No. 3, Glenda Bohrt pulled out a three-set match, 7-6, 4-6, 6-1. At No. 4, Rae Monte won, 6-1, 6-4.

Kewaskum's girls tennis team on Monday came out on top of a "very good Chilton team," said Coach Matthew Fehlhaber.

The girls won 5-2 with three singles wins and two doubles wins.

At No. 1 singles, Claire Mehler won, 6-1,

Claire Mehler

At No. 2 doubles, Anna Bernhagen and Bridgette Wade came back to win, 1-6, 6-1, 6-4. At No. 3, Aarika Spalding and Carol Lima cruised, 6-1, 6-0.

The Indians, 3-4 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, face a tough opponent at Two Rivers on Friday.

By Judy Harlow

The stage was certainly set for yesterday's (Sept. 22nd) Wisconsin Little Ten showdown. Still up for grabs was first place being sought by Hartford and Watertown, and Kewaskum will be striving to maintain its third place position after the final conference mini-meet at Oconomowoc on Sept. 16.

Hartford won that meet, but for the second time in a row, the tiebreaker policy was used to determine first place as the Orioles and Watertown ended in a tie at 187. Hartford's fifth score, a 49, was lower than Watertown's 53.

Once again, Oconomowoc surged to defeat Kewaskum, 205 to 209, and the Indians needed the tiebreaker to edge

West Bend. The Indians' 58 was a shot ahead of West Bend's 59.

Beaver Dam came in last with a 209.

KHS coach Amy Piwoni was proud to report senior Kate Winkler posted an outstanding score of 45 on the day. After starting with a 7 on her card, Winkler battled back to par par par threes and finish with a par five on No. 8 and a bogey on No. 9.

Winkler's score was third best on the day.

Megan Gavin and Sienna Warnecke both shot 53s on the day, while April Basterash and Heather Zuehlke both carded 58s.

"Megan was on pace for a 50, but she took an eleven on a hole," Piwoni said.

The great Campbellsport comeback

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

CAMPBELLSPORT—Coach Jason Piittmann said it and his team knew it as it entered the halftime locker room down 14-10 against their most heated and nearby rival.

"It's an emotional game. You've got to be up and we weren't up early on and Campbellsport took it to us. They were up. We weren't," Piittmann said. "I give Coach (Bob) Hepp and the staff all the credit. They scouted us well, prepared well for us and knocked us on our heels. Fortunately we recovered before we got knocked to the mat."

Recovered as in outscoring the Cougars 20-0 in the second half and winning, 30-14.

Kewaskum quarterback Cody Nuernberg just about did get knocked to the mat but refused to go down. Six minutes into the game, the senior tweaked an ankle on a 75-yard touchdown run that would have earned points on "Dancing with the Stars" and limped back to the sideline. He tried jogging to stay loose but still limped for the rest of the game - except while playing. What's more, he had to carry the team in the third quarter since the Cougars heavily schemed against the explosive Eric Perkins.

"It was real, real sore," he said. But that didn't matter.

"Out on the field it's 100 percent all the time. I'm not worried about it," he said. "Gotta play through the pain if you want to win."

"Gutty," Piittmann said of Nuernberg's performance. "He was playing on adrenaline. He knew he was not going to come off the field unless we had to drag him off on a stretcher. He was going to will himself through it and he did. He showed great leadership, great heart, great perseverance."

The entire team got an adrenaline shot at halftime, courtesy of some senior leadership. Encouraging and determined yelling continued well into the third quarter. The sideline was engulfed in so much testosterone it could have been cut with a knife. A sharp one.

"Oh, lots of emotion in the locker room. We had a lot of seniors stepping up talking, just trying to motivate the team and everything. The second half was a totally different ballgame," Nuernberg said.

"We just got a reality check with ourselves. Seeing what we were up against we just had to step it up, had to kick it up a notch and compete with them, just try to shut 'em down," said senior linebacker Mike Schladweiler, who in the third quarter paced up and down the sideline like a starving lion waiting to get back on the field and eat somebody. He didn't turn cannibalistic, but he did manage three solo tackles, tied for the team high.

The Cougars had been getting bits of yards up the middle and on sweeps and counters with relative ease in the first half. Twenty-seven of 30 running plays gained positive yards for a total of 127 and two one-yard scores by Rashaun Sparks. While the Indians didn't stop them in the second half, they slowed them enough, got the offense going and made a big sack and fumble recovery.

The Cougars took the third-quarter kickoff and began driving again, reaching Kewaskum's 12. On third and seven on their 12th play and first attempted pass of the drive, linebacker Ryan Ogi and defensive end Matt Ballard shoved their men back into quarterback Tim Whitty and knocked him over for a five-yard loss. A fourth quarter pass fell incomplete and the Indians survived.

After forcing a punt on the next drive, Kewaskum got going with two pass plays, one 20-yard out to Tony Gonring and a 28-yard jump ball to a double-covered 5-foot-9 Perkins, who out-battled two Cougars to come down with the pass and throw gas on an already fired up Indian bench.

"They were kind of keying on Perkins, definitely," Nuernberg said. "We definitely schemed different in the half. We wanted to come out and throw the ball a little bit and get them to get on their heels a little more."

Nuernberg scrambled for nine on the next play, then and Perkins hit the corner and kicked in the afterburners for an 11-yard score on the next, with 33.2 seconds left in the third quarter.

Hunter Flanders' extra point was rudely rejected by the left upright accompanied by a fortississimo "thud," but the Indians had the lead, 16-14, and enough momentum to power their team bus back home.

"The sidelines were getting louder and louder," Nuernberg said. "It's great having guys on the sideline cheering for us. It gets everybody in the game."

A holding penalty and incomplete pass forced the Cougars to punt, and the Indians right went back to the air. Unleashing a four-wide formation, Nuernberg hit Brad Boegel on a slant for 15 and Danny Bohn for another 12. After Bohn nearly caught a bomb on the next play, Nuernberg turned in as good a run as his 75-yard score.

The quarterback dropped back to pass but saw an open lane. He cut left, cut right and went back to the middle for 33 yards to the Cougar 16.

As many Cougars whiffed on the play as they did when they faced Nuernberg as an all-conference pitcher during summer. The only time one defender touched him is when Nuernberg put out a stiff arm to move the Cougar out of the way. At that point, anyone saying Nuernberg had a bad ankle would have drawn a laugh.

Perkins later leaped and crossed the ball over the goal line on a sweep left from two yards out. This time, the PAT was dead center, giving Kewaskum a two-score lead at 23-14.

The Cougars answered by driving to Kewaskum's 34 when a fumble on a dive play drew most everyone on the field to the pile. After several seconds of dragging everyone off of the heap, Ogi came out with the ball.

"It was a big pile. The ball was rolling around. I stuck my arm in there, grabbed it and held it tight. I knew it was a momentum changer so I had to get it," he said. "I had three guys trying to pull the ball from me."

Nuernberg threw an interception on the next drive and got called for passing the ball past the line of scrimmage. The Indians got a holding penalty as well in what was all-around not-so-hot play.

The Indians held Whitty to a five-yard run on fourth and nine, and Perkins turned in a 38-yard run that rivaled Nuernberg's for entertainment value and reminiscent of Barry Sanders' style. Perkins cut through the left alley and flew into the secondary. Upon seeing more potential tacklers, he instantly stopped, allowing several of the Cougars who missed him the first time to catch up and feel what it's like to grasp air twice in three seconds.

He was corralled at the three, and took it in on the next play. With 3:07 to go, Kewaskum had a 30-14 lead.

Campbellsport drove the field again but Gonring kneeled for an interception on an overthrow down the middle to squash any attempt at a comeback or to change the final margin.

Kewaskum's coaches had made their tactical halftime adjustments that often work so well. A different look here and there and good execution kept the Cougars off balance.

"But it was basically, you know, we had kids that thought coming in that this was going to be an easier game than it was and Campbellsport proved us wrong," Piittmann said. "We persevered in the second half, we executed better. We played a lot better. We played more Kewaskum football."

Perkins was held to 85 yards on 15 carries but may be part of an offense that is more deadly than when he went off for 200. With each game, the Indians' become more versatile, adding more receivers and new looks into the mix.

The Indians, 2-0 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 4-0 overall, travel to Waupun on Friday. The Warriors are 0-2 in the EWC and 0-4 overall. The Indians beat the Warriors 22-7 last year at home in the rain.

NOTES

The Indians have now won the last six Kettle Moraine Bowls. Dating to 1940, Kewaskum leads the series 39-30-1, according to Peter Schmitt. The previous five game scores are: 2005, 22-7; 2006, 33-6; 2007, 28-7; 2008, 24-0; 2009, 21-7.

"There's only one year that I would consider a blowout. They hammered us once but everything is a tough game. It's always physical," said Coach Jason Piittmann, now in his eighth season.

The winner receives a waist-high trophy that has a gold-colored football player at the top in a Heisman-like pose. The Statesman doesn't have any record of either team ever giving the trophy back over a USC scandal.

Eric Perkins broke his streak of one 50-yard touchdown run per game. Time will tell if he recovers from this monumental disappointment with a respectable season. So far he has 667 yards and 11 touchdowns on 64 attempts, averaging 10.4 yards per carry.

Hunter Flanders kicked his first field goal of the season at the end of the first half. On fourth and four from the Campbellsport 12 with the intention of going for it, Kewaskum got a delay of game penalty, triggering Piittmann to try the kick. "We had to get points on the board. That was the big thing," he said.

Back by popular demand, here is the latest update on Emily Mueller and her ability to not fall on her fanny for an entire high school football game. While the Indians are 4-0, everyone's favorite trainer is three up, one down. She again remained upright the entire game at Campbellsport. According to Kewaskum's baseball coaches who keep stats for the football team, this means she is batting .750, which is pretty good. And Mueller had a milestone birthday last Saturday, though she seems to be in denial of moving into a specific decade.

Lady Indians go 2-3 in Slinger tourney

Kewaskum's Bryana Keller (2) and Anna Aycock (22) prepare to block Sheboygan Falls' Brooke Buehler during their match at home.

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Kewaskum's volleyball team went 2-3 in last weekend's Slinger tournament and played better in two of its losses than its wins.

The Indians lost close matches to Slinger, 17-25, 18-25, and Grafton, 25-27, 18-25. "I thought we played well against Slinger and Grafton. We limited our errors and played pretty smart," said Coach Joe Moser.

The Indians beat Elkhorn, 24-26, 25-20, 15-10, and Cudahy, 25-21, 25-19.

"I think we played down to Elkhorn and Cudahy but still won the matches. We definitely had more errors and mistakes against them and didn't look to sharp on the court," Moser said.

The closed the day with New Berlin Eisenhower and lost, 13-25, 11-25.

"We seemed to turn it in against Eisenhower. They are a great team and by the end of the day it looked like the kids were tired and looking to go home," Moser said. "Would have liked a better game to finish the day. Eisenhower was really tough with two great middles and great serving that we had troubles stopping and passing."

Against a sharp and polished Sheboygan Falls team at home last Thursday, the Indians played well in getting swept, 23-25, 17-25, 20-25. Falls remained undefeated in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and the Indians remained winless at home.

Junior outside hitter Kayla Bastian led with four kills, and sophomore middle hitter Anna Aycock had three. Becca Fahney and Whitney Bastian had two each.

Molly Potter had five assists. Aycock served four aces. Kayla Bastian made six digs and Courtney Krueger and Kelsey Phillips five each.

In a back-and-forth Game 1, Kewaskum built an 11-6 lead and fell behind 20-16 before coming back to take a 23-21 edge. Aycock had a kill and block in the run, and Heidi Johnson served an ace.

Falls ran off four straight points to close out the game, but Moser was impressed, especially with the Indians coming off of a nine-day layoff.

"It was exciting. I think we showed what we can do. We passed well. We kept the ball in play. We had, like two errors total in the first game," he said. "We were very smart. When we couldn't hit it we put it into deep corners to challenge the other team. Once we had two passing errors in a row we kind of dropped our heads and we kind of fell apart. We've got to be able to keep that level of intensity and focus."

The Falcons jumped out to a 7-1 lead in Game 2, and the Indians could only close to 14-12 and 22-17. Falls senior Cassie Quirt served two aces to win the game.

Game 3 was nip and tuck the whole way, the biggest lead coming at Falls' 20-16 advantage. The Indians battled back to 21-20 before the Falcons again ran off four straight points.

"Sheboygan Falls is a great team. They beat us even worse before," Moser said.

The Indians got more players involved in the offense and unveiled a new weapon in Fahney.

"More people are starting to swing. Becca was great in that last match. She didn't have any errors, she had two or three kills," Moser said. "She played very smart and she got two great blocks, which will help slow down other teams' big hitters. She looked really good."

Serve receive was a challenge. The Falcons served several aces, and on other balls the Indians couldn't set up an offense to attack.

"If we can get our serve receive down and get our setters connecting with our middle hitter. We've got a great middle hitter (Aycock) but we just couldn't find her. She had sets going over her head," Moser said.

Despite the sweep, the Indians were in a position to win each game and Moser found some positives from this match.

"But you've got to look at it as we were in the lead, we were playing well. We were passing well. We know we can pass well at times and so we've got to do it for a whole match," he said. "We were clicking, we were firing. Now we've just got to do that all the time."

On Thursday, the Indians (2-4 in the EWC, 7-11 overall) host conference foe New Holstein and will try to win their first home match of the season.

Cross Country team continues to show improvement

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Kewaskum's cross country team continues to impress their coaches with improved times as the season rolls along.

At the Kris Greening Memorial Invitational in Ripon last Saturday, the girls finished ninth of 11 teams. Lomira won the meet.

"The course was mostly flat and the majority of the runners had a PR (personal record)," said Coach Heidi Korth.

April Stern overcame a cold and led with a 21st place finish in 17:48, good enough for a medal.

Abby Backhaus came in soon after in 30th in 18:20, and Jessica Nurkala right behind in 32nd in 18:28.

Tess Bandy, celebrating her birthday, finished 65th in 20:19. Lindsay Zuehlke came in 70th in 20:37 and Allie Schmidt took two minutes off of her time with a 22:24, good for 78th. Kelsey Koller finished in 80th in 22:45.

Chris Wetzel led the boys with a 20:56 in 43rd place. Matt Vogt had a PR in 81st place with 24:24. Austin Johann "did great for his first meet," finishing 86th in 27:06, Korth said.

"Both teams did a great job," Korth said.

On Sept. 14 at the Fond du Lac County Invite at Wau-pun, the girls finished fourth of four complete teams with 102 points. Watertown Luther Prep dominated with 21 points, followed by Mayville's 85 and Waupun's 86.

Stern earned a medal for 10th place for finishing in 18:43.

Backhaus came in right behind at 11th in 18:45 and Nurkala close behind her in 12th in 18:51.

"Jessica shaved off over a minute of her best time," Korth said.

Tess Bandy came in 34th in 21:22 and Koller 35th in 21:31. Zuehlke was 36th in 21:34 and Schmidt finished in 24:30 in 41st place.

Wetzel came in 30th in 21:55 and Vogt, in his second meet of the season, finished 45th in 25:51.

On Thursday, the Indians host their annual invitational.
