Kewaskum Family Dentistry to Begin Operations at New Location

BREANNA RICE
 JOURNALIST

Kewaskum Family Dentistry is currently undergoing the process of moving locations in order to expand their business within the Village of Kewaskum.

“We were out of real estate due to continuous growth,” stated Jodi, the office manager of the local dentist.

The Dentistry has been serving local patients for the past 45 years and was established by Doctor Dennis Conner.

“Doctor Sara is the current owner of the practice after purchasing the business in the fall of 2019,” mentioned Jodi.

The relocation process has been underway since spring and the process is almost complete.

“The new location broke ground April 15, 2024, and we will start seeing patients on Dec. 2,” explained the office manager.

The new building will provide the dental team with more space and opportunities for advancement.

“With this new state of the art practice, we will be able to provide our patients with more space, comfort, technology and appointment availability,” said Jodi.

Additionally, the location will have more exam suites and an expanded hygiene area.

“This relocation represents a significant investment in the Village and a continued commitment to providing quality care for the Kewaskum community and surrounding areas,” added the manager.

The Dentistry explained that they chose the location because it is next to the Kewaskum Health Center and there is room for continuous growth.

“This move will not only enable Kewaskum Family Dentistry to serve patients more efficiently but also to accommodate future growth and advancements in dental care,” concluded Jodi.

Kewaskum Family Dentistry plans to hold an open house for community members to see the new building. The event will take place on Saturday, Dec. 6 from 2-4 p.m.

Patients can find the new building at 1721 Fond du Lac Ave on the corner of county Highway 28 and Highway 45.

Reflecting on Our Blessings This Thanksgiving

Dear Reader,

As Thanksgiving Day approaches, we are reminded of the many blessings we enjoy as individuals and as a nation. This is a special time of year when we gather with family and friends, sharing a meal and reflecting on all for which we have to be thankful.

for those seeking employment, opportunities are still out there. It's a time to appreciate the security and stability that employment brings, enabling us to provide for ourselves and our loved ones.

This generation has contributed to our nation's ongoing greatness, each of us playing a part in shaping our community and our country. As we look to the next generation, we see incredible potential—a future filled with hope, innovation, and progress. It is our responsibility to nurture this potential, ensuring that the blessings we enjoy today will be passed on to those who follow.

So, as you gather with your loved ones this Thanksgiving, take a moment to reflect on the abundance in your life. Share your blessings with those around you and offer a prayer of thanks for the goodness we experience daily. In a world that often moves too fast, let this day be a time to slow down, appreciate the present, and give thanks for all that we have been given.

When you think about it, our country is the greatest in the world, built on the foundations laid by our forefathers and strengthened by each generation, including our own. We have much to celebrate and even more to protect and cherish.

Take a moment to think about the family you have and the family from whence you came. The love and support that surround us during this season are invaluable. Our families are our anchors, providing us with strength and comfort through the highs and lows of life.

Consider, too, the opportunities we have in our work and careers. With unemployment at a low rate, many of us are fortunate to have jobs, and Sooner rather than later, t'was bound to happen again. Leastwise, yet or still. Meaning it has before. Not too long ago. Depends on when you were a young'un though a wee bit farther back for us boomers.

Because a few generations passed since then, the memory is no longer a fresh flesh wound. But a surface scar remains. Could we have ever been so callous and unfeeling, even untouched by the anguish rendered to perpetuate the whole situation to begin with?

Sorry answer, no possible excuse accepted, is a simple, straight up yep. Not exactly the most shining moment of our youth. Scarcely an example of the Golden Rule: Do unto others as you would have done unto yourself. Bad as that was in a general way, the practice carried over to familial relations. Or conversely, began there.

Disrespect always germinates somewhere. In this case, it spelled from a failure to give our parents their props. Once we'd shoveled them aside, how much easier to spread the contagion; dis all the older folks. Remember the slogan "Don't trust anyone over 30?"

Well, the pigeon's finally come home to roost. Never thought it would yet here's the fallout. Who says comeuppance doesn't eventually strike those who dish out trouble?

Yours truly was a hellion between the ages of 9-16. Call it the exuberance of a tightly constrained country kid. Wouldn't dare rile Dad on our own turf. Take us (younger brother and myself) outta town, whole other ballgame. No where more than within a couple blocks in Hustisford.

Nothing better than to pitch plums through the laundromat fan, then smoke down the alleys to evade a pissed off customer sitting inside below the vent. Just the tip of a nasty iceberg. Small wonder the foot's turned. This writer now feels marginalized by youth. And oh, how the other sneaker pinches.

Campbellsport Angel Tree 2024

Christmas Angel Tree locations are readying to be set up throughout the community. Location sponsors have again agreed to allow use of their space. The “Angel Tree” (Christmas gifts for needy families) Angels will be available at St. Matthews, the Campbellsport Library, Blue Door and National Exchange Bank.

For 2024, the Angel Tree will be organized the same as last year. Angels should start being available at the locations by November 23. Timing is dependent on when referrals are being received. Angels will be available as soon as referrals have been received and contacted, so Angels can be selected and signed out at those locations.

Interested individuals can participate by wrapping the presents and attaching the Angels. Please place Gift Card Angels and the gift cards – or money for the cards, in an envelope and seal.

Gifts and gift cards and/or money donations are to be returned on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 30, and Dec. 1 and on Dec. 7 and 8, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Gift return location is St. Matthews Parish Center located on Mill Street. Volunteers will be available curbside for gift drop off.

Last year, the organization helped families with clothing, food, household items and cleaning supplies, some gas cards, and of course, toys. The Campbellsport Food Pantry provided grocery gift cards to the families. Referrals came from many places – Salvation Army, St. Vincent de Paul, social services, pastors. All for people in need of help.

Last year Angels (gifts) were shopped, wrapped and returned on time. And the best part, was the opportunity to get the entire community involved.

“It was wonderful!” described an organization rep, adding that they received comments from many people that Campbellsport appreciated the opportunity to be more easily involved, and to see how it really worked. “So, we are again off and running for Christmas 2024.”

Ruth E. Kern

Ruth E. Kern, 96, of Kewaskum, formerly of the Town of Wayne, passed away on November 7, 2024.

Born on February 15, 1928, in Theresa, she was the cherished daughter of the late Richard and Hildegard (née Gundrum) Bodden. After graduation from business college, Ruth worked as a secretary for George Hess at the West Bend Company.

On June 15, 1948, Ruth joined her life with Orville Kern in marriage. Together, they cultivated their land and nurtured their family. Orville preceded Ruth in death on April 25, 2005.

Ruth was a devoted mother who encouraged her children to work hard, pursue their dreams and be kind and generous citizens. She loved her children and with Orville they were staples at games, plays, and performances to support their children. She loved being a grandmother and was always happy to spend time with her grandchildren. They all learned to play cards as soon as they were old enough to hold Uno cards.

In addition to her full-time job as the mother to five children and an active participant in the family farm, Ruth made time to contribute to many community organizations and projects. She volunteered at the Samaritan, the local AFS chapter and the Red Cross. She was a long-time member and officer of the Wayne Willing Weavers Homemaker club, and a teacher of basket weaving and metal enameling for the Wayne Crusaders 4-H Club. She was also active in the St. Killian Catholic Parish, where she was member of the Women's Sodality, a church officer and helped develop a cemetery map.

Those Ruth leaves behind to cherish her memory include four children, Bonnie Kern, Peggy (Tim) Orgeman, Jack (Debbie) Kern and Tom (Mo) Kern; 13 grandchildren, Melanie, Kim, Jackie, Sammi, Lindsey, Nikki, Mandi, Joe, Jim, Cannon, Meg, Kelly and Kennedy; 12 great-grandchildren; her AFS daughter, Han Doorenbosch; long-time family friend, Char Heider; and other relatives and friends.

In addition to her husband and parents, Ruth was preceded in death by an infant daughter, Judy; a son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Marci Kern; and a son-in-law, Jim Maw.

The family would like to thank the staff at Kettle Moraine Gardens and Preceptor Hospice for the wonderful care they provided to Ruth.

VISITATION: Ruth's family greeted relatives and friends at Holy Trinity Catholic Church, 331 Main Street, in Kewaskum on Tuesday, Nov. 12, 2024, from 10 a.m. until 11 a.m.

SERVICE: A Mass of Christian Burial for Ruth was held at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at Holy Trinity Catholic Church. Rev. Patrick Magnor officiated and burial followed at St. Killian Catholic Church Cemetery in St. Killian.

The Myrhum – Patten Funeral & Cremation Service has been entrusted with Ruth's arrangements. Additional information and guest book may be found at www.myrhum-patten.com.

Introducing New Extension Dairy Educator

Manuel Peña is the new Regional Dairy Educator for Sheboygan, Fond Du Lac, Dodge, and Ozaukee Counties. He is originally from Duitama, a small city in Colombia, three hours north of Bogotá, its capital city. He received his Bachelor's Degree in animal science at Universidad Nacional de Colombia. In the last semesters he worked for a national breeding association.

After graduation he did an internship at NC State University working on Dairy management and another one at University of Florida working on forages and nutrition. Working at UF he linked with a Clemson's University professor who later would be his adviser on his Master's and PhD degrees. His research has been focused on ruminal nutrition and forage management for the dairy industry. Manuel is looking forward to giving back to the community, helping as much as possible with issues that affect dairy farmers as much as to learn from their success and work together to find solutions. In addition, he is looking forward to working with Extension specialists.

In his free time, he enjoys outdoor activities and sports but also listening to music, reading, and writing and even though he is not a great player he enjoys chess a lot.

Extension has been working with farmers for more than 100 years, and it is diversifying its staffing portfolio to meet the evolving needs of its clientele. The Regional Dairy Educator position is designed to work with dairy producers and agribusiness professionals across a multi-county service area to solve production challenges and incorporate new research findings into outreach and educational materials that improve the efficiency and profitability of dairy production while also considering environmental sustainability.

Peña will work with producers in their service area to identify needs and deliver research-based solutions to help them meet their goals. More information about the UW-Madison Division of Extension Dairy Program is available at dairy.extension.wisc.edu/.

LORI KREIS, DIRECTOR
KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY

Many occupations have films or TV shows that are specifically associated with that occupation. Some of them are correctly portrayed while others are very unrealistic. For the most part, I have found depictions of my profession stereotypical and not in a good way. We have been rendered as meek with a perpetual finger at our lips shushing the public. Sometimes we are drawn as rude or unhelpful which could not be further from the truth. Older movies portray female librarian sporting glasses, cardigans and hair in a tight bun and identify as old maids. While I do wear glasses and don the occasional cardigan when chilly (with deep pockets as a plus), the rest I feel is not a positive representation of my beloved profession.

While there may be differing opinions on this, one of the most quintessential librarians in film is Marian the Librarian in "The Music Man." It was my former colleague Beth's favorite and we both did love Shirley Jones representation as the librarian who promoted books for everyone even though some townspeople wanted to keep "controversial" books off the shelf. There was still the "fate-worse-than-death" view, especially from Marian's mother, that she was spinster. The horrors!

What character comes to your mind when you think of movie librarians?

In "It's a Wonderful Life," which my husband and I watch annually, we always crack up when George discovers that Mary becomes an old maid librarian without him in her life and is horrified. Mary fainting when George yells, "that's my wife!" brings more guffaws from us.

I think my favorite movie librarian is Bunny Watson. Played by Katherine Hepburn in the 1957 movie "Desk Set," she works as a reference librarian at a broadcasting company in New York. Her staff are all librarians, and they are an interesting cast of characters. This movie is a typical love story with Hepburn and Tracy with a hitch of a computer brought in to provide the reference and replace staff. It is funny, has strong female librarians roles and fun references that those in my field are very familiar with.

In more recent films, librarians have had some unpleasant portrayals. The librarian in "Monsters Inc.," will throw you out of the library and into the pond if you are too loud. In the Harry Potter films, the Hogwarts librarian is disagreeable and very possessive of books in the library, especially those in the restricted area.

More positive representations in recent and vintage movies include librarians in "The Public," "The Shawshank Rebellion" and Evelyn in "The Mummy." Some of my favorite TV librarians include Rubert Giles in the Buffy series, "Parks and Rec's" horrible Tammy and of course, the cast in "The Librarians."

Whether your favorite librarian depiction is a stereotypical meek bespectacled spinster, or a 'punk-ass book jockey' defined by Leslie in "Parks and Rec," come in and let me know which one you like best.

Campbellsport Restaurant Wins Two Chili Titles

BRIAN HOPKINS
OWNER OF HOMETOWN GRUB AND PUB

The American Legion Riders (District 2) presented the return of their annual chili cook-off Saturday, November 9. The Moose Lodge, in West Bend, played host to 16 area competitors that vied for the chili titles of: Best Overall Chili, Most Unique Chili and Tongue Burner Chili. Over one thousand dollars was raised for United States Veterans, their families and programs that support the veterans at the return of this yearly event.

Hometown Grub and Pub (Campbellsport) ran away with the titles of Best Overall Chili and Most Unique Chili with their “Hometown 3-Meat Championship Chili.” The competition required contestants to provide four quarts in a crock pot for the audience to judge. Hometown’s chili maker, Jamie Hopkins, provided 12 quarts of her chili that was eaten and emptied by the end of the competition. In the end, she came away with the two titles and an appreciation for her fellow contestants and supporters.

“It was an exciting event and our first. The other contestants were so nice and supportive and there was a lot of great chili to go against,” said Hopkins. “It was for a great cause, and I’m still surprised and happy that we won.”

The award-winning chili will be added to Hometown Grub and Pub’s menu later this month.

Erin Hills to Host Five USGA Amateur Championships From 2027 to 2039

UNITED STATES GOLF ASSOCIATION

The United States Golf Association (USGA) announced that Erin Hills, in Erin, Wis., one of America's premier daily-fee golf courses, has been selected to host five USGA amateur championships over the next 15 years. These championships come in addition to the 2025 U.S. Women's Open Presented by Ally, which will be held May 28-June 1. Added to the slate of upcoming championships are the:

- 2027 U.S. Amateur Four-Ball
- 2030 U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball
- 2033 U.S. Women's Amateur
- 2035 U.S. Amateur
- 2039 U.S. Junior Amateur

"Erin Hills has proven itself as an exceptional venue for USGA championships, and we are thrilled to bring these five events to this iconic course," said Mark Hill, managing director, Championships. "The natural beauty and challenging layout of Erin Hills make it the perfect stage for golfers to showcase their talent and determination."

Erin Hills joins a list of 13 other courses that have hosted or will host the U.S. Open, U.S. Women's Open, U.S. Amateur and U.S. Women's Amateur. The course played host to the first U.S. Open in the state of Wisconsin in 2017 when Brooks Koepka won the first of his two consecutive titles. Erin Hills also was the site of the 2011 U.S. Amateur, where Kelly Kraft defeated Patrick Cantlay, 2 up, in the 36-hole final.

"We're excited to continue our partnership with the USGA by hosting these five championships," said Andy Ziegler, owner of Erin Hills. "We strongly believe in supporting and celebrating amateur golf, and these championships do exactly that."

Next May's U.S. Women's Open will be the fifth USGA championship conducted at Erin Hills. The venue was the site of the 2008 U.S. Women's Amateur Public Links, when Tiffany Joh won the second of her two titles with a 2-and-1 victory over Jennifer Song. In September 2022, Matthew McClean won an all-Irish final when he edged out Hugh Foley to win the U.S. Mid-Amateur Championship.

Located 35 miles northwest of Milwaukee in the Kettle Moraine region, Erin Hills was designed by Dr. Michael Hurdzan, Dana Fry and Ron Whitten. The public facility opened for play in 2006.

There have been 17 USGA championships contested in Wisconsin through the 2024 season. This will be the first time either of the USGA's Four-Ball Championships, which debuted in 2015, will be held in Wisconsin. It also marks the first time the U.S. Women's Amateur will be held in the Badger State.

About the USGA

The USGA is a mission-based golf organization whose purpose is to unify the golf community through handicapping and grassroots programs; to showcase the game's best talent through the U.S. Open, U.S. Women's Open Presented by Ally and 13 other national championships and our museum; to provide unbiased global governance with The R&A through the playing, equipment and Amateur Status rules; and to advance issues important to golf's future, with a focus on driving sustainability, accessibility and inclusion. As a nonprofit association, our work and our team are driven to act for the good of the game. For more, visit usga.org.

C.H.S. October Students of the Month

CAMPBELLSPORT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Congratulations to Evelyn Glover, Steven Etchart, Alyssa Downham, and Niyan Albrecht for being selected as Campbellsport High School "Students of the Month" in October.

Evelyn Glover

"I nominate Evelyn Glover from my geometry class. She has been very helpful in class, especially welcoming in and helping a new student that joined the class in the middle of October. She also has a great work ethic and is someone that I never have to worry about getting schoolwork done or asking for help if she doesn't understand the material." Submitted by Mr. Madsen

Steven Etchart

"I am proud to recognize Steven Etchart as our Social Studies Student of the Month. He consistently demonstrates a willingness to participate actively in class discussions, enriching our learning environment with thoughtful contributions. Steven has a remarkable talent for writing outstanding essays that convey interesting historical arguments. I admire Steven's curiosity and thoughtful questions about World History. His dedication and enthusiasm for learning make Steven a valued member of our AP World History class!" Submitted by Mrs. Jensen

Alyssa Downham

"The Art department would like to nominate Alyssa Downham as October's Art student of the month. Alyssa is currently a student in both

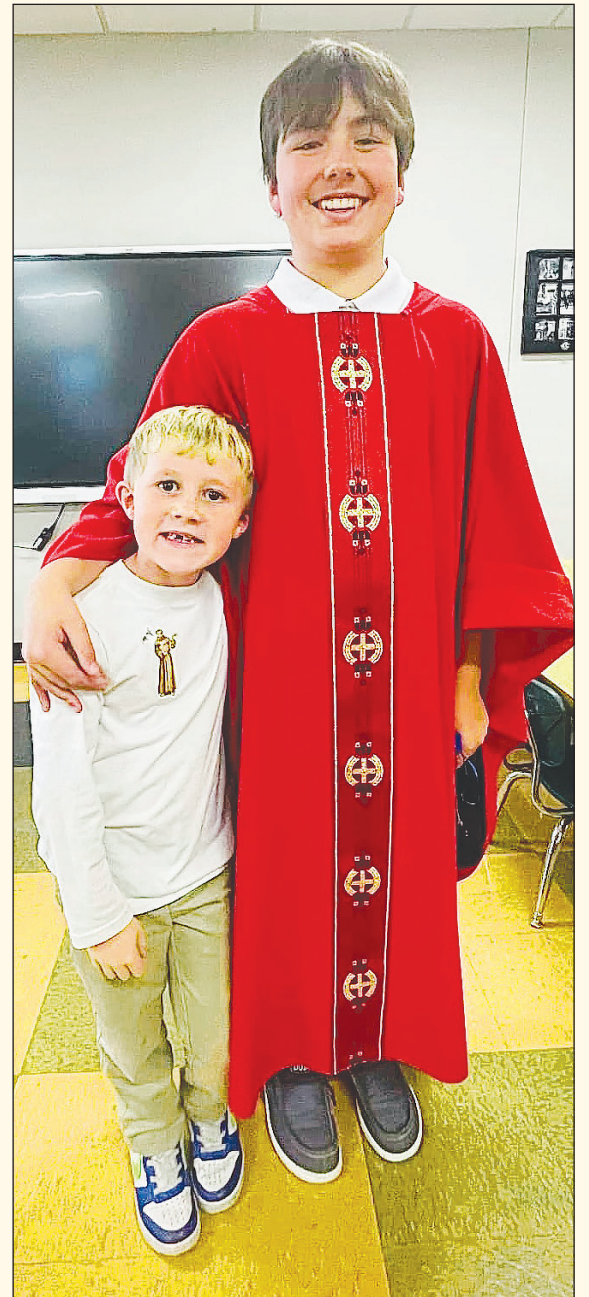

Ms. Nelson's Drawing class and Mr. Meilahn's Clay and Sculpture class. Alyssa is an outstanding art student; she is always prepared, organized, and produces high quality work in both classes. Her creativity and attention to detail goes above and beyond what is required of her. Her classmates look up to her and seek her out for advice and feedback. We selected Alyssa for student of the month for consistently producing outstanding art work in any media!" Submitted by Ms. Nelson

Niyan Albrecht

"Congratulations to Niyan Albrecht! Niyan currently holds an A+ grade in his Strength and Conditioning class, so far this trimester. Niyan comes to class everyday with a 'get-it-done' attitude and completes his workout plan every week. He even puts in additional work after completing his daily workout by adding in his own lifts and exercises. Niyan has improved all five of the core lifts from the beginning of the year by increasing his 'MAX' for each lift. He has truly been a joy to have in class! Congratulations Niyan and keep up the hard work!" Submitted by Mr. Merkes

All high school students are eligible for this honor. Students are nominated by their teachers and then chosen by department.

Teachers make their selections based upon attitude, effort, character, interest, and achievement, as exhibited in the classroom and school community. Administration, faculty, and staff are committed to developing future leaders in our community. We want to honor those who are striving each and every day to be those future leaders, who demonstrate this by their positive actions and behaviors.

Sales Support Wisconsin's Native Species in Need

WIS. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is celebrating 30 years of Endangered Resources license plates by offering a $25 rebate for new purchases now through Dec. 31, 2024.

Since 1994, sales of Endangered Resources license plates have played a critical role in funding DNR conservation work for more than 400 wildlife species and 300 plant species listed as endangered, threatened or special concern. The DNR works across the department and with partners and volunteers to locate, protect and manage native plants, animals and Wisconsin's natural communities from the common to the critically endangered.

One example of how funds are used is the creation and upkeep of the nation's most extensive system of State Natural Areas, preserving native ecosystems and special geologic features. These sites provide habitat for many of the state's endangered plant and animal species.

"The $25 rebate helps more people support rare species and unique places in Wisconsin while showing that support on their car or truck," said Drew Feldkirchner, DNR Natural Heritage Conservation Director.

How to Buy an Endangered Resources Plate and Get a Rebate

The rebate offer is available through Dec. 31, 2024, for people who buy new Endangered Resources license plates or for current plateholders who switch from one plate design to another. People can buy a license plate at any time, and there is no need to wait for registration renewal.

To buy a new plate, visit the Endangered Resources license plate webpage (dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/endangeredresources/plate) to download and complete the DNR Rebate Form and the WisDOT Endangered Resources License Plate Application Form. Please allow up to six weeks for processing the rebate checks.

Tall Pines Conservancy
Announces Executive Director
Retirement, Names Successor

Statewide leader in land preservation plans for the future as it marks 25th anniversary

Tall Pines Conservancy, one of the state's leading non-profit land trusts, announced that its long-time executive director Susan Buchanan will retire yearend and has named Rebecca (Becky) Fedak to succeed Buchanan. Tall Pines, which marks its 25th anniversary this year, focuses on preserving farmlands, water resources, and natural spaces in Waukesha, Dodge, and Washington Counties. The land trust currently has nearly 3,000 acres under protection. Land trusts are private, community-based, non-profit organizations established to protect land and water resources for public benefit and from future development.

Buchanan was First Executive Director

Buchanan was hired in 2008 as the organization's first executive director. Under her leadership, Tall Pines achieved national Land Trust Accreditation, the highest national mark of distinction, and increased the number of acres under its protection from about 200 to more than 2,700 today with another 1,600 acres forthcoming. Buchanan also formed a number of critical partnerships and programs at the state and regional level including the Oconomowoc Watershed Protection Program, Lake Country Clean Waters, and Farmers for Lake Country. Additionally, she has secured more than $11 million in private, state, and federal funding for farmland protection and developed the annual Ride to the Barns bicycling fundraiser that brings hundreds of riders each year to area farms.

"With Susan at the helm, Tall Pines has evolved into one of Wisconsin's most well respected and successful land trusts and has garnered both a national and statewide reputation as a leader in land protection," said Tall Pines Board of Directors Chair Kyle Zwieg. He is the co-owner of Zwieg's Maple Acres, a sixth-generation family farm.

Outside of Tall Pines, Buchanan has served on Boards and in other important roles for a number of organizations including the National Agricultural Land Network/American Farmland Trust, Gathering Waters -- Wisconsin's Alliance of Land Trusts, and Lake Country Clean Waters. She and her husband own two farms, one in Wisconsin and the other in Connecticut.

New Executive Director
Joins at Crucial Time

Fedak starts her role as Tall Pines' next executive director later this month and will work alongside Buchanan through yearend to ensure a smooth leadership transition. She's a seasoned sustainability, conservation, and engineering executive.

Most recently, Fedak was the Lake Michigan Unit Manager for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Office of Great Waters where she managed dozens of environmental restoration projects in partnership with agencies, non-profits, and private entities at the federal, state, and local level. Additionally, Fedak is a farm owner. She and her husband, together with her parents, steward a nearly 100-acre farm where they are actively restoring wetlands, meadows, and prairie while also working with Tall Pines to preserve the property.

"Becky's professional expertise, preservation experience, and personal background make her extremely well-suited to lead Tall Pines going forward and intuitively connect her to our mission to protect land and water," Buchanan said.

"Having grown up in Hartland and through my work professionally and as a farm owner, I've seen firsthand the accelerating loss of open spaces in our region and how our landscape has transformed," Fedak added. "I'm deeply committed to Tall Pines' mission and working with our board, staff, volunteers, and partners to support our property owners and communities while also preserving the natural areas that define Lake Country."

Before joining the DNR in 2019, Fedak was a Partner and Senior Engineer for Brendle Group, a Colorado sustainability consulting firm where she led the water and climate practice areas. Prior to that she was Co-Founder and Technical Director for Running Water International, a social enterprise that brings open source water and sanitation technologies to developing countries. Fedak began her career as a Water Resources Engineer for MWH Global (now Stantec). She earned her MBA in Global Social and Sustainable Enterprise from Colorado State University and her undergraduate degree in Environmental Engineering from University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

"Becky is the ideal individual to help Tall Pines 'Keep the country in Lake Country,'" Zwieg said. "We have the highest project load ever in our 25-year history because communities believe in our mission and see the benefits of our work. Becky will help us expand our capacity to complete these projects and protect a growing number of acres."

Most of the property under Tall Pines' protection is through conservation easements granted by land owners. Conservation easements are permanent, legally binding agreements that restrict use of the land to protect its natural features and assure the land will be protected forever regardless of who owns the property in the future. Lady Cougar Bowlers Open the Season with a 9-0 Match

CHS GIRLS BOWLING

The Cougars started off their season at King Pin Bowl in West Bend, bowling against the Suns of West Bend East. The Suns are sporting a young team with a lot of potential.

The Cougars ripped off a 195 game to open the season with a clean game (no opens in ten frames). The next three games, the Cougars struggled with single pin spares and splits to post a 131, 139, and 137 game.

In games 5-8, the Cougars' spare shooting improved greatly, only opening seven frames in three games to scores of 169, 179, and 187 and three more wins. The Cougars shot 154 in game nine to take the match 9-0.

"The team effort was well balanced tonight," said Coach Serwe.

Everyone filled at least 11 and at most 13 of their 18 spares for the opening night. Abby Jarmuz picked up a 6-7-10 split to highlight her first varsity conference match.

Stats for the match were as follows (strikes-spare-total frames): Taylor Muraski 5-6-18; Abby Jarmuz 4- 7-18; Capri Constantineau 8-4-18; Lillee Thorn 6-7-18; Olivia Boegel 7-5-18.

The Cougars travel to Pioneer Bowl in Richfield next Monday, Nov. 18. Good Luck Cougars!

Montana Elk Hunt, the Journey

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

Hello friends,

This week, and next, I will write about my most anticipated, expensive and, in some ways, challenging trip of my life. I would head west with my golden retrievers to southwest Montana, pulling a 7,000-pound, 14-foot enclosed trailer rigged for camping that would hold my atv and enough gear for two camps. After two days, my daughter, Selina Walters, who is a biologist with the USFWS out of Missoula, would join us for a week of elk and mule deer hunting.

This week's column is on the journey west and the days before the elk/mule deer season opened.

Tuesday, October 22

High 63, Low 42

With gear, propane and the atv, I am sure my 2017 GMC was pulling 9,000 pounds when I left home at 1:00 this morning. I can honestly say that I have never been so excited about an adventure in my life. Not only would I be hunting and living in the mountains but my daughter, Selina, who just nine months ago moved to Montana, would be my partner. I miss Selina a ton and this would be my third trip west in 2024, the last one to scout the area we would be calling home this week with her and, of course,

From our base camp to our camp at the top of the mountain was a five-mile atv journey that was quite challenging.

Ruby and Red.

Today, I drove 1,005 miles before pulling over for a nap in The GMC Hotel in northeastern Wyoming. At one point, I hit a 25-mph head wind that knocked my gas mileage down to 4.5 miles per gallon. After the wind, if I was willing to drive 65 or under, I averaged 10. I literally had enough cash for 10 not 4.5 mpg.

Wednesday, October 23

High 58, Low 32

Pure joy over took me as I made it to my U.S. Forest Service campground where my truck and trailer would be the only one for the next 11 days.

As soon as I got out of the truck, I started unloading the trailer and loading the atv and its trailer for the five-mile journey up a forest service road that, at least in my mind, was a constant concern. Sharp rocks that can tear tires apart, over worked machine and going off the edge of the mountain kept me on top of my game as any one would have spelled disaster for the rest of the trip and potentially beyond.

I would stay at my lower camp the first two nights, haul gear, build the upper camp and scout for elk. This, my friends, is the life I was created for. I have put every dime and piece of thought into this journey and everything seemed perfect. On the drive up, which I averaged a speed of 5 mph, the trail areas with dirt/mud instead of rock had ample elk sign.

My first load consisted of one of my Eskimo pop ice shacks and a lot of camping gear. The Eskimo ice shack, when tarped, creates an impressive camp and it stays warm.

Next, I went scouting to the spot Selina and I found in August, and the number of elk and deer sign was almost unbelievable. I made it back to my base camp at dark and could not have been in a better mood.

Thursday, October 24

High 55, Low 30

Another trip up the mountain with a load, put up another Eskimo shack away from the sleeper shack and more scouting, lots of animal sign, new sign made where I scouted yesterday.

Selina worked a full day in Missoula, drove 180-miles and made it to camp at 9:00 tonight. Until this year, everything to do with Selina was either raising her or being a part of her college experience. Now she lives

We filtered all of our water from a mountain stream and it tasted incredible. MARK WALTERS PHOTOS

1,500 miles away and is truly becoming a young woman of the outdoors both in her career and her hobbies: fly fishing, kayaking, hiking and lots of hunting this fall.

We sat up and she played with her pups, we talked and the mood was perfect.

Friday, October 25

High 60, Low 29

With the pups and last load of gear, we headed up the mountain, for Selina it would be five days. We had Ruby hike the first two miles then she got to ride with Selina and I on our 570-Polaris "Sportsman." I have to give a plug for this machine, 100-percent flawless and it uses very little fuel.

Selina and I went into where we would hunt the following morning. We followed all grizzly bear protocol which I will get into next week and had several hours at camp to prepare for plenty of hard days of hunting but on this afternoon and early evening, we simply had fun.

Take your kids hunting/fishing and they will be your friend when they are adults!
