Rest in Peace Chief Kewaskum?

Some changes have been made at Kewaskum High School regarding the display of school mascots due to the recent legislation passed this year banning school mascots with Native American themes.

Last week, while students were off of school, Kewaskum Superintendent of Schools Michael Krumm ordered the painting of the KHS Field House, which removed a class gift from the KHS Class of 1975. The gift was a mural depicting a likeness of Chief Kewaskum shown above, left, before it was removed. A wood carving of a likeness of Chief Kewaskum that was proudly displayed at the school's office entrance is also shown above in its new home, facing the wall in a janitor's closet. It is unknown when it was removed.

KHS principal Tom Fischer stated both actions along with the removal of the arrowhead and Chief in headdress in school spirit wear is part of an unwritten "district philosophy" handed down to him from Krumm. It should be noted however, a wooden carving of Chief Kewaskum still remains at Kewaskum Middle School.

Before the legislation had passed district residents were assured by Krumm and the Board of Education at a meeting that the district would not take action to remove the mascots until forced by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

When contacted, Board of Education President John Kenworthy, provided a statement. "We, as a School Board, have repeatedly and clearly expressed our desire to keep the 'Indians' name for our school teams. We have sent members of our board to Madison along with Mrs. Horbas to lobby the legislators regarding the change and like many school districts we were unsuccessful with that effort. So I am disappointed that the images have been summarily removed from our buildings without at least some prior discussion with us and with the community. That being said, I do understand that the action was intended to be pre-emptive. When the Mukwonago School District lost its bid to keep its own Indians name, one of the reasons stated was that the depictions (even in sensitivity training materials) were inauthentic and hence disrespectful. If our images were likewise deemed inauthentic then that would lessen our own ability to fight any challenges that may be forthcoming. At this point, it seems to be only a matter of time before someone lodges an official complaint against Kewaskum's Indians name and we want to have every chance to challenge any decision to change at the hearing that is certain to come. The intention was good - to prolong or save the Indians name - but I am disappointed with how we went about doing that."

The above photos were found on a social networking website and were obtained through that website.

We've posted one of the photos on our Facebook page and have received many comments, the most we have ever received on a posting.

"I personally feel this issue is one of the biggest we've ever covered. It has been very difficult to remain unbiased in this debate, but as the voice of the school district, I feel it's important to make people aware of what is going on. I personally feel that it's inevitable that we will lose our beloved mascot. I've told Mr. Kenworthy that by covering up what we have, to try and save our name and mascot have now become almost meaningless. Without being able to show our pride in our founding father and celebrate OUR heritage you might as well take it all away and be done with it," stated Statesman Publisher Andrew Kuehl, a 1998 KHS graduate and lifelong resident.

The Board of Education meets Monday, Nov. 8 at 7 p.m. in the Rose Library at KHS, make your feelings known to YOUR Board of Education.

Village lowers tax levy, approves union contracts

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.

The village's proposed 2011 budget carries a slight levy decrease and a major drop in its mill rate.

The budget, scheduled for a public hearing on Nov. 15, has a $1,783,744 levy, a decrease from last year of 0.22 percent, said Village Administrator Mathew Heiser.

The mill rate is slated to fall from $7.15 per $1,000 of equalized value to $5.91, mostly due to the village's reassessment this year, Heiser said. The owner of a $150,000 home would pay $886.50, down from last year's $1,072.50.

On Monday, the Village Board made one line-item cut to the budget, removing a $5,000 donation to the Kewaskum Boys and Girls Club. The vote was 5-2 to cut it, with Village President Andrew Pesch and Trustee Tom Piwoni voting against.

Trustees expressed support for the club but some said the budget is too tight to be giving to charity at this time. Mike Berger said the village already isn't setting any money aside for road or sidewalk improvements in 2010.

Others cited the board's decision to not waive the impact fees for the Kewaskum Food Pantry, which is on school property. The district had requested the fees be waived but the board voted against it.

"If you do one, then do other groups in need, too," said Jim Hovland.

Pesch, however, said there is no connection between a donation to charity and a fee regulated by state law. A decision on donating to the Boys and Girls Club would not be a relevant comparison to not waiving impact fees.

Piwoni had requested the donation be put into the budget weeks ago.

"I see the Boys and Girls Club is doing good for the village," Piwoni said. "It helps the police out."

Pesch said businesses on Wednesday afternoons, the school district's early release day, complain that "kids are loitering around their businesses."

Pesch said he would have liked to see a smaller amount donated, but that wasn't suggested. He didn't suggest it himself, either.

Besides the club donation, the budget does not include any of the possible cuts presented at the Oct. 18 Village Board meeting. The board had asked for ways to cut the budget 6 percent, and village staff provided a list of possible cuts, including staffing cuts and closing the pool. None of those are in the proposed budget.

One slight cut in the budget is out of the village's hands. Shared revenue from the state will be $279,317, barely down from last year's $279,359 but continuing the downward trend. In 2009, shared revenue was $297,000. In 2008, it was $300,000.

The budget includes two newly approved contracts with the two unions with which the village negotiates.

On Oct. 18, the Village Board approved a two-year contract with the American of State County Municipal Employees (AFSCME). The board agreement impacts 10 village employees, including department of public works, the wastewater treatment plant crew, water utility, library assistants and one clerical position.

At its Monday meeting, the board approved a contract with the Labor Association of Wisconsin, which covers six full-time and two part-time employees of the police department, but not the chief or one office assistant.

Both contracts were discussed in closed session and then approved in open session. Both votes were 4-3, with Harry Roecker, Craig Garbisch and Norman Kufahl voting against.

The contracts include a wage freeze for 2010 and a split raise for 2011. Employees receive a 1 percent raise on Jan. 1 and another 1 percent raise on July 1, Heiser said.

The health insurance plan switches from Anthem to the state plan, with some changes. The health reimbursement account is discontinued, meaning employees now pay their own deductibles. Rates are $500 for single and $1,000 for family.

Deductibles used to be $1,000 for single, $2,000 for employee plus one and $3,000 for family, but the village paid them. Not anymore.

Heiser said the switch results in lower premiums from the village and a lower contribution with a flex plan. The contracts save the village a combined $75,000 in 2010.

The public hearing on the budget is at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 15.

State statute requires the budget be approved by Dec. 15, but Heiser said Kewaskum usually approves its budget before Dec. 1 to allow the county time to send out tax bills.

Beechwood Firefighters assist at Mitchell house fire

TOWN of MITCHELL- Beechwood Fire Department was one of five area fire departments who assisted at a house fire on Saturday, Oct. 30, around 4 p.m. The fire completely destroyed a family's home and nine puppies that perished in the blaze.

A passer-by observed the front porch of the residence at N4243 CTH S, emitting smoke and fire. An electrical wire was also seen sparking and laying across the front yard of the home near the porch. After calling 911, the passerby attempted contact at the back door of the residence but found the residence was filled with smoke.

The home owned by Shannon and Krista Gerken, was a two story, 40'x50' structure. Emergency personnel found the structure entirely engulfed in flames. Once extinguished, it was determined that the no one had been inside the residence.

Sheboygan County Sheriff's deputies responded to the scene along with Cascade, Beechwood, Greenbush, Plymouth and Waldo Fire Departments. Also joining firefighters were Cascade First Responders and the Sheboygan County Fire Investigation Team.

Sgt. Doug Tuttle, of The Sheboygan County Sheriff's Office reported the home was a total loss. No injuries were reported and the incident remains under investigation and it is undetermined at this time whether the downed electrical wire is related to the fire or not.

Windy weather creates woes for some Kewaskum Department of Public Works Lead Operator Alan Kuehl quickly removes a large tree branch that came crashing down on to Fond du Lac Avenue during the windstorm that hit the village on Wednesday. The branch came from a huge maple tree in the front yard of Craig and Janet Knops' home. Traffic was closed on the road for about 15 minutes while the branch was pushed off the road.

RIGHT: Firefighters from Kohlsville, Allenton and St. Lawrence responded alongside U.S. Highway 41 in the Town of Wayne after a field caught fire. It is unknown exactly how the field caught fire but could have been due to hot tire shards. The fire was quickly extinguished by firefighters.

Farmington road referendum ditched; T. Kewaskum passes, but will it pass the board?

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Voters resoundingly defeated the Town of Farmington's road referendum by a 2-to-1 margin while the Town of Kewaskum Board will have a decision on its hands.

Turnout in both towns eclipsed 70 percent.

Kewaskum's non-binding referendum passed, 271-255 (51.5 to 48.5 percent), but was advisory only. The Town Board has final say on whether or not to borrow $200,000 for road repairs.

Alcohol blamed for Wayne crash

TOWN of WAYNE- A Kewaskum man was critically injured in a single vehicle crash on October 27 at 9:47 p.m. on Mohawk Drive, near the Badger Road intersection. The man, a passenger was flown from the scene by Flight for Life Helicopter.

Lt. Bruce Theusch of The Washington County Sheriff's Department reports a pick-up truck, driven by Patrick M Gonyo, 44, of Lomira, was northbound on Mohawk Drive and left the eastside of the road, striking the guardrails of the bridge. One the guardrails impaled the truck and caused serious leg injuries to his passenger, Todd R Behling, of Kewaskum.

Theresa Fire/ Rescue responded to the scene. They were assisted by Fond du lac Fire Department Paramedics and Kewaskum Rescue. Behling was flighted to Froedtert Hospital in Milwaukee. Gonyo was transported to St Joseph's Hospital for non-life threatening injuries.

The accident remains under investigation; however alcohol was a factor in the accident.

The board never gave a percentage on what would trigger it to follow through on borrowing the money, but it has said a simple majority is likely not enough.

At 4 percent interest, borrowing the money would raise taxes $68 per year on a $200,000 home and $100 per year on a $300,000 home. Town treasurer Danial Stoffel said he thinks the town could do better than 4 percent, but a 3 percent loan would only alter the tax increase by $1 or $2.

If it would go ahead with the plan, the Kewaskum Town Board at a special meeting Aug. 31 agreed the $200,000 would be used on four roads: Highland from Highway H to Highway 28 and Prospect Drive from Badger Road to Ridge Road would both be wedged and seal coated; Kettle Moraine Drive from H to Ridge Road would be seal coated; and Ridge Road from Kettle View to Highland would be wedged and overlaid.

The board had a host of road improvements from which to choose and tried to pick the roads that needed improvement the most. Other road improvements would have to come from its road repair operating budget, which is $31,000 this year.

Turnout in Kewaskum reached 75 percent as 526 of the 701 registered voters went to the polls.

Farmington asked for $200,000 as well, but it wasn't going to borrow the money. Taxes themselves would cover it.

The board had not identified which roads would be repaired if the referendum passed.

No worries on that decision, the voters said. The binding referendum failed, 1,046 to 500 (67.65 to 32.35 percent).

Turnout was 70 percent as 1,546 of the 2,200 voters cast ballots.

With an expected 3 percent levy limit next year, approving the referendum would have raised the town's mill rate 48 cents from $1.03 to $1.51. The owner of a $200,000 home would pay an additional $96 in taxes per year and the owner of a $300,000 home would pay $144.

Farmington Supervisor Art Seyfert said regrinding one mile of road and coating it twice with blacktop today costs $150,000 when seven years ago the bill was $65,000. State aid in that same period has gone down.

A close vote at Farmington's last annual meeting forced the board to hold the binding referendum.

Turnout numbers were up in both towns from September's primary, when the Scott Walker-Tom Neumann race for Republican nominee for governor was the hot item. Kewaskum had 315 voters of 701 cast ballots. Farmington had 909 of 2,200.

Revving up for the Great Race around the World

By Sue Mroz
Statesman Features Correspondent

PLYMOUTH - Plymouth resident Jerry Price, 50, owner of Price Team Racing and president of Collective Knowledge LLC, is the focus of media interviews these days, as he prepares to participate in the adventure of a lifetime -- The Great Race around the World, from New York to Paris.

The Mir Corporation, headquartered in Seattle, Wash., is organizing the 63-day event, which will encompass 23,500 miles through 12 countries -- the United States, China, Kazakhstan, Russia, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Germany, Czech Republic, Switzerland and France.

"The Great Race around the World is a rally," Price explained. "The winner is based on the team scoring the highest amount of points. The rally is not based on speed but on accuracy and on being in the exact location, according to the directions given each day of the event."

Competitors will average 200 miles on the road each day. However, they will cover up to 500 miles per day on occasion. "The most difficult part is finishing the race, because it takes a lot of endurance to continue driving for so many days," Price said.

The winner of the race, based on the team scoring the highest amount of points, will receive a significant cash award, of a yet undisclosed amount.

There are two classes of cars in the race -- Schuster and Innovation. The Schuster class is for cars manufactured prior to 1960, such as the Model T and Hudson. The Innovation Class is for flex-fuel vehicles, such as Price's 2008 Corvette convertible, capable of reaching a speed of 200 mph.

His father-in-law Richard Goshert, Warsaw, Ind., and Ed Gaven, a racing partner of Price's and Yuba City, CA. resident, will be Price's navigators -- Goshert for the first part of the race and Gaven, for the second half.

Twenty-six teams of two people each will compete in the race, beginning at Times Square in New York on April 14, 2011. On the route here in the United States, competitors will travel from New York to Chicago, St. Louis, Wichita, Dallas, Arizona, Las Vegas and end up in Los Angeles.

On April 25 at Long Beach, "Our vehicles will be loaded onto a ship that will transport them to Beijing, China," Price said. "The contestants in the race will return home at that time."

The ship is slated to arrive at Beijing May 21, and from then until May 24, the ship's contents will be involved in clearing customs.

The race will then continue in Beijing as of May 24. It concludes at the Eiffel Tower in France on July 11.

Price's wife Theresa will join him in France. She will also follow him with a group of her friends on the trek from New York to Chicago.

"During the race from New York to Los Angeles, several members of antique car clubs and Harley clubs will follow along," Price said. "Some Chinese and Russian residents will follow too with their car clubs."

The eight U.S. teams in the race will hold a Finish Party on Sunday, Sept. 4, beginning at 11 a.m. at the Safe House in downtown Milwaukee.

Price will drive his white Corvette with a black convertible top -- a flex-fueled car, able to run on six types of fuel -- propane, butane, methane, ethanol, gasoline and alcohol. While he is in Russia, he will use vodka to fuel his car. "The Safe House supplied 300 gallons of Smirnoff vodka. I asked them if we had to burn it, he said, with a broad smile.

In preparation for the race, Price had some modifications performed on his vehicle. A high-performance, fresh-air cleaner system was installed. Also, "Dick Binder, an auto technician at Cal & Gus Motors in Elkhart Lake, donated his time to install a high-performance, dual-exhaust system on my car," he said.

"My car increased 20 percent in performance with the modifications. It gets more miles per gallon now and is cleaner-burning."

Major sponsors for Price's vehicle, among others, are: Alliance Energy Services, North Kansas City, Mo.; Orion Energy Systems, Plymouth and Manitowoc; Safe House, Milwaukee; Lake Street Café, Elkhart Lake; Larry's Good Times Inn, Kiel; Larry's Shooters, Fond du Lac; Mueller's Sales & Service Inc., Random Lake; Theel Auto, Elkhart Lake; Quic Qui Oc Golf Course, Elkhart Lake; Concept Works, Elkhart Lake; BC Signs Manitowoc and Amy's Apparel, Manitowoc.

"I have been able to get local businesses involved to produce products for the Great Race around the World," Price said.

For example, Concept Works employees constructed the acrylic display signs that tell the story of the 1908 Great Auto Race, which next year's race will commemorate. The signs will be displayed at various locations throughout the nation within the coming year.

Amy's Apparel is handling the embroidery and selling the apparel for the Great Race around the World. Also, BC Signs is providing logos for all of the cars in the race and updated the logos on Price's car.

The original Great Auto Race of 1908, sponsored by the New York Times and La Martin, a Paris-based newspaper, covered 22,000 miles through four countries in 169 days.

"It still blows me away that 250,000 people were in Times Square in 1908 to watch the cars leave," Price said.

Six teams entered the 1908 competition, with four cars finishing the race. The late George Schuster, Sr. of Buffalo, N.Y. won the race with his American Thomas Flyer, manufactured by the E.R. Thomas Motor Co. of Buffalo. That vehicle is now ranked as one of the top 10 most important in history and is on display at a Las Vegas museum.

Schuster's great-grandson Jeff Mahl is working with the World Race Organization in laying out plans for next year's race. "The sister car of the 1907 Thomas Flyer car that won the 1908 race will be in next year's race," Price said.

He added that last month Schuster was inducted into the Automotive Hall of Fame, located in Dearborn, MI. Mahl was present to accept the honor, on behalf of Schuster. And Price's car was on display for a couple of days at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn during that time.

"I was very honored to be there and to have my car on display," Price said. "My car was the only one of those entered in the 2011 race to be represented."

Price noted that William Chapin, president of the Automotive Hall of Fame, suggested that Price place his car in the Henry Ford Museum after the 2011 race. "I'm not sure about that yet," Price said.

The Great Race around the World was originally slated for 2008. However, it had to be postponed after the Chinese government revoked travel permits for foreigners traveling throughout the country, following demonstrations in Tibet, related to the Olympic Torch Run.

Then, an earthquake that same year destroyed one of the roads on the China circuit that was to be used in the race. That road has since been replaced. Meanwhile, race organizers had hoped to sponsor the race this year but found that coordinating the details among the various media outlets that will be involved with reporting the race is a monumental task.

"It was a blessing that the race was postponed, as this now gives us more time to organize," Price said.

Regarding the media coverage during the race, live cameras will be placed in four of the contestants' cars, including Price's. He will then be interviewed on various TV networks each evening.

Viewers will see much of the race on TV at ESPN, FOX, Comcast and CNN. Also, Price's website and the World Race website (listed at the end of this article) will have updates about details of the Great Race around the World.

Price will be making presentations pertinent to the 2011 race on Dec. 11 at the Explorers' Club in New York City and for the Manhattan Automobile Association.

He is currently completing final details for the race. "Price Team Racing has had more than 250 interviews during the past year from media around the world," he said.

WES second graders visit Pioneer Village

Wayne Elementary School second graders enjoyed a beautiful fall day at Pioneer Village in Ozaukee County on Wed. Oct. 6. They saw how children lived more than 100 years ago in Wisconsin and had lessons in the one room school house. They also helped out with chores like getting firewood, planting corn, carrying water, and churning butter. They ended the day by visiting the Trading Post and learned how the men voted for president.

Moraine Park sustainability trailer accelerates green learning in the region

Moraine Park Technical College is paving the way for environmental education in the region through the use of its sustainability trailer. Making stops so far at Dodge and Horicon high schools and Waupun Area middle and high schools, the 27-foot classroom on wheels is making students aware of the importance of going green giving them a glimpse of environmental careers they can pursue following graduation.

"There are endless possibilities in the sustainable energy industry and Moraine Park is committed to making students aware of their options through this mobile classroom," said Erin Wierenga, recruitment specialist for the College.

Moraine Park acquired the trailer thanks to a WIRED energy grant that provided the college with resources to train area high school teachers in sustainable energy concepts.

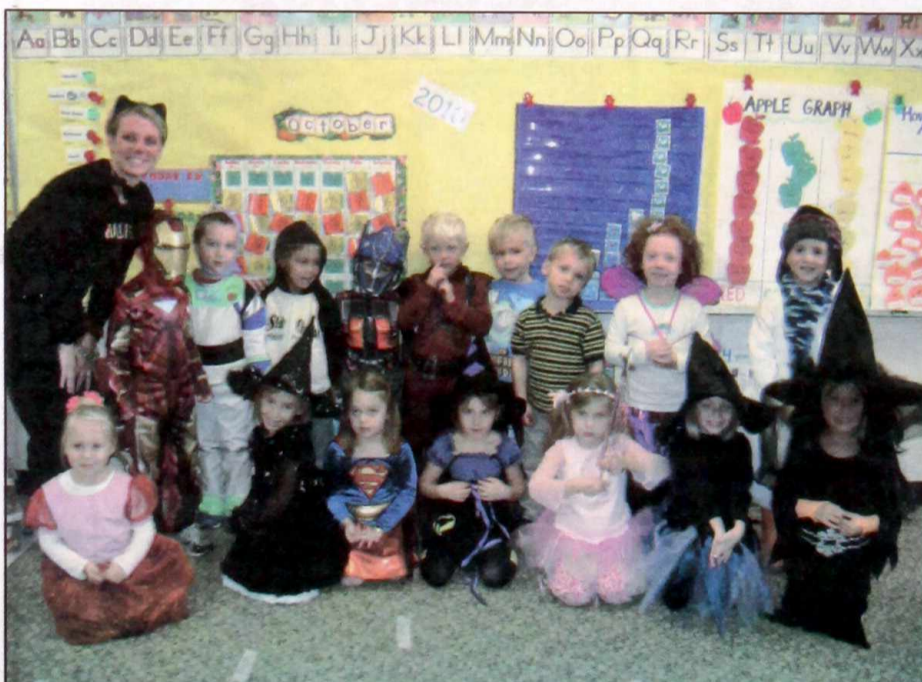

Andrew Brault, science and math teacher at Horicon High School, had just finished teaching his students a unit on energy when the trailer rolled in. "The trailer reinforced class discussions on renewable energy and demonstrated current efforts on using renewable energy," Brault said.

Wierenga said the trailer has been well received by surrounding areas to help provide green initiative awareness not only to students but to whole communities as well. Moraine Park is continuing to do its part in supporting sustainability by implementing the use of Green Seal certified products on campus and facilitating the use of reusable mugs in the cafeteria. Most recently, Moraine Park constructed an addition to the Beaver Dam campus using LEED certified principles. Moraine Park is also reducing college-wide paper use, encouraging motorcycle and bicycle commuting through improved parking options and integrating green practices into many of its classes.

For more information on the sustainability trailer, contact Matthew Hurtienne, Moraine Park dean of information technology, at (920) 887-1441 or mhurtienne@morainepark.edu

Family Fun Night successful for Little Folks

The Little Folks and their families watch magician Rick Allen during the annual Family Fun Night event.

Submitted photo

The Little Folks School House recently hosted their fourth annual Family Fun Night. The event took place at the child care facility with 197 parents and children in attendance. Pizza and home-baked desserts were served. Parents were invited to view artwork done by the children which was displayed throughout the center. There was also a book fair, face painting, and door prizes. Little Folks invited the "Build-A-Buddy" experience which is similar to the Build-A-Bear store in malls. The children were able to chose their favorite animal, make a wish upon a star and place it deep inside before stuffing.

Once that was done, they could choose an outfit. The main attraction of the evening was a magic show performed by Rick Allen Productions. Rick invited audience participation as he performed his magic tricks and illusions. The children were especially excited when he produced a live rabbit, a live bird, and levitated a child.

Dodie Sargent, owner of the Little Folks School House was very pleased with the success of Family Fun Night. It provided an opportunity for parents to get to know other parents, mingle with their child's caregivers, and also for parents to see their children interact with their everyday playmates. All staff that attended had their names entered in a drawing for a $100 bill which was won by Mandi Forbes.

Anyone interested in enrolling their child at The Little Folks School House should call Dodie or Jennifer at 626-4023. Little Folks is a great place to be!

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you help me see everything and you who show me the way to reach my goal and ideal. you who give me the Divine gift to forgive, and forget the wrong that is done to me. You who know my innermost thoughts and desires, I want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory, Amen. Thank you for your love for me and my loved ones. You must pray this prayer three consecutive days without asking your wish. After the third day your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it might be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted.

IN MEMORY

Ode to EILEEN KLEIN on November 4th.

10 years ago, she left this earth 43 years ago I came to her in birth.

Cancer came and then it went It returned again from where it was sent

This time it was enough to take her from us

Despite her sufferings, she wasn't one to fuss.

Lived a great life beside her husband, Don.

She held down the house, three kids and carried on.

Eileen traveled down south and out to the west.

Hunted beside her hubby in a blaze orange vest. She loved the outdoors, and a simple easy life Don still has a photo shrine of his loving wife. To live without one's loved one is sorrow in itself We dust off the memories we've placed on the shelf. We go day by day with them on our mind Some things I know I've lost, that mom's helped me find. She's my angel, my voice of reason. That little conscience that knows no season. The photo of her, that I've placed on my mirror Stares back and smiles and shows no fear I wish she could come to concerts and scouts Track meets for grandkids, thats what she was about. Never missed important events - always there on time Not a single mountain she wouldn't try to climb. Life...it continues, but mom's at my side A quiet presence in which I can confide. Thank you, God, for the gift of her smile. In the end, those memories, make it worthwhile. We'll see you, mom, someday up there. With eternity to catch up we've got lots to share!

Love me, Sandy

The fire department was called to the L. Rosenheimer Mill on Second Street last Friday afternoon when a dust collector exploded and the dust started to burn. The explosion blew the large top of the dust collector from the roof into the drive in front of the mill. Fortunately no one was occupying the spot where it landed. The blaze had been put out with a fire extinguisher by the time firemen arrived.

Physicians from Kewaskum and West Bend, and a Milwaukee specialist worked Friday night in an effort to save the badly mangled right leg and foot of Donald Desens, 17, Route 1, Allenton, after the youth was injured in a motorcycle/automobile crash on the Kewaskum hill, just south of the village Friday. The accident occurred when the cycle driven by Desens, a Kewaskum High School senior, and a companion riding with him, Mary Yearling, 17, West Bend, were traveling north on Hwy. 45. A West Bend woman collided with the motorcycle at the Johnson trailer court as she was leaving the driveway at the trailer court, turning south onto the highway.

Concrete was poured for the new sidewalk last week on Main Street. The sidewalk is part of a huge street improvement project in Kewaskum, which also includes new storm sewers and catch basins and mercury vapor type street lighting on Main Street, paving and about 29,000 feet or nearly six miles of new curb and gutter on the other streets.

At the Kudek filling station they took a small amount of money that was left in the cash register. They also tried to break into the oil pumps at both places.

Mother Nature has made a fresh crop of pumpkins this year, so you can enjoy plenty of pumpkin this season in your favorite traditional recipes.

FdL Snowmobile Clubs spend $103,186 on trail grooming and donations

There are 14 snowmobile clubs that belong to the Fond du lac County Snowmobile Association. The member clubs spent over $103,000 on snowmobile trails, charities, and gifts to the community during the 2009/2010 season.

Each club provided the association with financial and volunteer hour details from their receipts and volunteer logs. A breakdown for the county indicated $5,553 donated to charities, $3000 to youth groups, and $94,600 spent on trail grooming and trail maintenance.

Club members also contributed over 4800 hours of volunteer time. In addition to the time it takes to set-up and take-down trails. Groomer operators spend many hours of their own time, keeping our trails in shape. Even more hours are expended on groomer maintenance and repair, especially during periods of persistent heavy snow. The next time you enjoy a day of snowmobiling out on the trails, be sure to thank our land owners for the use of their land and club volunteers for donating their time to keep the trails marked, groomed and safe.

Look for us this fall as we will again be in the fields preparing them for your winter enjoyment. We will mow the grass on the trails, level the un-even plowing on the farmland and mark all trails with trail blazers and directional signs.

Once prepared the clubs wait for snow. Actual grooming does not always start with the first snowfall. Most trails run on private property which requires we have sufficient snow cover before grooming can start.

The first requirement for a good trail is a good base. Some clubs do not open their trails until the base is established. This requires several inches of hard packed snow. When the base is tore up by snowmobilers who use the trail before it is ready, they delay having good trail conditions that much longer.

The Fond du Lac County Snowmobile Association reserves the right to shut down the trail system where it is learned that snowmobilers are not staying on the marked trail.

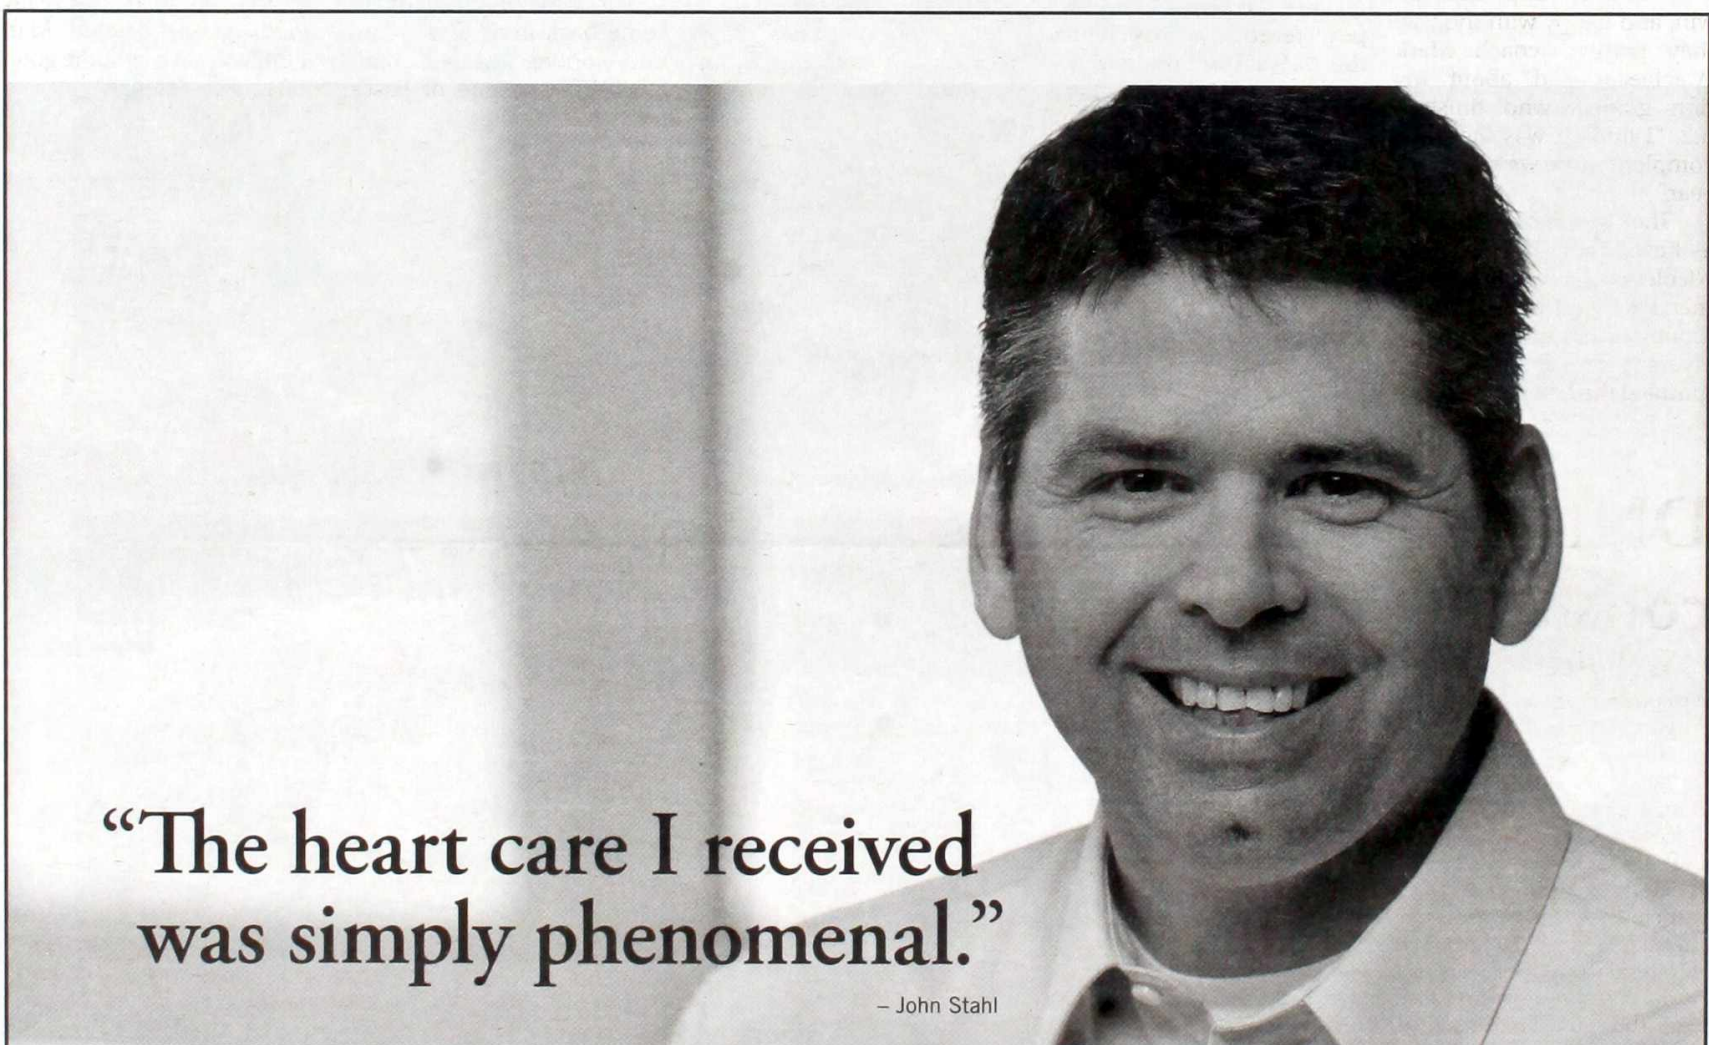

All snowmobilers should keep their eyes open for those riding off the trail and either ask the violators to stay on the trail or report them to local officials, The future of our sport requires all of us to educate others on the privilege, not the right to use the trails.

Unfortunately, Mother Nature and the lack of sufficient trail funding make trail maintenance an uphill battle. A club must balance spending available funding early in the season with the risk of running out of money at the end of the season. Once available funding runs out, the club must come up with the money from fund raising events within their club to continue trail maintenance and grooming for the balance of the season.

You can help in a significant way by supporting club fund raising events and or joining a club. In fact, you should consider joining or at least donating to any club whose trails you ride on regularly.

If you are a snowmobiler and would like to join a club to help with the trail system you enjoy riding on, we invite you to join a local club in the area. To find a club near you please visit our Web-Site at www.fdlssnowmobileassn.com or you can call our local AWSC Director, Ray Sippel at 920-533-4279.

“The heart care I received was simply phenomenal.”

– John Stahl

When John Stahl of Kewaskum, 47, began having occasional chest pains, he couldn't believe he might have a heart problem. "I've always been an athlete and an avid sportsman," John says. "I ride my bike and do a lot of walking. There's no way I could have a heart problem."

But in early August, after a late-night visit to the Emergency Care Center at Froedtert Health St. Joseph's Hospital and subsequent testing, John was diagnosed with coronary heart disease and referred to Michael Cinquegrani, MD, Medical College of Wisconsin cardiologist at the Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin Specialty Clinics at St. Joseph's Hospital. Dr. Cinquegrani recommended that John undergo additional tests, which led to a stent placement procedure at the Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin cardiac catheterization lab.

Only a few weeks later, John was feeling great and again enjoying his favorite outdoor activities. "If it hadn't been for Dr. Cinquegrani, I would never have survived," says John. "I'm thanking God for the care I received. Everybody, from start to finish was great. The heart care I received was simply phenomenal."

Gridiron season comes to a close; fifth graders end up with best record

By Judy Harlow

Staying away from turnovers helped the fifth and seventh grade Gridiron Club football teams put the finishing touches on successful seasons.

The "rookie" Indians put on quite an offensive show, winning 38-12 over Nicolet in a game played on the Town of Trenton Field. Before that, the Kewaskum 7th grade posted a 20-8 win over host Brookfield East.

"We were happy with the win, and happy with the way they played," coach Mark Walcheske said about his fifth graders who finished 6-2. "I think it was the most complete game we played all year."

The fireworks started early as Kewaskum's defense held Nicolet on its opening drive, then Patrick Krier gathered in a punt and returned it to the Flyers' 9-yard line where he fumbled the ball but was able to recover it.

Two plays later, QB Gabe Christensen snuck into the end zone for the first of his two scores in the game.

After recovering a squib kick, Kewaskum put together a 9-play drive capped by Declyn Gurrath's 19-yard TD run.

Cole Surprenant added a 45-yard score on a double reverse, and Krier ran 37 yards to the end zone for a 26-12 halftime lead.

Nicolet had the ball for just four plays in the third quarter. Following a nice punt return by Noah Bentz, the Kewaskum quarterback swept around the end for a 17-yard run, and Surprenant added a touchdown in the closing minute.

Cade Peterson caught a pass for a PAT, while Logan Kertscher and Brent Goeden had tackles for losses, while Dan Kreis battled down a pass.

The seventh graders started the game with a bang, scoring on their first drive with Josh Baker going the final 4 yards.

After that, the game settled into a defensive struggle, according to coach Randy Schlice, who said the score was 6-0 at half, then the Indians widened the gap with a quick score to open the third quarter.

"Baker went 65 yards on the first play," Schlice said, reporting Charlie Witek had two interceptions, one which he returned to the East 1, with Baker going in from there.

Miguel Gonzales also picked off a pass, and Dylan Krezinski had a fumble recovery.

"The kids wanted this game bad. They wanted to go out as winners," Schlice said. "This is a good group of kids. They learned what it takes to move from one grade level to the next."

The eighth graders (3-5) led 14-12 over East at half but lost 30-14.

Kewaskum recovered a fumbled punt early in the game and turned it into six points when Matthew Elbe scored from the 4. Their other TD came on a 60-yard Zach Smith run.

What turned the game around, according to coach Rollie Maul, was when an East player stripped the ball from a Kewaskum back and run 65 yards with it for a TD.

Then Kewaskum had a bad snap on a punt, and the hosts scored again.

"It was pretty hard to come back from that," Maul said, noting Garrett Butch blocked every one of East's PAT tries.

Maul cited Kenny Ellis for "a couple nice runs," and indicated Hunter Demmon performed well in his first start at quarterback.

"It was a tough way to end the season," coach Joel Tietz said about the sixth graders' (3-4-1) 20-0 loss to Brookfield East. "They capitalized on our mistakes," which included three fumbles and a fumble on a kickoff.

The Indians were only down 6-0 at the break but could not get any offense going after the break.

Tietz said no one really stood out, but he noted "Matt Shoppach gave us some good minutes on defense."

DNR reminds hunters to consider venison donation

MADISON - The Wisconsin Venison Donation Program and its affiliates, Hunt for the Hungry and Target Hunger along with more than 140 participating meat processors, are ready to accept and distribute extra venison donated by hunters. A list of participating meat processors is available on the Department of Natural Resources website.

In this, the program's 11th year, there are participating meat processors in 65 of Wisconsin's 72 counties. In 10 years, hunters have donated more than 73,000 deer providing 3.3 million pounds of venison to food pantries across the state.

"Hunters have been generous providers in this program," said Laurie Fike, venison program coordinator, "but it has been the volunteers who have put a shoulder to the wheel and accomplished the huge job of distributing the product to the pantries, making it available to families needing some food assistance."

In the southern Wisconsin CWD management zone, Target Hunger has taken on the task of making the program work smoothly. It involves a partnership of community action groups including Southwest Community Action Program (Dodgeville), Community Action, Inc., Janesville, Community Action Coalition for South Central Wisconsin, Madison, and Central Wisconsin Community Action Coalition, Wisconsin Dells. Hunt for the Hungry operates the program in the Green Bay area.

Additionally, U.S. Department of Agriculture - Wildlife Services staff help administer the program in 49 counties.

How to donate

For hunters, the process for donating a deer hasn't changed. There is no charge to the hunter except for transporting the deer. There only a few simple steps:

- * Field dress the deer and register it at a Wisconsin DNR registration station prior to donating the deer.

- * Call First! Contact one of the participating processors before dropping the deer off to verify the processor has space to accept your deer.

- * Deer legally harvested outside the CWD management zone are registered with a silver metal tag. These deer can be dropped off at a participating processor by Jan. 10, 2011.

- * Deer harvested in the CWD management zone are registered with a red metal tag. Red-tagged deer can only be donated to a processor participating in the Target Hunger program. Donated red-tagged deer are tested for CWD and only deer that test negative will go out to pantries.

- * Donate the entire deer to receive the processing for free. (Head and/or antlers may be removed for mounting.)

- * When dropping a deer off at a processor, sign the simple log sheet indicating your desire to donate the deer and the donated deer will be processed and the venison will be distributed to charitable organizations to help feed Wisconsin's needy.

KEWASKUM- Of all things for a playoff game to come down to this season, Kewaskum's field goal team wouldn't be tops on the Indians' list.

Kewaskum had one extra point blocked already last Saturday against Luxemburg-Casco and had two blocked two games before.

But there the Indians were, down 13-12 early in the fourth quarter on the Spartans' 16 yard line. A pass on third and three fell incomplete.

Coach Jason Piittmann made his decision.

"I just said 'Field goal, go.'"

Out trotted sophomore Hunter Flanders, who has plenty of leg. The key was if the line could hold up long enough. Kewaskum's blocked extra points sometimes look like jailbreaks with any number of defenders coming through to get a hand on the kick.

This time, when they needed it most, the Indians held up.

Brad Boegel snapped the ball, Sam Olla held it and Flanders took care of the rest, sending the 33-yard kick sailing through the uprights with yards to spare.

Kewaskum was up, 15-13, with 11:06 to play. The Indians and their fans went cautiously crazy, knowing there was plenty of football left.

"He called field goal and I was warming up and I just went out there and kicked the ball so I did my job," Flanders said.

"We blocked for our life there," Boegel said. "I snapped the ball and I looked up and I seen it go through and it felt real good. I started freaking out."

Flanders said he kept a clear head while warming up on the sidelines waiting for his chance.

The slight wind in his face didn't matter.

Piittmann had more than urged his special teams to be special at halftime.

"I told the kids at halftime I've got to be able to have confidence that we're going to be able to protect and get the ball off. I said it might come down to it, and sure enough it did," Piittmann said. "We got enough protection and he booted it. He hit it well."

It was the only points Kewaskum would score in the second half and all it would need. The defense took care of the rest.

Kewaskum held on and now moves on for a rematch at West De Pere at 1 p.m. Saturday. Last year, West De Pere knocked out the Indians, 24-21, on a field goal on the last play of the game.

Last Saturday, the Indians' defense didn't allow the Spartans to get close enough to try a winning field goal.

The defense forced a three-and-out after the field goal, and the offense drove 18 yards to the Spartans' 42 before the drive stalled. A Mike Schladweiler punt had the Spartans starting at their own nine with 7:25 to go.

The Spartans began to move, ever so slowly. They converted a third and inches on a quarterback sneak and a fourth and one on the same play. A nine-yard pass on a third and seven moved the chains again, advancing to their own 44.

It looked to be a slow, painful death for either team at that point.

Bo Seibel drove one nail in the coffin on the next play.

A pitch left was mishandled and the ball fell to the ground. Seibel, who leads the defense in fumble recoveries, followed in an instant. He leaped onto the ball and smothered it like it was the last piece of Halloween candy.

"They were slowly getting first downs. I guess I was in the right spot at the right time and jumped on it," he said. "I read the play and I followed my read and I saw it on the ground and just jumped on it."

Defensive lineman Matt Ballard couldn't describe his emotions once he knew the Indians had the ball back.

"Just thank God. You can't even explain the feeling," he said.

With 3:08 to go, Kewaskum had the lead and the ball back. The Spartans had one timeout left, which they used after Seibel gained one yard plowing up the middle.

Speedy Eric Perkins, with more than 1,200 yards rushing on the season, followed with an electrifying 16-yard burst that gave Kewaskum a first down. Seibel followed with a seven-yard blast, and later a three-yard haul up the gut for Kewaskum's final first down as its sideline and fans exploded in jubilation, knowing the game was over.

The Indians took three kneel downs from there. They survived. The Spartans finished the season 7-4. Kewaskum moved to 10-1.

The winning, 56-yard drive started in the third quarter on Kewaskum's 28. Perkins had 25 yards rushing on the drive, and the Indians got help by a pass interference penalty.

"They're a pretty stout defense, pretty strong against the run. They were slanting hard," said Kewaskum quarterback Cody Nuernberg. "Definitely a battle that got won with the line of scrimmage, though, because our offensive line made pushes on them when we needed to."

The Indians, accustomed to eclipsing racking up well more than 200 yards rushing, finished with 118 yards to the Spartans'

94. Neither defense let any runners get going. Kewaskum outgained the Spartans overall, 245-203.

The hitting was harder. The pads popping was a little louder than during the regular season. Both teams fought for every inch they could get. It was playoff football.

Piittmann threw early and often, trying to use the pass to set up the run. It worked so well Kewaskum's two touchdowns came on monster pass plays.

"We thought we were going to have to loosen them up with the pass. I think it helped a little bit," Piittmann said. "But we've got to be able to be more consistent and hopefully to be able to run and pass when we want to instead of being forced into it."

Down 7-0 late in the first quarter, the Indians drove inside the Spartans' 40, but a holding call moved the ball back to their own 46. A four-yard gain was followed by an illegal substitution penalty that moved the ball back to the 45. It was second and 22 and things weren't looking good.

It all changed in one play. Nuernberg hit Perkins on a pass across the middle and the junior tailback did the rest. Perkins shook off one tackle, turned toward the end zone and was never caught.

"We saw that the middle was wide open and Perkins made a little gesture to me that he was going to go across the middle so I just led him across the middle and he went through one tackle and sprinted to the end zone. He's so fast," Nuernberg said.

The extra point was blocked but Kewaskum was back in the game, down 7-6.

On the ensuing possession, linebacker Ryan Ogi gave the Indians the ball back deep in the Spartans' territory. Ogi read a screen pass and made a play.

"We were actually reading that play all week. We saw it on film. Coach told me I should get there I tried to deflect it landed in my hands," he said.

The Indians set up shop at the Spartans' 25. Perkins ran for three yards, then got caught for a one-yard loss. On third down, Nuernberg scrambled and lost three more yards.

On fourth down, Nuernberg lofted a bomb to Olla on a fly pattern. The junior caught the ball in stride in the end zone.

"I was getting pressure a little bit. They were blitzing a lot. I seen him going deep so I just launched it up and he made a play," Nuernberg said.

A two-point conversion pass was deflected out of Ogi's reach, but in less than three minutes, Kewaskum scored two touchdowns and took a 12-7 lead.

The Spartans later drove to Kewaskum's 31, but on third down, Kenny Gigstead sacked quarterback Calvin Falk, forcing a punt. Kewaskum got the ball at its own three and moved to the nine.

The Spartans got the ball back on Kewaskum's 30 and went to work. A pass and run moved the ball to the nine, and Zeke Peters hit wide open Taylor Kirchman on a halfback option for a touchdown.

Up 13-12, the Spartans went for two. They tried a sweep right, a play Chad Phillips scored on in the first quarter. This time, the Indians defense stopped him short in what turned out to be a game-changing play. Had the Spartans converted, Flanders' field goal would have only tied the game.

The Indians botched a shotgun snap on the next possession, and with 1:44 to go, the Spartans had the ball on the Kewaskum 41.

They looked to strike early. Falk lofted a bomb down the left side but overthrew his receiver. All-conference cornerback T.J. Shlice, who defended two passes in the end zone to preserve a win at New Holstein in the regular season finale, was right behind his man and caught the ball in stride.

Kewaskum ran out the clock and entered halftime down one.

After another inspiring halftime speech, the defense rose to the occasion in the second half, and the offense did just enough, which has become Kewaskum's habit this season.

"I don't know what I say but the kids are responding. I don't know if it's a matter of fact that they need that little wakeup call," Piittmann said. "Maybe I should bring them in three hours early and play two quarters before we take the field, I don't know."

Now, it's on to undefeated no. 1 seed West De Pere (11-0), which beat Seymour, 28-21, on Saturday. Kewaskum enters at 10-1 as a no. 2 seed. This is the sixth straight season Kewaskum has reached a level 3 playoff game.
