Kewaskum Christmas Parade Draws Large Crowd

A large crowd lined the Kewaskum streets for the 35th annual Kewaskum Christmas Parade, which was held at 5 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 8.

Just a few hours earlier, people had been walking through the streets to gather cookies from participating businesses for the ninth annual Christmas Cookie Hunt. Both events were sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce.

The theme of this year's parade was "Christmas at Grandma's." Floats were decked out with lots of festive lights and creative decorations to bring the theme alive. Winning floats were:

First Place: Kewaskum Cub Scout Pack 3744 ($200 prize)

Second Place: Sunburst Ski Hill ($150 prize)

Third Place (Tie): St. Lucas Lutheran School and Boltonville Firecrackers 4-H Club ($100 prize each)

The weather was ideal for the parade, with clear skies and temperatures in the mid-30s. For those not able to be there in person, the entertainment was live streamed on the Kewaskum Statesman Facebook page, with people watching from as far away as Grand Lake, Colo. Parade Chairperson Katie Wood and Washington County Supervisor Anne Trautner hosted the broadcast from the patio of Chatters Bar and Grill, located on the corner of Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue.

Volunteers worked to keep the parade running smoothly. They were led by Ken Weddig of Hilltop Laundry, who has volunteered his time working in the staging area for at least 30 years.

The spirit of giving was alive and well throughout the parade, with spectators making donations to the Kewaskum Food Pantry throughout the route. In addition, the SC Wave Washington County Soccer team members collected letters for Santa along the parade route.

The parade ended with Santa Claus himself making his grand appearance on the final float in the parade.

Kewaskum High School Introduces Girls Wrestling Program

CLARICE CASE
EDITOR

This winter, Kewaskum High School is introducing its first girls' wrestling team. Four freshmen, Annie Chojnacki, Sybil Gadouas, Aria Coronado, and Jasmine Wulff, will represent the new team this winter.

Kewaskum boys' wrestling head coach Scott Rhoads commented on why it felt like the right time to form the new team saying, "[Girls' Wrestling] It's the fastest growing sport in the country right now."

And with the introduction of a new team comes a new coach to lead them - Rosie Brucker.

Brucker's wrestling experience comes with being beside the mat to watch her son, a freshman, and daughter, a sixth grader, for the last nine years. She also holds a blue belt in Brazilian jiu jitsu.

"I know the kids, their families and those who are involved in the wrestling program, as I helped them, too," added Brucker. "So, when they asked if I would coach, I turned to my son for advice. He

RURAL WRITES

G.A. SCHEINOHA
CONTRIBUTOR

Forget something? While caught up in the hustle and bustle which leads to the holidays, seemingly arriving faster each year, a very important aspect is overlooked. More essential than the trinkets and treasures we've grown to associate with Christmas.

Plumb makes a fella wonder. Whose birthday is it that's celebrated here anyway? If you look at the credit card bills due come January, the excess commercialization of a once strictly religiously observed day makes the holy part of the occasion seem almost irrelevant.

Gross, crass materialism; giving and getting more has secularized the sacred. Buried the true message beneath towering piles of wrapping paper and fancy bows. All the acquisition, accumulated personal belongings hasn't made a whit of a difference. Truth is, you can't buy happiness. Leastwise, not outright. Though maybe you can rent it for a few exciting hours. Which too soon pass.

How... or why did we let the least virtuous side of humanity overcome our minds and hearts with decadent extravagance? Okay, I get the part about Black Friday to Cyber Monday and beyond being a vital boost to a store's annual profits, in fact our national GDP.

Yet during the onslaught we lose sight of those most deeply affected by an increasingly absurd urge to splurge. People just trying to earn their living – busboys, cooks and waitresses in restaurants, to pitiful souls who must bear the brunt of dissatisfied customers' ire in every retail outlet. As if all of them haven't heard enough Muzak, canned Christmas carols from Thanksgiving into the New Year to drive a person fully loco, now they daily deal with repeated in your face attitude. Add to insult, the injury of demanding a smiling, happy to see you visage. More torture than anyone should endure. Two words might extend them a simple comfort – be nice.

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

The Joys and Blessings of Christmas

Dear Reader,

Christmas holds many meanings for those who celebrate this special day and the season that surrounds it. At its heart, Christmas signifies the birth of Christ, a moment of profound spiritual importance. But it also brings to mind the joy of giving, with gifts and presents for little boys and girls, each package wrapped with love and anticipation.

While we often find ourselves striving to be our best during the holiday season, the true magic of Christmas shines brightest in the eyes of a child. In their wonder and delight, we are reminded of the simple, pure joy that this time of year brings.

Merry Christmas to all.

| LETTERS TO THE EDITOR |

People of Kewaskum,

I see and hear that Kewaskum may be getting another TIF district. I don't have anything against new development as long as it doesn't cost taxpayers any raise of tax burden on the residents. We already will be paying for a new cop shop and a portion for village offices. Yes, the village administrator said it is only $.86 per $1,000 and that if that covers all the expense. Let's use that as a house is assessed at $300,000, your taxes will increase $258 dollars a year for twenty years.

With development, there are numerous things that should be looked at. Will our waste water treatment plant be able to handle this or will a new one be needed at cost $20 to $30 million? How about the water department needs another well and new water tower for $10 to $20 million? These are major costs to be handed down for water and sewer charges. Let's not forget about the other little charges. Do we need more man power in the public works department, of course the police department, equipment for operations, building needs, and whatever may come up? These are just a few things, and one knows there will be numerous other things that will come up.

Let's not rush into things without some serious thought and assessment of our needs. Yes, it is easy to say let's create another TIF district but let's not forget about the failure of them that taxes had to cover to pay for.

Sincerely,
Richard Schmidt

Joan M. Stoffel

Joan M. Stoffel, 73, of the Town of Kewaskum, passed away peacefully on December 6, 2024, at Froedtert Menomonee Falls Hospital, with her family at her side.

Joan was born on May 1, 1951, in Hartford, the daughter of the late Bernard and Elaine (nee Kempken) Hauser. She grew up in Jackson, and graduated from West Bend High School in 1969. She then attended Alverno College and graduated with a Bachelors of Science in Nursing in May of 1973.

On June 22, 1973, she was united in marriage to Daniel Stoffel at St. Frances Cabrini Catholic Church in West Bend.

Joan's nursing career saw her caring for countless patients across various hospitals and care facilities. Her genuine love for people made her an exceptional caregiver. Despite living with multiple sclerosis for 50 years, which ended her nursing career early, Joan's spirit remained unbroken. She always greeted everyone with a radiant smile and a twinkle in her eye. Known for her engaging conversations, she was always eager to make new friends and reconnect with old ones. And let's not forget her knack for delivering the perfect one-liner!

Family was the cornerstone of her life. She took immense pride in her two daughters and their accomplishments. Though her daughters' lives moved them to different parts of the country, she eagerly looked forward to traveling to visit them, especially after her four grandchildren arrived. She absolutely loved spending time with them, particularly when they came with sweet treats in hand. Holiday parties were a special delight for her, as she cherished the chance to mingle, catch up with everyone and enjoy even more desserts.

Joan and Dan's life has been blessed with two large families who have continually shown love and support, for which they will always be grateful.

~People may think that Joan's MS won, but they would be wrong. ~

Joan is lovingly remembered by her husband, Dan; two children, Erin (Christopher Johnson) Stoffel and Carrie (Tilman) Glimm; four grandchildren, Mathilda and Maximilian Glimm and Elyse and Cole Johnson; four siblings, Dan (Lori) Hauser, Don (Sherri) Hauser, David (Mary) Hauser, and Jackie (Brian) Hagenow; her brothers and sisters-in-law, Tom (Kate) Stoffel, Lee Stoffel (Tina Thompson), Ann Pfeil, Ned (Carol) Stoffel, Tim (Nancy) Stoffel, Amy (Lloyd) Pamperin, Pat Stoffel, Nicole (Jene) Atkinson, Jacky (Jeff) Geidel, and Shelly (Brian) Taylor; dozens of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

In addition to her parents, Joan was preceded in death by her father-in-law, Gerald Stoffel; her mother-in-law, Ruth Stoffel; her step-mother-in-law, Marty Stoffel; her sister-in-law, Karen Stoffel; and other relatives and friends.

Marvin worked as a mechanic for Russ Darrow Chrysler Plymouth in West Bend for over 30 years.

Marvin is survived by his sister, Ruth Ann Wargolet; children, Kenneth (Amphone "Noy"), Daniel, David (Brenda), and Shari Bobb; grandchildren, Chad (Bethany) Bobb, Brad (Daley Veronica) Bobb, Brandon Bobb, and Alicia Bobb (Xavier Burns); and many great-grandchildren.

said, 'You'll never have this opportunity again, go for it.' Wise words from a then eighth grader; his advice sealed the deal."

As for the girls' individual experience with the sport, Wulff and Gadouas wrestled some in middle school, while Chojnacki and Coronado are newer to the sport. They also participated in open mat opportunities this summer and have practiced with the boys.

"I'm proud of these ladies, first, for even signing up. Way to make history for our high school!" expressed Brucker. "Some of them are new to the sport but I know as a team they'll have support from not only the other girls but the boys. Each girl has a few different strengths but we're working on a combination of strength, conditioning, flexibility, and agility to be successful. For the first season, I'm hopeful; all the girls have a positive attitude with optimism and resilience."

As far as her goals go for the team, Brucker said, "It's important to fail forward, struggle well and never give up.' [A quote from] Brandon Slay, 2000 Olympic Champion. I think if the girls keep to this mentality, the sky is the limit. I'd like to see how hard they can push themselves... A goal of mine is to develop the girls into strong, confident young women through discipline, hard work and a sense of accomplishment."

The Kewaskum wrestling season began on Saturday, Dec. 7 at an invitational in Slinger. The first conference match is in Plymouth on Thursday, Dec. 12. The first girls-only tournament is Friday, Dec. 13 in Waunakee.

"I know their looking forward to getting some real matches started," Brucker concluded. "As a brand-new high school team, it'll be fun to see the emergence of new talent making their mark on the wrestling scene. Maybe in all good fun, we could start to watch some new rivalries develop, also, and motivate them that much more."

Another Marker Tree on the Ledge

KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

There is another solid example of a trail marker tree on top of the Ledge in the Town of Oakfield. The following is the rationale on why Native Americans likely bent this red oak. This article is a continuation of a series dedicated to documenting the Native American significance of the area where Dodge, Fond du Lac and Washington counties converge.

1. Species. First, this tree is a red oak, so it is the type that is durable and old. Unlike willows or boxelders, this tree is one that dates much farther back into the 1800s. In the vicinity where it is standing, it is one of a few old trees, including a 175-year-old ash tree that has fallen. Another large white oak is dying in the vicinity, and the one of the age-comparable survivors is a healthy maple standing nearby. At least the forest surrounding the red oak trail tree validates that it grew up when the forest was old growth, and it still has those elements where deer repeatedly browse the budding maples to keep them carpeting the forest floor.

2. Strange Side Branch. “What always just caught my attention was how thick this side branch was,” said owner Derek Komp. He said he never saw a tree where its side branch was relatively comparable to the size of the trunk. This suggests an unnatural pulling of a branch down, despite being surrounded in a forest with taller trees when it was young. Understand that such redirected growth of the side branch takes a considerable amount of energy, which might further add to its age.

3. Circumference Matches Age. It is always important to measure the potential marker trees at about 4.5-foot-high to calculate age. From that height, the tree is 8.5 feet in circumference and takes its early growth to at least the mid 1800s, and perhaps early 1800s.

4. Topography Validates Age. In tandem with the red oak’s circumference is other evidence in the forest. Derek also noted, “There’s only six inches of soil before you get into the rock. When you look at the growth rings of the trees over here, they grow very slow.” In addition, the rings on a lot of the white oak he has looked at are very close. For many of the trees on the Oakfield Ledge, their age estimates might be undercounted given the stress

This oak in Oakfield Township lies above the Ledge, and matches the qualities of a trail tree, likely made by shaping the branch in a southwesterly direction.

required to survive through rock. This isn’t like the tree was growing in ideal soil to propel faster growth. As an example, Derek pointed out a white oak that was damaged a few years after a major storm in 2018. This white oak was only 24 inches in diameter, but he counted 145 years taking the tree back into the 1870s. Likewise, the red oak trail tree of this article is five-inches wider in diameter. The white oak is only 6 feet, 3 inches in circumference and is 145; while the red oak trail tree is at least 8 feet, 6 inches in circumference. This is more evidence the red oak trail tree could be at least 200 years old and shaped prior to statehood.

5. It’s a Ledge Bend. Recall that other Native American shaped trees had their leader bent. In the Horicon Marsh, and Oakfield Ledge it may have been more common to bend the branch of the tree down – not the leader. This red oak has similar tendencies of the tree bent nearby as well as the tree featured in Robert Gard and Edgar Mueller’s Wild Goose Marsh: Horicon Stopover (1972) which was at the lower end of the Marsh. The Messner tree previously reported also is a branch bend rather than a leader bend.

6. Previous Ownership Retained Integrity of Tree. One of the criticisms that need to be addressed when arguing a trail tree is to verify if the previous owners would have taken care of the tree or at least ignored it. There is a slight change to the tree given the previous landowner cut the redirected branch sometime after the mid 1970s. But this change does not impact whether the tree was bent well before it. Clearly enough of the bent branch exists given what remains is comparable to the trunk size. Along those lines, there is a history of caretakers as property owners, suggesting why it survived. It’s important for those on the land to preserve what was in the woods, and in this case the land has been relatively preserved since the 1960s, if not beforehand. Also, the land has so much ledge rock, the area where the tree stands was not tillable in the early days when agriculture expanded in the area.

7. Potential Rock Formation. The previous owner said he never pushed rocks in the woods more than right off the trail. That former owner argued those rocks presently laying by the red oak trail tree were untouched. Derek also noted that there is a lifted stone “with a north/south orientation” with one of the rocks. The present situation of those rocks give rise to a theory that it’s a cairn. “It’s almost a true north/south,” Derek said of the rocks which seem to be pointing. There is the potential that the rock pile is actually a double marker with the tree.

Return of The Red Brush Gang

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

Hello friends,

This week and next, I will be writing to you about the 10 days I spent at deer camp with The Red Brush Gang as we lived in our 18x36 foot shack, hunted hard and, most certainly, enjoyed our evenings, as well. Our camp is in northern Juneau County and we hunt public land and it is just as much of a physical challenge as it is to see a deer.

Saturday, November 23
High 42, Low 29

Today would be the 53rd year in a row that I have watched the sun come up here in northern Juneau County with the hopes of harvesting a buck. My brother, Mike, would be hunting about 300 yards from me, and he has now seen 55 sunrises in this part of the world. Altogether, 15 of us hit the woods well before dark with very high hopes but also realistic expectations as our camps' harvest, as well as most hunters in this area, have had low results for a number of years.

Long story short, there were some interesting stories, including Doug Cibulka having a pack of wolves howl up a storm and then den up next to him. Ugly story short, not a buck was harvested today by The Red Brush Gang.

Sunday, November 24
High 45, Low 33

This morning, it was kind of more of the same for our gang, but one buck was missed, and most of us came to camp for lunch, which we do not often do on Saturday. Our good luck charm came to camp at this point and that was my 23-year-old daughter, Selina Walters. Selina lives in Missoula, Montana, is a biologist for USFWS and wanted to come home for camp, and so, she did.

Mike was going to hunt a different spot so I was going to put Selina in my stand and I was going to hunt Mike's for the afternoon hunt. Just before we left camp, my "Old Buddy," Jeff Moll, pulls into camp. This just happens to be "Jeff Mr. Lucky Moll's" 50th year in a row here and I invited him along with Selina and I. Long story short, I put Jeff in Mike's stand, set up Selina and then went on a hike to find a spot for myself.

Just before quitting time, there was a shot from Jeff's direction, you know the spot "yours truly was supposed to be in," and I get a text from Mr. Lucky, buck down! I have to tell you, that honestly made Selina and I very happy. Jeff is one of Selina's favorite people in the world, none of us wanted to go into "The Sunday Night Party" with zero bucks on the pole, and let me tell you, there was some solid energy in the festivities, and Riley Schuster won our dart tournament.

Monday, November 25
High 35, Low 27

Today is the last day of our Big Buck Tournament and Mr. Lucky's fork horn had a solid lead. The buck bet ends on Monday because back when we were kids, that is when camp used to end.

We do drives the rest of the season, including today, and though we did not see many deer, a very large buck was missed with more than one shot. On one of our best drives, in a heck of a trying spot where the pushers are walking on a lot of floating bog (horrible experience), we were confident no one else had done it this year, and right at the end came to wolf/deer kill that was only a few hours old as the meat was still warm and not completely consumed. Long story short, the wolf beat us to the deer.

That evening, it would just be Jeff Moll, "Mr. Lucky," who now was drinking out of the buck cup and flaunting it," Ross Moll, Doug Cibulka, Jordan Moll, who is nine,

Jeff Moll and Selina Walters at a very happy moment in our hunt.

This deer was killed the same day we made the drive, when we came upon it.

and this would be his third year at camp, and myself. While sipping on a very tasty brandy and consuming a fine meal, we had a fireside chat and came up with a fine plan for the next day that would yield excellent results.

No matter what comes at us, we plow forward and have constant fun!

Campbellsport Girls Basketball Beats Rival Mayville in Conference Opener

BEN PRIESGEN
JOURNALIST

On December 3, Campbellsport girls' basketball beat Mayville 52-48 in the Flyway Conference opener for both teams.

Mayville (1-4, 0-1) held an early 6-2 lead over Campbellsport (2-3, 1-0) before Kiera Laverenz scored two straight baskets for the Cougars to tie the score at six.

The Cardinals got their lead back to 12-8 before another basket from Laverenz to cut the Mayville lead back to two points.

Mayville continued to lead the game before back-to-back baskets by Mackenzie Helsell and Ava Sabish made the score 16-14 in favor of the Cardinals.

Gabi Danza closed the gap even further with a nice layup to make the score 18-17 with Mayville in the lead.

The Cardinals closed the half with a 5-0 run to go into the halftime break with a 23-17 lead over the Cougars.

Mayville scored the first two points of the second half before Brittany Reilly went on a personal 9-0 scoring spree for the Cougars, featuring two strong post finishes and an offensive rebound putback to give Campbellsport a 26-25 lead.

Reilly and Helsell each scored a basket to keep Campbellsport ahead 30-29 before the Cardinals went on a 10-4 scoring run to put Mayville back ahead in the game with the score at 39-34 at the nine-minute mark in the second half.

Campbellsport responded with their grit and toughness by scoring 10 straight points, highlighted by three pointers from Sabish and Hadlee Rohlfis to give the Cougars a 44-39 lead.

Reilly continued her strong night for the Cougars by scoring two more baskets to keep Campbellsport ahead of Mayville with the score at 48-43 with less than two minutes left in the game.

The Cougars were able to close out the game on the free throw line by all nine attempts in the second half with two makes apiece from Sabish and Laverenz in the final minute to preserve the 52-48 conference victory over Mayville for the first time since 2019.

"The girls showed their toughness and togetherness as a team by beating their conference rival in our growing process as a team," said Head Coach Ray La Batte.

Campbellsport's Flyway Conference win was their first conference win since returning to the Flyway in the 2021-22 season and broke their streak of 60 straight conference losses since 2020.

Brittany Reilly had 19 points and 12 rebounds on the night and Kiera Laverenz added 12 points to lead the Cougars to their conference victory.

The Redwings went on an 18-2 run before Ava Sabish made a three pointer for the Cougars to make the score 20-9 with four minutes on the first-half clock.

Sheboygan South closed the half with a 10-2 scoring advantage to make the halftime score 30-11 in favor of the Redwings.

Campbellsport got a three pointer from Mackenzie Helsell which was followed by baskets from Sabish and Laverenz in their attempt to get back into the game in the second half with the score at 48-24.

The Cougars continued their second half effort with a Brianna Bobb offensive rebound putback and a Sabish three pointer to close the gap to 49-29.

The two teams traded points in the closing stretch of the second half with the Cougars going home with a 61-41 non-conference loss on the road.

Lady Cougars Hold Undefeated 5-0 Record

The setting was King Pin Bowl in West Bend and the opponents were the West Bend Spartans. The lane pattern was Kegels Middle Road and the two teams were ready to battle.

The Lady Cougar bowlers started their first game on Dec. 9, with a slightly below average game of 155, but West Bend was right on their tail with a 148 game. The score - Cougars 1, Spartans 0.

The Cougars then ripped off games of 211, 168 and 167 to the Spartans' games of 150, 133 and 118, and the score became Cougars 4, Spartans 0.

In game five, the Cougars blasted out a 204 game to a 144 for West Bend and clinched the match 5-0.

As usual, even though the match was over, they still had four games to go. The Cougars did not let up and pumped out games of 191, 224, 161 and 157 to finish the match 9-0 and push their record to 5-0 at the halfway point in the season.

Once again, it was a great team effort by all five, but tonight, Taylor Muraski, Capri Constanstineau and Lillee Thorn put together a superb night filling 47 of 54 frames. Taylor and Lillee each threw nine strikes and seven spares for their 18 frames. Capri bowled four strikes but converted 11 of 14 spares. Abby Jarmuz and Olivia Boegel filled 12 of 18 frames for the Cougars.

Tonight was the highest pinfall total of the season for any one night, averaging 183.

The Cougars head to Richfield next week for their last match before the Christmas break.

Stats for the match were as follows (strikes-spares-total frames): Taylor Muraski 9-7-18; Abby Jarmuz 6-6-18; Capri Constantineau 4-11-18; Lillee Thorn 9-7-18; Olivia Boegel 6-6-18.

Taylor Muraski, like Lillee Thorn, also threw nine strikes and seven spares over their 18 frames on Monday, Dec. 9 against West Bend. SUBMITTED

Check It Out!

LORI KREIS, DIRECTOR
KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY

Gifts, gifts, gifts. People celebrate the season in different ways. For us, we celebrate our family. This involves get-togethers almost every weekend beginning in mid-November. There are usually massive amounts of great food, fun times either playing games or watching the children play and the exchange of gifts.

I have not always participated in our family gift giving events. It started a long time ago, when I was a young mother with no extra money and had to purchase for everyone in the family. I tended to get a bit, OK maybe very stressed to find the perfect gift. I do enjoy giving the gift that brings smiles and happiness.

My family's gift exchange has transformed multiple times. Sometimes there was just a white elephant gift, other times a nice gift with a budget assigned to it and sometimes both white elephant and a nice gift. When I hear white elephant, I cringe. I don't believe in bestowing garbage to a recipient, because I have literally received garbage. I have also received a large bag of just crumpled paper, dirty laundry and a gaudy white elephant statue. After that, I decided no more. I have declined engagements because white elephant was a required part of the celebration, even if the rest of the event sounded amazing. I have a very clear memory of me unwrapping a white elephant gift while everyone stood up, pointing and laughing at me. Fun times I hope to never experience again.

This is the first year in many that I will be participating in the family gift exchange. Last year I had a great excuse, I was in Chile over the holidays. But alas, not this year, so to much surprise, I said, sign me up. It has become a fiasco with dropouts, members not following the rules and so on. The beneficiary I am supposed to buy for has provided a tiny list. Good thing I know them well. I look forward to when they unwrap and are pleasantly surprised.

Talking about wish lists, if I am included in the exchange, I usually create a semi-lengthy list. I have a birthday around the same time and some family members like that; they have options to choose from if they decide to buy me a birthday present. However, just like posted signs, few read my list. I usually end up with a gift card to places I never frequent. Hey – those might make for good re-gifts for a white elephant, if I ever decide to go that route again.

But you know you love your family. If this year I receive garbage or something not on my list, mark my words, this is my last year. Probably not. Even if it is a bag of trash, I will appreciate precious time with them all.

2024 Gun Deer Hunt License Sales and Harvest Totals Now Available

WIS. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) celebrates the conclusion of the 2024 nine-day gun deer hunt, which kicked off the holiday season in Wisconsin with opportunities to enjoy the outdoors, harvest food for the table and create memories with family and friends. Preliminary license sales, harvest registration and hunting incident numbers are now available.

Preliminary License Sales Data

Preliminary figures indicate the number of deer hunters in Wisconsin slightly increased compared to 2023. As of 11:59 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 1, sales for deer hunting privileges (which include gun, archery, crossbow, conservation patron and sports licenses) reached 791,023, up from 788,697 for the same time period last year. Of those, 553,652 were for gun privileges only, up from 553,479 in 2023.

Deer hunting license and harvest authorization sales will continue throughout the remaining deer hunting seasons. Final license sales figures will be available in January, when DNR staff will perform a thorough analysis and interpretation.

Preliminary Harvest Totals

Preliminary figures show hunters registered 189,622 deer during the 2024 gun deer season, including 89,787 antlered and 99,835 antlerless deer. Compared to 2023, the gun season harvest total is up 5.2% statewide, with the antlered harvest up 3.6% and the antlerless harvest up 6.6%.

Since the opening of the bow and crossbow seasons, Wisconsin hunters have registered 289,361 deer. This harvest is 8.7% ahead of the same time last year.

Adams County in the Central Farmland Zone led the state with 12.4 deer registered per square mile. Vernon County led the Southern Farmland Zone with 7 deer registered per square mile. Adams County also led the Central Forest Zone registering 4.2 deer per square mile. Finally, Florence County led the Northern Forest Zone with 2.9 deer registered per square mile.

The DNR's Wisconsin Deer Harvest Summary webpage contains more information regarding preliminary harvest registration totals, including county-level numbers.
