Campbellsport Volleyball Beats Mayville in the Game of the Week

BEN PRIESGEN
 JOURNALIST

On September 5, Campbellsport volleyball beat Mayville 3-0 (25-18, 25-18, and 27-25) in the conference opener for both teams in the CNKS Game of the Week.

"We worked as a team all week to prepare for our rematch against Mayville," said Head Coach Jessica Jensen. "I am so proud of this team's resilience and their positive energy."

Campbellsport (3-2, 1-0) jumped out to an early 7-1 lead in the first set, led by Ellie Smith's serving over Mayville (5-4, 0-1).

The Cardinals responded after a timeout to take a 13-11 lead but then the Cougars responded with some key plays by Emma Muraski with a spike and a tip shot over the net plus a Natalie Sippel dig over the net to surge ahead 22-16.

"Overall, our team had an outstanding night with our defense and service receive shining in the back row," said Jensen.

Campbellsport continued their strong play to win the first set 25-18 over the Cardinals.

The Cougars got off to a strong start in the second set highlighted by an ace from Smith for a 5-1 lead over the visiting Cardinals.

Mayville fought back to 11-7 before a thunderous spike by Smith pushed the lead back to 12-7 for Campbellsport.

The score was 16-15 in favor of the Cougars before they went on a 9-3 run to win the second set with a score of 25-18, highlighted by a Muraski ace and finished off by a Gabi Danza block at the net to give Campbellsport a 2-0 lead in the match.

Cougars celebrate after a match win over the Cardinals.

Mayville had a 10-5 lead over Campbellsport in the third set before another Smith spike and a Carleigh Ward over-her-head dig to get the score to 13-12 in favor of the Cardinals.

"Carleigh and Emma led our offense with vital assists throughout the match," said Jensen.

Campbellsport got some good net play by Danza and Kaylie Jandre to take the lead 16-15 over the Cardinals.

A serving ace from Ward and a Smith spike pushed the Cougars' lead back to 19-17 before Mayville responded with four straight points to retake the lead 21-19 for the Cardinals.

The Cougars got a spike from Muraski to tie the set at 21, and then the two teams traded points back and forth in the third set before Jandre got a block to finish off the third set with a 27-25 set victory for a 3-0 match win over their conference rivals in a good gym environment for volleyball.

“To Thine Own Self Be True”

Dear Reader,

“To thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man.” These words, spoken by Polonius to his son Laertes in Shakespeare’s Hamlet, have echoed through the centuries, resonating with a call for authenticity and integrity. However, in today’s complex and interconnected world, where societal expectations and personal aspirations often collide, living by this ancient counsel can seem both challenging and elusive.

and conflicting values, how do we navigate these intersections without losing our integrity? When our truth clashes with another’s, are we compelled to compromise, or can we find a way to coexist without sacrificing our authenticity?

The reconciliation of personal truth with the expectations of others requires a delicate balance. It is not about being hypocritical but about understanding that human interactions are inherently complex. Sometimes, being true to oneself necessitates difficult conversations, empathetic listening, and a willingness to adapt without losing our essence. It means recognizing that our truth is just one part of a broader, multifaceted human experience.

As we address these intricacies, it is essential to reflect on what being true to oneself truly entails. Is it a solitary path defined solely by our perceptions and desires, or is it a journey enriched by the diverse experiences and insights of others? Perhaps the true path lies in a harmonious blend of both—an unwavering commitment to our values, coupled with an openness to learn and grow through our interactions with the world.

In conclusion, “to thine own self be true” is a timeless piece of advice that challenges us to seek authenticity in a world of constant change and varied expectations. It invites us to explore the depths of our integrity while acknowledging and respecting the diverse truths that coexist around us. As we strive to live by this principle, may we find the courage to be ourselves and the wisdom to navigate the complex interplay between personal genuineness and our shared human experience.

Author of “Reflections” a new book now available on Amazon.

In a society that frequently prioritizes appearances and external validation, many of us find ourselves dedicating a significant portion of our lives to meeting the perceived expectations of others. Social media platforms, professional environments, and even personal relationships can sometimes feel like stages where we perform roles designed to gain approval, admiration, or acceptance. In such a landscape, staying true to oneself can feel like a radical act of defiance.

Yet, what does it mean to be true to oneself? Is it a steadfast adherence to our core values and beliefs, regardless of external pressures? Or is it a fluid and evolving process of self-discovery and adaptation? The truth is, being true to oneself is not a one-size-fits-all proposition. Each individual’s truth is unique, shaped by personal experiences, values, and aspirations. This diversity is what makes the concept both beautiful and complex.

However, a critical dilemma arises when our personal truth intersects with the truths of others. In a world filled with diverse perspectives

Just to enter the circle is to step back into that awful year, that horrible day. Sight of the section of steel girder mounted dead center nails it. Those solemn events rush in with the hard impact of a sucker punch. Deep to the gut. Almost knocks the breath, if not stuffing outta you. Didn’t figure after two decades such a reaction, more reflex than actual thought clobbers a fella with the same degree of emotion.

Yet it wasn’t an ordinary occurrence. Though some considered something might eventually happen. Just not quite so soon. America’s sought a peaceful solution to Middle East tensions for quite a while. We riled extremists who’d rather there wasn’t any.

A single individual, attending her 70th birthday party, had a sudden hot flash intuition about planes flying into skyscrapers.

“Why are they just standing there, watching them come?” Her dismay at the prescient vision doubled by the fact she couldn’t do anything to stop the actions seen. Despite an eerie accuracy with earlier predictions.

The rest of us were nothing shy of stunned when the two jetliners smashed into the Twin Towers on September 11, 2001. Caught unawares at work, a phone call from home apprised me moments before the plant supervisor rushed out of Casa Ana, his wife’s store in a corner of the building with a terse, “You’ve got to see this.”

A television set behind the counter showed a live camera shot in which one of the towers billowed smoke. A sledge hammer blow wouldn’t hit as hard. Now, as I pace the inside of the Kewaskum 9/11 Memorial, the unfathomable returns, a grief believed long buried rises. An old wound, the scar sliced open. Virgil’s quote, etched on the brick wall really is true.

“No day shall erase you from the memory of time.” How can anyone alive then ever forget?

Representative Ty Bodden Kicks Off Senator J.D. Vance’s Rally in De Pere

On Wednesday, August 28, Representative Ty Bodden had the distinct privilege of being one of three opening speakers at a campaign rally for Vice Presidential candidate and Senator J.D. Vance, held at Amerilux International in De Pere. Also featured at the event were Amerilux CEO Kurt Voss and 8th District congressional candidate Tony Wied.

Rep. Bodden has issued the following statement: “It was an immense honor to speak at Senator J.D. Vance’s rally on Wednesday. The energy in the room was electric, and it was clear that Wisconsinites are fed up with rising grocery prices and the surge in crime, which are direct consequences of Kamala Harris’s disastrous mismanagement of the border.”

During his four-minute speech, Rep. Bodden emphasized the importance of getting friends and neighbors who sometimes skip elections to make their voices heard at the polls.

WHAT WAS LOST

On Why a Marker Tree Would Last

KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

During a recent presentation for the Rock River Archeological Society, the significance and research on Native American Trail Marker Trees was presented. Thanks to all those who attended, as such presentations provide an avenue to express ideas and new theories. The following is shared to give a reason why old trees bent by Native Americans might have survived in the area.

Timbered Forest Scenarios

Many of the old trees are gone, and that is often attributed to timbered forests. There are multiple, competing theories on the actions of the old and more recent timbermen as it relates to trees bent by Native Americans.

The first is that lumberman indiscriminately cut forest like pigs at the trough. For example, in the mid- to late-1800s, the northern forests were annihilated. Men of the forest were sawing whatever they could get. Given the ignorance to a land ethic, few understood the importance of saving old growth trees. In addition, once a species is turned into a commodity, it runs the risk of extinction. This is why old growth trees are now a rarity in the state. The comments here on the timber industry are not including the land cleared in our area for farming in the 1800s, which also obliterated the marker trees which once existed in the area.

The second theory is that lumberman figured out that some of these trees were bent by Native Americans and left them. For example, a man once told me he was contemplating digging up a Native American mound on his property. He wanted to see what was in the burial. In his sleep, he saw spirits came out of the location who went after him. When the man woke up, he decided to let the mound alone. For many who respect the marker trees, there is an understanding that people who have now passed on once bent those trees. It is some of the last markings on the land of a different time and ethic. Given some marker trees have survived in the area — including timbered forests — it stands to reason some lumberman actually saved the trees because of their intuition or spiritual recognition.

The third theory is lumberman saved the trail tree because their straight board footage was pathetic. A picture accompanies this article to illustrate the inefficiency in cutting a trail tree for boards. This theory suggests that those cutting the tree were indifferent, and in most cases it would be illogical to cut the trail tree because of its angles when trying to run it through a saw. This narrative suggests a marker tree might have survived merely because it was too crooked to get long boards in the final cuts.

In totality, it leads to the consideration what it would have been like to talk to an old lumberman of days gone by, and what areas in the state they thought they saw a higher proportion of bent marker trees.

Water on the Hills

In the old lumber days, there are stories that stumps four- to six-foot high were left, and fallen small trees littered the ground as waste. This was a problem when fire ravaged through nearly a half dozen Wisconsin counties the night of the Peshtigo Fire. For those interested, the local church converted to the Peshtigo Museum is very helpful. It's a nice pit stop as you work your way up to the Upper Peninsula. If there was one thing to take from the fire, it is that the wasted wood on the forest floor made for a tragic fire starter. As it relates to this article, clearly it would take a miracle for a trail tree to survive the 1871 Peshtigo fire (it was so hot people jumped in the river to survive).

Consider why there is not a narrative of “the old fire that came through” as it relates to portions of the readership area. I hear stories of barns burning, and of fire ravaging a hamlet such as St. Kilian in the 1890s, but I have yet to run into stories of horrible wooded fires in Upper Washington County and Lower Fond du Lac County. This is likely because of the moisture of the area. St. Kilian had springs on the hill by the church. Those who dug graves in the mid-1900s could tell you the cemetery holes waiting for a coffin collected water before entombment. There are stories in Eden Township, too, where a woods was not timbered because of the springs on the hill (that location has at least one trail tree). The moisture might explain why the trail trees survived in this area, but are obsolete in other portions of the state.

Unfortunately, the rhythm of the land is so different for many who can't envision what the area vicinity used to look like. At the end of an interview last year, an Eden area farmer looked at me and said this of the land and the past, “They should never have taken those trees off those hills.” In regard to our rivers being arteries, the water around here is like an old individual with collapsed veins at the doctor's office. The phlebotomist can try to get the blood, but it's going to be difficult and bruises are going to result. So too is the water that runs through our rivers at no comparison to the volume from days gone by. This leads to a broader concern on the spirit of our rivers.

Other Factors

There are other random factors specific to individual landowners on why a marker tree would survive. One is the need for firewood. I remember Lizzie Weiland (1924-2022) telling me her childhood was so poor, they burnt boxelder in their fires at home behind St. Martin's in Ashford. The wood must have been still wet or green, because Lizzie said it fizzled as she motioned her hand on that pathetic fire to stay warm in the 1930s. One can see how a farmer might cut down a tree that looks weird and growing crooked. I am not making a direct link to Lizzie and that her dad cut marker trees (at the end of life Lizzie was ecstatic that we were labeling the marker trees, and seconded the area's Native American significance), but rather sharing her boxelder story as an example that on some private land situations, a family might have been reduced to cutting down an old tree that looked odd or was allegedly “ugly” (i.e. a marker tree).

As it pertains to burning firewood for home heat, it also leads to the consideration how some of the trail trees may have survived due to the advent of oil or coal for home heating, as it reduced the pressure to cut from the forest. For example, Jack Babler (1930-2022) explained his young days at Ashford with his dad. It was practical to get coal to work the boiler for the cheese factory, for all they had to do was go to Campbellsport to pick it up by the railroad. Think about all the pressures that was reduced on the local forest by mid-century that later preserved the last few remaining

In addition, you have to consider pockets of land that would not have lasted. One such area is Iron Ridge, Neda and Mayville. In some cases, nearby industries required a remarkable volume for burning wood. Remember that the likelihood of taking down trees (particularly ugly ones which were bent) are much higher in some areas than others.

We also have to focus on options closer to the present. I met a landowner who was explaining how he built his house on an existing path in a woods. The actions were simple, and no doubt practical. They saved at least one trail tree, if not two. We have considerable power in shaping the history of the land. It's easy to alter it; but there is satisfaction to those who had the wisdom to leave it as it is.

Whatever the reason that such marker trees survived, understand the individual stories of the past are like the ones of today. So who can salvage trail trees and their stories? Maybe it is the wise landowner who understands how a dead tree from the 1980s or 1990s laying in his woods can be reconstructed as evidence into a decaying marker tree. Or it could be the farmer who had land high on the spring hills, where it was too wet to farm, so he let the woods alone and saved a marker tree for later generations. It's the hunter who remembers that odd tree they put their deer stand in. Then there is the old neighbor at mid-century who told you how that tree was bent by Natives, and now the memories come back of what the neighbor meant. And maybe the trail tree will be spotted by the owner who needs to find the right person to buy the land to take care of it in the future. Every marker tree in this area has its own story. The most important one is your own responsibility in making sure elements of the land's history is retained by you after discovery.

AN OUTDOORSMAN'S JOURNAL

First Teal

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

Hello friends,

After this past weekend and many decades of doing it, I have figured out that my favorite way to spend time is helping to introduce kids to new outdoor activities. I helped start KAMO in 2007, helped start NOAC in 2023, and though both overload my schedule, I do not seem to be backing off. Carsyn Thiede, who is 14 and as of today, a freshman at Mayville High School, and Conner Thiede, who is 12 and a 7th grader at Mayville, are the children of Tyler and Patsy and are my KAMO Kids these days. In other words, for about three years, I have been helping to introduce them to turkey, deer, and now duck and goose hunting.

Sunday, September 1

High 74, Low 50

Here is the scoop - it is opening day of Wisconsin's Early Goose and Teal season. I, along with Tyler Thiede, his 21-year-old son, Tanner, and Carsyn and Conner are hunting on the Jeff and Melissa Pausma farm near Fox Lake/Burnett in Dodge County. It is Carsyn and Conner's first waterfowl hunt, and yesterday, when we were scouting the farm and 40-acre marsh that is part of this beautiful property, we had a pretty good sized setback. What was at least 15-acres of water last spring when I mentored Conner during the Youth Turkey Hunt and he harvested a sumo tom which is now getting mounted, is down to about a 1/4 acre pond surrounded by marsh.

14-year-old Carsyn Thiede of Mayville loves anything to do with hunting.

We had no other options, and so, here we are, and to be honest, our mood was excellent as we are staying at Fowlmouth Hunt Club. We are active and laugh a lot, and this year's game is Jarts.

First things first and, it was good news, you cannot shoot until sunrise and there are some teal, mallards and woodies in the area but at least there are ducks. Legal shooting starts, and a flock of teal buzzes us, and Tanner connects and my golden retriever, Ruby, who did not even see where the teal fell, makes an excellent blind retrieve.

We are all hidden in cattails within 15 yards of each other, so there is a lot of joking and laughter but not many ducks and zero geese. Late in the morning, we decide it's time to head in for the midday, the kids want to pick up decoys with Tanner as they have brand new chest waders. Every gun but one is unloaded, a flock of teal appears out of nowhere, and Tyler whacks two as no one else has a gun.

For our evening hunt, it was all of us but Tanner as he put on a couple of hundred miles looking for geese. Tanner had the same amount of luck as we did, and did not fire a gun. What is so important here is that we laugh, play with the dogs (Red was also along), and plan our Youth Deer Hunt as this year it seems like we have an excellent plan.

Monday, September 2

High 71, Low 57

Yesterday, I walked to our pond in the dark wearing shorts and knee boots; today, I wore knee boots, long johns and pants. The weather is changing. This morning we had plenty of mallards, woodies, and some teal to watch. Both days we watched deer in the nearby alfalfa field, and this is the same farm where I will be purchasing calves in mid-September. As always, we laughed and watched the sky and just like that, a flock of teal came in fast and both Carsyn and Conner harvested their first ducks, and all was perfect in our world.

There were two other experiences where the young hunters were not fast enough to connect, but no one cared. Both the kids had the monkey off their backs.

The skills that Carsyn and Conner learned with duck identification and calling were impressive, and all they could talk about is there next hunt.

My friends, introduce a kid to hunting and the world will be a better place!

Sunset

A family affair - Connor, Carsyn, and Dad, Tyler Thiede, setting decoys.

A happy hunt - Carsyn and Conner Thiede with their first teal, along with their pals, Ruby and Red.

Miller Becomes New C.H.S. Soccer Coach

The Campbellsport Athletic Department is excited to announce that Andy Miller will be the new boys' varsity soccer coach. He brings a fresh perspective, positive attitude, and an extensive resume to the program. We expect a smooth transition from Coach Writt to Coach Miller. Welcome Coach Miller!

Coach Andy Miller

Andy wrote the following statement as a way to introduce himself to the Campbellsport community.

My name is Andy Miller and I am excited to join the Campbellsport High School varsity soccer team and Athletic Department. I am a firm believer in ensuring strong bonds and lines of communication between players, staff, and family members. I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself and give a little background.

I enlisted in the Michigan National Guard in 1989 and then joined the Regular Army in 1991 following the Gulf War. I retired from the Army in 2011, just shy of 22 years of total service. After I left the Army we chose Campbellsport as our home and have lived here ever since.

My professional background including my time in the Army was predominantly in information technology and telecommunications. Since 2015, I've worked in veteran and military services. My full-time job is a Soldier and Family Readiness Specialist with the Wisconsin National Guard. In addition, I currently work a few shifts a month as a support advocate at a domestic violence shelter. I also spent several years as a leader in our local Cub Scout Pack and Boy Scout Troop.

I enjoy anything outdoors, bowling, golfing, traveling, reading, watching movies, and any kind of sports, both as a participant and spectator. I enjoy mud and obstacle runs as well. Regardless of what I am doing, I enjoy it most when I'm with my boys and my girlfriend and her boys.

As for soccer, I started playing when I was in fourth grade and played around 30 years in total. I benefited from being able to play in intramural and military unit leagues here in the U.S. as well as in Germany and Saudi Arabia. Much of the time I was playing while I was in the Army, I was a coach as well as a player.

I had the luxury of having coaches from several corners of the world and hope to impart any knowledge I have to our players here in Campbellsport. Integrity, Respect, Selfless Service, Commitment, and Personal Courage are values that will be instilled in and followed by our players. Our players will be ambassadors, representing the team, the school, and the community.

Our team is a family, and we are looking forward to seeing spectators out there supporting us on the field at Campbellsport Elementary School. You can find our games on the Athletic Events page of the Campbellsport High School website.

K.H.S. Tennis Begins a Busy September

BREANNA RICE
JOURNALIST

The Kewaskum High School tennis team started off the month of September with a busy week.

The girls began the week with a tough match-up against St. Mary Catholic on Thursday, Sept. 5. They were defeated with a score of 7-0.

“St. Mary Catholic is currently first place in our conference,” stated Head Coach Brad Preder.

Preder highlighted Macy Milella’s impressive performance against the difficult team.

“Macy battled back to reach a tiebreaker before falling 12-10 to break the tie. This ended the longest match of the day,” he stated.

The Indians then hosted a quad on Saturday, Sept. 7. At the quad, the ladies took on Grafton, Port Washington and Sheboygan South.

“The matches started at 8 a.m., and the temperature was around 45 degrees,” said Preder.

To begin the cold morning, the girls lost to Port

Washington in a close meet with a score of 5-2.

“Five of the seven flights were decided by tie-breakers,” stated the coach.

The ladies were able to keep their spirits high and bounce back by defeating Sheboygan South and Grafton both with scores of 6-1.

Preder explained that senior Liz Erdmann went 3-0 on the day. She won twice in her usual number one singles spot and once with Anna Parish at number one doubles.

The coach stated that Macy Milella went 3-0 on the day, as well. She won twice at number two singles and once at number one singles.

“The doubles team of Olivia Beck and Emma Klahn won twice on the day, as did freshman Li Behnke Zhou at number three singles,” concluded Preder.

The girls will travel to Sheboygan Falls on Tuesday, Sept. 10, after print time, and to Waupun on Thursday, Sept. 12 for their next matchups.

K.H.S. Volleyball is Off to a Competitive Start

BREANNA RICE
JOURNALIST

The Kewaskum volleyball team began competing on Aug. 30. The girls are currently 7-5 overall and 1-0 in conference.

On Thursday, Sept. 5, the girls dominated by defeating Plymouth with a score of 3-0.

“The team played a cohesive match from start to finish,” stated Head Coach James Burg.

The coach explained that he is proud of how the team was able to control their side of the court throughout many different situations during the game.

“Senior Madelyn Marquardt did a great job setting the tone at the net, both offensively and defensively,” added Burg.

On Saturday, Sept. 7, the Indians played in a tournament with four other teams. The schools in attendance were Kewaskum, Luxemburg-

Casco Spartans (LCHS), Kimberly, De Pere and Lakeside Lutheran (LLHS).

The girls started off the tournament with two difficult losses but finished with an overall score of 3-2 on the day.

Kewaskum first took on LCHS and were defeated 2-0 with two close sets. The girls were behind by five points in the first set (20-25) and only trailing by two (23-25) in the second.

Next, the Indians faced Kimberly and lost 2-1. Again, the team trailed by five points in the first set losing 20-25. The girls gained momentum and pulled off a win in set two with a score of 25-23. Set three was a tough battle but Kewaskum was ultimately defeated with a score of 14-16.

“After two tough losses against very high quality teams, the girls bounced back to get three consecutive wins,” stated coach Burg.

The girls then won their next three matchups against De Pere (2-0), LLHS (2-1) and De Pere (2-1) again.

The players were able to work together as a team and keep their heads in the game as they stayed positive to pull off wins in the final three matches of the day.

“A big takeaway from the tournament was that the girls proved to themselves that they can play with anyone in the state. We are encouraged by our finish as we move forward,” concluded Burg.

The Indians will face Laconia on Tuesday, Sept. 10, in a non-conference game, after print time. They will then travel to Kettle Moraine Lutheran on Thursday, Sept. 12.

Kewaskum Cross Country Competes Well

BREANNA RICE
JOURNALIST

The Kewaskum High School cross country team began their season with a meet at Kettle Moraine Lutheran (KML) on Thursday, Aug. 29.

“The KML course always proves to be a challenging one,” stated assistant coach Scott Bicknell.

Although the boys and girls didn’t end the meet with the highest rankings, they showed significant improvement from last season.

“The boys varsity team took seventh, a one place improvement [from the 2023 season], but were significantly faster than last year’s team at the KML meet,” stated Head Coach Eugene Peterson.

Leading the Indians for the boys was Wyatt L. with a time of 19:12. He was followed by Carter H., Leo K., Layton D. and Aaron S. who all placed for the team.

“As a scoring varsity team, we ran an average time of 20:20.6, which is a 57 second improvement from our average time last year,” explained Peterson. “If you incorporate Tyler D. and Dominic S., who competed as JV runners, that average drops to 20:07. This is an impressive one minute and ten second improvement as a top five!”

Both coach Peterson and Bicknell expressed that they were very impressed with the team’s performance.

“Great job, guys,” remarked Peterson.

The Lady Indians finished with a solid fifth place finish.

“This is not bad considering we are replacing six girls who started the season on varsity last season,” explained Peterson.

Olivia G. led the girls’ team with a time of 21:17.

“Overall, we ran a bit slower but have the building blocks to success that we can build on,” said the head coach.

Peterson and Bicknell explained that they are working with a young team of girls, and for many of them, the KML meet was their first race.

“We are excited to see the teams grow,” concluded Bicknell.

The group raced at the De Pere International on Thursday, Sept. 5.

K.H.S. Football Fights Hard in Madison

BREANNA RICE
JOURNALIST

The Kewaskum High School football team (0-3) traveled to Madison to take on Edgewood High School (2-1) in a non-conference game on Friday, Sept. 6.

The game proved to be a difficult battle as the boys were defeated 18-47. Though they didn’t get the win, the team stuck it out and played their hardest under the lights.

“The coaching staff and I are very proud of the way the kids battled Friday night. We got down by two scores early, but the kids kept fighting and got back into the game by halftime,” stated Head Coach Jason Piittmann.

Edgewood came out strong scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter. The Indians were able to respond with a 76-yard touchdown pass from starting quarterback Andrew Reichert to senior Landon Daniel making the score 6-14 at the end of the first.

In the second quarter, both teams were able to get points on the board. Edgewood put up 10 points with a touchdown and a field goal while Kewaskum added six points with a touchdown of their own. Kewaskum was trailing by a score 12-24 at the half.

The opposing team came out strong in the third quarter by adding 23 points, resulting in the scoreboard reflecting 12-47.

“During the third quarter the wheels fell off for a bit and things got away from us. The biggest thing is the kids kept fighting, they did not quit on themselves or each other,” said Piittmann.

The Kewaskum defense fought hard in the final quarter and didn't allow Edgewood to add any more points to the board. The Indians' offense also worked together to add an additional six points, making the final score 18-47.

Kingston Grisolono and Eli Ogi were the two additional touchdown scorers for Kewaskum. Grisolono led the team in rushing as he had six attempts for 15 yards. Additionally, on offense, Landon Daniel had five receptions for 140 yards.

Grisolono led the team in defense as well with a total of nine tackles. Gabriel Halopka totaled eight tackles followed by Anthony Coleman and Samuel Ciriacks with seven.

“We made some good progress tonight, even though some will say the scoreboard reads otherwise,” concluded Piittmann.

The Indians will host Stoughton High School (3-0) this Friday, Sept. 13 at the Doc Mitchell Athletic Complex.

Trail Sharks Start Season over Labor Day Weekend

WASHINGTON COUNTY TRAIL SHARKS

Congratulations to the Washington County Trail Sharks mountain bike team. They had their first NICA (National Interscholastic Cycling Association) race/festival weekend of the season over Labor Day weekend with the race on Sunday, September 1 at the American Birkebeiner trailhead at Mt. Telemark in Cable, WI. There was a great turnout for the WI league as there were almost 1,000 athletes along with their family and friends camping and riding. We had 26 athletes representing our team. Despite the hot pre-ride on Saturday, August 31, the athletes did an outstanding job racing on Sunday, September 1. The day turned out to have beautiful weather all day. It was a fast, flowing, technical, 4.5-mile race.

Their next festival weekend will be September 14-15 with the race on Sunday at Minooka Park in Waukesha.

Gracelyn Beimborn from Kewaskum placed 10th in the one-lap race. Ephraim Essinger from Kewaskum placed 18th in the two-lap race. Mason Dorn from Campbellsport placed 12th in the three-lap race.

Gridiron Indians Start Season Against Slinger

KEWASKUM GRIDIRON

The Kewaskum Gridiron Indians had their first game action of the season this past Saturday, September 7, as all four teams hosted the Slinger Red Owls. The eighth, sixth, and fifth grade teams all came away with victories, while the seventh grade team battled hard but were defeated.

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade team came out with some fire and a great team effort in a 36-13 victory over the Slinger Red Owls.

The defense played a tremendous game overall, but especially the first half where they kept the Owls scoreless and forced three turnovers. Greyson Cook got things started as he intercepted a pass and returned it for a pick-six for the first touchdown of the season. Other interceptions came from Porter Reis and Jack Upson.

The offense got going in the second quarter as RJ Ciriacks scored on an 11-yard touchdown run, and then late in the quarter, Sam Herman found Ciriacks for a 20-yard touchdown pass.

Ciriacks continued things in the second half taking the first play from scrimmage 58-yards for another rushing touchdown, and the Indians scoring was capped off by Upson who took a run 53-yards for a touchdown. Kamden Derge was able to make three two-point kicks after touchdowns and also contributed four tackles-for-loss and a sack on defense. Another defensive standout was James Lawrenz who had three tackles-for-loss & a sack. Seventh Grade

The seventh grade team battled hard all day but allowed a couple of big plays to the Owls and weren't able to punch anything into the end zone on offense in coming away with a 14-0 defeat. Henry Ogi had some nice runs on offense as well as playing a solid game defensively. Other defensive standouts for the Indians included Cooper Norville and August Vorwerk with a couple of tackles-for-loss.

Sixth Grade

The sixth grade Gridiron team kicked off their season with a 14-6 victory over the Slinger Red Owls.

The game started with a long drive by the Slinger offense that lasted nearly the entire first quarter. The drive was halted by an interception by Lincoln Talbot to get the Indians' offense back on the field.

The Indians' offense flipped the fields when Decker Schutz took a quarterback keeper for 30 yards into Owl territory. Schutz connected with Brady Beck on a screen pass and Charlie Ogi ground up yards to set up the Indians' first score of the year, a rumbling Dawson Scheel two-yard touchdown run. Brady Beck added the two-point kick to make the score 8-0.

The third quarter was, again, chewed up by a long Slinger drive, but the Indian defense stopped their momentum with tackles-for-loss by Shane Guttman and Mason Schulenberg.

Kewaskum's offense took over in the fourth quarter behind a strong offensive line putting together a 60-yard drive that ended on a fourth down, three-yard touchdown pass from Talbot to Caleb Thull, putting the Indians up 14-0 with three minutes left in the game.

Slinger got on the board with no time left on the clock to make the final score 14-6.

The Indians' offense was paced by Schutz and Ogi rushing for 35- and 33-yards, respectively. The defense was tough all day, led by Guttman with seven tackles and Thull with five tackles.

Fifth Grade

The fifth grade team had a great overall team effort with all kids contributing on multiple levels for a 32-7 victory.

On offense, there were many contributors with the offensive line doing a great job in clearing the way for Parker Marx to score two touchdowns and Beckett Boeldt and Sam Ogi each scoring touchdowns as well. Boeldt was able to make all four two-point kicks after the touchdowns.

On defense, the standouts included Nathan Fonte with a forced fumble, Owen Paulus with a fumble recovery, and Kristian Reimer with a fumble recovery and several tackles-for-loss.

The Gridiron Indians will be in action at home again on Saturday, September 14, with all four teams hosting Menomonee Falls. The eighth grade gets things kicked off at 9 a.m.

National Farm Safety and Health Week

September 15-21, 2024

Fall harvest time can be one of the busiest and most dangerous seasons of the year for the agriculture industry. For this reason, the third week of September has been recognized as National Farm Safety and Health Week. This annual promotion initiated by the National Safety Council has been proclaimed as such by each sitting U.S. President since Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944. National Farm Safety and Health Week is led by the National Education Center for Agricultural Safety (NECAS), the agricultural partner of the National Safety Council.

The theme for National Farm Safety and Health Week (NFSHW) in 2024 is "Don't Learn Safety by Accident." The week will take place from September 15-21.

Here are Some Tips for Keeping Children Safe on a Farm

- Supervision – Closely monitor children, especially when they are near livestock or in farm buildings. Check on them every 10 to 15 minutes.
- Safety equipment – Make sure all heavy equipment, gates, and wheels are secured to prevent them from falling over.
- Dangerous goods – Keep dangerous goods, like chemicals and firearms, locked away and out of reach of children.
- Tractors – Keep children away from tractors, as they are a leading cause of accidental deaths for children under 15.
- ATVs – Children younger than 16 should not operate ATVs, as they lack the maturity and judgment to do so safely.
- Animals – Animals can be dangerous, even if they aren't dangerous, due to their size.
- Safe play area – Young children should have their own safe play area, away from major hazards.
- Hand washing – Remind children to wash their hands properly.
- Safety instruction – Provide safety instruction to children.

Farm Shop Safety

Service and maintenance tasks can often lead to serious injury. The farm shop and the field are the primary locations where repair operations are completed. Make sure your farm shop is part of a farm safety solution, not a problem.

- Organize your workshop so that everything has a designated place. Make sure items are secure so they will not fall on anyone.
- Clean walkways to reduce trips and falls.
- When working on agricultural equipment, make sure that the equipment is turned off, all rotating parts have stopped moving, and safety locks are put in place.
- Keep all guards and shields in place on power equipment.
- Use hand tools only for their intended purpose.
- Equip your shop with Ground Fault Circuit Interrupters to help prevent electrical shock.
- Make sure your shop is well lit. If the shop is heated, ensure it is properly vented and that flammable liquids are kept out of the shop area.

mable liquids are kept out of the shop area.

- Wear personal protective equipment (PPE) when performing repair jobs. Standard PPE for a farm shop should include leather gloves, chemical-resistant shoes, safety glasses, face shields, earplugs or muffs, steel-toed boots, respirators, hard hats, protective aprons and welding shields.

Inspection

- Are electrical cords undamaged?
- Is an appropriate fire extinguisher present and operable?
- Is a fully supplied first aid kit available?
- Are guards and shields in place?
- Are walkways clear of debris?
- Are chemicals stored in a locked cabinet?

Here Are Some Farm Safety Tips for Working with Silos

- Avoid entering – Try to do as much work as possible from outside the silo. If you must enter, avoid doing so alone.
- Avoid filling – Don't enter a silo while it's being filled. Moving grain can act like quicksand.
- Avoid tower silos – Avoid entering a tower silo, especially within the first 72 hours after filling.
- Wear protective equipment – Wear a safety belt and harness if there's a risk of falling. Wear respiratory protection to reduce exposure to dust and mold. If you need to enter a silo within four to six weeks of filling, wear an air-supplying respirator and run the blowers at maximum power.
- Have a rescue plan – Have a rescue plan, emergency equipment, and crews available to help if needed.
- Ventilate – Ensure proper ventilation when working near silos.
- Secure areas – Lock or secure areas where silo gas is likely to be present for the first couple of weeks after filling a silo.
- Be aware of symptoms – Symptoms such as coughing, shortness of breath, and tightness in the chest could mean exposure to nitrogen dioxide and carbon dioxide.
- Conduct inspections – Conduct regular safety inspections of silos.

Farm Equipment Safety on the Road is Important for Both Operators and Other Drivers

Farm Equipment Operators

Here are some tips for farm equipment operators:

- Be visible – Make sure your equipment is visible with proper lighting, reflectors, and conspicuity tape.
- Be aware – Plan your route, be aware of your surroundings, and obey traffic signs.
- Be prepared – Wash your windows, check that all lights work, and consider installing a camera system.
- Review the manual – Read the owner's manual and follow the directions for proper operation.

Other Drivers

Here are some tips for other drivers:

- Be cautious – Slow down and give farm equipment space.
- Don't pass in unsafe areas – Avoid passing in no-passing zones, at intersections, bridges, or railroad crossings.
- Be patient – Farmers may move their equipment over when it's safe.
- Yield to wide vehicles – Some farm vehicles may be wider than the road.
- Use your horn – Let the driver know you're near before passing.
- Stay back – Keep a safe distance of around 50 feet.
- Signal – Signal before changing lanes.
- Return to your lane – Return to your lane once the vehicle is in your rearview mirror.

D.N.R. Accepting Nominations for Recycling Excellence Awards

WIS. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is accepting nominations for the 2024 Recycling Excellence Awards. The nomination period is open until Sept. 16.

The Recycling Excellence Award showcases and celebrates outstanding recycling efforts, innovation and performance for communities, nonprofits, schools and businesses throughout Wisconsin. Food waste recovery or diversion programs are also eligible.

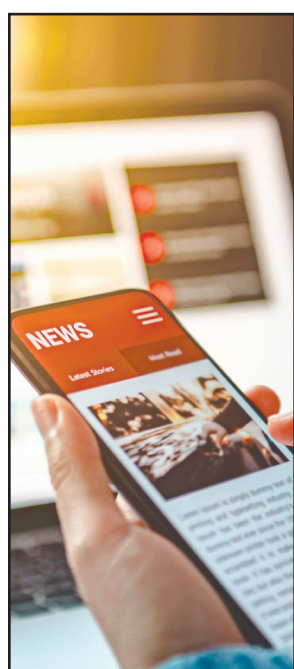

“Organizations that put exceptional effort into reducing waste or diverting materials from our landfills deserve recognition,” said Jennifer Semrau, DNR waste reduction and diversion coordinator. “Please consider submitting a nomination if you know of an organization going above and beyond with its waste reduction efforts.”

Awards are offered in four categories: overall program, projects and initiatives, innovation and special events. Entities can self-nominate or submit an application on behalf of another program. The nomination should include supporting materials such as outreach samples, data or graphs and high-resolution photos.

Past winners have provided new collection and clean-up services for their communities, implemented waste reduction practices within their organization and diverted impressive amounts of compostable and recyclable materials.

The award winners will be featured on the DNR’s website and social media accounts. The nomination form, information about the categories and profiles of past award winners can be found on the Wisconsin Recycling Excellence Awards webpage (dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/Recycling/Awards.html).
