County radio project nearly complete, $2 million under budget

Road repairs voted down in T. Kewaskum

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

TOWN OF KEWASKUM - The Town Board on Monday voted against borrowing $200,000 for road repairs despite November's advisory referendum passing.

Voters approved the referendum, 271-255, but since it was non-binding the Town Board has final say on whether or not to go ahead with the borrowing. Voter turnout was 75 percent as 526 of the 701 voters cast ballots.

Town Chairman Ellis Kahn noted the "slim majority" by which the referendum passed.

"I don't think that was a substantial majority," said Supervisor Allen Hron.

Supervisor Daniel Schmidt didn't attend the meeting but sent written comments saying he agrees roads need work but he does not support the referendum because he doesn't want to see taxes raised.

At 5 percent interest, borrowing $200,000 would have raised taxes $68.40 on a $200,000 home, said town treasurer Dan Stoffel.

The Town Board had identified upgrading four roads with the referendum money: Highland from Highway H to Highway 28 and Prospect Drive from Badger Road to Ridge Road would both be wedged and seal coated; Kettle Moraine Drive from H to Ridge Road would be seal coated; and Ridge Road from Kettle View to Highland would be wedged and overlaid.

Kewaskum is the second area town to not go ahead with a road referendum project.

The Town of Farmington asked for $200,000 as well, but it wasn't going to borrow the money. Taxes would have covered it. The referendum failed, 1,046 to 500 (67.65 to 32.35 percent). Had it passed, the town would have spent the money as it was a binding referendum and did not require board approval.

Turnout was 70 percent as 1,546 of the 2,200 voters cast ballots.

Washington County Sheriff's Department communications officer Scott Loiacono said the department's new dispatch center is nicely spread out to reduce background noise and has good ergonomics. The center's upgrade was part of the county's $14.6 million project to replace its radio system. The new system, still $2 million under budget, provides the same radios for all law enforcement, fire and public works departments across the county.

Washington County's new multi-million dollar radio system is in the process of being implemented.

The county Highway Department began using the new system on Tuesday. The Sheriff's Department will switch to the new system after that, followed by municipalities' police, fire and public works departments. The entire process is slated to take seven to eight months.

The county budgeted $14.6 million to replace the county's radio system, which was old and covered 75 percent of the county. The new system's 1,500 radios covers 98.75 percent of the county, including inside buildings.

The old system would have needed to be reprogrammed anyway, due to new Federal Communications Commission rules.

The project is still about $2 million under budget, said Washington County Sheriff Dale Schmidt.

That number had been $3 million but the Radio Communications System Committee early this year decided to buy radios for municipalities' public works departments, which ran about $1 million.

As part of the new system, the Sheriff's Department moved and redesigned its dispatch center. Sheriff's Department communications officer Scott Loiacono likes the upgrades for improved efficiency.

Officers are more spread out to cut down on background noise, the room has track lighting, heating under the desks and air conditioning.

"The ergonomics is really good," he said.

Officers are adjusting from using buttons to the new system's touch screen or mouse.

Each of the dispatch centers across the county will now use the same equipment, allowing for one to easily backup another in case of emergencies.

Chain reaction crash kills two on Highway 41

By Andrew Kuehl

TOWN of WAYNE- Two City of Fond du Lac residents were killed as a result of the multiple vehicle accident on Highway 41 north of County Highway D on Wednesday, December 15. The pair represents Washington County's 15th and 16th traffic fatalities of 2010.

Captain Steve Gonwa of the Washington County Sheriff's Department reports the accident occurred at 10:13 a.m. But the sequence of events began with a prior accident near the State Highway 33 intersection at 9:13 a.m.

The first crash was a multi-vehicle accident involving a semi north of Highway 33. Southbound traffic on Highway 41 was backed up approximately four to five miles to an area north of Highway D. Southbound traffic was in the process of being diverted off of Highway 41 and on to Highway D when this fatal accident occurred. Traffic was slowing or stopping in both southbound lanes of Highway 41.

Robert M. White, 62, of Malone, was operating a southbound semi for P F A Systems Inc of Rockdale, IL when he failed to stop for the slowing traffic and made contact with the vehicles. The semi was hauling a tanker containing a hazardous material, ammonium hydroxide.

It was rumored a hillcrest on Highway 41 north of the accident scene was a factor in the crash. Gonwa states it does not appear to have been a factor. "The roadway was in good winter driving condition and visibility was good," he stated.

White first collided with an SUV in the right southbound lane of travel. The operator and lone occupant of that vehicle, was Ronald E. Brien, 57, of Fond du Lac who was killed.

The SUV was pushed forward and struck a minivan in the right lane operated by Annette B. Bath, 52, of Mayville. Lifestar Ambulance transported her from the scene to Aurora Medical Center in Hartford with non-life threatening injuries.

The semi then struck a second SUV in the left southbound lane, operated by Shanna L. Will, 30, of Fond du Lac. This SUV was propelled through the median and overturned, coming to rest on the left northbound lane of Highway 41.

Will was transported from the scene to Froedtert Hospital via Flight For Life with serious injuries. Her passenger, John L. Will, 58, of Fond du Lac was killed.

The semi then struck a third vehicle, a Ford Econoline van, in the left southbound lane. Cathleen M. Merget, 39, of Richfield, was operating that van. Upon striking the van, both the semi and Econoline van crossed through the median, coming to rest on the left northbound lane. The operator of the van was transported to Froedtert Hospital via Flight For Life with serious injuries.

Campbellsport Rescue Squad transported White from the scene to St. Agnes Hospital in Fond du Lac with non-life threatening injuries.

Northbound vehicles were not involved in this accident. The tanker contents did not spill and there were no public health hazards or evacuations. The contents of the tanker were loaded at the scene into another tanker before the semi was removed.

Among the numerous agencies responding to the scene were Kohlsville Fire Department and First Responders, Kewaskum Fire Department and both rescue squads.

Highway 41 between Highways 33 and 28 were closed for approximately 11 hours while the accident scene was managed and the Wisconsin State Patrol assisted the Sheriff's Office with reconstruction.

Fudgy Fig No-Bake Brownie Bites

Fig and Bacon Cheddar Bites

Fudgy Fig No-Bake Brownie Bites

Makes 24 brownies

- 1 package (9 ounces) Famous Chocolate Wafers
- 1 cup stemmed, finely chopped Blue Ribbon® Orchard Choice® or Sun-Maid® Dried California Figs
- 1/2 cup chopped, toasted pecans or walnuts
- 3 tablespoons confectioners' (powdered) sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup half and half
- 1 cup (6 ounces) semisweet or bittersweet chocolate morsels
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Topping:

- 1/2 cup chopped figs or toasted nuts

Line 24 mini muffin pan cups with decorative paper or foil liners (or line an 8-inch square baking pan with foil or plastic wrap, extending up sides); set aside.

Whirl wafers in food processor (or place in sealable plastic bag and crush with rolling pin) to make fine crumbs. Place in large bowl.

Stir in figs, nuts, confectioners' sugar and salt. Pour half and half into microwave-safe bowl and heat on 100% power in microwave oven for 30 seconds or until boiling. (Or bring half and half to a boil in small saucepan over medium-high heat.)

Add chocolate morsels and set aside for 1 minute to soften. Stir until chocolate melts. Stir in vanilla. Pour over fig mixture and stir until blended. While warm, spoon brownie mixture into lined muffin cups or baking pan and press with back of oiled spoon to an even layer. Sprinkle with topping.

Chill 2 hours or until set. If using a square pan, cut into 24 brownies. Store in the refrigerator.

Regal Ware employees support area food pantries

Regal Ware employees Diane Schraufnagel, Jackie Metz, and Margie Fellenz present a check for $1,878.05 plus 469 pounds of food to Luke Piwoni of the Kewaskum Community Food Pantry. Funds and food were collected at Regal Ware's Kewaskum facilities.

Regal Ware employees Marilynn Siebenaler, Kathy Metz, Candy Sarauer, Carol Vetter, Dave Feucht, and Chris Nellessen present a check for $5,069.50 plus 2,410 pounds of food to Roger Liebetrau, Ray Seel, and Bob Fleischman of the Full Shelf Food Pantry. Funds and food were collected at Regal Ware's West Bend facility as part of a two-week food drive.

The combined efforts of employees at Regal Ware Worldwide headquartered in Kewaskum, Wisconsin, resulted in $6,947.55 and 2,879 pounds of food being donated to 2 local food pantries.

Employees were divided into eight "teams" who entered into friendly competition to raise the most funds and collect the most food to support the Full Shelf Food Pantry in West Bend and the Kewaskum Community Food Pantry. Regal Ware owns and operates manufacturing and office facilities in both communities. Teams were encouraged to be creative in their fundraising activities and did so by raffling such items as a gift certificate tree, preferred parking spaces, Green Bay Packer Tickets, and breakfast served by the company's executives. Employees also held chili "dumps", bake sales, hot dog lunches, brat frys, popcorn sales, bake sales, and craft sales during the two-week challenge. According to one employee, "My team might not have 'won' but in my eyes all the teams are winners. We give you our money from our heart and we hope to help others."

In celebration of 100 years of manufacturing in West Bend and Kewaskum, Wisconsin, Regal Ware employees are conducting a variety of activities to celebrate and give back to the communities in which the manufacturing facilities and offices have been located since their founding.

Appreciating the Bounty Before Us in Wisconsin

As I look at my dairy cows each day, I can't help but think that the milk they produce will likely end up as part of someone's dinner this holiday season. Whether it is eaten as cheese, consumed as a beverage or baked into a cookie, it will likely be somewhere on the table and here in Wisconsin we can be thankful for its abundance and affordability.

Whole milk and whipping cream were recently found to be among the most affordable items at a Thanksgiving meal in Wisconsin this year. I'm sure that will continue through Christmas and New Year's. That's pretty good news for family dairy farmers like me around the Dairy State and even better if you happen to add some affordable and delicious cheese to your family meal.

Internationally, even though Wisconsin dairy product exports are up nearly 50 percent this year, other countries will be paying a lot more for the opportunity to consume dairy and other agricultural products. Ireland and Portugal report rising food prices amid troubled economies, and China has entered double-digit food price inflation. Last month, China's food prices jumped 10 percent and 18 staple vegetables more than doubled in price over last year, according to government reports. People are buying up food there and hoarding it fearing more price hikes.

That offers a whole new take on the agricultural bounty we have in our country and the stability we enjoy regarding the cost of our food. It's no secret that in the U.S., we spend the lowest percentage of our disposable income on food compared to others in the world. We are truly blessed. As dairy farmers, we're doing our best to keep up, embracing new technology that allows families like mine to operate a large dairy farm producing the highest quality of milk for a world that is constantly in need of more. I also humbly acknowledge that despite all that we do along with others in agriculture; there remain those who go hungry around the world each day. I pray that will someday change.

This year, no matter what type of meal you sit down to, my hope is that you'll consider where it all comes from and how it is we are so lucky to have this bounty before us.

'Bedroom Farce' cast selected

Musical Masquers, West Bend's oldest community theater group, has cast its upcoming production of the hilarious comedy, Bedroom Farce and is in rehearsal.

Director Jim Mohr is delighted with the cast which is comprised of a great blend of Masquers veterans and newcomers. "We've assembled a great cast of theatre veterans to bring all of this play's silliness to the stage," Mohr noted. Among the cast members, who all hail from West Bend, you'll see the familiar faces of actors who have appeared in many productions throughout the area.

Bedroom Farce is hilarious and one of the most famous and popular plays written by Great Britain's best known contemporary playwright, Alan Ayckbourn. It is a delightfully wacky story of a long night spent in three separate bedrooms, in three separate homes, by four couples. It was a smash in the West End of London and on Broadway, and toured the United States.

Portraying the middle-aged, content and stuck-in-their ways Ernest and Delia are the Hon. Andrew Goring and Catherine Yekenevicz. Goring is a theatre veteran, having taken the stage in dozens of Masquers' productions over several decades, the most recent being Murderers. Yekenevicz is new to the Masquers' stage, but has appeared in productions with other theatre groups throughout southeast Wisconsin.

Andrew Helman and Amanda Gresch portray the young couple Trevor and Susannah whose married life is riddled with juvenile spats and self-indulgent whining. Helman and Gresch are college students who relish their time on the Masquers' stage as Andrew appeared in last year's production of Hello Dolly! and Gresch in this summer's Guys and Dolls.

Nick and Jan are a brutally honest but humorous couple in the show. Well-known actor Jeff Brigham, who has appeared in many of the Masquers' productions over the course of the last seven years, appears as the always aching Nick. Halie Becker, a newer member of the Masquers' family, takes on the role of the strong and resilient Jan.

Jason Rose and Jane Kosednar portray the syrupy in love Malcolm and Kate. Rose, another southeastern Wisconsin stage veteran who most recently appeared in Masquers' production of Foxfire, plays the part of the happy-go-lucky Malcolm. Kosednar, who has graced stages throughout Washington County, is the bubbly Kate.

Bedroom Farce will be staged at the UWWC theatre, 400 University Drive, West Bend, on December 31, January 6, 7, 8. All performances will begin at 7:30 P.M. Tickets are priced at $12.00 for all January shows and $16 for New Year's Eve, which features a hors d'oeuvres buffet. Tickets are available at all West Bend branches of M & I Bank and on line at www.musicalmasquers.org or at the box office. For information about group rates, please call 262/247-6828.

KHS students donate to Friends of Abused Families

Ms. Hofeltz and Mrs. LaRonge's junior class advisory held a series of four bake sales to raise money for Friends of Abused Families. It started with a discussion on the increase in domestic abuse since the economy shifted. One of the concerns that came up was the cut in funding to organizations that help domestic abuse victims. The teachers asked the students if they wanted to do something and they said yes. They came up with the bake sale idea, supplied all of the baked goods, and ran the sale. In the end, they raised $338.00 for Friends of Abused Families. A representative from Friends of Abused Family was welcomed by the class and gave a presentation on their services and dating violence. It ended with a check presentation.

Moraine Park's new student services addition - green aesthetic, functional

A new 6,900-square-foot addition at Moraine Park Technical College's Beaver Dam campus boasts more than functionality and aesthetics. The new student services center is among the College's "greenest" buildings - the first to be designed and constructed for sustainability using Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Silver guidelines.

LEED, developed by the non-profit U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC), provides a concise framework for identifying and implementing practical and measurable green building design, construction, operations and maintenance solutions. In doing so, LEED focuses on five areas of improved performance: sustainable sites, water efficiency, energy and atmosphere, materials and resources, indoor environmental quality and innovation and design process. There are multiple levels of LEED certification for a variety of different projects, including Certified, Silver, Gold, or Platinum.

The $1.1 million addition, which garnered 50 points to align with LEED Silver criteria, features recycled blue jeans for insulation; a terrazzo floor to last the lifetime of the building; a super efficient HVAC and energy-recovery system; highly efficient lighting with sensors for automatic shut-off; abundant natural lighting; exterior windows complete with sun shades; and wooden doors featuring recycled straw cores, a renewable agrifiber product. In addition to housing student services, administrative offices, a reception area, counselor offices and areas for security, it creates a welcoming entrance for students, staff and community members, according to Tim Flood, associate director-facilities. Additionally, its design is sympathetic to the environment.

Outside, the building construction disturbed as small an area as possible. "We created a retention pond for containing storm water that only disturbed a 26-foot area, then planted it with prairie grasses to eliminate mowing," said Flood. "We also went with low-water plantings in the front of the building."

All of this, said Flood, is to support sustainability. With that in mind, the new parking lot, which now includes 169 slots, contains space reserved for a high-efficiency vehicle. The existing south lot also identifies additional parking for motorcycles and bicycles. Also during construction, all required materials consisted of low or zero volatile organic compounds - including sealants and paints - and were obtained from within a 500-mile radius. "Because Moraine Park relied on materials within 500 miles, the associated energy used to transport them to our site was considerably reduced," said Flood. "Transporting the items required less gasoline and produced fewer engine emissions - a plus for the environment."

Key to the project was Fitchburg-based Tri North Builders - a leader in developing buildings to LEED criteria. "We've invested heavily in training product managers and staff in LEED since it became the industry standard to embrace LEED buildings," said contractor Joel Stancer. "All of our product managers are LEED accredited."

It turns out, according to USGBC, that buildings in the United States are responsible for 39 percent of carbon dioxide emissions, 40 percent of energy consumption, and 13 percent of water consumption per year.

Via the new student services addition, Moraine Park is working to do its part to improve those numbers. "Functionally," said Flood, "the building could not be better. It provides everything in one stop for students. It is also very attractive."

And that's important, agreed Stancer. "It's got curb appeal. It's attractive and friendly and it draws people in," he said. "Inside, it's spacious for using equipment and mingling."

In the end, 93 percent of the building's construction waste was recycled - yet another boon to the environment.

A golf course will be opened in Kewaskum by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert "Bud" Korth of this village. Work on the course already is well along and it is expected to be ready for play by late next summer. The course is being laid out at the southeast village limits, directly east of the village park, on the Korth's land, formerly known as the K.A. Honeck, Sr. farm. It will be a nine hole course to begin with but Mr. and Mrs. Korth own sufficient land to expand it into 18-hole links, which they intend to do in the near future. The initial nine-hole course will cover an 85 acre plot, of land owned by the Korths. The second nine would be laid out on 80 acres south of this property, which Korth purchased from Jim Koenen several years ago. The owners of the course have selected the name "Hon-E-Kor" for the course. It will be a public course, which will include the construction of a spacious clubhouse on the northwest corner of the links, where the cattle barn now stands on the farm. The clubhouse will consist of a large barroom, lockers, shower room, recreation or gathering room and a patio on the east side.

Fellow football players of the Kewaskum High School football squad chose Konstantyn Sadownikow to reign as king at homecoming festivities. Kons chose Jolene Miller as his queen. The queen will be crowned preceding the grand march at the dance following the game with Random Lake on October 28. The queen's court consists of Naomi Engelleiter and John Boegel, Joanne Schmidt and Larry Gundrum, Judy Fellenz and William Koepke, Virginia Campbell and Terry Theusch, Dolores Prost and Robert Schneider, and Ingrid Jorgensen and David Rohlinger.

A large crowd was on hand for the Lawn Social and Nickel Bingo party sponsored by the members of the St. Theresa Sodality of Holy Trinity Church on Wednesday evening on the parish school grounds. Delicious and appetizing cakes were on sale at a nickel apiece, as were ice cream and lemonade. Chairs and tables adorned with flowers were arranged under the trees of the grounds and the setting reminded one of a summer night's garden party, with the full moon adding a colorful effect.

Six members of the Kewaskum 4-H Club will take part in the Home Economics and Agricultural Demonstrations contests at West Bend today. The winners of the contests, of which entrants are from all over Washington County, will represent the county at the state fair August 24 to 31. The Kewaskum representatives are Violet Eberle and Kathleen Schaefer, subject, "Griddlecakes;" Dolores Mae Stoffel and Patti Brauchle, subject, "Corn Bread," and Ruth Runte and Evelyn Weddig, subject, "Griddlecakes."

"Miss Wisconsin" will be feted at "Wisconsin Day" August 22, at the California-Pacific exposition in San Diego, where she will be met by some 2,000 California Wisconsinites, uniformed marines, a flower covered ricksha, and Carrie Jacobs Bond, noted composer from this state. A trip to Tijuana, Mexico, is also part of the celebration arranged for her. Miss Strachota is very well known in this community, and is a sister of Mrs. Alois Wieter of this village.

Bob enjoyed his cabin in Crivitz, going to various casinos, hunting, fishing, gardening, the Packers and was a member of Mosse Lodge #1398.

Bob is survived by his loving wife of 40 years, Rosie; his beloved son, Chris; his brother, Tom (Janet) Spartz and his twin sister, Betty (John) Arndt. ## ST. ANTHONY SAINT OF MIRACLES

O Holy St. Anthony, reach down from heaven and take hold of my hand.

Assure me that I am not alone. You are known to possess miraculous powers and to be ever ready to speak for those in trouble.

Loving and Gentle St. Anthony, reach down from heaven I implore you and assist me in my hour of need. Obtain for me (mention your request here).

Dearest St. Anthony, reach down from heaven and guide me with thy strength. Plead for me in my needs. And teach me to be humbly thankful as you were for all the bountiful blessings I am to receive. Amen.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, You who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my ideal, you who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all the instances of my life, I in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you, no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love toward me and my loved ones.

Pray this three consecutive days. After the third day your favor will be granted no matter how difficult it may be, then promise to publish this dialogue.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Staehler, former residents of St. Michaels. The girl received the name Rose Marie.

On Thursday morning of this week, the Wisconsin Conservation Commission shipped a large number of cans of black bass to this district from the hatchery at Wild Rose, to be planted in surrounding lakes. The fish were secured through the efforts of R.J. Lake, Washington County game warden, who took a part of the fish and planted them in the southern part of the district in Cedar Lake, Friess Lake, Lake Five and others, while 20 cans were sent to Kewaskum, where, under the supervision of John F. Schaefer, local conservation committee-man, the fish were planted the same day in Round Lake, Forest Lake, Lake Fifteen or Lake Auburn Heights, and Lake Bernice, better known as Schrauth's Pond.

Few and Far....Wet springs leave pheasant numbers down

Although nesting numbers and Wisconsin wild pheasant reproduction has seen consecutive declines in recent years, John Ellis, Dylan and Micah were able to flush one rooster in Rock County last week. No hens were seen.

A bird in the hand might be worth two in the bush. But most pheasant hunters would trade hens and habitat and a stable future any day of the week for a rooster or two in the bag and questions on the horizon. The future of wild bird hunting in Wisconsin, in fact, depends first and foremost on "the bush".

Each fall in Wisconsin, regardless of how many wild pheasants have been stocked over previous years, desirable habitat that provides nesting cover and protection from predation is imperative to the birds' long term survival. Even within the regions where conservation reserve program (CRP) has provided that habitat, cold, wet springs can devastate new broods.

In Wisconsin over the last two decades, wild pheasant populations have flourished where habitat has been established and the "pump primed" with birds holding traits necessary to survive harsh winters and wet springs. Since Blue was a puppy almost 20 years ago, and now with Micah at eight months, we have hunted favorite counties for wild pheasants that include Green, Rock, and Grant in south central and southwest Wisconsin. We have also watched numbers fluctuate from very good to very dismal over those 20 years in large part depending on Mother Nature and the success of the nesting birds in spring.

Some seasons, hunting was so good for wild birds in Wisconsin that there was really no reason to travel to Iowa or South Dakota at all. It was not unusual to trigger 50 flushes a day in certain pockets of Wisconsin with good dogs, and for two hunters to come home with four roosters. The hen, of course, is the lifeblood of the wild bird population and hence protected during the season. We learned also from wildlife biologists that hunters could not biologically harm the population by taking too many roosters. Nature needs very few ringnecks to service all hens in a given area during nesting season.

Personal stories of how my partners and I expanded our hunting range in search of rooster tails are really hunting "tales" too, and reflective of many hunters who must search out terrain first, to hunt in Wisconsin at all. Hunting for spring turkeys in Grant County, for example, we were amazed during seasons past at the number of crowing cocks advertising for partners in the early spring. We remembered that irrefutable evidence of good pheasant numbers and returned to excellent hunting the following falls. Unfortunately, the last several springs the song of the crowing roosters has been nearly non-existent where we hunt Grant County Toms, with pheasant hunting success, or lack thereof, correlating with the minimal spring crowing the following falls.

Green County probably received as much attention with habitat restoration as any Wisconsin county since the 1980s, and bird numbers skyrocketed. When a hunter could find permission on private property, hunting was extraordinarily good. Wonderful and unbroken grassland habitat on a large farm in Rock County posted heavily with "no-hunting" signs called me in anyway to take a risk as a young man with young Blue. A woman working in her farmyard listened to my request to hunt. Each year since, I have returned to hunt and found bird numbers to be outstanding, or like in 2010, quite poor. Regardless of success, each year, "Kay" receives a gift of appreciation for allowing me the privilege of hunting private property.

In 2010, my brother John and I would hunt for four hours to flush one rooster, a bird that would end up in the bag. Much more disappointing than a lack of roosters, we never flushed a hen, a result that over most of Wisconsin seems too common after consecutive wet springs and poor reproduction.

The 2010 Rural Mail Carrier's Pheasant Survey, for the third year in a row and fourth in the last five years, showed a decline in the number of pheasants seen by postal workers. The 2010 decrease was 14 percent from 2009. With the annual survey, according to the DNR website, forms are mailed in early April to postmasters in 32 counties across Wisconsin's pheasant range. Mail carriers then record their route numbers, distance driven, and the number and sex of pheasants seen along their route on three consecutive weekdays during the third full week of April. Rural mail carrier participation increased by five percent in 2010, with 719 respondents seeing 424 pheasants during the April 20, 21 and 22 survey period.

The counties with the highest number of pheasants seen per 100 miles driven included Lafayette (1.81), Polk (1.65), Fond du Lac (1.12), Pierce (0.97) and Jefferson (0.88). Interestingly, geographically this represents the southeast, southwest, east-central and far northwest. Basically each region in the pheasant range is represented by at least one top county. When panfishing in Polk County in early November for this column, I had already made plans to return for pheasant hunting due to the positive wild bird reports from the local residents.

"Winter conditions were more normal in 2009-10 after two harder than normal winters in 2007-08 and 2008-09," according to the mail carrier's survey report. "Wet and cooler than normal conditions during the summer of 2009 caused a decrease in brood success. (according to other parts of the state website, the third straight wet, cold spring leading to the lack of brood success). This probably set the stage for the 14 percent decrease in pheasants seen per 100 miles driven, down to 0.38 in 2010. This was lower than the long-term average of 0.60 and the fourth decrease in pheasant numbers in five years."

Even in down years, beggars can't be choosers. With the exception of hunting "put and take" birds at game farms or bird stocked on public properties from the Poynette State Game Farm, Wisconsin hunters still chase wild roosters. Wisconsin pheasant hunting opened on October 16 and closes on December 31. Last season, more than 57,000 hunters reported harvesting more than 241,000 birds.

But, as they say...a bad day of hunting is still better than not hunting at all. And that just might sum up the down years of hunting the wild rooster in Wisconsin. More outdoors? www.onwisconsinoutdoors.com.

Ladies get walloped in Waupun

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Kewaskum's girls' basketball team can add a short memory to its Christmas list.

Friday's performance against Waupun wasn't exactly a keeper. The Indians racked up more turnovers than points in a 53-25 loss that looked worse than the final score and could have been had Waupun hit its free throws.

The young Indians slipped to 2-5 on the season, 0-3 in conference. Waupun moved to 4-1, 3-0 in the EWC.

"Live and die with the three I guess that's Waupun," said Coach Mike Kleinhans.

Waupun thrived on it, hitting six bombs in the first half, four by Morgan Domask and two by Katie Hansen, in building a 29-12 lead.

The Indians turned the ball over on its first five possessions and didn't get a shot up until nearly three minutes into the game. Waupun hadn't scored at that point, either, but it still managed a 16-4 lead after the first quarter.

"We had 10 turnovers in the first quarter and three in the second quarter," Kleinhans said. "That's it."

Turnovers totaled nearly 30 for the game and came in a variety - traveling, telegraphed passes, double dribbles, etc.

The Indians also had trouble finding the bottom of the net, or at least putting the ball through it. Many shots looked more like throws as the Indians went 3-for-20 from the field in the first half.

After graduating eight seniors last season, Kewaskum starts two sophomores this year and has three in the rotation. Only two seniors play, and the inexperience showed in at times what looked to be a confused offense.

"And I don't know why that is. We ran dribble drive last night out here and we were so far spaced out, we were cutting to the hole, we were dribbling, we were shooting, we were kicking it out making shots all over the floor," Kleinhans said. "They come here tonight and they didn't even look like they knew what they were doing."

Kleinhans cleared his bench and let anyone play who had a jersey. Sophomore Amber Flasch came off the bench and scored all her three points in the second quarter and grabbed three boards, providing a little spark to an offense that could have used an entire power plant's worth.

Senior point guard Christine Bohn led the Indians with six points. Junior forward Whitney Bastian came off the bench and scored five. Sophomore forward Ashlee Stahl scored four.

For Waupun, Hansen scored 15 and Domask 13, outscoring the Indians themselves. The Warriors went 9-for-23 at the line in the fourth quarter and 13-for-27 for the game, keeping the score closer than it could have been.

Kewaskum is now off until Jan. 6. Kleinhans is bringing back last year's team - the one that went 14-8 - over break to scrimmage the new Indians.

"Maybe they can help us," he said.

Regardless, after an outing like Friday, it's already gut check time.

"It's up to them now. It's their choice," Kleinhans said. "We've taught them everything. We're going over it, we ask questions, we do this, we do that with 'em. It's up to them how much they want to win. Maybe I want to win more than they do. I hate losing."

Indians swamp New Holstein; Bentz and Seibel remain unbeaten

By Judy Harlow

NEW HOLSTEIN - Knowing New Holstein has to forfeit a lot of its weight classes this year may have prompted many Kewaskum High wrestling fans to skip Thursday's Eastern Wisconsin Conference match in New Holstein.

They may have missed the boat and should have made the trip, just to see two very exciting matches wrestled by Brad Bentz and Rob Maertz against the Huskies two top wrestlers, Spencer Peterson and David Galarmo at 160 and 152.

In Bentz's case, it wasn't even close as he put on a scoring clinic, shutting out Peterson with an 11-0 major decision.

Peterson was a state qualifier last year," KHS coach Dennis Aupperle said, emphasizing how impressive the win was.

Maertz didn't come out on top but gave a good account of himself in a match that was closer than the 6-2 score indicates. "It was 3-2 going into the third period," Aupperle said. "He was (in the) down (position) and ended up getting cradled" for the final points.

Kewaskum won the match 62-12 to go 2-1 in EWC action as eight Indians received forfeit victories.

There were only three other varsity bouts, and the Indians won two of them. Senior Cole Roberts came up with a solid 7-1 win over Josh Buechel at 215, and junior Brandon Ehn needed just 1:34 to pin Greg Parker.

Bentz and Bo Seibel remain unbeaten at 3-0 in the EWC and 8-0 overall. Two others, Brett Scoles at 125 and Austin Goeden at 135, are also unbeaten in conference action.

On Saturday, the Indians participated in the Marty Loy Invitational in Fond du Lac. It was a tough day for Kewaskum as they finished 7th. More information will be printed in next week's edition.

Kewaskum is finished with dual meets during the 2010 portion of the season. The Indians will open 2011 on Tuesday, Jan. 4th when they host Random Lake.

The 6th grade boys squared off in Fond du Lac against a very strong FACES team for their third game of the season. It was a horse-race right from the start as both teams looked to move the ball up-court as quickly as possible. Both teams traded fast break opportunities; however the big difference was that the FACES team hit their shots more often than the Indians did. As hard as the Indians tried to gain back some scoring momentum, they just weren't able to stop the FACES team from scoring. Several adjustments were made by the Indians during the course of the game and this helped even the score somewhat, but they just couldn't make up for all the lost ground in the early quarters of the game. Even though the Indians went down in defeat, some great lessons were learned by all of the team members. Michael Anderson, Noah Cass, and Alek Gerhartz showed some nice improvement over the previous game.

Indians suffer lousy loss in Waupun

Kewaskum's Tony Gonring shoots inside in the fourth quarter at Waupun Thursday night. The Indians lost, 61-36, to fall to 4-2.

Eric Perkins with 1:10 left knocked the lead down to 42-31 before the Warriors went on a 4-1 run to push it back to 14 headed into the final frame.

"Our goal was to cut (the deficit) in half, and we did that," Heintz said.

Heintz said he hopes the rebounding message to his team has been sent. The Indians are 0-2 when grabbing less boards than their opponents.

"I hope so. It's pretty simple, I thought," he said.

Kewaskum plays at Sheboygan Falls (0-3 EWC, 2-3 overall) on Tuesday, Dec. 21 and then in a Hustisford tournament Dec. 28.

WAUPUN - Kewaskum's boys' basketball team is looking to rebound from a lousy loss at its conference rival Waupun Thursday night.

Both literally and figuratively.

The Indians gave up at least 10 offensive rebounds and let the Warriors cut to the hoop unimpeded and shoot from the outside unguarded in a 61-36 loss to the defending conference champions.

Kewaskum dropped to 4-2 on the season, 2-1 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. Waupun moved to 2-4 overall and 1-2 in the EWC.

The Indians dug a hole early, down 20-9 after one quarter and 36-16 at half before mounting a mini-comeback that cut the deficit to 11 before Waupun put the game away with a 15-4 fourth quarter edge.

"We didn't rebound and we didn't play defense," said

Coach Quinn Heintz. "You're not going to win many games when you get outrebounded and don't play defense."

Junior forward Brad Boegel led Kewaskum with 14 points, nearly all coming inside. Junior Brett Nuernberg hit his first two shots, a three and a two, but was held to four points the rest of the game.

Waupun junior forward Ryan Gerritson hit three, three-pointers in the first quarter that put the Warriors up early.

Waupun used a physical, trapping defense to throw off the Indians' execution and officials let the teams play. Kewaskum didn't match the physical intensity.

"Didn't get any loose balls, didn't talk on defense," Heintz said.

The Indians executed better in the third quarter, outscoring the Warriors, 16-10. A turnaround jumper by
